Gorbachev will blend diplomacy with sightseeing on a three-day visit to the United Nations and New York. He said he hoped his meeting with Reagan and Bush on Wednesday would "serve the best interests of the United States and the Soviet Union, indeed of all the world."

"We have not arranged any formal agenda, so either side will be free openly and frankly to raise any issues it wishes to," he said, speaking through an interpreter.

It was Gorbachev's second visit to the United States in a year, and the fifth time he has arranged to sit down with Reagan. The two leaders signed a historic arms reduction treaty during the Washington summit last year.

For his part, Bush was playing down his role in Wednesday's lunc-

By The Associated Press

Calif. - Atlantis streaked out of orbit from its secret spy satellite mission Tuesday and glided to an unusual afternoon landing as a small band of spectators cheered the five astro-

Navy Cmdr. Robert L. Gibson

guided the 97-ton shuttle to a centerline touchdown at 3:35 p.m. PST on a hard-packed clay runway after a flight of 4 days, 9 hours, 5 minutes.

come back call," said Billie Deason at Mission Control in Houston after the spaceship had rolled to a halt on the 7.5-mile-long runway.

They have been given the welnauts' safe return.

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE,

Atlantis shuttle

receives welcome

heon session. He told a news conference in Washington he would attend in his capacity as vice president, and without any of the national security aides he has picked for his incoming administration.

Last year, Gorbachev came to Washington. This time it was New York, where some of the biggest headaches were caused by the logistics of moving the general secretary's 45-car motorcade through Manhattan.

He will address the U.N. General Assembly on Wednesday for the first

Arriving on the tide of his drive to shake up the Soviet political system from top to bottom, Gorbachev sent advance word that he may offer new proposals to end the Cold War, strengthen the United Nations and improve the world's environment.

An American official acknowledged the possibility of a "grand gesture," such as a reduction of Soviet troops in Czechoslovakia and Hungary. "It is plausible they would do it on the eve of the opening of negotiations with the West and also as a public relations move," said the

Such a move, in the absence of a similar move by the United States, would reduce the Soviet advantage in conventional forces in Europe and could facilitate an overall conventional force agreement early in the

Two loud sonic booms crackled overhead as Atlantis descended through partly sunny skies and made its swooping approach to Rogers Dry

One tire on the shuttle's left landing gear had a slow leak, but NASA said it was not a concern. It certainly did not seem to affect the smoothness of the touchdown, which was tele-

About 55 minutes after landing, the crew emerged from the orbiter and was greeted by NASA administrators, and then inspected the underside of the craft. "Dings" could be seen in the black protective tiles,

Lake in the Mojave Desert.

vised live by the networks.

Charlene Sweet, Moehlman Bottoms was awarded an out-of-court near the Riley County Landfill, for $30,500, paid $35,000 in compensettlement Friday. Riley County purchased her property, located satory and actual damages, and the city contributed $7,000.

Second water contamination suit filed

By Janet Swanson News Editor

One complaint may have just been settled, but a second one is in the process of being filed in the U.S. District Court in Kansas City, Kan., for contaminated property and water near the Riley County Landfill.

Peter Rombold, Charlene Sweet and John Pratt Jr.'s attorney, said although Sweet's complaint was settled out of court Friday, the papers are in the process of being filed on a complaint by Pratt.

There are similarities in Pratt and Sweet's complaints, Rombold said. Although Pratt's suit lists Manhattan and the Riley County board of commissioners, Rombold said others could be added by the time the complaint is heard in court this Pratt and Sweet are neighbors in Moehlman Bottoms, an area about three miles south of Manhattan.

Sweet filed her $1 million lawsuit against the city, county and county commissioners Nov. 24, 1987, in the U.S. District Court in Kansas City, Kan. The complaint is based on the condition of her well water as a result of contamination from the Riley County Landfill, which is located directly across the street from her home. "I'm just glad all of this is over. I was getting tired of all of the hassle," Sweet said about settling out of court.

"It just kept me nervous. I was on edge all of the time. But it's over," Sweet said.

The out-of-court settlement awarded Sweet $72,500. In the settlement, Riley County purchased Sweet's home and the three acres it sits on for $30,500. Another $35,000 was paid by the county in compensatory and actual damages, while the city paid $7,000, said Bill

Frost, city attorney. While that may seem like a large sum, Sweet said that after she pays the mortgage on her home, lawyer fees and other expenses, only about $30,000 will remain.

In addition, Sweet said she will have to move from her home by June 30.

Because the city had not been served papers for Pratt's complaint, Frost said he could not comment on the new complaint. Pratt also declined comment.

Rombold said the complaints in Pratt's suit allege that the Riley County Landfill is a nuisance and is in violation of the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act. It asks for damages in excess of $10,000 to be awarded to Pratt.

'We don't really know what amount of money it's going to take to clean that place up. I don't think anybody really knows what it's going to cost," Rombold said.

"Charlene's case was just one individual. All of the individuals out there have been affected (by the landfill), and they all intend to have their day in court," he said.

Although Rombold said he is confident settling out of court was best in Sweet's case, he said it may not be in future cases.

"While it worked in this case (Sweet's), for the city and county to apply this remedy across the board probably wouldn't work," he said. 'Charlene got a fair settlement.

"I would hope Mr. Pratt would get just a fair of a settlement." Because the findings on each of the neighbors' property are different. Rombold said, future complaints will also differ.

"Some (residents) have expressed an intent to sell the land (to the city and county), but others have not," he said.

Sweet said she encourages her neighbors to file suit against the city, county and county commissioners.

"I would tell them to go ahead -■ See SUIT, Page 14

Relocation planned for campus offices

Deason said.

By Stephanie Morrill Collegian Reporter

A refreshing change is in store for the Division of Continuing Education.

Beginning Dec. 15, the division will begin phase one of a plan to relocate to 1615 Anderson Ave. It is currently located in the Wareham Building and the third floor of Umberger Hall.

"One of the reasons for the relocation is to bring both groups together," said Melinda Sinn, public information coordinator for Continuing Education. Another reason is space.

Continuing Education has 85 full-time employees, along with several students. 'It isn't unusual for three or four people to share one small office, and this is the situation in Umberger," said Doug King, director of administration systems and Continuing Education.

Conditions at the Wareham Building are just as bad, but for different reasons. Because the building is old, it has a number of structural problems, such as sagging floors. The rooms in this building may not be as crowded, but are just as small, King said.

The new location will be called the College Court Continuing Education Building. The site, which is still being renovated, was once an apartment complex. Renovations began in mid-November and will be completed in mid-June. An estimate of the cost of the project was

There are still tenants in one-half of the building whose leases expire in May," King said. "When they move out, we will begin renovations on that half of the building."

This will be the beginning of phase two of the plan, which will move that part of the department located in the Wareham

See MOVE, Page 14

aid students Private firms

By Alan Wilds Collegian Reporter

Students applying for financial aid often muddle through long and complicated forms and applications, many of which are misleading and leave students and parents up in the air as to what kind of aid is available and for how much they qualify. Larry Viterna, director of student financial assistance, said many students are now turning to independently owned financial aid companies to make the application process

Viterna said most financial aid companies appeal to students because they help complete application forms and calculate esti-mates for clients to inform them of what forms they will need and for what kind of aid they will be eligible.

Parents and students do get frustrated with the forms and documentation, and to those people it seems much easier to pay someone a fee to go through that with them and not have to worry about it," Viterna said.

He said he is not surprised to see this kind of company developing, nor does he see the companies in a bad light, because they operate with the intention of helping students get financial aid.

A poll conducted by USA Today newspaper revealed that students who enter college are misinformed about financial aid. According to the poll, one-fourth of high school juniors and seniors surveyed think high grades are necessary, while almost half believe they cannot get aid to attend an expensive school if their parents can afford a cheaper school. Other results include belief that financial aid is available only to minorities and comes only from the federal govern-Deborah John and Associates

Inc., a financial aid company in Wichita, has been in operation a few months. For $50, the company helps students complete their Family Financial Statement, the Financial Aid Form, and the Application for Federal Student Aid. All of these are required to receive any type of financial aid, said Deborah John,

"We help students complete forms, as well as evaluating their family situation and the business aspect of it as far as what the government expects," John said.

She said the company also provides references to various campus-based programs

John said colleges often have limited staffs and cannot provide such individual attention, and that is where the company hopes to fill "If you are not a financial aid person, those forms can be very intimidating," she said. Many companies, like Deborah John and Associates, advertise they can guarantee financial aid, which may seem too good to be true. However, Viterna said most companies provide. "We can guarantee money for financial aid, too, just not on how much or what kind it are very straightforward with what they can

Viterna said almost anybody is eligible for a loan and that some loans, such as the parent and supplemental loans, do not require financial need.

"We have programs available where anybody can get a loan, but not everybody can get a grant, work-study or a Perkins loan,"

Viterna said. K-State offers a financial aid search program similar to the one offered by John's company. Viterna said a regional search is offered for $15 and a national search for $45.

BRIEFLY AROUND WORLD

Arafat meets with U.S. Jews

STOCKHOLM, Sweden - PLO chief Yasser Arafat met with a group of American Jews on Tuesday to promote his new image of moderation and build support for the declaration of an independent Palestinian state issued last month.

The meeting, arranged by the Swedish government, took place a week before Arafat is to address the U.N. General Assembly in Geneva. The assembly decided to move its session from New York to the European U.N. headquarters when the United States refused Arafat a visa.

A Swedish government statement after the meeting said "major issues were addressed and important progress was made." When reporters asked Arafat about the results of the meeting, he replied: "It is better to wait and see." Mounted police sealed off the snow-covered park around the Haga Palace, where Arafat and aides conferred with the fivemember Jewish delegation from the United States.

Foreign Minister Sten Andersson was in the 18th century building for the first hour of the meeting, then left and returned two hours later for the end.

Ingvar Carlsson, the prime minister, cut short a trip to Paris to return home and act as host at a dinner for the two

He greeted Arafat with an embrace after the meeting and received the Jewish group at his office 40 minutes later. None of the delegation members commented to reporters.

BRIEFLY ACROSS NATION

Bush fills key positions

WASHINGTON - President-elect George Bush, once more calling on friends and government veterans to fill key positions, on Tuesday selected Texas oilman Robert Mosbacher to be commerce secretary, named Washington lawyer Carla Hills as trade representative and said he would keep William Webster as CIA director.

Bush also named Thomas Pickering, a career diplomat who is currently U.S. ambassador to Israel, as U.N. ambassador, but said he had decided that the post would no longer carry Cabinet-level status.

The vice president, announcing his latest choices at a news conference in the Old Executive Office Building, said he was completing his economic team with the naming of Stanford economist Michael Boskin as chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers.

Bush also told reporters he had decided to "take the offensive" on coming up with a budget strategy that attacks with federal deficit without new taxes.

Pop star to run for mayor

DETROIT - Pop singer Stevie Wonder says he is being called by God to seek Detroit's highest office.

Wonder, who apparently isn't planning to seek the office held by Coleman Young in the 1989 election, said Monday he is serious about running for mayor in the 1990s.

"I would like to think of myself as a unity mayor," Wonder said during a news conference before the first of three perfor-mances at the Fox Theater. "I feel that God has an even bigger plan for me, and I would like to move to that plan."

Wonder, 38, who was raised in Detroit, said being mayor would allow him to give something back to the city.

"I would feel I could make this a better place for young people to grow up," he said, adding that if he is elected, there will be music in the chambers all the time.

Movie helps boost business

MYSTIC, Conn. - The success of a movie about three girlfriends who work in a small-town pizza parlor has turned the real Mystic Pizza into one of this tourist town's top attractions.

Mystic Pizza owners Steve and Fofi Zelepos say they have lines outside their parlor and are even entertaining a franchising proposal put forward by a group of New York businessmen in the wake of the opening of the popular movie, "Mystic Pizza."

"But it means more work," Fofi Zelepos said. "I used to go home after 2 in the afternoon. Now sometimes I'm here until 11 at night."

Zelepos, 51, said people are coming from New York and New Jersey to the restaurant his family has run for 14 years in the Connecticut shoreline town.

"Some of them call and say they want to make reservations. What reservations? This is a pizza place. We don't take reservations. I say to them to come and take their chances on get-

The Zelepos family does plan to expand, opening a branch - Mystic Pizza the Second - in nearby North Stonington. It will be operated by the couple's 23-year-old son, John.

The motion picture that has altered the lives of the Zelepos family was the brainchild of Amy Jones, a director and screenwriter who dropped into the pizza parlor during a vacation in Mystic.

BRIEFLY THE REGION

Kuralt to receive KU award

LAWRENCE - CBS newsman Charles Kuralt, known for his portrayals of the common man in his "On the Road" series, will receive the 1989 William Allen White Foundation Award for Journalistic merit, the University of Kansas announced

Kuralt, who is also the host of the "Sunday Morning" news show on CBS, will receive the award and give an address marking William Allen White Day on Feb. 10 at the university.

Mike Kautsch, dean of KU's William Allen White School of Journalism and Mass Communications, will announce the winner of the 1989 Burton Marvin Kansas News Enterprise Award on the same day. The award recognizes enterprising news reporting by Kansas journalists.

Student admits telling lies

MARYVILLE, Mo. - A student at Northwest Missouri State University has been suspended after he admitted he made up stories about an assault and racially motivated death threats, University President Dean Hubbard said Monday.

The student, Quentin L. Banks, 18, said that he left the university Nov. 18, several days after a school disciplinary committee of faculty and students recommended a two-year suspension.

But Banks said he wanted to return to the Maryville campus to pursue a journalism degree.

"I foolishly ... devised a really big calculated plan to test the university policy," on non-discrimination, Banks told The Kansas City Times in a telephone interview from his home in Berkeley, Mo. "Well, I'd like to say what I did actually hurt the plight of black students and minority students on campus more than it helped," he said. "The problem is real. Just my story was not." Hubbard agreed, saying, "I don't think we've completed the agenda on equal rights." Racial tensions on the campus have included activity by the Ku Klux Klan. Some 15 black students have reported that the Klan has left fliers and cards on their car windshields and dormitory doors.

BULLETIN FOR CAMPUS

ANNOUNCEMENTS

CAREER PLANNING AND PLACE-MENT offers services to students including career counseling, letter and resume preparation guidance, a career library, job opportunity bulletins, credential services and more. The center is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

GRADUATING SENIORS should report your future plans to the Career Planning and Placement Center in Holtz Hall. Seniors who are not registered can pick up forms before leaving campus.

TODAY

ASSOCIATION OF ADULTS RETURNING TO SCHOOL will meet at 11:30 a.m. in Union Stateroom 3.

INTERNATIONAL CLUB will meet at 7 p.m. at Espresso Royale.

GRADUATE STUDENT COUNCIL will meet at 4 p.m. in Union 205.

Durland 129.

SUNDAY DELT DARLINGS will meet at 8 p.m. at

KSU ASTRONOMY CLUB will meet at 7 p.m. in Cardwell Hall 119.

KSNEA CHRISTMAS PARTY will meet

TAU BETA PI will meet at 4 p.m. in the

PUERTO RICAN STUDENT ORGANI-

ZATION will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 206.

THURSDAY

CAMPUS CRUSADE FOR CHRIST

GRADUATE SCHOOL Sujeet Shenoi will present his final oral defense at 3 p.m. in will meet at 7 p.m. in Throckmorton 131.

at 3:30 p.m. in Bluemont 217.

K-STATE POLICE

Monday

■ A brown Dodge Omni was reported disabled in lot D-1E. A red Ford Mustang was towed from lot A-12 to Manhattan Wrecker for excessive violations. A red Nissan 200 SX was towed from lot D-5 to Manhattan Wrecker for excessive violations.

A blue Pontiac was towed to Manhattan Wrecker from lot A-13 for excessive violations.

A 1981 silver Ford Fairmont was reported disabled.

Tuesday

A wheel lock was placed on a silver Nissan pickup parked in lot D-3 due to excessive violations. The lock was later removed.

A black Ford Mustang was towed from lot D-5 to Manhattan Wrecker due to excessive violations.

A wheel lock was placed on a silver Toyota Corolla parked in lot B-2 for excessive violations.

A wheel lock was placed on a white Ford Mustang parked in lot D-5 for excessive violations.

A wheel lock was placed on a yellow Pontiac Sunbird parked in lot D-4 for excessive violations.

A wheel lock was placed on a white Jetta parked in lot A-15. The lock was later removed. A wheel lock was placed on a red Pontiac Fiero parked in lot A-29 for excessive violations. The lock was later removed. ■ The burglary theft of a student parking permit and stereo speakers from a vehicle parked in lot B-3E was reported. Loss was $40. A red Volkswagen Beetle was reported disabled behind Weber Hall. ■ The theft of keys from the Union was reported.

A two-vehicle, non-injury accident occurred in lot B-13. Damage was less than $500.

■ Theft of a graphic equalizer and tapes and criminal damage to a vehicle parked in lot B-3 was reported. Losses were $170 and damages were an estimated $225.

BRIEFLY A CAMPUS

Acts scheduled at Bramlage

According to Bramlage Coliseum Director Charlie Thomas, two family-oriented shows, The Globetrotters and The Shrine Circus, have been signed to perform at the coliseum next

The world-famous Globetrotters will bring their hoops and frolics to Bramlage in mid-February. The date has not yet been set, he said. The Globetrotters last appeared in Manhattan in February 1986 at Ahearn Field House.

The Shrine Circus is scheduled for a performance in early April, Thomas said.

KSU Grain Science Club Holiday Flour Sale Wednesday, Dec. 7th Shellenberger Hall, Room 220

Christmas Gift Packages

- 1. Flour Sampler 5 different flours
- 2. Specialty Items
- 3. Variety Pack
- 4. Stone-Ground Flours

New Item-White Wheat Flour

'GREAT GIFTS FOR THE HOLIDAYS final sale of the semester

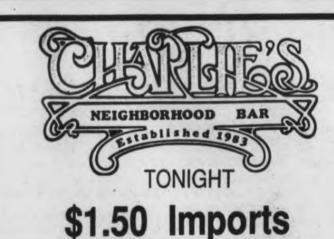

PRE-HOLIDAY SAVINGS...

50° off any Sandwich

12th & Moro Aggieville Void with other offers Not valid on delivery Coupon expires 12/31/88

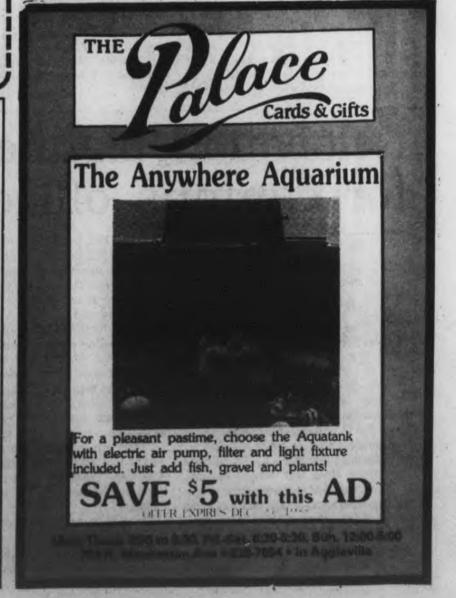

Don't forget to plan your date dash at "The Aggieville Alternative"-Charlies

1800 Claffin

776-4111

Measures could reduce drunk driving

Commission urges legislation

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - Consumption of alcohol by young people remains widespread and the young "continue to drink and drive with alarming frequency" despite laws in every state against youthful drinking, the National Commission Against Drunk Driving said Tuesday.

The commission called on parents to assume a greater responsibility in keeping alcohol away from their children, but also concluded that the industry's current advertising policies contribute to the drinking problem among youths.

"In the absence of alcohol industry action, legislation should be enacted to regulate alcohol beverage advertising," the commission urged in a report on teen drinking. It said repeated testimony from teen-agers during a series of public hearings showed a link between advertisements and the widespread acceptance that alcohol is a normal part of a social event.

"With near unanimity, the youths themselves declared that advertising encourages adolescents to drink," the commission said.

V.J. Adduci, commission chairman, said at a news conference that the panel did not mean to suggest that government should force advertising changes immediately, but that such action might be necessary if the industry does not take action over the next few years.

Comment was being sought from advertising industry officials.

The report summarized the findings of the commission after five public hearings on alcohol problems among youths, particularly as they relate to drunken driving.

It said that "one paramount conclusion" is that despite grass-roots efforts against drunken driving, laws in every state against people under 21 years of age purchasing alcohoic beverages, and numerous antidrunken driving programs, "young people continue to drink and drive with alarming frequency."

As a result, young people "continue to be involved in alcoholrelated crashes at disproportionately high rates," the commission said. "A young person under the legal drinking age remains nearly twice as likely to die in an alcohol related crash as an adult over 21."

The report noted that between 1982 and 1987 the number of alcohol-related fatalities among people under 21 has declined by 21.9 percent, a figure somewhat influenced by the decline in the number of young drivers.

But, it continued, "drinking and driving continues to be the number one killer of teenagers." Last year the alcohol-related highway fatality rate was 19 per 100,000 for those under 21 years of age, compared with 11 per 100,000 for those 21 years or older, the report said.

While youth under 21 years of age account for only 8 percent of the total driving population, that group accounts for 17 percent of the drivers involved in alcohol-related fatal highway crashes, the study said.

Hayden encourages lower alcohol limit for drivers

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - Kansas Gov. Mike Hayden said Tuesday that "serious consideration" should be given to lowering the blood alcohol standard used in determining whether drivers are intoxicated but declined to endorse any specific proposal.

"I encourage those who are working to lower that to continue their efforts," Hayden said in an interview in the nation's capital where he received an award from the National Commission Against Drunk Driving.

"We encourage them to work in the legislative halls and everything like that. We're just not ready to sign on from an administrative standpoint at this time," he said.

The commission issued a report recommending steps to curb drunken driving by young people, and one proposal called for an extremely strict blood-alcohol standard for individuals below the legal drinking age, now 21 in Kansas and other the reduction of the current levels."

Under Kansas law and in many other states, drivers are found legally drunk if they measure more than .10 percent alcohol in their bloodstreams.

The commission recommended a zero tolerance policy for young drivers that would find them legally drunk if they had a blood alcohol level above 0.0 percent.

"I don't know how practical it is to reduce it to zero," Hayden said. He also suggested there could be legal challenges to separate drunkendriving standards for different age

There is a push in Kansas led by the Rev. Richard Taylor and Kansans For Life At Its Best to lower the state's drunken-driving standard to .05 percent blood alcohol.

Although not endorsing Taylor's proposal, Hayden said: "I think serious consideration should be given to

The commission gave Hayden its government leadership award for his work in winning approval of a package of laws this year in Kansas to toughen penalties for drunken driving and provide for automatic loss of licenses for drivers who fail or refuse alcohol tests. The governor was one of 10 people, including Transportation Secretary James Burnley, to receive awards from the commission.

In its report, the commission called for a broad campaign to crack down on drunken driving by young people and to foster a change in attitude to make it "socially intolerable" for youth to drink and drive.

For example, the group recommended mandatory programs in elementary and secondary schools to teach students about alcohol and drug abuse, including the problem of drunken driving.

UPC plans food, films to start spring semester

By The Collegian Staff

Friday night dates for many college students can be an expensive night on the town. However, next semester the K-State Union Food Service and the Union Program Council Feature Films committee will be sponsoring a "Friday Food and Flicks" package for about $5.

"Included in the package are an all-you-can-eat pasta buffet and one ticket for the 7 o'clock movie," said Marilyn Woodward, UPC program

The buffet will start at 5:30 p.m. and end at 7 p.m. on Fridays, Woodward said. Included in the buffet will

THE NEXT BEST THING

TO BEING THERE

THIS HOLIDAY SEASON SEND

A VIDEO TAPE TO FAMILY

AND FRIENDS

CHRISTMAS

537-4735 P.O. BOX 147

be three pasta dishes, salad, garlic bread and dessert, she said.

'We are going to change the location of the buffet from time to time," she said. "It will be held in the Bluemont Room and probably in the Union courtyard."

The package deal begins Jan. 13 and will be available every Friday night until Spring Break, Woodward said. Then the Union Food Service and the UPC Feature Films committee will evaluate the Friday night package to determine whether it has been successful.

type of formal survey to see how students are reacting to the package," she said. "If it is successful, then we will continue to provide it after

"Friday Food and Flicks' will hopefully appeal to all college students including off-campus, oncampus and the Greek houses," Woodward said. "The movie will be over by 9:30 so students can still go to Aggieville after the movie."

Employee assistance available

By The Collegian Staff

K-State is offering a tuition assistance program for employees who have been with the University for at least one year.

The program was started in the fall of 1978 and is offered in the fall and spring semesters, but is not offered during summer school, said Jennifer Gehrt, manager of employee benefits and records.

Employees can earn a minimum of three hours of undergraduate credit. The amount of tuition assistance for the spring semester has not been determined yet, but it does pay for the entire cost of the course.

Employees who are interested are asked to fill out an application which can be found in the Personnel Services office in Anderson Hall. The Tuition Assistance Committee and George Miller, vice president of administration and finance, decide who meets the qualifications. The applicants find out within two weeks whether or not they have been accepted, Gehrt said. In the past, about 30 employees have applied and 20 were granted assistance.

Gehrt said the course an employee takes must be related to his or good old-fashioned POPCORN A Treat To Please... anyone on your list

· A variety of delicious flavors New shipment of Holiday Cannisters • FREE local delivery & we ship UPS

537-7079 (in Anderson Village

INTENSIVE CARE FOR TEST-TAKERS. Get a healthy MCAT score by taking a test prep course with Stanley H. Kaplan. Our educational review and test-taking techniques are the best in the field. Call! ZUADI ALI STANLEY H. KAPLAN EDUCATIONAL CENTER LTD. Study over Winter Break! 3 week intensive review Dec. 22-Jan. 12 Call (913) 262-TEST

Kansas City

Book Your Study Room Today! 539-7531 17th & Anderson Ave. . Manhattan, Kansas 66502

FINANCIAL AID

BEAT THE DEADLINES Are You putting off applying for financial aid because:

★You don't think you will qualify?

You don't understand the form?

*You don't have time to complete the form?

*ALL of the above?

CALL

DEBORAH JOHN & ASSOCIATES, INC.

P.O. Box 3517 358 N. Main, Suite 3A Wichita, Kansas 67201-3517

316-263-4653

We offer the following services: 1. Completion of the students Family Financial Statement (FFS). 2. Informing students of their specific colleges financial aid requirements.

(Fees for services 1. and 2. are $50.00.*) 3. Calculating an estimate on the expected family contribution.

4. Determination of Pell Grant eligibility.

5. Completion of the Pell Grant verification process.

(Fees for services 1. thru 5. are $75.00.*) 6. Reviewing STAFFORD/SLS/PLUS loan programs and assistance in completing these forms. 7. Reviewing SUPPLEMENTAL EDUCATION

OPPORTUNITY GRANT (SEOG), COLLEGE WORK STUDY (CWS) and the PERKINS LOAN programs.

8. Assistance in obtaining financial aid transcripts.

9. Reviewing with the students any aid packages awarded the student. (Fees for services 1. thru 9. are $100.00.*)

*Fee will vary if analysis is required.

The PAC-CAT Wellness Program would like to recognize the following Peer Assistant Leaders (PALS) for their commitment to serving the students of Kansas State University through the semester.

> Gayle Bandt Mike Trusty Theresa Youngworth Duane Weber Lara Dillinger Marsha Wells Steve Schmitt Heather Porter Judy Starr Evelyn Campbell Kathy Stagoshi

The PAC-CATS Administration THANKS YOU!

Fred Newton, Director, University Counseling Services

Bill Arck Director Alcohol & Other Disc Education Service Donna Edwards. PAC-CATS Program

Coordinator Kenyon Madden. Media Specialist

PRE-FINALS PARTY •50¢ Wells •Free Prizes for our Multiple-Guess Finals in: 1. Leisure Studies 2. Human Sexuality 3. Dirty Dancing 101 4. Fluid Dynamics 5. Principles of Alcohol •Textbook Burning

BROTHERS

In Aggleville

TONIGHT

•Redeem Old Textbooks for Free Admission

18 To Enter + 21 To Drink

537-9511

Editorial

Kansas State Collegian Opinions ■ Wednesday, December 7, 1988

Helmet, seatbelt laws have same functions

Actor Gary Busey's near-death motorcycle accident Sunday is a perfect example of what can happen when people don't use common sense. The "people" in this case are the state legislators who refuse to pass a law requiring motorcyclists to wear helmets.

What would have been a less serious accident for Busey became a life-threatening situation because he did not wear a helmet. State law did not require he wear one.

Kansas does not require motorcycle riders to wear helmets, but does require they have eye protection. This is to prevent them from becoming a hazard to other motorists.

Helmets serve only to protect the riders - similar to the mandatory seatbelt law now in effect in Kansas. It seems silly to have a seatbelt law and not a helmet requirement.

The purpose of these types of laws is to protect people from themselves. If state lawmakers have the legislative power to require people who drive cars and trucks to wear seatbelts, they also have the power - and the obligation - to initiate a helmet law.

Shopping transport good for community

Cheers to Manhattan Transit Charters for offering the Manhattan community a valuable service.

This Christmas season, or shall we say shopping season, the company is sponsoring bus transportation to various Manhattan

Not only will this be a convenience to those college students who aren't fortunate enough to have a car at school, but more importantly, to the elderly citizens of Manhattan.

America's elderly population is growing at a phenomenal rate. It is a population which no longer can simply be put in a corner to knit. It has needs that must be recognized.

Many elderly citizens, as well as local retailers, will benefit from this service. While some may not realize it, many elderly persons spend as much time shopping as any other age group. Many times they may even purchase more.

While Manhattan may not be considered large enough to merit a full-time public transit system, it is nice to know that someone recognizes the need for it during this busy season.

Far too many events are earlier every year

"Haste makes waste." "Stop and smell the roses." "Don't worry — be happy." Pithy platitudes? Of course. But around this time of year, ones well worth listening to.

Merchants, media moguls and advertisers begin their barrage of crassly commercialized holiday shopping propaganda a bit earlier every year. After all, do we really need to see "The Grinch Who Stole Christmas" in November?

We question the wisdom of beginning Christmas earlier each year. The holiday season is well known to be a time of depression, dementia and dread for many. Do we really need to make it longer?

Moreover, what used to be dead week is now, due to the impatience of numerous faculty members, a week of quasi-finals which only serves to pile on the stress we all feel during finals week. We question the wisdom of making finals week any longer, as that period is also a known cause of depression, dementia and dread.

The rationale is often, "I will give you the final during dead week, so you can have more time during finals week for your other classes." The intention is nice, but the result isn't. If most classes have finals during dead week, the only thing dead is students.

Ironically, every Dec. 31, people get together and moan about how fast the year went. It is no wonder that it does, what with all the pre-Christmas and finals week rush.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

EDITOR	Chad L. Sanborn
MANAGING EDITOR	Lor Segris
NEWS EDITOR	Swareor
EDITORIAL PAGE EDITOR	Schage
PHOTOGRAPHICS EDITOR	AJohn La Berge
SPORTS EDITOR	Chris Hays
ADVENTISING MANAGEM.	Catherine Douc
EUTONIAL BUNNU	Nancy Chartrand, Christine Doll, Audra Dietz, Jim Dietz, Catherine Doud Susan L'Ecuyer, Scott Miller, Michael Nichols, Karla Redelsheimer, Chad L. Sanborn Jeff Schrag, Erwin Seba, Paula Seby, Robert R. Short, Mark Schmeller, Janet Swanson
tions inc., Kedzie Hall 103, M Monday and Thursday durin POSTMASTER: Send addr hattan, Kan. 86506-7167. News contributions will be inquiries concerning local, r	In (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publice- anhaltan, Kan. 66508. The Collegian is published Monday through Friday during the school year and ig summer sessions. Second class postage paid at Manhaltan, Kan. 66502, less changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circutation Deak, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Man- e accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, Kedzie Hall 116. national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560, Classified word advertising questions should be d	frected to (913) 532-6555.
	Kanses State Collegian Subscription Rases
One Semester (Fall or Sprir	9)
Two Semesters (Fall and Sp	oring)
Summer Session
One Year (Fall, Spring and	Surreter)
	To charge by VISA or MasterCard, cell (913) 532,8555
Send orders and address the	anges to Student Publications, Kedzie Hall 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 88508.

Finals rituals part of college

he library is now open until midnight. The Union cafeteria has extended its hours. All sorts of places in town are staying open longer for our convenience. Soon advertisements will appear in the newspaper offering personalized laundry services, quiet hotel or motel rooms and so on. There are no word puzzles to solve and no campus news to read since the Collegian is not published during finals. It seems as if the whole world is agonizing for our sake. Nothing has changed except that the final examination season has arrived.

A few very distinctive characteristics mark this part of the semester. Cries for a full dead week can be heard louder than any other time during the semester. Brochures on stress management are read more than any texthook. Cooking activities are disrupted at the apartments of off-campus students and students at residence halls see tips on stress management yelling at them from the brochures sitting on the tables at the food centers. The hardest thing to find at this time of the semester is a computer terminal or a reference for your paper. This is the only time of the semester when it becomes difficult to distinguish greek students from other students, because everybody is studying.

This state of emergency which is declared in the final weeks of the semester is not restricted to our campus, but is rather universal. It seems as though it is a reflection of human nature that everything has to be a complete episode. It should have a well-defined beginning and a dramatic end. The dogfight for classes in the basement of the library marks the beginning of the semester. the finals week hype signifies the end.

Every semester I resolve that next semester I won't be a part of this finals week hype. But that next time has not come yet. Every time I say to myself, "You cannot read all you were supposed to read after the last exam in one day," and "The final exam is just like any other exam."

But soon I find myself joining the army of crusaders battling all over campus to transfer hundreds of pages of text into their minds in a matter of hours before the "big" exam.

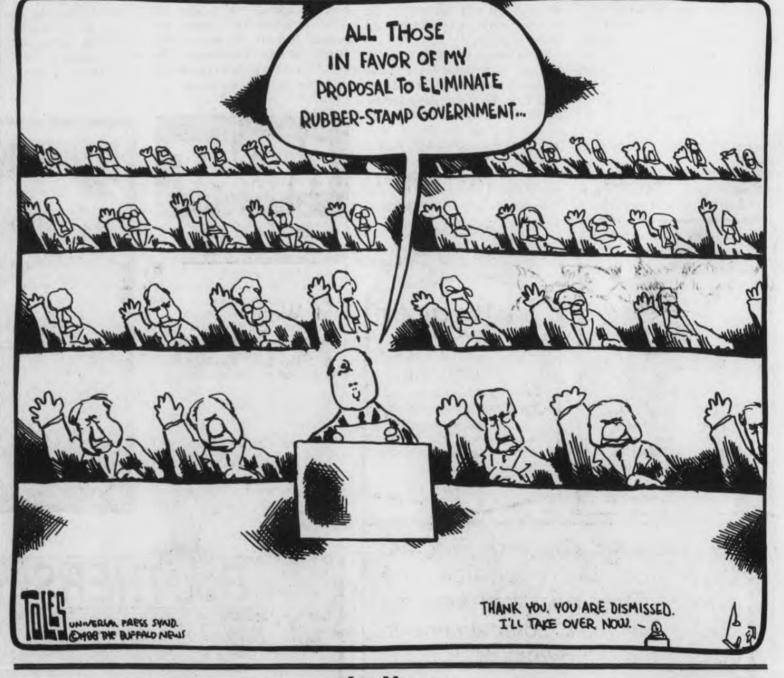

ut is it worth it? At least one thing is certain. Even participating in the marathon study sessions during the finals week, a rational person cannot expect to learn what was supposed to be learned in the last four months. All the effort seems to be focused on attaining a better grade on the final exam and consequently improving the course grade. Rarely does the strategy work. More often it does not make a difference, and at other times it

But apart from these apparent occurrences in the final week, one can learn a lot during this period. Cramming for the exams can improve reading comprehension as well as creativity. It sure does take a lot of creativity and reading skills to conclude from a two paragraph summary what the whole chapter was about.

he time squeeze during finals week puts time management skills to a test. It provides an opportunity to work under pressure. Students become more conscious of what they eat and whether they exercise to relieve the stress. And when they are finally at the exam, they get yet another opportunity to blacken computer cards using the least amount of information about the material covered on the exam.

As stupid as the idea of profusely toiling for a remotely expected improved letter grade on a piece of paper may sound, admittedly finals week is an interesting part of college life. For some it brings the feel of serious studying, which they would never otherwise experience. For me, it provides an excuse for not writing to my parents for weeks before finals. Without the excitement of the final exams, the semester would be like an art movie where nobody knows when "The End" will flash on the screen.

Letters

Letter lacked study

In reference to Neil Neaderhiser's letter of Nov. 17.

Be glad we have a newspaper that prints columns and letters critical of government figures, instead of complaining about the treatment accorded to Vernon Walters before (and after) his lecture. Many people in countries ruled by friends of Walters do not.

In response to allegations made in a Collegian article and a pamphlet distributed prior to the lecture, Neaderhiser states, "General Walters repeatedly gave evidence that he had no involvement in the activities mentioned."

What the esteemed general gave was evidence, such as it was, that he was thousands of miles away and eating at the time the alleged activities took place. Does this disprove involvement? Think about it.

As for the "concerned citizens" and "radical ignorants" referred to by Neaderhiser; many of the questioners did extensive research into Walters' background, much of the research was accomplished in our own Farrell Library. Did Neaderhiser do any such investigating?

Without questioning of our government's policies and actions, including the participants, we could not call ourselves a democracy. And as David Norlin said, "of such ingredients are Dachaus made.

Dean Hargett senior in arts and sciences Watch your books

As we all know, Farrell Library is having a lot of financial problems and so has to cut appointment with library personnel. If it is nals. It seems that somebody up there came up with the following idea to generate some money in a very small way so they can continue to subscribe to some (or at least two or three) of these important journals.

There are a whole bunch of graduate students who are so busy that they either return their library books at the book drops or they go inside the library but do not have enough time to wait and see if the books they return go through the library's electronic processing

In either case, if the books did not go through the electronic processing system, nothing will happen for several months. Then letters will be sent to those students who have checked out these books previously saying they owe the library a hefty fine for not having returned these books in time.

Invariably these students are going to protest and insist they have returned the books already. They will be asked to fix an appointment with personnel in the library and fill out a form saying they have already returned the books. The library will promise to do two or three searches for the books and inform the students in due course.

After a month, another notice will be sent to the students saying they have to pay for the cost of the books along with the fines, which by this time would have accumulated to at least as much as the list price of the books. Then the students are threatened that their library privileges will be suspended, they will not be allowed to enroll and a hold will be placed on their transcripts.

The students are going to fix another back on subscriptions to many research jour- enrollment time, many will have no choice but to pay the amount immediately. Yet there may be some adamant people who will go upstairs and find the "lost" books safe in the racks and come back triumphantly to say the library has not done a good job in tracing the books. The library official will feign to be sympathetic if the student is cool, but not act perturbed if the student is mad. He or she will reply sarcastically that the books have not gone through the electronic system, thereby concluding that the student never returned the books in the first place.

> Note: At this time, I am unable to tell you how things proceed further. Probably they will want the student to pay the accumulated fines, but they may not. (I will be surprised if they don't.) In any case, I shall enlighten you after I get the promised letter from the library.

> My case is pending with the library since I returned a book during the first week of June 1988. I am one of those unfortunate, yet adamant, graduate students who does not understand the logic for paying even a single penny for a book returned in June. I filled out two forms (they lost the first one), went through the whole charade described above, finally found the book myself in the stacks and have lost my patience completely now, in December. I seem to have pretty good company among my fellow graduate students and some of them have had experiences far worse with the library personnel than what I have been going through with them so far.

> > Kuppusamy Ravindran graduate student in mathematics

Some stoneware causes lead poisoning

By Mark Rader Collegian Reporter

Anyone experiencing lethargy, an upset stomach, muscle and joint pains, anemia or loss of weight could have a case of lead poisoning.

It is a cumulative poison of which your body cannot rid itself. The lead gradually builds in the body until the individual's tolerance level is reached and these symptoms appear eventually leading to death if not controlled, said Angelo Garzio, professor of art.

In the past, a main source of lead poisoning has been improperly glazed pottery used to contain food or beverages. This occurrence in domestic-made ceramics has decreased since 1971 when the Food and Drug Administration set guidelines on the usage of lead in the making of ceramics, according to a recent article in Newsweek magazine.

However, foreign-made ceramics are often not subjected to the same guidelines as are American products, the article said.

Most of domestic-made pottery is totally safe, especially stoneware, Garzio said, which is fired in a kiln at a temperature high enough to inactivate the lead.

"Most of the pottery made in the U.S. today, in my opinion, is leadless," he said.

The problem arises when the lead glaze, which is mixed with a silica compound, is fired at low temperatures. At high temperatures, the lead and silica unite, forming a bond the lead cannot escape, Garzio said.

When fired at lower heats, the lead can be drawn from the glaze by the natural acidity of the substance the pottery contains, he said.

Liquids such as fruit juices, vinegar, wine, coffee and milk can absorb the lead from the glaze and become harmful, Garzio said.

According to the Dairy and Food Sanitation journal, safeguards can be taken against lead. Ceramicware, antiques and collectibles - especially those purchased in other countries shouldn't be used to store food or beverages. Also, consumers should be cautious of ceramic items made by amateurs or hobbyists.

Garzio said tremendous amounts of lead are used in Mexico in pottery glazing because lead is less expensive than other compounds used as substitutes. Also, a lead-based glaze can be kiln-fired efficiently at much lower temperatures, cutting the cost of equipment.

Low-priced pottery from Mexico and South America is fine to buy for shouldn't be used with food, as the safety could not be guaranteed.

Eliminating lead entirely from processes such as pottery would be difficult to accomplish, said Fred Oehme, professor of toxicology.

"It would be very difficult to produce the amounts and intensity of bright colors that lead pigments offer," Oehme said.

Stoneware is fired in the kiln at a minimum of 2,200 degrees Fahrenheit, well above the 1,900 degrees needed to ensure a safe bond of lead with the silica compound. However, earthenware pottery can be fired at temperatures much lower than 1,900 degrees, allowing for the lead to improperly bond, Garzio said.

One dangerous method of firing pottery is raku, he said. In raku, the pottery is fired at a low temperature and is removed to cool as soon as the glaze has melted, leaving the pottery porous and subject to the leaching of Lead is not the only poison used in ceramics, Garzio said. Antimony, barium, cadmium, copper, chromium, selenium and zinc are also used. However, when fired at a temperature high enough, the poisonous structures break down.

Glazes can cause illnesses More than 4 percent of ceramics decorative purposes, he said, but it violate FDA guidelines for dishes

By Mark Rader Collegian Reporter

More than 4 percent of all ceramicware on the market is in violation of Food and Drug Administration guidelines limiting the amount of lead in ceramics used for food purposes, according to a random survey conducted by the FDA in 1987.

In 1971, the FDA set guidelines stating that ceramicware cannot leach more lead than the following levels in a 24-hour period: seven parts per billion for a flat dish, five parts per billion for a small bowl, and 2.5 parts per billion for a large bowl.

The lowest limits were established for large items such as ceramic pitchers because they are frequently used for storing acidic foods, such as orange juice, which encourage the greatest amount of leaching, according to the November FDA Drug Bulletin.

Children are more susceptible to lead poisoning than adults because children are more likely to ingest large quantities of lead in their everyday lives, said Fred Oehme, professor of toxicology.

This happens most often in poorer neighborhoods where the upkeep on facilities is not as efficient. Paints made before the FDA laws of 1971 contained large amounts of lead and children often ingest paint chips,

When lead is first consumed, it travels to the liver, kidneys and bloodstream. As the intake continues, lead is deposited into the brain in small amounts. Lead is also deposited into the growing area of bones, he said.

"With buildup, there are effects upon the brain," Oehme said. "It can lead to convulsions and seizures that are often mistaken for epilepsy."

PHONE_

DAY TO RUN_

MESSAGE _

Once the lead poisoning is diagnosed, the problem is not immediately solved, he said. After intake is discontinued, the body will take up to 30 years to dispose of the lead.

It will continue to move about in the system, leaving the kidney, liver and brain to move into the bones. The lead in the blood will exit the body via urine, he said.

When the lead enters the bone's growth area, it disperses among the new cells, forming a line visible to an X-ray. This lead is not harmful to the bone and will remain there until natural bone cell turnover has removed all traces, Oehme said.

According to the FDA, there are no accurate limits to the toxic threshhold of lead, especially for children. The long-term effects of lead poisoning are still under investigation.

Buy, Sell or Trade in Collegian Classifieds

Tank explosion causes evacuation

By The Associated Press

GREAT BEND - Explosions and fire rocked petroleum storage tanks Tuesday at a bulk oil company, shooting flames 60 feet into the air and prompting police to evacuate nearby residents and businesses.

No injuries were reported from the blaze that burned for about 31/4 hours, destroying a warehouse, a truck and six storage tanks containing 27,000 gallons of different types of fuel, said fire department dispatcher Don Dolechek. About 25 firefighters fought the blaze which was extinguished about 1:30 p.m.

At least three explosions rattled windows across the central Kansas town of about 18,000 people during a block or more away.

the fire at the Moeder Oil Co., located in an industrial district just outside Great Bend.

Officials evacuated 20 homes and several businesses during the height of the blaze. Firefighters stood close to the tanks as they sprayed water and foam on the blaze, despite concerns that an explosion could send shrapnel

If Santa's list of things to buy is weighing down the sleigh — then say you care with a COLLEGIAN PERSONAL — put yours in today! YOUR NAME _

> The cost for your Personal is only $2.50 for 1-15 words and 20¢ for each additional word. Bring in a CANNED FOOD for the Flint Hills Breadbasket and receive a $1.00 off your Personall Write your message in the space above, clip the form and bring it with your payment to Kedzie 103 before noon on December 7. Ads will run in the December 9th

COLLEGIAN Personals

Have a Safe and Well Christmas from your Wellness Program PAC-CATS

PAC-CATS Office Suite 26 Lower Level Lafene 532-6927

WYSKOK SKOKIO YOUNGYONGYONGY

HOLIDAY GIFT BOOK SALE

These are just a few of the hundreds of holiday sale books we brought in to meet your gift-giving needs. The quantities are limited, so come in today!

FIT FOR LIFE. By H. and M. Diamond.

ILLUSTRATED HISTORY OF BASE
it's not what you eat but when and how!

Enjoy losing weight on the natural body cycle (no calorie counting), permanent weight loss plan that shows you how to eat what you want and still lose weight!

But S1740

Only $4.98

ILLUSTRATED HISTORY OF BASE
Ca's most trusted brand of Cream BALL. Over 300 Photos, 70 in Full Color. Cheese. Delicious, easy-to-read recipes for everything from vegetable sidevolume! Covers the founding and development of the National and American 10.

Only $4.98

THE MAMMOTH HUNTERS. By Jean M. Pub. at. $17.40
Only $4.98 game, right up to the moderr: era—and 500 QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS all the greatest names are here. 192 ABOUT THE BIBLE. 200 Full-Color Illus. pages. 15% x 11. ABOUT THE BIBLE. 200 Full-Color Illus. pages. 15½ x 11. Only 19.95
Where did the ark rest? When was Jesus ILLUSTRATED HISTORY OF GOLF.
born? How did Samson lose his Over 300 Photos, 70 in Full Color. Attracstrength? At last, for young readers, the events, ideas, and backgrounds of Judatory of the game. Recounts the exploits of ism and Christianity presented in entertaining question and answer format. 192 Snead, Arnold Palmer. 192 pages 15½ x taining question and answer format. 192 pages. 7½ x 11½. Only $7.98
THE GREAT BOOK OF MODERN WARPLANES. By Bill Gunston & Mick Spick. Exhaustive report on the world's most powerful attack craft with hundreds of full-color photos, airbrushed illus., plus gratefold artwork to illustrate these sophisticated fighting machines both close up and in action. Incl. full technical data and a complete history on the devention of the spice of data and a complete history on the development, deployment and performance record of each. 640 pages. 12½ x 10%.

Orig. Pub. at. $129.50 Only $39.95

THE GREAT BOOK OF TRAINS. By B.

Hollingsworth, et al. Full Color Illus. plus Photos in Full Color Illus. plus Photos Illus Photo exciting chapter in railroading history. Lively chronology covers more than 100 years in the evolution of North American rains and locomotives, beginning with the steam passenger locomotives of the rly 1800s. 416 pages 8 x 11%.

9:00 am-9 pm Mon-Sat 12-5 Sun

623 N. Manhattan Ave. 539-0511

THE MAMMOTH HUNTERS. By Jean M.

Auel. Return to the dawn of human history with the author of The Clan of the Cave Bear and The Valley of Horses. The Mammoth Hunters is a powerful saga of love, knowledge, jealousy and one woman's struggle to make a fateful choice between the two men she loves. 656 pages. Pub. at $19.95Only $5.98
THE MERRY CHRISTMAS BOOK. Full Color Illustrations by Denise Fleming. A first holiday treasury for young readers filled with a choice selection of classic poems, stories and songs. 45 pages 9% x 12%. Pub. at $7.95 Only $3.98 THE MILITARY HISTORY OF WORLD WAR II. Ed. B. Pitt. 900 Full Color and B&W Illus. Highly informative, far-reading text covers the war from both sides of the battlefield. Major battles and campaigns highlighted by maps depict-ing strategic movements, location and

Stuckey. Over 130 Full Color Plates, 119 B&W Illus. The talents of one of the path of action. 320 pages, 101/4 x

ASSOCIATES.

Architecture projects on display at UMKC's urban design center

By The Collegian Staff

The open house and lecture for the College of Architecture and Design will be Wednesday at the University of Missouri-Kansas City campus.

Students from UMKC, K-State and the University of Kansas will have projects on display and will be participating in the open house, said Mark Lapping, dean of the College of Architecture and Design.

The open house will take place at versities, Lapping said. The open house starts at 7 p.m.

"The open house is an attempt to give the Kansas City community the access to see what (the universities) are doing."

-Dean Mark Lapping The guest lecturer is David

DeLong, a professor in the departthe Epperson House, which is the ment of architecture at the University urban design center for the three uni- of Pennsylvania. He will discuss the works of Louis Kahn and the evolution of modernism, Lapping said.

Eighteen K-State students and two or three faculty members are planning to attend the open house, Lapping said. The work of many K-State students will be on exhibit.

"The open house is an attempt to give the Kansas City community the access to see what (the universities) are doing," Lapping said. "It gives people a chance to see the quality of work that students are doing."

The open house and lecture are open to the public.

Architecture resource center dedication ceremonies today

By The Collegian Staff

Dedication ceremonies for the Jack C. Durgan Resource Center will be today at 2:30 p.m. The center is located in Seaton 260, and is specifically designed for the use of interior architecture students.

These students have been redesigning and adding new construction to the space since last spring, said Steve Murphy, head of the Department of Interior Architecture.

The resource center, which includes conference space and a study area, is named after the founder and former head of the department, Jack C. Durgan.

Durgan founded the department in 1972 and headed it until his retirement last spring. He had been at K-State for 34 years.

He started the department with only two students and himself as the only faculty member. Fifteen years later, the enrollment is at 67 students, Murphy said.

Durgan earned a bachelor's degree from Oklahoma State University in 1951 and a master's from K-State in 1957. Mark Lapping, dean of the College of Architecture and Design, and Robert Kruh, associate provost, are scheduled to speak at the 45-minute ceremony.

The public is invited to attend.

U.S. farmer: Soviet chickens under-fed

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW - The chickens sold in the Soviet Union are so scrawny that shoppers joke the poultry is starved to death rather than slaughtered, and even Frank Perdue says he can't help until the emaciated birds are fed better.

Perdue, who picked over the poultry during a visit to Moscow's famous G.U.M. department store on Red Square last week, politely referred to the chickens he saw as "lean" and "narrow-breasted."

"The chickens lack protein," concluded Perdue, chairman and chief promoter of Perdue Farms Inc., the United States' fourth-largest poultry producer.

Soviet chickens make do with 15 percent corn feed plus wheat and barbirds on a diet of nearly 60 percent

Their diet isn't likely to improve soon since both corn and high protein soybeans require a warmer climate than found in most of the Soviet Union, said Donald W. Mabe, president and chief executive of Perdue

"They could buy corn on the world market, but what could they use to pay for it?" he asked. "All their vodka is taken up by Pepsi Cola."

Mabe was referring to the obstacle facing Western companies: the fact that Soviet rubles are not convertible on the world market, thus forcing most firms to barter one commodity

The Soviets have few goods to sell, and Pepsi Cola sewed up world demand for its vodka 15 years ago to the Soviet Union in exchange for Stolichnaya vodka.

Still, a visit to a market makes it clear the Soviet Union could use Perdue's help. Soviet chickens are so tough that few will bake them.

One solution by local cooks is impaling the chicken on a glass milk bottle filled with water. The bird and bottle are balanced in the oven and the chicken is steamed from the inside out while it bakes. The recipe is called "Chicken on a Bottle."

Perdue said chickens could be the answer to the Soviet Union's perennial food shortage, as the birds require only two pounds of feed to produce a pound of meat - twice as efficient as hogs, and more than three times as efficient as producing beef.

Perdue, along with his father, built the company from a few dozen chickens into an operation with sales of $964 million in 1986-87 that distributes poultry products along the East Coast from Maine to North Carolina. At age 67, he stepped down last summer as chief executive, with Mabe taking over that job.

Perdue and Mabe visited the national Poultry Breeding Institute north of Moscow in Ptitsagrad.

Buy, Sell or Trade in Collegian Classifieds

New Nonfat Frozen Yogurt

Same great taste with no fat or cholesterol

Nautilus Towers-Aggieville Phone 537-1616 Manhattan

Pregnant...

and don't know what to do?

CALL BIRTHRIGHT

They'll help you make the decisions you will have to make. Help that is free, confidential. Help that is as close as your phone.

Call any time.

Free pregnancy test, confidential

537-9180

BASKETBALL SPECIAL!!

Rebound on down for our great rates!!

Bring in your ticket stub and receive an additional 10% off your room.

★Special rates apply to students and their guests.★

Call 539-5391 to make your reservation

ley, while Perdue says he feeds his with a deal that sends soft drink syrup

Pitchers TONIGHT ON TAP COORS LT, BUD, OLD MILW.

•NO DRESS CODE •NO COVER CHARGE THE FINEST LITTLE TAVERN BY A DAM SITE Rt. 5

Finally,

the scanner you've always wanted for your Macintosh ...

Easy to use and $250 back!

Now - between October 1, 1988 and December 31, 1988 - you can receive a $250 factory rebate. Buy an HP Scanlet Scanner and an HP ScanJet Interface Kit for the Macintosh®, see how easy it is to use and get $250 back!

PACKARD

Connecting Point. COMPUTER CENTER

1115 Westloop Shop. Ctr 539-0801

You don't need your parents' money to buy a Macintosh.

Just their signature.

It's never been difficult for students to convince their parents of the need for a Macintosh® computer at school.

Persuading them to write the check, however, is another thing altogether.

Which is why Apple created the Student Loanto-Own Program. An ingenious loan program that makes buying a Macintosh as easy as using

Simply pick up an application at the location listed below, or call 800-831-LOAN. All your parents need to do is fill it out, sign it, and send it. If they qualify, they'll receive a check for you in just a few weeks.

There's no collateral. No need to prove financial hardship. No application fee.

Best of all, the loan payments can be spread over as many as 10 years.

Which gives you and your parents plenty of time to decide just who pays for it all.

Introducing Apple's Student Loan-to-Own Program

Regular Semester Hours: M-Th 8-8, Fri 8-5, Sat 9-5, Sun 12-5

© 1988 Apple Computer, Inc. Apple, the Apple logo, and Macintosh are registered trademarks of Apple Computer, Inc.

Lifestyle

Kansas State Collegian ■ Wednesday, December 7, 1988 ■ Page 7

Backpacks Set Fashion With

For some people, backpacks morely serve as a convenient way to transport those heavy text books back and forth to class. For others, the book bag is a fashion accessory.

Many K-State students are opting for a combination of fashion and practicality in this year's gear, Julie Grant, supply mana-ger at Varney's Bookstore in Aggieville, said she is noticing

"People are buying quality." she said. "We're selling more bags with durable materials and more features. Some have pockers for thermoses in the bottoms. The older audents like to curv coffee that way."

Other features students look for are padded backs and leather guaratice is offered by both Eastpak and Jansport brands.

Eastpak and Jansport brands.
In addition to the basic twostrap backpack, book bags carried like a shoulder bag and tesembling modified briefcases are gradually gaining interest among students.

Liesbet Trappenburg, national sales manager for Eastpak, Inc., a backpack supplier, agreed that styles are changing.

"There's a definite market for students to carry book bags," she said. "It's a take-off on the European Danish book bag.
European students have always carried those."

A variety of labrics is also part

A variety of labrics is also part but Cordura (a water-repelling significant way.

"What we're very well known for are our printed backpacks with floral designs, stripes, etc.," she said. "These are currently more popular on the East and West coasts and in the Rockies."

"We sell quite a few book bags, but most students still want he (traditional backpacks)." Grant said.

Prices range from $12.99 for the simple nylon bags in the Union Bookstore to $75 for the Union Bookstore to $75 for the trendy distressed leather backpack offered by Varney's.

The most popular price range is from $20-29, Grant said.

Prices on the national level range from $15 to $100, with the median cost around $35. Trappeables said.

K. Staters appear to be a fittle more conservative than their form their choice of colors.

White Cleant said K. Staters' translet conservative are navy blue.

very big, including bright pinks and greens."

However, there are some very unique pieces of baggage on K-State's campus, which could challenge those owned by radical coastal students.

Carrie Davies, junior in mechanical engineering, carries her schoolwork in a black nylon Swatch over-the-shoulder bag. On a large flap are the entire alphabet — both upper and low-er case letters — and the numbers one through 10.

Davies said she purchased the bag for several reasons.

"I wanted a change," she said. The only reason I got it was to be out of the ordinary. Also, it's a good conversation piece. People come up to me asking. 'What does it say?'"

There is even another advantage to this alternative gear. "Your friends can spot you from a distance." Davies said.

Like Davies, other students od ner beny, Trappenburg said are looking for both fashion and de level, "Neon is practicality, yet something shoulder," she said.

Janet Blanck, senior in textile science, wanted a change.

Blanck, who carries a gray nylon over-the-shoulder tote bag, said she was tired of carrying a backpack.

"I wanted something different, with room for the stuff I carry," she said. Blanck also brought up another common concern among students. "It's more comfortable than a backpack," she said.

Not to be forgotten, of course, are those individuals who are those individuals who demonstrate their non-conformist attitude by carrying their traditional backpacks by both shoulder straps.

Margo Keiler, freshman in business, noticed the social stigma strached to this method.

"The first day of classes, you see all these freshmen with their backpacks slung over both shoulders, then they quickly learn that that's not cook and leum that that's not cool, and start alinging them over just one

Story by Jenny Reschke

Hepatitis scare strikes Iola; officials urge immunizations

By The Associated Press

IOLA, Kan. - School and health officials say that as many as 1,100 people might receive immunizations for hepatitis after a food preparer in a school cafeteria was diagnosed as suffering from infectious hepatitis.

More than 100 school children and their parents showed up at the Allen County Health Department offices in Iola early Tuesday to receive the free gamma globulin immunizations.

Students and others who were in the cafeterias at the junior and senior high school and three elementary schools in Iola from Nov. 16-30 were being urged by county health officials to take advantage of the immunizations.

The unidentified food preparer is on leave from her job, school officials said.

Don Bain, the school superintendent, said there is no evidence that anyone was exposed to hepatitis through the school's food

Emie Davidson, the county health department administrator. said Tuesday that about 10 Iola residents have been diagnosed since June as having infectious

"That's not an abnormally high number, but it is more than you'd usually expect in Iola," he said.

Center to remain open

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA - The state Department of Health and Environment said Tuesday the owner of a Topeka nursing home has agreed to keep it open 10 more days to provide additional time to find other living arrangements for its residents.

American Health Corp. had announced it was closing the Highland Villa Nursing Home in east Topeka effective Wednesday after the federal Health Care Financing Administration decertified it as a facilty eligible for Medicaid payments for its residents.

Greg Crawford, spokesman for KDHE, said the state was told Highland Villa was decertified because HFCA inspectors found a serious roach infestation problem at the facility during a November inspection.

Crawford said American Health representatives agreed to delay the closing of the home from Wednesday until Dec. 16 to allow more time to relocate its residents.

"We're working with the residents and their families to protect their rights and see that they have another place to go," said Crawford. "This delay allows an orderly transfer."

Crawford said Highland Villa had 62 residents, but about a dozen of them had moved out by Tuesday. As many as 55 of the residents may qualify for Medicaid, he said.

While federal Medicaid payments ceased with the HFCA decertification, Crawford said the state Department of Social and Rehabilitation Services would continue to pay the state's share of Medicaid during the remaining 10 days the home is open.

"The Department of Health and Environment will continue to monitor the facility to assure that the residents are appropriately cared for while transfers are being arranged."

Caffeine study aid for final examination

Drug causes side effects

By The Collegian Staff

While students spend late nights cramming for finals, caffeine can come to the rescue by increasing their ability to stay awake, but it must be taken with caution and supervision.

"Caffeine stimulates the central nervous system at all levels," said Dari Parizadeh, a University of Kansas pharmacy student interning at Memorial Hospital.

It also causes cardiac stimulation, dilation of the coronary blood vessels and gastric acid secretion, he said.

"People can overdose on caffeine," said Dr. Robert Tout, director of Lafene Student Health Center. The effect of caffeine varies with individuals. Too much can cause bad side effects.

Different people react to caffeine can cause an increase in the heart the amounts that are taken. rate, ringing in the ears, upset stomach, nervousness, and can cause a person to make more than the usual number of trips to the bathroom.

Some people may suffer from these effects after drinking just one cup of coffee.

"Caffeine isn't habit-forming like some other drugs, such as cocaine," Tout said, although once a person stops taking caffeine, he or she may be a little "draggy" for a while,

Caffeine, when taken properly, can help a student concentrate, but too much will hinder concentration and retention of the material studied, Parizadeh said.

Caffeine can be obtained in a pill form, such as Vivarin and No-Doz. Vivarin contains 200 milligrams of caffeine and No-Doz contains 100 milligrams, Tout said. Because there is a difference in the amount of caffeine between the two products, in different ways, Tout said. Caffeine supervision must be emphasized on

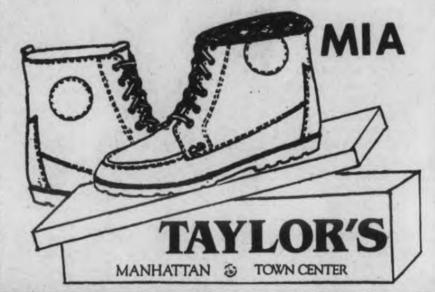

One cup of coffee contains approximately 150 milligrams of caffeine, Parizadeh said. If an excess of 1,000 milligrams is taken, toxic symptoms could occur. If a dosage of more than 5,000 milligrams is taken, death could result.

One healthy substitute for caffeine is to get an adequate amount of rest before cramming for a test, Tout said. People get in trouble when caffeine is used to replace rest.

Parizadeh said caffeine has also been known to increase blood sugar levels. Also, females using oral contraceptives may notice an increased caffeine effect, he said.

Manhattan

1501 Tuttle Creek Boulevard Manhattan, Kansas 66502

STUDENT SPECIAL Peace and Quiet to study or just get away.

Day Rate 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. - $10 On availability basis only. Student I.D. Required.

STUDENT SPECIAL

Call for reservations, 539-5391

BASKETBALL FANS!

ATTENTION K-STATE

You "Win" when the WILDCATS "WIN"!

Tonight when the Men's Kansas State Basketball team is victorious, we'll help with the treats!

Here's How It Works:

You'll receive the percent off your total purchase that matches the point spread. For instance, if the Wildcats win by 15 points, you'll receive a 15 percent discount. If they win by 30, it'll be 30 percent, etc.

> Cheer the Wildcats on to victory against

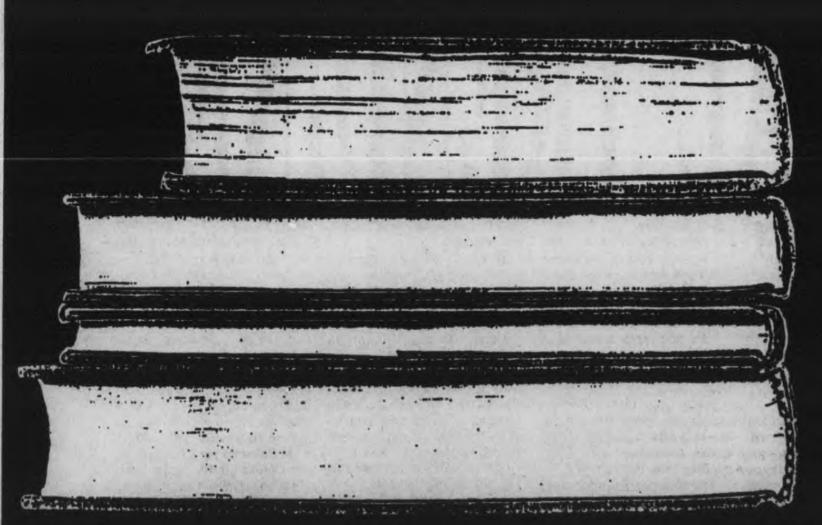

> > Baylor

and then come in to celebrate with us after the game.

705 N. 11th Nautilus Towers Open: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Dally Noon-11 p.m. Sunday

Want To Sell Your Books?

Question: How does the Union Bookstore determine how much your books are worth when you sell them back?

If the Bookstore has notification from the instructor that the books are to be re-adopted for use the next semester, and if the Bookstore doe not already have a sufficient stock on hand, then you will be offered

If the Bookstore has not received notice that the book will be used again, or it it already has a sufficient stock on hand, the book would be worth the current wholesale price as indicated by one of the the buyer will be happy to answer any questions which you may hav

Question: Is 60% the usual price paid for textbooks around the country? Definitely not. Mail stores in the United States pay only 50% to Question: What about paperbacks? Does the 60% policy apply to them.

Question: If the publisher's price has gone up since I bought my books, will

k-state union

The K-State Union Will Buy 'Em!

Wednesday, December 7 thru Friday, December 16

Monday thru Thursday Friday Saturday Sunday

8:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Sk-state union 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Shookstore Noon to 5:00 p.m.

K-State holds off Jennies' rally, 55-53

By Mike Rouse Sports Writer

The K-State women's basketball team shot under 40 percent from the field last night against Central Missouri State, but it was good enough for a victory as the Lady Cats pulled off a 55-53 victory in Bramlage

"We didn't score very many points, but we scored enough to win and that is what counts," Lady Cat coach Matilda Mossman said.

The Lady Cats' defense was impressive again as they held CMSU to just 33 percent shooting from the field. The defense held the Jennies' all-American Tammy Wilson to just 16 points. Wilson came into the contest averaging 24 points a game. Mossman said Kristie Bahner and Rita Matteucci played extremely well on defense guarding Wilson. "They (Bahner and Matteucci) did a good job of keeping her under her average," Mossman said. "Anytime you guard an all-American, it will wear you down,"

K-State's defense held CMSU scoreless for the first four minutes of the second half before Karen Chalupny made a layup to trim the Lady Cats' lead to 41-35.

K-State then went on a 10-6 run to extend their lead to 51-41 with 7:34 left in the game. CMSU outscored K-State 10-2 during the next six minutes to make it a two-point ball game with 1:40 left.

Miller then hit a jumper that proved to be the game winner with 1:19 left to extend the lead to four points, 55-51.

Offensively, the Lady Cats were led by Miller, who had a season high 20 points. She also added six rebounds.

"I missed my first two shots, but Coach told me to keep shooting until I found my rhythm," Miller said. Miller scored ten straight points in the first half to help build a 22-16 lead with 10:14 left. Matteucci started for the second time this season and responded by scoring 10 points and forcing five "I want to contribute the best I can, It doesn't matter whether I start or not," Matteucci said. "(Matteucci) gives us stability.

She plays smart defensively and makes smart plays," Mossman said.

Nadira Hazim added 10 points and was the leading rebounder for the Lady Cats with seven. Junior college transfer Ameetrice Cobb came off the bench to score six points and added four rebounds.

The victory puts the Lady Cats' record at 4,2 for the year, while the Jennies drop to 4-3.

Central Missouri State's Jo Munson tries to hang on to the ball as K-State forward Rita Matteucci strips it away during Tuesday night's game in Bramlage Coliseum. The Lady Cats defeated the Jennies, 55-53.

Lady Cat Diana Miller is stopped by Central Missouri State forward Robin Williams as she drives to the basket.

years at K-State Columnist experienced it all

Contrary to popular belief, I haven't been here forever.

Actually, it's just been 41/2 years. Considering my study habits, it probably should have been longer, but this is it for me in Collegianland. Yes, I'm actually graduating, providing that my teachers cooperate next week.

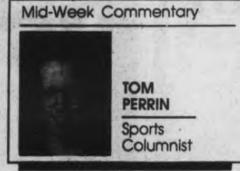

Since I came here in 1984, the performances in K-State athletics have been, well, mixed. I saw a total of six wins and one tie by the K-State football team. In men's basketball, the 'Cats didn't make the Big Eight Conference's upper division until my junior year, with the arrival of Lon Kruger.

The other sports had their ups and downs, as well. But all the K-State sports have one thing in common. Each, with the possible exception of football, is in better shape than when I arrived or, at least, hasn't slipped.

In general, I see good things ahead for Wildcat athletics for a number of reasons. In every sport, the commitment and funding have increased markedly over the past few years. That level of funding may still be the lowest in the Big Eight, but it's a lot better than it was four years ago.

If K-State wants to take the next step forward, students must pass the athletic fee when it comes before referendum this spring. Now, this isn't intended to be a big sales pitch for the athletic fee. However, every other school in the Big Eight has an athletic fee. If K-State is going to continue to be successful in the non-revenue sports (all those except football and men's basketball), it must follow

But even more important than the fee to the athletic department is success of the football team. This game pays the bills for the department. Even without a win in two years, football makes far more money for K-State than basketball. It's not too hard to figure out why the Nebraska and Oklahoma athletic budgets dwarf K-State's. Football money.

K-State seems to have picked a good man to run the football program in Bill Snyder. If Snyder coaches and recruits as well as he talked at last week's press conference, the 'Cats may win some games before too long. Then again, what coach doesn't sound like a winner at the press conference and at booster

Snyder will have to do the job in the stadium. However, it is nice that the K-State administration seems to have made the proper commitment to Snyder. The expectations of Snyder and the football program appear realistic. The job will obviously be tough, but, like past K-State coaches, Snyder seems ready for the challenge.

In men's basketball, K-State appears set for years to come with Kruger as head coach. This year's team probably won't end up as good as last year's, but I will be surprised if the 'Cats aren't in the NCAA tournament come March.

Kruger's turnaround of the sinking program two years ago was close to remarkable. Not that it will take this, but if Fred Bramlage has any more money he wants to donate to K-State, he should put it toward keeping Kruger in Manhattan until retirement age.

Well, there's my pseudo-expert assessment of the K-State athletic program after nine semesters at the Collegian.

In a couple of weeks, hopefully with diploma in hand, I'm off to a fun-filled life of going to ball games and getting paid for it.

Who was it that said you had to get a real job when you graduated, anyway?

Fall intramurals winding down with volleyball finals

By Amy Lyons Collegian Reporter

Hot in pursuit of the coveted white championship shirts, four intramural volleyball teams clinched their division titles Tuesday night at the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex.

Decisions were made in the fraternity, residence hall, women's and independent divisions. The finals of the co-rec and all-University titles will begin at 7 p.m. Thursday.

Steve Martini, K-State intramural director, said 275 teams competed in intramural volleyball this year. He said the level of playing is much improved and the number of teams has increased since last year.

"As far as volleyball goes, this is pretty good," Martini said. "There is some real competition out there. ... You'd be surprised how hot it gets.

"Volleyball numbers have gone up, while other sports have gone down," he said, crediting the increased interest to a number of different reasons.

"Women play the game in high school, so they have some background. The guys are starting to come out for a fun, athletic game," he said, adding that "It's not a picnic kind of game."

Mike Denardo, K-State assistant volleyball coach and member of the Manhattan Beach Club team in the independent division, said he was impressed with the intramural volleyball program being built at K-

"I've seen a lot of intramurals and these are probably some of the best," he said. "The thing is, an environment has been created here where they try to improve. They try to play by the rules.'

■ See FINALS, Page 14

'Cats to meet Baylor tonight, looking to get third victory

By Chris Wilhelm Sports Writer

After opening its 1988-89 campaign with two wins at home and one loss on the road, the K-State men's basketball squad (2-1) take on the Baylor Bears (1-4) at 7:30 tonight in Bramlage Coliseum.

The Bears, coming off a 23-11 campaign last season, will be the fourth team the 'Cats have faced that made it to the NCAA Tournament last year. Baylor was defeated in postseason play by Memphis State 75-60 in the first round.

The Bears are coming off an 83-73 loss to another Big Eight Conference team, Iowa State, on Monday night.

The Wildcats, who aren't particularly long in the height department, have managed to outrebound their first three opponents by a margin of four rebounds per game. The two biggest 'Cats, Fred McCoy and Tony Massop, have been pulling down most of the boards for K-State, both averaging almost nine caroms per game. Steve Henson leads the Wildcats in the scoring department, hitting

16 points a game, while McCoy See 'CATS, Page 14

Probable Starters

K-State (2-1)	Pos.	Baylor (1-4)
Smith (6-5, Jr.)	F	Denton (6-4, Jr.)
Massop (6-8, Jr.)	F	Brown (6-6, Sr.)
McCoy (6-7, Sr.)	C	Chalmers (6-7, Fr.)
Henson (6-1, Jr.)	G	Hobbs (6.3 Ir)

Hunt (6-3, So.)

lministration asks fans' help with new policies

harded facility, public will containly be a majority of the audientra and from a

From the beginning, the students request of the colored in the colored who, while them. This new facility belongs to all of another than they be seated in an area many one of the part of the game, do not support on the could vigorously cheer and slap who are the color to the action. We are entire game, The seating Finally, smoking is now prohibited in the dist. Unfortunately, does not be seated, an apprilty of the students ment for the colored by those to the scale. We are supported by game, the seating Finally, smoking is now prohibited in the distribution of the students ment for the students ment for the students ment for the students are the students and the students are the students and the students are th a we have few out to opened a new close that Unfortunately, due to the last a-are the any chauthack seats to be '10 smoke will need to get a pass to go with into the collision. A number of cordoors.

A part into the collision. A number of cordoors.

Again, we appreciate the itemendour or by histories. Special chaircocks is apport we have a form Wildram or en-

Par Bosco, Vice President for Institution-

Diggins (6-4, Sr.) G

Laurian Culfy, Student Body President Doug Folk, former Student Senate

Lon Kruger, Men's Basketball Coach Art Loub, President, KSU-Foundation Stove Miller, Director of Athletics Charlie Thomas, Brainlage Coliseum

Ist! Thompson, Student Senate

Court to hear pari-mutuel racing argument

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA - The fate of parimutuel racing in Kansas will hang in the balance after the state Supreme Court hears arguments Friday in a case in which it will consider the validity of licenses issued by the state Racing Commission for a project in Kansas City, Kan.

Two unsuccessful applicants will ask the state's highest court to overturn the commission's decision to grant licenses to a Wichita developer and a Kansas City, Kan., non-profit group to build a $55.6 million dogand horse-racing park.

The case is a colorful and contentious one, involving allegations of misconduct against Attorney General Robert T. Stephan. Attorneys for the commission and the groups have even quibbled over the length of legal briefs and oral arguments. Arguments before the court are scheduled to begin at 9:30 a.m. Friday.

The Kansas City area is considered the state's most lucrative potential market for racing, one in which Kansas is competing with Missouri to get a successful track built.

We would like to get this out of the way and get the racing program moving ahead," said Jimmy Grenz, the commission's executive director. "It would appear to be the last major

In July, the commission granted licenses to Sunflower Racing Inc. of Wichita and The Racing Association of Kansas East. Sunflower has already started construction of the park, which will have separate dogand horse-racing tracks.

The commission chose from among four applications, including one filed jointly by two Kansas City area groups, Kansas Racing Management Inc., and the non-profit Wyandotte County Economic Development Commission. Those groups proposed building a $28.5 million park in Edwardsville.

$10.00

They appealed the Racing Commission's decision in August. Under a 1988 law, such appeals go directly to the state Supreme Court, which must decide whether the commission's decision was "arbitrary and capricious."

"The conditional licenses awarded are not in the best interest of the horse and greyhound industries or the public of the state of Kansas," the groups said in their 75-page legal brief filed in the case.

The groups pulled Stephan into the case because of his business and personal relationship with Sunflower's co-owner, R.D. Hubbard, a former Wichita resident and now a millionaire Texas businessman.

8.00°

As attorney general, Stephan appoints the director of the Kansas Bureau of Investigation, which performed background checks on applicants for the commission. A former Stephan campaign director is the KBI's deputy director, and Stephan also appointed the assistant attorney general who serves as the Racing Commission's attorney, Janet Chubb.

In 1985, Hubbard gave Stephan $10,000 to help the attorney general settle a sexual harassment suit filed by a former employee. The two also were investors together in Pinochhio's Pizza, a venture that lasted at least seven years starting in 1978.

"The person with the apparent interest in the outcome, by virtue of his long-standing personal, business and financial relationships with R.D. Hubbard, is the Kansas attorney general," the groups said in their briefs. "The attorney general and his numerous subordinates directly influenced virtually all matters of the Kansas Racing Commission." Stephan has called the allegations 'absurd." Chubb noted in her 45-page brief that the groups did not claim the Racing Commission was biased. The commission decided in July that the questions about Stephan were beyond its jurisdiction.

"There is no evidence to support (the groups') attack on state officials and their employees," the commission's brief said.

The groups also question the nonprofit status of the group working with Sunflower, TRAK East. Under Kansas law, the profits from racing must go to non-profit groups for distribution to charity.

The appealing groups allege that TRAK East is nothing more than a front group for Sunflower. They note that Cheryl Cook Boushka, the daughter-in-law of Sunflower's coowner, Richard Boushka, incorporated Sunflower in July 1986 and a group called TRAK East in May

That first TRAK East was dissolved in January, just a few days before another TRAK East was formed by different persons.

"With the exception of the incorporators and the registered agents, TRAK East's two articles of incorporation are identical," the appealing groups' brief said.

Boushka and TRAK East officials have said Sunflower and TRAK East are independent.

For local and national news. Read the Collegian

High Energy Snacks Available for Finals People's Grocery Cooperative 539-4811 811 Colorado Open late on Thurs.!

Is your car on its last leg, and you need a fuel-efficient car? Read the Classifieds.

FAST N FREE DELIVERY

LARGE PIZZA ONLY 599

with one topping

with this poupor STENDED THEOLOGIES

"premium pizza at a cardboard pizza price" 523 South 17th 537-1484

YOU CAN'T BUY THE PERFECT CHRISTMAS GIFT BUT YOU CAN GET IT FREE!

Just listen to KMKF 101.7 FM for your opportunity to call in and register to win the perfect Christmas gift, a retired Pepsi machine, loaded with Diet and regular Pepsi. Improve your chances of winning by registering at our sponsor locations:

Brown's Shoe Fit, 311 Poyntz Casual Encounter, 1208 Moro The Palace, 704 N. Manhattan Valentino's, 3019 Anderson

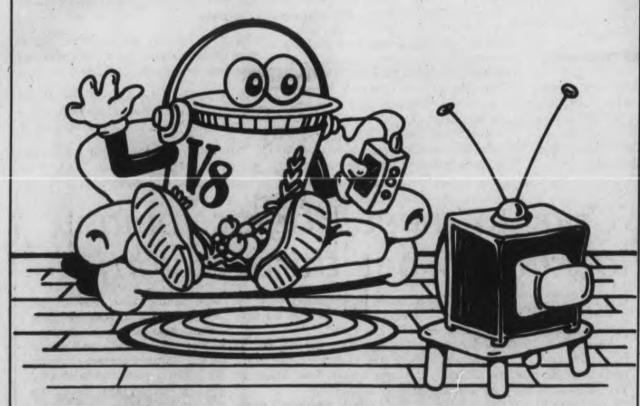

Enter once on the radio and as often as you like at sponsor locations. On December 23rd, we'll draw one name from every sponsor, including KMKF call-ins. One of those entries will win the grand prize, a retired Pepsl machine. The other four entries will be awarded a second prize consisting of:

Buffet for two at Valentino's A Manhattan High Sweatshirt from Brown's Shoe Fit One case of Pepsi from Pepsi $15 Gift Certificate from Casual Encounter $20 Gift Certificate from the Palace

It's the perfect Christmas gift from Pepsi and All New All Hit KMKF 101.7 FM.

18 Off Campus...

V8's First Apartment

Vegetables are an important part of a balanced diet. When you can't get to eat vegetables you can drink them. One delicious glass of "V-8" juice provides a serving of vegetables.

KEEP YOUR DIET STRAIGHT.

Loan-to-Own A Mac

Never So Affordable to Own A Computer

KSU Students may take advantage of one of the best computer financing packages ever offered: the Apple Loan-to-Own Program. This is a special low interest loan designed exclusively for the parents of undergraduate and graduate students.

The Loan-to-Own program lets your parents borrow on their own signature without collateral. There's no need to show financial hardship. And repayment is just as easy because payments can be spread over as many as 10 years - which means an extremely affordable price!

Stop by Connecting Point Computer Center or visit the KSU Bookstore for more details or an application for this unbelievable Buy-a-Macintosh program.

KSU Apple pricing and this financing program mean its time to buy your MAC.

in cooperation with Connecting Point Computer Center 1115 Westloop Shopping Center - 539-0801

By Amy Bullock Collegian Reporter

For the past year, Robert and Mary Kay Zabel have been poring over works by Francois Voltaire and Virginia Woolf. The Zabels, both professors of special education, are preparing for the Midwest Symposium for Leadership and Behavior Disor-ders scheduled for February.

The symposium will feature several keynote speakers who will address various facets of behavioral disorders and related topics, Mary Kay

The presentation the Zabels are preparing is patterned after a late-1960s television show titled "Meeting of the Minds," hosted by Steve Allen. The show depicted historical figures meeting and talking over various pertinent issues, she said.

The key figures to be portrayed in the presentation will be Voltaire, Woolf, Sigmund Freud and Carl Rogers. There will also be a moderaRobert will be potraying Voltaire and Mary Kay will play the part of Woolf. Joining the Zabels on stage will be James Zabel, vice president of Bueno Vista College in Storm Lake, Iowa, playing the part of Freud. Rogers, a 20th-century psychother-apist, will be played by Carl Smith, a faculty member of special education at Bueno Vista College. Reece Peter-moderator. The theme of the symposium is behavior disorders in our lives," Mary Kay said. "The theme we will be trying to emphasize is how Freud's theories go through all the periods of time that are being depicted. We will be trying to show the interconnections of Freud to the son, special education faculty member at the University of Nebraska, will round out the cast as the past and to the present." This is particularly pertinent, Robert said, due to the fact that it is the 50th anniversary of Freud's throughout the whole thing and we go backward in time to Voltaire and show how Freud based a lot of his theories on Voltaire's ideas," Mary Kay said. "He and Freud have a long conversation on various topics. We then go forward in time to Virginia Woolf and Carl Rogers."

Many different topics will be dis-cussed among the historical characters, she said. Freud's theory on the childhood sexuality stages will be discussed. Woolf and Freud will get into a discussion about Woolf's suicide. The characters will also discuss their personal views on sexual equality, a subject where Freud's views have often been criticized. Voltaire will discuss his hypochondriac condition with Freud.

"We are assuming that the audience has knowledge of the topics being discussed and is able to understand the interconnections of behavior and history," Robert said.

Months of research and planning have gone into the project thus far.

Freud is the central character. The Zabels began formulating the project about a year ago.

"We decided we wanted to do something other than the standard overhead presentation," Mary Kay said. "We thought this format would be interesting to the audience."

Besides researching their characters' works, the Zabels have also been studying the historical times of their characters as well as their mannerisms and accents

"We will be in full costume and are hoping to play the characters like they really were," Mary Kay said. "For instance, Freud will be smoking a pipe and we will try to get the accents down."

The group recently met to go over the 40-page manuscript.

"It was really interesting because we got a lot of new insights to our characters when they interacted with the other characters," she said.

The entire presentation is expected to last about 11/2 hours.

ClassAds

tive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.25, 30

cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 35 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $5.00, 40

Cassifieds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publications. Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon FRIDAY for Monday's paper.

Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not alter the value of the ad.

Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be

for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

Display Classified Rates
One day: $5.20 per inch; Three consecutive days: $5.00 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.80 per inch; Ten consecutive days: $4.80 per inch; (Deadline is 4.30 p.m. two days before publication.)
Classified advertising is available only to those who do not disciminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex or ancestry.

cents per word over 15.

Announcements

PARTY GAS (helium)... you fill... we fill... our balloons your balloons. 1231 Westloop, 539-4038. One day: 15 words or fewer, $2.50, 20 cents per word over 15; Two consecutive dates: 15 words or fewer, $3.50, 25 PICK UP your fruitcakes at the Bakery Science Club Fruitcake Bake Sale Wednesday Dec. 7th In-Shellenberger 105 from 3:30- 6p.m. cents per word over 15; Three consecu-

SEASON BASKETBALL ticket for sale. Call 539-5972 STUMPED AS what to get Mom? Dad for Christmas?
Come to the Dairy Bar in Call Hall and order them a Cheese Gilt Box. Order while supplies lastill Hours:
Monday- Friday 8:30a.m.- 5:15p.m.

59° Tacos All day, Every day

1155 Westport Rd.

RIDE THE K-STATE UNION Express!!

k-state union

(Continued on page 12)

Save Collegian Coupons

> Late Night Ice Cream Happy Hour 9 p.m. till midnight only at eGees 2 dips for the price of 1 12th & Laramie Aggieville

Samuel Ramey, Bass Thursday, December 8, 8:00 p.m.

Hear a rare concert by the former ·K-Stater who is the most recorded American bass in history. From the brus fury of Mephistopheles in Faust moving soliloquy of Billy Carousel, Colby nativ can do it all. Nor dfathers, as well.)" -Fantare

'General Public: $15, 13, 10 Senior Citizens: $12, 10, 8 -Students/Children: $10, 8, 5

Charge tickets to MasterCard or VISA at (913) 532-6428, or come to the box office between noon and 5 p.m.

weekdays.

This program is presented in part by the *Kansas Arts Commission, a state cy, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency.

ough Kansas State Bank and the

KANSAS BOARD OF REGENTS

Great Safe Holiday Break

Approximately 24,000 people are killed each year in alcohol-related auto crashes in the United States. That means one person loses his or her life in an alcohol-related crash every 20 minutes!

During the Holiday Season the rate of both drinking and driving increases for students, many of whom are going home to relax, unwind and get away from the pressures of school. You can help make this a GREAT SAFE HOLIDAY BREAK by observing these simple, common sense suggestions . . .

 Don't Drink and Drive. Remember, the leading cause of death for young people is alcohol-related

ESPECIAL SERVICE SERVI

·Don't ride with an alcohol or drug impaired driver. Over 20 percent of the fatally injured victims in alcohol-related crashes are passengers in the drinking driver's vehicle.

Don't let a friend drive drunk.

·Always buckle up your safety belt. On weekends between 7 p.m. and 3 a.m. in some parts of the country, 10 percent of all drivers are legally impaired or drunk. Your safety belt is your best defense against the alcohol or drug impaired driver.

> Have A Great Safe Holiday Break!

Sponsored by the Kansas Board of Regents & K.S.U. Alcohol and Other Drug Education Service.

WE WANT YOU TO

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs -skincare -glamor -nails -gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor, 539-2070.

You won't have to with an NEC Silentwriter™ LC890 desktop publishing printer. Its extra memory puts information together faster. So you'll save minutes on every page.

It features the powerful PostScript page description language allowing you to layout the most sophisticated text and graphics imaginable.

If you don't need all this pizazz, check out our other two Silentwriters. No matter which one you choose, you won't waste time with breakdowns. They all have an average life of 600,000 pages-more than twice as much as ordinary lasers.

So if you want to get the most out of desktop publishing, don't waste time with other printers.

Connecting Point. 133

IBM & MAC COMPATIBLE

Manhattan 1115 Westloop Shop. Ctr 539-0801

NEC PRINTERS THEY ONLY STOP WHEN YOU WANT

You Can't Pay More than $44.95!

Complete Eyeglasses

SINGLE VISION

$24.95

BIFOCALS

Our only Extras: Cox Coating (scratch guard)-$10 and Photo Grev Extra (lenses that darken)-$10.

Payless Optical Outlet

MosterCord

537-1574 M-F 10 a.m. - 6 p.m. Sat. 10 a.m. - 2 p.m.

JARANTEE LOANS

WE WANT TO MAKE YOUR STUDENT LOAN!

Have the professionals at Kansas State Bank make your student loan. Simply contact us at:

> 537-4400 Lender code #821176

Westloop • Aggieville • K-State Union, Manhattan, Kansas 66502

(Continued from page 11)

Cash Pawn & Gun, Inc. wants to buy used air conditioners. 1917 Ft. Riley Blvd.

776-3332

51 off your Collegian Classified with your contribution to the Flint Hills Breadbasket. Take canned goods to Kedzie 103 to receive ^{$}1 off your Collegian Classified.

Prepaid ads only. Not valid with any other offer.

Deadline: noon one day prior to publication. Offer expires noon Dec. 8, 1988.

WHO WILL be Miss America 1990? It could be you! Miss Manhattan: K-State Pageant is now accepting entries. Preliminaries Jan. 28th. No entry fee. Call 537-2667 or 537-4263.

Keystone, Copper A Basin, Breckenridge

Condos Available During Christmas

sleeps 4-6

539-5269

WANT TO SELL YOUR BOOKS?

The K-State Union will buy 'em! (k-state union

2 Apartments—Furnished

AGGIEVILLE NICE one-bedroom in complex, lease, deposit, no pets. 539-3928. AVAILABLE JANUARY. Convenient locations, ments and mobile homes. Very reasonable re pets. 537-8389, 776-8381.

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM. $230 plus utilities, Jan. 1. 776-4805.

HUGE, MOSTLY furnished, one-bedroom apartment. Great for two persons. Available Jan. 1. Call

NICE ONE-BEDROOM efficiency, $175 plus utilities Jan. 1, 776-4805.

NICE ONE-BEDROOM basement, carpeted, $200 plus utilities. 539-8401.

NICE ONE-BEDROOM apartment available Jan. 1, 1989 across from Putnam Hall, water and trash paid. 776-8364 after 5p.m.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM basement, carpeted, $300 bills

NOW IS the time to rent for next semester. One-, two- or three-bedroom apartments. Nice, close to campus. Not in complex. Low utilities. No pets. Call

ONE-BEDROOM FURNISHED in 12-unit complex two blocks west of campus. Available immediately. 539-7811 or 1-456-8297.

ONE-BEDROOM, CARPETED, no pets, $220 plus utilities. 539-8401.

ONE-BEDROOM FURNISHED or unfurnished. Sublease, central air, no pets. 537-4944 or SMALL LAWN for barbecues. Walk-out level besement apartment. Centrally air-conditioned; disposal. Living room, kitchen, bath, one huge bedroom. West of carrpus. Quiet location for study. Suitable for student or couple. No off-street parking. Available Jan. 8. No children, pets. $245 includes utilities.

SUNSET APARTMENTS

Furn. Apts.: Second semester availability.

1 br., gas heat, no pets. $250

539-5051 or 776-3804

$7.99 Large

$5.99 Medium

Present this coupon and

SPRING SEMESTER in HORIZON III

Half block from campus, 2 bedrooms, exceptional $400 January 1 occupancy 539-8401

SECOND SEMESTER LEASE?

One and two bedroom apartments close to campus, priced from $250-$400.

McCullough Development 2700 Amherst (913) 776-3804

TWO-BEDROOM, CARPETED, Jan. 1 occupancy.

TWO-BEDROOM apartment east of campus. Quiet conditions. Ample parking. Reasonable rates. 776-3624.

UNFURNISHED OR furnished two-bedroom apart ment, close to campus and park. Available second semester. 776-6338.

Unfurn. Apts.: Second semester vacancies

WILDCAT INNS

in four different sites.

1 br., gas heat, no pets.

$295-310 776-3804

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

AVAILABLE SECOND semester, Less than one block from campus, two bedrooms, one full bath. Low utilities. Clean and nice. Call 776-3788 or

LUXURY TWO-BEDROOM (extra large), central air and

NICE TWO-BEDROOM apartment across from Nichole Available Jan. 1. $330. 539-2920. ONE-BEDROOM, PRIVATE bath, ground floor at 814 Leavenworth, $185 plus utilities, lease and deposit. 539-3672, evenings.

THREE-BEDROOM APARTMENT available now. Main floor of a house. Living room, dining room, kitchen, washer and appliances. $400 plus utilities. Six-month lease possible. 776-8393.

THREE-BEDROOM AVAILABLE at 516 N. 14 St. $480 laundry facilities. 776-9262, keep trying.

TWO-BEDROOM, PARTLY furnished, air conditione apartment, two blocks southwest of high school Oil-street parking. Trash and water paid. Available Jan. 1. $315. 539-5921.

VERY NICE one-bedroom basement apartment, three blocks west of campus. Phone 539-5267.

4 Automobiles for Sale

1977 FORD LTD, excellent condition, air conditioning AM/FM stereo, cruise. Call 5- 7p.m. 776-8311.

(Continued on page 13)

Attention: Please read the following letter if you had your portrait taken for the Royal Purple.

(206) 355-8887

8805 46th Place West Mukilteo, WA 98275

Dear Kansas State student:

On behalf of both our company and the Royal Purple yearbook I apologize for your inconvenience and the confusion caused by our mistaken insertion of a notice with some of your proof sets.

The notice requested that some students pay a $5.00 fee to have their selected pose included in the yearbook. This was a mistake! There is no additional charge to any Kansas State student to appear in the yearbook.

If you are one of the students that received the "$5.00 notice", please disregard it! All you need do is mark the pose of your choice (simply write "YEARBOOK" on the back) and return all of the proofs to us at:

> Yearbook Associates P.O. Box 91 Millers Falls, MA 01349

You must return all of your proofs promptly!

If you've already returned your proofs and you did pay the $5.00, It will be refunded to you!

Of course we hope you'll be happy with your proofs and will choose to order a personal portrait package. But you are under no obligation to do so. If you were photographed your picture will appear in the yearbook.

If you have any questions you may either call me at the above number, or our customer service department at (413) 863-9714. Remember, I'm in Washington State, our customer service is in Massachusets, please make allowances for the different time zones.

Again, my personal apologies for the confusion.

GRAM COUNCIL YOUR ENTERTAINMENT ALTERNAT

Sincerely.

3 Janual May 15. James S. Mays, F Regional Director

539-5303

One number brings out the best at KSU

Now, at KSU, there's just one number to remember for fast delivery of pizza that's every bit as good as one you'd go out for.

Godfather's Pizza." Now you don't have to settle for anything less, anymore.

Lunch Buffet I only $2.99

Present this coupon and eceive ONE all you care to eat lunch buffet for only $2.99. Original pizza for only $7.99

Regularly $3.99 per person! or a medium for only $5.99. Monday-Friday, lunch time only.

1118 Laramie Aggieville

> ART RENTAL RETURNS

Please return art rentals TODAY at Forum Hall Lobby between 10 a.m.-3 p.m.

ik-state union

MEDNESDAY

Wednesday Noon Live is a revamped "Nooner" style WNL is held every Wednesday from 12-1 p.m. in the Union Courtyard and is sure to be a hour. All talented members of the K-State community are urged to apply for the spring program that gives amateur performers of all kinds campus exposure and stage experience. great way to spend your lunch semester. For more information, contact Monte or Aaron at 532-6571.

(k-state union

PICS WITH SANTA

Today and Tomorrow, 11 a.m.-1 p.m. Union Courtyard Only $1.50

k-state union special events

SANTA SUIT RENTALS

Only $10.00 for 24 hours. Call the Union Activities Center at 532-6571 for more information.

k-state union

Fri. & Sat. December 9 & 10 7 & 9:30 p.m. Forum Hall Admission $1.75 KSU I.D. Required

Saturday, December 10 2 p.m. Sunday, December 11 2 & 7 p.m. Forum Hall

1978 CHEVROLET Impaia station wagon, clean reliable second car. Must sell before Christmas breek, $1,200 or best offer. Call Robert at 537-7587, 1507 Denison Ave.

1978 FORD Truck, engine overhauled, runs good. Air conditioning, power steering, brakes. Asking $2,000, 537-6830.

1980 TOYOTA Corolla. Only 69,500 miles. Immaculate air, digital cassette, excellent. $2,195, best offer.

1982 ESCORT, two-door, AM/FM stereo, air, excellent condition, must sell. $1,500 or best. 537-3721. CAN YOU buy jeeps, cars, 4x4s seized in drug raids for under $100? Call for facts today. (602)837-3401

FOR SALE: 1971 BMW 2002. Call 539-3153.

8 Computers

FOR SALE: Line printer ribbons- Black multistrike no. CM MS (4% dozen), $1.25 each. Black nylon no. CM NY (15), $2.25 each. Call 532-6555 or come by Kedzie 103 to see.

PERSONAL COMPUTERS Authorized Warranty Service

> also servicing · PC compatibles & printers · Televisions & VCRs

MIDWEST SERVICES

624 Tuttle Creek Blvd. Manhattan 913-776-6650

9 Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to approach any such "employment opportunity" with reasonable caution.

0.0000

BUS DRIVER needed to start immediately for Monday, Wednesday, Friday, 11a.m.-noon, to drive children from U.S.D. 383 to child care center. Class B license required. Previous experience preferred. $3.75 an hour. Apply Nancy Bolsen, director, L-9 Jardine Terrace, Manhattan, KS. 539-1806. Equal Opportunity. Employer. Opportunity Employer.

CASHIERS WANTED. Must be able to work some funches. Leave school schedule and application Thursday or Friday between 2 and 5p.m. Hibachi Hut, 606 N. 12th.

DO YOU like kids? I need a fun-loving, flexible person for childcare. Room, board, salary plus car provided We are very nice. Call Becky (415)328-6229.

DAIRY SALES Counter, Call Hall 144. Hours available now; finals week; Dec. 19-23; Jan. 3-10; and spring '89 semester. Work study preferred. Apply in person to Kathleen, Monday through Friday. 1-

Sp.m.

EARLY CHILDHOOD lead teacher, before/ after kindergarten-age children. Twelve month position, Monday through Friday, 8a.m. - 4:30p.m. Beginning between Dec. 27 and Jan. 3. Requirements: Degree in ECE, Elementary Ed or related field and experience with young children. Benefits, Progressive, pleasant working environment. Please send cover letter, resume and three references to: Marsha Tannehill, Seven Dolors Child Care/ Preschool, 728 Colorado, Manhattan, by Dec. 14.

ELEMENTARY SCHOOL teacher would like college girl to live in for second semester and summer. Help with house. Board and room in exchange. Write Box 1, c/o Collegian, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kansas

ENGINEERING STUDENT for part-time work dur Spring semester. Shop and/or electronics exp ence desirable. Apply in room 201 ERL (accession through Seaton 64).

FRESHMEN, SOPHOMORES, Juniors: Train in the aummer to become a Marine Corps Officer after graduation. Aviation available. Call collect

ENROLL NOW!

Four Ad Production Internships available for Spring 1988

Title of course: Publications Practice, 1 credit hour, JMC 360. Must attend 8:30-11:30 a.m. one day a week.

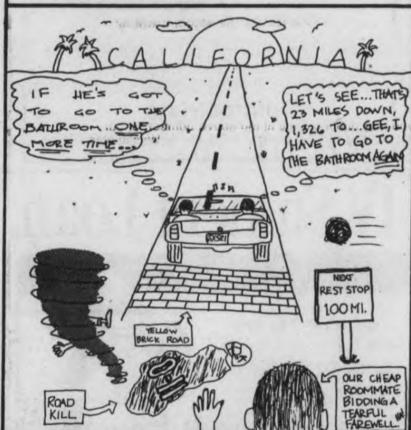

For more information and permission slip come to Kedzie 113.

HEAD TEACHER for Child Development Center, full-time. BA or BS degree in Child Development or ECE or related degree with 12 semester hours of child development/ ECE. Obtain an application at Kansas Job Service, 621 Hurrboldt, Submit appli-cation, letter of scollection, resume, transporters and cation, letter of application, resums, transcripts and three work related letters of reference to them. United Way Agency, E.O.E., partially funded by the City of Manhattan. Deadline for application: Friday,

LOCAL FINANCIAL Institution seeking part-time mail-room clerk. Monday- Friday from 8- 10:30a.m. Need valid driver's license. If Interested call Sue Carlson 537-0200. EOE.

BY RICHARD BROADFOOT'S ROOMATES

GARTOONIST'S NOTE: MY SOON-TO-BE EX-ROOMMITES ARE GRADUATING NEXT WEEK... I COULDN'T AFFORD REAL GIFTS. SO, LIKE A BIG DUMMY, I OFFERED TO LET THEM WRITE AND DRAW MY GOMIC FOR A DAY ... OF LOURSE, THEY ALCEPTED. (I THINK THEY SAID SOMETHING LIKE, "LET'S KICK SOME BUTT!") THE REGULAR PLOT WILL RESUME TOMORROW.

Bloom County

WITH COSMETIC

MICROCOMPUTER PROGRAMMERS: You could be a part of a software development team that produces software that is marketed throughout the United States, while still in college. Kansas Careers is offering employment to students at all grade levels who are arribitious, creative and have good programming skills. Our programming team develops software for IBM PC, Apple II and MacIntosh microcomputer systems. Several languages are used, including "C," disase III, 8502 and others. Programming at Kansas Careers enhances your college education while providing job experience, and excellent weges. Applications will be accepted at Fairchild Hall room 304 (532-6540) through Dec. 7, 1988. Kansas Careers and KSU are Equal Opportunity. Affirmative Action Employers.

MOTHER'S HELPE'A position available Jan. 1, 1989. Work schedule, five days a week including Saturdays. Room, board, and car provided. Satury and length of employment negotiable. Location: Darlen, Connecticut. Care of three boys, ages 5%, 4 and 2%. I worked for this nice family the summers of 1987 and 1988. If interested, please call Julie, 532.728.

OCCASIONAL CARE needed for man confined wheelchair, early morning and/ or evening ho wheelchair, early morning and or evening flows: Excellent pay, prefer person with experience as an "orderly," but will train. Call Larry Viterna, 532-7077 (work) or 776-4798 (home, evenings for details).

OVERSEAS JOBS, $600- $2,000 month. Summer, year-round, all countries, all fields, free information. Write IJC, P.O. Box 52-KS02, Corona Del Mar, CA

PROGRAMMER POSITION available. The Kansas Cooperative Extension Service has openings for two student computer programmers. Work schedules can be arranged around class times. Applicants should be farrillar with one of the following: Cobol, Fortran, or KSU mainframe systems operations. For more information, contact Mary Knapp or Sherri Thompson, Computer Systems Office, room 211 Umberger. Prone: 532–7019. Applications are available from the above endividuals, or at the Computer Science office. Applications will be accepted through Dec. 9, 1988.

PYRAMID PIZZA is now taking applications for delivery personnel. Please apply in person, 1130 Moro.

TELEVISION PRIDDUCTION. Small station has immediate opening for person who can shoot and soft news and commercials. Directing in studio and out. Send resurns and tape to: TV 6, 222 W. 6th Street, Junction City, Kansas 66441. EOE.

THE CITY of Lansing will be accepting applications for the position of an intern in the Parks and Recreation Department until Dec. 15, 1988. This is a part-time, Department until Dec. 15, 1988. This is a part-time, temporary position of approximately 20 hours a week during spring sensester becoming a full-time position through the summer. This position pays 56/hour with a possible adjustment for summer. This position will include some minor labor during the summer. Applicants should be an upperclassman (senior, graduate student) with a major in public administration, parks and recreation or a related field. To apply, send a cover letter, resume (with references) to: City Administrator, City of Lansing, 108 S. Main, Lansing, KS 68043. For additional information contact the City of Lansing. The City of Lansing is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

MAJOR WHOLESALER seeking assistant manager for Kansas City location. Candidate must have a business degree and be a self-starter with good communication skills. Salary $23,000- $25,000. Remit resums to: Dave Gaul, P.O. Box 1138. Denver, CO 80201.

ADMISSIONS REPRESENTATIVE

Kansas State University is recruiting for the position of Admissions Representative. The person will be responsible for the development and implementation of an effective student recruitment program within a specific geographic region. The major responsibilities include: Coordinating strategy and resource people for the region: serving as the primary recruitment representative: developing and maintaining service relationships with high schools and community colleges; attending major community events; and coordinating efforts for the region with K-State faculty and staff. Qualifications for the position include: K-State bachelor's degree: familiarity and excitement for K-State: demonstrated student involvement/ feadership skills: strong communication skills (oral/ written); strong social skills for a variety of situations; willingness to travel extensively; ability to work independently; and overall high energy level and enthusiasm. Position will start immediately and pay $16,500 for 12 months (including one month vacation). Candidates should send a letter of applica tion, vita, and a list of references (addresses and telephone numbers) to:

Search Committee Kansas State University 122 Anderson Hall Manhattan, KS 66502

Deadline for applications is December 16, 1988. Kansas State University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer

By Berke Breathed

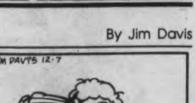

Peanuts

Garfield

NO. YOU'RE NOT GOING TO

NO, WE'RE NOT GOING TO HAVE A CHRISTMAS PLAY ..

LOOK, KID, DON'T BLAME ME

BLAME THE SCHOOL BOARD!

BE GABRIEL OR GERONIMO

By Charles Schulz

VISTA DRIVE-INN is now taking applications for full-and part-time help. Must be able to work some noon shifts. Apply in person.

WORK-STUDY POSITION opening in the Speech and Hearing Center room 107. Will train person. Duties answering phone, computer, miscellaneous, Posi-tion available now and next semester. Call or apply in person: 532-6879 or Leasure 107.

12 Houses/Mobile Homes for Rent

TWO-BEDROOM HOUSE on seven acres, large shed, less than 15 minutes from campus. Available Jan. 1, $350' month plus utilities. 537-2634, 6- 10p.m.

TWO-BEDROOM FURNISHED with washer/dryer. No pets. $325. Water and trash paid. 776-1111. VERY LARGE house, three blocks west of campus. Carpet, drapes, suitable for five. Phone 539-5267.

13 Houses/Mobile Homes for Sale

GOOD CONDITION three-bedroom, 12x65, stove, re frigerator, insulated storm windows, storage shed Reasonable financing available, 537-8649.

14 Lost and Found

FOUND IN Denison Hall: Silver pen (blue ink) engrav FOUND: LADIE'S ring. To the lady who called the Rec. Complex on Friday, Dec. 2- we found it. Call Joyce at 532-6980 to claim.

MISSING FROM Union bailroom: Blue backpack containing textbook, class notes, calculator, and piccolo. Reward. Call 532-3869.

15 Miscellaneous Merchandise

DIET FOOD for sale due to quitting diet. Three weeks supplies, asking $75. Call 537-4861.

FOR SALE: Full-size four-poster bed with matching mirrored bureau, couch mini trampoline, rotating table fan, 6x12 carpet. Call after 4p.m. 539-2920

FOR SALE: GE two-head VCR model IVC6004X, variable speed playback, one touch recording, four-event two-week timer, remote. 539-3320 after

FOR SALE: GE four-head VCR model 9-7250, HQ. variable speed play, one touch recording, four-event two-week timer with remote. 539-3320 after 7p.m.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUSII New G.I. overshoes, com bet boots and safety-toe boots, wool (blankets, gloves, socks and mittens). Field jackets, over-coats, carnouflage clothing, Also Carhartt work-wear, Monday-Saturday 9a.m. 5p.m. Open Sun-days till Christmas noon-4p.m. St. Marys Surplus Sales, St. Marys, KS. 1-437-2734.

HIDE-A-BED COUCH: $100 or best offer. 778-9582,

KITCHENAID DISHWASHER, ten years old; works, but may require some repair. $40. Call 537-0713, days.

BALLOON BOUTIQUE Holiday Stocking Stuffers!

Mickey & Minnie Figurines Now Available!

401 N. 3rd. 539-1610

CHEESE GIFT BOXES

Available now at Dairy Sales Counter CALL HAEL 144 ORDER WHILE SUPPLIES LAST!!

IST SELL Two mundtrip plane tickets K.C.-Ho Dec. 18-28. Negotiable. 539-9540. Early morning,

POPCORN, FIFTY pound bags of Grade A white popcom, for $15 a bag. 537-6886. SKIS-FISCHER. Fire 160s, Look bindings. $60 or best offer. 539-0597 nights, Korey. TYPEWRITER- RENTALS- Sales- Repairs. Good selection of used IBMs and Smith Coronas. Advanced Business Systems 713 N. 12th (Aggleville).

WOMEN'S TENNIS racquet. Like new, "Head," over-sized bow, 4¼ " handle. Reasonable. 539-3055.

16 Motorcycles/Bicycles for Sale

MOUNTAIN BIKE- Greatland- 18-speed, all terrain must sell, like new- $150 or best offer. 537-1654

17 Musical Instruments

MUST SELL: Lotus acoustic guitar. $130 negotiable. Call 532-3254 after 3p.m.

WASHBURN G-JUNIOR guitar and Washburn SX-12 amplifier. Excellent condition. 532-5381.

18 Personals

BEAUTIFUL LADY at 5p.m. mass on Saturday in beige sweater, gold earnings, brown hair and tortise shelled glasses. Would like to meet you. The gentlerran one pew in front of you on the left in the

58 Free

11 Saucy 16 Coin of Iran

2 Street urchin trusively 3 One type 4 Lifeless

bigwig DOWN

1 Pulpy

fruit

Gingrich 52 Swamp 5 Discounts tree 54 Wings 6 Gold, in Granada 55 Pub pint 7 Wood 56 Odd, in nymph 8 Methods

57 Reim-9 Place for burses deep sleep? Solution time: 26 mins.

10 Woe is me! 20 Afternoon party 23 Cote sound 24 Choose of bloomer? 25 Navigable river 27 Unruly crowd 29 Ending for way or over 30 Hot time for Henri

32 Envoys 34 Tardy 37 Brit. air arm 39 Alencon

42 Scotch chemist 44 Food fish 45 Brittle cookie

48 Monster 49 Chapter of the Koran

AGXKN RNAXLR

BILLY K .- Happy six-month anniversaryl It's been wonderful stupid ---. I love you very very much and I always will. Moo. Your Sweetheart, Karin.

IN LOVING memory of our friend Byron. Sadly missed, we would give anything to see you again. Your friends, Dennis, Ellen, Lynne, Rich, Donna and

JERRY- HAPPY 23 Birthdayll Circle?? Rectangular?? Big?? P.N.?? Who Knows? I'm all out of clues, so it's up to you'll Love, Kelsi.

LUCINDA R., I had a great time Sunday. Looking forward to this weekend.... Truly, James S.

RALPH AND igor, We know you will miss us! Glad we

STEVE AND Page, We had a warm blast with the Betas

FOR SALE: 12" Oscar. Loves goldfish. Real fun. Make

FREE KITTENS to good home. Two black males, one

REGISTERED GERMAN Shorthair Pointer, three-year

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180, 103 S. Fourth St., Suite 25.

PROMPT ABORTION and contraceptive services in Lawrence. (913)841-5716.

STORE YOUR valuables over Christmas break. Aztec

ABOUT ANYTHING typed, editing and transcription designed for your profession. Typeset and laser-printed. Graphics Plus, corner of Bluernont and N. Manhattan, Aggieville. 539-6027.

theses and dissertations, resumes. Laser jet print-

COMPLETE DATA processing services, term papers,

COMPLETE TYPING/ word processing: letter quality printer with Spell Check. 75¢/ page. Call 537-8701.

COMPOSING RESUMES and letters is our specialty

We have been in business nine years and offer permanent computer storage. Contact the profes-sional staff regarding our full line of services. Resume Service, 343 Colorado Street. 537-7294.

PROCRASTINATORS AND those on the ball, for expert

TYPING. FAST, accurate, guaranteed. 15 years experi-

TYPING SERVICE; Professional and experienced sec-

FEMALE: BLOCK from campus, behind 'Ville $185/month. Water and trash paid. Partially furn-ished. 537-1268.

FEMALE; NICE house near campus, own room, washer and dryer. $145/ month plus utilities. 537-8825.

FEMALE, NON-SMOKING roommate wanted. Very close to campus. Call 537-76441

FEMALE- OWN room, two blocks from campus, one-half tent and utilities. Call 776-2198.

FEMALE, OWN room, nice large house. $130/ month plus part utilities. Call Amy 776-1790.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share house, close to carry one-third utilities. 776-9262 keep trying.

776-0572.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted. Own room, washer/ dryer. Near campus, $137.50 plus one-lourth utilities. Available Jan. 1st. Call after 5:30p.m.

FEMALE ROOMMATE- Own room, low utilities, laundry in complex, close to campus, fun roomies. $145 a month. Call 539-6299.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share apartment. Half rent and half utilities. Own room. 537-7183.

CEMALE ROOMMATE to share two-bedroom apartment near campus and park. 776-6338.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share two-bedroom apart-ment close to Aggieville. Washer/ dryer, $187.50 plus one-half utilities. Nice, must see. Available

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to share nice three

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share three-bedroom house near campus, washer/ dryer furnished, $125.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share two-bedroom apartment. Haif rent and half utilities. Will come down on price. Very nicel Call 537-7269.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share nice three-bedroom apartment close to campus. Call 539-2034.

FULLY FURNISHED, cable TV, all utilities, microwave,

MALE (ONE or two): Two-bedroom, one block from Durland, $160. Laundry, driveway privileges.

carpet all for $185, 539-4287.

bedroom house near campus. $150/ month, one-third utilities. 776-5294.

now or Jan. 1. 537-2016.

pus, furnished, washer/ dryer, many more extras. $162.50/ month plus deposit. Call Renee, retary. Very reasonable rates. Pick-up and delivery available. Call 778-9736.

typing give us a call. 537-3166, message.

AVOID DISASTERI Hire a professionali Res

ing. Call 537-4146.

ence. 537-2249.

23 Roommate Wanted

22 Resume/Typing Services

Storage, open seven days a week. Call 776-1111 for discount rate, or come by, 5004 Murray Road.

20 Professional Services

21 Rentals

black female, one black/ white female. Litter box trained. Five and one-half weeks old. 778-0635.

old male. Good nose and holds a point. $175 or best offer. 776-0474 evenings or leave message.

19 Pets and Pet Supplies

-(Notil) S&S.

could help in chemistry. Ha Hall Gomer and Goober for X-mas! Here's to Officer Cook and Page's punch

MALE ROOMMATE wanted. Own room half block to campus and Aggisville. $160/ month, one-third utilities. Call 776-1270. MALE ROOMMATE wanted: Own room, own for room, near campus, start spring semester

NEW APARTMENTS, one-half block campus, one-half block Aggieville, $160 month plus one-third utilities. 537-2614.

NON-SMOKER to share large three-bedroom house. Own room. Close to campus and Aggleville, $100 a month. Low utilities. Call 776-6036.

NON-SMOKING FEMALE to share furnished two-bedroom. Cats allowed. Call Paula or Brends, 776-5669.

NON-SMOKING female, to share brand new trailer, own room, washer/ dryer many extras. Three minutes from campus, $150/ month plus half utilities. Call

NON-SMOKING FEMALE to share one-bedroom furn-ished apartment, $147.50 plus utilities a month. Call 776-5229 after 5p.m.

NON-SMOKING FEMALE: To share two-bedroom apartment, close to Aggleville, 537-1273.

NON-SMOKING FEMALE to share one-bedroom spa-cious apartment next to Ahearn. $100/ month. 537-0454.

NON-SMOKING MATURE male student needed to share a very nice house close to campus, one-half utilities. 537-8560.

NON-SMOKING UPPERCLASS male for spacious apartment on Poyntz. $115 plus one-third utilities. 776-6657.

ONE OR two, close to campus, own room in big house, fireplace, dishwasher, microwave, cable, hot tub, utilities paid, no lease. $180, 776-0303, leave

E/ TWO females wanted to share four-bedroom house. Only $180 monthly. Great living! Call ONE/ TWO fer

ONE- TWO non-smoking females to share farmhouse, Prefer Veterinary or Animal Science majors. Free stall and pasture for horse, cow or dog. Cable, firewood, beef and eggs furnished. P.O. Box 1211, Manhatten.

OPEN-MINDED, MATURE, responsible adult sought. X-large private bedroom, TV, VCR, microwave, answering machine, etc. Water, trash, gas paid. Washer/ dryer. $175/ month. Available Dec. 31.

24 Situation Wanted

25 Sporting/Recreation Equipment

1987 SKI boots. Only worn twice. Woman's size 6% - 7. $90 or best offer. 776-5290. PRECISION SKIS, poles and Solomon boots. Used only four times. Great X-mas gift. 539-4904.

26 Sublease

BEDROOM AVAILABLE in large five-bedroom house, two bathrooms. Rent $100 a mogth plus one-fifth bills. 539-7696.

FEMALE TWO blocks from campus, clean, spacious, efficiency, furnished or not, $140 all utilities paid. Available Dec. 15 or later, 539-6499.

MALE- OWN room in two-bedroom apartment. Block from campus. Washer/ dryer. $150. Call Gary 539-4784.

NON-SMOKER NEEDED to sublease two-bedroom

WALK TO campusi Sublease till May. One-bedroom apartment across from Durland. Clean and convenient! Leave message, 537-8739.

28 Adoption

IMPORTANT NEWS Bulletin: Santa's elves have gone on strikel Help stop this tragedy. Donate a new or used toy until Dec. 8th in the big present at the

TIRED OF studying? Take a break! Experience the spirit of the season-Winterlest'88. Thursday, Dec. 8th at the K-State Union.

WINTER BRIDES- Save money by having your wedding veil custom designed and made by Pearlace Creations. Write to P.O. Box 1984, Manhattan to

31 Stereo Equipment

YAMAHA TURNTABLE, Perfect condition. Must sell.

32 Scholarships

By Eugene Sheffer

22

ONE/ TWO female roommates to share two-bedroom apartment one block from Aggleville, two blocks from campus. $185/ month, 537-1874.

FAMILY WANTS college girl to live in for next semester, summer and fall. Board and room in exchange for duties. Write Box 1, c/o Collegian, Kedzie Hall, KSU, Manhattan, KS 66506.

CLEAN, SPACIOUS, very nice two-bedroom apart-ment, close to campus. Available for sublease. Call

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM apartment. University Ter-race Apartments. Need to lease for second semes-ter. Available Dec. 16. Call Arry or Kathy.

NICE ONE-BEDROOM apartment, large enough for two. Furnished, water plus trash paid, $185/ month. 537-2979.

apartment, across campus, 539-2971, leave

ADOPT: A Baby is our dream! We are blessed with a wonderful, happy marriage and financial success. Let us give your baby love, security and the best of everything. Legal. Expenses pald. Call Lynn and Martin collect: (212)362-6884.

Union Courtyard.

29 Wedding Accessories

MALE ROOMMATE to share two-bedroom apartment near campus. Washer/ dryer furnished. $125. 776-5855.

NEED SCHOLARSHIP money? Miss Manhattan- K-State Pageant finalists will share over $2,800 in cash scholarships. Entry deadline Jan. 25th. Infor-mation, call 537-2667 or 537-4263.

Crossword

41 Old oath

fiercely

ACROSS 38 Barbara 1 Hindu - Geddes 59 Campus goddess 40 Stain

43 — Vegas Taylor 45 Bombard Trade 12 Khomeini's 47 Greet inland 13 Blunder 51 Rep. 14 Ivy

Actor

15 Athlete's wish upon Scotland prises Spain and Portugal

22 Fleetfooted animal 23 Moon-26 Space module

by oath Make lace

19 Certify

28 Stroll 31 Gem stone 33 Blubber

36 Animal

21

Yesterday's answer , 12-7 50 Govt.

export

12-7 CRYPTOQUIP LDKRIVMG

NCXI , DV

VDDE ADQQRIAZXGN BXE B Z N A D J C I X A C .

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: SAID WOEFUL SPRINTER:

"I FEEL PRETTY RUN-DOWN LATELY." 53 - Baba

Today's Cryptoquip clue: A equals C

FOR RENT: One-bedroom studio apartment on Anderson Ave. across street from Union. Six months lease. $220. 537-4261 evenings. PRIME AGGIEVILLE location for lease, 600 square feet Call (913)642-3366.

Cats

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 9 has been playing well for the 'Cats offensively as of late, averaging almost 20 points per contest in his last two outings.

The Bears return only one starter from last year's NCAA tournament team. Michael Hobbs, a 6-3 junior guard, averaged 10.9 points for Baylor last season. He led the Bears in scoring in three games last year. He also hit 21 points against Arkansas in the semifinal round of the Southwestern Conference tournament, helping the Bears to a come-frombehind victory last year.

While the Bears return only one starter, they have six other lettermen back, as well as three very talented junior college transfers. The other returnees accounted for slightly more than 11 points a game.

inals CONTINUED FROM PAGE 9

If spectator numbers are an indication, excitement ran high throughout the night. In front of a crowd of about 150 fans, the men of Sigma Phi Epsilon defeated Pi Kappa Alpha for the fraternity title.

Sigma Phi Epsilon Captain Dan Perrier, senior in electrical engineering, said the playing level of intramural volleyball has improved during the past five years.

"I've been here for five years now, and it just keeps getting better," he said. "Volleyball at K-State is improving every year."

In the men's residence hall division, Marlatt 1 pulled a win from their scrimmage-mates and neighbors, Marlatt 4.

"It was a really tight game," said Marlatt 1 Captain Bob Brackney, junior in marketing. "We practiced against these guys all year - we were really lucky."

Michelob Light, a team consisting mostly of transfer volleyball players from Johnson County Community College, won the women's division for the second year in a row. They beat Pals for the title.

In the final match of the evening, Salsa defeated Manhattan Beach Club to garner the independent divi-

Salsa will play Sigma Phi Epsilon in the first match of the evening Thursday. The winner of their match will meet Marlatt 1, who receives a bye, for the all-University title.

In Thursday's co-rec final, Dig This will encounter the Sand Lot

Suit

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

you've got to stay in there and fight," Sweet said. "The city is responsible. They've got to know what's going Sweet said she began complaining to the city and county about her water in November 1985 when the contamination was first detected. A year later, Pratt's property was found to be contaminated as well.

Tests completed by the Kansas Department of Health and Environment on water from wells on the two properties said the water contained several compounds that "suggested cancer-causing agents and even at the indicated levels could significantly increase the risk of a user developing health problems over a long period of use."

The landfill was opened in 1961 by Manhattan, and Riley County took over operations in 1976.

"I personally don't think that anyone will ever be able to use a well out here again," Sweet said.

A July 17, 1987, KDHE report mandated the landfill's immediate closure because results of water tests indicated "beyond a reasonable doubt that contaminated groundwater from the Riley County Landfill has migrated beyond the boundaries of the landfill and has contaminated groundwater Because of the contamination, Sweet was forced to haul about 10 gallons of water a day from November 1985 to April.

"That was when it was the worst," Sweet said.

Despite the amount of water that was hauled, it did not provide enough for laundry or bathing, she said.

In April, Sweet and her neighbors were connected to Moehlman Bottoms Water District No. 1. Due to an agreement between the city, Sweet and Rombold, Sweet was not charged for the placement of the line

Sweet said she believes if she hadn't hired Rombold, her situation would be much worse.

"Hiring the lawyer has done a lot of good. I don't think we'd have gotten as far as we did if we hadn't gotten one," she said.

Sweet's home is heated by a stove in the living room. She attempted to obtain a loan about a year ago to finance the purchase of a furnace and the renovation of two rooms in her

The loan of about $10,000 was denied, Sweet said, because of the contamination on her property. "That's what they said. They said

'no' because of the contamination,'

Sweet's situation could be considered ironic because she is a county employee who works at the landfill as a gate attendant.

"There hasn't been any problem with that, though," Sweet said.

Move

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Building to its new location. "Naturally, when you change the function of a building, you encounter a lot of expense," King said. Renovations at the College Court location include making it accessible to handicapped people and bringing it up to building and fire codes.

"In order to make it handicapped accessible, we've installed ramps at the entrances of the building and also designed a new, larger restroom with railings," King said. "We've also included a parking space for disabled

"All of the doors in the building were changed to meet fire code regulations.

"Actually, the whole idea of moving the department began when we were checking a drain at the Wareham Building. We began talking and decided to inquire about the apartments next door - they turned out to be just what we were looking for."

BAKERY SCIENCE CLUB

3:30-6 p.m.

神學的 医电影 医多种 医多种 医多种 Seasons Greetings from the K-State Union Information Center

This year personalize your holiday greetings! Bring families and friends close when you share your greetings in pictures.

TWO DIFFERENT STYLES OF PHOTO GREETING CARDS TO CHOOSE FROM!

"Premier Cards" feature your favorite snapshot sent in beautiful Christmas

"SlimLine" cards are 3 % x 7 inch postcards featuring a professionally printed holiday message.

ono negative needed available from 135, 110, 126 or Disc •takes only 2-3 workdays with color

The K-State Union Information Counter also has other great Christmas gift photo ideas available. FOR MORE INFORMATION CALL 532-6592 OR STOP BY THE K-STATE UNION INFORMATION COUNTER TO SEE OUR DISPLAY TODAY!

... yours can too at our Optical Dispensary

Drs. Price, Young, Odle, and Horsch

The Eyes Have It

Optometrists 537-1118

1119 Westloop Place

Shellenberger Hall, Room 105

Some Students Don't Need A BANK IV Student Loan.

Studious

"I discovered heretofore unidentified organic compounds in ordinary dorm food which I processed to propel a spaceship the size of Duluth to the Andromeda galaxy and back..." On one hand: Won every scholarship known to humanity. On the other: Needs money only to buy pocket protector and dental floss.

(12 simultaneous part time jobs. Too busy to talk.) On one hand: Learns value of a dollar. On the other: Collapses of exhaustion 2 weeks before graduation.

Prankster "... and then we'll get up to their campus, steal the weasel mascot, and hold it for 50 kegs ransom."

On one hand: Lots of laughs. On the other: All assets controlled by bail bondsmen.

Student Loan program.

Most, However, Do. Typical College Student "$69.95 for one book?!? Used!?!

On one hand: Could qualify for a BANK IV Student Loan.

On the other: Hasn't applied yet.

Clip out coupon and mail to: BANK IV Educational Loan Department P.O. Box 1318

Send me information on BANK IV's

A BANK IV Student Loan Isn't For Everybody.

But it's probably right for you. 'Cause BANK IV believes in you. And in the future you're building for yourself. So if you need money for school, send us this coupon. We'll send you complete details.

The Strength of Kansas. BANKIV

BANK IV Educational Loan Department / P.O. Box 1318 / Wichita, KS 67201 / (316)261-2103 or 1(800)283-LOAN

Santa's Home

Santa Claus and his helpers made their home at the Manhattan Town Center. See Page 7.

Weather

Partly cloudy today, high in low 30s. Mostly clear tonight and very cold, the low 10 to 15. Mostly sunny Friday and continued cold, high near 30.

0/0/0

Century Mark

K-State coach Lon Kruger reached his 100th career coaching victory as the 'Cats stomped the Baylor Bears 84-60. See Page 11.

Thursday

December 8, 1988

Kansas State University Manhattan, Kansas 66506 Volume 95, Number 74

Kansas State Collegian

Gorbachev urges unilateral' cuts

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK - Mikhail S. Gorbachev, urging a "period of peace," announced a cutback of 500,000 Red Army troops on Wednesday and called on the United States and its allies to "take certain steps" in reply. President Reagan and President-elect George Bush embraced the troop reduction gesture after a cordial luncheon summit with the Soviet leader.

In a speech at the United Nations, Gorbachev billed the cutback in troops, artillery, planes and tanks as "unilateral" — part of a reduced reliance on military might. He later said "Nyet, nyet, nyet," when asked if there was resistance at home to the move.

Reagan said in a speech in Washington a few hours later that if the Soviet reduction is carried out speedily and in full, "history will regard it as important - significant."

On a day that blended superpower substance and symbolism, the Soviet president bade farewell to Reagan and answered Bush's welcoming handshake with a vigorous two-handed embrace. He declared that the president-elect would find the Soviets ready "without long pauses or backtracking" to continue work toward a new arms control treaty as well as on other issues.

Bush, who played a low-key role throughout the day, said he had told Gorbachev he "needed some time" to settle in as president after his inauguration next month. He hailed the troop reduction announcement, even while saying it was not enough to produce a balance of forces in Europe.

Reagan declared he "heartily" approved of Gorbachev's overtures. "Read our smiles." he said as he emerged from lunch and climbed into his limousine with Gorbachev and Bush for a brief ride to the edge of Governors Island and a spectacular view of the Statue of Liberty.

Gorbachev used his U.N. speech to declare that military force no longer "can or must be an instrument of foreign policy." He said 50,000 Soviet troops and thousands of tanks would be pulled out of Eastern Europe by 1991, and pledged reductions on Western and Eastern soil within the Soviet Union, as well. Overall, the reductions were to reach half a million.

A few hours later he told reporters, "We do hope that the U.S. and the Europeans will also take certain steps."

The Soviet leader called for steps to end the war in Afghanistan under U.N. auspices within a month and urged international cooperation on issues ranging from arms control to the environment.

own Center on Dec. 17.

development and K-State

all in Topeka was the host six es in June and July and the nural Mall in Salins played bost the show in October.

'I would like to believe that our hopes will be matched by our joint efforts to put an end to an era of wars, confrontation and regional conflicts, aggressions against nature, terror of hunger and poverty, as well as political terrorism," he said in an hour-long speech.

Secretary of State George Shultz said the lunchtime meeting of the three men was "direct, open, lots of humor." He praised Gorbachev's announced troop reductions as a 'welcome and significant step in the right direction," but said even so there would still be "a very significant asymmetry so there will be a lot of negotiating to do" toward a new arms treaty.

He said there was no immediate plan for a post-inauguration summit between Gorbachev and Bush, but "obviously there will be

Said Reagan before the lunch: "We've accomplished much. There are still things to do." It was his fifth and final session with his superpower partner.

Reagan escorted his guest up the steps of a specially constructed platform that provided the view of the Statue of Liberty, and then lingered with Gorbachev before the Soviet leader got into his limousine for the trip back to Reagan and Bush flew back to Washington aboard separate planes, the president to prepare for an evening speech expected to touch on the summit talks. Shultz was flying to Brussels to brief European leaders on the events of the day.

Gorbachev's long motorcade deposited him at the World Trade Center in Manhattan, the first stop on a day and a half of sightseeing in the Big Apple. There, he called for "an expansion of our commercial and economic

The U.N. speech and summit talks came on the second of Gorbachev's three days in New York. Thursday is devoted to sightseeing, and the Soviet leader departs for Cuba on

In a speech to an audience that included his wife, Raisa, Secretary of State Shultz and a hall filled with diplomats, Gorbachev pledged to continue his reform of Soviet society, as well. And he said that nations should "look for ways together to improve the international system and build a new world."

"It is now quite clear that building up military power makes no country omnipotent," Gorbachev declared. "What's more, onesided reliance on military power ultimately weakens other components of national security."

From the United Nations, the Soviet leader ■ See SUMMIT, Page 14

Money saver

Chris Hmielewski, freshman in computer science, paints the newly installed bleachers at Frank Myers baseball field. The team will save $37,000 by doing it themselves.

Increased parking planned

By Susan Johannsen Collegian Reporter

Parking — or a lack of it — is a constant problem for K-Staters and campus visitors. But John Lambert, director of public safety, said plans are being made to improve parking at K-State.

"We've received enormous amounts of complaints. We've put a major dent in the problem, but still have a ways to go," said George Miller, vice president for administration and finance.

The University hopes to make another dent by installing parking meters south of the Union during the summer of 1989. As a result of the expansion, 200 spaces will be provided for short-term visitors and those who attend seminars and meetings on campus.

The decision to install the meters was based on a suggestion by one of two consulting firms that were hired to look at "where the parking situation is now and to make sure we weren't constructing something that was unnecessary," Miller said.

RES Consultants of Champaign, Ill., is in charge of parking lot maintanence, and Barton/Aschman of Evanston, Ill., was hired to examine parking management, Lambert

According to the firms, K-State has "an adequate number of parking spaces to accommodate faculty, staff and students," Miller said. In fact, there is more student parking than faculty and staff parking, he said.

"We feel we have ample spaces now — it's just that they aren't where people want them," Lambert said.

The parking changes have three phases, he said. Phase one, which was last summer, involved putting gravel in lots B-16 and B-3. Other improvements consisted of reworking and expanding existing lots by Goodnow Hall and West Stadium. Approximately 1,600 to 2,000 spaces were added during this Installing the parking meters is a part of phase two, which will occur during the summer of 1989. More lots will be paved, including those that had gravel added last summer.

"This will be of significant use to the students. For those who have to park in gravel lots, their cars will no longer be covered with dust," Miller said. Other improvements scheduled for this Method to fight book Lottery program coming to mall By Amy Rosebrough Collegian Reporter

Prick said. "Space is a major fac-tor in choosing the sites, and not many malls in Kansas are large enough. It happens that we have to turn places down from time to Lottery fever is coming to Kansas Lottery officials met with members of the Manhattan humber of Commerce Wednes-isy to announce that Kansan Lot-ery Livel, a weekly lottery show, will be broadcast from Manhattan

Frick said most shows are broadcast from auditoriums and community buildings.

Executive Lottery Director
Larry Montgomery said Riley County is one of the top 20 counties in lottery ticket saies, so the live abow will probably be in During the show, a segment on anhattan's economic develop-ent will be aired, featuring nymown revitalization, indust-

The lonery show would be " unique event" for the mall, sale Mickey Thompson, advertising marketing director of Town kansas Lottery Livel is aired live on CRS stations at 6:30 p.m. very Saturday from different sections in Kansas.

Two other malls have housed he show, said Barbara Frick, lottery spoktswoman. West Ridge

"We've had terrifle traffic d electing director, mid the to campus police, said Dan Walter, Varney's manager.

"About half a dozen stolen books are turned in (to Varney's) a semester," he said.

Although the theft is not detected immediately, the books are identified as stolen when they go through Varney's computer system, Walter said. The name of the thief is turned over to the campus police and restitution

Lt. James Tubach, detective for the campus police, said the stealing of textbooks is considered a crime of theft by the department and can be prosecuted through the Riley County Police Department, he said.

The Union Bookstore handles stolen books much like Varney's, but it gets an immediate response. The title and author of the book are entered into a computer and the book is immediately identified as stolen, said Ginger Morris, Union textbook department manager.

Morris said most of the books stolen in the Union are taken from the locker area. Students who do not have a quarter for the lockers may leave bookbags at the service counter, she said.

■ See PARKING, Page 14

The most important consideration is the stolen books must be reported and must have identifiable marks. Walter suggests students put their name or date of birth on a specific page to guarantee the thief will be caught when trying to resell the book.

Walter said writing names on the binding decreases the book's value.

Tubach said another reminder for students is to lock car doors and livavailable: text processing, spreadsheet and data base, Campbell said.

Whenever there is a deadline near for a program, the computer centers can

Lack of computers problems causes

By Guy Peverley Collegian Reporter

For those students preparing to resell illegally obtained books of stolen books.

forget it. Area bookstores, in conjunction with K-State Police, have devised a method to stop the selling len, a report is filled out, including a description of identifying marks made by the student in the book. This report is sent to Varney's Book Store,

the K-State Union Bookstore and

When a student reports a book sto-

The theft of two campus computers earlier this semester has not helped a situation that was already difficult for students.

The ratio of 20 students to one computer is not an encouraging one for K-Staters in computing classes. The introduction to personal computing course has five sections, each with a capacity of 150 students.

Joe Campbell, instructor of computer science, said there is a total of 35 computers available in Fairchild Hall for the students to use.

The lab in which the theft took place was open until midnight, but now is locked at 5 p.m. The loss takes away the computer availability for 40 students, he said. The class is required by several different departments, said Charles Kichler, graduate student in computer science and coordinator of the class. Three instructors and four graders handle the student load.

Every semester, about 100 students have to be declined because the class fills up, he said.

"No question there is a shortage," Campbell said. "We could use more computers."

There is also a good argument against purchasing new equipment, "There's a great fear that if (computers) are purchased, they will go out of date," Kichler said.

The equivalent intersession class also fills up immediately, Campbell In the personal computing class, there are three different applications get really crowded, he said. The class requires approximately 20 hours of work on the computer, Kichler said.

"If the students spread out the work over the whole semester, it's OK," Campbell said.

The Department of Computing and Information Sciences is "working hard to find space and money to get more computers," Campbell said.

Earthquake hits Soviet Union

MOSCOW - The strongest earthquake to hit the Soviet Union's Caucasus Mountains region in 80 years killed and injured an undetermined number of people on Wednesday, flattened buildings and left thousands homeless.

The quake, centered near the Soviet-Turkish border, also killed at least four people and caused extensive damage in east-ern Turkey, authorities said.

The U.S. Geological Survey in Golden, Colo., said the quake, centered south of the Georgian capital of Tblisi, occurred at 11:41 a.m. (2:41 a.m. EST) and registered 6.9 on the Richter scale. A quake of that magnitude is capable of causing widespread, heavy damage.

The temblor, followed by a moderate aftershock, struck a region in the Soviet Union already wracked by months of ethnic violence between Armenians and Azerbaijanis.

President Mikhail S. Gorbachev, who was visiting the United States, called the earthquake "a grave tragedy."

State-run television, in an unusually prompt and detailed report from the scene, showed film of crumbled buildings in Kirovakan, Armenia's third largest city, and in Spitak, a regional center of Armenia.

Workers were shown picking up huge slabs of concrete amid the rubble. Gold-colored curtains and beds protruded from the side of a building where a wall once stood.

BRIEFLY ACROSS NATION

Rock legend Roy Orbison dies

NASHVILLE - Rock 'n' roll pioneer Roy Orbison, whose surging falsetto mourned the misery of fading romance, suffered a heart attack and died. He was 52, and was enjoying a comeback with a new generation of fans.

The Grammy Award-winning Orbison, famed for hits like "Oh, Pretty Woman," "Only the Lonely" and "Cryin'," died shortly before midnight Tuesday at Hendersonville Hospital, where he had been taken by ambulance, said Melanie Lamb, a spokeswoman for the suburban Nashville hospital.

"He was and always will be one of the greats of rock 'n' roll," said former Beatle Paul McCartney. "We toured with Roy in the early days and he was a really good guy."

A singer, guitarist and songwriter who was instantly recognizable by his ever-present sunglasses and dark attire set off by an ebony pompadour, Orbison had 27 straight records on the charts during his heyday in the early 1960s.

Winner may face taxes

DES MOINES, Iowa - A Norwalk woman whose fiance gave her a winning ticket for a $13.6 million Lotto America jackpot could face a bill of millions of dollars in federal gift taxes, an Internal Revenue Service spokesman said Wednesday.

"If a person would give $13 million to someone - it wouldn't have to be a lotto ticket - it's very possible the giver would be subject to federal gift tax," said David Evans, spokesman for the IRS office in Des Moines. But if the giver can't pay, he said, the burden falls to the person who got the

On Monday, Kelly Elsinga, 27, cashed in the winning ticket for the weekend Lotto America drawing, making her potentially the richest lottery winner in Iowa history. The first of 20 annual payments in the Iowa-based multi-state game is set to be given to her Dec. 20.

BRIEFLY THE REGION

Officials remove explosives

KANSAS CITY, Kan. - Residents evacuated from a twosquare-mile area returned to their homes Wednesday after officials removed explosive chemicals from a truck stopped by a

Fire department spokesman Fred Brown said the area was opened up about 1 p.m after 1,100 pounds of ammonium perchlorate was removed and taken to Fort Riley Army base for Firefighters found 23 barrels of the chemical in the back of the truck after a carburetor fire stalled the truck on Leavenworth Road in the northeast part of the city late Tuesday. The fire was quickly extinguished, but authorities questioned the stability of the chemicals.

The chemical, which was being carried in 55-gallon drums, is used as a rocket propellant and in explosives. Experts from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency were sent to the scene to help with removal.

Media access restricted

LAWRENCE - A Douglas County judge Wednesday restricted media access to an evidence hearing in the case of a man charged in the killing of a 9-year-old boy.

District Judge James Paddock allowed into the hearing only members of the media who agreed to limit their reporting to evidence that would be admissible in the murder trial of John

The news organizations agreeing to Paddock's restrictions were The Lawrence Daily Journal-World, Sunflower Cablevision and KLWN radio. Among those who refused the judge's compromise were The Topeka Capital-Journal, The Wichita Eagle-Beacon, The Kansas City Times, The University Daily Kansan and KTKA-TV in Topeka.

Attorneys for the Journal-World and the Capital-Journal had earlier argued against any closing of the hearing and indicated they would consider further action to oppose restrictions on access to the hearing.

Peter W. Stauffer, executive editor of the Capital-Journal, said he understood Paddock's effort to conduct a fair trial but couldn't accept information subject to conditions set by the

"It's the judge's job to manage the trial," Stauffer said. "It's our job to publish the news."

MU attacks worry police

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) - Police have added patrols around the University of Missouri campus in the wake of three attacks on women students since Friday night.

"It's unusual, and we're concerned," Carroll Highbarger, deputy police chief, said of the attacks. Highbarger said the first incident occurred Friday evening when a young woman left her sorority house and went to her apartment near the campus. A man followed her into the apartment, taped her to a chair and sexually molested her, Highbarger said.

The second incident occurred about six hours later, early Saturday morning, when a student was grabbed while walking from a fraternity house to her sorority house after a party. Highbarger said the attacker tried to drag her into bushes, but she resisted and screamed. The attacker fled when other people came to help the young woman, he said.

The third incident was reported Monday when a 19-year-old student was attacked as she went to her car to get a cassette tape, Highbarger said, but the attacker fled when a car drove into the parking lot.

BULLETIN FOR CAMPUS

Campus organizations are encouraged to use Campus Bulletin. All announcements must be submitted by 11 a.m. one day prior to mublication. Appropriately for Monday's publication. Announcements for Monday ulletin must be in by 11 a.m. Friday. Howev er, publication is determined by the amount of space available on a first-come, first-serve basis and is not ensured. Information forms are available on the shelf outside Kedzie 118. Forms should be left in the box on the shelf after being filled out. All submissions must be signed and are subject to verification. Ques-tions should be directed to the Collegian's campus editors in Kedzie 116.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

CAREER PLANNING AND PLACE-MENT offers services to students including career counseling, letter and resume preparation guidance, a career library, job opportunity bulletins, credential services and more. The center is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

GRADUATING SENIORS should report their future plans to the Career Planning and Placement Center in Holtz Hall. Seniors who are not registered can pick up forms before

CAMPUS CRUSADE FOR CHRIST will meet at 7 p.m. in Throckmorton 131.

SOCIETY OF AUTOMOTIVE ENGI-NEERS will meet at 6:30 p.m. in Durland 129.

FRENCH TABLE will meet at noon in GRADUATE SCHOOL Sujeet Shenoi will present his final oral defense at 3 p.m. in

Durland 129. FRIDAY

SOCIETY FOR COLLEGIATE JOUR-NALISTS will have its fall initiation ceremony at 3:30 p.m. in Union 206. Officers for 1989 will be selected

SUNDAY

DELT DARLINGS will meet at 8 p.m. at the Delt house.

KSU ASTRONOMY CLUB will meet at 7 p.m. in Cardwell 119.

K-STATE POLICE

Wednesday

A silver Toyota was towed from lot B-2 to Manhattan Wrecker. A wheel lock was placed on a brown Datsun parked on Petticoat Lane. Lock was later removed.

A one-vehicle, non-injury accident occurred near Ward Hall. Damage was less than $500.

BRIEFLY A CAMPUS

Holidays overload post office

As Christmas approaches, the city streets become crowded with cars, the mall with shoppers and the city post office with mail.

The Manhattan post office experiences a 10 percent increase in mail this time of year, said Ralph Brown, superintendent of

"We will be busy from now until the end of January," Brown said. "Right now, we are getting a lot of first-class mail, but after Christmas, we will get a lot of bulk mail, because of returns and after-Christmas sales."

Brown said the post office is adjusting schedules to accommodate the heavy mail. The post office has appointed part-time, flexible carriers for the heavy days.

Brown said the regular carriers will sometimes work overtime during the holiday season.

The busiest days for mail are Mondays and Fridays. Brown said this is due to activities over the weekends.

"On Mondays, people often mail the cards they've picked up over the weekend, and on Fridays, people are wanting to take care of business before the weekend starts," he said.

Clarification

An advertisement published Monday in the Collegian, submitted by Espresso Royale of Manhattan, in no way was meant to have any connotation studying for finals.

The Collegian regrets that the possibility of the ad being misconstrued by readers was not seen and apologizes for any misunderstandings that may have

FREE SCARF

Read Collegian ads for special bargains.

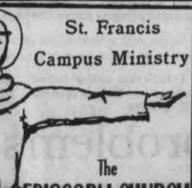

Have your Christmas Party at Hunams! (Catering. too) 539-8888

Dr. Mark Hatesohl

3252 Kimball Ave.

SUN. A.M. Services 8 & 10:30 6th & Poyntz 776-9427

THE COMPETITION'S BRASS LOOKS DULL BY COMPARISON At Lakin's you'll find a wide variety of unique, interesting brass and copper pieces that make other stores' selections seem positively boring. And each piece is treated so that it won't

Lakin's Gift Shop & Metal Polishing

tarnish. Stone house, comer of Westwood & Ft. Riley

537-7712

Night

TONIGHT

Pitchers, Wells & Pizza

> Don't forget about our Christmas Party tomorrow night!

18 To Enter • 21 To Drink

SPECIAL!!

Rebound on down for our great rates!!

Bring in your ticket stub and receive an additional 10% off your room.

★Special rates apply to students and their guests.★

Call 539-5391 to make your reservation

1-5 Sunday 331 Poyntz DOWNTOWN MANHATTAN

WordPerfect

F/T Faculty

Unplugged wells threaten health

By Scott Berg Collegian Reporter A dangerous problem remains in Kansas that many people are unaware of - contamination of the underground water table by unplugged wells.

"There are an estimated 200,000 old, unplugged wells in the state, according to the Kansas Department of Health and Environment," said Richard Black, associate professor in agricultural engineering. "I feel there are about 500,000 wells that are unplugged."

There are over 100,000 abandoned wells in Kansas," said Darrel Plummer, administrator of the Kansas Water Well Program for the Kansas Department of Health and Environment. "This is a pure guess. No one knows exactly how many there

No state program exists for plugging these wells. Different water districts start programs and use volunteer labor to do the work, Black said. The cost for the state to hire someone to plug them would run between $200 and $1,000 per well.

These groups usually have a geologist show the laborers how to properly plug a well, he said.

The districts cover areas in 36 counties and about 20 percent of the state's territory, Black said. The rest of Kansas is covered by watershed planning commissions.

A report has to be filed with the Department of Health and Environment detailing any construction done on a well since 1974, Plummer said.

To properly plug a well, Black said, the integrity — or the flow path to the underground water table must be restored to the state it was in before the well was drilled.

According to a report by the Division of Cooperative Extension, the Kansas Department of Health and Environment is responsible for regulating the plugging of wells. Wells abandoned after July 1, 1979, are required to be plugged.

The plugging is done by chlorinating the well and filling it with a mixcanic clay), Black said. The bentonite should be mixed with eight to 10 times as much water to make a gel compound.

A mixture of 20 percent gel and 80 percent sand should be made and poured into the well, he said. Before this is done, a hole should be dug around the well casing, to a depth of eight feet.

The well casing should be cut off and filled with the bentonite mixture.

is unknown what and how much has been dumped into (the wells) and what will happen."

-Richard Black associate professor in agricultural engineering

Then a cement cap should be poured on top, Black said.

The cap should be deep enough to not hinder any planting or building activities on the surface. When everything is completed, the well is ture of sand, rock and bentonite (vol- covered with dirt, he said.

Contaminants can fall into uncapped wells and enter the underground water table, Black said. Materials that can fall in wells range from animals to motor oil to garbage whatever someone decides to dump down it. "It is unknown what and how much has been dumped into (the wells) and what will happen because of it," Black said. "It's like an accident waiting to happen." Old wells, those abandoned before 1979, are the main problem because they don't fall under the present regulations, Black said.

According to the report, land owners with old wells on their property are held responsible for anything that happens involving them.

The landowners are liable without exception, even if they are unaware of the wells, Black said.

K-State donations exceed objective aim Hich:

OPTOMETRIST PHARMACIST

PHYSICAL THERAPIST PHYSICIAN ASSISTANT

The Air Force can make you an attractive offer - outstanding compensation plus opportunities for professional

By The Collegian Staff

K-Staters contributed $71,000 to the 1988 United Way campaign, surpassing the University's goal by more than $4,000, said Larry Erpelding, campaign chairman.

Erpelding, associate director of resident instruction in the College of, Agriculture, said he was pleased K-State was able to surpass the goal because past campaigns have not been as successful.

He said, however, this year's success didn't surprise him.

"I have known for many years that our faculty, staff and administrators are caring individuals who are concerned about the wellbeing of the community," he said.

The Riley County United Way campaign raised $344,100. Twenty percent of this was contributed by K-Staters.

Contributions are distributed to 17 United Way agencies in Riley County. These agencies provide services to families or individuals who may be suffering because of an emergency or crisis, Erpelding said. Agencies such as the emergency shelter, crisis center and the Flint Hills Breadbasket benefit from the United Way campaign.

Board discusses advisory panel

By Susan E. Faler Collegian Reporter

The Manhattan Unified School District Board of Education approved recommendations made by Planning Advocates, Inc., to address the long-range planning problems for the district Wednesday.

A core committee representation and selection process was unanimously approved to interact with Planning Advocates, Inc., an educational consultant that will advise the concerns of additional space, programs and equipment for the district.

The core committee members will be selected from a cross section of experience during . . .

representatives in the Manhattan-Ogden Public Schools. These persons will represent three major groups: policy makers, which include a City Council and a Board as teachers or school administrators. and the users and community members.

A decision was made that care should be taken to see that representatives from single parents, military, vocational education, minority, handicapped, professional services/ labor, Ogden and K-State be taken into consideration when the committee is choosen.

Since the Manhattan-Ogden

School District is large geographically and diverse in its composition, a matrix was developed which would assist in the selection process.

The board recommended that its member; providers of service, such president and the superintendent of schools send a letter to each of the groups being requested to select representatives. This letter would outline the purpose of the planning activities and ask the assistance of their group in appointing persons to serve on the core committee. The board proposed that meetings for the core committee be scheduled on consecutive nights. Thirteen meetings have been scheduled for January through May.

1/4 mile East of Mall, next to K-Mart)

OPEN HOURS on,-Sat. 10 am-9 pm Sunday 12-5:30 p.m.

LIVE BAND "Nace Brothers"

TONIGHT-$1 wells-$1 Kamis Don't miss the FUN!!

776-4111

Clipping this ad could introduce you to that person you've wanted to Make Christmas shopping a delight.

SEIFERTS PLUS HOLIDAY BRUNCH

Sat., Dec. 10, 8 a.m.-1 p.m.

Rolls, coffee, tea and juice will be served.

401 Poyntz DOWNTOWN MANHATTAN

Join us for a wonderful shopping

If you've spent the semester watching one particular person, it's time for you to write a Collegian Personal ad. A Personal will intrigue your mystery person and give you the opportunity to introduce yourself. Just bring this ad to Kedzie 103 to start your winter romance.

YOUR NAME PHONE ADDRESS I.D. NUMBER DAY TO RUN MESSAGE

Collegian Pusmals

ashion Compan

Editorial

Kansas State Collegian Opinions ■ Thursday, December 8, 1988

United States behind in political equality

Benazir Bhutto was officially named the leader of Pakistan on Dec. 1 by President Ghulam Islhaq Khan.

Bhutto is the first woman leader of an Islamic nation. Her election, which didn't come without bloodshed, is a clear indication that other countries have political equality and women are capable of leading a nation.

The United States should be so wise.

The Pakistan's Peoples' Party failed to win the majority in parliament by only capturing 105 of the 237 seats. Bhutto was able to overcome her party's setback and still gain enough support to be elected prime minister.

Pakistan has had only three general elections in four decades, and still put a woman in office. U.S. citizens have had 10 chances in the past 40 years to elect a new president, and a woman has never been on the ballot, let alone sit in the Oval Office.

Presidential candidate Walter Mondale let down his guard and ran with Geraldine Ferraro in 1980, but this was just an attempt to patronize American women after the failure of the ERA.

Bhutto had to overcome many political setbacks before she could begin her campaign, and she is a tribute to all women who hold political offices. She was imprisoned for a time when her father and former prime minister was executed in 1979. She had a baby on Sept. 21 of this year, after which she resumed her campaign for prime minister.

The election of this woman was the most peaceful transition of power in Pakistan in several decades, and leaders believe that she will have a peaceful and stable reign.

The American political process needs to open more doors to women. This country must stop laying out the red carpet for female politicians and then ripping it out from under their feet. Bhutto's election is proof that the United States is far from achieving its boast of political equality.

Campus environment may lose its balance

Humans continually attempt to control their environment, but the environment usually seems to win. Examples of this are everywhere, the most recent one being the rabbit rampage in Australia.

Decades ago, the poor Australians felt deprived without rabbits, so they decided to import some. Their plan backfired.

Australia doesn't have many carnivorous animals, so the rabbits have no preditors. They began multiplying by the thousands, becoming a larger problem each year.

The rabbits have always scrounged for food, but this year they are beyond control. The bunnies, apparently resembling a terror from Monty Python's "Holy Grail," are ravaging the outback, devastating everything in their path — including livestock and farming industries.

The swamplands and bayous in Louisiana are another example, because they are uncontrollably covered with water lilies.

The water lilies were brought to the United States at a World's Fair. They seemed attractive and harmless, so somebody decided to keep some. Lilypads are now one of the biggest problems of the bayous because they multiply so rapidly. People have to cut them back so boats can pass without getting caught in the viney overgrowth.

Another instance of environment tampering is even happening on campus. An insect pest called the euonymous scale damages ornamental shrubs in the area, but doesn't have a natural biological enemy nearby.

K-State researchers decided to try and control the scale by importing a lady beetle from Korea to naturally combat the pest.

This effort is to be commended, but who is to guarantee that a similar disaster won't occur? The 38 beetles shipped for testing are being controlled and observed, but no one knows how quickly they will multiply in this climate or what else they might prey upon. The detrimental effects that could result from this new breed of insect are unending and more importantly, unpredictable.

If people would just leave the environment alone, everything would work out on its own. It did before humans stepped in, so it predictably would if they would step back out.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

NEWS EDITOR EDITORIAL PAGE EDITOR PHOTOGRAPHICS EDITOR John La B SPORTS EDITOR ADVERTISING MANAGER EDITORIAL BOARD Nancy Chartrand, Christine Doll, Audra Dietz, Jim Dietz, Catherine D Susan L'Ecuyer, Scott Miller, Michael Nichols, Karla Redelsheimer, Chad L. San Jeff Schrag, Erwin Sebe, Paula Selby, Robert R. Short, Mark Schmeller, Jarvet Sweet The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Published and Thursday during simmer sessions. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 68502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, is hattan, Kan. 66506-7167. News contributions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian nevisroom, Kedzie Hall 116. Inquisites concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6550. Classified word adting questions should be directed to (913) 532-6550. Classified word adting questions should be directed to (913) 532-6550. Classified word adting questions (Fall or Spring) Tele Semester (Fall or Spring) Tele Semester (Fall or Spring)	MANAGING EDITOR	Chad L. Sanbor
PHOTO/GRAPHICS EDITOR	NEWS EDITOR	Appendix and the second
SPORTS EDITOR ADVERTISING MANAGER EDITORIAL BOARD Nancy Chartrand, Christine Doll, Audra Dietz, Jim Dietz, Catherine Doll, Audra Dietz, Jim Dietz, Jim Dietz, Catherine Doll, Audra Dietz, Jim Dietz, Jim Dietz, Catherine Doll, Audra Dietz, Jim Dietz, Catherine Doll, Audra Dietz, Jim Dietz, Jim Dietz, C	EDITORIAL PAGE EDITOR
ADVERTISING MANAGER EDITORIAL BOARD Nancy Chartrand, Christins Doll, Audra Dietz, Jim Dietz, Catherine D. Susan L'Ecuyer, Soott Miller, Michael Nichols, Karla Redelsheimer, Chad L. San Jeff Schrag, Erwin Seba, Paula Selby, Robert R. Short, Mark Schmeller, Jervet Swar The Kanasa State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publions Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhettan, Kan. 66508. The Collegian is published Monday through Friday during the school year Monday, and Thursday during summer sessions. Second class postage paid at Manhettan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Deak, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Inhattan, Kan. 66506-7167. News contributions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian neissroom, Kedzie Hall 116. Inguities concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word ad thing questions should be directed to (913) 632-6565. Kansas State Collegian Subscription Resea	PHOTO/GRAPHICS EDITO	Terramental Control of the Barg
EDITORIAL BOARD	ADVEDTICING MANAGED	Chris Hay
Susan L'Ecuyer, Scott Miller, Michael Nichols, Karla Redelsheimer, Chad L. San Jeff Schrag, Erwin Seba, Paula Selby, Robert R. Short, Mark Schmeller, Jarvet Swar The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Published inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66505. The Collegian is published Monday through Friday during the school year Monday and Thursday during summer sessions. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Mattan, Kan. 66506-7167. News contributions will be scoepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian neistroom, Kedzie Hall 116. Inquities concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6550. Classified word adtising questions should be directed to (913) 532-6550. Kansas State Collegian Subscription Retes	EDITORIAL BOARD	Nancy Charleson Chalelon Dell Austra Olds Un Olds Catherine Dou
tions inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66508. The Collegian is published Monday through Fridey during the school year Monday and Thrusday during summer sessions. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Intatan, Kan. 66508-7167. News contributions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian neitercom, Kedzie Hall 116. Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word ad tising questions should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Kansas State Collegian Subscription Retea	TO STORY IN	Susan L'Ecuyer, Scott Miller, Michael Nichols, Karla Redelsheimer, Chad L. Sanbor Jeff Schrag, Erwin Seba, Paula Selby, Robert R. Short, Mark Schmeiler, Jamet Swenson
Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-5550. Classified word ad tising questions should be directed to (913) 532-5555. Kanaca State Collegian Subscription Rates One Semester (Fall or Spring) Two Semesters (Fall and Spring)		in foot a man parely or assessed transferent or transfer or transfer or but the butter of the Second
One Semester (Fall or Spring) Two Semesters (Fall and Spring)	Monday and Thursday duris POSTMASTER: Send add hatten, Kan. 66506-7167.	anhaltan, Kan. 66505. The Collegian is published Monday through Friday during the school year an grammer sessions. Second class postage paid at Manhaltan, Kan. 66502. ress changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Mar
Two Semesters (Fail and Spring)	Monday and Thursday duri POSTMASTER: Send add hatten, Kan. 96506-7167. News contributions will b inquiries concerning local,	anhettan, Kan. 66505. The Collegian is published Monday through Friday during the school year aning summer sessions. Second class postage, paid at Manhettan, Kan. 66502. The changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Man a scoopted by telephone, (613) 532-6556, or at the Collegian nevision, Kedzie Hall 116. The collegian desired display advertising should be directed to (813) 532-6560. Classified word advertising should be directed to (813) 532-6560. Classified word advertising should be directed to (813) 532-6560. Classified word advertising should be directed to (813) 532-6560. Classified word advertising should be directed to (813) 532-6560.
	Monday and Thursday duri POSTMASTER: Send add hatten, Kan. 96506-7167. News contributions will b inquiries concerning local,	anheitan, Kan. 66505. The Collegian is published Monday through Friday during the school year ang summer sessions. Second class postage, paid at Manhatan, Kan. 66502, ress changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Mansa changes to Kansas State University, Mansas Changes to Kansas Changes to Kansa
Surrey Bessler	Monday and Thursday duri- POSTMASTER: Send ad- hatten, Kan. 96508-7167. News contributions will be inquiries concerning local, tising questions should be a One Semester (Fall or Spri-	anhettan, Kan. 86505. The Collegian is published Monday through Friday during the school year ang significant sessions. Second class postage, paid at Manhettan, Kan. 86502, rese changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Deak, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Mares scooped by telephone, (913) 532-6565, or at the Collegian nevisorom, Kedzie Hall 116, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word advertised to (913) 532-6560. Kansas State Collegian Subscription Rates

K-State needs big Christmas

hristmas, a holiday that brings friends and family together, is exciting and peaceful at the same

Shoppers crowd the stores, trying to find that perfect gift to dazzle that special person. Meanwhile, merchants are busily trying to hype anything expensive to convince shoppers that this is THE thing to buy for Christmas giving. Whether it be Cabbage Patch Dolls or Teen-age Mutant Ninja Turtle figurines, the stores and manufacturers always think of some way to get children to put these items on their Christmas wish list, whether it be through effective advertising or by using 30-minute commercials disguised as children's cartoons.

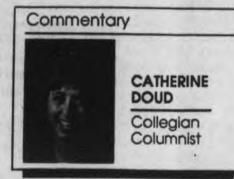

Sure, Christmas has been commercialized, almost vandalized, by unscrupulous stores and advertisers who prey on children — big and small — who are gullible enough to believe that the neat little doohickey in the box will really work just as it was seen on television.

Meanwhile, the Christmas rush seems to start earlier each year, until we can find tinsel even before Halloween. It seems as if we could save time and give trick or treaters Christmas tree ornaments instead of candy.

Always one to follow a neat trend, regardless of how stupid it is, I would like to offer my own Christmas list for your review. Yes, a full 21/2 weeks before Christmas.

But I'd like to make out my wish list for K-State, totally unaffected by Christmas media hype. This is just a list of those little things I'd like to see K-State have.

First on my wish list, I'd like to see K-State get a real library, or funding to improve this one. I don't know, asking for something for Christmas as essential as a library seems kind of like asking your mom for socks for Christmas, but you can't get around it. This is something the University really needs.

Next, I would choose a winning season for the old Wildcat football team. OK, sure, so all of us have to ask for one outlandish gift we know darn well we aren't going to get, but you always have to list it just in case it does come true.

Back to reality. I'd like to see K-State get an art museum. Gee whiz, all our friends have really neat art museums and all the other universities are doing it, so why can't we? The University of Kansas has a great big art museum that lends prestige and influence to the campus. Don't K-State students, who pay a comparable tuition, deserve the same?

nother one of those useful little items that K-State really needs for Christmas this year is a multi-level parking garage that would allow all of us to park in the Union lot if we wanted to — without getting tickets.

And along those same lines, I would like the campus police officers to get a large grant from some private source so they wouldn't have to be out ticketing students all the time and could instead work on things like finding those disgusting dregs of society who steal other people's backpacks during finals week.

Speaking of money issues, occasionally it's nice to ask Mom and Dad to just give me money so I can buy what I really want for Christmas. Maybe that's what the University should do. I wish the Kansas Board of Regents would give K-State a big Christmas present of money to be used for increasing teachers' salaries so we can keep and hire more talented instructors. I wish for that money to update equipment so students are actually learning on the kind of equipment they will be using in the real world. And, I wish for that money to create more class-rooms and faculty office space.

hat way, we can get students out of buildings that are fire hazards and remove faculty from overcrowded offices that were never meant to be anything more than storage space — like upstairs in Eisenhower Hall, for example.

And, if we are going to ask for money for this, maybe we should ask the Federal Santa Claus for funding to increase student loans, grants and scholarships. I guess you could call this the gift that keeps on giving.

OK, away from money. It always seems like such an impersonal gift anyway. Let's get back to toys. I would like to have K-State's basketball team go on to win the NCAA championship. It's not that hard to imagine, and I really think we deserve it — if we can do it without recruiting violations.

I would also ask for many little things which K-State needs, such as: self-defense lessons for President Wefald, a wildlife sanctuary for K-State foxes, bike paths that are adequate for the number of bikes on campus, and a big ladder so if there is a fire in the top of the residence halls we could rescue someone. But there is one big gift that matters more than all of these other gifts put together.

I would like to wish that K-State maintains its strong alumni backing. Next to the students and faculty, the alumni are what makes K-State a growing and exciting place to be, supporting students in their quest for education.

Letters

Letter one-sided

Editor

I am writing in response to the letter from David Filippi printed in Monday's Collegian. I consider it a cheap shot.

He referred to 13 K-State students who supported the NRA in a previous letter as "13 poor, gun-toting K-Staters" and then had the nerve to tell them to "toughen up and take it like adults."

I feel they acted as adults by submitting a letter to the editor. I believe in the Second Amendment, as well as the First Amendment, and I support the NRA. At the same time, I don't appreciate being ridiculed and being depicted as a trigger-happy lunatic who is ready to shoot someone at the drop of a hat.

I wonder how Filippi would react if a political cartoon negatively depicted advocates of gun control, the NAACP or Affirmative Action.

Darin R. Davis junior in marketing

Band has purpose

Editor,

I should like to respond to David Norlin's letter of Nov. 17 concerning the "McCain Mishaps."

First of all, Norlin, the First Division Band represents the U.S. Army. These soldiers receive the same basic training as every other U.S. soldier. Their function in time of war, for which they drill regularly, is to guard the First Division Headquarters. You are free to drive to Fort Riley and see that these soldiers do not hide behind a uniform of musical instruments.

Yes, Norlin, I suppose that when a U.S. military band plays at a civilian concert "there is a tacit approval or an assumption that this band is a logical part of our everyday existence."

Being from Kansas, you should know this is true. Everyday, soldiers at Fort Riley and Fort Leavenworth maneuver in efforts to prepare for a possible war. Everyday, these same soldiers spend money, bringing millions of dollars to the state. Everyday, men and women are separated from their families and are posted on dangerous borders ready to "kill to protect our interests." But, Norlin, they are also ready to be killed to protect those interests.

The key phrase is your own: "protect our interests." My interests, as well as those of every other American I know, include: the freedom of speech, the freedom to practice my religion, the right to hear and read ideas other than those mandated by the government, the right to a trial, and so on. Do you have some of these interests, Norlin? I am reassured to know that at least there are some people who recognize the absolute necessity of protecting these interests and who are willing do the protecting.

You are correct that what the Army must represent is not beautiful — war. But, Norlin, the people that you basically equated with the Nazis at Dachau, the soldiers of the U.S. Army, are going to protect you and your interests anyway. That is beautiful.

Laura Ciesinski

Tests explained

Editor

RE: Employee Drug Tests Become Common.

In "The rhetoric of drug testing," the statement that "they have a few days to get the drug out of their system before the test" may not always be true.

According to the Kansas University Medical Center's Drug Information Center, the following substances have different testability times (urinalysis): cocaine — 72 hours; amphetamines — two to four days; marijuana — two to three weeks plus; barbituates (fastacting) — four months.

In a December 1988 article by Dr. Mark Gold, director of research at Fair Oaks Hospital in New Jersey, the physiological effects of marijuana were discussed.

"THC (tetrahydrocannabinol) is absorbed through the lungs into the bloodstream almost immediately after smoking. It clings to the fatty linings of the cells. It is then released back into the bloodstream over a period of time — usually a week or so.

"Some drugs are soluble in water, such as alcohol and cocaine, and are rapidly expelled from the body. But THC residue remains attached to fat cells, and, unless no more marijuana is ingested before the system is cleared, there is a cumulative effect. Anyone smoking marijuana about once a week may actually never rid (his or her) body of the drug's effects."

Bill Arck director, Alcohol and Other Drug

Ceremony marks center's opening

By Jody Hundley Collegian Reporter

The Jack C. Durgan Resource Center, named for the founder of K-State's Department of Interior Architecture who retired last year, was dedicated in a 20-minute ceremony Wednesday afternoon in Seaton Hall.

The Department of Interior Architecture space includes a study/conference area and resource library. Students were in charge of all aspects of the renovation, said Chris Gray, fifth-year senior in interior architecture.

Mark Lapping, dean of the College of Architecture and Design, said the center was a product of students, faculty, staff, alumni of the department and professional organizations and firms.

"All of these groups and individuals came together in this effort not only to honor Jack Durgan, but to make an investment in ... the closest thing to his heart - the Department of Interior Architec- Jack," he said. ture," he said.

"It (the center) was quite an undertaking on the students' part," Durgan said before the ceremony. so nice."

Durgan founded the department in 1972 with two students. Durgan was the only faculty member. After 34 years in the College of Architecture and Design, Durgan made the decision to retire last spring, but not before the department had grown to mitted by last year's fifth-year stu-67 students.

Renovation of the center, a 18 by 42-foot space in the southwest portion on the second floor of Seaton Hall, began last February, said Steve Murphy, head of the department.

The resource center was once the first studio used by Durgan when the program started, said Jim Dubois, assistant professor of interior architecture.

"That space means something to Robert Kruh, associate provost, said Durgan's achievements were not sung loudly enough.

"We all know what a tremendous "This (the dedication ceremony) is teacher Jack is," he said. "We're proud to pay our respects to (Jack)

> When Durgan announced his retirement plans last fall, Murphy said, the department wanted to thank him for his dedication.

"Designs were drawn and subdents (for a center)," he said. The final decision then went to Bill Jahnke, assistant dean in the college, for any corrections or revisions. Larry Garvin, university architect, was then consulted for approval of the plans.

"(Ed Rice, director of the Division of Facilities Management, and Garvin) were super through the whole project," he said. "(Rice) needed to be kept informed with the changes the interiors students were proposing."

Dubois, faculty adviser to IASC, said structural changes began dur-ing spring break. Fifth-year stu-dents tore out the old ceiling, revealing the original 21-foot vaulted one, and constructed and sheetrocked new walls.

"The students built a wall to define the resource library and the third-year interiors studio," he said. "Before this, a low partition divided the two spaces."

With the resource library redefined, the materials used in students' design projects could be stored there on shelves built by an interiors class, said Kent Williams, fifth-year senior in interior architecture and president of IASC. IASC was responsible for finishing

Funding for the project came from private sources, mainly alumni who had been associated with Durgan, Murphy said.

Community college to receive subsidy

By The Collegian Staff

The Department of Labor will award $350,000 to Labette Community College in Parsons to provide training, employment and supportive services to unemployed former railroad workers, said Sara Belden, departmental press secretary.

The estimated 171 dislocated workers in southeastern Kansas lost their jobs when Union Pacific Railroad bought the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railroad in August 1988, Belden said.

The funding will provide 159 participants with skill assessment, counseling, remedial education, onthe-job training and vocational skill training. Job placement assistance, transportation, child care and relocation assistance also will be provided, Labette had originally requested $678,000, which would have permited 89 spouses of the dislocated workers to receive the same services.

These spouses were either underemployed or unemployed.

Book Your Study Room Today! 539-7531

OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK

This coupon good for

Pork with Snow Peas over Rice $1.99 not good with any special or promo expires Dec. 14, 1988

Free Delivery with min. $7 order 11 a.m.-1 a.m.

Go ahead, show off your photos. The Palace's selection of photo frames makes every photo a gem. Groupings of photos will fill your home with a collection of special memories. Carr's wide selection gns and p ular sizes will fit am decor. Carr frames are individually gift boxed for your convenience. The very best in photo frames is here for you.

Mon.-Thurs. 8:30 to 8:30, Fri.-Sat. 8:30-5:30, Sun. 12:00-5:00 704 N. Manhattan Ave • 539-7654 • in Aggieville

INTENSIVE CARE FOR TEST-TAKERS.

Get a healthy MCAT score by taking a test prep course with Stanley H. Kaplan. Our educational review and test-taking techniques are the best in the field. Call!

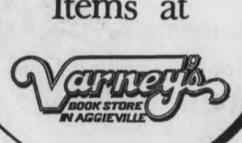

TH. KAPLAN EDUCATIONAL CENTER LTD

New Holiday Compact—K.C.! Three-week intensive course over Winter Break Dec. 22-Jan. 10 Register now 913-262-TEST

Sun.

WE'RE PAYING CASH FOR YOUR BOOKS NOW!

10% off any Non Textbook Items at

SELL YOUR BOOKS AT VARNEY'S

(regardless of where you bought them)

AND GET YOUR YELLOW TOKEN

A JATE BOOK & FR Let JOURN Get your yellow token, which is good for 10% off any non-textbook items, when you sell your books during dead week or final week. You decide what the token is worth by the amount you purchase. THE MORE YOU BUY THE MORE YOU SAVE! You can use the token whenever you want. Use it for Christmas purchases or use it next semester.

*Bring all your books to Varney's (regardless of where you bought them) and our buyers will value them individually. You choose what you want to sell! WE BUY BOOKS EVERY DAY! However, you can usually get the most for your books by selling them to us at the end of the semester.

★The price we pay for books is determined mainly by two factors—if the books will be used again at K-State and we need the books for our stock. If we cannot buy your books for our stock, we will offer you the best price we can, based on the national market.

*Remember, it's what you get for all your books that counts, and we think that the wholesaler we buy for pays the highest prices.

*We know you're busy and in a hurry so we have four buyers to take care of you. We try to keep the time you spend in line to a minimum. We also buy until 9 at night during dead week and final week.

BUY BACK SCHEDULE DEAD WEEK

9 a.m.—9 p.m. (except Sunday 12-5 p.m.

FINAL WEEK 8:30 a.m.-9 p.m.

(Mon.-Tues.-Wed.-Thurs.)

Mon.-Sat.

confront new regulations in future Hunters

By Scott Berg Collegian Reporter

Hunters in Kansas in the future may need a permit from the Kansas Department of Wildlife and Parks to hunt on privately-owned land while also having the landowner's permission.

The state has a plan under consideration to begin allowing recreationists the use of farmers' land, said Sid- by the department and the board, a ney Stevenson, assistant professor in physical education and leisure

The program, sponsored by the Kansas Department of Wildlife and Parks and by the Kansas State Board of Agriculture, will not be official until the Legislature passes it, Stevenson said.

According to a proposal compiled payment will be awarded to participating landowners in exchange for recreationists using their land on a short-term lease, he said. The pay-ment system will be based on the number of acres being used.

Landowners will have to meet an established criteria to qualify for the program, which would include leasing plots no smaller the 80 acres,

The department would be responsible for damages, while landowners would control access to the land. The location and boundries of the land, the activities allowed by the owner and the terms of the lease are negotiable, as stated in the proposal.

Local groups could form association areas or special-use areas by requesting the secretary of the department to designate them as such, according to the proposal. This would allow local landowners and businesses more participation in the promotion and administration of their area.

The plan also proposes a guideoutfitter program where people could become certified guides and outfitters. Anyone who provides services to recreationists is a guide. Outfitters are those who want exclusive business rights to one type of guiding in an area.

It is proposed that additional enforcement officers in all regions of the state would provide adequate enforcement for leased areas. Violators of the access program would be penalized and their permits would be voided.

in seminar Educator gives advice

By The Collegian Staff

Citing his "Recipe for Alligator Stew," Vice President for Institutional Advancement Robert Krause during a seminar Wednesday at the University Inn gave suggestions on how to handle difficult situations.

Krause's speech, "Draining the Swamp: Bringing Difficult Situa-tions to a Win-Win Conclusion," was the second seminar this semester of the Seventh Annual Professional Development Seminar Series.

Krause spoke to 158 people, the largest crowd the series has had, said Lance Lewis, coordinator in the Division of Continuing Education.

Alligator stew requires seven ingredients, Krause said, adding that one has to determine the precise amount to use according to the situa-tion. The seven ingredients are: a carefully-examined self, a dose of positional power, clarity of objectives, clarity of understanding the situation, a generous helping of treating people with respect and dignity, a well-calculated measure of timing and a heaping handful of hard work.

"Draining the Swamp," Krause said, "Sometimes life is difficult when you're up to your eyes in alligators."

Referring to the seminar title

Read the Collegian ads to get a good bargain.

cult situations to a win-win conclusion, it is important to have a positive attitude and accept difficult situations as challenges.

"In our lives, some perils are real and some are imagined. The hard part is separating the real from the imagined," he said.

The first seminar of the series was in November, and there will be one each month through April. The series is sponsored by the KSU Small Business Development Center, the U.S. Small Business Administration, the KSU Division of Continuing Educa-

Krause said that in bringing diffi-tion and the Manhattan Chamber of Commerce.

> "In our lives, some perils are real and some are imagined. The hard part is separating the real from the imagined."

-Robert Krause Vice President for Institutional Advancement

"We utilize community and University talent for the benefit of the community and the campus," Lewis said. "(It's) a very low-cost professional development series."

Lewis said the seminars attract a variety of people - from managers and administrators to clerical

"Our goal is to provide a quality, professional development series for the community and campus, using local talent and expertise," he said.

New Nonfat Frozen Yogurt

Same great taste with no fat or cholesterol

Nautilus Towers-Aggieville Phone 537-1616 Manhattan

WE WANT TO MAKE YOUR STUDENT LOAN!

Have the professionals at Kansas State Bank make your student loan. Simply contact us at:

537-4400

Lender code #821176

Westloop • Aggieville • K-State Union, Manhattan, Kansas 66502

Christmas Special

MOBILE HOT-TUB RENTAL WORKEU

Have a Safe and Well Christmas from your Wellness Program PAC-CATS

Classified Categories

The state of the s

PAC-CATS Office Suite 26 Lower Level Lafene 532-6927

E-STERS

5 Month Membership for

Exp. Dec. 31

Get 10 tans for $20

3236 Kimball

Collegian Classified Advertising

SANDA BYSANDY SANDYSANDYSANDYSANDY

CLASSIFIED AD FORMS

Write your ad in the form provided below, and mail it in, along with the correct payment, to STUDENT PUBLICATIONS, INC., KEDZIE HALL, ROOM 103, KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506. You can also stop by Kedzie 103 to place your ad or call 532-6555. Student Publications now accepts MasterCard and Visa. (Minimum charge of $5.) The DEADLINE for Classified Ads is NOON the day before publication; NOON Friday for Monday's publication. Deadline for cancellation is NOON the day before publication

CLASSIFIED AD POLICY

- * Only the FIRST TWO words of each ad will be in all caps; all other words will be in caps/lower, except initials.
- * No abbreviations, please.
- * No last names or phone numbers will be printed in the Personals section.
- * Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not alter the value of the ad.
- * Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103
- * If mailed ads do not arrive by the Noon deadline, they will be placed in the next day's paper.
- * Ads which are incorrectly calculated will be run only for amount paid.

Classified Ad Rates

* The Collegian reserves the right to edit or reject any advertisement at any time.

16 17 18 19 20 21 22 23 24 25 26 27 28 29 30 Over 30 words (per word)	2.70 2.90 3.10 3.30 3.50 3.70 3.90 4.10 4.30 4.70 4.90 8.10 5.30 8.50	3.75 4.00 4.25 4.50 4.76 8.00 5.25 5.50 8.75 6.50 8.78 7.00 7.25	4.55 4.85 5.15 5.45 5.75 6.05 6.05 7.25 7.56 7.85 8.15 8.45 8.75	5.10 5.45 5.80 6.15 6.50 7.20 7.55 7.90 8.25 8.80 8.95 9.30 9.05 10.00	5.40 5.80 6.20 6.60 7.00 7.80 8.20 8.80 9.00 10.20 10.60 11.00	1.05 1.10 1.15 1.20 1.25 1.30 1.35 1.40 1.45 1.50 1.55 1.60 1.65 1.70 1.75	03 Apartment 04 Automobile 05 Automobile 06 Card of 10 07 Child Care 08 Computers 09 Employme 10 Financial 1 11 Garage ar 12 Houses ar 13 Houses ar 14 Lost and I	nt Services Id Yard Sales Id Mobile Homes Id Mobile Homes Found	nished 17 18 19 20 21 22 23 24 25 for Rent 26 for Sale 27 28
Name		1		WI		OTTO	hone no.	16-11
Address_	188	1			1019	S	tudent ID	#		Series (
1		2	_			3		4		5
6		7			2	. 0		9		10
11		12		-		13		14		15
		17	- 50			18		19	10	20
16		99			200	23		24		26
21	3.55
21	4100	27	-	1(21)	57.0	24	ALC: U	29	-	30
21	4100	27	-	1(21)	57.0	24	ALC: U	29		30

Loan-to-Own A Mac

Never So Affordable to Own A Computer

KSU Students may take advantage of one of the best computer financing packages ever offered: the Apple Loan-to-Own Program. This is a special low interest loan designed exclusively for the parents of undergraduate and graduate students.

The Loan-to-Own program lets your parents borrow on their own signature without collateral. There's no need to show financial hardship. And repayment is just as easy because payments can be spread over as many as 10 years - which means an extremely affordable price! Stop by Connecting Point Computer Center or visit the KSU Bookstore for more details or an application for this unbelievable Buy-a-Macintosh program.

KSU Apple pricing and this financing program mean its time to buy your MAC.

in cooperation with Connecting Point Computer Center 1115 Westloop Shopping Center - 539-0801

InFocus

Kansas State Collegian ■ Thursday, December 8, 1988 ■ Page 7

Jay Robbins, Manhattan, plays Santa Claus in the Manhattan Town Center Wednesday evening. At the booth, children can visit with Santa and have their picture taken with him at his house.

Ho! * Ho! Ho!

Family becomes Santa's helpers

He has made his list and checked it twice, he already knows who is naughty and nice, and with the help of Karen Robbins and her family,

Santa Claus is already in town.

Karen, a realtor in Manhattan, manages the Santa Claus booth in the Manhattan Town Center, where children can visit with Santa on the front porch of his house and have their picture taken with him.

"I've always been interested in doing that sort of thing, (since) Christmas is my favorite time of year. I have three children, two of them teenagers, (and) I just thought it would be a fun job for them," Karen said.

Karen's oldest son Jay, a junior at Manhattan High School, is one of the Santas. Her daughter Elizabeth, 14, helps with taking the photo-

"You basically have to make an idiot out of yourself."

> -Tracy Hepner freshman in business graphs. Her youngest son Bryson, 11, is one of the elves, along with his friend Ben Stamey.

"I like to work with the kids. That's what I hope to do some day," Elizabeth said.

(toys). Ghostbusters, racing cars and Nintendo sets. The girls are asking for Barbie dolls, Little Miss Make-up, and Cabbage Patch Dolls," Jay said.

Karen said she spends just a few hours a day on the booth. She stops by the booth two or three times a day

Karen said most malls have a Santa booth for the children every year, and she volunteered earlier this year to manage the booth at the Manhattan Town Center this year.

The mall contacted her in November and asked if she would manage the booth for Cherry Hill Photo Enterprises, she said.

Cherry Hill Photo Enterprises, from Cherry Hill, N.J., operates photo booths during Easter and Christmas in about 350 other malls across the United States, Karen said.

"Cherry Hill contacted the mall and asked them if they would be interested in doing this, and obviously the mall was. So someone locally manages it for Cherry Hill," she

"They send us all the Santa suits, the cameras and all the equipment. The only thing we have to do is set it up, do a little decorating and get people to run it, do the bookwork, take the pictures and be the Santas," she said.

The camera used is a large instamatic and the photographs take only 60 seconds to develop. The photos vary in size from wallet size to large size and are placed in a decorative wooden frame, Karen said.

"There are several options you "The boys are asking for G.I. Joe can go on. They have three-packs, specials and singles with a variety of to make sure things are running smoothly, and in the evenings she does the bookwork.

Tracy Hepner, freshman in business and one of the booth photographers, said one of the most difficult parts of the job was getting the children to look at the camera and

"You basically have to make an idiot out of yourself. We usually have little elves, Bryson and Ben, (and) we make them stand there and they usually do jumping-jacks and do funny things."

Hepner said sometimes the children won't smile and she has to ask the parents if it's all right to take the photo even though they aren't smiling.

ABOVE: The Santa Claus booth is located in the main courtyard of the Town Center. The booth is part of Cherry Hill Photo Enterprises. from Cherry Hill, N.J., which operates photo booths during Easter and Christmas in about 350 other malls across the United States. ABOVE LEFT: Jay Robbins, Manhattan, makes sure his suit is straight before portraying Santa Claus Wednesday at the Town Center. LEFT: Robbins looks in a mirror while adjusting his beard.

Story by Scot Dye

Photos by Brad Camp and Jeff Stead

Higher education, prisons face Legislature

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA - New Senate Majority Leader Fred Kerr said Thursday it's going to take a cooperative effort with a high degree of bipartisanship for the 1989 Legislature to wade through the toughest agenda of major issues he's seen in the dozen years he's been in the Senate.

While resentment may linger at the moment from some of the Senate races that turned ugly this fall, there won't be time for it to fester because of the monumental task facing the '89 session, Kerr said in an

"We are working to see that the Senate leadership is unified," the Pratt farmer-stockman said. "The reason is we just have an awesome deal with in the 1989 session.

"I don't remember so many big issues needing resolution. I think the Legislature realizes it's going to take a tremendous amount of cooperation and hard work to solve them. That will be the most unifying factor of

His biggest challenge as majority leader, Kerr said, will be to keep things "moving along," so the major issues don't become bogged down and leave an insurmountable logiam at the end of the session.

"I'm afraid if we don't keep the major bills moving, we have the potential for the worst logjam ever,"

He listed as the prime issues medical malpractice and tort reform, high-mental hospitals, return of the remainder of the income tax windfall, probably through reduced tax rates, and legislative reapportionment

"It's going to be quite a challenge to do all of that in a 90-day session," he said. "But that's what lies before us, and that's what we have to do."

Kerr, who has been chairman of the Senate Assessment and Taxation Committee, was nominated as majority leader last Monday, over Jim Allen of Ottawa, during a Senate Republican caucus. His election will come Jan. 9 when the Legislature

Bud Burke of Leawood, who now is majority leader, was nominated to array of major policy decisions to ways, property reappraisal, funding be Senate president, succeeding the because of their contrasting backdeal with in the 1989 session. ways, property reappraisal, funding be Senate president, succeeding the because of their contrasting backof higher education, prisons and retiring Robert Talkington of Iola. Since Republicans control the Senate, 22 members to 18, the caucus' nominations are tantamount to election.

> Burke and Kerr have already begun building their staffs. The Senate Organization, Calendar and Rules Committee tentatively is scheduled to meet next Thursday to choose Senate committee chairmen, vice chairmen and make committee assignments.

Kerr, who will be 48 on Dec. 29 and is beginning his fourth four-year term in the Senate, said he and Burke "are bending over backwards to work together ... seeking a good, unified Senate leadership.

They will complement each other son County businessman.

"With the different backgrounds we represent, I think it will be good for the input of the various interests into the decision-making process of the Senate," Kerr said.

He also expects a good working relationship with Allen, the man he defeated for majority leader after first challenging Burke for the Senate presidency.

"Jim Allen is a highly regarded senator. He and I have a high degree of mutual respect," Kerr said. "We've worked together on the agriculture committee, the tax committee and the education committee committees that have handled a lot of together well."

work together."

Kerr also sees good relations with Gov. Mike Hayden and the House leadership.

He said Hayden has met with potential legislative leaders, "so the framework for that dialogue to continue is in place."

Kerr also noted that Burke, Allen, Minority Leader Michael Johnston of Parsons and House Speaker Jim Braden of Clay Center have a common bond: All have been chairmen or prominent members of the assessment and taxation committees of the two houses. "Bud and Jim have worked together for a decade," he said. "They have a record of working

Finals Survival Kit

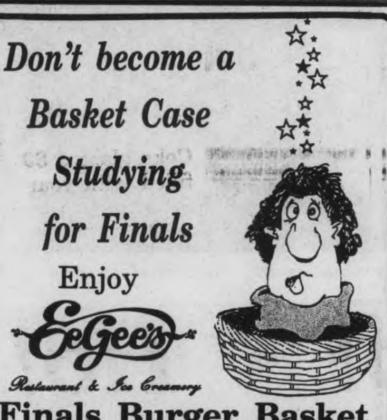

For a small bag of white popcorn. Regularly 35', Good through 12/17/88 Limit 2 per customer.

1319 Anderson Popcorn Palace

Aggieville

Finals Burger Basket 1/3 Pound Burger with Waffle Fries

> only $2.59 Open Daily until Midnight offer valid through finals week

12th & Laramie, Aggieville ·537-3999 ·

LARGE PIZZA ONLY with one topping

Bitter 1900 through Obt S1 dine in or free home delivery

"premium pizza at a cardboard pizza price" 523 South 17th 537-1484

Don't let Old Man Winter put a chill in your car

Service your car before you head home for Christmas.

Oil change

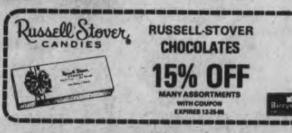

Free Shuttle Service

DICK

Located 2 miles east of Manhattan on Hwy 23 776-4004 Toll Free 1-800-257-4004

409 Poyntz 776-8833 Extended Hours

One number brings out the best at KSU

Now, at KSU, there's just one number to remember for fast delivery of pizza that's every bit as good as one you'd go out for.

Godfather's Pizza™ Now you don't have to settle for anything less, anymore.

> 1118 Laramie Aggieville

American opera star to sing at McCain

By Stacy Sweazy Collegian Reporter

A K-State alumnus, Samuel Ramey is one of today's most acclaimed opera stars.

Ramey, a native of Colby, will perform at McCain Auditorium tonight at 8.

Almost every major opera company in the world - Covent Garden, La Scala, the New York City Opera, the Metropolitan Opera, the opera companies of Hamburg, Berlin, Florence, Venice, Geneva, Paris, the Salzburg Festival, the San Francisco Opera and the Lyric Opera of Chicago — have scheduled Ramey. The Lyric Opera currently has Ramey booked in sold-out performances of "Don Giovanni."

Ramey's concert at K-State is rare because it comes between perfor-mances at the Lyric Opera, said Richard Martin, McCain director.

"I wasn't sure if McCain could book him, and I told his agent we were willing to take a weekday," Ramey's international success is based on the range of his voice, from the coloratura bass of the bel canto era to the dramatic bass. With this versatility, Ramey has been cast in operas such as Handel's "Rinaldo and Semele," Mozart's "Le Nozze di Figaro" and "Don Giovanni."

His dramatic bass qualities have made his playing evil characters his speciality.

"The parts lie in different registers of his voice and he's made more of a career playing villains," Martin said.

Ramey's accompanist, Warren Jones, has appeared as a vocal accompanist and chamber music pianist throughout the United States and Canada. He debuted in 1987 in Carnegie Hall accompanying Ramey. Jones has been the assistant conductor to the Metropolitan Opera for 10 years. He is a native of Washington, D.C., and an honors graduate from the New England Conservatory of Music.

In 1984, Martin heard Ramey at the Kennedy Center.

"It was superb, not forced, and his diction was flawless," Martin said. "I have wanted to book him ever since."

Legality of adoption ads questioned

By Theresa Luling Collegian Reporter

LOVE-FILLED HOME needs the joy of a new baby to complete our very happy marriage. If you plan to place your baby for adop-tion, please consider us. Expenses paid, confidential, legal.

College newspapers across the country have become the feeding grounds for such ads. In their search for a child, many couples, turned down by adoption agencies or unwilling to wait, have opted for private adoption.

It may seem like a logical, simple solution, but one problem exists.

"The ads are not legal," said Peggy Baker, director for the division of youth services and foster care specialist for the Social and Rehabilitative Services in Topeka. "But then, the legality of such ads has never been tested in court."

Gloria Freeland, assistant director of Student Publications Inc., said, "There are two sides to consider when deciding if the ads should be printed. On the one hand, there are loving couples who want a child. But it can also be considered a black market for babies."

When presented with this issue, the Board of Student Publications Inc. decided that running the ads was a service to the community, Freeland said.

Keith Taylor, a lawyer from Kansas City, said, "Across the country, anything that has to do with selling children is going to be prohibited. Women answering these ads need to be wary of some of the inducements being offered. Many states carry strict laws concerning the area of adoption."

According to Kansas law, in the area of public health, "No person shall advertise that such person will adopt, find an adoptive home for a child or otherwise place a child for adoption. The provisions of this section shall not apply to a licensed child placement agency operating as authorized by Kansas law or to the Department of Social and Rehabilition Services."

"Although this might apply to the Collegian, I think you have some latitude," said Dorothy Thompson, associate University

Citing a statute under black marketing of babies, Richard Seaton, senior University attorney, said it is a misdemeanor to advertise that an individual will adopt or place a child for adoption.

"In general, the drift of the statute is toward placement by agencies, not private individuals. But it does raise questions of liability with newspapers," Seaton said. "It depends on how sympathetic the courts are." Cases heard by the Supreme Court seem to support ads for adoption under the First Amendment, he

"Many people are not going through an adoption agency when they can go through the private adoption process and get faster results," Freeland said.

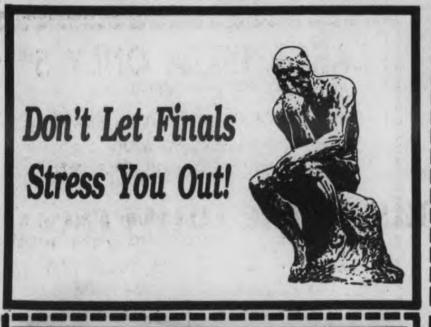

Linda Schmidt, office assistant for Student Publications, Inc., said, "Seven different ads (for adoption) ran this past semester. (The ads) almost always come from couples living on the coasts wanting Midwest babies.

"The majority of ads stress the couples' love-filled home and their financial status as far as being able to care for the child."

Have story or photo ideas? CALL 532-6556

Get Personal in Collegian Classifieds

BAR

Downtown Manhattan FREE GIFT WRAPPING STOREWIDE

regular priced merchandise Coupon Good through Dec. 20

BUY ANY MEDIUM PYRAMID PIZZA . . . GET A SECOND medium piass FOR ONLY $2.00 BUY ANY LARGE PYRAMID PIZZA . . . GET A SECOND large plans FOR ONLY $3.00

COUPON REQUIRED

Expires 1-15-89

Finals Break

Coke glasses 89° filled with your favorite soft drink!

Dairy

uueen 1015 N. 3rd Manhattan

TACOS! TACOS! TACOS!

Buy any one Taco and get a second Taco FREE! (equal or less value)

(one coupon per person & order-not valid with any other offer)

Open Daily 11 a.m.

SPECIAL DELIVERY

Mrs. Powell's & Balloon Boutique will deliver the perfect gift for you. Just call to have a fresh baked Christmas Tree or Wreath specially packaged with a balloon and DELIVERED FREE for only . . . $15.99

Call: 539-0106

from

Mrs. Powell's . & Balloon Boutique

Special not valid with other coupon or offer.

It's About Finals Time Bring your books on down to Charlie's and we'll show you how to party ... I mean study.

1800 Claflin

776-4111

He's the only one who should be driving with a glow on.

safe holiday season from:

STUDENT SPECIAL

501 South 17th OLD TOWN MALL

Mon.-Sat. 10 a.m.-11 p.m.

1501 Tuttle Creek Boulevard Manhattan, Kansas 66502

STUDENT SPECIAL Peace and Quiet to study or just get away.

$13 Single Day Rate 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. — $10

On availability basis only. Student I.D. Required.

$18 Double

Call for reservations, 539-5391

ClassAds 532-6555

CLASSIFIED RATES Cheap, but

One day: 15 words or fewer, $2.50, 20 cents per word over 15; Two consecutive dates: 15 words or fewer, $3.50, 25 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4,25, 30 cents per word over 15; Four tive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 35 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $5.00, 40 cents per word over 15.

Announcements

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs -skincare -glarnor -ri-gifts for all seasons. Floria Taylor, 539-207

⁵1 off your Collegian Classified with your contribution to the Flint Hills Breadbasket. Take canned goods to Kedzie 103 to receive ⁵1 off your Collegian Classified.

Prepaid ads only. Not valid with any other offer.

Deadline: noon one day prior to publication. Offer expires noon Dec. 8, 1988.

Need a fuel-efficient Car? Check the Classifieds effective, Collegian Classifieds.

American Heart Association

WANT TO SELL YOUR BOOKS?

The K-State Union will buy 'em! Tk-state union

Cash Pawn & Gun, Inc. wants to buy used air conditioners.

1917 Ft. Riley Blvd.

776-3332

59° Tacos

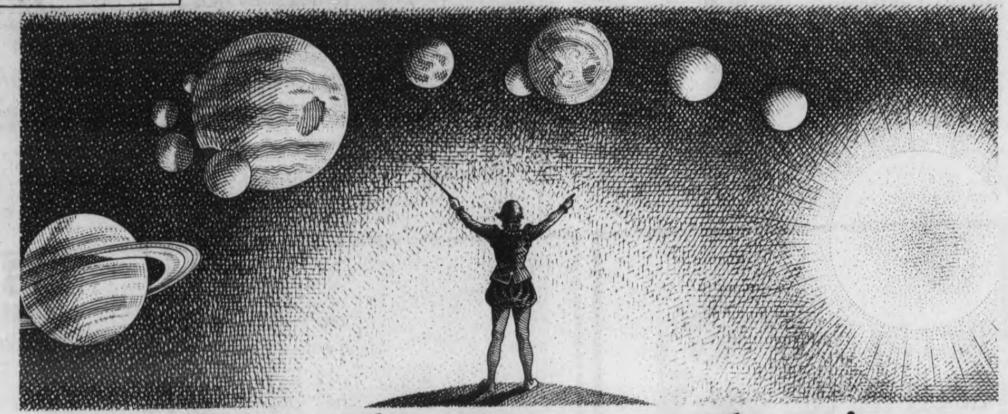

All day, Every day 1155 Westport Rd.

PITCHERS WELLS PIZZA

Enroll for Spring Semester 1989 Advertising Production Internship to earn credit. Gain the experience necessary for a PAID parttime position on staff the following semester. Must have instructor's position. Come to Kedzie 113 immediately for more information.

(Continued on page 12)

It took Galileo 16 years to master the universe. You have one night.

It seems unfair. The genius had all that time. While you have a few short hours to learn your sun spots from your satellites before the dreaded astronomy exam.

On the other hand, Vivarin gives you the definite advantage. It helps keep you awake and mentally alert for hours. Safely and conveniently. So even when the subject matter's dull, your mind will stay razor sharp.

If Galileo had used Vivarin, maybe he could have mastered the solar system faster, too. Revive with VIVARIN:

Some Students Don't Need A BANK IV Student Loan.

Studious

"I discovered heretofore unidentified organic compounds in ordinary dorm food which I processed to propel a spaceship the size of Duluth to the Andromeda galaxy and back..." On one hand: Won every scholarship known to humanity. On the other: Needs money only to buy pocket protector and dental floss.

(12 simultaneous part time jobs. Too busy to talk.)

On one hand: Learns value of a dollar. On the other: Collapses of exhaustion 2 weeks before graduation.

Prankster

"... and then we'll get up to their campus, steal the weasel mascot, and hold it for 50 kegs ransom."

On one hand: Lots of laughs. On the other: All assets controlled by bail bondsmen.

Football Powerhouse Star 'Hi, Mom!" On one hand: Can turn pro at any minute. On the other. Needs to finish his

"$69.95 for one book?!? Used!?!

On one hand: Could qualify for a BANK IV Student Loan. On the other: Hasn't applied yet.

Send me information on BANK IV's Student Loan program.

Clip out coupon and mail to: BANK IV Educational Loan Department P.O. Box 1318

A BANK IV Student Loan Isn't For Everybody.

education to understand the contract.

But it's probably right for you. 'Cause BANK IV believes in you. And in the future you're building for yourself. So if you need money for school, send us this coupon. We'll send you complete details.

The Strength of Kansas. BANKIV

BANK IV Educational Loan Department / P.O. Box 1318 / Wichita, KS 67201 / (316)261-2103 or 1(800)283-LOAN

Sports

Kansas State Collegian ■ Thursday, December 8, 1988 ■ Page 11

Henson, McCoy lead 'Cats past Baylor

K-State forward/center Tony Massop hangs on to a rebound as Baylor's forward Matt Hankinson tries to strip it away during the Wildcats' 84-60 victory over the Bears Wednesday night in Bramlage Coliseum.

Kruger picks up win No. 100 as head coach

By Chris Wilhelm Sports Writer

Lon Kruger was able to notch his 100th career coaching victory, as the K-State men's basketball team ran its record to 3-1 with a victory over the Baylor University Bears, 84-60, in Bramlage Coliseum Wednesday

"It feels awfully good (to get the 100th win)," Kruger said. "If you coach long enough you will eventually get it. If you've got good kids who work hard you should get

The 'Cats were able to overcome a slim three-point Bears lead early in the first half and run away with the contest. The Bears jumped out to their only lead of the game, 20-17, only to see K-State storm back with 12 unanswered points to take the lead at 29-20.

The smallest advantage the 'Cats held over the Bears the rest of the game was six points.

"Generally, it was a pretty good basketball game," Kruger said. "There were several things that we tried to accomplish between this game and the game against Oregon State. We worked on getting better shots and we had more success offensively tonight.

"At the beginning of the second half, they had several good possessions to try to get back into it," Kruger added. "They obviously were doing the things early in the second half that they talked about doing at halftime. Our defense was the key for us, as it forced (Baylor) into several turnovers and we were able to make good possessions out of them."

Steve Henson and Fred McCoy had the hot hands for the Wildcats. Henson had 23 points on 9 of 14 shooting from the floor, while going 5 of 9 from the three-point line. McCoy chipped in 22 points, hitting 7 of 9 field goals and hitting 8 of 9 free throws.

"I struggled the first game," said McCoy of his free throws. "I've really been working hard in practice on my free throws and getting my eye back on (the rim). I felt pretty good tonight. I was relaxed and that helped my

"I've seen Henson before, and from what I've seen I'd say he's one of the best point guards in the country," said Baylor head coach Gene Iba. "He reminds me a lot of what his coach (Kruger) looked like when he was playing basketball."

Iba also had praise for the job the Wildcats did under the boards.

"They were awfully physical with us inside," Iba said. "McCoy did a good job of getting position and blocking out in the middle. We had two kids in the game that didn't even weigh 185 pounds and we weren't sure we were going to be able to get them out of there. We took a couple of kids that just learned how to shave and asked them to do an awful lot.

"K-State did an excellent job on defense and I think that's what won the game for them."

Throughout the game, Kruger was able to play most of his players, without interrupting the Wildcats' rhythm.

"We tried a couple of different things tonight," Kruger said. "We got a lot of the kids into the game and we still played well. We never dropped off in intensity significantly no matter who we had in the game."

K-State will be at home again on Saturday when the Vanderbilt University basketball team visits Bramlage. Tipoff is slated for 8:05 p.m.

7-10

HENSON	30	9-14	5-9	0-0	1 1	23
DIGGINS	22	1-3	0-1	2-2	3 4	4
Humphrey	19	0-3	0-0	0-0	0 3	0
Britt	20	3-3	0-0	5-6	4 3	11
Dobbins	21	1-2	1-2	0-0	3 2	3
Rettiger	8	1-1	0-0	1-2	1 1	3
Simmons	9	1-1	0-0	0-2	4 1	2
Fritz	5	0-1	0-0	0-0	0 1	0
Stanfield	4	0-1	0-0	4-4	0 0	4
Maydew	2	0-0	0-0	1-2	0 0	1
Totals	200	27-51	6-14	24-32	31 23	84
Baylor	MN	FG	FG3	FT	RF	TP
BROWN	29	3-7	0-0	2-3	6 3	8
DENTON	34	3-9	0-0	2-4	6 3	8
HANKINSON	20	3-52	0-0	0-2	1 3	6
HAYDEN	. 32	7-14	3-5	3-4	0.4	20
HUNT	28	1-3	0-0	2-3	0 1	4
Chalmers	5	0-0	0-0	0-0	1 5	0
Fatta	19	2-3	0-0	1-1	3 1	5
Christian	8	0-3	0-1	0-2	1 2	0
Hobbs	11	1-8	0-2	0-0	0 0	2
Jones	9	0-1	0-0	4-4	2 1	4
Fogle	3	0-1	0-1	0-0	0 0	0
Harman	2	1-1	0-0	1-1	1 1	3

200 21-55 3-9 15-24 2124 60

Halftime score: K-State 42, Baylor 33. Tumovers: K-State 16, Baylor 17. FG Pct.: K-State 52.9, Utah State 38.2. Att.: 10.038.

KU trounces NAIA Lutes

By The Associated Press

LAWRENCE - Mark Randall scored 24 points and grabbed 11 rebounds Wednesday night as Kansas overpowered Pacific Lutheran 112-61.

The Jayhawks, 5-1, dominated throughout the game, jumping to a 12-0 lead in the first four minutes. Kansas extended its lead to 37 points by halftime for a 61-24 score.

Sophomore forward Mike Maddox scored career-high 20 points, shooting 7-for-9 from the field and 6-for-9 from the free throw field, completing three out of five 3-point shots. Newton ended with 17 points and seven rebounds.

Randall, whose high this season was 31 points against Seattle, led the Jayhawks in the first half with 17 points.

The NAIA Lutes, 2-4, had trouble shooting from the field. Kansas outrebounded Pacific Lutheran 20-10 in the first half and 44-21 for the entire game. The Jayhawks also forced 30

The Lutes, led by Jeff Lerch and Byron Petit with 12 points each, did not go into double figures until 8:17 of the first half when Forward Milt Newton dominated from the Nate Thoreson's scored on a jump shot.

Lady Cats play host to ORU tonigh

By Mike Rouse Staff Writer

The K-State Lady Cats will try to keep their winning streak in Bramlage Coliseum alive as they play Oral Roberts at 7:30 tonight.

The Lady Cats are 4-0 in Bramlage and 4-2 overall, while Oral Roberts is

The Lady Cats are coming off a 55-53 victory over Central Missouri State Tuesday night, when they shot only 39 percent from the field. Lady Cat coach Matilda Mossman will be the first person to say that it wasn't just a cold-shooting spell that K-

"We are not a good-shooting team, but we have been scoring enough points to win ballgames, and I guess right now that's the bottom line," Mossman said.

State had against CMSU.

K-State has shot more than 40 percent from the field just once this year down. We have to eliminate them," -a 43-percent effort in a 74-61 loss to Radford last weekend.

Mossman said she feels that the team must make good decisions on shot selection and must be able to take better care of the ball to be

K-State committed a season-high 25 turnovers against CMSU, and Mossman said they have to do more than reduce turnovers.

"We can't just cut the turnovers

Diana Miller has continued to lead the team, averaging almost 14 points and seven rebounds a game.

Kristie Bahner, who is averaging 11 points a game, was held to two points against CMSU.

Probable Starters

Lady Cats (4-2)	Pos.	ORU (2-4
Bahner(5-11, So.)	F	Herron(6-1,	Sr.
D.Miller(5-10, So.)	F	Poitier(5-8,	Sr.
Matteuc(5-11, Jr.)	C	Hindle(6-2,	Sr.
Hazim(5-7, So.)	G	Baker(5-8,	Sr.

Snyder names Miller first assistant coach

From Staff and Wire Reports

Newly hired K-State football coach Bill Snyder has announced his first staff hiring. Joining Snyder is former University of Iowa recruiting coordinator and receiver assistant Del Miller.

The 38-year-old Miller assumes his duties immediately. He just completed his 11th season at Iowa.

"Del brings to this staff a wealth of successful recruiting and on-thefield experience," Snyder said. "This is a man of integrity, compassion, a strong family man with an extremely good work ethic. It takes special people to guide this program, and this is a special man."

Miller became a full-time assistant at Iowa in 1981 after serving as a volunteer assistant since 1978. Aside from his recruiting coordinator duties, he worked with All-Big 10 receivers Dave Moritz and Quinn Early in his capacity as Iowa's receivers coach.

"I'm here because of Bill Snyder, a man of great integrity and class," intelligence and understanding. He's Miller said. "Bill really cares about the student-athletes, and that's something that's also very important to me. Obviously, I view this as a great opportunity and challenge, but I truly believe the timing could never be better for Kansas State University. The situation very closely parallels the situation at Iowa 10 years ago. Personally, I'm excited at having the opportunity to do something that nobody has done before."

Miller's first coaching job was at Plainfield (Iowa) High School, where he was head coach from 1972-75. He then moved to Eagle Grove (Iowa) High School as defensive coordinator in 1975 before becoming that school's head coach in

He graduated from Central (Iowa) College in 1972 after starting three years in football at three different positions. He earned a master's from Northern Iowa in 1975. He also has hours beyond a master's from Iowa in athletic administration.

Miller is a native of Iowa and was a five-sport star at Iowa Valley High School in Marengo, Iowa. He and his wife Jan have three sons: Troy, Todd

Sports Briefly

'Cats to play in 'shootout'

Next year, the K-State men's basketball squad is expected to open the 1989-90 season at the Great Alaskan Shootout in Anchorage, Alaska.

Seven other teams, including host Alaska-Anchorage, are also expected to be in the tournament field with K-State. Other teams that have tentatively agreed to play are Auburn, Michigan State, Hawaii and Texas A&M and the other two teams have yet to be announced.

This year Kansas made it to the finals of the same tournament but lost to Seton Hall.

Jayhawks' Tunstall ineligible

LAWRENCE - Sean Tunstall, a freshman guard, has been declared academically ineligible and will not be able to compete with the Kansas Jayhawks during the 1988-89 basketball season, school officials said Wednesday.

KU officials said Tunstall, of St. Louis, failed to meet provisions of NCAA Proposition 48, which governs academic requirements, but they refused to discuss specifics of the case.

Rangers sign Ryan for 2 years

ATLANTA - Nolan Ryan, major league baseball's all-time strikeout leader, is leaving the Houston Astros and has agreed to terms on a two-year contract with the Texas Rangers, sources said Wednesday.

Reports Tuesday said the Rangers offer was worth $1.4 million for next season and $1.6 million for 1990. The Rangers also would have the option of buying out Ryan's contract for 1990 for $400,000.

(Continued from page 10)

RIDE THE K-STATE UNION Express!!

Mk-state union

Apartments-Furnished

AGGIEVILLE NICE one-bedroom in complex, $250, lease, deposit, no pets. 539-3928.

AVAILABLE JANUARY. Convenient locations, apart-ments and mobile homes. Very reasonable rent. No pets. 537-8389, 776-8381.

FEMALE ROOMMATES to share a four-bedroom semi-furnished apartment. Located right across the street from campus. $132/ month, utilities included. Starting Jan. 1, 1989. Call 776-0799.

HUGE, MOSTLY furnished, one-bedroom apartment. Great for two persons. Available Jan. 1. Call 776-4087.

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM. $230 Plus WITH 778-4805. APARTMENTS

NICE ONE-BEDROOM basement, carpeted, $200 plus utilities. 539-8401.

NICE ONE-BEDROOM apartment available Jan. 1, 1989 across from Putnam Hall, water and trash

NICE TWO-BEDROOM basement, carpeted, $300 bills paid! 539-8401.

NOW IS the time to rent for next semester. One-, two- or three-bedroom apartments. Nice, close to campus. Not- in complex. Low utilities. No pets. Call 539-4641.

ONE-BEDROOM FURNISHED in 12-unit complex two blocks west of campus. Available immediately. 539-7811 or 1-456-8297.

1989 across from Putnam paid. 776-8384 after 5p.m.

Furn. Apts.: Second semester availability.

br., gas heat, no pets. $250

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM. $280 plus utilities, Jan. 1. 539-5051 or 776-3804

NICE ONE-BEDROOM efficiency. $175 plus utilities. ONE-BEDROOM, CARPETED, no pets, $220 plus Jan. 1, 776-4805.

ONE-BEDROOM FURNISHED or unfurnished. Sub-lease, central air, no pets. 537-4944 or leave

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT available Dec. 15. 776-4780 after 5p.m.

SMALL LAWN for barbecues. Walk-out level besement apartment. Centrally air-conditioned; disposal. Living room, kitchen, bath, one huge bedroom. West of campus. Quiet location for study. Suitable for student or couple. No off-street parking. Available Jan. 8. No children, pets. $245 includes utilities, 539-6959, evenings.

TWO-BEDROOM, DISHWASHER, air conditioning, $420 month. Close to campus and Aggleville, 920 Moro. Str-month sublease beginning Jan. 1. Call 537-0372 or 537-2919.

TWO-BEDROOM, CARPETED, Jan. 1 occupancy,

TWO-BEDROOM apartment east of campus. Quiet conditions. Ample parking. Reasonable rates, 776-3624.

UNFURNISHED OR furnished two-bedroom ment, close to campus and park. Available st semester. 776-8338.

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

FOR RENT: Nice three-bedroom duplex, lease expired in May. $390' month, negotiable. Call 776-0427.

WILDCAT INNS

Unfurn. Apts.: Second semester vacancies

in four different sites. 1 br., gas heat, no pets.

> $295-310 776-3804

SECOND SEMESTER LEASE?

One and two bedroom apartments close to campus, priced from $250-$400.

McCullough Development

2700 Amherst (913) 776-3804

AILABLE SECOND semester. Less than one block from carripus, two bedrooms, one full bath. Low utilities. Clean and nice. Call 776-3788 or 776-1222.

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM, campus location, coin-operated weather and dryer. No pets, available January. $255 plus deposit. 539-1465.

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM basement across from City Park. Good carpet. Washer/ dryer included. No pets. Lesse. $260. 776-0894 or 776-3804.

LUXURY TWO-BEDROOM (extra large), central air and heat, all appliances including dishwasher. Central location. Available Dec. 15th, $350 plus utilities. Call 537-4000 or 537-7380.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM apartment across Available Jan. 1, $330, 539-2920.

ONE-BEDROOM, PRIVATE bath, ground floor at 814 Leavenworth. $185 plus utilities, lease and deposit. 539-3672, evenings.

SPRING SEMESTER in HORIZON III

Half block from campus, 2 bedrooms, exceptional $400 January 1 occupancy 539-8401

THREE-BEDROOM APARTMENT available not floor of a house. Living room, driling room, washer and appliances. $400 plus utilitie month lease possible. 778-8393.

TWO-BEDROOM, PARTLY furnished, air conditions apartment, two blocks southwest of high school Off-street parking. Trash and water paid. Availab Jan. 1, $315, 639-5921.

VERY NICE one-bedroom basement apartment, blocks west of campus. Phone 539-5267. Automobiles for Sale

1950 WILLYS "Jeep" SW, four-wheel drive, four-cylinder, Original, good condition. 776-5574, even-ings. $1,500.

1977 FORD LTD, excellent condition, air conditioning AM/FM stereo, cruise. Call 5- 7p.m. 776-8311. 1978 CHEVROLET impala station wagon, clean reliable second car. Must sell before Christmas break, $1,200 or best offer. Call Robert at 537-7587, 1507

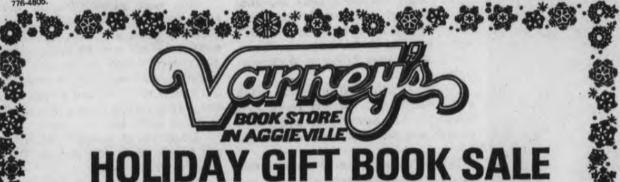

1980 TOYOTA Corolla. Only 69,500 miles. Immaculate, air, digital cassette, excellent. $2,195, best offer. 537-2396.

1982 ESCORT, two-door, AM/FM stereo, air, exceller condition, must sell. $1,500 or best. 537-3721. CAN YOU buy jeeps, cars, 4x4s seized in drug raids for under $1007 Call for facts today, (602)837-3401 ext. 744.

FOR SALE: 1971 BMW 2002. Call 539-3153.

8 Computers

(Continued on page 13)

These are just a few of the hundreds of holiday sale books we brought in to meet your gift-giving needs. The LAND EDITION. The classic Volland edition of Mother Goose makes a beautiful addition to any home library. Features more than 100 traditional rhymes, each accompanied by a full-page, full color illus. by Frederick Richardson. Only $6.98 MY GIANT PICTURE DICTIONARY, Illus. by Robert Durhan. A fabulous, full color beginner's dictionary featuring approximately 1,000 entries! Incl. nouns, verbs, simple adjectives and adverbs in a large-format,

MOTHER GOOSE: THEN ORIGINAL VOL-

durable, fun-to-use book. 80 pages. 10% x 12 Only $7.98 THE NEW ILLUSTRATED MEDICAL ENCYCLOPEDIA FOR HOME USE: Enlarged and Revised 7th Edition. Ed. by Robert E. Rothenberg. 196 Illustrations plus 16 page full color insert. An important reference for every home. Fully illus, it features approved techniques for mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, the Heimlich Maneuver and other emergency situations plus complete instructions on first-aid procedures. Provides clear, concise answers to more than 7,500 questions most commonly asked by patients. 752 pages. 8¼ x 10¼. Pub. at

$29.95 Only $22.98
THE NEW LEXICON WEBSTER'S DIC-TIONARY OF THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE: Encyclopedia Edition. A comprehensive dictionary and a complete quick-reference library in one volume. Main dictionary section of 1,149 pages is followed by such special sections as: Handbook of English ge: Spelling Dictionary; Dictionary of synonyms & Antonyms; Metric Conversion Tables: Investment & Monetary Glossary: plus full-color sections of U.S. Presidents, Flags of the World and Space Exploration ligh-quality binding. 81/2 x 11 Only $24.94 quantities are limited, so come in today! THE NIGHT BEFORE CHRISTMAS. Full color illus, throughout, Based on Clement Moore's charished classic, this outstanding children's title captures all of the mag enchantment and joyful good cheer of San-ta's annual flight. Special Only $2.98 THE ORIGINAL ADVERTURES OF RAG-GEDY ANN. By Johnny Gruelle. Full color throughout. Follow America's favorite redheaded rag doll and storytime friend as she meets a world of wonderful characters. Complete with the classic illustrations by Johnny Gruelle. 64 pages. 9% x 13

Only $ 6.98
THE PLANT KINGDOM COMPENDIUM: A Definitive Volume of More Than 2,400 Copyright-Free Engravings. By Jim Har-ter. Astonishing collection of the finest botanical illustrations of the late Victorian period will bring hours of enjoyment to the collector while serving as an incomparable sourcebook for artists and designers. 384 pages. 8% x 11. Only $17.95 ROGET'S THESAURUS OF ENGLISH WORDS AND PHRASES. Revised and Enlarged by Samuel Romilly Roget. This is the classic American edition, with 1,000 major word-groups, of this invaluable, easyto-use reference guide to improving your vocabulary and expressing yourself better in both writing and speaking. 705 pages. Special Value Only $7.98

WE ARE OPEN: 9:00 am-9 pm Mon-Sat

623 N. Manhattan Ave. 539-0511

O CONTRACTOR

$24.95 Only $14.98 2,850 HOUSE AND GARDEN PLANTS. By

SIGNIFICA. By Irving Wallace, David Walle-chinsky and Amy Wallace, authors of The People's Almanac. The Uruguayan navy once used old cheese balls instead of cannon balls-and won. Two insane men served on the Supreme Court. The most entertaining collection of "gee whiz" tacts yet! 400 entries. 135 photos. 374 pages. Orig. Pub. at $15.95 Only $6.96 TALES FROM TEDDY BEAR LAND. By Barbara Hayes. Not for children only, Barbara Hayes' endearing teddy bear tales will capture the hearts of fans of all ages. These, combined with life-like full color illus, by John King, make for a winning collection! 112 pages. 8% x 11. Only $7.98 20 YEARS OF ROLLING STONE REG: What a Long, Strange Trip It's Been. Ed. by Jann S. Wenner. Over 125 Photos in Full Color and B&W. Two decades in popular American culture reflected in this vivid collection direct from the pages of Rolling Stone. Woodstock, Manson, Kent State, Vietnam, Watergate, the shocking murder of ex-Beatle John Lennon, and much more as seen by some of the most innovative talents of our time: Hunter S. Thompson, Tom Wolfe, Annie Leibovitz, Richard Avedon, others. 464 pages. 8% x 11%, Pub. at

0

0

R. Herwig. Over 2,900 Full Color Photos. Match the right plant to the right situation ... identify thousands of species ... determine light and soil requirements for your plants. Huge treasury of gardening wisdom time. 400 pages. 9 x 11% .Only $19.95

Tickets are still available for this Friday and Saturday Evening Buffets

Make your reservations now through the K-State Union Director's Office.

located on the 2nd floor of the K-State Union Tickets are $14 for adults, $7 for children 12 and under

Enjoy authentic Swedish cuisine prepared especially for your this Holiday season! For more information, please call 532-6591

SANTA SUIT RENTAL

Bring joy and Christmas spirit to friends and family this season. Rent a Santa Suite from the Union Activities Center.

The cost, only $10 for one day. Call 532-6571, Monday-Friday 9 a.m.-4 p.m. for reservations!

Now through December 23

k-state union

UNION PROGRAM COUNCIL.

Traveling Abroad? Ge your International Student I.D. In the Activities Center, K-State Union, 3rd floor from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m., Monday thru Friday. The cost is only $10 and the card is good through

FRANCS - POUNDS - LIPA - PESOS

-incredibly low student air fares! Accident/medical Insurance! -24-hour International toll-free hotline for medical, legal and financial emergencies! -Countless discounts on travel, cultural events, accommodations, and more! -Internationally recognized form of identification! -Get it today!

k-state union

The exciting young talent that set the screen ablaze in such hits as: LA BAMBA, WALLSTREET, BRIGHT LIGHTS, BIG CITY and STAKEOUT comes together for this thrilling action-adventure based on the true story of a rebel who lived over 100 years ago. Featuring the electrifying performances of Hollywood's new breed: Emilio Estevez, Charlie Sheen, Lou Diamond Phillips and Kiefer Sutherland, YOUNG GUNS is an entirely different kind of Western based on the intriguing story of one of the most colorful and dangerous figures in the Old West.

Friday and Saturday, Dec. 9 and 10, 7 and 9:30 p.m., K-State Union Forum Hall Admission $1.75 KSU ID Required

In this 1947 Christmas classic, an old man hired by Macy's to be the store Santa claims to be the real Santa Claus. The cast includes Maureen O'Hara, John Payne, Natalle Wood, and George Seaton whose touching portrayal of Santa won him an Oscar. Santa will be at the 2 p.m. showing on Saturday from 1:30-2 to hear Christmas wishes and give out treats! Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 10 and 11, 2 p.m. and Sunday at 7 p.m., K-State Union Forum Hall Admission $1.50 KSU ID Required

PERSONAL COMPUTERS Authorized Warranty Service

also servicing · PC compatibles & printers

· Televisions & VCRs

MIDWEST SERVICES 624 Tuttle Creek Blvd. 6 C.SC. Manhattan 913-776-6650

legian cannot verify the financial potential o sementa in the Employment classification

BUS DRIVER needed to start immediately for Monday, Wednesday, Friday, 11a.m.-noon, to drive children from U.S.D. 383 to child care center. Class B license required. Previous experience preferred. 33.75 an hour. Apply Nancy Bolsen, director, L-9 Jardine Terrace, Manhattan, KS. 539-1806. Equal Opportunity Employer.

CASHIERS WANTED. Must be able to work some funches. Leave school schedule and application Thursday or Friday between 2 and 5p.m. Hibachi Hut, 606 N. 12th.

DAIRY SALES Counter, Call Hall 144. Hours available now; finals week; Dec. 19-23; Jan. 3-10; and spring 199 semester. Work study preferred. Apply in person to Kathleen, Monday through Friday, 1-

DELIVERY DRIVERS: Raoul's Escondido le taking applications, Monday- Friday, 2- 5p.m. 215 Seth Childs Road.

DO YOU like kide? I need a fun-loving, flexible person for childcare. Room, board, salary plus car provided. We are very nice. Call Becky (415)328-6229.

EARLY CHILDHOOD lead teacher, before/ after kindergarten-age children. Twelve month position, Monday through Friday, 8a.m.-4:30p.m. Beginning between Dec. 27 and Jan. 3. Requirements: Degree in ECE, Elementary Ed or related field and experience with young children. Benefits. Progressive, pleasant working environment. Please send cover letter, resume and three references to: Marsha Tannehill, Seven Dolors Child Care/ Prechool, 728 Colorado, Manhattan, by Dec. 14.

ENGINEERING STUDENT for part-time work during Spring semester. Shop and/or electronics expersirable. Apply in room 201 ERL (accessible Seaton 64).

JEFF TAKES FURTHER PRECAUTIONS...

ELEMENTARY SCHOOL teacher would like college girl to live in for second semester and summer. Help with house. Board and room in exchange. Write Box 1, ofo Collegian, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kanass

MOTHER'S HELPER position available Jan. 1, 1989. Work schedule, five days a week including Saturdays. Room, board, and car provided. Salary and length of employment negotiable. Location: Darien, Connecticut. Care of three boys, ages 5%, 4 and 2%. I worked for this nice family the summers of 1987 and 1989. If interested, please call Julie, 532-2078. 532-2078.

ADMISSIONS REPRESENTATIVE Kansas State University is recruiting for the position of Admissions Representative. The person will be responsible for the development and implementation of an effective student recruitment program within a specific geographic region. The major responsibilities include: Coordinating strategy and resource people for the region; serving as the primary recruitment representative; developing and main-taining service relationships with high schools and community colleges; attending major community events; and coordinating efforts for the region with K-State faculty and staff. Qualifications for the position include: K-State bachelor's degree; familiarity and excitement for K-State; demonstrated student involvement/ leadership skills; strong communication skills (oral/ written); strong social skills for a variety of situations; willingness to travel extensively; ability to work independently; and overall high energy level and ention, vita, and a list of references (addresses and telephone numbers) to: Search Committee Kansas State University 122 Anderson Hall Manhattan, KS 66502 Deadline for applications is thusiasm. Position will start immediately and pay $16,500 for 12 months

(including one month vacation). Candidates should send a letter of applica

December 16, 1988. Kansas State University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer

BY RICHARD BROADFOOT

YA' KNOW. IF THIS WERE THE "TWILIGHT ZONE"...

SOMETHING FUNKY WOULD) HAPPEN, LIKE THE LATCH

WOULD STICK FROM THE

GLIFF-HANGER GONTINUED ...

FRESHMEN, SOPHOMORES, Juniors: Train in the summer to become a Marine Corps Officer after graduation. Aviation available, Call collect HEAD TEACHER for Child Development Center, full-time. BA or BS degree in Child Development or ECE or related degree with 12 semester hours of child development/ ECE. Obtain an application at Kansas Job Service, 621 Humboldt. Submit appli-cation, letter of application, resums, transcripts and three work related letters of reference to them. United Way Agency, E.O.E., pertially funded by the City of Manhattan. Deadline for application: Friday, Dec. 9.

HELP WANTED

Now Accepting Applications for Mid January opening. Contact Manhattan Town Center Mall Customer Sevice Counter for Application and Interview Schedule.

OVERSEAS JOBS, $900- $2,000 month. Summer, year-round, all countries, all fields, free information. Write IJC, P.O. Box 52-KS02, Corona Del Mar, CA

PART-TIME TELLER, Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 11a.m. to 2p.m. and every Saturday, 9a.m. to noon, Cash handling experience required, if interested, call Sue Carlson, 537-0200.

PROGRAMMER POSITION available. The Kansas ROGRAMMER POSITION available. The Kansas Cooperative Extension Service has openings for two student computer programmers. Work schedules can be arranged around class times. Applicants should be familiar with one of the following: Cobol, Fortran, or KSU mainframe systems operations. For more information, contact Mary Knapp or Sherri Thompson, Computer Systems Office, room 211 Umberger. Phone: 532-7019. Applications are available from the above individuals, or at the Computer Science office. Applications will be accepted through Dec. 9, 1988.

PYRAMID PIZZA is now taking applications for delivery personnel. Please apply in person, 1130 Moro.

TELEVISION PRODUCTION. Small station has imme diate opening for person who can shoot and edit news and commercials. Directing in studio and out. Send resume and tape to: TV 6, 222 W. 6th Street, Junction City, Kansas 66441. EOE.

WORK-STUDY POSITION opening in the Speech and Hearing Center room 107. Will train person. Duties answering phone, corrupter, miscellaneous. Posi-tion available now and next semester. Call or apply in person: 532-6879 or Leasure 107.

12 Houses/Mobile Homes for Rent

GOOD FOR married couple or female to rent charming little cottage! $240 little bills- nice local. 776-5306. TWO-BEDROOM HOUSE on seven acres, large shed less than 15 minutes from campus. Available Jan 1, $350/ month plus utilities. 537-2634, 6- 10p.m

TWO-BEDROOM FURNISHED with washer/dryer. I pets. $325. Water and trash paid. 776-1111.

VERY LARGE house, three blocks west of carripus. Carpet, drapes, suitable for five. Phone 539-5267

13 Houses/Mobile Homes for Sale

frigerator, insulated storm windows, storage Reasonable financing available. 537-8649.

MUST SELL 1977, 14x75 Windsor. Includes 3/4 acre, two-car garage, insulated shop, redwood deck and appliances. Must see to appreciate, 1-494-8484.

4 Lost and Found

FOUND IN Denison Hall: Silver pen (blue ink) engraved with name. Call 1-456-9291 and identify by name.

FOUND: LADIE'S ring. To the lady who called the Rec. Complex on Friday, Dec. 2- we found it. Call Joyce at 532-6980 to claim. MISSING FROM Union ballroom: Blue backpack containing textbook, class notes, calculator, and pic-colo. Reward. Call 532-3869.

15 Miscellaneous Merchandise

Bloom County

By Berke Breathed

Garfield

Peanuts

FOR SALE: Full-size four-poster bed with matching mirrored bureau, couch mini trampoline, rotating table fan, 6x12 carpet. Call after 4p.m. 539-2920 FOR SALE: GE two-head VCR model IVC6004X, variable speed playback, one touch recording, four-event two-week timer, remote. 539-3320 after

FOR SALE: GE four-head VCR model 9-7250, HQ, variable speed play, one touch recording, four-event two-week timer with remote. 539-3320 after

GOVERNMENT SURPLUSII New G.I. overshoes, combat boots and safety-toe boots, wool (blankets, gloves, socks and mittens). Field jackets, overcoats, carnouflage clothing. Also Carharit work-wear. Monday- Saturday 9a.m.- 5p.m. Open Sundays till Christmas noon-4p.m. St. Marys Surplus Sales, St. Marys, KS. 1-437-2734.

HIDE-A-BED COUCH: $100 or best offer. 776-9582,

KITCHENAID DISHWASHER, ten years old; works, but may require some repair. $40. Call 537-0713, days. MUST SELL: Two roundtrip plane tickets K.C.- Houston. Dec. 18-28. Negotiable. 539-9540. Early morning, after 5:30p.m.

POPCORN, FIFTY pound bags of Grade A white popcom, for $15 a bag. 537-6886.

SKIS-FISCHER. Fire 160s, Look bindings. $60 or best offer. 539-0597 nights, Korey.

CHEESE GIFT BOXES

Available now at Dairy Sales Counter CALL HALL 144 ORDER WHILE SUPPLIES LAST!!

MUST SELL: Roundtrip ticket, K.C. to Philadelphia Or St. Louis, Dec. 14/ Jan. 7. Half price. Kim, 776-8948.

BALLOON BOUTIQUE Holiday Stocking Stuffers!

California Raisin Figures! come see our wide selection 539-1610 401 N. 3rd.

TYPEWRITER- RENTALS- Sales- Repairs. Good selection of used IBMs and Smith Coronas. Ad nced Business Systems 713 N. 12th (Aggleville)

WOMEN'S TENNIS racquet. Like new, "Head," over-sized bow, 4¼ " handle. Reasonable. 539-3055.

16 Motorcycles/Bicycles for Sale

MOUNTAIN BIKE- Greatland- 18-speed, all terrain, must sell, like new- $150 or best offer. 537-1654. TWO BICYCLES Murray 10-speed. One for male other for female. Call 537-2269 until Sunday.

17 Musical Instruments

GUITARS AND Amp: 1987 Kramer Striker, two pickups and Floyd Rose tremelo. $300 new, $200 or best offer. Ibanez Les Paul copy. Dual pickups. Excellent condition, $200. Old Fender Twin Reverb 100-wett amplifier. Rough condition, but sounds great. $75 with cords and pedal. $50 alone.

WANTED: BASS player, drummer or drum machine programmer for studio work. 632-3829, evenings. WASHBURN G-JUNIOR guitar and Washburn SX-12 amplifier. Excellent condition. 532-5381.

18 Personals

ANDY-HAD a great time Sunday night. Hope you can go to K.C. Good Luck on finals! Love, Andi.

BEAUTIFUL LADY at 5p.m. mass on Saturday in beige sweater, gold earnings, brown hair and tortise shelled glasses. Would like to meet you. The gentleman one pew in front of you on the left in the tan' jacket.

BILLY K.- Happy six-month anniversaryl it's been wonderful stupid ---, I love you very very much and I always will. Moo. Your Sweetheart, Karin. DENNIS, DIDN'T your mama teach you not to eat spaghetti with your fingers? LMLJ.

HEATHER: GOOD Luck on your finals. I Love You! May

HM, WE'VE seen pooltables, drunk parties, misunder-standings, great times, falling at the Wheel, and Friday moming, but no matter what, it's been worth it. Happy Birthdayl Love, KB.

N LOVING memory of our friend Byron. Sadly missed, we would give anything to see you again. Your friends, Dennis, Ellen, Lynne, Rich, Donna and JENSEN, MYERS and Wilson, here's to: Cliff diving, rooffin, tunnel rats, chainsaws, broken windows, snowball fights, Weldernan's, define "worse trouble," autopilot to KC, drunk drivers, Festus, 48 Kamis, cops, strip poker, shirt switching, Dallas, tree burning, and Dark Horse Tavern. Congratulations, The Kami Klub.

LARRY, THANKS for an awasome weekend! Really looking forward to Kansas Cityl Good Luck on finals! Love, Nancy.

MIKE, KEITH and Kevin- Thanks for Thursday nights.

PIKE DOUG, A weekend in Chicago, what could be greater? A Christmas at Copper— We'll find out later! Happy Early 19th! Love ya, Cindy. PI PHIS Heather M. and Shauna K.- It's been a blast rooming with you. Good luck on finals! Top roommate GPA award- here we come! (hee hee)

RALPH AND Igor, We know you will miss us! Glad we could help in chemistry. Ha Hai Gomer and Goober.

ROB: TODAY'S the day you turn 21, so just kick back and have some funl if you get drunk, just call, and I'll bring along the Tylenol. Love, Peg.

BETA MATT (Francis), Thank you for the beautiful Christmas gift. I love you very much and I always will Love, EM.

19 Pets and Pet Supplies

CHINESE SHAR-PEI pupples ready for X-mas. Call (913)263-1126 evenings between 6- 10p.m. FOR SALE: 12" Oscar. Loves goldfish. Real fun. Make FREE CAT to good home, one- year- old black female, very affectionate. Litter box trained. 776-0635. REGISTERED GERMAN Shorthair Pointer, three-year old male. Good nose and holds a point. $175 or best offer. 776-0474 evenings or leave message.

20 Professional Services

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 S. Fourth St., Suite 25.

PROMPT ABORTION and contraceptive services Lawrence. (913)841-5716.

21 Rentals

Call (913)642-3366.

FOR RENT; One-bedroom studio apartment on Ander-son Ave. across atreet from Union. Six months lease. $220. 537-4261 evenings. PRIME AGGIEVILLE location for lease. 600 square teet.

STORE YOUR valuables over Christmas break, Azteo Storage, open seven days a week. Call 776-1111 for discount rate, or come by, 5004 Murray Road.

22 Resume/Typing Services

ABOUT ANYTHING typed, editing and transcription services, reasonable rates, by professional secret ary. 539-5998 after 5p.m.

COMPLETE DATA processing services, term papers theses and dissertations, resumes. Laser jet print ing. Call 537-4146.

PROCRASTINATORS AND those on the ball, for expert typing give us a call. 537-3166, message.

See us at our new location! Corner of Bluemont and N. Manhattan!

Graphics Plus

722 N. Manhattan • Aggieville • 539-6027

RESUMES DESIGNED for your profession. Types and laserprinted. Graphics Plus, corner of Bluer ont and N. Manhattan, Aggieville, 539-6027. TYPING SERVICE; Professional and experienced sec-retary. Very reasonable rates. Pick-up and delivery available. Call 776-9736.

23 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ART majors, split-level, two and one-half blocks from campus near Aggle. Call Jill at

FEMALE: BLOCK from campus, behind 'Ville. $185/month. Water and trash paid. Partially furn-ished. 537-1268. FEMALE; NICE house near campus, own room, washer

FEMALE, NON-SMOKING roommate wanted. Very close to campus. Call 537-76441 FEMALE- OWN room, two blocks from campus, one-and dryer. $145/ month plus utilities. 537-8825.

half rent and utilities. Call 776-2198. FEMALE, OWN room, nice large house. $130/ month plus part utilities. Call Arry 776-1790. FEMALE ROOMMATE to share house, close to campus, furnished, washer/ dryer, many more extras. $162.50/ month plus deposit. Call Renee, FEMALE ROOMMATE- Own room, low utilities, laundry in complex, close to campus, fun roomies. $145 a month. Call 539-6299.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share two-bedroomment near campus and park. 776-6338.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share two-bedroom apart-ment close to Aggleville. Washer/ dryer, $187.50 plus one-half utilities. Nice, must see. Available now or Jan. 1. 537-2016.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to share nice three bedroom house near campus. $150/ month, one-third utilities. 776-5294.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share two-bedroom apart-ment, Half rent and half utilities. Will come down on price. Very nicel Call 537-7269. FEMALE ROOMMATE to share nice three-bedi apartment close to campus. Call 539-2034.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share three-bedroom house near campus. Washer/ dryer furnished. $125. 539-1021. FULLY FURNISHED, cable TV, all utilities, microwa carpet all for $185. 539-4287. MALE (ONE or two): Two-bedroom, one block from Durland, $160. Laundry, driveway privileges. 776-4750.

11 Track

2 Destroy

4 Irving

Berlin hit (1925)

5 Natato-

rium

6 Actress

7 Jack's sub-buy feature

MacGraw

ordinate

8 "Monopoly"

precisely

3 Converge

MALE ROOMMATE wanted. Own room half block to campus and Aggieville. $160/ month, one-third campus and Aggieville utilities. Call 776-1270.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted: Own room, own full bathroom, near campus, start spring semester, 537-9374.

NEW APARTMENTS, one-half block campus, one-half block Aggleville. $160 month plus one-third utilities. 537-2614.

NON-SMOKING FEMALE to share furnished twobedroom. Cats allowed. Call Paula or Brenda. 776-5669.

NON-SMOKING FEMALE to share one-bedroom furn-ished apariment, $147.50 plus utilities a month. Call 776-5229 after 5p.m.

NON-SMOKING FEMALE: To share two-bedroom apartment, close to Aggieville. 537-1273. NON-SMOKING FEMALE to share one-bedroom spa-cious apartment next to Aheam, $100/ month

NON-SMOKING MATURE male student needed to share a very nice house close to campus, one half utilities. 537-8560.

NON-SMOKING UPPERCLASS male for spacious apartment on Poyntz. $115 plus one-third utilities. 776-6657.

ONE OR two, close to campus, own room in big house, fireplace, dishwasher, microwave, cable, hot tub, utilities paid, no lease. $180, 776-0203, leave

ONE/ TWO females wanted to share four-bedroom house. Only $180 monthly. Great living! Call

ONE/ TWO female roommates to share two-bedroom apartment one block from Aggleville, two blocks from campus. $185/ month, 537-1874. ONE- TWO non-smoking females to share farmhouse. Prefer Veterinary or Animal Science majors. Free stall and pasture for horse, cow or dog. Cable, firewood, beef and eggs furnished. P.O. Box 1211.

OPEN-MINDED, MATURE, responsible adult sought.
X-large private bedroom, TV, VCR, microwave, answering machine, etc. Water, trash, gas paid.
Washer/ dryer. $175/ month. Available Dec. 31.

24 Situation Wanted

FAMILY WANTS college girl to live in for next semester, summer and fall. Board and room in exchange for duties. Write Box 1, c/o Collegian, Kedzie Hall. KSU, Manhattan, KS 66506.

25 Sporting/Recreation Equipment

1987 SKI boots. Only worn twice. Woman's size 61/4 - 7. $90 or best offer. 776-5290. PRECISION SKIS, poles and Solomon boots. Used only four times. Great X-mas gift. 539-4904. 26 Sublease

BEDROOM AVAILABLE in large five-bedroom house, two bathrooms. Rent $100 a month plus one-lifth bills. 539-7696.

CLEAN, SPACIOUS, very nice two-bedroom apart ment, close to campus. Available for sublease. Call 539-9599. FEMALE TWO blocks from campus, clean, spacious, efficiency, furnished or not. $140 all utilities paid. Available Dec. 15 or later. 539-6499.

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM apartment. University Ter race Apartments. Need to lease for second serres-ter. Available Dec. 16. Call Arry or Kathy. 776-7580. MALE- OWN room in two-bedroom apartment. Block from campus. Washer/ dryer. $150, Call Gary

MALE, TWO-BEDROOM apartment own room, $125, one-third utilities. Available Dec. 15. 539-1993. NICE ONE-BEDROOM apartment, large enough for two, Furnished, water plus trash paid. $185/ month.

537-2979. NON-SMOKER NEEDED to sublease two-bedroom apartment, across campus. 539-2971, leave

WALK TO campusi Sublease till May. One-bedroom apartment across from Durland. Clean and conve-nienti Leave message, 537-8739.

28 Adoption

ADOPT: A Baby is our dream! We are blessed with wonderful, happy marriage and financial success Let us give your baby love, security and the best of everything. Legal. Expenses paid. Call Lynn and Martin collect: (212)362-6884.

29 Wedding Accessories

WINTER BRIDES- Save money by having your wedding veil custom designed and made by Pearlace Creations. Write to P.O. Box 1984, Manhattan for

30 Christmas Events

TIRED OF studying? Take a break! Experience the spirit of the season-Winterlest'88. Thursday, Dec. 8th at the K-State Union.

IMPORTANT NEWS Bulletin: Santa's elves have gone on strikel Help stop this tragedy. Donate a new or used toy until Dec. 8th in the big present at the Union Courtyard.

31 Stereo Equipment

YAMAHA TURNTABLE. Perfect condition. Must sell.

32 Scholarships

NEED SCHOLARSHIP money? Miss Manhattan-K-State Pageant finalists will share over $2,800 in cash scholarships. Entry deadline Jan. 25th. Infor-mation, call 537-2667 or 537-4263.

By Eugene Sheffer

Crossword

ACROSS 37 "Dele" can-56 Smell cellation (suspect Bombeck 38 Like most trouble) 5 Garden roads DOWN 1 Roof edge

40 Italian walk Vigor 12 "Clan of 41 Instant the Cave replay Bear" effect author 43 Ice cream

13 Bread parlor topping treat 14 Swearing- 47 Luau in phrase 15 Attitude 17 Diarist Tavern Anais 52 Part of 18 Involve

19 Gas gauge

reading

"O - of 9 Locate 54 Take in faith" 55 Scandi-10 Do copy navian

HOMES

53 Columnist

Barrett

Solution

KALII ROD
IIRAN ERR YAL
WATERBOY STAR
IBERIA ATTEST
TAT DEER
ILEM AMBLE
41 Whirl
42 Solitary
43 Rung
44 Noted
design 24 Reactor core parts 27 Traffic 28 "Ped -(road sign) 31 Single unit 33 Modern:

RID PAYS

ACCOST 45 "King and I" heroine 46 Coup d'

39 "Wheel of runner 16 Bakery buy 20 Word from Julia Child 22 Like old jeans 23 Sign of tomorrow 24 Actor Lowe 25 Song-Yoko 26 Condensation temperature 27 Gag 29 Maiden name preceder 30 Attained

> CRYPTOQUIP 12-8

EPNSA CZKTMDS PZEKXS RZD, TNSEDAMVVSA LHDUSL

CET MUSAENMA Yesterday's Cryptoquip: POWERFUL STAR OF OUR CAT FOOD COMMERCIALS HAD ESCAPE CLAWS IN HIS CONTRACT.

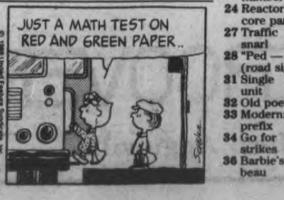

Today's Cryptoquip clue: D equals M

NO CHRISTMAS PLAY... NO

By Charles Schulz

Parking

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 summer include paving the lot north of Weber Hall and installing parking meters in the lot north of Holton Hall near Farrell Library, Lambert said. The parking lot west of West Stadium will be expanded to accommodate 800 to 900 spaces. The cost for the summer construction project is expected to be $2.7 million. Money for the project will come from bonds purchased by the University. Lambert said the proposal for the project has to be reviewed by a University parking committee, who will then submit the proposal to the Kansas Board of Regents.

In order to see which areas needed improvement, the lots were checked at 10 a.m. every Tuesday and Wednesday. These times was chosen pri- one at this stage."

marily because they are the busiest, said Lawrence Garvin, director of Facilities Planning.

In order to make room for additional parking, vegetation will be removed in areas where it is too tall and has become a traffic hazard. Islands will also be removed and parking spaces will be installed.

More parking also means more parking permits. One advantage to having paid visitor parking is that it will help decrease the cost of parking permits for students, faculty and staff, Miller said.

The final phase will allow the University to look at areas that need to be expanded, he said. A multi-level parking garage was once considered an option, but Miller said there is "no sufficient justification for building

IMPRESSIONS

Hair Care Center A Holiday Gift

FREE TAN

with haircut, perm, or highlighting ebony services available. 411 Poyntz-Lower Level

expires 12/23/88

In the first anniversary of the uprising

Muslim Community Association

Arab Student Association

CALL FOR A DEMONSTRATION TO SUPPORT THE PALESTINIAN UPRISING IN OCCUPIED PALESTINE

DATE: Thursday, December 8 Place: Union Courtyard

TIME: 11 a.m.

Summit

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

went to Governors Island in New York Harbor, where a smiling Reagan greeted him. The two men shook hands in the sunshine and posed for photographers.

"If we score any points we can do it only together," Gorbachev said. "If we try to score points alone, nothing good will happen."

A few moments later Bush emerged to join them, and when the president-elect offered his hand in welcome, Gorbachev grasped it energetically with both of his own.

Gorbachev, Reagan and Bush broke bread inside the brick and columned Admirals House while their wives were being entertained at a ladies-only luncheon in Manhattan sponsored by the wife of U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar.

"I am happy to be in the city you call the Big Apple," Mrs. Gorbachev

Across town at Governors Island, the lunch menu began with chicken consomme followed by filets of veal with smoked quail and lobster sausage and ended with a chocolate tart with raspberry sauce. The wine was from Reagan's home state of California.

New York police said dozens of demonstrators were arrested outside the U.N. after they crossed police lines to protest treatment of Jews in the Soviet Union.

It was the first time a Soviet leader had spoken to the United Nations in 28 years, and the contrast couldn't have been more striking.

In 1960, Nikita Krushchev pounded the podium with his shoe in one of the most memorable gestures of belligerence of the Cold War.

In contrast, Gorbachev spoke calmly and sprinkled references to peace and progress throughout his

Call in news, sports and photo tips to 532-6556

Lafene Student Health Center closing at 5 p.m. on Friday, December 23

Reopening at 8 a.m., Jan. 3

If you need abortion or birth control services, we can help.

Confidential pregnancy testing • Safe, affordable abortion services • Birth control • Tubal ligation • Gyn exams • Testing and treatment for omprehensive sexually transmitted diseases. Providing quality health care to women since 1974. Insurance, VISA & MasterCard accepted.

lealth for Women 4401 West 109th (1-435 & Roe) Overland Park, Kansas For information and appointments (913) 345-1400

Toll Free (except KS) 1-800-227-1918

CHEESE FRIES! Sandwich Shop

WITH THIS COUPON

Not valid with other offers.

Expires 12/31/88 Not valid on delivery.

Buy one entree and receive 2nd entree equal or lesser value

1/2 pricenot valid with any other promo exp. 12-14-88

GOOD LUCK WITH FINALS

Free Delivery with min. $7 order 11 a.m.-1 a.m.

NTERFEST Break from your books. Take a trip through a world of holiday traditions.

> Enjoy holiday entertainment in the Union Courtyard from 10 a.m.-3 p.m.

Watch your favorite holiday films-Free Shown all day in the Little Theatre in the Union

Have your picture taken with Santa

And don't forget to donate a new or used toy at the big present in the Courtyard.

JOIN THE CELEBRATION TODAY, DEC. 8

Sponsored by Mortar Board Senior Honorary with the assistance of K-State Union, Student Foundation, PR-E-NB Associates, Pat Bosco, Video Exchange, UPC Special Events and Wal-Mart

GREAT IDEAS FOR THE WOMEN ON YOUR LIST

DAUGHTER J. Christopher makes quality 100% cotton knits. This PJ set is just one example. Undercover has many styles of pajamas in many fabrics. Sets shown $46

Free Gift Wrap

WIFE

This swan wrap is 100% cotton & has a velcro closure at the top edge $26 You'll also find a gift that maybe isn't the kind you'd put under the tree. A gift to save for a private time together. Free Gift Wrap

MOTHER

This 100% cotton terrycloth robe will keep her warm and cozy. Available in knee & floor length. Robes of California makes the best colors. We have burgandy, forest green, navy and white.

Free Gift Wrap

GRANDMA

Satin on the outside and cotton on the inside, the comfort of cuddleskin gowns and pajamas is a luxury appreciated by all ages. Turning over in bed is easier for arthritis suffers or those who use flannel sheets. Machine wash $38-52

Free Gift Wrap

NIECE

J. Christopher does it again with this fun 100% cotton knit ABC's T-shirt $30

Satin nightshirts also available Free Gift Wrap

SISTER

Made in Kansas, Cuddleduds thermal underwear is nylon on the out-side & cotton on the inside. Much thinner than regular thermals and just as warm. A favorite with our customers. Set $22

Free Gift Wrap

LAYAWAY

Patricia's UDERCOVER Lingerie

1224 Moro Aggieville

M-T 10-8 p.m. F-S 10-5:30 p.m. Sun. 1-5 p.m.

Economical Fun

Manhattan people take advantage of low-priced entertainment. See Page 7.

Weather

Warmer today, becoming partly cloudy around noon, high near 40. Partly cloudy tonight, with the low around 20. Mostly sunny Saturday, high around 40.

'Cats Are Rolling

Kansas State Wistorical Soc Attn: Newspaper Sertin 120 West 10th Sertin

The Lady Cats beat Oral Roberts University 83-58. Nadira Hazim and Diana Miller tallied 22 and 20 points, respectively. See Page 11.

Friday

December 9, 1988

Kansas State University Manhattan, Kansas 66506 Volume 95, Number 75

Kansas State Collegian

Relief effort sends Gorbachev home

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK - Mikhail S. Gorbachev headed home Thursday from a tragedyshortened but triumphant visit, expressing hopes that it would "open up good prospects for our two peoples" and the world. The Soviet leader made the decision to cut his visit by a day in order to oversee relief efforts for victims of an earthquake that reportedly killed tens of thousands of people in the southern Soviet republic of Armenia. He also canceled planned visits to Cuba and Great Britain.

But during his 45-hour stay, Gorbachev dazzled world leaders with a dramatic arms reduction proposal and captured the hearts of New Yorkers, who gathered in droves along Manhattan streets to jubilantly cheer the Soviet leader.

The warm feelings were not lost on Gorbachev, who said the hospitality he experienced showed an "increasing friendliness and willingness to cooperate on the part of the Soviet people and the American people."

"We believe that this may have been one of the most important things that happened on this day of our stay in America," Gorbachev said before leaving Kennedy Airport. His plane departed at about 12:30 p.m. EST.

at an airport news conference, saying the quake, which registered 6.9 on the Richter scale, "had extremely grave consequences, devastation and grave loss of life."

Though he had only "one working day" in New York, Gorbachev said, "I and my delegation believe that this was a very important

The highlights of the visit were Gorba-

United Nations General Assembly that he planned a major reduction in Soviet troop strength over the next three years, and his superpower luncheon with President Reagan and President-elect George Bush.

Gorbachev, the first Soviet chief to visit New York in 28 years, said his speech and a nighttime reception at the U.N. gave him the opportunity to "set out our views ... on the Gorbachev explained his abrupt departure chev's dramatic announcement before the world today, and on the prospects of the world's development."

In his address, Gorbachev announced that within three years he would reduce the Soviet military machine by 500,000 troops and 10,000 tanks.

He also called for a Jan. 1 cease-fire in Afghanistan, proposed a 100-year moratorium on Third World debt and promised to prohibit political and religious persecution in

Gorbachev called his visit on Governors Island with Reagan and Bush "a good meeting, held in ... an open and trusting atmosphere."

He said the one word he would use to characterize the meeting was "continuity" and said all parties walked away "confident that our relations will expand and improve on the basis of cooperation, on the basis of mutual respect for each other's interests. ...

"The road ahead will be tough but we will go ahead, and we will - I believe - be building on what has been achieved if we act as we have been acting, and also maybe add something new," the Soviet leader said.

Gorbachev arrived on Tuesday afternoon and had been scheduled to stay until this morning.

All of his scheduled stops on Thursday, including the first Soviet trade show in the United States, Central Park and the Metropolitan Museum, were canceled when news of the severity of the earthquake reached Gorbachev late Wednesday.

Gorbachev's wife, Raisa, had been scheduled to visit children at an Upper East Side grade school and might have done some

Armenian quake kills 50,000

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW - Soviet authorities rushed military surgeons and tons of medical supplies Thursday into Armenia, rocked by an earthquake that officials said virtually destroyed several cities and killed tens of thousands of people.

Armenian journalists said a Politburo commission led by Premier Nikolai I. Ryzhkov received preliminary estimates that up to 50,000 people died in the Wednesday earthquake, which measured 6.9 on the Richter scale. Soviet officials reported thousands of people were killed but provided no death toll.

President Mikhail S. Gorbachev cut short his trip to the United States and flew home to lead a worldwide emergency rescue effort in southern republic, which has a population of 3.3 million.

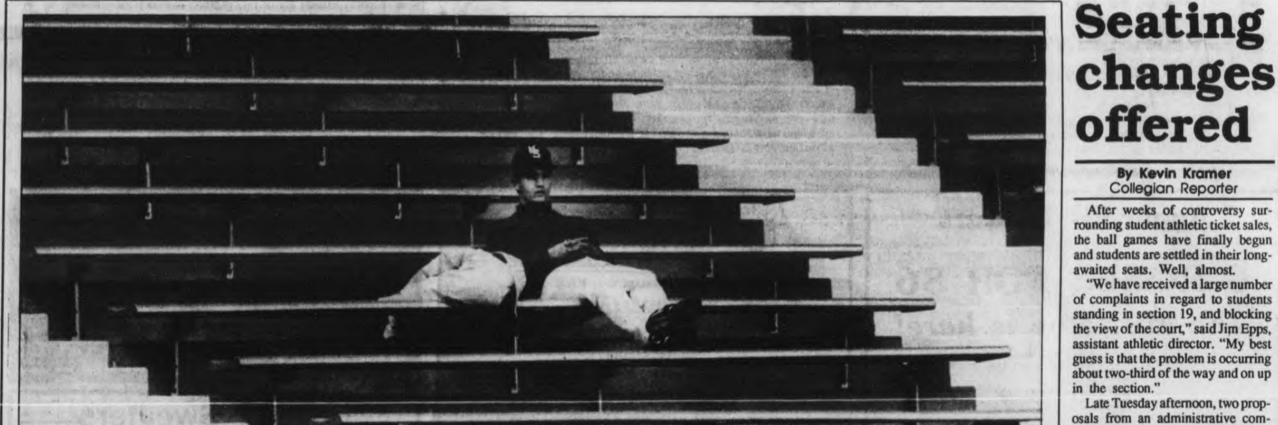

"Urgent measures are being taken to help all those affected by this terrible tragedy, and I have to be there in this effort," said Gorbachev, who planned to fly to Yerevan after arriving in Moscow. He canceled planned trips to Cuba and Britain.

President Reagan offered emergency humanitarian aid, Cuban President Fidel Castro pledged to send construction workers, and Britain dispatched London firefighters to join the rescue effort.

Soviet TV showed a clock on a building in the city of Leninakan, on the Turkish border near the epicenter of the earthquake, stopped at 11:41 — the instant disaster struck.

The earthquake destroyed two-thirds of ■ See QUAKE, Page 16

Down in front

Staff/Joe Freeman

Greg McNamara, freshman in nutritional exercise science, sits alone in the stands during the Lady Cats' game Thursday night in Bramlage Coliseum.

DUIs cost offenders money, service

By Kathy Winklhofer Collegian Reporter

"When the handcuffs were closed around my wrists and the policeman put me into his car I realized that I should never have gotten behind the wheel," said a DUI offender and K-State student. "I could not believe I was actually being arrested for drunk arrested each month for driving under the influence of alcohol, said Laurie Cammel, Manhattan probation officer.

"The highest number of arrests in one month was 57," she said. "I don't know how many offenders are K-State students. There is a good share of them (who are students)."

In June of 1988, a graph was made

In Manhattan, about 35 people are of the percent of arrested DUI offen- and perform anywhere from 25 to ders and their ages. Over one-third of all DUI offenders were 21 to 23 years

> Offenders who are convicted of DUI usually have to pay a fine of approximately $250, a $28 court fee and a $110 fee for a drug and alcohol evaluation test, Cammel said. Convicted offenders also have to attend drug and alcohol information school 100 hours of community service work, she said.

Offenders must have their evaluation test before their final court date so the judge can have the test results before sentencing, she said.

"At my court date the judge told me that I had to pay $419 in fines and complete 30 hours of community service work," the DUI offender said.

The same offender's license was revoked for 90 days. She had to write two-page paper on ways that will help the drunk driving problem and she had to attend drug and alcohol school. She also had to visit the Manhattan jail and watch the video tape of her sobriety test.

Every month she had to visit with her probation officer. The probation ■ See DUI, Page 16

sently seated in section 18." The faculty-staff sitting in section 18 — adjacent to the student reserved seating, section 19 - cannot see a large portion of the court due a K-State tradition of students standing during the entire game. The proposals offer a plan to mittee examining the problem of faculty-staff seating in section 18 of Bramlage Coliseum were released. "Because of circumstances that arose prior to the present athletic administration's arrival at K-State, certain difficulties have come up regarding the seating in Bramlage

Coliseum," said Steve Miller, K-State athletic director. "In an effort to address these concerns immediately, the athletic department is making two proposals to those patrons pre-accommodate as many people as possible, Miller said. The plan is to relocate fans to new seats in Bramlage. If relocation is unsatisfactory, the unused portions of the tickets can be refunded.

"It is an immediate response to be as accommodating as possible and to give us 'win-win' situation," said Pat Bosco, vice president of institutional advancement.

"I polled several members of the faculty-staff who are in section 18 and found several points of view," he said. "Some wanted to remain and remain standing, while others wanted to move.'

There was no student representation at the meeting, Epps said, although a meeting between the Faculty Senate and the student body is being planned. ■ See SEATS, Page 16

Manhattan trees receive special treatment

By Scot Dye Collegian Reporter

For the past 12 years Manhattan has taken special care of its trees and it can be called "Tree City, U.S.A."

In order for a community to qualify as a "Tree City, U.S.A." community, it first must meet four requirements, said Ron Fehr, assistant director of Manhattan Parks and Recreation Department.

The first requirement is the community must have an annual Arbor "(Arbor Day) is a tree-planting celebration," Fehr said. "Also you must have the mayor proclaim a day to be Arbor Day each year."

A second requirement is the community must spend at least $1 per capita on tree care in the community.

"We spend about $3.50 per capita, so we far and away exceed that," he

Fehr said the department spends a total of about $130,000 annually for tree management, staff and Another requirement is the community must have either a tree board or a professional forester or forestry department to supervise tree management.

"We have both of those," Fehr said. "We don't have a tree board, per se, but our parks and recreation advisory board serves as our tree board.

Finally, the city must regulate street right-of-ways and designates trees on the right-of-ways as public trees, Fehr said. "It puts the responsibility for planting and maintenance upon the city," he said.

In areas with sidewalks, public trees are the trees growing between the sidewalk and the curb. In areas without sidewalks, public trees are those within five to 15 feet of the curb, depending on the right-of-way of the street, Fehr said.

In order to make tree management more efficient, Fehr said the department keeps a computer inventory record of all public trees in the city.

"Each tree is actually located by address on each lot of the city," he ■ See TREES, Page 16

BRIEFLY AROUND WORLD

U.S. plane shot down

RABAT, Morocco - Two DC-7s of the relief agency U.S. AID came under missile attack Thursday near the Morocco-Mauritania border, and one was shot down, according to the spokesman for the U.S. Embassy in Rabat.

The attack occurred near a border area where nationalist rebels have waged a guerrilla war against the Moroccan government to establish an independent Western Sahara.

The area where the plane went down is 650 miles southwest of Rabat, the Moroccan capital.

The planes left Dakar, Senegal, earlier Thursday and were bound for the Moroccan city of Agadir when they came under fire from ground-to-air missiles, the embassy spokesman said.

Moroccan government officials said the two planes were fired upon while they were flying at 10,000 feet to 11,000 feet in an international navigation corridor over Bir Moghrein, Mauritania. The embassy spokesman said the second airplane arrived in Sidi Ifni, about 240 miles south of Agadir. The planes were being used by the U.S. Agency for International Development to fight the locust plague in North Africa. The source of the attack was not immediately known and an investigation was launched, the spokesman said.

BRIEFLY ACROSS NATION

Reagans to have checkups

WASHINGTON - President Reagan and his wife, Nancy, will go to Bethesda Naval Hospital on Friday for their annual post-cancer surgery checkups, the White House announced

"Both the president and the first lady have remained completely asymtomatic, with no clinical suggestion of recurrence," presidential physician John Hutton said in a statement issued by the White House.

The president, who underwent surgery for colon cancer in July 1985, will undergo a colonoscopy, a chest X-ray, a CAT scan, a cardiac stress test and a pulmonary function evaluation,

Nancy Reagan, who had her left breast removed in October 1987, will have her second mammogram since undergoing the modified radical mastectomy, Hutton said.

Following the exams, the couple will go to Camp David, Md., for the weekend, the statement said.

Diarrhea kills many youths

CHICAGO - A health problem that many Americans may regard as only distressing — diarrhea — is fatal to 500 U.S. children each year, most of whom could probably be saved, researchers said Thursday.

Diarrhea is a known major cause of childhood deaths in developing countries, but such deaths are generally thought to be relatively uncommon in more economically advanced nations, the researchers said. But new research suggests that diarrhea accounts for 10 per-cent of all preventable deaths in U.S. youngsters ages 1 month to 4 years old, said Dr. Mei-Shang Ho of the national Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta.

"The key here is early treatment," Ho said in a telephone interview Thursday.

Diarrhea is life-threatening when it causes severe loss of fluids and electrolytes - body salts such as sodium and potassium — that are necessary for normal functioning of nerves and muscles, including the heart, Ho said.

BRIEFLY THE REGION

Family suing contractors

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - The widow and children of a firefighter killed in a Nov. 29 explosion at a highway construction site are suing construction contractors, an explosives maker and a security company, contending that they failed to protect

The suit, filed Tuesday by the family of Capt. James H. Kilventon Jr., contends that the fire department was not warned of the explosives stored at the construction site.

The suit, which asks at least $15,000 in damages, also maintains that Kilventon died because the explosives were not properly stored or guarded.

Kilventon, a 28-year veteran of the department, was one of six firefighters killed while fighting an arson fire at a road construction site near U.S. 71 and 87th Street. The firefighters were killed when a trailer containing an ammonium nitrate mixture exploded.

Police have arrested no suspects in the arson,

The family filed the lawsuit against Five Star Mining Co., Brown Brothers Excavating Inc., Mountain Plains Construction Co., Maynes Explosives Co. and Robert A. Riggs, president of Ameriguard Inc.

Riley troops sent to Panama

FORT LEONARD WOOD, Mo. - Military police from Missouri and Kansas are part of a contingent of 500 soldiers being sent to relieve units in Panama, Army officials said Thursday.

Charlotte Wiggins, a Fort Leonard Wood spokeswoman, said the fort's 463rd Company will leave for Panama in the next few days to help replace military police units from Fort Hood, Texas, Fort Carson, Colo., and Fort Ord, Calif. The returning units have been in Panama since August.

Mark Meseke, a Fort Riley spokesman, said police from the 716th Battalion and the 977th Company went to Panama this week.

A unit from Fort Bliss, Texas, was also sent to Panama. The number of soldiers sent from each post was not revealed, but Wiggins and Meseke said security at their posts would not be affected.

Wiggins said the three units will serve in Panama in addition to the security forces permanently stationed there. She said the current political and economic situation in Panama called for enhanced security.

Stabbing kills Oakley woman

OAKLEY - A California man was in custody Thursday in the death of a night clerk at the Country Club Motel.

The nude body of Alice Pepperl, 59, was found Wednesday morning in her room off the motel lobby. Logan County Attorney Harry Phelps Jr. said she appeared to have been strangled and then stabbed.

Phelps would not identify the man held in the city jail, described as 31 and from San Jose, Calif. He said he would be charged with first- or second-degree murder, aggravated assault and possibly with rape. No charges had been filed by midafternoon Thursday.

A housekeeper found the body about 10:15 a.m., and officials said preliminary reports indicated Pepperl had died sometime during the early morning hours.

Phelps said the stab wound came after death. Investigators found a knife with an 8-inch blade at the scene.

The only sign of a struggle, Phelps said, was "a curtain jerked down." He said there were no marks on the body, which was sent to Wichita for autopsy, other than the knife wound.

Phelps said the cash drawer at the front desk was locked when authorities arrived.

BULLETIN FOR CAMPUS

Campus organizations are encouraged to use Campus Bulletin. All announcements must be submitted by 11 a.m. one day prior to publication. Announcements for Monday's bulletin must be in by 11 a.m. Friday. However, publication is determined by the amount of space available on a first-come, first-serve basis and is not ensured. Information forms are available on the shelf outside Kedzie 118. Forms should be left in the box on the shelf after being filled out. All submissions must be signed and are subject to verification. Questions should be directed to the Collegian's campus editors in Kedzie 116.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

KAPPA DELTA PI members can pick up honor cords and sweatshirts in Dr. French' office, Bluemont 206.

CAREER PLANNING AND PLACE-MENT offers services to students including career counseling, letter and resume preparation guidance, a career library, job opportunity bulletins, credential services and more. The center is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

GRADUATING SENIORS should report future plans to the Career Planning and Placement Center in Holtz Hall. Seniors who are not registered can pick up forms before leaving

THE DEPARTMENT OF LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTURE is sponsoring a 30-minute slide presentation, "A Proposal for a Kansas Prairie Preserve," at 3:30 p.m. in the Big 8

CENTER FOR AGING, AMERICAN ETHNIC STUDIES will meet at 12:30 p.m.

INTERVARSITY CHRISTIAN FEL-LOWSHIP will meet at 6 p.m. at the E.C.M. building on Denison Avenue.

GERMAN CLUB will meet at 8 p.m. at 1004 Moro St.

SATURDAY

INTERNATIONAL CLUB will meet at 2

SUNDAY

DELT DARLINGS will meet at 8 p.m. at the Delt house.

KSU ASTRONOMY CLUB will meet at 7 p.m. in Cardwell 119.

K-STATE POLICE

A burglary theft report was were filed on vehicles bearing filed with the K-State Police on items expired license plates. taken from a vehicle in parking lot B3. The value of the stolen items was estimated at $369.

A hit and run non-injury accident was reported in parking lot D1W. The value of the damage was estimated at more than $500.

Toyota truck with an altered parking permit. The truck was parked in lot C12. The fine was later paid and the wheel lock removed.

■ The keys for a car parked in lot A29 were reported lost by the owner.

Two misdemeanor reports

Thursday

A person or persons unknown entered an unlocked dormitory room and removed several items. The loss was estimated at $615.

A brown four-door Oldsmo-A wheel lock was placed on a bile was towed from reserve stall 384 in parking lot A23. The owner was

> A wheel lock was placed on a light blue Mazda four door with an altered student parking permit. The vehicle was parked in lot A12.

BRIEFLY THE CAMPUS

Metallica to play at Bramlage

Tickets to see Metallica at Bramlage Coliseum go on sale Saturday. The speed metal group will appear Jan. 29, with Queensyche opening the show at 8 p.m.

Tickets will be available at Bramlage Coliseum, Mother Earth in Topeka, Middle Earth in Junction City and the Information Tours and Travel office at Fort Riley, according to Charlie Thomas, director of Bramlage Coliseum. Tickets are $16.

Group members are Kirk Hammett, Lars Ulrich, James Hetfield and Jason Newsted. Metallica's latest alubum is "And Justice For All."

Jason Newsted recently joined the group, replacing Cliff Burton, who was killed in an accident last year, according to Brian Root, freshman in engineering and employee at Musicland.

Book Your Study Room

Today!

539-7531

17th & Anderson Ave. . Manhattan, Kansas 66502

Holiday Sweaters

Reg. 9400

Turtlenecks

Harpers

Price 3990

Harpers

"They don't get much air play, but sales are good without radio play," he said.

Aggieville Flowers

6 ROSES FOR $6

The Mistletoe is here! $1.50 a bag

cash n' carry

while supplies last

537-9549 • 10-5 M-S • 12th & Laramie

Don't let Old Man Winter

Service your car before you head home for Christmas.

put a chill in your car . .

Pitchers come Party with the Charlie's Gang

We'll be open New Year's Eve 776-4111 1800 Claflin

these great holiday gift ideas.

Oil change

松本 大声 北海村 海海市 海山 海州海州 水海市 海州市

Located 2 miles east of Manhattan on Hwy. 24 776-4004 Toll Free 1-800-257-4004

537-4350

Take

home

Students' classwork helps homeless, hungry

By Stacy Sweazy Collegian Reporter

A class requirement could change the lives of 27 hotel and restaurant management students enrolled in Food Service Systems.

The Manhattan Emergency Shelter Inc. is a source of learning where students volunteer their time and gain valuable experience by preparing evening meals for shelter guests every Tuesday and Thursday during the semester.

Students prepare a meal that is appetizing, nutritious and low cost from food provided by the Flint Hills Bread Basket, Manhattan Food Pantries and USDA commodities.

"After two trips to Mexico, and holding a dying Third World child in my arms, I became aware of the issue of global hunger, and my life was forever changed," said Sharon Hearne, instructor in hotel and restaurant institutional management and tise with food systems for the homeless and hungry in Manhattan," Hearne said.

"I wanted students in the dietetics and management classes to get out of the ivory tower and use their exper- community."

"I started at 8:30 a.m.," said Berry Barham Jr., senior in hotel and restaurant management, of his experience of planning a meal for the homeless. "I took a peek in the fridge to see what we had available to cook for the evening."

"(The students) may walk in one day and have 20 pounds of eggplant," Hearne said. "They need to utilize the products available.

Under the direction of Atina Hanna, executive director of the Flint Hills Bread Basket, students gain an appreciation of a commodity food bank, Hearne said.

"We try to give students a sampling of a day's routine, from book work to handling the food, so they are never bored," Hanna said.

"It's a modeling effect," she said. "When (students) leave K-State, whether their degree is in dietetics or hotel and restaurant management, they will remember people who need help and the needy of the While working at the Bread Basket, a student came in contact with an elderly person who had apples that needed to be picked. The student helped the elderly person on her own time, and then she distributed the apples to the hungry, Hear-

They actually are involved in the distribution process and understand the connection of getting food from agencies to the needy," she said.
"They are becoming a literal part of the volunteer staff of the community."

"The community is very supportive of the shelter," said Kathy Rankin, executive director of the emergency shelter. "A perfect example is the hotel and restaurant management students."

Rankin said it was to the credit of volunteer programs, like the Flint Hills Bread Basket, that less than $500 was spent on food to feed the 560 people housed in the shelter last Five church pantries in Manhattan supply food to the shelter and the needy. The students sort donated food from the churches into threeday emergency food baskets for individuals and families whose names are referred by social agencies.

"We are really trying to get the students involved with the problem," said Hearne. "They are actually seeing the problem of local homelessness."

"At the shelter and pantries, we interact with the guests and learn about situations that result in homelessness," said Melissa Bunjes, junior in hotel and restaurant management.

"I thought Manhattan had a few people who are needy, but the magnitude is much greater than I thought," Barham said.

"When we come over, we can see what they are lacking," said Michelle Carr, senior in hotel and restaurant management. "It makes you realize how badly people need (the shelter) when they have no other place to go."

Students also learn how the restaurateur gets involved, Hearne

The students see all the opportunities available for restaurant owners to help the community's needy, she said.

"Trying to keep an open mind in the restaurant world to utilize wastes for the needy is part of what we learn that will help us professionally," Bunjes said.

Most students have said they want to help the needy after they graduate as registered dietitians and managers. Hearne said.

"I feel it's a moral responsibility for our industry to be involved in giving unused foods that would otherwise spoil to the homeless and hungry," Bunjes said.

Students keep a journal of their thoughts and feelings when they are working with the Bread Basket. Many find the amount of need in their community is shocking, Hearne said.

One student's journal entry said, "I never knew poverty hit so close to home. I thought New York and other large cities were the only ones with homeless people. That shows how in tune I am with my community. The figures on the homeless are astonishing. A key point in my mind was that it does not take much to create this situation. It really made me wonder where I would be if I lost everything."

Another student wrote, "Hunger and homelessness are serious problems. And we as future managers cannot close our eyes to this dilemma. We will be dealing with food and sleeping rooms every single day yet hundreds of thousands of people are hungry and homeless at the same time. If our hotels are running at 85 percent occupancy ... with 50 servings of roast beef dinners left over, what can we do with this abundance? This is an example of why I think hunger and homelessness are good topics to discuss in class."

According to Carmen McLilly, life skills coordinator for the Manhattan Emergency Shelter, the shelter guests learn how to be cooperative because they help the students in meal preparation.

"The students and guests learn teamwork and that is something they will have to have in the real world, McLilly said.

U.S. helicopter crash kills 5 in Honduras

By The Associated Press

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras - A U.S. military helicopter participating in maneuvers crashed in northern Honduras on Thursday, killing all five Americans aboard, a U.S. Embassy official said.

Embassy spokesman Charles Barclay said the CH-47 Chinook helicopter crashed at 1 p.m. (2 p.m. EST) near La Ceiba, 235 miles north of Tegucigalpa.

Barclay refused to identify the victims until their relatives are notified.

He said the helicopter was based at Palmerola Air Base, 48 miles north of Tegucigalpa, the capital. Officials at Palmerola refused comment.

Barclay said U.S. military authorities were at the site investigating the cause of the crash.

"Five people were on board the helicopter," Barclay said. "Up to now only four bodies have been recovered from the craft, which was practically destroyed."

Honduran and U.S. military personnel formed a search team "to look for the other body" in the area, he

FRIDAY, 9th:

Christmas Party

Barclay said the Chinoo, which took off earlier Thursday from Palmerola, was flying a supply mission and taking part in joint Honduran-U.S. military exercises.

The United States has held a series of military maneuvers in Honduras since 1982.

About 1,500 American troops are in Honduras, including 1,100 soldiers permanently stationed at Palmerola. Others rotate during the year for training exercises, military construction work and other projects.

The United States increased its presence in Honduras when U.S.-backed rebels known as Contras began fighting in 1981 to overthrow the leftist government of neighboring Nicaragua from bases in Honduran territory.

Horse department head resigns

By Mark Rader Collegian Reporter

The head of K-State's horse department since 1980 turned in his resignation Wednesday and plans to leave the University in January.

Dennis Sigler, assistant professor in animal sciences and industry, accepted a position with ACCO feeds, a division of Cargill, in Waco, Texas, as horse nutritionist.

Sigler will do the same type of work that he does on campus, he said, which is similar to extension work and involves education and technical service for the livestock

Sigler said his reasons for leaving K-State were the challange of a new opportunity and a considerable salary increase.

Although the location in Waco is desirable and closer to his wife's family, that alone would not have been enough to cause him to leave the Manhattan area, he said.

Jack Riley, department head in animal sciences and industry, said Sigler had alerted him that a commercial feed company had approached Sigler with an attractive offer before any decisions were

"(Sigler) was doing a very good job. He is a team player and an asset to the department," Riley said. '(His leaving) creates a void that will be hard to fill."

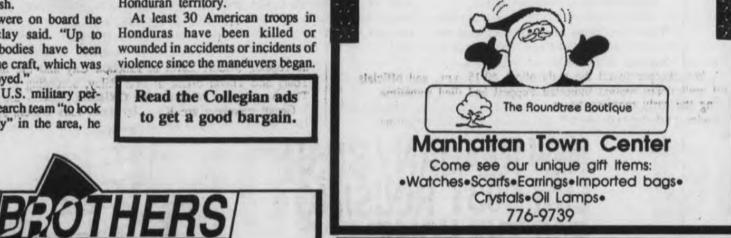

Sigler said he was happy with his accomplishments with the horse program at K-State and believed the remaining faculty will keep the program improving after he leaves.

"When I came here the horse program was really small," Sigler said. "We had two classes and a small herd of research and teaching animals."

Since then, Sigler has guided the program to an addition of four new classes and a larger herd of horses. Sigler said he has taught 1,110 students in classes during his nine years here.

Riley said the horse program has lost two tenured faculty members to industry since the summer, so he is anxious to start interviewing.

"A very concentrated effort is being made to fill both positions as soon as possible," Riley said.

776-9739

LARGE PIZZA ONLY 599 with one topping

with this coupon offer good through Oct 51

"premium pizza at a THE NEW cardboard pizza price" 523 South 17th 537-1484

TO: Kelly Simcox, a proud papa.

Congratulations in advance from:

The Gang at the 'Claim

一片片片

One number brings out the best at KSU

Now, at KSU, there's just one number to remember for fast delivery of pizza that's every bit as good as one you'd go out for.

Godfather's Pizza!" Now you don't have to settle for anything less, anymore.

> 1118 Laramie Aggieville

In Agglevill

December

Events

Editorial

Kansas State Collegian Opinions ■ Friday, December 9, 1988

New raptor facility needed for Kansas

Wild birds of prey once had a place to go when they were injured. A small farm north of Salina housed the Prairie Raptor Project.

It was a place where many Kansans took wild raptors injured from automobile accidents, gunshot wounds and disease. Even young birds whose only chance to live was to receive care were helped by Maure Weigel at the Prairie Raptor Project.

But this is no more.

However, injured birds of prey may yet have a chance for rehabilitation in the Kansas Flint Hills. Employees of the Wildlife Clinic in the Veterinary Medicine Center and the Northern Flint Hills Audubon Society are working together to establish a rehabilitation center near Manhattan.

We can only hope they will be successful as they take on this admirable endeavor. These groups will have quite a reputation to live up to - the Prairie Raptor Project is known far and wide for its convalescence of birds of prey.

It is also important that this center be established for the continuance of many programs vital to Kansas and K-State. Programs such as the reintroduction of golden eagles into westem Kansas are very important to this state. Other programs such as the summer internship at the Prairie Raptor Project would be greatly missed. This internship provided K-State students with the opportunity to work with wild animals firsthand. This is one of many programs that should be continued.

Kansas can only hope that it has more Maure Weigels to care for its injured birds of prey. We need a few more like

University students deserve a dead day

Today is the beginning of the end. It's the last day of classes, and final exams begin Monday. This semester, there was no dead day and students were not given an adequate amount of time to recover from classes and prepare for finals week.

It's bad enough that finals start on a Monday, but dropping dead day deprives students of valuable time they need to prepare for final exams.

Many instructors gave their last unit tests and scheduled projects to be due on Thursday and Friday. This leaves only the weekend for students to prepare for tests or finish projects. Two days is not long enough for full-time students to prepare for finals.

It takes preparation and organization to study for finals, but administrators seem to have overlooked that. Students need time to relax and get all of their semester material organized to study for final exams.

If there is not going to be a dead day, classes should end at least four days before finals start. This semester's classes could have ended on Wednesday, giving students two weekdays and the weekend to study.

Ending classes today also forces instructors to hurry and grade final assignments and tests for seniors who are supposed to graduate Sunday. Students who have worked hard all semester shouldn't have to hand in assignments to a professor who is only going to have a few minutes to grade them in order to meet the deadline. The students pay the price of a professor's haste when report cards are mailed.

Both students and instructors need more time between the end of the semester and finals week. Students need time to study, and professors need time to grade the work of each of their students. Dead day needs to be reinstated or classes should end earlier.

Child abuse decision sets poor precedent

Prosecutors in Topeka Thursday asked the Kansas Supreme Court to reverse a ruling preventing abusive parents from being prosecuted for felony murder if they kill their child.

It is essential for the Supreme Court to follow the advice of the prosecutors and reverse this decision. Being a member of a family is never an excuse for committing a violent crime, neither does it make that person any less a criminal.

In a terrible situation such as child abuse, the abuser as well as the victim will require extensive counseling. But a counseling program is never the same as punishment. Neither is it an equitable substitution.

If a man is shot and killed during an armed robbery in Kansas, the suspect may be prosecuted for felony murder. To be consistent with the law, a parent who beats a child to death should be prosecuted in the same manner.

When a crime is committed, there is a victim and a criminal and the criminal must be punished. When violence occurs within a family, the pretenses may be different, but the crime of violence is undoubtedley the same.

Graduates receive advice

h yes, December is here. You can feel the hustle in the crowded shopping malls, or in the parking lots that could be declared war zones.

The tension of last-minute projects and cramming is in the air. Even the noise level in the Union seems to have gone down (except for the occasional psychotic screams coming from students who are trying to sell back their $95 books, only to find out they're now worth $2.50). And has anyone seen one of those crazy architecture students in the last few weeks? I thought I spotted one yesterday stocking up on caffeine, but to my disappointment it was just a turf management

Oh yeah, I almost forgot some of you are graduating. Someone once told me that graduating in December lacked the excitement of a spring graduation. She said it's like "sneaking away" from the university without anyone realizing you're leaving. So in order to break away from that image, this column is dedicated to those December graduates.

Last June, I was flipping through my trusty Kansas City Times and came upon a great graduation column written by Richard Berendzen, president of the American University in Washington, D.C. In the article, he offered 10 suggestions to college graduates.

Originally, I clipped the article to use in a commencement speech (for when I accept my honorary doctorate at Harvard in 10 years - ha!). But K-State is more important than some stuffy Ivy League school, so here they are, Berendzen's 10 suggestions (not commandments) for college graduates.

Suggestion one: Keep your roots.

Contrary to popular belief, college is the "REAL" world. In fact, most of us experience a great deal of learning and living in the short four (or five) years we're here. Take note of those professors who offered their challenges and forced you to prove you've got the strength to make it through the rough times. K-State's roots have become a part of our Suggestion two: Find the world. Although college has given us many new experiences, many of us fall into a rut and forget to keep making new experiences for ourselves. Don't settle for a ho-hum life, keep searching for those unknown frontiers. Suggestion three: Learn to save.

True, we do live in a throwaway society,

Commentary

KARLA REDELSHEIMER

Collegian Columnist

and it's catching up with us. In the United States we save only 2 percent to 3 percent of our resources. In Japan, they save 10 percent to 15 percent. Recycle your resources and learn to save a few bucks each week from those first measly paychecks. But there is also a resource far more important to save than just money - thoughts. Save your memories and recollections. Take time to absorb the college spirit and your roommate's wacked sense of humor.

Suggestion four: Learn to give.

Don't let capitalism get the worst of you. Yes, it would be nice to be millionaires before we're 30. Even if we're not, most of us have more to give back to the world then we're aware of.

uggestion five: Learn to appreciate your family even more than you already do.

This one deserves the original commentary) "Oh, you know them, like them, love them, even tolerate them. But there is more than that ... Before dawn tomorrow, have the grace to pause and look squarely in the eye of one of these family members or call the appropriate person and say what you know you ought to say: 'Thank you. Thank you for making it possible for me to be here and improve my life."

Suggestion six: Learn better to appreciate

Yeah, it's sort of hard to "perceive the inner value" of the guy sitting next to you with the shredded-up Levi's and Garfield boxer shorts under his graduation gown. But hey, in a few years you and he might be running the country together - it might pay to get to know him now. People perform better when they don't want to let their colleagues

Suggestion seven: Appreciate the beauty,

the dignity, the uniqueness of a university.

Someone once told me that a university is like a city within a city. He was right. When I first came to K-State I remember thinking that each building on campus looked like a small high school. It was sort of neat to change high schools every hour.

The point is that there is no other atmosphere quite like it. After spending a few years here, everyone has a favorite spot on campus - whether it's to study, have a quiet talk with someone, or just to get lost for a while and do some thinking. We're not just here for education and training, but for exploring - not so much to answer questions, but to raise questions.

Suggestion eight: Within the next week visit a library.

hen you go, don't go to finish a paper or to do an assignment. Go to get the full impact of what you can do with your knowledge. Berendzen suggests picking up a book at random and taking a few minutes to appreciate the tens of thousands of words that someone like yourself took pains to arrange until they sounded just "right." Berendzen's fair question: "At the end of your days, using the education you have obtained here, how will the world be better because you were educated and because you lived?"

Suggestion nine: Learn the power of one of the most important words of life—discipline.

Berendzen quoted the philosopher Alfred North Whitehead — I'm going to follow his lead. "Education is discipline for the adventure of life." So to truly get the most out of life, you should have both - education and discipline.

Suggestion 10: Learn the power of MBO -Management by Objectives.

In other words, make a long-term plan for your life. Take a small piece of paper and privately write your goals and dreams - where you plan to go and be in the next five years. Every now and then, look at your goals just to see how you're coming along, and if it's necessary, make new goals that are a challenge.

My own suggestion is to keep a sense of humor. Don't take yourself so seriously that you can't see the humor or even laugh at yourself every now and then. Finally, let's all be careful out there. Graduates, I salute you!

Letters

Need a traffic light

Why did the chicken cross the road? Obviously, to get to the other side. But sometimes that is not such an easy task. There is always a risk when crossing the street but there is potential danger at the intersection of College Heights and Denison.

The student-to-car ratio at that corner is high.

Denison is one of the busiest streets in Manhattan, next to Anderson, Poyntz and Seth Childs.

There are several reasons why this intersection is dangerous.

One is that the speed limit is too fast. It is 30 mph and should be 20 mph.

Second, there are parked cars along the east side of Denison that obstruct the view. Finally, there are a lot of students, both leaving and coming to campus, who live on College Heights. This, combined with all of the traffic, makes this intersection very dangerous.

What is my solution? Put a four-way stop at that corner. It would be the most inexpensive and easiest way to make this intersection

It will slow traffic down but, in turn, it may save a life or someone a great deal of injury. I just hope it doesn't take a death before you realize just how dangerous it is.

So, if you want to be like the chicken and get across the road, join me in the push for a four-way stop at College Heights and Denison avenues. This would be a good topic for our new president and Student Senate to

> Jason Rausch junior in marketing

Censorship not idea

Editor,

I would like to address David Filippi's letter from Dec. 5.

It seems to me that he contradicts himself in supporting First Amendment rights. The case he mentions has nothing to do with the Second Amendment supporters' outrage at the cartoon concerning the NRA.

The Second Amendment supporters never mentioned censorship. Filippi implies that we did - we did not. I believe we have the right to disagree as much as anyone else. And if you disagree, just say so - don't start shouting censorship.

In closing, I would like to clarify my opinion of the NRA. They do not advocate the unlawful use of firearms nor supply firearms.

Jerry L. McCain junior in business education

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

ARREST MINISTER WINDOWS		Chad L. Sanbor
COMODIAL SARE OF THE		Lett Ochen
THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN		10 to
SHARES HAVES		Marie Marie
ADVERTISING MANAGER		Catherine Dou
EDITORIAL BOARD	Nancy Chartrand, Christine Doll, Audra Dietz, Susan I Equiper, Scott Miller, Michael Nichols, Kerla Rede	Jim Dietz, Catherine Dou
	SUBALI L'EUNYBI, GOULL MINER, MICHIER MICHOIS, REINE MICHIER	MITCHINET STIME ST. STRICT
	Jeff Schrag, Erwin Seba, Paula Selby, Robert R. Short, Mark	Description of the Property of the Party of

Interview class prepares students

By Susan Johannsen Collegian Reporter

One of the more frightening things for any college student upon graduating is taking the step toward one's first job interview. Many students are unsure of what to expect and how to be prepared for that important interview.

The department of speech has designed a course called "Employment Interview," which is "designed to present students with the techniques of interviewing," said Peggy Null, instructor of speech for the course.

The course was started about eight years ago by Martha Atkins, a faculty member of the speech department. Several years later, Atkins left the University and asked Null to teach the course.

Null said the course has been a popular one with K-State students.

"I never advertised the course, and the students love it. They are the ones who have kept it alive," she said.

ism and mass communications, said the course was beneficial in preparing the student for the actual

"The course helps students gain experience and helps them to learn to ask follow-up questions of the interviewer," he said.

The course covers a wide range of topics including resume writing, business etiquette and how to listen

During the semester, students are also required to participate in a mock job interview. Null said students treat this as if it were a real interview by dressing in job interview attire. One student plays the role of the employer while the other plays the prospective employee, Null said.

"The mock interview also helps you realize why interviewers ask the questions that they do," Lorson

Esther Olson, senior in marketing, said she would recommend the class to other students, because the

John Lorson, senior in journal- mock interview allows them to see the interview from both sides.

The goal of the course is to present the techniques of interviewing so the "student will be prepared and have control over the situation," Null said.

Interviewers have realized students are becoming more wise and know how to act when they are at a job interview, because similar courses are being taught at other colleges and universities across the country, Null said. The University of Kansas has a similar course.

The person being interviewed should be aware of several factors, especially for the first interview with a company. The first interview is called the "looking criteria," Null

"Basically the company is trying to see if you fit the corporate image. The interview at this stage is based on open-ended questions such as telling about yourself, where you plan to be in five years, and any goals you have in your career. Students who can solve problems are the ones businesses look at closely," Null said.

If the prospective employee is lucky enough to be called back for a second interview, then he or she will get into what Null calls the 'on-site interview." At this stage, the interviewee needs to be honest and ask: "Is this something that I really want to do eight hours a day?"

The person being interviewed should be honest with the interviewer, but should not volunteer any negative information, Null

"Interviewers are also unsure about the interviewee. If they make a mistake they could not only lose their job, but also cost the company money because they hired someone who was not qualified for the job," Null said.

Over a period of six months, the average person will go through seven to 10 interviews before getting that first job, she said.

Moore Hall residents decorate for contest

By Brenda Birt Collegian Reporter

Decorating for Christmas not only brings a homey atmosphere to Moore Hall, but it lightens residents' attitudes before finals.

The residence hall sponsors an annual Christmas decorating contest among residents, which will be judged Sunday.

"It's done every year to help celebrate Christmas," said Chris Blackwell, sophomore in engineering and social chairman for Moore. "It makes it cheerier for finals - it's not so blah."

The contest is divided into three categories: floor-lobby decorating, room-door decorating and room decorating, said David Barnett, sophomore in accounting and math and Moore president.

The hall's governing board organizes the contest and will ask executives from the KSU Association of Residence Halls to judge, Blackwell

Residents winning the room-door and room categories will win movie passes, and floor-lobby winners will receive either a six-foot submarine sandwich or pizza, she said. In an effort to win the lobby contest, some groups keep their decorating strategies a secret. 'Right now we're just going with a tree and lights, everything else is a big secret," said Lori Novak, senior in animal sciences and industry and staff assistant for the fourth floor.

Groups keep their plans secret only for fun, she said.

'The contests are not really for competition as much as they are for Christmas spirit and to get everyone working together in the lobbies," she

Decorating often gets creative, Novak said. Some people decorate their lobbies with people in the scenes, like elves or carolers, she

Some room-door competitors display cotton balls and paper snow-

Collegian Advertising

We're leaving our competition behind. 532-6560

Buy, Sell or Trade in Collegian Classifieds

and a name a name of a nam

OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK & Lounge Sunday Buffet 11 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Children under 5 free Yu Shiang shrimp Wontons Cashew Chicken Crab Ragoon Sweet n' sour Pork Imperial soup Beef with Oyster sauce Fried rice Chicken Lo Mein Pineapple Pastry Shrimp with Snow Peas FREE DELIVERY 11 a.m.-1 a.m.

Surde Up.

Start Your Sunday Mornings With The Right Side Up!

Join 95.3, The Kat, for three hours of light, contemporary fusion Jazz-The perfect sound for a relaxing Sunday morning 8:50-11:50 a.m.

Sunday Side Up... Sunday Mornings Never Sounded So Good!

$4UU AND THE CREDIT YOU DESERVE!

$400 CASH FROM FORD AND PRE-APPROVED CREDIT FROM FORD CREDIT.

At Dick Edwards, we know how hard it is to get started finan-cially. So here's what we offer. If you've graduated, or will graduate, with a Bachelor's or advanced degree between October 1, 1987 and January 31, 1989, you may qualify for $400 from Ford and pre-approved credit from Ford Motor Credit Company. To qualify for pre-approved credit, you need: (1) verifiable employment beginning within 120 days after your vehicle purchase; (2) a salary sufficient to cover normal living expenses plus a car payment;

776-4004

Ford Motor

Company

Credit

and (3) if you have a credit record, it must indicate payment made as

The $400 from Ford is yours whether you finance or not. Keep it or whether you finance or not. Keep it or apply it to the purchase or lease of an eligible Ford or Mercury vehicle.

For all the details, contact us or call Program Headquarters, toll free, at 1-800-321-1536.

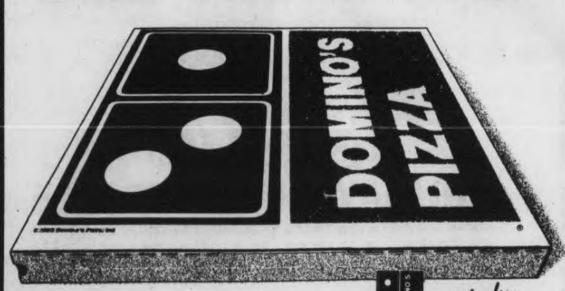

But hurry. This limited time offer is only available between March 1 and December 31, 1988. So take advantage of the Fort/Mercury College. tage of the Ford/Mercury College Graduate Purchase Program now.

DICK EDWARDS

2 mi. east of Manhattan on Hwy. 24

Survival Kit.

Call us! Manhattan

539-0561

Sun.-Thurs. 4pni-1am Fri.-Sat. 4pm-2am

$5.99 Special!

Get two 10" cheese pizzas for only $5.99!

No coupon necessary. Prices do not include tax.

$7.99 Special!

Get one 10" AND one 14" cheese pizza for only $7.99!

No coupon necessary. Prices do not include tax.

$8.99 Special!

Get two 14" cheese pizzas for only $8.99! No coupon necessary.

Prices do not include tax.

Our drivers carry less than $20.00. Limited delivery area. €1988 Domino's Pizza, Inc.

By The Associated Press

REMSCHEID, West Germany -A U.S. Air Force warplane struck an apartment building and exploded in flames Thursday, killing six people, injuring dozens others and destroying homes for more than a block.

"This looks like a war," said Johannes Rau, governor of North Rhine-Westphalia state, after touring the scene in central West Germany.

The U.S. Air Force suspended all tactical training flights in Europe until early next week, a U.S. Air Force commander said.

The A-10 Thunderbolt II jet, designed to support ground forces and fight tanks, was carrying 1,000 rounds of 30mm training ammunition when it crashed, said U.S. Air Force spokesman Lt. Col. Ed Neunherz.

Witnesses said the plane flew low over a school and hit the top floor of an apartment building about 1:30 p.m. At least six multifamily homes then caught fire and burned.

Opposition political parties called for a ban on low-level flights and sharp cuts in air exercises. Peter Kurt Wuerzbach, the second-ranked official in the Defense Ministry, said West German authorities were calling on their allies to halt low-level training missions until Christmas.

Maj. Gen. Marcus A. Anderson, commander of the U.S. Third Air Force, told reporters at the scene that all tactical training flights would be suspended until next Tuesday.

'In light of this mishap, the U.S. Air Force in Europe has suspended all tactical flying from now through next Tuesday in memory of those who were killed or injured in the mishap today," Anderson said.

"I want to say how much the U.S. Air Force regrets this very unfortunate mishap," he added. The Third Air Force is based at the Royal Air Force base, Mildenhall, England.

West German Defense Minister Rupert Scholz cut short a visit to Washington because of the accident.

A West German military spokesman, Gen. Botho Engelin, said six bodies, including that of the pilot, had been pulled from the smoldering wreckage.

The Air Force identified the pilot as Capt. Michael P. Foster, 34, but did not give his home town.

A statement sent by telex to the news media said he was survived by his wife and two sons.

The pilot's parachute hung from a tree about 30 yards away, a witness

Rescuers said they feared the death toll could rise, although they emphasized they were uncertain how many people were killed.

Between 40 to 50 people were injured, many of them seriously, said city spokesman Reinhard

Gaza uprising enters second year

GAZA CITY, Occupied Gaza trip — Israeli soldiers killed a cen-ager by shooting him in the cert, and the 1.5 million Palesti-tans held a general strike in the ecupied lands Thursday, the first niversary of their uprising. The death of Yussel Mohammed rane death of Yussel Monammed eaith, 17, raised the number of elestinians killed to at least 320 ace the rebellion began Dec. 8, 267, in the West Bank and Gaza rip. More than 7,000 Palestinians ive been wounded and 11 Israelis also have been slain.

An army spokesman said Shaith was shot in the heart when troops were stoned during a sweep in the West Bank village of Kafr Rai.

Soldiers also wounded a open-air Nablus market, the center burned tires in sporadic acts of 22-year-old woman in the leg after of many clashes between soldiers defiance. About 20 Palestinian meeting "violent resistance" from and Arab youths.

Palestinians closed businesses from a barricaded alley in Gaza and halted public transportation cannot be revealed under army throughout the occupied territories.

Hospital officials said a 23-year-a beating by troopers.

Anny gistfire wounded six other
Palestinians in Nablus, the West
Bank's largest city, and in Gaza City, Arab doctors said. One of those wounded in Nablus was a 14-year-old boy shot in the sto-mach, they said.

Arab witnesses said two of the wounded were hit by bullets fired from the window of a bouse the army used as a lookout port in the Palestinians closed businesses and halted public transportation throughout the occupied territories. The underground leadership, which the Palestine Liberation

Organization supports, called the strike for the anniversary of the a revolt in the West Bank and Gaza, which Israel captured from Jordan and Egypt in the 1967 Middle East

Israeli military authorities put all eight Gaza Strip refugee camps under curfew, confining more than 250,000 Palestinians to their

thout the coastal strip,

Nablus and Ramallah, anothe West Bank city, were designated as closed military areas, meaning journalists and other non-residents could not visit them. Soldiers also told an Associated Press photogra pher that Bethlehem was a closed res and turned him away.

Troops rousted residents of Bethlehem and Nablus from their homes to paint over anti-Israel graf-fiti, and forced teen-agers to take down outlawed Palestinian flags in

Hayden asked to fully fund water plan

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA — The Kansas Water Authority today asked Gov. Mike Hayden to put nearly $19 million into his proposed Fiscal Year 1990 budget to fully fund the State Water Plan, but did not recommend where the money should come from.

"If we are to walk through that door marked 'Comprehensive Natural Resource Planning and Management,' a continuous and permanent source of funding the State Water Plan is a necessity," said a water plan implementation report delivered to Hayden by Chairman John L. Baldwin of Hutchinson.

"Regardless of the ultimate funding source, we must take that first step through the door in FY 1990. The source of funding could be from a variety of areas as the governor and Legislature see fit."

The Water Authority is seeking $2.75 million for aid to local units of government to help them develop environmental protection strategies, including creating local health and environment departments and developing water-wastewater management, household hazardous waste, new subdivision and public water supply protection plans.

It also is asking for $4.1 million for contamination remediation, including $3 million to be used in cleaning up the 332 known water contamination sites in the state.

Other larger amounts sought include $2.77 million for fish, wildlife and recreation projects, $2.06 million for targeted cost-sharing assistance for land treatment; $1.9 million for a geographic information system; $1.5 million for targeted watershed assistance: $1.44 million for non-point source pollution, and $1.3 million for multipurpose small

8am-6pm Seven Days A Week 1 Mile East of Manhattan Airport on K-18 to detaile a the same and same a detail

WORRIED ABOUT YOUR HOLIDAY TRIP?

Prevent a break down on cold and icy roads. Treat your car to complete fast quality service at Wayne's

776-5577

Quik Lube. Includes oil change, filter, lube, and all key fluids filled. We do minor mechanical work.

FAST N FREE DELIVERY

WAYNE'S QUIK LUBE

D. 您是做。是,也是你是一个的。我是你的。

HOLIDAY GIFT BOOK SALE

These are just a few of the hundreds of holiday sale books we brought in to meet your gift-giving needs. The quantities are limited, so come in today!

THE NIGHT BEFORE CHRISTMAS. Full color illus. throughout. Based on Clement Moore's cherished classic, this outstanding children's title captures all of the magical enchantment and joyful good cheer of Santa's annual flight. Special Only $2.98 THE ORIGINAL ADVERTURES OF RAG-GEDY ANN. By Johnny Gruelle. Full color throughout. Follow America's favorite redheaded rag doll and storytime friend as she meets a world of wonderful characters. Complete with the classic illustrations by Johnny Gruelle. 64 pages. 91/4 x 13

Only $ 6.98 THE PLANT KINGDOM COMPENDIUM: A Definitive Volume of More Than 2,400 Copyright-Free Engravings. By Jim Har-ter. Astonishing collection of the finest botanical illustrations of the late Victorian period will bring hours of enjoyment to the collector while serving as an incompara sourcebook for artists and designers, 384 pages. 8½ x 11. Only $17.95 ROGET'S THESAURUS OF ENGLISH WORDS AND PHRASES. Revised and Enlarged by Samuel Romitly Roget. This is the classic American edition, with 1,000 major word-groups, of this invaluable, easy-to-use reference guide to improving your vocabulary and expressing yourself better in both writing and speaking. 705 and speaking, 705 Special Value Only $7.98 TALES FROM TEDDY BEAR LAND. By Barbara Hayes. Not for children only. Barbara Hayes endearing leddy bear tales will capture the hearts of fans of all ages. These, combined with life-like full color life. by John King, make for a winning collection 112 pages. 8% x 11. Only $7.9

20 YEARS OF ROLLING STONE REG: What a Long, Strange Trip It's Been. Ed. by Jann S. Wenner. Over 125 Photos in Full Color and B&W. Two decades in popular American culture reflected in this vivid collection direct from the pages of Rolling Stone. Woodstock, Manson, Kent State, Vietnam, Watergate, the shocking murder of ex-Beatle John Lennon, and much more as seen by some of the most innovative talents of our time: Hunter S. Thompson, Tom Wolfe, Annie Leibovitz, Richard Avedon, others. 464 pages, 8% x 11%. Pub. at $24.95 Only $14.98 2,850 HOUSE AND GARDEN PLANTS. By

R. Herwig. Over 2,900 Full Color Photos.
Match the right plant to the right situation
...identify thousands of species ...determine light and soil requirements for your plants. Huge treasury of gardening wisdom takes the guesswork out of a favorite pastime. 400 pages. 9 x 11% Only $19.95 VAN GOGH:. The Avenel Art Library. By A. Martini. 59 Full Color Plates. Sumptuous ly issus, vol. explores the life and works of this brilliant, unconventional and passionate Impressionist. The carefully reproduced full color plates are individually explained by concise interpretative notes. Only $6.98

WE ARE OPEN: 9:00 am-9 pm Mon-Sat 12-5 Sun

623 N. Manhattan Ave. 539-0511

SIGNIFICA. By Irving Wallace, David Walle-chinsky and Amy Wallace, authors of The People's Almanac. The Uruguayan navy once used old cheese balls instead of cannon balls-and won. Two insane men served on the Supreme Court. The most entertaining collection of "gee whiz" facts yet! 400 entries. 135 photos. 374 pages. Orig. Pub. at $15.95 Only $6.98

· Golf socks

· Golf Shirts

VITAMIN POWER: 10 Power Programs for Nutritional Self Defense. By R. Aero and S. Rick. Over 50 Illus. No-nonsense guide to every available nutrient that can make your body perform at its peak. Covers every vitamin from A through K, minerals from calcium to zinc, botanicals like ginseng and cayenne, more. 256 pages. 6% x 9%. Pub. at. $15.95. Only $5.98

Harold Kushner: WHEN ALL YOU'VE EVER WANTED ISN'T ENOUGH. The author of When Bad Things Happen to Good People now offer a wise, compassionate, uplifting book about giving a sense of meaning and purpose to your life. 190 pages. 6 x 9. Pub. at: $16.95Only. $4.96

THE WOK COOKBOOK: How to Cook Just About Anything in a Wolk. By Jackie Passmore. Approx. 400 Color Photos. Doughnuts or potato pancakes in a wok? Lavishly illus, guide to techniques and preparations incl. step-by-step photos and recipes for such various gustatory fare as Deep Fried Camembert Cheese Stuffed With Shrimp, Chicken Kebobs, Mussel in Wine—everything from appetizers to Wine-everything from appetizers to desserts. 144 pages. 8% x 11%.

Attention: Please read the following letter if you had your portrait taken for the Royal Purple.

(206) 355-8887

8805 46th Place West Mukilteo, WA 98275

Dear Kansas State student:

On behalf of both our company and the Royal Purple yearbook I apologize for your inconvenience and the confusion caused by our mistaken insertion of a notice with some of your proof sets.

The notice requested that some students pay a $5.00 fee to have their selected pose included in the yearbook. This was a mistake! There is no additional charge to any Kansas State student to appear in the yearbook.

If you are one of the students that received the "$5.00 notice", please disregard It! All you need do is mark the pose of your choice (simply write "YEARBOOK" on the back) and return all of the proofs to us at:

> Yearbook Associates P.O. Box 91 Millers Falls, MA 01349

You must return all of your proofs promptly!

If you've already returned your proofs and you did pay the $5.00, It will be refunded to you!

Of course we hope you'll be happy with your proofs and will choose to order a personal portrait package. But you are under no obligation to do so. If you were photographed your picture will appear in the yearbook.

If you have any questions you may either call me at the above number, or our customer service department at (413) 863-9714. Remember, I'm in Washington State, our customer service is in Massachusets, please make allowances for the different time zones.

Again, my personal apologies for the confusion.

Sincerely,

ames S. Mays, Regional Director

Entertainment Friday

Kansas State Collegian ■ Friday, December 9, 1988 ■ Page 7

Manhattan area offers economical finals fun

Crystal Haller, 9, of Manhattan, skates with a friend during a couples-only skating time at the Skate Plaza Roller Rink. ABOVE: Haller goes under the limbo bar.

With another semester's tuition to pay yet and Christmas gift giving around the corner, many students have sworn off the expensive bar scene and movies for a while.

But what is a college kid to do for entertainment when the pocketbook looks empty?

During those penny-pinching years of college, more students are seeking alternative forms of entertainment.

"We go bowling a lot," said Bryan Camerlinck, senior in accounting. "One of my roommates is in a league, so he goes every week. The rest of us go about once a month."

"We started (bowling) in high school, because we needed cheap entertainment when we were younger and couldn't get into the bars," he

"It's more laid back than going into a bar," said Mike Rice, freshman in business administration. "You get really burned out on the bar scene after a while. It's cheap, and it's better than getting a beer belly."

Many students are finding enjoyment in roller skating as well.

"I believe the popularity in skating is gaining," said Everett Stilley, owner of the Skate Plaza Roller Rink in Manhattan.

Skating and other leisure sports are making a comeback from the low level of popularity they experienced following the disco era, he said

"The popularity of sports like skating and bowling goes in cycles, and we don't seem to be able to figure out why," he said.

Whatever the reason, K-Staters seem to be doing their part to urge on the comeback.

"We are skating a number of college-age people on Friday and Saturday nights," he said. "We have several fraternities and sororities who book private parties, or just show up to skate."

Students seem to enjoy roller skating more during their college years than they did as teenagers.

"It's odd that as early teenagers, people seem to get a lot of enjoyment from roller skating, but when they get their driver's license, they start looking for a new set of wheels," he said. "Later, as they get a little older, they look back at the things they enjoyed as a teenager, and I think they remember all of the fun they had roller skating."

Many K-Staters would agree with that theory.

We were talking about all of the things we did when were in sixth grade, and decided it would be fun to go skating," Camerlinck said.

However, Camerlinck admits to having more in mind than simply reliving his childhood.

"There is about three hours of entertainment (in skating) for about $2 or $3, and a $3 pitcher of beer would only last about an hour," he

The change in the drinking age has also caused students to return to sports such as bowling and skating.

"Our business really went up when the drinking age changed," said Terri Eddy, manager of the Union recreation area for 10 years.

"We see a lot of date traffic on Friday and Saturday night," she said. "A lot of kids who can't get into Aggieville come in."

Students' general attitude could be another reason for the switch away from the bars and back to sports like

"When I first got here, it seemed like students partied more," she said. "They seem to study more now. A lot of that probably has to do with the rising cost of education."

Although the number of individuals participating in leisure sports seems to be rising, Eddy said the Union facility has more competition than it did 10 years ago.

"The students have more things to do than they did then," she said. "Ten years ago, the Rec Center didn't exist. We were the only place on campus for students to go."

Nevertheless, the facility appears to keep busy. On an average day, the recreation area serves close to 500

■ See FUN, Page 16

LEFT: Virginia Stilley, co-owner of Skate Plaza Roller Rink with her husband Everett, talks to a friend while she plays records. BELOW: Joe Sullivan, floor supervisor, helps adjust a boy's skates behind the skate check-out counter.

story by Heather Huntington

photos by John La Barge

SHOWING

K-State Union

Young Guns 7 and 9:30 Friday and Saturday Forum Hall

Miracle on 34th Street 2 Saturday and 2 and 7 Sunday Forum Hall

Campus Theater

High Spirits Daily 7 and 9 Matinee 3 and 5 Saturday and Sunday

Westloop Cinema 6

The Naked Gun Daily 4:35, 7:05 and 9:30. Matinee 2:05 Saturday and Sunday

Tequila Sunrise Daily 4:35, 7:05 and 9:30 Matinee 2:05 Saturday and Sunday

My Stepmother is an Alien Daily 4:30, 7:10, 9:35. Matinee 2:10 Saturday and Sunday

Oliver and Company

Daily 4:30, 7, 8:30. Matinee 2 Saturday and Sunday Cocoon - The Return

Saturday and Sunday Twins Daily 4:40, 7:10, 9:25. Matinee 2:15 Saturday

Daily 4:25, 7 and 9:35. Matinee 2 and Sunday Seth Childs Cinema

Fresh Horses Daily 7:15 and 9:40 Matinee 2:15 and 4:35 Saturday and Sunday

Scrooged Daily 7:20 and 9:30 Matinee 2:20 and 4:40

Saturday and Sunday Iron Eagle II Daily 7:15 and 9:35 Matinee 2:10 and 4:40

Everybody's All American Daily 7:10 and 9:45 Matinee 2 and 4:30

Saturday and Sunday

Saturday and Sunday

Land Before Time Daily 7:10 and 9:30 Matinee 2:10 and 4:40 Saturday and Sunday

Ernest Saves Christmas Daily 7:20 and 9:35 Matinee 2:20 and 4:45 Saturday and Sunday

Dance

"The Nutcracker" The Christmas Classic, performed by the Tulsa Ballet Company. McCain Auditorium Saturday 7:30, Sunday 2:30 Student tickets are $8, $7, and $5 and are on sale at the McCain Box Office

Videos

New Releases Big Top PeeWee - Dec. 12 Casual Sex — Dec. 12 The Drifter — Dec. 13 Arthur 2, On the Rocks - Dec. 14 Takes Two - Dec. 14 Mother, Jugs and Speed — Dec.

License To Drive - Dec. 15 Short Circuit II - Dec. 15 Red Heat - Dec. 29

Nace Brothers Tonight at Charlie's Neighborhood Bar.

Soviet troop reduction offer does not ease Western worries

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK - Mikhail S. Gorbachev's offer to cut the Red Army by 10 percent and withdraw 50,000 Soviet troops from Eastern Europe has not fully eased Western worries about a decisive Kremlin edge in men, tanks and artillery.

Gorbachev's unilateral cuts and message of peace were likely to further enhance his soaring popularity in Western Europe, and to rekindle calls in Congress and NATO mem-ber states for withdrawal of some of the 335,000 U.S. troops in Europe.

But Secretary of State George P. Shultz and other foreign ministers of the Atlantic alliance quickly said Gorbachev's statements confirmed their view that the Soviets have enough non-nuclear armaments to mount a blitzkrieg offensive and tip the balance in opening days of an East-West conflict.

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization, in a statement issued after Gorbachev's U.N. speech on Wednesday, said "the Soviet Union itself possesses more tanks and artillery than all the other members of the Warsaw Pact and the (NATO) Alliance combined. And they are concentrated in a manner which raises grave concerns about the strategy which they are intended to support."

NATO Secretary-General Manfred Woerner said Gorbachev's move "seems to be a step in the right direction," but warned big imbalances would remain.

High Energy Snacks Available for Finals People's Grocery Cooperative 539-4811 811 Colorado Open late on Thurs.!

West German Defense Minister Rupert Scholz said Gorbachev must follow up with "actual and verifiable withdrawal of troops and reduction

NATO, which cannot afford to match the Soviets soldier for soldier and tank for tank, has a policy of deterring a conventional attack with the threat of nuclear weapons, an approach that wags have summarized as "fight like the devil for two weeks, then blow up the world."

The NATO nuclear deterrent and the perceived will to use it have faded, however, with the signing last December of a U.S.-Soviet treaty to eliminate intermediate-range nuclear weapons and continuing negotiations to sharply reduce long-range strateg-

The Soviets have been tinkering with their doctrine, as well, declaring that they will maintain forces adequate only to fend off an attack, not to launch one.

Gorbachev's announcement of troop cuts in Eastern Europe and an overall reduction of 500,000 men in an armed forces totaling 5.6 million soldiers are the first concrete examples of the new Kremlin policy, the doctrine of "reasonable sufficiency."

Gorbachev also said the Red Army would shed 10,000 tanks, but those cuts are only small steps in bringing NATO and Warsaw Pact forces into balance, according to Western NATO, in its statement, proposed a limit of 40,000 tanks for either side, which Gorbachev's cuts would approach.

The Soviet Union, he said, would remove six tank divisions from Eastern Europe, out of a total of 15 tank divisions counted by the Londonbased International Institute for Strategic Studies.

Such a step could help ease NATO concerns about the offensive potential of the Red Army.

But the Soviet president offered no specifics about easing the imbalance in other types of weapons.

Shelter needs adopters

By Guy Peverley Collegian Reporter

During the month of October alone, 120 dogs and cats were admitted to the Manhattan Animal

Of the 120 admitted, 20 were returned to the owners, 53 were adopted and 36 were euthanized (put to sleep), said Julia Cleland, president of the Riley County Humane Society.

The shelter has the capacity to house 20 stray and unwanted dogs and about 25 cats, said Verna Tainter, shelter assistant.

Two animal control officers patrol the city, looking for strays, Tainter said. The officers also respond to calls and reports of stray dogs and cats.

Once an animal is placed in the custody of the animal shelter, the rightful owner has five days to reclaim the pet, she said. After five days, the animal is offered for adoption. There are no restrictions on who can adopt the animals, Tainter said. There is an adoption fee of $15 which includes $5 for the city or county license and $5 for a rabies vaccine. There is also a $25 deposit to ensure the adopter will have the pet spayed or neutered. The deposit is refunded after the operation. "Cats aren't adopted readily," Cleland said. "Control officers are more apt to pick up stray dogs than cats, and owners are more apt to come get their dog, rather than the cat." "Unfortunately there are more animals put to sleep than there are adopted out," Tainter said.

The animals are kept at the shelter as long as possible, she said. Once the shelter fills up, more room has to be made.

The animals that are vicious or the least likely to be adopted are the ones moved out first, Tainter said. These animals are taken to the animal resource facility at the K-State Veterinary Medicine Complex to be euthanized.

Advertising for the adoption of animals is broadcast on the radio every day, Cleland said. Also, the humane society and 12 other Manhattan sponsors are funding a "pet of the week" program to let people know animals are available for adoption.

Have story or photo ideas? CALL 532-6556

SETH CHILDS 6 TH CHILDS AT FARM BURNEAU RD. 779-9

7:15, 9:40 Sat., Sun. 2:15, 4:35 SCROOGED PG-13

2:20, 4:40, 7:20, 9:30 IRON EAGLE II no

EVERYBODY'S ALL-AMERICAN R 2, 4:30, 7:10, 9:45

LAND BEFORE TIME G 7:10, 9:30 Sat., Sun. 2:10, 4:40

ERNEST SAVES CHRISTMAS PG Delly 7:20, 9:35 SAT. & SUN. 2:20, 4:45

$ 3 PER PERSON SHOWS BEFORE 6:00 p.m.

FRESH HORSES PG-13

Daily 7:15, 9:25 SAT. & BUNL 2:10, 4:40

A Finals Week Special

For a small bag of white popcorn. Regularly 35°. Good through 12/17/88. Limit 2 per customer.

1319 Anderson Popcorn Palace

Aggieville

cosmetology students.

Saturday, December 10 2 p.m. Sunday, December 11, 2 & 7 p.m. Forum Hall Wk-state union STREET, STREET

What a great Christmas Gift idea. Visit HOME CINEMA

MOVIES?!!

OF COURSE!

Fri. Noon-10 p.m. Sat. 10 a.m.-10 p.m. Sun. Noon-7 p.m. for new & used titles... or gift certificates -537-1115 Village Plaza Shopping Center

M-Th. Noon-9 p.m.

TGIF 5 p.m. Free Hors d'oeuvres

Good Luck on Finals Congratulations to all Graduating Seniors

Comedy Invasion Mon., Tues. 9 p.m. David Naster

531 N. Manhattan

539-4321

SPECIAL DELIVERY

Mrs. Powell's & Balloon Boutique will deliver the perfect gift for you. Just call to have a fresh baked Christmas Tree or Wreath specially packaged with a balloon and DELIVERED FREE for only . . $15,99

Call: 539-0106

from

Powell's - & Balloon Boutique

MOVIE INFO. 539-1291 IN JUNCTION CITY Call 762-4092 CAMPUS

HIGH SPIRITS PG-13 TODAY AT 7 AND 9 MAT. SAT. & SUN. AT 3 & 5 CAMPUS SEATS $1

WESTLOOP CINEMA 6

THE NAKED GUN PG-13 TODAY AT 4:35-7:05-9:30 MAT. SAT. & SUN. AT 2:05

TEQUILA SUNRISE R TODAY AT 4:35-7:05-9:30 MAT. SAT. & SUN. AT 2:05

MY STEPMOTHER IS AN ALIEN PG-13 TODAY AT 4:30-7:10-9:35 MAT. SAT. & SUN. AT 2:10

OLIVER AND COMPANY G MAT. SAT. & SUN. AT 2

COCOON-THE RETURN PG TODAY AT 4:25-7-8:35 MAT. SAT. & SUN. AT 2

TWINS PG TODAY AT 4:40-7:10-9:25 MAT. SAT. & SUN. AT 2:15

it's on us! FRIDAY ONLY

DEC. 9

TWO LOCATIONS

Manhattan 1123 Westloop 537-0089

Junction City 1009 W. 6th 762-4270

MORE COPIES OF THE HITS!™

INTENSIVE CARE FOR TEST-TAKERS.

Get a healthy MCAT score by taking a test prep course with Stanley H. Kaplan. Our educational review and test-taking techniques are the best in the field. Call!

New Holiday Compact-K.C.! Three-week intensive course over Winter Break Dec. 22-Jan. 10 Register now 913-262-TEST

German education in scholars' future

By Brenda Birt Collegian Reporter

Seven K-State students will be spending 10 months of their education in Germany next year as scholarship recipients.

The scholarship provides students with the opportunity to study for 10 months in the Justus Liebig University in Giessen, the Maxmillian University in Munich, or the Swiss Technical Institute in Zurich.

Five of the students will be attending Giessen University. They are: John Schumann, junior in bakery science; Lee Martin, senior in biochemistry; Natalie Martin, senior in English; Leslie Guizlo, graduate student in geo-graphy; and Anita Krug, sophomore in business administration. The other two scholarship recipients are: Chloe Conard, sophomore in chemical engineering, who will be studying at the Swiss Technical Institute; and Jodi Lehner, junior in education, who will study at the University of Munich.

Students applying for the scholarship must meet certain criteria to be eligible. They must have junior standing during the year they will be in Germany, and they must have studied at least four semesters of German language before departure.

"Students are chosen by a faculty committee of seven or eight that reviews the files and interviews the students, as well as comparing GPAs and transcripts," said Robert Kruh, associvost and chairman of the German/ Swiss Student Exchange Selection Committee.

There are also other criteria, said Carol Miller, associate professor of modern languages and selection committee member.

"It's a scholarship, so obviously your academic performance is going to be very important, as is language ability," Miller said.

"We want a student who impresses us as being selfconfident enough to be comfortable in a different culture," she

The program is a specific exchange with Germany. Students receive a stipend each month sufficient to cover living expenses while they are in school.

In order to receive credit at K-State for courses taken in Giessen, Munich or Zurich, the students are required to bring back certificates from four courses, Miller said.

They must also be enrolled in German courses to upgrade their conversation and listening skills,

While in Europe, the students live in residence halls so they can experience life as a native German or Swiss student.

The program has had a long history at K-State.

"It began in 1959 as a result of President McCain's 1957 study tour in Europe," said Joseph Hajda, professor of political science and member of the student exchange committee.

Ramey exhibits powerful talent

By Tom McLaughlin Collegian Reviewer

Bass vocalist Samuel Ramey, a native of Colby, accompanied by pianist Warren Jones showcased their vocal and instrumental versatility last night to a three-quarter full McCain Auditorium.

Ramey, a renowned opera performer, designed a program which featured music that spanned both centuries and continents.

Beginning the performance with a fantastically explosive interpretation of George Frideric Handel's "Si, tra i ceppi" from the opera Berenice, Ramey made it clear that a delightful evening was ahead.

Review

Berenice's original 1737 opening was short-lived, closing after only four performances. Ramey's power and range in this selection made it clear that there was not going to be a similar problem with his performance. He achieved closure in the song with a powerful and energetic crescendo which served as a teaser for the rest of his performance.

The gloom and pain of the archetypal tragic hero served as an undercurrent for Ramey's next selec-tion, "Music for a While," from incidental music for "Oedipus" by Henry Purcell. Much like a da capo aria, the tranquil and quieting selection, complemented Ramey's first selection and segued nicely into another Pur-cell selection, "Arise, Ye Subterra-nean Winds," from "The Tempest." The song, customary of Italian style, was enhanced by Ramey's robust and energetic gutteral glides throughout. Even further, his characterization of the devil, summoned by Prospero, was handled with powerful vocal precision.

One of the most enjoyable sections of the concert featured music by Franz Schubert. "An Schwager Kro-nos," published as "Op. 19, No. 1" was enhanced by pianist Warren Jone's accompaniment. The music itself personified the galloping of horses and built to a climactic end. Ramey worked nicely with the accompaniment with a bouncy and youthful depiction of the images which the music created.

The most inspirational of the Schubert selections, "Der Doppelganger," spilled over with incredible passion. Setting a very somber and pensive mood in his presentation of the No. 6 song in the Schwanengesang cycle, Ramey built to three climaxes, each increasing in intensity from the last. The song, full of a quiet terror, built on the qualities of sadness, to a more intense adversity, to a more painful anguish and finally to a disquieting metaphorical death.

The concert's highlights continued with Schubert's "Helios," as Ramey vocally protrayed climbing up a mountain by rigorously climb-ing the musical scale with intensity and volume to a climactic peak.

After intermission, Ramey returned with a two-part aria, "Uldino! Uldin! Mentre gonfiarsi l'anima," from Giuseppi Verdi's "Attila." Singing an aria from the title role, Ramey visualized and embodied an awesome dream and the lusty power of Attila the Hun. Ramey erupted as the vengeful and powerhungry Attila, which drew a round of "bravos" from the audience.

The two biggest highlights of the evening were the medley of three songs from Maurice Ravel's Don Quichotte and Ramey's version of 'Old Man River."

The selections from "Don Quichotte" illustrated Ramey's incredible range. Beginning with "Chanson Ramonesque," a love song, Ramey illustrated his ability to crupt with

After performing a series of dissonant Charles Ive's music, Ramey was cheered back to the stage with a standing ovation. After performing the encore from "Marriage of Fig-aro," he was called onstage with, yet another, standing ovation.

It was his second encore performance, dedicated to friends in the audience, which provided the climax to the evening's performance. Ramey's "Old Man River" spilled over with a beautiful energy and pathos, which served as appropriate closure for a superb performance.

We look forward to serving you next semester-look for our coupons! 613 N. Manhattan Ave. 539-7621

Lafene Student Health Center closing at 5 p.m. on Friday. December 23

Reopening at 8 a.m., Jan. 3

Celebrate the Season with for appts.

Single Topping Pizza $650

a head start .

On your Holiday Season

Now is the time to plan to look your best for the holiday season.

537-1003 NEW BEGNNIGS

1107 N. 3rd a full-service salon.

6" Single Topping Pizza $799 Additional Toppings Extra

CALL: 539-4888 AGGIEVILLE

Fast, Free, Friendly Delivery Expires 1-15-89

FACO HUT

Sanchos & Burritos 88¢ each (reg. $1.30)

Taco Dinner — $1.77 (reg. $2.25) -3 tacos, refried beans, salad with picos good through Dec. 12

Sun.—Thurs. 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Fri.—Sat. 11 a.m.—12 a.m.

TACO NUT

Finals Break

Coke glasses 89° filled with your favorite soft drink!

Dairy Uueen .

1015 N. 3rd Manhattan

HOLIDAY SHOPPING AT THE LOFT

Mon. Thurs. 9:30 AM to 8 PM • Pri. & Sat. 9:30 AM to 6:30 PM • Sun. 1-5 PM

SUNDAY STUDENT SPECIALS

CHICKEN FRIED STEAK DINNER

Mushroom or Cream Gravy Includes choice of Potato plus Toast, Salad, Hot Food and Dessert Bar

Steller ++++ Michel SALAD, HOT FOOD AND DESSERT BAR

Show your Student ID Card and request the Student Special of your choice!

Breakfast Buffet Sat./Sun. 6-10:30 a.m.

100 Bluemont

SIRLOIN STOCKADE.

ATTENTION K-STATE BASKETBALL FANS!

"Win" when the You WILDCATS "WIN"!

Tonight when the Men's Kansas State Basketball team is victorious, we'll help with the treats!

Here's How It Works:

You'll receive the percent off your total purchase that matches the point spread. For instance, if the Wildcats win by 15 points, you'll receive a 15 percent discount. If they win by 30, it'll be 30 percent, etc.

> Cheer the Wildcats on to victory against

Vanderbilt

and then come in to celebrate with us after the game.

705 N. 11th Nautilus Towers Open: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Dally Noon-11 p.m. Sunday

Highway plan gets endorsement, would increase state's sales tax

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA - A legislative committee Thursday endorsed a proposal that would create a comprehensive highway improvement plan costing $2.7 billion over the next 10 years and would increase the state's sales

Those new expenditures for highways would include $1.34 billion for accelerated major road reconstruction: $700 million in discretionary funds for new construction; $301 million for road and bridge maintenance for local governing bodies.

The Special Committee on Transportation's endorsement automatically sends the proposal to the 1989 Legislature, which convenes Jan. 9. 'It's a good bill," said Transporation Secretary Horace Edwards. The plan was developed by Rep. Rex Crowell, R-Longton, and Sens. Bill Morris, R-Wichita, and James Fransico, R-Mulvane. Crowell and Morris are chairman of standing transportation committees.

Based on estimates, about 44 percent of the new tax revenue would be raised by user fees, while the rest would be generated by a half-cent increase in the sales tax.

Under the bill, the plan would raise funds by increasing motor fuels tax by 7 cents over the next five years. It would increase fuel taxes by 4 cents in FY 1990, 2 cents in FY 1992 and another penny in FY 1994.

Vehicle registration fees also would be increased to $25 for passenger cars that weigh less than 4,500 pounds and to $35 and for cars weighing more than that. Registration for other types of vehicles would be increased an average of 30

The state sales tax would be increased from the present 4 percent to 4.5 percent. Of the revenue raised by the sales tax, 62.5 percent would be earmarked to the state Highway Fund. The rest would be sent to the Special City and County Fund for distribution to city and county

Fifteen-year bonds, for up to $700 million, would be authorized for the

The road and bridge projects would be selected by the secretary of transportation, using a criteria KDOT employs to determine which projects should have priority.

At the urging of Morris, the committee voted to include economic development as a factor in selecting

"I think it's very important that we at least make a mention of this," said Sen. Ben Vidricksen, R-Salina, citing the depressed conditions in southeast Kansas, where the need for a new highway is considered the

The committee balked at including a measure that would have required the state to spend at least $3 million of the $700 million highway discretionary funds in every county.

State Department of Transportation officials have estimated that up to as many as 20 counties would not have any construction under the comprehensive plan.

Rep. Eugene Shore, R-Johnson, urged the committee to ensure that all of the state's 105 counties would have some construction work within its boundaries.

"The plan should touch every county," Shore said. "It's a way that makes everyone feel they are part of Crowell added such a measure would make the program truly a statewide one.

Others, however, said it was an arbitrary way of spending state

"I have sympathy for sparsely populated areas, but at the same time I think it's a waste of money," Vidricksen said. "If the program benefits the state as a whole, then every county benefits from the program," said Rep. Cindy Empson, R-Independence.

"Then we'll send you as emissary to those 20 counties," Crowell said.

Police officers suing KC

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Kan. - Nine black police officers are suing the city in federal court, alleging that blacks have missed out on promotions because of discriminatory testing practices.

The class-action suit filed Wednesday in U.S. District Court names the city, Police Chief Allan Meyers and City Administrator

Meyers said he could not comment on the suit and directed all questions to the city's legal department, but city attorney Hal Walker was not available for comment.

According to the suit, the city showed "the purpose and intent to discriminate" in several ways. The suit alleges that only white officers were in the department that oversees training and testing and that white officers had more access to testing and training materials than black officers. It also said the department abolished a promotion pool and retested when a black officer became the top candidate.

Under the testing system, officers eligible for promotion to detective, sergeant and lieutenant must take written and oral tests and go through a supervisory evaluation.

Collegian Christmas

Today is the Last Day of Publication for the Fall Semester. Publication will resume on January 11, 1989.

Unique Holiday Gifts

Holiday Gift or Cheese Baskets Unicef Gifts English Cheeses Gift Soaps • Carob Christmas Candy

People's Grocery Cooperative

Mon.-Fri. 10-6 Thurs, till 8 Sat. 9-5

811 Colorado 539-4811

HAPPY HOLIDAYS

We offer a variety of sizes and shapes of Aquariums

2½ gallon-60 gallon Aquarium Tanks

 Oceanic & All Glass brands Complete line of accessories Complete Aquarium set-ups

Don't miss out on our weekend fish specials. Our friendly, trained personnel are always available to offer assistance.

Serving Manhattan Over 30 Years 1105 WATERS-539-475 ACROSS FROM ALCO

Congratulations

Lambda Chi Alpha Graduating Seniors

Steve Belfield Electrical Engineering

Kevin Ney Finance

David Casper Advertising

Keith Kettler Mechanical Engineering

Brian Howell Advertising

Brad Kropf Electrical Engineering

Kurt Winterman

Good Luck in the Future See You at Senior Dinner Tonight

Affordable Gift Ideas

Our popcorn-filled canisters are available in four sizes and make excellent gifts. Flavors include carmel, cheese, cinnamon, peanut crunch, purple pride, and gourmet white.

Popcorn Palace 1319 Anderson Aggieville

Crazy-Shirt Sweatshirts 20% off or only $10 with any Other Designs Available

$30 purchase

OPEN Monday-Thursday 10-8

537-9105

12 Moro, Aggieville

Join the Spirit of Giving and Help Feed the Needy

Bring a can of food to the game & receive

FREE Foam Hand

to the first 5000 fans

KSU VS. Vanderbilt

Saturday Dec. 10th Doors Open at 6:30 pm

Sponsored by: ICAT State Farm Insurance

Help feed the hungry by supporting the Mayor's Holiday Tree

Sports

Kansas State Collegian ■ Friday, December 9, 1988 ■ Page 11

Lady Cats roll to 83-58 win over ORU

K-State's guards Nadira Hazim and Mary Jo Miller scramble for the ball against Oral Roberts University's Marchelle Kappier during the Lady Cats' game last night.

Sports Writer

By Mike Rouse

The K-State women's basketball team got its revenge on the Oral Roberts Lady Titans Thursday night as it cruised to an 83-58 victory in Bramlage Coliseum.

"We were fired up because we wanted revenge from the loss last year down there," said Diana Miller, forward.

"It was fun tonight, we were able to do some extra things and added a little scoring," Lady Cats' coach Matilda Mossman said.

The Lady Cats seemed to nothing wrong all night as they hit a season-high total points and the defense again flustered their opponents.

"The only thing we did wrong was we only scored one basket in the last four minutes of the game," Mossman said.

K-State came out fired up in the first half as team members shot 48 percent from the field and led 41-25 at halftime. They had leads of 16 points four different times in the half.

The Lady Cats went on a 14-0 scoring streak in the first half, which put them on top 35-19 with 2:43 left before intermission.

The Lady Titans opened the game in a full court press that gave K-State a little trouble early. After the Lady Cats were able to control the ball, they got some easy shots.

"There were some times when we made some bad passes, but we also got some easy layups off of it," Mossman said. K-State opened the second half just as hot as the first. It went on a 24-4 run over the first eight minutes of game to give them a 65-29 Sophomore guard Nadira Hazim led K-State scorers with a season high 22 points, including 11-15 from the field. Hazim also had two steals and helped force 27 Lady Titan turnovers. "I felt I was in my rhythm all night. I wasn't scared to shoot the ball after a miss,"

Hazim said. Miller equaled her career high by chipping in 20 points for the second straight game and added 11 rebounds. Kristie Bahner and Rita Matteucci again played well defensively as they held Vivan Herron to only 10 points. Heron came into the game averaging more than 24 points a game,

■ See ORU, Page 16

K-State to get tough test; McCoy getting the job done Vanderbilt visits Saturday

By Chris Wilhelm Sports Writer

Lon Kruger will try to notch his 101st career coaching victory as the K-State men's basketball team (3-1) tries to pick up its fourth win on the season against the Vanderbilt Commodores (2-4) at 8:05 Saturday night in Bramlage Coliseum.

Vanderbilt returns nine of 10 lettermen from last year's team that advanced all the way to the "sweet sixteen" of the NCAA Tournament. The Commodores' loss was a big one, however, as seven-footer Will Perdue graduated.

The Commodores do return Barry Goheen, a 6'3" senior who averaged 12.4 points a game for Vanderbilt last year. Goheen was a Basketball Times honorable mention All-American and a third team Southeastern Conference pick by both the AP and UPI.

Goheen is expected to make the all-SEC team this season.

Earlier in the season, Vanderbilt was able to knock off perennial basketball powerhouse Louisville, with a shot at the buzzer, in its only home game of the season to date.

The Commodores dropped their last game, an 89-77 decision, to the University of North Carolina Wednesday night. The Tar Heels led early in the game by the score of 32-9, but Vanderbilt was able to trim the lead early in the second half to 55-50, only to see North Carolina pull away at the Vanderbilt got a lot of scoring punch out of its two forwards in the North Carolina game. The Commodores' Eric Reid, a 6'9" senior, scored 17 points and Frank Kornet, a 6'8" junior, chipped in 16.

"Vanderbilt will definitely offer us a challenge," K-State coach Lon Kruger said. "They are returning many players off of a team that had a lot of success last year. They should have an experience advantage over

"They've had several tough road losses early in the season. I'm sure they'll be looking for a victory." K-State is coming off an 84-60 thrashing of Baylor in a home game. While the 'Cats have enjoyed a rebounding edge in each of their first four games, their hands will be full in that department, as they give up an average of more than three inches per man to the Commodores.

During the Christmas break, the 'Cats will follow this schedule: Dec. 17 at Missouri-Kansas City, Dec. 19 at Akron, Dec. 22 back home to face Missouri-St. Louis, Jan. 3 at Southwest Missouri State, Jan. 5 back home to face Texas-Arlington, and Jan. 7 at Minnesota.

Saturday's contest with Vanderbilt is the last game of the fall semester that students can use thier season tickets. The first game that students will again be able to use their tickets will be the Jan. 14 match-up with arch-rival Kansas.

Probai	DIG S	tarters
K-State (2-1)	Pos.	Vanderbitt (1-4
Smith (6-5, Jr.)	F	Kornet (6-9, Sr.
Massop (6-8, Jr.)	F	Reid (6-8, Jr.
McCoy (6-7, Sr.)	C	Benj (6-11, So.
Henson (6-1, Jr.)	G	Goheen (6-3, Sr.
Dissins 18 4 Cal	0	Donker IR A C.

Steadman, Schaaf leave Chiefs

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - Jack Steadman resigned as president of the struggling Kansas City Chiefs Thursday in a front-office shakeup that cost General Manager Jim Schaaf his job. Team owner Lamar Hunt indicated there could be more changes. "I am electing to make some basic changes in the management of the Chiefs with an emphasis such that the primary leadership and focus be on the football side of the organization," said Hunt. "Pro football is the most difficult business venture I've ever been involved in," he said. "Sometimes you have to make difficult decisions." Hunt said that the search for a new general manager is under way and that he expects to announce Schaaf's replacement by the end of the month. He said he is looking outside the Chiefs organization for a general

"The person we are looking for will have NFL experience," said

Hunt said the new general manager will be given the freedom to assess the entire organization and make the changes he feels are necessary. Steadman, 60, has been chief executive officer since the franchise started in 1960 as the Dallas Texans. Other than Hunt, Steadman is the only other person who has been with the organization since Hunt founded the old American Football League in

Following Kansas City's 1969 Super Bowl victory and a 15-year from 1971 to 1986 - absence from playoff games, it was Steadman who was the main focus of the media and Steadman, who seldom showed his emotions in public, wept and and spoke in a broken pattern as he made his announcement at the news conference with Hunt at his side.

"The affect on Jim Schaaf is very personal to me," Steadman said. "I feel badly that my career decision has affected Jim's. If I said negative things don't effect you, I'd be lying, but that did not effect my decision.

"I haven't been able to provide the kind of time this organization needs," he said, "I felt I was cheating the organization, and if I didn't make this decision I'd be cheating myself."

Steadman will continue his overall responsibility for the Chiefs' financial operations in the new position of board chairman. He is also board chairman of Hunt Midwest Entperprises, which operates amusement parks, mining operations and real estate holdings in the Kansas City

Schaaf, whose contract expires in April 1989, had been in the Chiefs' front office for 23 years.

By Mike Rouse Sports Writer

With Fred McCoy and Steve Henson the only starters returning for K-State, Coach Lon Kruger feels he will have to go to them when the game is on the line.

"They will be the two we will have to go to at the end and who we will look at to get the job done," Kruger said.

To be successful, McCoy said, the guards will have to be able to hit the outside shots, which will open up the zone inside.

"If Steve and the other guards can hit the outside shots, the zone will open up for us down low and we will be able to get the easy shots," McCoy said.

With the graduation of Mitch Richmond and Charles Bledsoe, McCoy has been pushed into the spotlight for the 'Cats. McCoy has been looking to improve on his nine points and five rebounds a game he averaged a year ago.

The 6-foot-7 center from Washington, D.C., has been leading the team in both scoring and rebounding so far this season. McCoy is averaging 17 points and has grabbed almost eight rebounds game. McCoy has been sharing the rebounding duties with Tony Massop, who is also averaging eight rebounds a game, but he doesn't mind sharing the inside with Massop because both of them have been making a big contribution for the Wildcats so far this season.

"We are both playing well right now. We aren't that tall this year, so both of us need to be in there, McCoy said. "There is plenty of room for both of us down low; we just have to go to the boards hard and there will be no problem."

McCoy has scored in double figures in all four games this year, including a 22-point effort Wednesday night in the 'Cats' 84-60 win over Baylor University.

"The defense opened up and I was able to get the good shots and make the free throws," he said.

McCoy, who was second on the squad last year in free throw percentage at 76, has not dropped off any this year, making almost 70 percent of his charities. McCoy hit eight of nine from the free throw line in the victory against Baylor.

K-State center Fred McCoy goes up for a shot as Baylor's Joey Fatta attempts to block it during the Wednesday night game.

Hawks to play in Big 8 tourney

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - The national champion Kansas Jay-hawks, prohibited from competing in the 1989 NCAA Tournament because of recruiting violations, will be allowed to participate in next year's Big Eight men's basketball tournament, conference officials said Thursday.

The decision was made during the quarterly meeting of the Big Eight faculty resprentatives and athle directors in downtown Kansas City. "It was a question of the conference not wanting to be in a position where two organizations (the NCAA and the Big Eight) take action against an institution," said Missouri faculty representative Dr. Carl Settergren, chairman of the conference.

Settergren said Big Eight regulations stipulate that if rules violations are alleged an institution may have either the NCAA or the conference

Murderer's case complicated by victim's suicidal thoughts

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA - A former Emporia minister whose case spawned a television miniseries should receive a new trial because newly discovered evidence indicates he did not kill his wife, the state Supreme Court was told Thursday.

Benjamin Wood of Topeka, who represents the Rev. Thomas Bird, told the state's highest court that the evidence indicated Bird's wife, Sandra, contemplated suicide shortly before her death in July 1983. Bird was convicted of firstdegree murder two years later in connection with his wife's death.

Wood cited a letter from a Memphis, Tenn., minister to Bird's attorneys in September 1987, in which the minister said a third minister told him he was convinced the death of Bird's wife was a

"There's been a wrongful con-viction here," Wood said. "We're just asking that this new evidence go before a trial jury."

However, Lyon County Attor-ney Rodney Symmonds said evi-dence about Bird's wife contemplating suicide had been offered during the original murder trial. At that time, he said, Bird maintained his wife's death was the result of a car accident. She died after her car went off a bridge over the Cottonwood River outside Emporia in Lyon County.

"They would now like to try something else, because the first theory didn't work," Symmonds

The sensational case was the subject of CBS' miniseries, "Murder Ordained," last year.

Bird currently is serving a life sentence for his wife's slaying, and another 21/2 to seven years for solicitation to commit murder in connection with another plot to kill the husband of his church secretary.

Last month, Bird was charged in Geary County District Court with first-degree murder in connection with the November 1983 shooting.

Winds fuel California fires

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES - The dreaded Santa Ana winds raked the region Thursday with gusts up to 80 mph, damaging Rose Parade floats and fanning fires that destroyed 25

About two dozen homes and buildings also were damaged by the blazes but no serious injuries were reported, authorities said. Gusts toppled six trucks on highways to the east and cut power to more than 300,000 people.

"We lost everything — the house, the cars," said Dan Hanlon, 49, of La Verne, who fled with his wife.

Generated by high pressure over Idaho and a low over Baja California, winds swept much of California and Nevada but were most destructive in the Los Angeles basin and to the east through the mountain ranges and become known as the Santa Anas.

Fifteen homes burned up and five commercial buildings were damaged in Baldwin Park, 20 miles northeast of Los Angeles, when 75 mph gusts snapped power lines shortly after midnight and ignited a fire at Allan Paper Co.

"We saw sparks, showers of sparks, like rain," said Ruben Cabadas, 18, recounting his family's flight from their home as its ruins smoldered.

The blaze was contained at daybreak, said Inspector Chuck Gutierrez of the Los Angeles County Fire Department. There was no damage estimate.

Ten homes were destroyed and 15 damaged in La Verne, 30 miles east, by a fire believed caused by a downed power line, Gutierrez said.

where they roar down from the desert About 300 people were evacuated before the 150-acre blaze was contained.

"It literally rained embers across roofs," said firefighter Ron Sillo. An artificial Christmas tree wrapped in colored lights and tinsel lay on the driveway of Roy and Elinor Livingston's home, the only thing salvaged from the ruins.

Awakened by a neighbor, the couple found a row of palm trees and a nearby home ablaze, and battled fires on their roof until they were overwhelmed. "It was just like the air was full of these giant sparks," said Elinor, 56.

Four homes were slightly damaged by a fire that moved from Eagle Rock along a ridge into Glendale before it was contained this morning, said Los Angeles Fire Department spokesman Jim Wells. Several schools were closed.

Hours 8:00-5:30 Weekdays 8:00-8:00 Thursday 8:00-4:30 Saturday osed Sun. & Mon 776-1193

Allgeasons 1501 TUTTLE CREEK BLVD. MANHATTAN, KANSAS 86502 (913) 539-5391

BASKETBALL SPECIAL!!

Rebound on down for our great rates!!

Bring in your ticket stub and receive an additional 10% off your room.

★Special rates apply to students and their guests.★

Call 539-5391 to make your reservation

Bernina House Ideas Unlimited

QUILTING SUPPLIES AND BOOKS Quilting Classes Metrosene Quilting Thread Snap™ Quilting Frame Wool and Silk Batting Fiesta Amish Cottons 537-8919 Dorine Elsea

BERNINA E

Bernina Sewing Machines Patterns . Notions . Classes Passap Knitting Machines Yarns Judy Nelson

Bernina Sewing Center 537-8919

4th & Osage

Tussy Mussy VICTORIAN DIFTS Vintage clothing Linens Jewelry Victorian Collectables

Susan Tolley

Gift Baskets

539-6759

for all occasions we deliver & UPS Cheryl Sieben 539-7499

The Sounds of Christmas

on sale NOW

Featuring Mannheim Steamroller's A Fresh Aire Christmas

your sound alternative 1204 Moro 537-7555

STUDENT LOANS

WE WANT TO MAKE YOUR STUDENT LOAN!

Have the professionals at Kansas State Bank make your student loan. Simply contact us at:

537-4400

Lender code #821176

ANSAS STATE BANK

Westloop · Aggieville · K-State Union, Manhattan, Kansas 66502

Loan-to-Own A Mac

Never So Affordable to Own A Computer

KSU Students may take advantage of one of the best computer financing packages ever offered: the Apple Loan-to-Own Program. This is a special low interest loan designed exclusively for the parents of undergraduate and graduate students.

The Loan-to-Own program lets your parents borrow on their own signature without collateral. There's no need to show financial hardship. And repayment is just as easy because payments can be spread over as many as 10 years - which means an extremely affordable price!

Stop by Connecting Point Computer Center or visit the KSU Bookstore for more details or an application for this unbelievable Buy-a-Macintosh program.

KSU Apple pricing and this financing program mean its time to buy your MAC.

in cooperation with Connecting Point Computer Center 1115 Westloop Shopping Center - 539-0801

CIGSSAGS 532-6555 Holiday Stocking

SKI

COLORADO

539-5269

CLASSIFIED RATES One day: 15 words or fewer, $2.50, 20 cents per word over 15; Two consecutive dates: 15 words or fewer, $3.50, 25 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.25, 30 cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 35 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $5.00, 40 cents per word over 15.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publications. Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon FRIDAY for Monday's paper.

Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion, it is the advertiset's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not after the value of the ad.

Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be for a period not exceeding three days. They can be blaced at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

Display Classified Rates
One day: $5.20 per inch; Three consecutive days: $5.00 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.80 per inch; Ten consecutive days: $4.80 per inch. (Deadline is 4:30 p.m. two days before publication.)
Classified advertising is available only to those who do not discirminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex or ancestry.

Collegian advertising has what you need

Seven swans a swimming

STRECKER GALLERY

332 Poyntz 10-5 Tues.-Sat.

Announcements

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs -skincars -glarnor -nait -gifts for all seasons. Florie Taylor, 639-2070. BASEBALL CARD Show Saturday, Dec. 10. Junction City H.S. Questions call Becca, 532-2004 or Jim 1-238-3185; or 1-238-7537.

BETA SIGMA Pai Little Sisters-Christmas gift exchan Sunday, Dec. 11 at 7p.m. at the House. Dre casual and bring at least one dollar for o GINGERBREAD HOUSES- 7"- $15, 10"- $20, 12"- $25. Gingerbread Men $6 dozen. Santa delivery $5. 539-2796.

PARTY GAS (helium)... you fill... we fill... our balloons... your balloons. 1231 Westloop, 539-4038.

STUMPED AS what to get Morn? Dad for Christman? Come to the Dairy Bar in Call Hall and order them a Cheese Git Box. Order while supplies lastil Hours: Monday- Friday 8:30a.m. 5:15p.m.

WANTED—100 overweight people to try herbal weight control program. No drugs, no exercise. Doctor recommended. 100% guaranteed. 776-5114.

59° Tacos

All day. Every day 1155 Westport Rd.

WANT TO SELL YOUR BOOKS?

Keystone, Copper

A Basin, Breckenridge

Condos Available

During Christmas

sleeps 4-6

The K-State Union will buy 'em! ()k-state union

AGGIEVILLE A K-STATE TRADITION

> 9:30-8:00 Mon.-Thurs. 9:30-5:30 Fri.-Sat. 1:00-5:00 Sunday

Congratulations Graduates!

Mr. D's Trophies Wishes You the Best of Luck in the Future!

Our Graduation Special

For You ...

An 8 x 10 copy of your diploma, photographed on gold aluminum and mounted on your choice of 9 x 12 plaques.

We offer three different styles. Walnut Finish—$17.00

Solid Mahogany-$19.75 Solid Walnut-$26.00

10% OFF

10%OFF

Return this coupon with your camera ready black and white copy of your diploma along with your check or money order to:

Mr. D's Trophies 1904 Dogwood Manhattan, KS 66502 (913) 776-0180

Your name

Address

Phone

Walnut Finish ___ @$17.00 ea.= ___

Solid Mahogany ___ @$19.75 ea.=___

Solid Walnut @$26.00 ea.=

□Please return my Plaque U.P.S.-add $2.50 postage

Please return my Plaque U.P.S.-C.O.D.add $4.70 postage & handling total

·Satisfaction Guaranteed· ·Please allow 2-4 weeks for delivery ·

BALLOON BOUTIQUE

Stuffers!

Silk and Stained Glass Ornaments only $2.00 539-1610 401 N. 3rd.

CHEESE GIFT BOXES

Available now at Dairy Sales Counter CALL HALL 144 ORDER WHILE SUPPLIES LAST!!

WHO WILL be Miss America 1990? It could be you! Miss Manhattan- K-State Pageant is now accepting entries. Preliminaries Jan. 28th. No entry fee. Cal 537-2667 or 537-4263.

2 Apartments—Furnished

AGGIEVILLE NICE one-bedroom in complex, $250, lease, deposit, no pets. 539-3928.

AVAILABLE JANUARY. Convenient locations, apa ments and mobile homes. Very reasonable rent. I pets. 537-8389, 776-8381.

FEMALE ROOMMATES to share a four-bedroom semi-fumished apartment. Located right across the street from campus. $132/ month, utilities included. Starting Jan. 1, 1989. Call 778-0799.

kitchen, carpeted, close to campus and park. Available Jan. 1. 537-2105. FURNISHED APARTMENT, two-bedroom,

HUGE, MOSTLY furnished, one-bedroom apartment. Great for two persons. Available Jan. 1. Call

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM. $230 plus utilities, Jan. 1. 776-4805.

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM, $260 plus utilities, Jan. 1.

NICE ONE-BEDROOM apartment. Water, trash, two-thirds gas paid. Laundry facilities. Nice for graduate student or couple. $260. Available Dec. 15 or Jan. 1, 539-2482 after 4p.m.

NICE ONE-BEDROOM efficiency. $175 plus utilities

NICE ONE-BEDROOM basement, carpeted, $200 plus utilities. 539-8401.

NICE ONE-BEDROOM apartment available Jan. 1, 1989 across from Putnam Hall, water and trash paid. 776-8364 after 5p.m.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM basement, carpeted, $300 bills

NOW IS the time to rent for next semester. One-, two- or three-bedroom apartments. Nice, close to campus. Not in complex. Low utilities. No pets. Call blocks west of campus. Available imn 539-7811 or 1-456-8297.

ONE-BEDROOM, CARPETED, no pets, $220 plus

ONE-BEDROOM FURNISHED or unfurnished. Sublease, central air, no pets. 537-4944 or message.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT available Dec. 15. 776-4780 after Sp.m.

OUIET, WELL-MAINTAINED one- and two-bedroom apartments available Jan. 1st in adult-oriented complex west of KSU. Variable features: laundry, paid heat, queen-size bed, carport and more. $220, $276 and $335. One-year lease. No smoking, pets, SMALL LAWN for barbecues. Walk-out level basement apartment. Centrally air-conditioned; disposal. Living room, kitchen, bath, one huge bedroom. West of campus. Quiet location for study. Suitable for student or couple. No off-street parking. Available Jan. 8. No children, pets. $245 includes utilities.

(Continued on page 14)

EARN MONEY FOR YOUR CAMPUS ORGANIZATION!

The Collegian needs groups periodically to stuff inserts and special sections into the paper. In just 2-21/2 hours your group can earn $75. Call or stop by for more information.

Call 532-6555

Religious Directory

WESTVIEW COMMUNITY

WORSHIP 8 & 10:30 a.m.

Randy Sly, Pastor

For information on College Class

call church office

SUN. EVE. WORSHIP 6 p.m.

1st, 3rd and 5th Sundays

CARE CELLS (Small Groups) 6 p.m.

2nd and 4th Sundays

FIRST LUTHERAN CHURCH

Worship at 8:30 and 11 a.m.

Sunday School-9:40 a.m.

(Collegiate Class)

537-8532

3001 Ft. Riley Blvd.

10th & Poyntz

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

537-0518 801 Leavenworth Worship 8°30 & 11 am. Church School 9:30 am. ·College Outreach (Tuesday, K-State Union)

Senior Minister

Rev. Dr. Phillip S. Gittings III First Congregational Church

United Church of Christ

537-7006

Church School 9:30 a.m. Worship 10:45 a.m. 700 Poyntz Dr. Robert L. Carlson, Pastor STUDENTS WELCOME!

COLLEGE HEIGHTS BAPTIST CHURCH 9:15 a.m. Sunday School 10:30 a.m. Worship Service 6 p.m. Training Hour

7 p.m. Worship Service 2221 College Heights Rd. 537-7744

LUTHERAN CAMPUS MINISTRY invites you ...

WORSHIP, SUNDAY 11 a.m. Danforth Chapel (campus) Lutheran Student Movement 5 p.m. Sunday - Lutheran Student Center Don Fallon, Pastor

1021 Denison Come share the Spirit!

2121 Blue Hills Rd.

Evangelical Free Church of Manhattan S.W. comer 14th & Anderson Steve Ratiff, Pastor Worship 9 a.m. Sunday School 10:15 a.m. 776-2086 Nursery Provided 776-0259

"Midnight Mass" St. Isidore's Saturday, Dec. 10 Music starts 10:30 p.m. Mass begins 11:15 p.m.

University Christian 8:30-11 a.m. Worshi 9:45 a.m. Sunday Sch 6:30 p.m. Eve. Servic

DIAL-A-PRAYER (913) 762-4837 762-2287 e there to pray with you

24 hours

Sunday Praise Hours 10:15 a.m. and 6 p.m. -Sunday School—9 a.m. -Collegiate Bible Class -Transportation available

Office537-7633 Seth Childs Rd. at Gary Ave. Mike Wall, Pastor 537-7967

MINISTRY FOR THE DEAF

St. Luke's Lutheran Church Worship Saturday 6 p.m. Sunday 8 and 10:45 a.m. -Bible Class-Sunday 9:30 a.m. Student fellowship 5 p.m. in the K-State Union 539-2604 330 N. Sunset

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH 8:45 a.m. Communion (first Sunday of the month) 9:45 a.m. Church School

Nursery provided for all services John D. Stoneking, Pastor 776-8821 612 Poyntz

First

Church of the Nazarene

Morning Worship-10:50

Evening Praise-6:00

Sunday School-9:45

College Class-9:30

Pastor K. Ray McDowell 539-6376 (home)

*Nursery Available

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Church School-9:45 a.m.

Worship-8:30 a.m. and 11 a.m.

Disciples of Christ

115 Courthouse Plaza 776-8790

Manhattan Mennonite Fellowship

539-2851 (church)

8:45 & 11 a.m. Worship

Manhattan

Jewish Congregation 1509 Wreath Ave. Shabbat Services 8 p.m. Fri. Religious School 9:30 Sun. Rides available sponsor B'nai B'rith Hillel at K-State Campus Adviser, David Margolies, 532-6154

Trinity Presbyterian Church Church School 9:30 a.m. Worship 10:45 a.m.

1110 College Ave.

Sunday School 9:30 a.m. Worship 10:45 a.m. KSU Student Group 6:30 p.m. Dorothy Nickel Friesen, Pastor of Manhattan Sunday Service 11 a.m. Study group 6:30 p.m. Sun. 1221 Thurston, UFM House 539-8416

UNITARIAN-UNIVERSALIST FELLOWSHIP of MANHATTAN 10:45 a.m. Service & Sunday Scho Nursery provided, everyone welcom On K-18, 1/2 mile east of K-177

For info: call 537-2349

(Continued from page 13)

TWO-BEDROOM, DISHWASHER, air cond $420' month. Close to campus and Agglev More. Six-month sublease beginning Jan. 537-0372 or 537-2919.

WILDCAT INNS Unfurn. Apts.:

Second semester vacancies in four different sites. I br., gas heat, no pets.

> $295-310 776-3804

SECOND SEMESTER LEASE?

One and two bedroom apartments close to campus, priced from $250-$400.

2700 Amherst (913) 776-3804

UNFURNISHED OR furnished to

in HORIZON III

Half block from campus, 2 bedrooms, exceptional $400

January 1 occupancy

539-8401

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

THREE-BEDROOM APARTMENT availar floor of a house, Living room, dining washer and appliances, $400 plur

SPRING SEMESTER

SUNSET APARTMENTS

Furn. Apts.: Second semester availability.

1 br., gas heat, no pets. $250

539-5051 or 776-3804

Automobiles for Sale

1977 FORD LTD, exc 1978 CHEVROLET Impala station wagon, clean reliable second car. Must sell before Christmas break, $1,200 or best offer. Call Robert at 537-7587, 1507

1980 TOYOTA Corolla, Only 69,500 mile

かっけいしょういんしんこうこうこうこうこうこういんこうこう

FOR SALE: 1971 BMW 2002. Call 539-3153

RIDE THE K-STATE UNION Express!. k-state union

8 Computers

FOR SALE: Line printer ribbons- Black mutitstrike no. OM MS (414 dozen), $1.25 each, Black nylon no. OM NY (15), $2.25 each. Call 532-6555 or come by Kedzie 103 to see.

PERSONAL COMPUTERS Authorized Warranty Service

also servicing · PC compatibles & printers

· Televisions & VCR MIDWEST SERVICES

9 Employment

HELP WANTED

Now Accepting Applications for Mid January opening. Contact Manhattan Town Center Mall Customer Sevice Counter for Application and Interview Schedule.

AEROBIC INSTRUCTORS needed. Call for apprent, 778-6469.

CASHIERS WANTED. Must be able to w

DELIVERY DRIVERS: Repul's Esc applications, Monday- Friday, 2-Childs Road.

ENROLL NOW!

Four Ad Production Internships available for Spring 1988

Title of course: Publications Practice, 1 credit hour, JMC 360. Must attend 8:30-11:30 a.m. one day a week. For more information and permission slip come to

DO YOU like kide? I need a fun-loving, flexible perso childcare. Room, board, salary plus car provi We are very nice. Call Becky (415)328-822 (Continued on page 15)

Kedzie 113.

CHRISTMAS SPECIALS

D) MW (O) NIDS 30% .. 45% ... 14k CHAIN

Pulsar Watches 25% 40%

Apply today for up to 5,000 instant credit

CASH LAY-A-WAY

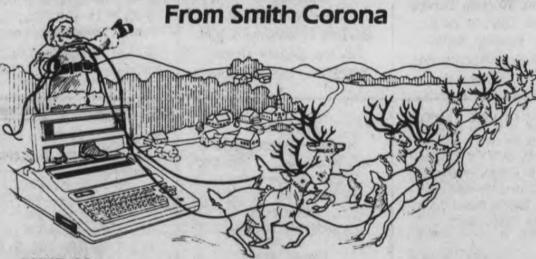

315 POYNTZ AVE. MANHATTAN

Thurs. 9:30-8 Sun. 1-5

Mon.-Sat. 9:30-5:30

こうこうこうこうこうこうこうこうこうこうこうこうこうこうこうこうこ

TOMORROW'S TECHNOLOGY AT YOUR TOUCH Good Writings We Bring

PWP 40 PERSONAL WORD PROCESSOR

A truly portable word processor with an 8 line by 80 character backlit liquid crystal display, 42,000 character memory, built-in disk drive with Data Disk storage of 100,000 characters, full word processing capabilities, Spell-Right™ 50,000 word electronic dictionary, Word-Right® AutoSpell®, and a prepackaged tutorial disk. list price $599

our price $495 ERSONAL WORD PROCESSOR

mpressive features include a 16 line by 80 character backlit liquid crystal display with 50,000 character memory, built-in disk drive with DataDisk storage of 100,000 characters, complete word processing capabilities including Headers and Footers, Undo and AutoSave, Spell-Right" 75,000 word electronic dictionary, Electronic Thesaurus and more. list price $799

our price $649

713 N. 12th Aggieville

539-7931

Collegian Classified Advertising

CLASSIFIED AD FORMS

Write your ad in the form provided below, and mail it in, along with the correct payment, to STUDENT PUBLICATIONS, INC., KEDZIE HALL, ROOM 103, KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506. You can also stop by Kedzie 103 to place your ad or call 532-6555. Student Publications now accepts MasterCard and Visa. (Minimum charge of $5.) The DEADLINE for Classified Ads is NOON the day before publication; NOON Friday for Monday's publication. Deadline for cancellation is NOON the day before publication

CLASSIFIED AD POLICY

* Only the FIRST TWO words of each ad will be in all caps; all other words will be in caps/lower, except initials.

No abbreviations, please.

No last names or phone numbers will be printed in the Personals section.

Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not alter the value of the ad. Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555. If mailed ads do not arrive by the Noon deadline, they will be placed in the next day's paper

Ads which are incorrectly calculated will be run only for amount paid.

The Collegian reserves the right to edit or reject any advertisement at any time.

Words/Dey 1		Classified	d Ad Rates		Classified	Categories
Classified Mail Order Form Phone no.	Words/Dey 1-16 2 17 2 18 3 19 3 20 3 21 3 22 3 24 4 25 4, 26 4 27 4 28 5, 29 5,	1 2 2.50 3.50 2.70 3.75 2.90 4.00 3.10 4.25 3.30 4.50 3.50 4.75 3.70 5.00 3.90 6.25 4.10 6.50 4.70 6.25 4.90 6.50 6.75 5.10 6.75 5.30 7.00	2 4 5 4.25 4.75 5.00 4.85 5.10 5.40 4.85 5.45 5.80 6.20 5.15 5.80 6.20 5.75 6.50 7.00 6.05 6.85 7.40 6.85 7.20 7.80 6.65 7.55 8.20 6.95 7.90 8.60 7.25 8.25 9.00 7.25 8.26 9.80 7.85 8.95 9.80 8.15 9.30 10.20 8.45 9.65 10.60	1.00 1.05 1.10 1.15 1.20 1.25 1.30 1.35 1.40 1.45 1.50 1.55 1.60 1.65	01 Announcements 02 Apartments for Rent—Furnished 03 Apartments for Rent—Unfurnished 04 Automobiles for Sale 05 Automobile Rentals 06 Card of Thanks 07 Child Care 08 Computers 09 Employment 10 Financial Services 11 Garage and Yard Sales 12 Houses and Mobile Homes for Rei 13 Houses and Mobile Homes for Sal	15 Miscellaneous Merchandise 16 Motorcycles/Bicycles for Sale 17 Musical Instruments 18 Personals 19 Pets and Pet Supplies 20 Professional Services 21 Rentals 22 Resuma/Typing Services 23 Roommate Wanted 24 Situation Wanted 25 Sporting/Recreational Equipment at 26 Sublease 27 Welcome
1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22 23 24 25 26 27 28 29 30	Name_		Clas	sified N	lall Order Form	j id. 2000 o 7
6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22 23 24 25 26 27 28 29 30
11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22 23 24 25 26 27 28 29 30
16 17 18 19 20 21 22 23 24 25 26 27 28 29 30
26 27 28 29 30
	26	27		28	29	30
Total days in paper Category		A 9 3

Tickets are still available for this Saturday Evening Buffet

Make your reservations now through the K-State Union Director's Office, located on the 2nd floor of the K-State Union Tickets are $14 for adults, $7 for children 12 and under Enjoy authentic Swedish cuisine prepared especially for your this Holiday season!

For more information, please call 532-6591

ADMISSIONS REPRESENTATIVE

Kansas State University is recruiting for the position of Admissions Representative. The person will be responsible for the development and implementation of an effective student recruitment program within a specific geographic region. The major responsibilities include: Coordinating strategy and resource people for the region; serving as the primary recruitment representative; developing and maintaining service relationships with high schools and community colleges; attending major community events; and coordinating efforts for the region with K-State faculty and staff. Qualifications for the position include: K-State bachelor's degree; familiarity and excitement for K-State; demonstrated student involvement/ leadership skills; strong communication skills (oral/ written); strong social skills for a variety of situations; willingness to travel extensively; ability to work independently; and overall high energy level and enthusiasm. Position will start immediately and pay $16,500 for 12 months (including one month vacation). Candidates should send a letter of applica tion, vita, and a list of references (addresses and telephone numbers) to:

Search Committee Kansas State University 122 Anderson Hall Manhattan, KS 66502 Deadline for applications is

December 16, 1988. Kansas State University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer

INSTALLED BY

ELEMENTARY SCHOOL teacher would like college girl to live in for second semister and summer. Help with house. Board and room in exchange. Write Box 1, o'o Collegian, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kansas

MOTHER'S HELPER position available Jan. 1, 1989. Work schedule, five days a week including Saturdays. Room, board, and car provided. Salary and length of employment negotiable. Location: Darien, Connecticut. Care of three boys, ages 5½, 4 and 2½. I worked for this nice family the summers of 1987 and 1989. If interested, please call Julie, 532-272

OVERSEAS JOBS, $900- $2,000 month. Summer, year-round, all countries, all fields, free information. Write IJC, P.O. Box 52-KS02, Corona Del Mar, CA

PART-TIME TELLER, Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 11a.m. to 2p.m. and every Saturday, 9a.m. to noon. Cash handling experience required. If Interested, call Suc Carlson, 537-0200.

PROGRAMMER POSITION available. The Kansas Cooperative Extension Service has openings for two student computer programmers. Work schedules can be arranged around class times. Applicants should be familiar with one of the following: Cobol, Fortran, or KSU mainframe systems operations. For more information, contact Mary Knapp or Sherri Thorspson, Computer Systems Office, noom 211 Urrberger, Phone: 532–7019. Applications are available from the above individuals, or at the Computer Science office. Applications will be accepted through Dec. 9, 1988.

PYRAMID PIZZA is now taking applications for delivery personnel. Please apply in person, 1130 Moro. TELEVISION PRODUCTION. Small station has immediate opening for person who can shoot and edit news and commercials. Directing in studio and out. Send resume and tape to: TV 8, 222 W. 6th Street, Junction City, Kanaas 66441. EOE.

WORK-STUDY POSITION opening in the Speech and Hearing Center room 107. Will train person. Duties answering phone, corrputer, miscellaneous. Posi-tion available now and next semester. Call or apply in person: 532-6879 or Lessure 107.

12 Houses/Mobile Homes for Rent

GOOD FOR married couple or female to rent charming little cottage! $240 little bills- nice local. 776-5306.

TWO-BEDROOM HOUSE on seven acres, large shed, less than 15 minutes from campus. Available Jan. 1, $350/ month plus utilities. 537-2634, 6- 10p.m. TWO-BEDROOM FURNISHED with we

VERY LARGE house, three blocks west of campus. Carpet, drapes, suitable for five. Phone 539-5257.

13 Houses/Mobile Homes for Sale

GOOD CONDITION three-bedroom, 12x65, stove, refrigerator, insulated storm windows, storage shed. Reasonable financing available. 537-8649.

MUST SELL 1977, 14x75 Windsor, Includes 3/4 acre, two-car garage, insulated shop, redwood deck and appliances. Must see to appreciate. 1-494-8484.

BY RICHARD BROADFOOT

GLIFF-HANGER CLIMAX...

HATCH-LATCH STUCK FROM THE INSIDE ...

WILL JEFF ESCAPE FROM THIS CONCRETE CRIPT O' DEATH?? WILL HE CAR IF HE DOESN'T?? IF HE DOES, WILL HE EVER BE AGLE TO REJON SOCIETY AS A MAPPY AND PRODUCTIVE THIRDERMIST?? HAS JEFF STOCKED ENOUGH BREING-WESNES TO LINST HIM UNTIL NEW YEARS?? WILL SOMEONE REMEMBER TO FEED HIS DOG, CECIL?? DID GEORGE BUSH OUT DEALS WITH DRUG-RUNNING PANAMANIAN DIGTATORS?? IS DARTH UNDER REALLY LUKE'S FATHER?? IS AUNT BEA REALLY OPIE'S AUNT?? FIND THE RINSWERS TO THESE QUESTIONS AND MORE NEXT SEMESTER IN "SALAD!!"

Bloom County

EXCUSE ME. I'VE WRITTEN A CHILDREN'S BOOK AND I'M POING SOME MARKET TESTING WITH THOROUGHLY

MODERN AMERICAN KIDS.

14 Lost and Found

LOST: OPAL necklace near Anderson Half. $25 reward Call Patsy 532-6207.

MISSING FROM Union ballroom: Blue backpack con-taining textbook, class notes, calculator, and pio-colo. Reward, Call 532-3869.

TWO JACKETS found in besement of Cardwell near terminals. Please identify by coming to room 23, Cardwell,

15 Miscellaneous Merchandise

FOR SALE: Full-size four-poster bed with matching mirrored bureau, couch mini trampoline, rotating table fan, 6x12 carpet. Call after 4p.m. 539-2920.

FOR SALE: GE two-head VCR model IVC8004X, variable speed playback, one touch recording, four-event two-week timer, remote. 539-3320 after Pre-Christmas Sale

10% off on 1989 Calendars Sale books up to 70% off Claflin Books & Copies

Open everyday 1814 Claflin 776-3771

Cash $ Pawn & Gun. Inc.

wants to buy used air conditioners 1917 Ft. Riley Blvd.

776-3332

FOR SALE: GE four-head VCR model 9-7250, HQ, variable speed play, one touch recording, four-event two-week timer with remote. 539-3320 after

GOVERNMENT SURPLUSII New G.I. overshoes, com-bat boots and safety-toe boots, wool (blankets, gloves, socks and mittens). Field jackets, over-costs, carnouflage clothing. Also Carhartt work-wear. Monday-Saturday Pa.m. 5p.m. Open Sun-days till Christmas noon-4p.m. St. Marys Surplus Salee, St. Marys, KS. 1-437-2734.

HIDE-A-BED COUCH: $100 or best offer, 778-9582.

MUST SELL: Two roundtrip plane tickets K.C.- Houston. Dec. 18-29. Negotiable. 539-9540. Early morning, after 5:30p.m.

MUST SELL: Roundtrip ticket, K.C. to Philadelphia Or-St. Louis, Dec. 14/ Jan. 7. Half price. Kim, 778-8948.

POPCORN, FIFTY pound bags of Grade A white popcom, for $15 a bag. 537-6888.

SKIS-FISCHER, Fire 180s, Look bindings. $60 or best offer. 539-0597 nights, Korey. TYPEWRITER- RENTALS- Sales- Repairs. Good selection of used BMs and Smith Coronas. Advanced Business Systems 713 N. 12th (Aggleville).

16 Motorcycles/Bicycles for Sale

GOOD CONDITION. Hardly used. Women's five-speed bicycle. Front and rear calipher brakes, ter, twin baskets. Cheep. 537-9679.

TWO BICYCLES Murray 10-speed. One for male other for female. Call 637-2289 until Sunday.

17 Musical Instruments

GUITARS AND Amp: 1987 Kramer Striker, two pickups and Floyd Rose tremelo, $300 new, $200 or best offer, ibanez Lee Paul copy, Dual pickups. Excel-lent condition, $200. Old Fender Twin Reverb 100-watt amplifier. Rough condition, but sounds great, $75 with cords and pedal, $50 alone.

WANTED: BASS player, drummer or drum machine programmer for studio work. 632-3829, evenings. WASHBURN G-JUNIOR gultar and Weahburn SX-12 amplifier. Excellent condition. 532-5381.

18 Personals

4TH FLOOR Putnam (D.C., too)- Listeni There'll be funny noises coming from Dewey's room when the lights go out tonight!

ATO STEVE—We were Eagles at both Harris and leely school, then we spert three years where the buffalces rule. Now we're Cals together, and things are all right. How bout going to my formal on Saturday night? KKG Missy.

BIG LUCKY- Crazy you're finelly graduating! Can we tell you how proud we are. We're glad you're staying here. So there will always be another beer! We Love You- The Drink and Destroyers. Lil' Lucky, Mis, Mon, Bec and Rachelle.

By Berke Breathed

By Jim Davis

JPM PAYPS 12-9

By Charles Schulz

Peanuts

HEY KID, GUESS WHAT .. BY

THERE'S GONNA BE

A COMPROMISE

THEY SAY WE CAN HAVE A CHRISTMAS PLAY AS LONG AS THERE'S NO RELIGION IN IT ..

CONGRATULATIONS, KEVIN. I knew you could do it. I

DEAR NEILL-I hope JL was as good for you as CP, MB, MR, TA, KS and NE were for me. Merry X-mas, SQ.

DELT MIKE, Roadtrips and phone bills are what we have ahead. I'll rilse you tone, and remember what I've said, I love you. Ang.

DUS IN #9: Thanks for your meat! Dinner Sunday??? Love, the girls in #3.

JENNIFER- THE chick with the patent leather shoes from Charlie's. Can't remember your last name. Call me 537-3771, Kent.

LMLJ-- TRUCE, the meel was great and I can't thank you enough. Even though I am leaving my cruel ideas stayed behind. Thanks for the great memo-

LYNDA—THE Therty several Dayz has ben stupindious and cofe chatt remberial, thank have U ever sean a

MY EXTROVERTED nymphomeniac in heat: Happy Birthdayl Does that come in red? I Love You! Your Introverted lover.

PIKE K.B.: Having you in class this semester geve that "special" glow. Through note passing learned about STI Next time we'll leave your so on when you pass out—Unzer! We may have C.B. but that half pleoe of gumcures it, unlike H.B. Good luck at Peat—at least you won't be clearing morkey cages. We'll miss you—let's see who beats who on the CPA exami Congrate, graduate!

SN DAVID: Sleigh bells ring, are you listenin, over fields as they glisten, walking with you in a Kappa Wonderland. Merry Christmas. Love, KKG Sarah.

SPIKE—FOR one year you've been my man. You know my mom don't understand. It's been fun and we've had our spats, but the roses really made it last! I'm looking forward to '89— with each other we will spend time. So don't be shy whatever you do. Come see me and say! I L you. CSA.

MUFFY: VALENTINO'S, movies, roommates, "Spree-it's freel" Tuttle, pets, Burger King-pickles, fathers, Auntie Mae's, talks. Speedy, shopping, Bush-wacker's, men, hasta spurnoni, 9 in '89' Last Chance-free drinks, Taco Hut-tomatoes and CCS. "Are you sisters?" Much success y buena suerte siempre! Fifi.

Christmas Personals

Segunia

DANIEL, I'M going to need some practice to "beat the dragon" over Christmas. Maybe Ms. Lynn will help us out! Happy two and one-half years and Merry Christmas! P.S. My stocking or yours?

JORGE "IGGY"— You're my "Walk on the Wild Side." I picked you up four months ago? The computer date that went, wrong, back muscles, 5:30 weke-ups, back rubs, brownies, wrestling matches. What will you remember? Annie.

LAUREL SUZANNE, from one sister to another, Merry Christmasi Love, Julie.

PHILIP B.— Happy Anniversary Monday, Dec. 12th and Merry Christmas for the rest of our lives. Love, Julie.

PRODUCTION ASSISTANTS Chrissy, Joanne and Penny: Thanks for your dedication and a festive semester. Penny, congrets on your graduation and come visit us. Chrissy and Joanne—let's have a great last semester! Merry Christmas! Wanda:

THIRD FLOOR Putnarn, Merry Christmas and Happy New Yearl Your friend, Julie.

Bo E.— WITHOUT you we'll sure miss... Tuesday movies (more popcorn!) Rep-Dem and T.C. debates (Jason can talk!) Darts and Plotionary (Who will Catherine win with?) Steamroller and rolling down stairs! Don't longet to uphold your "ideas," "get up every morning." or USI Congrats: Catherine,

CATHY- GRAD is aimost here. It's time to party and step into the real world with style. Go get 'emi Love ya,

IN LOVING memory of our friend Byron. Sadly missed, we would give anything to see you again. Your friends, Dennis, Eilen, Lynne, Rich, Donna and KELLY WITH a R- it's a marvelous night for a moondance, I'm so glad it's finally here. We'll est, dance and have some laughs, and drink lots of beers. Can't walt. Love (Not Pupples) Bo Bane. LAMBDA CHI Dan-Thanks so much, I had a really good time: Pizza and wine were really fine. Red roses are my favorite! Guess What?

ries and goodbye. -Dennis.

MAUREEN FARTED, Scott left the seat up, Usa fell in Kathle typed and we all stayed up. is this what happens when you plan ahead?

MERK, THANKS for the wonderful evening at Tuttle. I'm so glad I waited. Love, Pork (Jirri).

NUT: CONGRATULATIONS on graduation and on graduate school. I think you should be student of the year. I Love You. —G.S.L.

PAT, GREG, Bubba, Jan—Pads and paper are very unique to place in your yard, for you to critique. The adhesive will give you something to remember us by, as we say, so long, to four great guyel

PECK: ONE more semester in Manhattani Has it really been four years? There's lots of good memories to take back to T-Town—Memories of friends, parties and basketbell games. Thanks for making it all possible. Love, Peck.

PRINKAAN, I'M home by now— D.V.I Thank for the ride to the airport and for "bele glimlaggles" in the past six weeks. Eluviewstax. McCondisa.

JIM W.— Merry Christmas and Happy New Year. Hope we have fun in KC. Love, Kim.

19 Pets and Pet Supplies

CHINESE SHAR-PEI pupples ready for X-mas. Call (913)263-1126 evenings between 6- 10p.m. FOR SALE: 12" Oscar. Loves goldfish. Real fun. Make offer. 776-8592, Scott.

DOWN 16 Gives, 1 Tennis but wants hits

537-4169.

shape 3 Ford the coating 23 Dictator Idi stream 24 Tardy 4 Atlanta 25 Like some players 5 Extend a doughnuts

2 Track

subof ooh, scription tra, or fa 6 Further-27 Actor more Guinness 7 Square 28 Shuttle dance

32 1958

9 Broad-10 Actress 11 Minstrel's 35 Actress steps 8 England

36 Spanish city 38 River storage 42 Where some

43 On X1 NG 44 Volup-NEO 5TET 45 Playboy founder SUNDAE for short of One's -"

NEW APARTMENTS, one-half block campus, one-half block Aggleville. $160 month plus one-third utilities. 537-2614.

NON-SMOKING FEMALE to share one-bedroom furn ished apartment, $147.50 plus utilities a month. Call 776-5229 after 5p.m.

NON-SMOKING FEMALE: To share two-bedroom apartment, close to Aggieville, 597-1273.

NON-SMOKING FEMALE to share one-bedroom spa-cious apartment next to Ahearn. $100/ month. 537-0454.

share a very nice house close to campus, one-half utilities. 537-8560.

NON-SMOKING FEMALE, two-bedroom washer/ dryer, dishwasher, garage. 778-2278, leeve message.

ONE-BEDROOM FURNISHED and one unfurnished in

ONE OR two, close to campus, own room in big house, fireplace, dishwasher, microwave, cable, hot tub, utilities paid, no lease. $180, 776-0203, leave

ONE/ TWO females wanted to share four-bedroom house. Only $180 monthly. Great living! Call apartment one block from Aggleville, two blocks from campus. $185/ month, 537-1874.

ONE- TWO non-smoking females to share farmhouse.
Prefer Veterinary or Animal Science majors. Free
stall and pasture for horse, cow or dog. Cable, firework, beef and eggs furnished. P.O. Box 1211,

ONE/ TWO non-smoking males to share three-bedroom house in quiet neighborhood, walking distance to campus. Own bedroom, $155/ month plus one-third

OPEN-MINDED, MATURE, responsible adult sought X-large private badroom, TV, VCR, microwave answering machine, etc. Water, trash, gas paid. Washer/ dryer, $175/ month. Available Dec. 31, 278-2154

24 Situation Wanted

FAMILY WANTS college girl to live in for next semester, surreme and fall. Board and room in exchange for duties. Write Box 1, c/o Collegian, Kedzie Hall, KSU, Manhattan, KS 66506.

25 Sporting/Recreation Equipment

1987 SKI boots. Only worn twice. Woman's size 6% - 7. $90 or best offer. 776-5290.

26 Sublease

BEDROOM AVAILABLE in large five-bedroom house, two bathrooms. Rent $100 a month plus one-fifth bills. 539-7696. CLEAN, SPACIOUS, very nice two-bedroom apart-ment, close to campus. Available for sublease, Call 639-9599.

FEMALE TWO blocks from campus, clean, spacious, officiency, turnished or not. $140 all utilities paid. Available Dec. 15 or later. 539-6499. LARGE TWO-BEDROOM apartment. University Ter-race Apartments. Need to lease for second semes-ter. Available Dec. 16. Call Army or Kathy.

NICE ONE-BEDROOM apartment, large enough for two. Furnished, water plus tresh paid. $185/ month. 537-2979.

SUBLEASE: NICE three-bedroom duplex, available after finals. $390/ month, negotiable. Call

WALK TO campusi Sublease till May. One-bedroom apartment across from Durland. Clean and conve-nienti Leave message, 537-8739.

28 Adoption

ADOPT: A Baby is our dream! We are blessed with a wonderful, happy marriage and financial success. Let us give your beby love, security and the best of everything. Legal. Expenses paid. Call Lynn and Martin collect: (212)362-6884.

WINTER BRIDES-Save money by having your we veil custom designed and made by Pe Creations. Write to P.O. Box 1984, Manhatt free brochure.

YAMAHA TURNTABLE. Perfect condition. Must sell.

539-4904.

32 Scholarships

Crossword

ACROSS 37 Maine Weather national park 39 Comic actor feature Wally

4 Tiny nail 8 Ride the 40 Corn unit 41 Island 12 Eggs, to greetings 45 "Clue" room 13 "Splits-48 California 14 Popular national park

back"

50 Way out 51 Was in national the red park 17 Inside 52 Word after picture 53 Greek 18 Record cheese protector & 19 Altar *take

15 South

Dakota

22 Alaska 55 007 e.g. national park 26 Comes to earth

29 Tier 30 Fellow: slang 31 Sighing teeth

POT WESTPOINT 46 Give the INN ERIE FONA pink slip to NET LAPP ARAT 47 Ignited Vesterday's answer 12-9 45 "A Room 34 " - Mis-erables" 36 Did piano command song Solution time: 25 mins. ERMA PATH PEP AUEL OLEO UDO VIENDOUNT NUN ENTAUL EMPTY TO FOLEO

jeans hug

20 Lawn 26 Follower launcher 29 Balderdash Roger Williams hit 45 46 47 33 Pleasantly plump 12-9 CRYPTOQUIP

EGW ZPS CFF G JNF JNF JSWWFH.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: H equals L

HUTNJ

UM

JNF JPHH LPPJNC Yesterday's Cryptoquip: APTER WINSOME FIANCE DUMPED HIM, STEAMROLLER OPERATOR WAS

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, Friday, December 9, 1988 FREE CAT to good home, one-year-old black femal very affectionate. Litter box trained. 776-0835. MALE ROOMMATE wanted to live in tour-be

20 Professional Services

SOUND REINFORCEMENT

21 Rentals

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180, 103 S. Fourth St., Suite 25.

PROMPT ABORTION and contraceptive services in Lawrence. (913)841-5716.

call for references

FOR RENT: One-bedroom studio apartment on Ander

PRIME AGGIEVILLE location for lease. 600 square feet.

STORE YOUR valuables over Christmas break. Aztec Storage, open seven days a week. Call 776-1111 for discount rate, or come by, 5004 Murray Road.

ABOUT ANYTHING typed, editing and transcription services, reasonable rates, by professional secret-ary, 539-5998 after 5p.m.

COMPLETE DATA processing services, term papers, theses and dissertations, resumes. Laser jet print-

PROCRASTINATORS AND those on the ball, for expert typing give us a call. 537-3166, message.

RESUMES DESIGNED for your profession. Typeset and laserprinted. Graphics Plus, corner of Bluernont and N. Manhattan, Aggleville. 539-6027.

TYPING SERVICE; Professional and experienced sec-retary. Very reasonable rates. Pick-up and delivery available, Call 776-9736.

23 Roommate Wanted

776-2287.

$100 BONUS to fernale. Nice three-bedroom excellent location, low utilities. 776-5294.

FEMALE ART majors, split-level, two and one-half blocks from campus near Aggle. Call Jill at

FEMALE: BLOCK from campus, behind 'Ville, $185/month. Water and trash paid. Partially furn-ished. 537-1268.

FEMALE; NICE house near campus, own room, washer and dryer. $145/ month plus utilities. 537-8825.

FEMALE, NON-SMOKING roommate wanted. Very close to campus. Call 537-76441

FEMALE- OWN room, two blocks from campus, one-half rent and utilities. Call 776-2198.

FEMALE, OWN room, nice large house, $130/ month plus part utilities. Call Arry 776-1790.

FEMALE: OWN room, near campue, spacious furnished apartment, washer/ dryer, fireplace, microwave, pool. Helf rent, half utilities. 537-1757.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share house, close to carr-

FEMALE ROOMMATE- Own room, low utilities, is in complex, close to campus, fun roomies. $145 a month. Call 539-6299.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share two-bedroomment near campus and park. 776-6338.

ow or Jan. 1, 537-2016.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share two-bedroom apart-ment close to Aggieville. Washer dryer, $187.50 plus one-half utilities. Nice, must see. Available bedroom house near campus. $150/ month, one third utilities. 778-5294.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share two-bedroom apart-ment. Half rent and half utilities. Will come down on price. Very nicel Call 537-7269.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share three-bedroom house near campus. Washer/ dryer furnished. $125. 559-1021.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share great apartment. Own room, washer/ dryer, Half rent and utilities. 537-7183.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted: One-bedroom in two-bedroom apartment. Close to campus, Aggieville. Rent and water approximately $155. Call 537-9574, Jean or Michelle.

FEMALE TO share three-bedroom apartment. One-third utilities, $130 a month. Call Liea at 776-0678.

FULLY FURNISHED, cable TV, all utilities, microwave carpet all for $185. 539-4287.

MALE (ONE or two): Two-bedroom, one block from Durland, $160. Laundry, driveway privileges. 776-4750.

MALE- OWN room in two-bedroom apartment. Block from campus. Washer/ dryer. $150. Call Gary 539-4784.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted. Own room half block to carrous and Aggleville. $160/ month, one-third utilities. Call 776-1270.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted: Own room, own full bathroom, near campus, start spring semester. 537-9374.

MALE ROOMMATE to share very spaclous four-bedroom apartment near campus, own room. $93.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted to share furnished two-bedroom apartment. $110/ month. Call 776-2146.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share nice three-bedrapartment close to campus. Call 539-2034.

pus, furnished, washer/ dryer, many more extras. $162.50/ month plus deposit. Call Renes.

theses and dissertations. Call 537-4148.

22 Resume/Typing Services

son Ave. across street from Union. Six months lease. $220. 537-4261 evenings.

impulse

SOUND

MANHATTAN, KS.

(913) 537-9694

house. Must be open-minded. Rent includes utili-ties and trash pickup. Apply in person, 1006 REGISTERED GERMAN Shorthair Pointer, three-year-old male. Good nose and holds a point, $175 or best offer. 778-0474 evenings or leave message.

NON-SMOKING FEMALE to share furnished two-bedroom. Cats allowed. Call Paula or Brenda, 776-5669.

NON-SMOKING MATURE male student needed

NON-SMOKING UPPERCLASS male for spacious apartment on Poyntz. $115 plus one-third utilities. 778-6657.

large residential house two blocks south of carripus.

Share kitchen, dishwasher, clothes washer and dryer and the first floor living area. All utilities included for $200 a month. Available Jan. 1. Call

776-5010. ONE/ TWO female roommates to share two-bi

PRECISION SKIS, poles and Solomon boots. Used only four times. Great X-mas gift. 539-4904.

MALE, TWO-BEDROOM apartment own room, $125, one-third utilities. Available Dec. 15, 539-1993.

NON-SMOKER NEEDED to sublease two-bedroon

29 Wedding Accessories

31 Stereo Equipment

NEED SCHOLARSHIP money? Miss Manhattan- K-State Pageant finalists will share over $2,800 in cash scholarships. Entry deadline Jan. 25th. Infor-mation, call 537-2667 or 537-4263.

By Eugene Sheffer

UJ EPSHV LF

Seats

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

"It is important that there is dialogue between the faculty and the student body," Epps said. "The problem won't go away. Both the facultystaff and student body are adamant about their positions - the tradition of the students standing during the game vs. the the faculty-staff obstructed view, their right to watch the game, and the custom to sit while

Bosco said the seating in Bramlage is an athletic department matter. The department will help alleviate the immediate concerns of the faculty-staff members in section 18, he said.

"But, once we pass this stage, the athletic department must work for a long-term solution to future seating and the accommodation of both the student and faculty-staff," he said. 'Our focus at this time was a shortterm answer."

Laurian Cuffy, student body presi-dent, said the problem at Bramlage is not with the students or the faculty, but with the facility.

"The problem cannot be fully addressed until the season is over," he said. "All that can be done is an appeal to the students to not stand."

Not all the students stand because they want to, he said. Often the students stand as a result of a snowball effect — students standing so they can see over those in front, who are standing to show their spirit.

Athletic office officials said fans interested in relocation should mail a request by Wednesday to the ticket office located in Ahearn Field House. The relocated seats will be awarded on the faculty-staff points system and assigned by the KSU. Athletic Department.

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 officer made sure she made her

After a DUI offender receives a specific number of community service hours to complete, the offender is then given the option of choosing how he or she would like to complete the hours. Cammel said.

Offenders can work at the Sunset Zoo, University for Man, Sunset Cemetery or the Manhattan Emergency Shelter, she said.

A lot of offenders work at the University for Man, located on North Manhattan Avenue. When offenders come to UFM they are asked whether they would like to work indoors or outdoors, said Ron Zerrer, director of UFM's home program. Then they are provided with jobs accordingly, he UFM is run by volunteers and by people that have community service hours to complete.

The home program provides assistance for low income and elderly people, said Zerrer. Workers do odd jobs around the community.

Volunteers often do minor construction jobs like repairing leaking roofs and crooked steps, Zerrer said. The home program provides free labor for the Flint Hills Breadbasket and for the Manhattan Emergency

"I did 28 hours at UFM for my community service," the offender said. "The other two hours I did at the Emergency Shelter. At UFM I did a lot of outside work with a group of guys that were also DUI offenders."

'We worked in the community gardens and dug ditches. We also had to clean out an old dirty shed and then haul the debris to the landfill. I also did typing and filing in the UFM

"At the emergency shelter I had to clean out their refrigerator and their laundry room. I also took inventory of the shelter's food stock," the offender said.

"Doing the community service work was not very fun. It took up a lot of time and was hard to schedule in before my deadline.

"The entire experience has made me all too aware of the problems of alcohol and drunk driving," she said.

ORU

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 11

but Thursday she hit only three of her 21 floor shots.

ORU was led by Cari Chamberlin, who poured in 30 points.

Mossman noted that freshman Leah Honeycutt and sophomore Jennifer Grebing will be redshirted.

Trees

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Fehr said the computer inventory system helps the department determine areas that need maintenance like planting, pruning, species diversity or insect control.

The computer inventory system also lists the trees by categories such as species, diameter, height, condition and whether any power lines are present overhead, he said.

Fehr said sections of the city are reinventoried each summer by a forestry intern to update the inventory plan and inform the department what areas need maintenance.

Fehr said the department is responsible for the care of about 20,000 public trees.

"For a city this size, I think that's very significant," he said.

Fun

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 7 students, she said.

"Many of those just come in to get a Coke or to get away and relax a little bit," she said. "It gets noisy in here, but it's not the kind of noise you

For many of the Union patrons, it doesn't take long to relax.

"We get a lot of billiard business during the day, and a lot of people come in just to play one video game

New Nonfat Frozen Yogurt

Same great taste with no fat or cholesterol

Nautilus Towers-Aggleville Phone 537-1616 between classes," she said.

"Billards is on the upswing," she said. "I think that is because of the popularity of the movie 'The Color of Money.'

Playing pool has an economical advantage, too.

"Pool is the cheapest game we have in here," she said. "You can play for a couple of hours and only spend about $3.50, with as many people as you want at your table."

Restaurant Have your Christmas Party at Hunams! (Catering, too) 539-8888

$1.00 Pizza

BUY ANY SMALL PYRAMID PIZZA . . . GET A SECOND small pizza FOR ONLY $1.00 BUY ANY MEDIUM PYRAMID PIZZA . . . GET A SECOND medium pizza FOR ONLY $2.00 BUY ANY LARGE PYRAMID PIZZA . . . GET A SECOND large page FOR ONLY $3.00

COUPON REQUIRED

Airport Flea Market Manhattan, Kansas OPEN EVERY WEEKEND Sat. 8 a.m.-4 p.m. Sun. 10 a.m.-6 p.m. Household Goods, Tools, Collectables, Crafts, Furniture. Christmas Items and Decorations, Jewelry & Lots More Space available Ft. Riley Blvd. to Airport Rd., to Murray Rd.. Right to Access Rd.. Right to the

Market. Watch for the signs. PRIDE CO. (913)776-6906

CONDUCTION OF THE TOTAL ACTION AND ACTION OF THE TOTAL ACTION AND ACTION ACTION

WordPerfect

Get the highest rated word processor at an unbelievable educational price - with speller and thesaurus! ☐ WordPerfect V.4.2 -$ 125 ☐ WordPerfect V.5.0 -$ 135

F/T Faculty

Have a Safe and Well Christmas from your Wellness Program PAC-CATS

PAC-CATS Office Suite 26 Lower Level Lafene 532-6927

Want To Sell Your Books?

Question: How does the Union Bookstore determine how much your books are worth when you sell them back?

If the Bookstore has notification from the instructor that the books are to be re-adopted for use the next semester, and if the Bookstore does not already have a sufficient stock on hand, then you will be offered 60% of the publisher's current list price

For example: if a book sells for $10 new and it meets the requirements noted above, the book would be bought from you for

If the Bookstore has not received notice that the book will be used again, or it it already has a sufficient stock on hand, the book would be worth the current wholesale price as indicated by one of the nation's largest jobbers of used textbooks.

If you have any questions about the price being paid for a textbook, the buyer will be happy to answer any questions which you may have

Question: Is 50% the usual price paid for textbooks around the country?

Definitely not Most stores in the United States pay only 50% for books being used again. The Union Bookstore is one of the few stores which pays 60%. And remember, we pay cash. You don't have to take your money out in trade.

Question: What about paperbacks? Does the 60% policy apply to them

Question: If the publisher's price has gone up since I bought my books, will I receive the benefit of the price increase?

k-state union

The K-State Union Will Buy 'Em!

Wednesday, December 7 thru Friday, December 16

Monday thru Thursday Friday Saturday Sunday

8:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Noon to 5:00 p.m.

State of the State

Gov. Mike Hayden delivered the annual State of the State address Monday to mixed reviews by legislators. See Page 7A.

Weather

Foggy this morning with clouds and some drizzle or freezing drizzle possible. Becoming partly cloudy by the afternoon, with highs near 40 and dropping to around 30.

Holiday Wrap-up

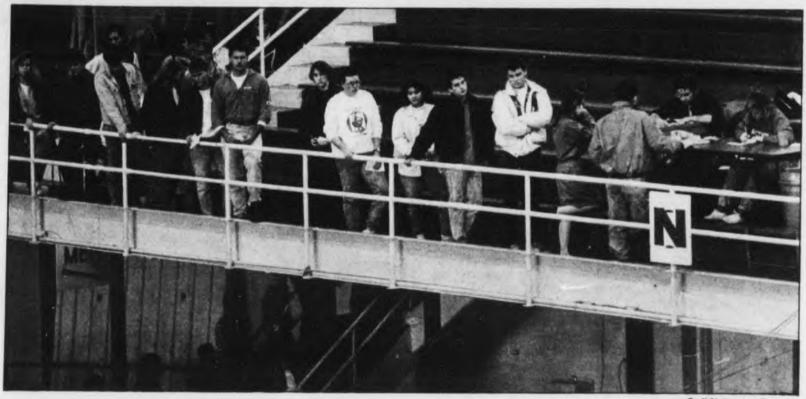

The 'Cats went 4-2 during action over the holiday break pushing the team's record to 8-3. See page

Wednesday

January 11, 1989

Kansas State University Manhattan, Kansas 66506 Volume 95, Number 76

Kansas State Collegian

Students wait in line to pay delinquent fines Tuesday afternoon in forced many students waiting to pay deliquencies to go through Ahearn Field House. Computer problems later in the afternoon registration and fee payment today.

Delays cause frustration, lines Downed computer stalls registration

By Kevin Kramer Staff Writer

K-State's new computerized registration system blinked on and off Tuesday afternoon in Aheam Field House during spring fee payment. Because the system was down, students stood or sat in long lines only to discover they must go through late enrollment.

'There's nothing I can do but come back tomorrow," said Colleen Miller, sophomore in political science. "It was a big hassle. I've been here since 1:30 p.m. trying to take care of two delinquencies, waiting in one line after another.

"I heard the problem was that the computers were down," Miller said. "There has got to be a better way. You would think this type of problem wouldn't happen with all dents who paid their fees after their the advances there are in normal time in the morning, she said. "It would be even better to do this (registration) by mail."

"The computers went down and things backed-up quickly," said University Registrar Donald Foster. "There was no malfunction in the program. The computer system could not handle the total load of registration and was overwhelmed."

The activity on the computer increases each day during registration, which can be more than it can handle, Foster said.

Other factors contributing to the system's shutdown could be stuscheduled time, and the large number of students who did not pay "Next time I'm coming at my their financial obligations resulting in delinquency inquiries, he said.

At 4 p.m., Foster and other University officials began making lists of the students still waiting in line due to delinquencies or other enrollment problems.

"We are telling everyone who has their names on the list to come to late enrollment at the Union Ballroom from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Wednesday," said Gunile DeVault, assistant registrar.

"It is really disorganized," said Tania Klotzbach, junior in food and nutrition-exercise science. "There is also the problem of people who have already paid their fines and they aren't recorded."

'I paid my ticket last week," said Steve Covert, senior in agricultural mechanization. "There has got to be a simpler way to get the computers updated."

'A great deal of confusion resulted from registration workers forgetting to direct or misdirecting students to the next appropriate station, Covert said.

"I like the new system with the one card, but something needs to be done to help with the delinquency process," he said. "If they have more computer terminals they should be using them."

The longest delinquency lines formed at the KSU Police table. "There is an estimated 1,100

■ See FEES, Page 11B

Fee payments continue

By The Collegian Staff

Students unable to make fee payments Tuesday due to computer problems will be allowed to finish the fee payment process during late registration, University administrators said.

Registration will continue from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 2 p.m. to 7 p.m. today and Thursday, and from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. Friday in the Union Ballroom.

Three major groups of students will be taking advantage of the extended registration, University Registrar Don Foster said.

The first group of students, whose delinquencies cleared but who were still unable to finish the process, will find their schedules saved and the $10 late fee waived.

Students who did not pay their parking tickets on time will be assessed the late fee, but will find their schedules saved.

Those students who did not enroll until this week and received their schedule from the enrollment center in Farrell Library, yet were unable to have their fee assessment set, will have their schedules saved, but no late fee charged.

Kansas Legislature begins issue debate

Editor's Note: Issues '89 is a three part series which previews some of the major issues to be dealt with this semester by government at state and university levels.

By Kendra Gensemer Government Editor

With the start of the 1989 legislative session this week, Kansans will witness the evolution of many important issues throughout the coming months.

Among those issues the Kansas Senate and House of Representatives will face this session are funding for the second year of the Margin of Excellence, the entry of Washburn University into the regents system, windfall tax return/tax reform, capital punishment, prison reform, a highway plan, health care and reappraisal.

Margin of Excellence

Full funding for year two of MOE has been requested by Kansas Board of Regents. Approved by regents in 1986, MOE is a three-year program designed to improve the quality, condition and performance of the seven higher-education institutions under the regents system.

Each university receives a portion of the MOE budget allocated by the Legislature. K-State requested about $4.12 million of the $839 million total regents budget application. The requested money would go to increase salaries and enhance programs related to the University's mission statement.

House Speaker Jim Braden believes full funding for MOE is possible this year.

"I really think the Margin will come close to full funding, if not full funding," Braden said. Senate President Bud Burke said the MOE is one of the most important Local representatives say they support full funding for MOE.

The MOE is the number one priority for this campus. I am totally committed to 100 percent funding," said Sen. Lana Oleen, R-Manhattan.

She said she believes it is critical that MOE receive full funding this year because last year it only received 83 percent.

Reps. Katha Hurt, D-Manhattan, and Sheila Hochhauser, D-Manhattan, also said full funding is a top priority for them.

Washburn Entry Into the Regents System

Washburn University of Topeka is the only municipal university remaining in the nation. It is governed by a local board and supported in part by Topeka property taxes. The state also provides aid in three forms: a direct grant from the state, money from counties that send students to Washburn and a set amount of state money for each credit hour taught, which is funneled through the state Board of Education.

The Kansas regents system is composed of seven schools, K-State, University of Kansas, Wichita State University, Fort Hays State University, Emporia State University, Pittsburg State University and the Kansas College of Technology. The Kansas Board of Regents oversees policy and establishes budget allocations for each school.

Legislators will have to decide whether to allow Washburn to enter the regents system.

Burke said he does not see a recommendation from the regents to

"I don't think the case for Washburn has been made. By bringing it in Issue&'89

Kansas State Legislature

- Margin of Excellence funding
- Washburn entry into
- regents system
- Windfall/tax reform
- Death penalty · Prison reform
- Highway plan

Health Care

two law schools," he said. "We truly have enough universities in Kansas, we don't need another one which would drain funding from an educational system that is already strapped," Hurt said.

we'd have four business schools and

Oleen said the issue is going to be "emotional" but she will retain her stand against it.

Windfall Tax Return/Tax Reform The issue of what to do with the surplus of funds in the state general fund may be resolved this session.

The state of Kansas has collected over $300 million of windfall because of 1986 federal income tax code changes and lack of adjustment in the state income tax code. Those changes decreased the amount of federal income tax Kansans had to pay and left them with more income to be taxed by the state.

None of the windfall was returned in 1987; a portion was returned in "The majority of people in Kansas think the windfall should be returned," Braden said. "There are lots of things you could do with that money but there is strong support to send it back," he said. ■ See ISSUES 1989, Page 6A

Temporary housing unneeded in

By Janet Swanson Editor

Problems which caused students to be placed in temporary housing during the fall semester should not occur this semester nor again in fall 1989, said Thomas Frith, director of housing.

Room conflicts last fall prevented 30 men from being placed in residence halls until about the third week of classes, Frith said.

"We had room for women, but not for men," Frith said. "We just didn't have the mix of rooms right for the group we had."

To compensate for the imbalance, the ninth floor of Moore Hall, which during 1987-88 had been designated coed and then switched to all-women for the fall of 1988, was changed back to a coed floor for this semester. "There had been a wing of men on

Shon Hansen, junior in marketing, waits among a row of tables in Ahearn Field House for a friend to pay a delinquent fine.

Staff/Christopher T. Assaf that floor previously, so we just changed things back," Frith said. The majority of the women who resided last semester in the now male wing decided to stay in Moore Hall rather than relocate to another hall,

Frith said. "I guess that says something about the Moore Hall staff," Frith said. "I think they did an outstanding job and

I admire the loyalty of the residents." The number of students who live on campus during the spring semester is traditionally lower than the fall semester, which should also help erase the possibility of overcrowding, Frith said. University estimates for the fall 1988 semester show that about 5 per12 percent lived in greek housing, 27 percent were in campus-owned housing and 55 percent lived off-campus.

We will be at about 97 percent capacity for the spring and we were at about 98 percent for the fall," Frith The decrease can be attributed to the number of students who are on internships, who graduate, decide not to return to school or are dismissed from the University, he said. The residence halls have filled as early as July in previous fall semesters. However, the renovation of Van Zile, Boyd and Putnam halls will add about 60 to 70 rooms for the fall 1990

tion of the halls was approved in George Miller, vice president for cent of the students were commuters, November by the Board of Regents and the state is in the process of receiving bids from architects, said Lawrence Garvin, director of

An architect is expected to be selected by March 1 and a contractor chosen by July, Garvin said. Construction on the project is expected to begin in August, and be completed by August 1990.

Although the final renovation plan has not been approved, the overall renovation will include placing air conditioning in the three halls, joining the three through a corridor system and placing a central food service area in Van Zile.

"We wanted to restore Van Zile The planned $6.9 million renova- into the housing system," said administration and finance. Van Zile, which was constructed in 1926, was closed in 1984 when the cost of maintaining it became

"Van Zile wasn't designed to be economically feasible," Miller said. "It became a marginal operation." About $5 million of the restoration funds will be raised through revenue bonds which will be bought as the project progresses, Miller said. The remaining $1.9 million is already present in the housing department's budget, he said. "A portion of that $1.9 million is from when we refinanced their bonds a few years ago," Miller said. "I'm not sure how much of it is, but a large portion of it."

The $160 rate increase for residence halls next year, from $2,100 to $2,260, will be used to cover increases in employee wages, not necessarily the expense of the Van Zile renovation, Frith said.

"In the past couple of years, the state has mandated large wage increases and then we have cost of living," he said. "It adds up."

However, the past construction of residence halls was funded through fees paid by residents, Frith said. "The precedent is more than established in this matter," he said. Miller said that he understands that the housing rate increase is not attributable to the Van Zile proposal. "But when we have a problem area that we have to improve at any of the residence halls ... that is an expense

■ See HOUSING, Page 11A

Church leaders to visit pope

VATICAN CITY - A special meeting between Pope John Paul II and the leaders of the Roman Catholic Church in the United States will take place here March 8-10, the Vatican announced Tuesday.

Thirty-five U.S. archbishops and top Vatican officials will take part in the talks, which are expected to cover a variety of issues and problems.

The specific agenda was not given. The announcement said "challenges facing the church" would be discussed.

U.S. church leaders asked for the meeting two years ago when many were concerned about Vatican disciplining of liberal Archbishop Raymond Hunthausen of Seattle. Hunthausen later was restored to full authority, but church leaders still wanted the meeting.

During the annual meeting of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops in Washington two months ago, its president, Archbishop John L. May of St. Louis, described the pope as being "bullish on the church in the United States."

... Around the nation.

'Guilty' baby sitter sentenced

LOS ANGELES - A baby sitter convicted of involuntary manslaughter in the death of a 6-month-old child and the abuse of two other infants has received the maximum sentence of eight years and eight months in prison.

Vickie Maas, 28, buried her face in her hands and cried Monday as Superior Court Judge Howard J. Schwab announced

"Today's my birthday and this is the best present I've gotten," said the baby's mother, Karen Duncan, after sentencing. "It makes us feel better that she's in jail."

... Around the region

Missouri man to be executed

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. - The Missouri Supreme Court on Tuesday ordered death row inmate Winford Stokes put to death Friday for the 1978 murder of a University City woman.

Although Stokes is near the end of his appeals process, prison spokesman Dale Riley said officials at the Missouri State Penitentiary were not making immediate preparations for an execution because the inmate has an appeal pending in U.S. District Court in St. Louis.

If the execution were carried out Friday, it would be exactly one week after the state held its first execution in 24 years when George "Tiny" Mercer was put to death.

The state's highest court issued the new death warrant in light of the U.S. Supreme Court's rejection Monday of one of Stokes' appeals. He has a separate appeal pending in the St. Louis federal

Fort Riley soldier found dead

FORT RILEY - A soldier was found dead early Monday in a burning car on the southwestern edge of the Fort Riley, the Army

Army spokesman Mark Meseke identified him as Spec. Donald Smiley of Woodinville, Wash. He had been at Fort Riley since April 1987 and was a communications specialist.

The car was found burning early Monday near the Camp Forsyth area at the post. An Army investigation was under way.

Examiner matches shell casings

JUNCTION CITY - A shell casing found near the body of a woman shot to death in 1986 matched another casing fired from a gun owned by the man accused in her death, a state investigator testified Tuesday.

Hugh Kizer, a KBI criminologist and weapons examiner, said his tests showed that both .22-caliber shell casings came from the gun owned by Oliver K. Smith Jr., who is charged with murder in the death of Shelly Prine.

Kizer's testimony was given during the second day of Smith's rape and murder trial. Smith, 26, of Newton, is accused of killing Mrs. Prine at her rural home near Goessel on Oct. 26, 1986. Autopsy results showed she died from brain damage caused by gunshot wounds to the head.

Mrs. Prine's husband, Robert, testified Monday that he and Smith shared common interests in hunting and fishing and Smith had visited the Prine home.

Prine said Smith declined an invitation to go hunting with Prine on Oct. 25 and 26. When Prine returned home on Oct. 26 he found his wife on the living room floor, naked from the waist down, he testified.

Authorities said Mrs. Prine was still alive but died the next day at a Wichita hospital.

2 dead in burglary attempt

PAOLA - Two Missouri men were shot and killed as they attempted to break into a home in rural Miami County late Monday night, the sheriff's office said.

Miami County Sheriff Dan Morgan said Russell J. Renwick, 36, of Grandview, and Dennis Vincent, 45, of Flemington, were shot with a .44-caliber Magnum as they tried to break into the home of Dale Thorup, who was questioned but not charged.

Morgan said Thorup was in the house with his wife and a son at the time of the shooting but no one else was injured. The bodies of the two men were found in the front yard next to the porch, Morgan said in a statement Tuesday

"It appears at this point of the investigation that the two subjects had arrived to forcibly enter the Thorup home," the sheriff's statement said. "A 10mm pistol was found next to the body of Dennis Vincent when officers arrived." 'The resident ... reported that he shot the two subjects as they attempted to force open the door and break out a front window to gain entry to the house," Morgan said. The sheriff said no arrests had been made Tuesday afternoon, but the investigation continued. The shooting occurred in east-central Kansas near Louisburg, which is located about 30 miles south of Kansas City and near the Kansas-Missouri border.

Campus Bulletin

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Campus organizations are encouraged to use Campus Bulletin. All announcements must be submitted by 11 a.m. one day prior to publication. Announcements for Monday's bulletin must be in by 11 a.m. Friday. However, publication is determined by the amount of space available on a first-come, first-serve basis and is not ensured. Information forms are available on the shelf outside Kedzie 118. Forms should be left in the box on the shelf after being filled out. All submissions must be signed and are subject to verification. Questions should be directed to the Collegian's campus editors in Kedzie 116.

KSU RODEO CLUB Anyone interested in competing in the 1989 Miss Rodeo K-State Contest must notify Kelly Freitag at 776-3158 before Jan. 20.

TODAY

K-STATE PLAYERS will hold auditions for "The Rover" and "As Is" in the Nichols Theatre Lobby from 7 p.m. to 10

THURSDAY

K-STATE PLAYERS will hold auditions for "The Rover" and "As Is" in the Nichols Theatre Lobby from 7 p.m. to 10

ICTHUS CHRISTIAN FELLOW-SHIP will meet at 8 p.m. in the Union Little Theater.

FRIDAY

INTER-VARSITY CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the UCM building at 1021 Denison

K-STATE PLAYERS will hold auditions for "The Rover" and "As Is" in the Nichols Theatre Lobby from 7 p.m. to 10

K-State Police

Saturday

A fire alarm was accidentally tripped in Throckmorton. The Manhattan Fire Department reset the alarm.

Officers arrested subject in lot B-4 for driving under the influence, resisting arrest and disorderly conduct. Vehicle was towed to Manhattan Wrecker Service.

Monday

were reported lost off campus. ■ A student parking permit was reported lost on campus.

■ The theft of a wooden trash can west of Ahearn was reported. Loss was $150.

■ The theft of tile from a hallway in Seaton Hall was reported. Loss was $70.

A student parking permit was reported stolen off campus.

A student parking permit was ■ Three student parking permits reported lost in an unknown location.

Campus Briefly

Retired K-State professor dies

A retired K-State professor died Dec. 31 in Portland, Ore., of pneumonia.

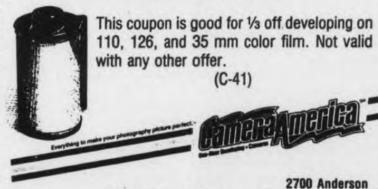

Ralph Lipper, 72, professor of agricultural engineering, retired in 1983 after serving 36 years at K-State. In 1946, after having earned his bachelor's and master's degrees here, Lipper was named an assistant professor to the University. During World War II, he served with the Air Force in England and Africa and later became a member of the Air Force Reserves. After being recalled to a year of active duty during the Berlin crisis in 1961, Lipper retired from the Army Reserves with the rank of colonel.

In 1983, the Department of Agricultural Engineering and the University Foundation established the Ralph I. Lipper Scholarship Fund for students in agricultural mechanization.

DEVELOPING 1/3 OFF!

Expires 2-1-89

Mon.-Sat. 9 a.m.-9 p.m. Sun. 12-6 p.m.

SECOND SET OF PRINTS

FREE!

other offer.

Bring your color print film for developing and get a second set of prints free! Disc, 110, 126 and 35 mm. Not valid with any

Manhattan, KS 66502 539-2519

Single Bacon Cheeseburger

(regularly $1.35)

1015 N. 3rd. Manhattan

Welcome Back

Mon., Jan. 9 through Sat., Jan. 14

Remember us for your Video Needs

Mon.-Wed. 99¢ Tues.-Sat. $2.50 and $1.65 Rental VCRs Available

Open 7 Days A Week

No Waiting In Line No Membership Fee

Behind ALCO Village Plaza Shopping Center

Manhattan, Kansas

512 Poyntz Ave.

1/3 off Perm & Haircoloring or highlighting

-all services performed by supervised cosmetology students--BRING THIS COUPON IN-Expires 1-31-89

539-9729

·We have a great semester of Entertainment lined up for your enjoyment. ·Join us for daily drink specials, dancing nightly, and comedy every Mon & Tues. •K-State/Kansas T-shirts on sale-NOW!

531 N. Manhattan 539-4321

TROPICAL TAN $2 Sessions -nontransferablecoupon expires 1-21-89 sessions expires 5-31-89 minimum 5 sessions FirstBank Center VISA Second Level 537-0744 Denison & Claflin

Haircuts

—all services performed by supervised cosmetology students--BRING THIS COUPON IN-

Expires 1-31-89

512 Poyntz Avenue

Manhattan, Kansas

66502 college

Pre-enrollment figures best in 5 years

Johnny Eclavea, senior in architectural engineering, checks the list of closed classes in the basement of Farrell Library Tuesday afternoon before enrolling.

Ahearn 'a top facility'

By Mike Goens Sports Writer

Ahearn Field House received a facelift during Christmas break when a new track and field surface was installed at a cost of $88,000.

The surface used is Rekortan, a polyurethane rubberized surface of the type used on the Olympic track surfaces at Munich, Montreal and Los Angeles. "Rekortan is one of the top track installment companies in the world," said head track coach John Capriotti. "(Ahearn) should be one of the top track facilities not only in the Big Eight, but in the nation.

"It's a very fast surface, great for training. It opens a lot of opportunities for our athletes. It is very flexible and versatile. It's much more universal." As well as the outside track lanes, new surface for eight sprint/ hurdle lanes was laid on Ahearn's former basketball court. The new "infield" now contains long jump and triple jump pits and a polevault box, as well as high jump Capriotti would like to see this and shot-put areas.

"The sprint/hurdle lanes will allow us to have one of the premiere facilities in the Midwest. Hopefully in the next five to six years, we can attract the Big Eight meet," Capriotti said. The University of Nebraska will hold the Big Eight Indoor Meet until 1992.

Capriotti credits officials in the KSU Athletic Department and administration in obtaining the "Kansas State is doing a firstclass job. This helps market the University and this facility will help get students," Capriotti said. "We now can compete in the Big Eight in recruiting."

maintaining the surface," Capriotti said. The previous surface in Ahearn, a tartan surface, lasted about 20 years, which is how long Numbers may be misleading

By Chris Koger Staff Writer

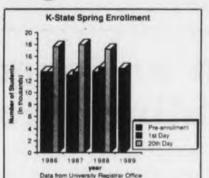

Spring semester pre-enrollment figures are the highest in five years, according to the K-State registrar's

During the annual November preenrollment, 14,089 students enrolled, an increase of more than 500 from the previous year.

Although the fall semester's enrollment reached 19,301, the highest since 1982, University officials are unable to say if this semester's final enrollment will reflect an increase in students.

"Pre-enrollment figures can be misleading for a variety of reasons," said University Registrar Don Foster. "They don't take into account new students or students who take courses offered at Fort Riley or other places outside of the University."

Foster said enrollment totals from the November and April preenrollments change "dramatically" compared with final totals taken the 20th day of class, when the enrollment numbers are sent to the Kansas Board of Regents.

Foster said up to 1,500 students do not pre-enroll each semester, causing a backlog of work during registration.

The more students we have using pre-enrollment, the better off we are during registration," he said. "Our ability to serve the student is better during pre-enrollment, because we are focusing on one function. During registration, we're admitting new students, getting fees paid and other activities.'

Another 1,000 to 1,500 students register after the first day of classes, Foster said.

"The sooner we have some final semester."

figures, the easier it is to plan for the semester," he said. "But there are always some students who have to enroll late." Pat Bosco, vice president for institutional advancement, said pre-

"We wish all students would use pre-enrollment," he said. "It would lessen the strain on the professors, students and people who work during registration."

enrollment makes registration easier.

Foster said there usually are more students in the fall semester than the spring, due to the influx of freshmen and the December graduates.

"Our major 'feeder' for new students is high school graduates," he said. "Also, it is more likely that a person will start college in the fall than in the spring."

The difference of the student body make-up in the fall and spring semesters is so great, it is like "comparing apples with oranges," Bosco said. 'Of course there are fewer students decide not to return for the second in the spring. We lose up to 1,000 graduates, plus the people who with new track surface

One advantage K-State now has over other Big Eight schools is in seating capacity, which is 4,000 to 5,000.

"Our biggest concern now is fire damages Last Chance Monday

By Chris Koger Staff Writer

A fire caused by heat escaping through holes in a ceiling vent of Last Chance Restaurant and Saloon Monday caused an estimated $10,000 in damage, said an official with the Manhattan Fire Department.

No one was injured in the fire which occurred about 2:30 p.m.

Employees said the fire started when grease ignited fire in one of the restaurant's meat smokers, which heated the air in the ceiling vent above the smoker.

The flue was rusted where it passed through the roof of the restaurant and the heat ignited the tiled ceiling.

Although the fire department estimated the damage at $10,000, Last Chance Manager Joe Rice said the damage was minimal and far below the figure given by the fire department.

The fire department responded to the call at 2:37 p.m., and the fire was extinguished in approximately 20 minutes, said Steve Burnett, battalion chief.

"Most of the damage was to the roof structure, because the holes in the vent were near the top," Burnett said. "Fires like this can be started just by the heat escaping, and that's why it's important to make sure the vents are sealed."

Burnett said the damage estimate was an "educated guess," because structural damage can be very costly. Repairing the ceiling will be the biggest part, but of course there was some smoke damage," he said. Fire damage estimates are made right after the fire by one of the firefighters, however, that doesn't mean they are always accurate, Burnett

"It's possible that these estimates could be too high," he said.

SHUTTLE SERVICE

for temporarily or permanently physically limited students on campus, building to building. Inquire by calling 532-6436

UFM SPRING CLASSES

Register Now! This week at: K-State Union, Wed., Jan. 18 10 a.m.-2 p.m.

K-State Union, Mon., Jan. 23 10 a.m.-2 p.m. K-State Union, Wed., Jan. 25 10 a.m.-2 p.m.

* Including: Sign Language • CPR • Bicycle Maintenance • Yoga Swimming • Photography • Weaving • Vegetarian Cooking • Golf Backpacking • Raku Pottery • Sailing • Herbs • Birdwatching • Roses Puppets . Sewing Swimsuits . Prairie Wildflowers . Genealogy Interviewing Self-Defense • Carpentry • Soccer

Phone-in registration, 532-5866, with Visa or Mastercard Catalogs available, Farrell Library, K-State Union, UFM House

SPRING BREAK

THE TANNING SALON CINTER 776-8060

WELCOME BACK STUDENTS Best Back to School

Sales in Town!

Save Time ... Shop Us First

2 blocks south

539-5269 521 N. 12th of Texaco Foodmart

Tuition . . . Books . . . Deposits . . . Rent . . . Bills . . .

Everyone seems to want your money this time of year. At Crimpers, we've decided you need a break. Now through Jan. 31, a cut and style is $5 off-only $10. Let us create the look that's right for you.

Now at a Special Low Price

HAIRCUT & BLOW DRY

BRING THIS COUPON-Expires 1/31/89

613 N. Manhattan 539-7621 M-Fri 8-8, Sat 8-5

THE Cards & Gifts

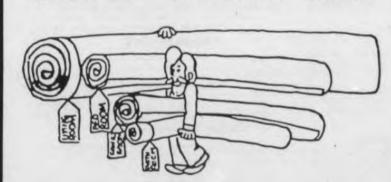

DON'T MISS A DATE with our 1989 CALENDARS

Save now on our entire stock of wall, desk or pocket calendars. Choose from over 100 titles including The Far Side, Scenics, Animals, Seductive, Comical and more.

Hurry while supplies last.

704 N. Manhattan Ave. - In Aggleville - 539-7654 Mon.-Thurs. 8:30-8:30 • Fri.-Sat. 8:30-5:30 • Sunday, 12:00-5:00

BRYANT CARPET CO.'s CARPET REMNANT SALE

BRYANT CARPET HEARTLAND HOME INTERIORS

Just across the Viaduct (at the foot of K-Hill) Mon.-Fri. 8:30-5:30 Sat. 9:30-4

776-4367

Editorial

Kansas State Collegian Opinions ■ Wednesday, January 11, 1989

Terrorism no longer biggest airline threat

With the reports of terrorism and of apprehension.

Terrorism causes the most fear among airline travelers because it maintenance problems and struc- resulting increased cost to passentural failures than to terrorist gers is a price that is worth paying

Airlines should invest more poor maintenance of commercial money and staff in the maintenance aircraft, barely anyone boards a of aircrafts and in the purchasing of plane anymore without some level new aircrafts to replace their decades-old fleets.

A solution to terrorism has not is difficult to control or prevent. yet been found, and is probably But now, as the aging American unlikely in the near future. Howevair fleet appears to be dropping er, the mechanical problems that from the sky, it would appear that are hindering so many airlines planes are more vulnerable to could be greatly reduced. The for the increased security.

New Sunset Zoo fee will improve facility

Manhattan City Commission will Eventually.

A new fee for zoo visitors — $1.75 for adults, 75 cents for children — should start generating revenue after the first year, according to a survey conducted by the College of Business Administration. The zoo will also continue to out of the city budget.

A recent action taken by the sums of money. It is hoped the admission fee will help provide the improve the quality of Sunset Zoo. funding necessary for Sunset Zoo officials to continue the renovation and improvement of facilities, enabling it to get away from the concrete jungle look. The closer the zoo environment is to the animal's natural habitat, the better it is for the animals and zoo visitors.

The price of admission to the receive its same level of funding zoo, even in its present state, will provide visitors with better enter-The preservation of wildlife is a tainment and, whether they know it large undertaking, requiring large or not, better educational value.

Problems resist change

here are two things every columnist likes: controversy and aphorisms. This column offers both. As its recurring aphorism, this column has an old one: "The more things change, the more they stay the same." Remember it as you

The controversy in this column, like the aphorism, is an old one. It is the long-debated question of whether K-State sacrifices academics for athletics. Sure, the semester just began and everyone wants to start anew new classes, new controversies, new aphorisms, and so on. But, as I think you'll see, this old one is still with us.

Here's why: How many of you did not get into the classes you wanted this semester? Generally, the more hours you have completed, the sooner you go through preenrollment. But it might not surprise you to learn that athletes get a preference of sorts. Come pre-enrollment time, athletes, regardless of how many hours they have completed, are included in the highest priority group with graduate students and seniors.

This means any athlete - a freshman, for example - could get into a class when a junior or maybe even a senior could not. I am usually not one to defend social stratification, but it seems practical that those who will graduate sooner should get first pick so they can get into the classes they need and not prolong the whole insane process.

University Registrar Donald Foster said the preferential treatment was due to time constraints. "(Athletes') class schedules are so affected by their time commitments, and since athletics is a University activity, ... we try to give them the best possible shot we can," he said.

Foster doesn't see this as prioritizing athletics over academics.

"I think it's giving them a fair chance at academics," he said. But one of the definitions of the word "fair," according to the Random House College Dictionary (Revised Edition), is: "The treating of all sides alike, showing no more favor to one side than

No one is denying the importance of athletics to K-State and no one is denying that athletes devote a lot of time to extracurricular activities. The question is, should they be rewarded for doing so, when other students also devote much time and energy to UniverCommentary sity activities, or to working so they can afford to go to school? What about band or the debate team? Or, better yet, what about students who work 20, 30 or more hours a week to put themselves through school?

Scott Miller Collegian Columnist

s I mentioned above, though, this controversy is by no means new (hence, the aphorism). In his history of K-State, "Kansas State University," James C. Carey had this to say about athletics and academics in the late 1960s: "There were faculty and student (especially graduate student) protests ... over the woefully inadequate library facilities at the very time that the University began to make plans for an athletic dormitory and a new stadium. In 1968-69 only Oklahoma State of the Big Eight Conference had a smaller amount budgeted for library operating expenses than had Kansas State.

Sound familiar?

Let's look at one such "protest." In October 1968, a group calling itself the Committee for Renewal and Progress Etcetera circulated a petition to "let all know of the wretched condition of our library and let the state of Kansas and the nation know that we, the students, intend to see that something is done to change this situation."

According to a Collegian article, CRAPE hoped to make K-State "a university in fact as well as in name." (By the way, CRAPE appears to have first called itself the Committee for Renewal and Academic Progress, and later, for unknown reasons, added the Etcetera to its name.)

On Oct. 25, 1968, about 1,500 students and faculty walked out of classes and conducted a rally, which CRAPE organized, to gain more funding for the library. CRAPE also met with University President James McCain and sent letters to the Kansas Board of Regents and Gov. Robert Docking. Funding for the library reportedly increased for a few years after the rally. This was pretty heady stuff. It is not often that students effect meaningful change at universities. But in this age of Reagan, Bramlage would be easy to mistake this event as the apex of student activism, so I should give you some idea of how mild all this actually was. Although the rally was complete with placards and chants, it appears every attempt was made to keep it from being seen as a chal-

Coliseum and chronic political apathy, it lenge to the powers that were. CRAPE chairman Gary Thull told the Collegian, "We are stressing that this rally is not a protest or riot, but is meant to be a constructive attempt to radically improve the present library condition." y contrast, one day earlier at the University of California, Berkeley, 500 police stormed and recaptured a building after 72 demonstrators had "liberated" it for 12 hours. According to a United Press International news article, the demonstrators demanded academic credit for a course on racism taught by Black Panther Eldridge Cleaver. All told, the operation netted 76 arrests. I should also mention that then California Gov. Ronald Reagan blamed "outside agitators" for the unrest, and vowed, "California will fight these uprisings."

The more things change

The CRAPE rally, on the other hand, featured speeches by Richard Farley, then director of the library; Earle Davis, then English department head; John Lott Brown, then vice-president for academic affairs; and Tom Palmer, then senior class president. According to a Collegian news article prior to the rally, K-State head football coach Vince Gibson was also scheduled to speak, although later Collegian articles offer no follow up on this

The more things change ...

Well, I am almost out of space and I haven't even mentioned some of the other salient features of this controversy over athletics and academics, such as the proposed athletic fee of 1986 which failed to gain a twothirds majority of student support, the various new proposals for an athletic fee, the fact that Farrell is ranked tenth in the Big Eight, or my personal favorite - the house that Fred built.

But perhaps that's another column, and another aphorism.

Collegian Editorial Policies

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR are always encouraged. Those which pertain to

Letters should be kept as brief as possible, preferably under 300 words. Those who cannot condense their opinions should consider submiting their letter in the form of a guest column. All letters are subject to editing for space, style and taste.

GUEST COLUMNS are also encouraged. The column should be no longer than two double-spaced, typed pages. If the submission is used as a column and not a letter to the editor, it will be accompanied by the author's photograph.

torial board. Opinion columns do not necessarily reflect the opinions of the Collegian management, Student Publications, Inc. or the newspaper staff in general.

highest priority.

SEND SUBMISSIONS to the Collegian in Kedzie 116. UNSIGNED EDITORIALS represent the consensus opinion of the Collegian's edi-

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

News Staff

	WS Stall
EDITOR	Janet Swans
MANAGING EDITOR	Susan I Form
NEWS EDITOR	Foun Sal
EDITORIAL PAGE EDITOR	Catherine Do
PHOTO/GRAPHICS EDITOR	Greg Vog
SPORTS EDITOR	Chris Ha
CAMPUS EDITORS	Brian Hummell, Michael Nicho
CITY COITOR	Brian Hummell, Michael Nicho
CATINGE COUTOR	Randy Sh
PEATORES EDITOR	Lisa Plannenst
AHTS AND ENTERTAINMENT EDITOH	Karla Redelsheim
GOVERNMENT EDITOR	Kendra Gensern
COPY CHIEF	Lori Siegr
COPY EDITORS	Nancy Downing, Paula Selby, Jane Thompson
STAFF WRITERS Karen Allen, Au	dra Dietz, Nancy Hill, Chris Koger, Kevin Kramer, Nancy Pross
SCIENCE WRITER	Paul Bransc
SPORTS WRITERS	Mike Green Chris Wilhel
COLUMNISTS	Barbara Baker, Kale Baldock, Doug Fo
	Derayne Lively Scott Miller Charl Sarborn Mark Schmell
REVIEWERS Nancy Chadrand I	Dwayne Lively, Scott Miller, Chad Sanborn, Mark Schmelk Douglas Fall, Torn McLaughlin Jr., Mark Schreiner, Stacy Sweaz
ARTOONIST	Bob Berry, Richard Broadfo
LUSTRATOR	Joe Cod
DADUC ADTICT
WOTOODAGUEDS	Catherine Dou
HOTOGRAPHENS	Brett Hacker, John LaBarge, Gary Lytle, Steve Wolgar
Dwayne Lively, So	sker, Catherine Doud, Susan L'Ecuyer, Doug Folk, Brian Humme tott Miller, Michael Nichols, Karla Redelsheimer, Chad L. Sambor ly, Mark Schmeller, Erwin Seba, Robert R. Short, Janet Swanso
	tising Staff
DVERTISING MANAGER	Todd Schultz
ISSISTANT MANAGER	Tarrety McCrean
ISPLAY SALES REPRESENTATIVES	Brennan Dell, Denise Lambert, Melinda Robert
Jeff Schrag, Brid	an H. Smith, Sherri Sorenson, Karen D. Templer, Brent Windson
FFICE/CLASSIFIED AD ASSISTANTS	an H. Smith, Sherri Sorenson, Karen D. Templer, Brent Windso
RAPHIC ARTISTS	Dennis Diabai, Michelle Hirschler, Kendall McMinim
HOTOGRAPHER	Jennifer Quis
NO IOGNA NEA ORGANISMO COMPANION COM	minimum verifier dva
Student Pu	blications Staff
IRECTOR	David L. Adams
CTING DIRECTOR/ADVERTISING DIRECTOR	Gloria Freeland
SSISTANT DIRECTOR/NEWS ADVISER	Charlie Fai
	Ann Foster
FFICE MANAGER	Shelly Potter
ACCIDED ADVEDTICING MANAGED	Linda Schmid
CHINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT	Connie Fulkersor
	David Svoboda
DVERTISING PRODUCTION COORDINATOR	Wanda Haynie
ons Inc. Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506, The College	repaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publica- glan is published Monday through Friday during the school year and looday and Thursday during summer sessions. Second of	lass postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. Illegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Manattan, Kan. 66506-7167.	532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, Kedzie Hall 116.
inquiries concerning local, national and classified display adv sing questions should be directed to (913) 532-6555.	vertising should be directed to (913) 532-6580. Classified word adver-

To charge by VISA or MasterCard, call (913) 532-6555

One Semester (Fall or Spring) Two Semesters (Fall and Spring).

Spiritual custody fails any child custody battles are bloody wars. Parents often use their own children as pawns as they attempt to get back at each other. They do this while claiming to be looking out for the "best interests of the child."

This bickering has been taken to a new level in Colorado, where a judge gave physical custody of the children to the mother but gave spiritual custody — the responsibility for the religious education of the children to the father.

When the mother tried to take her children to Mass several times in November, the judge found her in contempt of court and sentenced her to 10 days in jail. (The sentence was suspended, however.) The mother claimed the original ruling did not forbid her from taking her children to Mass. The new ruling, however, forbids her from attempting to "indoctrinate" her children into any religion except the father's.

Confused? A little background is in order. About 10 years ago, Dorothy Boeke married Jerold Simms. It was a mixed marriage; she was a Catholic and he was Jewish. When they had children, Dorothy converted to Judaism so the children could be raised in a home with only one religion. They had two daughters, Rachel and Laura. Dorothy began to have second thoughts about her "conversion" and the marriage and divorce papers were filed. Rachel and Laura were then ages 4 and 2, respectively.

A bloody custody battle ensued. Jerold fought on the grounds that Dorothy was an unfit mother. It failed. Dorothy was awarded custody. Jerold then allegedly (and this is only "allegedly" because he denies it and the transcripts of the case are not available to the public) tried to prove that Dorothy was an unfit mother because her new husband was gay, was a child molester and had AIDS. This ploy, if it was actually used, failed as well. Dorothy retained full custody.

However, when Dorothy converted back to Catholicism, she swore that if she got custody she would expose the children to both Catholicism and Judaism. This became the Commentary grounds for the third attack.

Dwayne Lively Collegian Columnist

erold flooded the court with a number of experts and child psychologists who explained how this mix of cultures would be harmful and confusing to the children. Judge Leslie Lawson took six months to make a final decision in the case. In the end, she awarded physical custody to Dorothy and spiritual custody to Jerold. He picks up his children Friday evening and keeps them until Sunday morning. The ruling is vague, however, leading Dorothy to begin taking her girls to Mass. Judge Nancy Rice found Dorothy in contempt of court.

Somewhere in the midst of all this bickering are the two little girls who are being utterly ripped apart by their parents and the legal system, both of which are supposed to protect them. They are now 7 and 5 years old, and are once again facing a custody battle. Jerold has petitioned the court again for full custody.

What is really silly about this whole spiritual custody ruling is that it is based on the premise that a change of culture will injure the children. Therefore, they should not be hauled back and forth between two religions. The court is correct up to this point. Children can be confused when they grow up under two different cultures.

The court also maintains that, because both parents were Jewish when the children were born, the children are Jewish and should be raised as Jews. No real problem there, either. However, at this point the court loses its mind. It has given each parent a different piece of the children's lives with which to exert influence. Which parent has the final say in the raising of the children? It appears that neither does.

he spiritual custody ruling might work well if religious education took place only in church. In the real world, however, it also takes place in

Rachel and Laura are Jewish, according to the court, and Dorothy may not indoctrinate them in Catholic ways. This leaves a lot of unanswered questions. Dorothy prays before each meal. Is this indoctrination? Should she go to jail? How should it be enforced? For Christmas the Boekes had "Happy Birthday Jesus" in their front window. Is this indoctrination? It may or may not be. But it does expose the girls to Christian culture from Sunday afternoon to Friday morning. The remaining two days they are exposed to Jewish culture. (Funny, this sounds like what the experts said was harmful to the children. Isn't this what the judge was trying to avoid with the spiritual custody ruling?) Somebody had better reread her decision.

Both parents claim that Rachel and Laura are devout Catholics/Jews (depending on which parent you talk to). Both seem to ignore the fact the children want to please their parents and are very good at it. When they are with their mother, they are Catholics. When they are with their father, they are Jews. At this age, they probably don't comprehend the religious part of the whole mess. They only know that what makes one parent happy makes the other upset.

It is said that you can't please everyone. Yet, this is what the children are being forced to do. This is in their best interest? Let's hope not. Let's hope that one parent will, for the sake of his or her children, give up the battle. Or let's hope that someone in the legal system. will have the guts to grant one parent, and only one parent, father or mother, total custody of Rachel and Laura. Religion should not even be an issue in a divorce case. This case has shown that religion, like the children, can be used as a weapon.

Letters

Protect rights

Editor,

"To protect people from themselves." I was very discouraged by the article in the December 7, 1988 issue of the Collegian. "Helmet, seatbelt laws have same functions."

car that is my business and no one else's. We law enacted. don't need legislators to protect us from ourselves! We need legislators to protect us your business, but don't think you have the

from people that try to give our rights away. right to give mine away at the same time. I am glad that the state I declare as my legal residence still puts a value on personal rights

If I do not wish to wear my seatbelt in my and kills a bill every year to have a seatbelt

If you want to give your rights away that's

Martin Spartz

graduate student in chemistry

Switch from cards to receipt beneficial to registrar's office

By Kevin Kramer Staff Writer

Out with the old, in with the new. K-Staters going through registration for the spring semester have noticed something missing — the fee cards, which were replaced by a fee receipt.

"I don't see that there is much difference between the old cards and the new receipts," said Lisa Rephlo, senior in mechanical engineering. "The new receipt is easier to sign your name to than the card, because you don't have to work around all the little holes."

The paper receipt is not as easy to fold and hang on to as the card, Rephlo said, and would be "a lot easier to lose or destroy."

"I think the new receipt is better than those crunchy little cards. It's easier to read," said Becki Schmidt, sophomore in special education.

University Registrar Donald Foster said the reason the University changed from the card to the receipt was the increasing need to keep vital student information on one document.

"There has been a problem over the past few years to keep all the needed information within the 80 columns available on the cards," Foster said.

Technology forced the change in the fee card document, said Gunile DeVault, assistant registrar. A major factor for moving to the new system was the high cost of repair and the lack of replacement parts for the machines used to read the cards. The key punch machines formerly used were no longer included under a maintenance contract with IBM.

"We've been sitting on the edge of disaster, waiting for equipment to break down," Foster said. "Card technology is a thing of the past."

"One of the interesting things about the new receipt and computer- has also been changed, Foster said.

By The Associated Press

funeral of the late Japanese Emperor

Hirohito on Feb. 24, five weeks after

Bush is inaugurated as president, the president-elect's spokesman

WASHINGTON — George Bush will lead the U.S. delegation to the

to help the students get through registration as quickly as possible," Devault said.

Foster said the new system makes accessibility and changes to information easier and quicker. The old system only made fee information accessible with the orginal punch card and any changes that occurred to it were difficult to track.

"We are quite pleased with the new system," he said. "Because of the new computer system, more students were assessed the correct amount for their fees and not as many corrections were needed."

The biggest problem that occurred during registration with the previous system was fee adjustments, Foster

"The new system can do the adjustments immediately, resulting in no time lag," he said. "(It) is set up to reprint a new receipt faster than the old system, which had to cut a new

The new system required a special setup of computers for fee adjustments and delinquencies at registra-

"Card technology is a thing of the past." —Donald Foster University Registrar

tion, Foster said. Student information will record delinquency markers until payments for delinquencies and fines have been made at the individual departments.

"The enrollment process has eliminated a step for students who enroll at registration," he said. "The old system only allowed students to enroll one day and then go through registration and pay fees on another. Now the process is set up to be done all in one day."

The process for late enrollment ized system is that they are designed Late enrollment will begin in the

Bush to lead U.S. funeral delegation said. He had no other details on the itinerary, composition of the delegation or other travel planned by the Hirohito died last Saturday of incoming president.

Bush will be accompanied by his wife, Barbara, spokesman Steve Hart morning rather than the afternoon. The cutting of punch cards caused a half-day delay for late enrollment.

"The most significant difference by the use of the new system is that now the payment of fees is the signal to the computer that a student is enrolled at the University," he said. "Before, the activator card in the card packet was the signal."

The new system eliminates the situation where students would turn in their activator card at registration, signaling they were enrolled, before having paid their fees, Foster said.

"Now if students don't pay their fees, they are not enrolled," he said. The greatest benefit of the new system is the convenience for the students, Foster said.

"There is not a great deal of cost savings with the new system," he said. "The only savings occurring is in equipment and man-hours before registration - the collating and sorting of cards was a four-day process."

The new receipt is a computergenerated, two-part paper form, Foster said. It is easier to read and replaces the packet of three to four cards that have been used since the

"The code abbreviations and the itemized listing of the special fees that were on the old cards are missing on the new receipt," he said. "This was due to the lack of available space on the receipt."

Signs and code sheets were available at registration, explaining the codes on the receipt to students with questions, Foster said.

"The new system has taken several years to design," De Vault said. "We wanted to implement the system a year ago, but waited to make sure most of the 'bugs' were worked out.

"Not all of the 'bugs' were worked out of the system we used," she said. "We just had to work around them to function."

was succeeded as emperor by his son, travel announced for Bush, who will

For local and national news. Read the Collegian be inaugurated Jan. 20.

The Japan trip is the first foreign Punishment set by victim

By The Associated Press

MINNEAPOLIS - A 65-yearold woman who was raped in her home was allowed to decide the prison term of her attacker because of her age, the visciousness of the assault and court delays, a judge said Tuesday.

"I'm not advocating that the victims decide the penalty but I thought it was the fairest thing to do in this case," said Hennepin County Judge William Posten, who said he told the woman, "You tell me what you want me to do, and I'll do it.'

The victim was given a choice Monday between two options in the prosecution of James Halvorson, 25. She could accept the conditions of a plea agreement for a 54-month prison sentence that would be effective immediately, or she could have the case go to trial and hope for a conviction. The latter might have resulted in a prison term of up to 108 months.

Assistant County Attorney Kevin Johnson said a conviction was nearly certain because police arrested Halvorson in the woman's home. But because Halvorson was free on bond and the victim feared being attacked again, she chose the 54-month prison sentence in lieu of

"She knew he would be going straight to prison" and wouldn't be eligible for parole for three years, said Johnson, who noted that the victim had become frustrated by delays that had twice postponed court proceedings.

Cindy Clarkson, a sexual assault counselor who worked with the victim, said the woman was

"I'm not advocating that the victims decide the penalty but I thought it was the fairest thing to do in this case."

-William Posten Hennepin County Judge

haunted by the thought of a repeat attack and moved in with family members. The house she had lived in for 30 years has been put up for sale, Clarkson said.

"She was feeling pretty powerless," Clarkson said. "What the judge did was wonderful. Just wonderful. She just couldn't believe that someone in the system like a judge would take the time to listen to her and actually give her a choice." "Wasn't that something?" the woman marveled after choosing the sentence. Posten said he has allowed victims to help decide the fate of criminals in only a few cases.

Asked why he granted the privilege Monday, Posten said, "Somebody that is raped early in the morning and it's a little lady that's a great-grandmother - all this had an effect. It was the way the whole thing developed. The delays were part of it too."

According to the criminal complaint, Halvorson broke into the woman's Golden Valley house through a kitchen window about 4:30 a.m. June 16. The noise awoke the woman and she went to investigate. The man dragged her from the kitchen to the bedroom, covered her head with a blanket and raped her. He fell asleep after the attack and the woman ran to a neighbor's house to phone police,

EARN MONEY FOR YOUR CAMPUS ORGANIZATION!

The Collegian needs groups periodically to stuff inserts and special sections into the paper. In just 2-21/2 hours your group can earn $75. Call or stop by for more information.

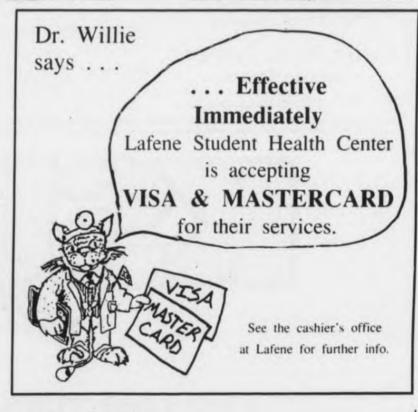

> Call 532-6555 Kedzie 101

WE ALWAYS NEED LEADERS The Air Force is looking for pilots ... navigators ... missileers ... engineers ... managers and ... more. Our positions are important. You can get one through Air Force ROTC. As an Air Force ROTC cadet, you'll be trained in leadership and management practices. You may also apply for our scholarship program that helps pay college expenses, plus $100 per academic month, tax free.

After graduation, you'll have all the prestige and responsibility of an Air Force officer. You'll discover a new world where you'll be challenged to excel ... and rewarded for your success. Let us give you the details today. CAPT EVERETT 913-532-6600 ROIL Leadership Excellence Starts Here

Welcome Back Students for a

25% Discount

Bring in this coupon and enjoy any size serving of ICBIY yogurt at 25% off. (waffle cones, toppings regular price)

Limit 2 per coupon

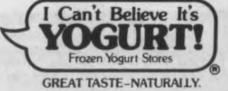

FREE SAMPLES DAILY!!

Try our new non-fat, no cholesterol frozen yogurt!

Coupon expires Jan. 31, 1989

705 N. 11th Nautilus Towers Aggieville Open 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Daily

If You Don't Know When, You Might As Well Know Where.

You never seem to know when the craving for pizza will strike but when you're ready, we're ready. Ready to serve up a hot, fresh, great-tasting pizza at a terrific price. Have it delivered to your door or come to the heart of Aggieville.

Issues 1989 ■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1A

All three local representatives favor returning the windfall.

"I am in favor of returning as much as we can (of the windfall) to the people ... as long as we don't bring the surplus down too low," Hurt said. Hochhauser said she is concerned with how the money is returned.

She said she wants to study the impact of returning the windfall soley through income tax code changes would have on Manhattan residents and thinks part of the return should be through property tax changes.

"My philosophy as a legislator is you return that money to those that were overcharged rather than use this pot just because we have it," Oleen

"Many are not going to want to return it because they already have programs thay want to use it for," she

Capital Punishment

Since 1980, the Legislature has seen 11 bills submitted on this issue. The House passed a bill favoring the death penalty in 1987 but it failed to receive approval by Senate.

Though Hayden has announced his support for capital punishment, Braden said the House will not confront the death penalty issue this session.

"In the House we're not going to take it up until it passes the Senate," he said.

If the issue reaches the House, Hurt said she would not vote for it. She said she is agianst the death penalty because studies have shown it is even more expensive than life sentencing.

Sen. Oleen said she favors the death penalty.

"I'm in favor of it, but that judgment didn't come lightly. I considered six categories which include murder of children, jurors, police, assassinations and multiple murderers," Oleen said.

She said her name is on a "moderately drafted bill" supportive of the death penalty, but if a broadly written bill is submitted including crimes of passion, she would not vote for it.

Prison Reform

Another important issue facing legislators is prison overcrowding. In 1988, Kansas had a 69 percent growth in its prison population growth — the highest in the nation. On two occasions, U.S. District Judge Richard Rogers ordered Kansas to reduce the number of prisoners housed and threatened federal intervention.

In November 1988 the Department of Corrections released statistics which indicate the number of prisoners being released is greater than the number being admitted.

Corrections Secretary Roger Endell has studied the problem and recommended the construction of a new facility, with the support of Hayden.

The issue before the Legislature is whether to build a new prison facility or find an alternative solution.

"We have a mandate from U.S. District Judge Richard Rogers that mandates we find a plan to put some more (prisoners) in or release some," Oleen said.

"I don't think people want prisoners who are not ready to deal with society released from prison," she Braden said he thinks the state will be building one new prison.

"It should have been done last year," he said.

Hurt said she is not in favor of

Sheila Hochhauser

building new prisons.

"I am in support of rehabilitation, counseling and education of people not yet in prison," she said.

Highway Plan

The issue of improving the state's highway system surfaced in 1987 when 18 bills were submitted to the Legislature. None passed and a special session on highways was called for the summer.

The problem was specifics: every representative had a certain highway or bridge designated for funds.

"The proposed highway plan is going to be much easier for people to understand because it lets details lie with experts," Oleen said.

"We need to think about state perspective, not just Riley County," she Burke said a comprehensive highway plan is absolutely necessary. "I live in fear that one of our bridges will give out and kill someone," he said. "We've spent almost all of our maintenance money on roads," Burke said.

Katha Hurt

Funding for maintenance of roads is 90 percent federal and must be matched 10 percent by the state. Braden said the state must raise additional funding for roads. Because of limited resources, Hurt said she is not in favor of building new roads although she does support a "strict maintenance program for the roads we do have.' Oleen said she sent out a questionnaire to which 2,000 people replied. She said the majority of people are willing to support a plan that includes maintenance and growth which means reconstruction, not building new roads.

Health Care

Health care is more than one issue. Rural health care is the center of attention for legislators and involves many aspects.

Lana Oleen

Rising insurance rates have made it difficult for people to obtain health care. According to state legislative reports, 35 to 40 million Americans do not have health insurance and can not afford health care.

Malpractice insurance rate increases are making it difficult for doctors to stay in practice. The Kansas Medical Society reports only 73 physicians deliver babies west of Highway 81.

Nationwide, 98 rural hospitals have closed over the past three years according to the Kansas Business News magazine. Kansas has not suffered any hospital closings yet because rural communities have made up the deficit with local taxes.

Tort reform legislation to limit high malpractice insurance rates has been passed and declared unconstitutional. Hayden has recommended a constitutional amendment for Kansas citizens to vote for tort reform. He has also recommended scholarships for nurses and doctors and 'more equitable Medicaid payments to Kansas hopitals.'

Hochhauser said health care is one of her top priorities.

She said she wants to work to provide "affordable and available health care" for Kansans and a possible solution may be improving the bidding

"I think health care is important because of its impact on children,"

Burke said he hopes legislators will look at some other alternatives than a constitutional amendment for tort reform.

539-3166

Recreational Services

Earn money fast for your campus organization. Call 532-6560 for more information.

The Collegian reaches more than 18,000 potential customers daily.

WELCOME BACK

KSU!

(Bean, Beef, or Combination Burritos only)

Offer expires 1/31/89

Present this coupon for Any Burrito and Soft Drink

for only $1.95!!

Buy One, Get One Free! All Foliage Plants in 3" Pots Reg. price $1.69 ea.

Horticultural Services

Garden Center •

2 ml. east of Manhattan on U.S. 24

Featuring a new crop of easy-care cacti and succulent plants. We can help you choose the proper plant for any location.

... And remember to bring your container for free liquid plant food!

Special prices good through Sunday, January 22.

Mon-Sat 8-6 Fri 8-7:30 Sun 10-6 776-5764

AHEARN TENNIS GRAND OPENING

FRIDAY, JAN. 13th, 8:00 p.m.

TWO EXHIBITION MATCHES

Featuring SIDNEY WOOD

Wood is the 1931 Wimbledon Singles Champion & former U.S. Davis Cup team member. He held #1 world ranking & has been inducted into the Tennis Hall of Fame.

Ernie Barrett

Former KSU Athletic Director who has the distinction of having not only played in the first basketball game in Aheam Field House, but the first tennis match as well

Fred Kovaleski Former World Class Player once ranked as high as #12. Mitch Holthus The "Voice of the Wildcats" will be chair umpire for the celebrity match.

TICKETS: Available at Ahearn Ticket Office General Admission: $3.00 for Adults

$1.00 for College Age & under For information regarding special reserve ticket packages which include hosted reception in Bramlage Coliseum "Legends Room" contact: KSU Tennis Office, 532-7198

Steve Miller

Dave Hoover

Tennis standout

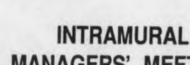

Steve Bietau

Athletic Director of KSU

A former Kansas State

Head Coach of the KSU

Women's Tennis Team

MANAGERS' MEETING Thursday, January 12-4 p.m. K-State Union Forum Hall All managers must attend!

1219 Bluemont

Open Daily at 11 a.m.

Intramural Entry Deadline

Friday, January 13-5 p.m. Rec Service Office Basketball, Doubles: Handball, Racquetball and Table Tennis.

BASKETBALL OFFICIALS NEEDED

•THURSDAY, January 12 at 6:30 p.m. K-State Union Big 8 Room •TUESDAY, January 17 at 6:30 p.m. Rec Complex, Rec Gym •THURSDAY, January 19 at 6:30 p.m. K-State Union, Room 207

MANDATORY ATTENDANCE AT ALL MEETINGS!

Questions may be directed to Tom or Steve at 532-6980 or stop by the Recreational Services Office in the Rec Complex.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL COURT RESERVATIONS

January 9-19, 1989 Reservations are made by phone 532-6951.

AEROBICS

Sessions will resume on WEDNESDAY, Jan. 11 at the Rec Complex . . . 6:30 a.m. M, W, F 4:30 p.m. M-Th 5:30 p.m. M-Th

AQUA-FITNESS

AT THE POOLS ... 6:30 a.m. M, W, F 7:30 p.m. T, Th Student ID (S9 validation) or Facility Use Card is required to ATTEND!

SPRING Semester entries are being accepted now. Come to the office (2nd floor, Rec Complex) for more information.

Locker & towel service available at Rec Complex, $7 per semester

Rec Services Office 532-6980 Rec Complex

Outdoor Rental Center Rec Check 532-6894

532-6000

Intramural Hotline 532-6292

Government

Kansas State Collegian ■ Wednesday, January 11, 1989 ■ Page 7A

Lana Oleen, R-Manhattan, center, takes the oath of office as she is sworn in with other newly elected members of the Kansas Senate.

Hayden offers budget

Legislators' response mixed

In their response after the address, democratic leaders disagreed with Hayden's deadline request. Senate Minority Leader

Michael Johnston of Parsons said it is "not essential" and "not reasonable" to resolve the windfall issue

Democrats are concerned that if by Feb. 1.

By Kendra Gensemer Government Editor

Gov. Mike Hayden's annual State of the State Address was interrupted four times Monday by applause from an audience of Kansas leaders, but later reactions have been mixed.

In his speech to a joint session of the Legislature, Hayden made general budget recommendations on various state issues and emphasized the good financial condition of the

Applause was loudest in response to Hayden's recommendation that the first order of busi-

the windfall is returned immediately, legislators may have to raise taxes at the end of the session, Johns-"We usually argue, 'Let's wait to see how much money we have to spend," he said. House Minority Leader Marvin Barkis of Louisburg said legislators need to look at how to send the money back and how that will affect other budget issues concerning the Legislature.

Hayden asked legislators for "significant new investments" in several areas, a significant one being education. He proposed the creation of a Margin of Excellence Partnership Act, which includes increased funds for regents universities, Washburn University, private and community colleges and private universities. "It takes into consideration all of higher education and the role that each institution plays in serving our state," he said.

In addition, Hayden's proposal recommends the five-year phase-in of increased state funding for two-year community colleges until 40 percent of their operating budgets are state-funded.

The proposal "benefits every property taxpayer in the state by phasing out out-district tuition paid at the county level," Hayden said. Legislators are skeptical about this all-encompassing proposal.

"The governor indicated to me through his message he is looking for a package for higher education," said Sen. Lana Oleen, R-Manhattan. "I don't feel comfortable with that package until I look it over more in-depth.'

Burke said funding of higher education at all levels is necessary to provide quality education for Kansans, but said the Board of Regents hasn't indicated a need to include Washburn in its system.

"If Washburn had been an issue whose time has come, we should've had an indication from the Board of Regents," he said.

Rep. Katha Hurt, D-Manhattan, said she will be waiting for a signal from the University about Hayden's suggestions for funding before she makes a decision.

need and know what they want,' she said.

In other issues regarding state education, Hayden endorsed the concept of qualified admissions, saying many students enter state universities poorly prepared, which creates expenses for remedial

Hayden, who said he wants to see the issue of prison reform resolved, proposed construction of a 750-bed, multi-security facility that would help the state deal with inmate overcrowding. The prison, which would cost taxpayers an estimated $55.3 million, would be designed to expand to a 1,400-bed facility if required.

Hayden and Roger Endell, corrections secretary, have pushed new prison construction as a way of reducing overcrowding in state prisons, which now hold about 5,600 inmates in buildings designed for 3,999.

"The time has also come to address the problems plaguing our prison system," Hayden said. "The Secretary of Corrections has stud-

"The regents know what they

Gov. Mike Hayden delivers the annual State of the State Address to a joint session of the Legislature Monday in the Capitol. concur with his recommendation > that a new correctional facility be built." Hayden urged legislators to reestablish the death penalty by making death by lethal injection a possible penalty for some convicted murderers. The Senate rejected such a measure in 1987, the last time the Legislature voted on the Democratic leaders say the fact that the issue of capital punishment has not been considered much by legislators indicates "other things are more important."

Hayden said problems facing rural Kansas communities must be faced as well.

Recently, two legislatures and two governors have approved tort ied this problem in great detail. I reform bills which have both been declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court. Hayden proposed a constitutional amendment be put before Kansans to vote on tort reform.

> A constitutional amendment is not favored by either Burke or Hurt.

> "I hope we could look at some other alternatives to get by the courts," Burke said.

> Hurt said she would not support a constitutional amendment on tort reform.

"I believe in the justice system,"

The Associated Press contributed to this story.

Sen. Michael Johnston, D-Parsons, delivers part of the Democratic Response to the State of the State Address while Rep. Marvin Barkis, D-Louisburg, waits.

ness be the "final return of the federal tax windfall to the taxpayers of Audience members also lauded the governor's statements on the financial improvements made last year. He said only four states are in better financial condition now than Kansas.

Republican leaders said they support the governor's request that legislation be on his desk by Feb. 1, but Democratic leaders said more time may be needed for consideration.

"I hope it will be the first major piece of legislation passed ... so we can get on to the budget for riscal year 1990," said Speaker of the House Jim Braden, R-Clay Center.

Senate President Bud Burke, R-Leawood, said returning the windfall immediately is necessary so legislators will know how much money will be left for the budget.

Before the Speaker of the House was chosen, Assistant Secretary of State, John Wine Jr., opens the 1989 Session with a bang of the gavel. Former speaker Jim Braden was re-elected in a unanimous ballot.

Meters to be placed in Union lot

By Audra Dietz Staff Writer

Students, faculty and visitors will have to carry some extra change in order to park their cars in the north half of the Union parking lot after parking meters are installed this

"The purpose of the meters is to create come-and-go parking in the Union lot. Installing meters should force a bigger turn-around of cars in the lot so more people can park, but for shorter periods of time," said John Lambert, director of public safety.

The meters should help to keep people from leaving their cars in the Union lot all day, making more space for visitor parking, Lambert said.

We need to have more spaces for visitors who come in and only want to park for about 30 minutes," he

Last year, the main problem was creating enough spaces to accommodate visitors. Now, improving visitor parking is K-State's top priority, Lambert said.

Long-term parking for drivers who need to leave their cars for several hours will still be available in the south half of the Union lot. General parking permits will be required to park in the south half of the lot. Any drivers without permits will have to use the metered lots.

There are 8,230 parking spaces on the campus; 2,873 are designated for residence hall members, 2,138 for faculty and staff and 1,969 for student general parking and commuters. About 1,250 spaces were added last summer — 700 for residence hall members and the rest for general and commuter parking, Lambert said.

"It will take two to three years to solve all our problems," he said. "Now we are reorganizing, not constructing. We also need to improve safety in the lots."

About 150 to 200 meters will be installed in existing spaces, and no new parking spaces will be built.

George Miller, vice president for administration and finance, said the University needs to improve its existing lots, not build new ones. The University is working on a three-year plan to improve parking in residence hall lots and on the main campus.

"We have already added a significant number of spaces, so we have solved a lot of our problems," Miller completed last summer, when about costs $50 for a full year. 2,000 spaces were added to existing lots near Goodnow Hall and West Stadium, and gravel was laid on lots B-3 and B-16.

Installing the parking meters and paving lots B-3, B-16 and the lot north of Weber Hall are components of the second phase of the project and will be completed this summer, Mill-

Meters will also be installed in the lot north of Holton Hall and near Farrell Library. The West Stadium lot will be expanded by about 800 to 900 spaces, he said.

Drivers will not be required to have a permit to park in metered lots. However, drivers with general permits to park on campus will still have to put change in the meter, Lambert

Permits will be required for longterm parking in the south half of the Union lot, he said.

"The price of permits will probably go up next semester. We are borrowing money with revenue bonds to fund the parking improvement project and that will cause the fees to increase," Lambert said.

This year, a general student permit

The University is still taking bids for the parking meter project and cost estimates have not been determined, Miller said.

Expanding the West Stadium lot and paving the gravel lots will cost K-State an estimated $2.7 million, Lambert said. The parking improvements will be funded through bonds.

The same bonding procedure will be used for those lots as was used to pay for the $5 million paved lot at Bramlage Coliseum. The $2 parking fee at Bramlage is used to pay off the bonds, Miller said.

The design and cost per hour for the parking meters cannot be set until the bid is selected and a contractor is hired, he said. It will take 10 to 15 years to pay for the project.

'We are finally getting to solve the same parking problems we had for the last 50 years," Miller said.

Two consulting firms were hired to make recommendations on the University's parking situation. RES Consultants of Champaign, Ill., is studying parking lot maintenance and Barton/Aschman of Evanston, The first phase of the project was costs $30 and a faculty/staff permit Ill., is in charge of lot management.

Criteria establish gas storage safety

By Stuart Puls Contributing Writer

Because of the dangers associated with gasoline leaks from aging underground storage facilities, the federal government implemented new regulations regarding underground storage

Under the new guidelines approved Dec. 22, underground to also install a leak detection system.

"We have a device hooked into the tanks," said Dave Prater, owner of University Amoco. "There is also a box in the main office (of the station).'

The system measures the inflow of gasoline into the storage tanks and also measures pump usage 24 hours each day, he said. University Amoco has used the system for the past five years.

"It is correcting itself all the time," Prater said. "If you are (installing) a new tank, it is mandatory by federal law."

University Amoco discovered gasoline leaking into the underground sewer system along Anderson Avenue in October. The leak was traced to a feeder line to a pump and was not from a leaking tank.

Other regulations require overfill protection, a safe containment alarm and a corrosion protection system for steel tanks, said Greg Crawford, employee of the Kansas Department of Health and Environment.

At times, when trucks are filling gas tanks, gas gets caught in the hose, despite the truck's pump being shut off, Crawford said. The excess gas in the hose continues to drain, so an overfill area will serve to catch that excess gas.

"This is just a safety device to catch all the overfill that may occur," he said. "Usually this won't happen."

The safety package will also consist of an overfill alarm system, installed by the owners, that signals an overfill in the tank, Crawford said.

Owners of underground storage tanks will be required to check for leaks at least once each month by using a gauge to monitor the vapor level in the soil or the level of liquids in underground

Of all the new regulations, perstorage tank owners are required haps the most important one is a corrosion protection system, which consists of a cathodic protection system, Crawford said.

The soil contains underground electrical charges that cause deterioration of the metal tanks. With the new system, an anode, which counteracts the electrical charge in the ground, will be put on the old tanks.

This system, which is standard on all new steel tanks, is designed to stop the deterioration of the tanks. Old tanks will first be required to meet the new standards, simply because of old age, Crawford said.

New tanks will be made of steel and fiberglass, whereas most old tanks were constructed of steel alone, he said.

Most underground steel tanks can last 10 to 20 years, depending on soil moisture, traffic above where the tanks are buried and other factors, Prater said.

Although Kansas contains more than 19,000 underground storage tanks, Crawford said, there is no way to tell how big a problem the state has with gas leaks from the tanks.

"We really do not know because of the unreported tanks and the unreported gas leaks," he

All property owners with underground storage tanks are required to report any spill, in excess of 25 gallons, to the health department in order to be investigated, Crawford said.

Former sailor arrested in espionage plot

By The Associated Press

NORFOLK, Va. - A former Navy technician was arrested Tuesday on charges of trying to sell antisubmarine warfare secrets to the Soviet Union. The FBI said he was seeking revenge because the Navy had discharged him for indecent Craig D. Kunkle, 39, of Virginia Beach, a former chief petty officer, was charged with attempting to deliver classified information to a foreign government after he was caught trying to sell secrets to undercover agents.

The charge carries a sentence of up to life imprisonment upon conviction.

Kunkle, who had been working as a security guard, was arrested by two undercover FBI agents at a Williamsburg motel, said Irvin B. Wells III, than honorable conditions" as a Norfolk office. Wells told a news conference that Kunkle had classified documents with him at the time.

An FBI affidavit filed in U.S. District Court said Kunkle talked on six occasions, beginning in early December, with a person he believed to be a representative of the Soviet embassy in Washington. In fact, the person was an FBI agent posing as a Soviet agent, the affidavit said.

"During each of these conversations, Kunkle discussed various aspects of his military background and experience, and his desire to sell classified United States Navy military secrets to the Soviet Union for monetary gain, and as revenge for his discharge from the United States Navy," the affidavit said.

The affidavit said Kunkle was discharged in October 1985 under "less special agent in charge of the FBI's result of his non-judicial punishment for multiple acts of indecent exposure committed at the Parber's Point Naval Air Station in Hawaii.

> FBI spokesman Charles W. Steinmetz said the undercover investigation by the FBI and the Naval Investigative Service prevented disclosure of any damaging information to the Soviets.

We did stop him from providing the information," Steinmetz said.

Kunkle was first identified by counterintelligence surveillance of telephone calls to the Soviet embassy in Washington, said a source who spoke on condition of anonymity. U.S. counterintelligence agencies routinely monitor telephone calls to the embassy as part of efforts to prevent spying.

The affidavit said that on Dec. 9, Kunkle mailed a packet of documents, photographs and diagrams to ern Pacific oceans.

the undercover agent at a post office box in Alexandria. Kunkle's intention was to show the type of classified information he could provide, the affidavit said.

On Dec. 14, a Navy official in Norfolk determined that the material "consisted of sensitive defense information related to United States Navy operations and programs," the affidavit said.

Some of the material was classified as secret and would have damaged national security if given to the Soviets, according to the affidavit.

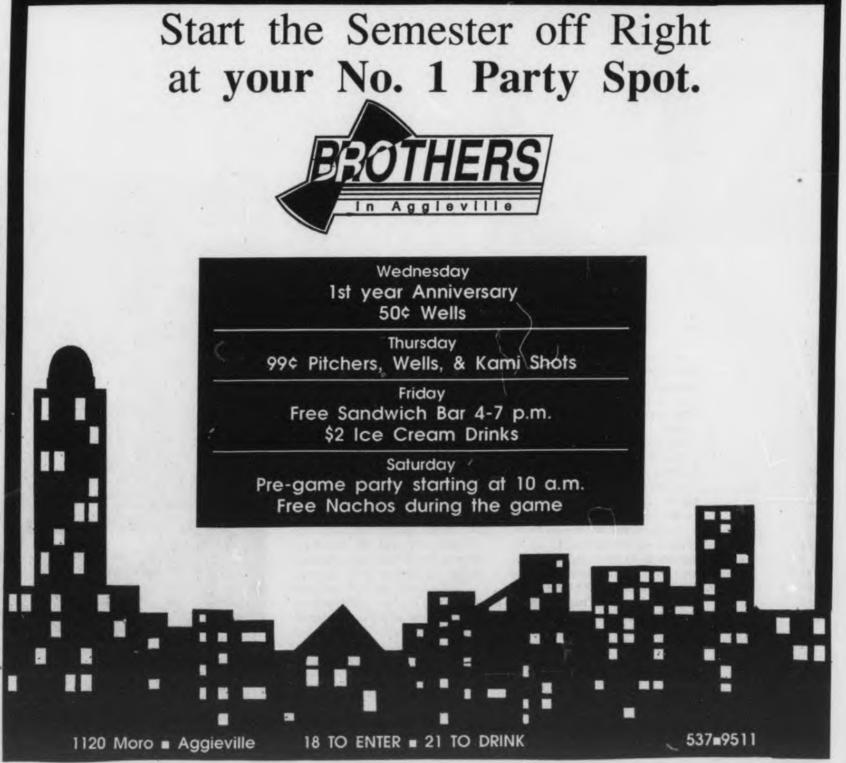

The court papers said Kunkle was an aviation anti-submarine specialist who installed submarine monitoring equipment on Navy aircraft. He served in various commands in the North Atlantic, the Indian and west-

InFocus

Kansas State Collegian ■ Wednesday, January 11, 1989 ■ Page 9A

Snow sledding at CiCo Park has been limited this winter due to the absence of snow. The CiCo Park hill is usually one of the most popular sledding spots in the Manhattan area.

WINTER SNOWFALL

Sledders wait to slide the slopes

It sifts from leaden sieves, It powders all the wood, It fills with alabaster wool The wrinkles of the road. The Snow -

Emily Dickinson

* * *

now sledding in the Manhattan area is limited more by the amount of snow on the ground than by the availability of hills. The local sledding sites offer a degree of challenge for beginners and experts of all ages.

The best place to go sledding in Manhattan is CiCo Park," said avid sledder Bill Delehanty, library assistant at K-State's Weigel Library.

"The hill in the park is great for sledding," he said. "There are also some easier slopes in Warner Park for the smaller children just starting out."

Warner Park has a hill with a gradual slope, said Ron Fehr, assistant director of Manhattan Parks and Recreation. The area is not specifically set up for sledding due to timber and steep ravines.

"CiCo Park's 'Sled Hill' is the traditional hot-spot for sledding in Manhattan," he said.

Greg Lund, park foreman for Riley County, said there are no sledding regulations for CiCo Park hill, located southwest of the new city pool.

"The only exception is to have snow on it," Lund said.

Riley County has recently worked on the sledding area in CiCo Park, he said. To make the area safer, the county filled in the ditches on the south end.

anhattan Country Club's golf course is offlimits for sledding, said Kari Krause, the assistant superintendent of the golf course, but strictly limited sledding on the driving range is available to members only. Previously, the course had offered its hills to individuals and groups for sledding, she said.

The reason why the course area is now off-limits is because of vandalism to the course and damage to the greens," she said.

"The Washington-Marlatt Park area has a hill that is steep enough for the experienced sledder. The only problem is that there is never enough snow to clear the rocks on the hill," said Mark Taussig, a landscape architect for K-State's Facilities Planning.

Washington-Marlatt Park's sledding area is south of "Top of the World" in northwest Manhattan and belongs to the University. Taussig said the area has no restrictions against sledding. Sledding on the hills outside the city may be inconvenient due to distance and access.

im Franz, park ranger for the Army Corps of Engineers, said only a few approved sledding areas exist around Tuttle Creek.

The nearest sledding area to Manhattan is Tuttle Cove - the first campground area above the dam on the west side. Franz said it has good-sized hills to be used for sledding. Other approved areas for sledding are in the Stockdale campgrounds, 15 miles northwest of Manhattan, and the Old Camahan Creek Park, 15 miles northeast of Manhattan, he said. "The rest of the public land around the lake is either too rough or too difficult to get to for sledding," Franz said. "Some areas around the lake are just not safe for sledding — due to the terrain, the lake or roads."

David Colburn, manager of Pathfinder's in Aggieville, said safety in sledding is essential.

"The two most common factors fence." leading to injury is to either run into something - like a tree - or to be run over by something - sledding out into a roadway and being hit by a car," he said. "One of the hardest things to see and worst things to hit when sledding is a barbed-wire

Paying attention to what is at the cult to control. bottom is important, he said.

The old-fashioned runner sleds are the best to control and maneuver when sledding, Colburn said. The plastic disk or saucer, which requires less snow, often move at higher speeds and are the most diffi-

"Hitting bumps and rocks on the hills, taking a tumble and getting knocked around a little is all part of the sport," he said. "But keeping control of yourself on a sled is important for safety."

Jet stream's shift reduces moisture

now is the one condition necessary for sledding, but according to forecasters, the chance for plenti-ful snowfalls in the Manhattan area during the next three months

The 90-day outlook for precipitation in Kansas is 55 percent to 60 percent below normal, said Jack May, meteorologist in charge with the National Weather Service Office in Topeka.

"But I don't have much faith in the 90-day forecast," May said. "With a 55 percent chance, that leaves a 45 percent chance that the forecast is wrong. The odds are just about as good as flipping a coin," he said.

One reason for the below normal precipitation forecast and drought conditions in the past year has been a shift of the barometric pressure at 16,000 feet, May said. Shifting pressure at this altitude creates a jet stream.

The streams move a major por-tion of the weather from the west to the east across the United States and Canada. The jet stream that influences the weather in the Midwest has shifted north to Canada, May said.

Shifting of the jet stream to the north prevents the moisture — which would normally fall in the Midwest - from occurring, he re linked the chan conditions and the drought to an 11-year cycle of sunspot activity. The droughts of the 1950s and 1960s are recent examples of this pattern, although the precipitation luring the 1970s did not follow The belief that the drought conditions are a result of the greenhouse effect is unverified, he said.

The greenhouse effect is the trapping of heat in the earth's atmosphere and the warming of the planet. The condition is a result of increased amounts of carbon dioxide and other pollutants in the atmosphere.

Professionals have conducted studies linking the changing temperatures in the Pacific Ocean to the drought and changes in the jet stream, May said.

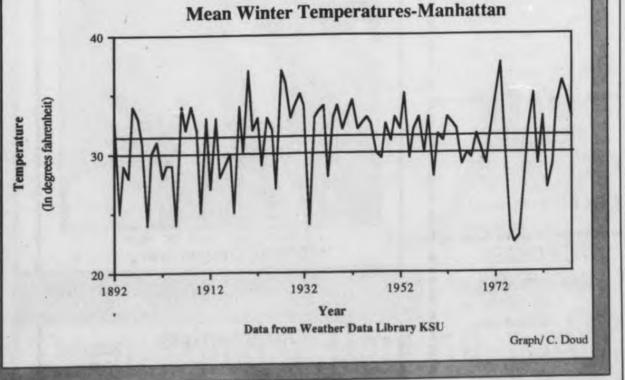

Dean Bark, climatologist at K-State, said, "A major swing is occurring. (The temperature) isn't getting colder or warmer, but a greater variability from normal temperatures has occurred over a 35-year period." The weather information from the Manhattan recording station indicated big swings in temperature variability prior to the 1930s and 1940s, Bark said.

"This wide variability in temperature is typicial climate for this region of the country — a midlatitude, mid-continental location," Bark said.

During the 1950s, 1960s and early 1970s there was less variation from the normal mean temperatures, he said.

Stories by

Kevin Kramer

Photo by

Brad Camp

Delegates work toward weapons compromise

By The Associated Press

PARIS - The Soviet Union on Tuesday publicly joined the United States in opposing Third World demands to link bans on chemical and nuclear weapons.

Delegates to the 150-nation conference on chemical weapons worked toward a compromise final declaration that could be delayed by U.S. resistance on linkage and other issues.

The Soviets were known to share the U.S. view, and on Tuesday they publicly joined in opposing linkage.

"We are against making the resolution of nuclear disarmament a precondition for chemical disarmament," Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Victor Karpov told a news conference.

In an upbeat remark, Karpov also told reporters the conference was "doomed to success" - signifying it would achieve progress despite wrangling. Western delegates said a final declaration will be issued when the five-day conference closes

The declaration will have no legal power but will carry weight as an expression of international political will.

The final declaration is reached by consensus, so any disagreement could mean delay or even

Since the conference opened Saturday, Arab states demanded linkage between nuclear and chemical weapons bans. They want to retain chemical weapons to offset what they claim is Israel's nuclear capability.

Non-aligned nations offered changes to soften Arab language.

Soviets restrict nominations

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW - Communist Party leaders on Tuesday dampened expectations of multiple-candidate elections in March by nominating only 100 candidates for seats in the new parliament — the same number of seats party members will vote for.

Historic political reforms passed into Soviet law Dec. 1 said "conditions would be created for nomination of an unlimited number of candidates" for the Congress of People's Deputies, the new Soviet parliament.

Two-thirds of the 2,250 deputies are to be elected by the general public on March 26. One-third of the deputies are being chosen by organizations that include the Communist Party, which has 100 seats, and trade unions and scientific groups.

Based on the Communist Party leadership's actions Tuesday, party members will have no choice when they elect their 100 deputies, since only 100 candidates were nominated.

There has been no change in the language of the election reform law. But the party's example "will set the standard," and other organizations will be less likely to offer a real choice, according to a Western diplomat. Based on the promise of the political reform, multiple candidates already have been nominated in some places. In Moscow, there are 26 names in contention in 19 of the districts, Tass reported Tuesday. Other signals from Tuesday's meeting of the party Central Committee were conflicting.

President Mikhail S. Gorbachev, who has repeatedly promised that the March elections would be part of the "democratization" of the Soviet Union, offered a draft political platform for the Communist Party and suggested that other organizations would offer their own.

"The Soviet people are entitled to know the objectives and tasks formulated by the party for the immediate future, and the platform it takes to elections," Gorbachev was quoted as saying by Tass. The document was not released Tuesday.

"We should proceed from the premise that the other social organizations will come to the elections with their own campaign documents," and individual candidates can also offer their views, Gorbachev said.

He was referring to other national organizations, including trade unions and scientific groups, which have been empowered to directly elect deputies to the congress. The Communist Party is the only legal political party in the Soviet Union.

Gorbachev also expressed satisfaction that most candidates nominated so far in the three-month election campaign are supporters of perestroika, his policy of reforming the Soviet system. But the president complained the campaign has produced "manifestations of group egotism, ambition and political careerism," and worried that some candidates might play on ethn-

Under the political reform adopted in December, the new congress will meet once a year to elect a smaller working parliament of 424 members. Gorbachev said that party members had suggested 31,500 nominees for its seats in the new congress. But these were winnowed down and finally just 100 were chosen by the 12-member ruling Politburo.

Those 100 candidates were nominated by the party's 300-member Central Committee Tuesday, Tass

A Western diplomat said it was possible that others could be nominated at the last minute.

Tass said that before the party formally elects its 100 deputies, "all communists will have an opportunity to express their attitude to any of the candidates."

Lottery profitable in Cheyenne

By Mike Rouse

Collegian Reporter Some players of the Kansas Lottery may decide to travel to Cheyenne County to purchase their next lottery ticket.

Based on first-year figures released by the lottery, people in Cheyenne County won more than $104,000 in prize money. Normally that would not be too unusual, but consider only $94,000 in tickets was purchased in this far northwest Kansas county, demonstrating a profit for players of about $10,000.

Cheyenne was the only county that made a profit for the first year of the lottery. But these figures might not be as good as they appear, said Jay Walker, lottery research/game

"A person in that county might patronage we are offering

$10 cut & style

with coupon

Get a fantastic Winter tan

10 sessions for $26

with coupon

At Joli we guarantee our results. Expires 1-31-89 Not Valid with other offers

1106 Laramie-Aggieville

539-1177

Walk-ins always welcome

COUPONS

have won a $50,000 prize, which would distort the rest of the statistics," he said. "We had some games where people could win more than half a millon dollars, so chance in some counties might not be as good as people think." Walker said the lottery has no knowledge of how many winning tickets are sold to each county. The tickets are randomly distributed in each county on the basis of how many tickets are ordered. During early stages of the lottery, many stores selling tickets did not report the amount of prize money returned to people with winning tickets, Walker said.

"Many of these statistics are just estimates based on how many tickets went to each store in the respective county and what the odds of winning tickets were," he said.

The bigger counties in Kansas -Sedgwick, Johnson and Shawnee demonstrated the highest amount of revenue returned to purchasers in

Residents in Sedgwick County won an estimated $7.25 million while spending more than twice that amount on tickets, Shawnee County won an estimated $3.7 million while spending $8.6 million on tickets and Johnson County won an estimated $2.64 million while spending slightly more than $6 million on tickets.

Residents of Riley County won an estimated $657,000 while spending $1.39 million on tickets.

The county with the worst winning percentage was Decatur, which had only 36 percent of the lottery tickets sold resulting in winning tickets.

BASKETBALL SHOE SALE Sale good thru Sunday, Jan. 15

Entire stock of basketball shoes on SALE

ATTENTION INTRAMURAL TEAMS* RUSSELL TANKS REG. $9.99 SALE $7.99

*Look for our coupon in the Chamber of Commerce book.

WELCOMES YOU TO WILDCAT LAND!

We can take care of all your personal beauty needs from head to toe.

15 Haircuts

includes shampoo and blow dry Must ask for an Artistic Hair Designer

$4150 to $5150 Perms $30 to $35 *10 OFF on European Facial Prices Good With This Ad One coupon per person.

TANNING BEDS AVAILABLE—'30 for 12 sessions

218 So 4th

EREDKEN KMS RESEARCH LABORATORIES 776-5651

DONT GET IT. GET IT.

Here's just a sample of how people are reacting to the new cartoon strip in the Collegian.

manufor

MAKING THE GRADE BY BOB BERRY

It's more than just a comic strip, it's an adventure! (OK, maybe not.)

FOR YET ANOTHER SEMESTER ... IT'S THE COMIC THAT LOOKS THE WORLD STRAIGHT IN THE NAVEL ..

The Eyes Have It yours can too at our

Optical Dispensary

Drs. Price/Young, Odle, and Horsch

Optometrists

537-1118

1119 Westloop Place

1xmmunt

all you want expires 1-18-89 with this coupon

FREE BACON

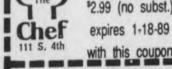

Ib. HAMBURGERS

CHEESEBURGER with purchase of Bacon Cheeseburger, Chef 1/2 fries & reg. drink expires 1-18-89 with this coupon PHILLY CHEESE STEAK SANDWICH $1.89 ala carte up to 2 persons per coupon This week only. expires 1-18-89 with this coupon

CHICKEN FRIED STEAK DINNER w/veg. & potato $2.99 (no subst.)

with this coupon FREE CHICKEN CLUB SANDWICH with purchase of Chicken Club

expires 1-18-89

Flight 103 bomb exploded near wing

By The Associated Press

LONDON - The bomb that blew up Pan Am Flight 103 ruptured the fuselage in the area of the cargo hold just ahead of the wing, and probably contained Semtex plastic explosives, authorities said Tuesday.

"Initial examinations have established that the explosive device ruptured the fuselage on the left side in the area of the No. 1 cargo-baggage hold just forward of the wing," said a bulletin from the Air Accidents Investigation Branch.

It did not say what explosives were used, but Transport Secretary Paul Channon said it was "very probably, but not certainly, Semtex.

The authorities did not disclose how they arrived at their conclusions.

Semtex, made in Czechoslovakia, is a powerful plastic explosive that is difficult to detect and is believed to be available to several terrorist Waldegrave said they would arrive Wednesday and Thursday. The indications that Semtex was used "point to some well-organized > Flight 103 blew up at 31,000 feet, killing all 259 people on board and 11 on the ground in Lockerbie, the Scottish town that bore the brunt of the falling debris.

Channon rejected accusations that the government refrained from warning the public of a bomb threat against Pan Am.

records and payments, while also answering questions and problems for people coming into the office at lem after another," he said. "But overall, things have been decent - even though patiences were getting a

"We're trying to iron out one prob-

East Stadium, Hermman said.

Faculty Senate members propose changes in finals

By The Collegian Staff

Faculty Senate heard reports Tuesday from standing committees on plans for proposed changes in the finals exam schedule and on seating arrangements at Bramlage Coliseum.

Wayne Nafziger, professor of economics, reported that the Faculty Affairs Committee commissioned University Registrar Don Foster to address the specifics for a proposed schedule of seven days.

"We were looking for someone with the technical expertise to deal with the specifics (of scheduling the exams)," Nafziger said.

Gerry Posler, professor of agronomy, called the Senate's attention to the reasons for the proposed changes: concern by students expressing their year of the plan.

dissatisfaction with the lack of finals preparation time and the fact that many exams are given during the week before finals week.

David Vruwink, associate professor in accounting, reported that the Committee on University Planning communicated with regarding seating at Bramlage. "I think it's safe to say that we just don't accept the current situation as it is," Vruwink said.

Athletic Director Steve Miller

In other action, Senate passed a motion instructing Faculty Senate President Cornelia Flora to write a letter applauding the Kansas Legislature for its support so far of the Margin of Excellence plan and petitioning its members for full support during this second

776-5577

Housing

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1A that everybody shares in," Miller said.

Despite expectations that Van Zile's added rooms will be quickly absorbed into the housing system, plans have not been made for the construction of any new housing facilities, according to Frith and

Fees

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1A individual fines for a variety of violations that have put a hold on students records," said Richard Hermman, University detective for KSU Police. "But it has been the problem situations that have slowed us down," Hermman said. "Most of the problems are persons who have paid their fine recently and the computer files have not caught up. So this results in a call to the office to verify the and well-supplied terrorist group,' article which contained the explosive it was Semtex that blew up Flight 103

on Dec. 21, it is sending four experts to Britain to assist the investigation.

Foreign Office Minister William

"It is too early to say yet where the

Although Czechoslovakia denied

Channon told Parliament.

originated," he said.

"We even doubled our staff for Tuesday and we were still unable to keep up," he said. "It seems that one out of every three people we were seeing had a problem that needed to be checked."

The additional personnel checked

Buy, Sell or Trade in Collegian Classifieds

little short.'

The Sound Shop Has

Relocated to 1118 Moro. (next to Brother's)

Our Expanded Store Now Has 5 Showrooms of the Finest Audio Equipment Available Anywhere.

Come check out our Back to School Specials and easy Student Financing.

Discount records & stereo

1118 Moro

537-7555

537-4708

Why not make the best time of life even better!

You're in college. You're on the way to an exciting career. Now, make the best of both worlds with Air Force ROTC. There's no better way to sharpen your leadership skills. No greater opportunity to launch a future you can be proud of. When you're registering for higher education, aim even higher with Air Force ROTC.

> CAPT EVERETT 913-532-6600

Leadership Excellence Starts Here

776-5577

Pizza Shuttle

"NO COUPON SPECIALS"

Prime Time Special 3-10 in. Pizzas 1—Topping 4-Cokes 10.00

Everyday Two-Fers 2-10 in. pizzas 2—Toppings 2-Cokes s8.00

FAST N FREE DELIVERY

textbooks

Course Essentials (Study Framework Lecture Reinforcement (Exam Review

Illustrations

Future Reference

SAVE 25% On Used Textbooks

Varney's is loaded with used books All Your Purchases Guaranteed

Varney's guarantees that the book you buy is the right one for your class. If your schedule changes or you enroll in the wrong class, you can bring the undamaged book back for a full cash refund within* two weeks after classes start. All you need is the cash register receipt and the merchandise. You must have the cash register receipt for a refund. *No refunds on Quiz-out manuals.

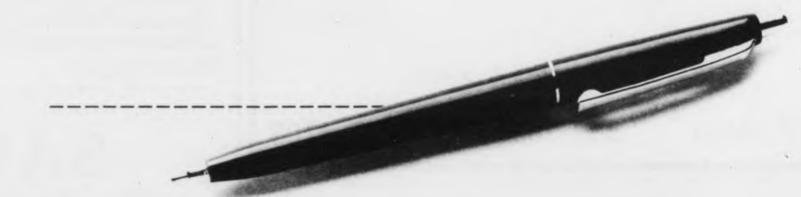

in Aggieville since 1916

Phone 539-0511

Open Tonight Until 10 p.m.

You don't need your parents' money to buy a Macintosh.

Just their signature.

It's never been difficult for students to convince their parents of the need for a Macintosh* computer at school.

Persuading them to write the check, however, is another thing altogether.

Which is why Apple created the Student Loan-to-Own Program. An ingenious loan program that makes buying a Macintosh as easy as using one.

Simply pick up an application at the location listed below, or call 800-831-LOAN. All your parents need to do is fill it out, sign it, and send it. If they qualify, they'll receive a check for you in just a few weeks.

There's no collateral. No need to prove financial hardship. No application fee.

Best of all, the loan payments can be spread over as many as 10 years.

Which gives you and your parents plenty of time to decide just who pays for it all.

Introducing Apple's Student Loan-to-Own Program

k-state union

Regular Semester Hours: M-Th 8-8, Fri 8-5, Sat 9-5, Sun 12-5

@1988 Apple Computer, Inc. Apple, the Apple logo, and Macintosh are registered trademarks of Apple Computer, Inc.

Kansas State Collegian ■ Wednesday, January 11, 1989 ■ Page 1B

KU in town for Big 8 Conference opener

Center Fred McCoy's shot is blocked during the Texas- went 4-2 and now have a record of 8-3 going into the Big Eight Arlington game January 5. During the holiday break, the 'Cats

By Chris Hays Sports Editor

The K-State men's basketball squad went into the holiday break with a 4-1 record after its 71-62 victory over Vanderbilt in the final game of the fall semester Dec. 10. From there, the Wildcats went 4-2 over the holidays to bring their record for the season to 8-3 going into Saturday's Big Eight Conference opener with archrival Kansas in Bramlage Coliseum.

Here is a brief recap of the Wildcats holiday schedule:

K-State 83, UM-Kansas City 57

UMKC got off to a fast start at Kansas City's Municipal Auditorium Dec. 17, and led 11-7 early in the first half. From there though, the Kangaroos missed their next 11 shots and K-State scored 13 unanswered points to take a 20-11 lead that it never relinquished, cruising to an 83-57 victory.

Fred McCoy led the Wildcats with 25 points, shooting 12 of 14 from the field, and he also grabbed eight rebounds. Steve Henson and Mark Dobbins also joined McCoy in double figures, netting 15 and 13 points respectively.

K-State 70, Akron 68

Wildcat center McCoy's 23 points helped K-State edge out Akron at J. A. Rhodes Arena Dec. 19. The 'Cats found themselves on top by seven points, 69-62, after a Henson three-pointer with 1:50 remaining, but the Zips went on a furious comeback, outscoring K-State 6-1 the rest of the way only to fall short at the buzzer.

Henson got 10 points for the Wildcats while Dobbins came off the bench to score 12 points and grab eight rebounds.

K-State 87, UM-St. Louis 81 K-State got a big scare at Bramlage Coliseum Dec. 22, as Missouri-St. Louis nearly pulled off a big upset on the Wildcats' home

The NCAA Division II-A Rivermen led 28-23 toward the end of the first half, but a late K-State run, capped by a steal and dunk by Henson, gave the Wildcats a 29-28 advantage and all the momentum they could have asked for going into halftime. UMSL quickly erased that momentum to start the second half as Kevin Morganfield hit a three-pointer to put the Rivermen up 31-30. The Rivermen's final lead of the night was erased by a McCoy follow-up with 15:12 remaining to give the 'Cats a 36-35 lead which they kept the rest of the way.

Reserve forward Reggie Britt had a big game for the Wildcats, dropping in a career high of 15 points and grabbing nine ds. Henson added 17 points and McCoy managed 10 points even though he shot a dismal 3 of 13 from the field. SW Missouri St. 58, K-State 55

Southwest Missouri shut down K-State's big guns, Henson and McCoy, Jan. 3, at the Hammons Student Center. The 'Cats top scorers had been combining for 35 points a game, but the Bears kept them to just 12 total points and the result was a 58-55 victory, Southwest Missouri's second in as many years against K-State.

The Wildcats, with the help of Britt and Lakeith Humphrey, who had 11 points each, nearly pulled this one out. Down by one, 56-55, with 14 seconds left, the Wildcats got the ball to Henson and then cleared out a side for the K-State playmaker. But good defense forced Henson to take an off-balance shot from the free-throw line. The shot rolled off and the Bears' Kelby Stuckey grabbed the rebound and was quickly fouled by Dobbins. Stuckey hit both of his free throws to provide the final margin of victory.

K-State 83, Texas-Arlington 52

Led by a quick 12 points from Humphrey in the first 9:23 of the opening half, K-State jumped out in front of Texas-Arlington 23-9 and never looked back as the 'Cats cruised to an 83-52 victory over the out-manned Mavericks.

Humphrey hit 8 of 11 floor shots en route to a 16-point performance and he also led the Wildcats in rebounding for the second straight game with five. Henson and Britt joined Humphrey in double figures, tallying 12 and 11 points respectively.

Minnesota 72, K-State 67

K-State continued its road woes Jan. 7, as Minnesota downed the 'Cats 72-67 at Williams Arena in Minneapolis. The Gophers, who led by as many as 13 points at one point, staved off numerous K-State attempts to get back in the ball game.

The last K-State rally was too little, too late. Humphrey hit a three-pointer to pull the 'Cats within three points, 70-67, with four seconds left, but, after a K-State time-out, the Gophers' Jim Shikenjanski was fouled by Dobbins and the Minnesota center canned both of his free throws to secure Minnesota's eighth win.

Henson took game scoring honors with 26 points, while Tony Massop added 12, and Humphrey got 10 for K-State.

Big Eight Conference Standings

	BIG 8	PCL.	lotal	Pct.
x-Kansas	1-0	1.000	13-1	.929
Oklahoma	1-0	1.000	13-1	.929
Missouri	1-0	1.000	13-3	.813
K-State	0-0	.000	8-3	.727
lowa State	0-1	.000	9-4	.692
Nebraska	0-1	.000	9-4	.692
Oklahoma St.	0-0	.000	8-4	.667
Colorado	0-1	.000	4-9	.308
x-Ineligible for post	-season play

Snyder hires several assistant coaches during break season opener Saturday against the University of Kansas.

By Chris Hays Sports Editor

K-State football coach Bill Snyder added several coaches to his staff during the holiday break bringing the total number of assistants to nine.

One of the most important assignments Snyder handed out was that of defensive coordinator. Bob Cope, head coach at Pacific the last six years, will take over a Wildcat defense that allowed 40 points a game last season.

"Cope is certainly one of the finest defensive minds in the country," Snyder said. "This is a person who will excite all of our defensive players with the intelligence and experience he brings to this program."

Cope had also been defensive coordinator at a number of schools before taking over at Pacific, includ- sive side of the football." ing Southern Methodist, Arkansas, Mississippi and Purdue. Cope's Pacific squads compiled a 22-46 record in his six years as head coach. The head position on the other side of the line of scrimmage was filled Dec. 21, when Del Miller, who had already been hired as the Wildcat recruiting coordinator, was named K-State's offensive coordinator.

Miller was on the Iowa staff with Snyder where he coached the quarterbacks and receivers. He also served as recruiting coordinator for the Hawkeyes. 'Del has worked closely with me at Iowa," Snyder said. "He was key in assisting me as offensive coordinator and has a keen understanding of our goals and desires on the offen-

Former Iowa all-American defensive back Bobby Stoops was named defensive secondary coach. Stoops was most recently the linebacker coach at Kent State. Before that, he served as a volunteer assistant on the same staff as Snyder at Iowa during the 1986 and 1987 seasons.

"Bobby Stoops is one of the greatest success stories in college football," Snyder said. "As an undersized strong safety at Iowa, through his competitive spirit, toughness and great desire to succeed, he became an All-Big Ten performer. These traits, his intensity and his genuine concern for young people have rapidly cast him into a position of being one of the finest up-and-coming young coaches anywhere."

Dec. 20, Snyder announced the hiring of former Drake head football coach Nick Quartaro. Quartaro will coach the tight ends and special teams for the Wildcats.

Quartaro, like Stoops, also played collegiate football under Snyder at Iowa and was also a graduate assistant there. He had spent the last three seasons as Drake's head coach and before that he had been an assistant at Northwestern and Hobart College and also the head coach at New Hampton (Iowa) High School.

Former Temple assistant John Latina will coach the offensive line for the Wildcats. He had the same position at Temple for the past five years. During that time, he has the distinction of coaching the line that helped former Owl and current Kansas City Chief Paul Palmer lead the football's St. Louis Cardinals. He nation in rushing in 1986, the same year that he was second to Miami's Vinny Testaverde in the Heisman Trophy balloting.

Diego State for the last two seasons.

Snyder announced Jan. 5 that former Missouri running back coach Charlie Coe will take on the same responsibilities for the Wildcats. Coe had held that position with the Tigers for three years.

Coe is a former K-State defensive back and was also an All-Big Eight performer for the Wildcat baseball team in 1970. Coe was drafted by both baseball's Detroit Tigers and served as an assistant at Louisville for two seasons before joining the Missouiri staff.

Tuesday, Snyder announced the The defensive line will be coached hiring of former Iowa quarterback by former San Diego State defensive Tom Grogan. Grogan will take on the line coach Mike Nelson. Nelson, a role of assistant recruiting coordina-1969 graduate of Akron, was at San tor and assistant quarterback coach for the Wildcats.

So far, the only coach that Snyder has retained from former K-State coach Stan Parrish's staff is linebacker coach Kevin Ramsey. Ramsey, a graduate of Indiana State, spent both the 1984 and 1985 seasons as a graduate assistant on former K-State coach Jim Dickey's staff. From there he went to Mission (Texas) High School where he was defensive coordinator in 1987.

K-State flag-football champions make playoff round at nationals

By Mike Rouse Collegian Reporter

The Tau Kappa Epsilon fratemity competed in the National Flag Football Championships in New Orleans during the holiday break, finishing the tournament with a 3-1 record that put the team in 32nd place.

The TKE team posted wins over United States Naval Academy at Corpus Christi, 28-6, and Texas, 31-20, in league play. The TKEs then advanced to the playoffs where they defeated Florida Memorial, 28-12, before losing to Western Florida, 13-12, in double overtime.

The tournament was formatted so that each team was put into a threeteam league and those three teams played a round-robin schedule with the winner advancing into a 60-team, single elimination playoff.

The preliminary games were played on the University of New Orleans' campus and the finals were held Jan. 2 at halftime of the Sugar Bowl in the Louisiana Superdome.

More than 100 teams competed in team was allowed one forward pass the tournament which lasted from Dec. 28 to Jan. 2.

"Some of the teams weren't that good and some were pretty good," said TKE member Kelly Johnson,

"Some of the teams weren't that good and some were pretty good. Most teams were bigger than we were, and most had really good quarterbacks because of the one-pass rule."

-Kelly Johnson senior in business senior in business. "Most teams were bigger than we were, and most had really good quarterbacks because of the one-pass rule."

According to Johnson, the rules for the tournament were different from K-State intramural rules. Each from behind the line of scrimmage and there were kickoffs after each score and at the beginning of each half. K-State flag football rules allow two forward passes on each play and there are no kickoffs.

'We did all right, because we used a lot of pitches and didn't throw that much," Johnson said.

Johnson added that the weather was around 70 to 75 degrees during the tournament and they did a lot of other things besides play football.

"We went and saw the Superdome and went down to the French Quarter and saw the University of New Orleans," he said.

The cost of the tournament was $230 per team and $15 per player. Johnson said that TKE alumni donations paid for the entry fee for the team and the players.

The TKEs earned the invitation to the tournament by winning the All-University flag football title at K-State in October.

Intramural registration ends Friday afternoon

By Carolyn Holcroft Contributing Writer

Not very much time is left for students who plan to register for the first round of spring intramural competition.

Activities begin almost immediately, and entries for basketball, doubles handball, raquetball and table tennis must be submitted to the Recreational Services office at the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex by 5 p.m., Jan. 13.

The Rec Services office is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Steve Martini, intramurals director, recommended that teams sign up as early as possible, to ensure games are scheduled according to each team's preference.

"Times (for games) are assigned on a first-come, first-priority basis," Martini said. "It's easiest to find out when all of your players are available, then sign up early for a time that works out.

In addition, intramural basketball teams may reserve half courts at the Rec Center. Reservations will be taken at the equipment room desk either in person or by phone Jan. 9-19. Reservations can be made no more than one day in advance, and can be made any day between 3 p.m. and 11 p.m., except Jan. 14, when reservations can be made 9 a.m. and 9 p.m., and Jan. 15, when they can be made from noon to 11 p.m. All managers also need to attend a mandatory meeting on Jan. 12 at 4 p.m. in the Forum Hall at the Union.

Martini said basketball is the largest sport offered during this half of the semester. About 350 teams are expected to sign up this season, although in recent years the number has fluctuated. The highest registration total was in 1980 when 410 teams competed. He attributes much of the fluctuation to the number of other options students currently have for exercise, such as aerobics.

He also said that intramurals are a good way to exercise, meet people and have a good time, and that students ought to keep this in perspective.

Any student interested in officiating games should attend three clinics: Jan. 12 in the Union Big 8 Room, Jan. 17 in the Rec Gym at the Rec Complex, and Jan. 19 in Union 207. All meetings will begin at 6:30 p.m. Students need not have experience, Martini said.

Other upcoming deadlines are Jan. 20 for Lifeline and Aerobic Challenge.

Lady Cats win 4, lose 1 during holidays

Loss in Fun and Sun tourney only dent in record over break

By Chris Hays Sports Editor

K-State's women's basketball team entered the holiday break with a 6-2 record after its 69-45 victory over Creighton in Omaha Dec. 10.

From there, the Lady Cats lost just one of the five games they played during the holidays, and finished second at the Fun and Sun Invitational at Florida International in Miami. The Lady Cats now have a 10-3 record going into tonight's Big Eight Conference opener with Oklahoma State at Bramlage Coliseum.

Here is a brief recap of the Lady Cats' last five games:

Lady Cats 69, S.W. Missouri St. 45

D. Miller

Bahner Matteucci

M. Miller

Davidson

Boyle

Lane

Funk

Stoehr

Madsen

K-State recorded its second straight road victory Dec. 19 at Southwest Missouri State, with a 69-45 rout of the Lady Bears at the Hammons Student Center.

Forward Rita Matteucci powered the Lady Cats to their seventh victory with 25 points and 11 rebounds, both career high marks. Nadira Hazim also broke the 20-point mark by chip-

70-165

46-112

39-110

27-66

22-48

21-51

5-26

0-3

5-10

360-855

280-732

Lady Cat Statistics

41.1

40.9 45.8

41.2

19.2

0.0

50.0

42.1

Three-point goals — Hazim 0-2 (0.0%), D. Miller 3-8 (37.5%), M. Miller 3-6 (50.0%), Totals

13-23

13-27

18-26

9-16

7-9

0-0

2-3

144-212

158-230

69-2

56.3 77.8

0.0

66.7

67.9

68.7

3.5

3.5

42.1

Lady Cats 67, Wichita State 54 K-State got off to a quick start Dec. 29 against Wichita State in Bramlage Coliseum and never looked back as the team easily defeated the Lady Shockers, 67-54.

The Lady Cats jumped out to a 10-2 lead early in the contest and eventually pulled ahead by 11 points, 34-23, late in the first half. Wichita State could get no closer than seven the rest of the way.

A tough Lady Cat defense created havoc all night long for the Lady Shockers, as they forced a whopping 31 WSU turnovers.

Diana Miller led the Lady Cats with 14 points, while Hazim got 10 and Matteucci added nine.

Fun and Sun Invitational

Fla. International 81, Lady Cats 68

Despite shooting a season-high 50 percent from the field Jan. 3, K-State was still defeated by host Florida ping in 21 points and Diana Miller International, 81-68, in first-round play at the Fun and Sun Invitational at Sunblazer Arena in Miami. The loss snapped a five-game Lady Cat winning streak.

Hazim led the Lady Cats with 23 points while Diana Miller contributed 11.

Lady Cats 79, Cleveland State 43 The Lady Cats on Jan. 4 found themselves without the services of flu-stricken leading scorer Hazim against Cleveland State, but it didn't seem to matter. K-State cruised to a 79-43 victory over the Lady Vikings in second-round action at the Fun and Sun Invitational.

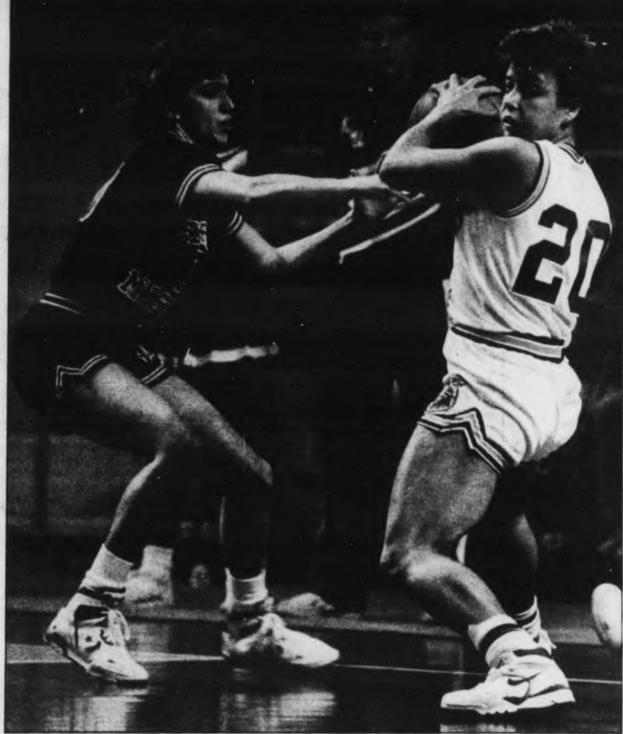

Cowley County transfer Arneetrice Cobb proved to be a capable replacement for Hazim, as she pumped in 14 points and grabbed 11 rebounds, both career highs, in her first start in a Lady Cat uniform.

Matteucci led the Lady Cats with 17 points, while Mary Jo Miller tallied 11 points and Amy Davidson sank 10. Kristie Bahner was also a threat underneath along with Cobb, as she, too, pulled down 11 rebounds. Lady Cats 65, South Alabama 64

Matteucci hit a 17-foot jumper as the buzzer sounded to lift the Lady Cats to a 65-64 victory over South Alabama, giving K-State a secondplace finish in the Fun and Sun Invitational Jan. 5.

The Lady Cats took posession after two South Alabama free throws brought the Lady Jaguars to a 64-63 lead with 14 seconds remaining. K-State worked the ball inside to Bahner, who had it knocked lose, but Matteucci was there to pick it up and she promptly hit the game winner.

K-State, without Hazim for the second straight night, was led by Bahner and Diana Miller, who both Guard Elyse Funk and the Lady Cats went 4-1 during the holiday break and now hold a 10-3 record. The team will see action against Oklahoma State at 7:30 tonight in Bramlage Coliseum.

OSU on probation after violating recruiting regulations set by NCAA

8.1

7.2

6.0

4.2

3.9

1.9

6.0

By Chris Hays Sports Editor

Following the NCAA's investigation of alleged recruiting violations by Oklahoma State's football program, the Cowboys were placed on probation last Friday, barring them from television for two years and post-season play for three years. The NCAA's most recent sanctions now bring the number of Big Eight Conference schools that have recently felt the blow of the NCAA hammer

In November, Kansas' basketball program was handed a one-year ban from post-season play, while in December, Oklahoma's football program was also barred from postseason play for two years, as well as from television appearances for one year.

But the schools that face the brunt of the sanctions are not the only ones that will feel the effects of them. K-State assistant athletic director Jim Epps said that the athletic department

Richmond

December

newcomer

By The Collegian Staff

Association announced that

Golden State Warriors' guard

Mitch Richmond has been named the Minute Maid

Orange Soda NBA Rookie of

The first guard picked and the fifth overall selection in the

1988 NBA Draft averaged

21.8 points, 6.5 rebounds and

3.8 assists as he helped lead the Warriors to five come-from-behind victories during the month. The 6-5 K-State product hit .464 percent from the field and .776 percent of his quality when we drafted him," said Don Nelson, Warriors head coach and general mana-

"I've had my ups and downs

this season," Richmond said.

"But, I'm becoming more comfortable with each game and I'm learning to leave my mistakes behind and keep my head up. I've always wanted to play in the NBA."

"We knew Mitch had star

free throws.

the Month for December.

The National Basketball

could face upwards of $500,000 in losses due to the lost revenues from television appearances and postseason play.

"We will not only suffer monetariterms of the aspersions cast over intercollegiate athletics," Epps said. "When you get three high-profile institutions like Oklahoma, Oklahoma State and KU placed on probation and then they all come from the same conference, there is a bit of a negative appearance cast on the entire conference from a public relations

And the negative appearance is not the only negative that the conference will have to deal with. Although there is no way of arriving at an exact figure, early estimates show that the conference stands to lose nearly $4.5 million this year alone.

"They're sticking a hot poker in everybody's ribs," said Iowa State football coach Jim Walden. "There's no question that this is a conferencewide penalty."

The effects of the probations will Big Eight for some time to come. not be felt directly at K-State, as may be the case at Nebraska. K-State's like this occur it has a traumatic losses stem from what would have effect on college sports, but this has been its split of the conference's tele- all happened to the Big Eight at once ly but from the ripple effect it has in vision and post-season revenues. and it draws the white-hot spotlight Nebraska, however, could stand to lose a lot more than the rest of the Big Eight schools.

The Cornhuskers football team will probably lose two televised games each year since OU and OSU cannot appear on TV. That, plus a clause in the Big Eight's contract with the Orange Bowl, could mean $2 million more in lost revenues.

The clause states that the Orange Bowl committee can select a team from outside the conference to participate should the Big Eight champion not be eligible for post-season play. So, should Nebraska take second and then be overlooked by the Orange Bowl committee, they would probably then go to a bowl that offers a considerably lesser pay day.

All monetary losses aside, the probations will definitely scar the "Anytime you have something on the conference, Epps said. "When you have three of the eight a really good record. It's certainly nothing to be proud of." Epps did say that the probations will have some positive repercussions in the long run.

teams on probation it's obviously not

"It gives everybody the message that cheating doesn't pay," he said. "At some point, if left unchecked, it's going to be discovered and I think we will begin to see a trend to where the penalties will start to get a lot more

"I think it's a healthy sign. We need a clear statement from the NCAA. If you cheat, you are going to be penalized in such a way that it will affect your athletic program for a long time to come."

Conference play to open for Cats By Mike Rouse smarter in their shot selection and

Collegian Reporter

With a successful 10-3 nonconference record, the Lady Cats will start their Big Eight schedule against Oklahoma State at 7:30 tonight in Bramlage Coliseum.

Oklahoma State, coming off a 76-68 win over North Texas, will take an 8-4 record into the game. Mossman feels OSU is a "very up-tempo" type of team.

"They play hard-nose, man-toman defense," she said. "They are very up-tempo and like to push the ball up the court."

The Cats are coming off a 2-1 record in the Florida International Tournament where the Cats switched leading scorers in each of the games.

Despite Nadira Hazim's 23 points, the Cats accepted an 81-68 loss from host Florida International. Rita Matteucci scored 17 points in K-State's 77-43 thrashing of Clevland State, and Amy Davidson came off the bench to lead the Cats with 16 points in a 65-64 win over South Alabama.

The Cats shot more than 48 percent in all three games last weekend, including a season-high 50 percent shooting average in the loss to Florida International.

The Cats have apparently found their shooting rhythm. "(The players are) getting are starting to know when and when not to shoot the ball," head coach Matilda Mossman said.

Mossman said she feels more onfident going into the Big Eight schedule this year than she did a year ago. K-State is looking to improve on last year's 1-13 Big Eight record.

'We have a little more experience," she said. "The girls are doing more on the court this year and are making good judgment on their own.

"We are winning the close games so far this year, which has built our confidence because we lost a lot of those type of games last year," she said.

One addition to this year's team has been the play of Mary Jo Miller, Mossman said. The freshman is averaging 7.2 points and 4.3 assists a game.

"She has done an excellent job offensively. She gets us into our offense earlier in the game," Mossman said. OSU is led by two-time Big Eight selection Clinette Jordan. Jordan is averaging 21.3 points and 10.8 rebounds a game this

"She is a good inside shooter. When she gets inside she can create a shot very easily," Mossman

grace indoor Additions

By Mike Goens Sports Writer

In addition to a new surface for this season in Ahearn Field House, K-State's men's and women's indoor track teams will also have some new faces trying to pile up the points for Coach John Capriotti.

Gone from the men's team are Kenny Harrison and Ron Stahl, and from the women's team Felicia Curry, Anne Stadler and Jacque Struckhoff, all of whom were all-Americans during their K-State Capriotti said both teams lack the overall depth to challenge for a Big Eight title. However, he is expecting both squads to finish in the middle of the conference while challenging Nebraska, Missouri, Iowa State and Oklahoma State for an upperdivision finish.

"We are a much better outdoor team," Capriotti said. "We would prefer outdoor to indoor. We have got to be healthy to compete."

The men's squad has a good group of returning lettermen in sprints, distance, jumps and weights. Senior Jeff Reynolds will head the sprint events for the men. Reynolds has won the 400-meter dash at the last two Big Eight Outdoor championships, as well as a second-place finish in the 200-meter and a first in the 600-meter at the Big Eight Indoor championships. "One thing about Jeff is that when he shows up at a meet he is there to take care of business," Capriotti said. "He has a lot of leadership; we expect big things from him. Reynolds is a team leader and one of his personal goals is to win the NCAA championship in the 400-meter."

Capriotti also expects three newcomers - junior Ray Hill, freshman Corey King and sophomore Tyrone Watkins - to contribute in the Seniors Pat Hessini and Brian Zwahlen should pace the distance runners with help from freshman Jason Goertzen.

Freshman high jumper R.D. Cogswell is capable of going seven feet and higher consistently, said Capriotti. Sophomore Clifton Etheridge will try to fill the void left by Harrison in the long jump.

"We may never replace Kenny Harrison," Capriotti said. "He was not only the best athlete in the Big Eight but also one of the best in the country. If Kenny showed up, we would automatically win two events and start with 20 points. He is hard to replace. But we have some good young jumpers.'

The throwers will be led by senior Dan O'Mara and sophomore Chris

The women's team is perhaps the strongest in the sprints and hurdles, where they are led by junior Joy Jones in the sprints and senior Kim Kilpatrick in the hurdles, Kilpatrick won four indoor meets in the 1988 season including the Big Eight Indoor in the 55-meter hurdles in a record time of 7.89. Kilpatrick is also the K-State record holder in the 55-meter hurdles with a time of 7.84.

"They play a significant role," Capriotti said of Jones and Kilpatrick. "They are intelligent, good leaders and good role models. They spark the performance of the team. You just can't measure their importance in dollars and cents."

Capriotti will be looking to freshmen Markeya Jones and Latricia Joyner to also contribute in the sprint

Sophomore Laura Ostmeyer and senior Angie Barry will attempt to fill the void left by Stadler in the distance races. Ostmeyer finished third in the 800-meter at the Big Eight Indoor last year. The distance runners will also be without one of their top runners in senior Laura Haggerty, who is out for the season with a stress fracture in her foot.

Senior DeDe Henderson should lead the high jumpers after winning four indoor meets and finishing second at the Big Eight Indoor Championship last year.

Sophomore Angie Miller should be the best of the throwers as Kelly Abernathy will be redshirted this season. Senior Marti Cisper will contribute in the jumps, throws, and will also compete in the pentathlon if she can overcome tendonitis.

Eligibility rule change fails to gain approval

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO - Proposition 48 remained unchanged Tuesday after NCAA convention delegates either defeated or withdrew several measures aimed at altering the freshman-eligibility rule.

Division I delegates voted 159-151 against a Southeastern Conference proposal to eliminate the 'partial qualifier." By a vote of 179-135, a motion was defeated that would have restored a fourth year of eligibility to partial qualifiers who complete 96 credit hours toward a degree by their fifth academic year.

A partial qualifier is a high school graduate whose overall grade-point average is 2.0 but who fails to meet minimum test-score requirements or post a 2.0 in required college preparatory courses.

Withdrawn earlier was a measure sponsored by the Colonial Athletic Association that would have eliminated the partial qualifier provision. Also defeated, by a 208-103 margin, was a motion to make it tougher for non-qualifiers to gain eligibility at a Division I school after attending a junior college. Proposition 48 was passed in 1983 and took effect in the 1986-87 academic year. It established minimum standards for freshman eligibility and mandated that those who failed to meet those standards must sit out their freshman year without playing or practicing in their sport, and would have only three years of athletic eligibility remaining. Partial qualifiers may receive scholarships, but still must sit out their first year and will have only three years.

The rule has been controversial from the beginning, particularly because black educators maintain that standardized college entrance exams, which are a part of the criteria, are racially discriminatory.

Panel discusses sexism

By Audra Dietz Staff Writer

Sexist behavior is a problem in the classroom and creates an uncomfortable atmosphere for women, said Susan Scott, associate dean of student life, at College of Engineering faculty seminar ate for male instructors to compli-Tuesday.

The seminar with panel discussion, called "Gender Issues in the Classroom," was attended by 12 faculty members and four students.

Scott said women are often intimidated in male-dominated classes and are often afraid to participate in class discussions or ask for help.

"Sexist behavior undermines a woman's self-confidence and can have a negative influence on her career decisions," Scott said.

Constant use of the male pronoun "he" by instructors is discriminatory language, said Judy Davis, director of the Women's Resource Center.

"The use of sexist language is sometimes carried to extremes and causes unnecessary discomfort to women," Davis said.

Scott and Davis said engineering faculty members should not isolate female students by using sexist language or by using male students and work by male engineers as examples.

Davis also said it is inappropriment female students.

"Giving compliments makes women sexual beings, not students, and that's not what (women) are here for," she said.

"A compliment (from an instructor) on a woman's looks is dehumanizing in this day and age,' said Doris Grosh, professor of industrial engineering and panel

Just because students do not speak out doesn't mean there is not a problem, she said. Silence is too often interpreted as a signal that everything is all right, but this is not always true, she said.

Matt Joyce, junior in mechanical engineering and panel member, said there are fewer women in his engineering classes now than when he was a freshman.

"Too few women are in class and that's part of the problem. They feel inferior," Joyce said.

Daasie Ward, senior in mechanical engineering and panel member, said instructors do not treat women equally in class.

"Apologies from teachers to women set us aside in class. I don't feel a part of the group, and it causes isolation," she said.

Ruth Dyer, assistant professor of electrical engineering, said the College of Engineering would benefit if more women were hired.

"The male-dominated department is missing out on the creativity and intelligence that women can contribute," she said.

Several professors - male and female - said not enough women attend graduate school and return to teach engineering. "It's a cycle we can't break.

Women won't enter graduate school because they don't feel comfortable in the first place," said Brian Harms, assistant professor of electrical engineering.

European Economic Community bans foreign hormone-fortified beef imports

By Paul Branson Science Writer

The European Economic Community enacted a ban, which took effect Jan. 1, on beef imported from countries which allow the use of hormones to promote growth in cattle. The ban includes beef imported from the United States. The restriction resulted after nearly seven years of debate about the safety of such hormones. According to an article in New Scientist, during 1981 babies in Italy were discovered to have developed enlarged breasts and genitalia after eating veal injected with the banned hormone diethylstilboesterol, or DES. It is not a legal growth hormone in the United States.

The market affected by the ban is worth about $145 million, said Darrell L. Wilkes, vice president of research and industry information for the National Cattleman's Association. About $3 per head of beef would be lost, he said, adding that the figure could be reduced as new markets are found.

The $3 figure may be too low, said Marc Johnson, professor of agricultural economics.

"I think the beef market will be depressed. This was a substantial market," Johnson said. "I think the $3 to $4 dollar per head decrease may be 10 times (greater)."

Larry Corah, professor of animal sciences and industry, said he is more disturbed about the EEC's questioning of the quality of United States' beef.

"The biggest question by cattlemen is what kind of image does this (ban) give to the buyers of American beef," Corah said.

The hormones in beef and other implantations — including those in dairy and pork production - must initially undergo strict testing. The effects on the animal and the consumer are tested before placing them on the market.

"It's a multimillion dollar industry in just the testing of these hormones," Corah said.

Two types of hormones - natural and analog - are used by the beef industry to promote growth. Natural hormones, such as testosterone and estrogen, occur naturally in the animal.

Analog hormones are chemicals which resemble natural hormones structurally and have the same type of effects on the animal. Analog hormones include trimbalone, zerenol and DES.

According to EEC findings published in New Scientist, a study found the amount of hormone which remains in the beef cattle after slaughter is nearly equal to the amount naturally produced by an intact bull.

The members of the study agreed the use of two hormones, trimbalone and zerenol, were completely safe. The EEC then disbanded the research group before further study could be done. Trimbalone and zerenol are widely used in the U.S. cattle industry.

Both Corah and Johnson said they are not sure how long the ban will last. Both agree the results could affect additional U.S.-European trade beyond the beef market as a trade war escalates.

"I would hope the European (Economic) Community would reevaluate its position before this thing gets too far," Corah said.

SHOE & Leather REPAIR

You're not dressed up if Your Shoes are run down.

MANHATTAN SHOE REPAIR

401 Humboldt Drive-up convenience Tues.-Frl. 8 a.m.-5:30 p.m 8 a.m.-8 p.m. Sat. 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m. Closed Sunday and Monday

776-1193

Semester Memberships

10—30-min. tanning sessions for $20

> 776-1750 3236 Kimball Candlewood

—Student Government—

Want to develop leadership skills-want to influence policy decisions that effect students' lives? Maybe Student Government Involvement is the Vehicle!

Submit application (to be found in SGA Office) by Jan. 13, 1989

Committees With At-Large Students

Academic Computing Advisory Committee Advisory Committee on Campus Development Athletic Ticket Sales Committee Campus Environmental Health & Safety Committee Commission on the Status of Women Communicable Diseases Committee Convocation Committee Council on Traffic Council on Student Affairs Fine Arts Council General Scholarship & Student Financial Aid Committee

Holton Hall Council Intercollegiate Athletic Council Out-Of-State Fee Appeals Board Recreational Services Council Sports Club Council Student Health Advisory Committee Students' Attorney Advisory Board Undergraduate Grievance Committee University Activities Board Judicial Positions Attorney General

Judicial Council Attorney General Judicial Council Parking Citation Appeals Board Student Review Board Tribunal Association of Students for Kansas

> Legislative Affairs Liason lembership Director

Communications Director

$99 Dollars

Get your semester of ditness NOW at Nautilus he Ladies Club: "The Total Fitness System" in

WELCOME BACK STUDENTS FROM

Free Delivery and Late Night Hours

539-4888

Anti-abortionists want consent bill introduced

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA - An anti-abortion organization said Wednesday it expects to have reintroduced for it a bill that would require a minor to get the consent of her parents or a judge before she could have an abortion.

Cynthia Patton, public relations director for Kansans for Life, said a bill requiring consent should be introduced in the next couple of weeks.

A similar bill was introduced last year, but the House Federal and State Affairs Committee killed the proposal.

Patton said she believes changes in the committee's membership would help get the con-sent measure out of committee this session. She predicted a consent law would pass the Legislature.

Patton also applauded the U.S. Supreme Court's decision on

Enjoy smooth, creamy

Frozen Yogurt

that tastes like Ice Cream

but with 80% less fat!

-- FREE SAMPLES--

I Can't Believe It's

YOGURT!

GREAT TASTE-NATURALLY

OPEN: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Daily

Noon-11 p.m. Sundays

Nautilus Towers-Aggieville

SPRING BREAK 1989

MEXICO 7 NIGHTS Acapulco from $349 Puerto Vallerta from $349 Mazatlan from $319

BAHAMAS CARNIVAL CRUISE

Monday to hear arguments on the challenge to a Missouri law restricting abortions.

The Missouri law bans publicly funded abortions, prohibits public facilities from being used to perform an abortion and requires doctors to determine whether a fetus believed to be older than 19 weeks is capable of surviving outside the womb by testing for weight and lung capacity.

"I think what is most likely to happen now is that there will be an approval of more and more state regulations for abortion, so that abortion will not be available through all nine months of pregnancy for any reason," Patton

The Supreme Court is expected to rule on the case by summer. Patton said her organization has not decided whether to submit a bill prohibiting abortions through the third trimester.

SMATH

PERSONAL COMPUTERS

also servicing · PC compatibles & printers

· Televisions & VCRs

Manhattan 913-776-6650

BUY ONE!

Women's Shoes

MIDWEST

SERVICES

Authorized Warranty Service

'Green' rivals band's earlier work

By Doug Fall Collegian Reviewer

From the first sound of "Pop Song 89" to the last note of the "song number eleven," R.E.M. has produced an album that parallels, if not surpasses, its previous work.

R.E.M. has emerged from relative obscurity to prominence on its own terms and fully intact. The group refused to change its unique sound to please the whimsical standards set by past commercial successes, R.E.M.'s sound has definitely evolved from the days of "Reckoning" and "Fables of the Reconstruction," yet it has not compromised a single note.

Review

"Green" is composed of 11 songs, ranging from the murky and mellow sounds reminiscent of the group's early days to songs that are as upbeat and modern as its recent singles "Stand" and "Orange Crush."

R.E.M.'s lead singer, Michael Stipe, has become quite confident with his role and the lyrics are much clearer as a result. If a comparison between "Green" and another R.E.M. album could be made, it would be easiest to compare it to "Life's Rich Pageant," which was released before the overwhelmingly successful "Document" album.

True fans who expected R.E.M. to abandon its characteristic sound need not fear. Several songs are suggestive of previous R.E.M. tunes. "You Are The Everything," perhaps the best song on the album, sounds similar to the meandering "Swan Swan H" of "Life's Rich Pageant." On the surface, it is a silly love song but, on a deeper level, speaks of getting lost in one's imagination.

"The Wrong Child" is a complex piece that sounds as if it should have been on an earlier album. As many of the group's songs go, it takes some time to swallow this one, but develops into a pleasant song despite the strident chords and obscure melody. Sounding as if it could be the group's autobiography, the song describes a young boy who maintains a positive outlook despite being alienated from his peers because he is different. To those who are pleased by this successful venture, R.E.M. has proven it is capable of meeting high expectations. Almost any of the songs could have been successfully released as singles, instead of the two that were chosen. "Get Up," as well as "Pop Song 89" are both upbeat, happy songs in the same league as Stand."

R.E.M. does not, however, fall into a rut that could lead to stagnation. Rather, it explores new territory as well as maintaining its sound. "I Remember California" is a song with a heavy bass beat, but is coupled with a lilting melody performed by Stipe. To the casual listener, his lyrics may verge on the nonsensical, but after wading through the murk one may discover a very clear meaning. Stipe paints a vivid portrait of California with a list of his memories and hints at a sad personal experience.

His clearest and perhaps best lyrics come in "World Leader Pretend." Through a description of a leader and how he controls his subjects, Stipe provides a clever look into the internal struggles in a person's mind and the defenses he creates.

It may have switched record labels, but R.E.M. has not changed the characteristic sound that first gained attention on college radio stations and, in the past couple of years, widespread success. "Green" is a continuance and refinement of R.E.M.'s unique sound that fans have come to love.

CAREER PLANNING & PLACEMENT MAKE UP ORIENTATION SESSIONS FOR DEGREE CANDIDATES

*January 12, 1989, 3:30 p.m., Union Little Theatre

(Agriculture, Architecture, Business, Engineering)

January 18, 1989, 3:30 p.m., Eisenhower 225 (Arts & Sciences)

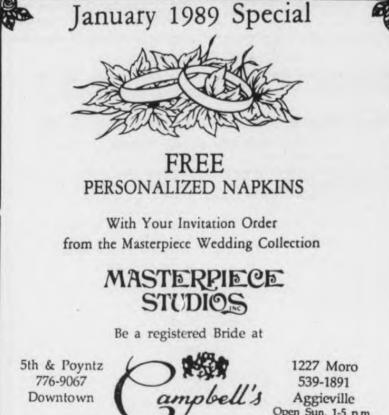

January 19, 1989, 3:30 p.m., Justin Hall 109 (Human Ecology)

February 2, 1989 3:50 p.m., Bluemont 101 (Education)

Details at Holtz Hall

See Collegian Campus Bulletin entries and postings for other seminars throughout the semester.

*On-campus interviews begin February 1

PEOPLE

if you:

- like variety and excitement
- require a flexible schedule
- need some extra cash,

JOIN US IN OUR PURSUIT OF EXCELLENCE

- Interested individuals contact:
- B) Boyd Food Center (532-6484).
- Derby Food Center (532-6483).
- Kramer Food Center (532-6482).

Chef Cafe's Good Food and Low Prices Make A Hit with Students

Fridays.

The Chef Cafe, Manhattan's only true diner, has been a KSU tradition since 1940. It is the town's oldest, continuously family-operated restaurant in the county. Ever since Cotton Limbocker, now in the Kansas Restaurant Hall of Fame, started the Chef Cafe nearly 50 years ago emphasis has been on good food prepared on premise, ample portions and economical prices that make most fast foods restaurants wince

Bob and Larry Limbocker, sons of Cotton Limbocker and current owners, have continued this tradition of the home town diner even though the building itself has undergone major changes and remodeling. The best hamburger in town, the eating at the Chef for the first time are surprised and like the amount of food they get for their dollar. According to Mr. Limbocker, once students get a taste of the Chef Cafe, they just keep coming back. This reporter suggests if you haven't discovered the Chef Cafe at 111 S. best cup of coffee, homemade pies 4th do it soon.

and soup are just a few of the Chef's claim to fame. But recently the Tuesday Rib Night has been a a big hit with students as well as the Steak

Attack on Saturdays and all the Chicken and Spaghetti you can eat on

The Chef Cafe has always offered students a 10% discount just by showing a student ID, plus ongoing coupon specials. Most students

-Advertisement-

Human Resource Selection Do you think of yourself as a salesperson? Do you want to consult with top executives of Fortune 500 Companies? Would you like to become an expert in employee selection and development? Do you want to learn a state-of-the-art selection system? Do you believe high-achieving individuals are the key to a company's success and growth? Do you get a kick out of seeing a selection system work? Are you thrilled by the achievements of your clients?

EXECUTIVE CONSULTANT

If so, Selection Research, Inc. or its subsidiary, The Gallup Organization, may have an opportunity for you to team with 1,000 associates serving some of America's leading companies and service organizations. To continue our growth, we are seeking an exceptional individual who can penetrate new and existing SRI researches and develops psychologically-based interviews to help clients select more associates like the 20% who presently generate 80% of the company's business. Our mission is to help client companies grow to greatness through the selection and development of talented people who are customer-driven, productive and who contribute to growth and profitability.

If you have the talent to impact client success and growth by enabling them to design selection systems to hire individuals who have the right talents to be outstanding in their positions, CALL NOW to arrange a confidential interview.

SRI OFFERS:

* An opportunity for you to earn in terms of your performance An opportunity to work with outstanding selection experts within an established, profitable company
 A company currently growing at a rate of 35% annually Association with a group who are building a world-class organization CALL: Dr. Donald O. Clifton . Laura L. Burklund

We will be conducting intervi week 8 s.m.—6 p.m. 1-800-999-7838 omen and especially minorities are encouraged to apply

Selection Research, Inc. and The Gallup Organization

Evidence supports black hole theory

By The Associated Press

BOSTON - A 90 trillionmile-long stream of gas is flowing toward the center of the Milky Way, perhaps fueling a massive black hole at the very heart of the Earth's galaxy, astronomers reported Tuesday.

Researchers said their discovery is the first evidence of a thin river of gas being sucked across the heavens by the awesome gravity of a black hole.

The radio telescope observation, made by an international team, provides new support for the still-controversial idea that a massive black hole exists at the center of the Milky Way.

"That is the gravitational well of the galaxy. We think that stars drift toward the center. It's a natural place for a massive black hole to form," said David Ho, who directed the research at the Harvard-Smithsonian Center for Astrophysics in Cambridge. He reported the results Tuesday at a meeting of the American Astronomical Society.

A black hole is what remains when stars collapse upon themselves, leaving only a speck of infinite density. Their gravitational pull is so strong that nothing escapes, not even light.

Even though black holes cannot be seen, astronomers look for other evidence of their existence, such as the gravitational tug on nearby celestial orbs.

Ho's discovery, made with astronomers from the Max Planck Institute in Munich, the University of Cologne, West Germany, and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, may prove to be such evidence in the Earth's galaxy.

Astronomers had earlier spotted signs of a massive gaseous cloud around the Milky Way's center, which is about 30,000 light years from Earth in the constellation Sagittarius. A light year is 6 trillion miles, the distance light travels in a year.

Experts believe that this cloud is swirling around a black hole

"That is the gravitational well of the galaxy. We think that stars drift toward the center."

-David Ho research director that is 1 million times more massive than the sun. They theorize that parts of the cloud constantly tumble into the black hole.

Perhaps the equivalent of onethousandth of the mass of the sun is drawn into the black hole each year. This produces tremendous amounts of kinetic energy, the energy released by motion.

The latest discovery suggests that a stream of gas snakes across space, providing the fuel that keeps the Milky Way's black hole going. Ho believes that recent stellar explosion knocked loose part of a large island of gas. This, in turn, was grabbed by the gravity of the black hole and pulled in a stream into its own orbiting cloud.

Knopp enjoys constituent life

By Nancy Hill Staff Writer

For eight years the name Joe Knopp has been synonymous with the title representative.

After failing to regain election to the Kansas House of Representatives in a November 1988 loss to Sheila Hochhauser, Knopp has returned full-time to the titles of attorney and father.

"There are a lot of silver linings in what happened to me," Knopp said. "I am able to return to my law practice, other services and spend time with my family.

"I'm convinced that how we respond to adversity is a reflection of who we are. What's over is over, whether (the voters) were right or wrong is irrelevant."

Returning to life as a constituent instead of a lawmaker has been difficult at times, Knopp said. He continues to call Topeka two or three times a week to talk with people in the speaker's office, his old office or other offices - simply to share thoughts and find out the latest news.

"I've spent too many years working for Manhattan to just walk away," Knopp said.

When asked about the effect the loss of his voice as House majority leader would have on the district, Knopp said, "that is a judgment the district has to make after the fact."

"No one is indispensable, but anything I say would be self-serving," Knopp said. "It is entirely possible that a freshman Democrat can convince all Democrats and some Republicans to support (her)."

Knopp said a major reason for his defeat was the faculty at K-State. "I think it's clear that the core of the opposition came from faculty Joe Knopp conceeds the November election for the Kansas 67th District House seat to Sheila Hochhauser. Since his defeat, the former House Majority Leader has returned to law practice.

have a successful campaign." The need for powerful advocates of higher education in the Legislature leadership," Knopp said. "I credit them with a lot of volunteer effort and other activities that it takes to is very important, he said. "One of the major reasons I originally ran was out of concern for K-State," Knopp said. "It's ironic that a number of the faculty were the reason that my political career was interrupted."

Knopp said he wants to use the 1988 election as a lesson to be learned and look toward the future. "My goal is not to replay the 1988 campaign, but learn its lesson," he

"I enjoy public service. I enjoy public policy formation. So I think it's always possible I will run again." Knopp said he does not plan to continue his public service in the Legislature. Although he said he felt it was likely that he would have been offered the position of Speaker of the House in two years, Knopp said he does not want to "climb that ladder again.

"I spent eight years giving considerable time for this community in the Legislature. Now I want to spend time with my own work and family and let politics fit in as the time

NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTIONS

WHEREAS, the average adult American gains from 7 to 12 pounds of excess weight during the Holiday Season . . . and, WHEREAS, most people are subject to an overabundance of stress during this hectic period . . . and,

WHEREAS, my exercise routine may have given way to other, more "pressing" holiday activities . . .

THEREFORE, I HEREBY RESOLVE, THAT WITH THE USE OF RECREATIONAL SERVICES FACILITIES & PROGRAMS,

I WILL . .

-Make an appointment with the Health & Fitness Coordinator at the Rec Complex to have a fitness

Establish a regular exercise routine and stick with it -Follow a sensible eating plan to shed unwanted pounds . . -Invite a friend to exercise with me . . .

-Organize my daily schedule to allow time to pursue better health and fitness . . .

IN AS MUCH AS I AGREE TO ABIDE BY THE ABOVE RESOLUTIONS ... I WILL CALL RECREATIONAL SERVICES AT 532-6980 FOR MORE INFORMATION TODAY.

ELIGIBILITY FOR CARE AT LAFENE STUDENT HEALTH CENTER

- Health fees are established on the recommendation of the Student Senate with approval by the Board of Regents.
- 2. All students who are enrolled and attending classes during a regular semester or summer session who have paid health fees are eligible for care.
- 3. Those enrolled in Special Courses, for varying periods of time, who have made previous arrangements for health care coverage at Lafene are eligible for care. (Lists of these students must be furnished prior to being seen at Lafene.)
- Only students, who have paid the health fee, may elect to have their spouse also covered at Lafene; however, they must pay the spouse fee within 10 days of the time their own health fees are paid. (Children cannot be seen.)
- 5. Emergency care, prior to referral, will be given anyone who
- 6. Students enrolled in 6 hours or less, electing not to pay the health fee during the Fall or Spring semesters, who wish to be seen, will be charged $25 for each office visit. This charge continues until the full health fee has been exceeded, then that student will be afforded the same privileges as the regular fee paying student for the remainder of that semester.
- 7. Students who were enrolled in the Spring and pre-enrolled for the Fall semester but not attending summer school may pay $15 and be eligible for care during the summer. This fee may be paid within 30 days prior to summer school registration and ends the day classes begin. A late fee of $20 will be accepted for the remainder of the summer.
- Health fees are good until 12 o'clock the night the next semester begins.

NOTE: In addition to the above mentioned fees, there are minimal charges for certain supplies and services and the charges are subject to change without prior notice.

Advertisement

This is all you need to apply for the Card.

With Automatic Approval, it's easier to qualify while you're still in school.

Now getting the Card is easier than ever. For the very first time, students can apply for the American Express Card over the phone.

Simply call 1-800-942-AMEX. We'll take your application by phone and begin to process it right away. It couldn't be easier.

What's more, because you attend NORTHWEST this school full time, you can also take AIRLINES advantage of the Automatic Approval Offer for students. With this offer, you can get the American Express Card right nowwithout a full-time job or a credit history. But if you have a credit history, it must be unblemished.

It's actually easier for you to qualify for the Card now, while you're still a student, than it ever will be again.

Become a Cardmember. Fly Northwest $99 roundtrip.

As a student Cardmember you will be able to enjoy an extraordinary travel privilege: fly twice for only $99 roundtrip to any of the more than 180 Northwest Airlines cities in the 48 contiguous United States (only one ticket may be used per six-month period).*

And, of course, you'll also enjoy all the other exceptional benefits and personal service you would expect from American Express.

Apply now by calling 1-800-942-AMEX. And then you can really go places—for less.

Apply Now: 1-800-942-AMEX

Some restrictions may apply. For complete offer details, call 1-800-942-AMEX. Current student Cardmembers automatically receive two $99 travel vouchers in the mail. © 1989 American Express Travel Related Services Company, Inc.

Admission fee approved for Sunset Zoo Funds may benefit chimps

Ordinance provides secure funding

By Nancy Hill Staff Writer

An ordinance authorizing an admission fee for the Sunset Zoo was approved Jan. 3 by the Manhattan City Commission.

"The fee will give us a much more secure funding base for continued zoo improvements," said Steve Matthews, zoo director. "The only other way (to achieve) secure funding would have been a property tax increase."

Matthews said the fee will be $1.75 for adults 13 years of age and older, 75 cents for children 5 to 12 years of age, and free for those under 4 years old.

The ordinance also created a budgeted revenue fund called the Special Sunset Zoo Fund, which will include all admission fees, donations and gifts that are specifically designated for improvements at the zoo.

Matthews said the zoo was rebuilt in the 1960s and 1970s. At that time, funds. The last time the zoo received such revenue funding was in 1985. Funding from the city has continued, although it covers only operational costs. This funding will continue after the fee is imposed.

Commissioner Dick Hayter said although he was personally opposed to such a fee, he voted in favor of the ordinance based on marketing research compiled by the College of Business Administration.

"The population is saying, 'Yes, we would accept a fee," Hayter said.

Without adoption of some type of fee, the zoo would be limited in what it could offer Manhattan and surrounding communities, Hayter said.

An argument against the fee has been the concern of discriminating against those of low economic means, Matthews said. The zoo has incorporated five free days per year into its calendar to offset this possibility. On these days, different it received federal revenue sharing groups, such as mothers or fathers, would be allowed on the grounds free of charge. Matthews also said there is a good possibility of businesses sponsoring free days.

"We don't think we're going to alienate anyone," Matthews said.

The estimated gross income per year from the admission fee is $111,000. This amount was calculated from a past estimation of zoo attendance of almost 90,000 people

Money from the fund will first go to pay the salaries of ticket-takers and for original construction costs. Money remaining will be used to fund exhibits and visitor service facilities costs.

"It will be at least another year before we can put money toward new exhibits," Matthews said.

Priority for exhibits would include an outdoor chimpanzee exhibit and a North American prairie exhibit.

By Nancy Hill Staff Writer

The recent approval of a Sunset Zoo admission fee may mean improved living quarters for zoo residents.

One animal family that could benefit from the increased exhibit funding is the chimpanzees. In the family there are three adults, Mac, Susie and Rachel, and two children. E.J. is 2 years old, and Sesa is 6 months old.

With five members in their family, they have reached the maximum capacity of the existing exhibit.

"Right now they're happy," said Steve Matthews, zoo director. "They have the best situation they've ever had, but we can't continue to get larger and larger.

"It takes a lot of money and time to construct a new exhibit. Without an admission fee, I couldn't see any way of making improvements for them - or anything else in the zoo," he

In the past two years, the Sunset Zoo has been successful in breeding its chimpanzees. Unfortunately, the exhibit area has not grown at the same rate as the family.

"We have had a young male and female, which is perfect for the zoo except for the size of their living area," Matthews said. "It's not a crisis situation and we won't allow it to get to the point where it is inhumane to keep them here."

Although another baby chimp would exceed current zoo capacity, Matthews said a breeding cap will not be imposed on the chimpanzees.

"We may have to separate the family, but that's part of the daily business of managing a zoo and its growth," Matthews said.

Matthews said the zoo prefers to manage the chimpanzees in family living groups. If members of the family were separated, it might be necessary to start an entirely new group of "Separating family members is not good for the social part," Matthews said. "We have to start over with introducing the animals to one another."

In the zoo's master plan there are basic plans to build an independent chimpanzee exhibit, which would allow more room for growth and improved living conditions for the

Collegian Classifieds Where K-State Shops

offer variety of

By Melissa Paul Contributing Writer

A cup of hot coffee can wake you up in the morning, warm up a chilly day, or - in Manhattan - be an international experience.

The Croissant Cafe features 35 flavors of coffees including eight decaffeinated, eight flavors of hot chocolate and a large selection of teas. The coffee flavors vary from vanilla nut cream and amaretto to Hawaiian macadamia and spice butter rum.

Don Carrel, owner of the Croissant Cafe, said the coffees are available freshly brewed on order in the cafe or in bulk to take home. He got the idea for his restaurant when he visited a gourmet food show in San

> GOODSON AUTO TRIM Tailor Made Seat Covers Tonneau Covers

> > Boat Covers Window Tinting

Convertible Tops

Vinyl Tops

Complete Auto, Truck

& Boat Upholstery

Francisco.

"I just like the taste," Carrel said. "I thought it would be a good restaur-

Espresso Royale offers yet another alternative. Espresso is a rich aromatic coffee that is a drink itself or served as the base for many other drinks. Using Espresso Royale's own blend of French-roasted coffee beans, espresso is made by forcing super-heated water through fresh, fine ground coffee, said Manthri Srinath, manager of Espresso Royale in Ann Arbor, Mich.

All of the coffee drinks on the menu use one or more shots of espresso as the base and are then

A full-service salon

Men's & Women's

Haircuts

Hair

mixed with steamed milk to create a wide variety of drinks.

For example, cappuccino is one part espresso and one part milk, latte is a lighter coffee with more milk, and mocha is coffee, chocolate and milk, said Mark Paul, manager of the Manhattan Espresso Royale.

"Espresso is to coffee as whiskey is to liquor," Srinath said. "It's definitely an acquired taste."

He said this cafe is designed after west coast cafes which are fasterpaced than European cafes.

Order your college ring NOW.

JOSTENS

K-State Union Bookstore 10 a.m.-4 p.m., January 11, 12, 13, 16, 17

k-state union

Hair Affairi 201 Sarber Lane 465 E. Poyntz (behind Wal-Mart) tan. Kansas 665 exp. 3/1/89 STUDENTS WHO NEED

MONEY FOR COLLEGE Every Student is Eligible for Some Type of Financial Aid

Regardless of Grades or Parental Income.

- We have a data bank of over 200,000 listings of scholarships, fellow-ships, grants, and loans, representing over $10 billion in private sector funding.
- Many scholarships are given to students based on their academic interests, career plans, family heritage and place of residence. There's money available for students who have been newspaper carriers, grocery clerks, cheerleaders, non-smokers . . . etc. Results GUARANTEED.

CALL ANYTIME For A Free Brochure (800) 346-6401

Want to Go Into Business for Yourself?

A Spring 1989 Management Course Tells You How.

Entrepreneurship (Mangt 498) 3 Undergraduate Credits Tuesdays, 7-9:50 p.m.

Instructor: Dr. Randolph Pohlman Development of a Business Plan will be completed in the course You don't have to be a business major to enroll Practitioner oriented Enrollment limited

Guest speakers

Topics to be covered:

*How to start a business

*Product/Service idea analysis and evaluation

*Variety of entrepreneurial opportunities *Franchising

*Patents, copyrights, and licensing

*Start-up Financing *Marketing analysis

*Forms of business ownership

For more information call the College of Business Advisement Center at 532-6180.

K-State Union Bookstore 10 a.m.-4 p.m., January 11, 12, 13, 16, 17

k-state union

LAFENE HEALTH CENTER

Clinic and Hospital

532-6544

Lafene Women's Clinic.

532-6554

Pharmacy

532-7758

Sportsmedicine Clinic ..

532-7880

Physical Therapy.....

532-7880

Health Education

532-7755

Administration.....

532-7755

Cashier..... 532-7759

Legislators may repeal Medicaid law

By Erwin Seba News Editor

A law allowing married couples to divide their assets, so that a spouse requiring long-term medical care may become eligible for Medicaid, has been on the books in Kansas since Feb. 16, 1988.

But, it may not be there for much longer.

If a recommendation from a special committee of the State Legislature is followed, the law will be repealed sometime during this legislative session, which began Monday.

In a Nov. 29 report to the Legislative Coordinating Council, the Special Committee on Public Health and Welfare recommended the repeal of the Kansas statute because it is duplicated by the federal Medicare Catastrophic Coverage Act of 1988.

The committee concluded that the Kansas statutes providing for the division of assets should be repealed as of the date on which the federal law takes effect, the committee states in its report to the council.

The committee, comprised of six senators and 11 representatives, based its recommendation on the difficulties which would be created for the state if it continued to maintain a division of assets statute in addition to the federal law.

"While the committee considered amending the Kansas statutes on the effective date of the new federal provisions, there appears to be no compelling reason to operate under the two acts, especially since the federal law may be amended in the future necessitating legislative action (by the state)," the report states.

In short, the Kansas statute, despite its passage prior to the federal Division of Assets Comparison

	Requires notice of intent and interspousal agreement to carry out division	Allows spouse $750 per month income plus $450 per month for excess shelter expenses	Allows spouse $786 per month income plus $714 per month for excess shelter expenses	Allows non- institutionalized spouse to keep either $12,000 or up to $48,000 in resources	The spouse is allowed to keep the greater of either $12,000 or half the resources of the couple not to exceed $60,000
Kansas Plan	yes	yes	no	yes	no
Federal Plan	no	no	yes	no	yes

law, is superceded by the federal act due to the principle of federal supremacy. This principle holds that state law may not contradict federal law, as long as the federal law is constitutional.

"We have no other recourse but to abide by federal law. We could lose 'beaucoup' federal dollars if we don't abide by federal law," said Dennis Priest, medical eligibility program supervisor for the state Department of Social and Rehabilitation Services.

A lawyer with Flint Hills Legal Services, a branch of Kansas Legal Services Inc., explained the principle of federal supremacy in terms of income and resource limits.

"If the states want to give more than the federal government, then that's OK. If the states want to give less — that's a conflict," said Judith Siminoe, elderly project attorney with Flint Hills Legal Services.

If such a conflict exists, Siminoe come into play and the state regulation would be axed."

Siminoe said she was not familiar with the elements of the federal law.

The federal law provides for higher limits in the amounts of income and resources - cash and property which may be converted to cash than the state law.

Since the Kansas law took effect on May 1, 371 couples have filed notices of intent to divide resources and/or income, according to statistics compiled by the state Department of Social and Rehabiltation Services.

The state law, as well as the federal law, defines assets as both income and resources.

Under state law resources include "cash or other liquid assets or any real or personal property that ... (a) spouse owns and could convert to cash" to be used to pay for the care of the spouse.

Certain resources are exempt from said, "federal supremacy would consideration by SRS when determining eligibility, according to a report on the division of assets law released by Kansas Legal Services Inc. The following is a list of exempt

> The home and contiguous land as long as the care recipient lives there or intends to return to the home.

> ■ Income-producing property worth not more than $6,000 in value. But, the income from the property is used in determining eligibility.

Personal effects. One vehicle per family.

■ Life insurance not exceeding $1,500 in face value.

Revocable burial funds up to $1,500.

Burial plots. Irrevocable burial trusts. Federal law exempts the same resources in the determination of Medicaid eligibility.

A notice of intent is required by the Kansas law before a division may be carried out. Prior to the filing of the notice, SRS uses information provided by the couple to determine if the spouse who requires long-term care is eligible to receive Medicaid benefits.

The notice also shows how much of the care recipient's income or resources will be turned over to the spouse.

Between May 1 and Nov. 20, 232 couples filed notices of intent to divide their income only. Fifty-four couples filed notices of intent to divide their resources only. The remaining 85 couples filed notices to divide both income and resources.

The state law limits the amount of assets which may be turned over to the spouse who remains in the community. The community spouse may receive up to $750 per month of income. The community spouse may also receive up to $450 in excess shelter allowance. The excess shelter allowance includes mortgage principal and interest, as well as taxes and insurance on the home. Non-exempt resources may not exceed either $12,000 or four times that amount. If the couple owns resources which do not exceed $12,000, the entire ownership of the resources may be transferred to the community spouse.

If the couple owns resources which exceed that amount, then the resources are split and the community spouse may retain up to $48,000 in Federal law limits the amount of income to $786 per month. The excess shelter allowance may allow this total to rise to $1,500 per month.

For non-exempt resources the federal law provides that the community spouse will be allowed to retain the greater of either $12,000 or half the resources of the couple not to exceed a cap of $60,000.

Both the federal and state laws require the determination of the amount of resources to be made at the time the spouse enters long-term

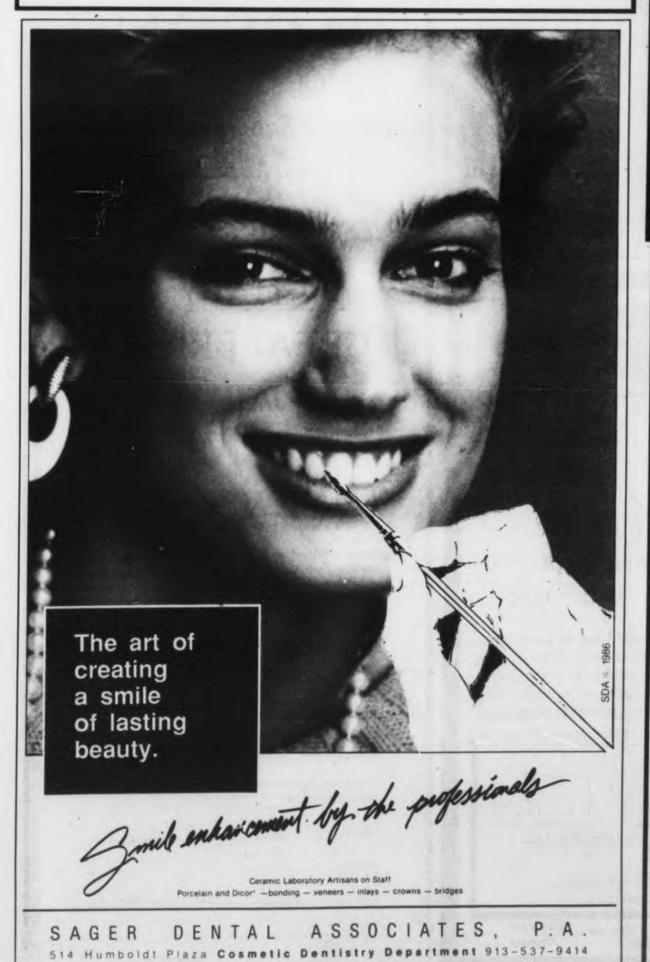

Two other differences between the state law and the federal law are the requirements on what documents

■ See ASSETS, Page 9B

"If you're a pilot, or want to be, the K-State Flying Club is for you. We have five well-equipped planes with your name on the log sheet.

Call Sam Knipp, 539-6193."

GUARANTEE STUDENT LOANS

WE WANT TO MAKE YOUR STUDENT LOAN!

Have the professionals at Kansas State Bank make your student loan. Simply contact us at:

> 537-4400 Lender code #821176

KANSAS STATE BANK

Westloop • Aggieville • K-State Union, Manhattan, Kansas 66502

Tourist' reunites 2 stars

By Tom McLaughlin Collegian Reviewer

Macon Leary was set in his ways - the ways he lived, thought and worked. Until an unusual woman showed him the way it could be, he imagined his life would never change.

The Accidental Tourist In the midst of a New Year movie blitz, "The Accidental Tourist," directed by Lawrence Kasdan, features an airy and natural storyline with several sparkling performances.

Kasdan, whose credits include "Body Heat," "Silverado" and "The Big Chill," reunites "Body

Review

Heat" stars William Hurt and Kathleen Turner and transforms Anne Tyler's book into a subtle film experience.

The film begins with a suitcase being packed with an earnest narrative layered with the film's delightfully mundane hero, Macon Leary, played by William Hurt.

Macon, who is the author of several travel guides titled "The Accidental Tourist," warns the audience (and surrogate travelers throughout the movie) to pack lightly so travel time and risk are minimized.

This type of baggage becomes a nice metaphor for Macon's personality throughout the film. Macon tries to live by two main rules -

Check

the

Collegian

Classifieds

avoiding exposure to others and avoiding touching anything foreign. His careful life is free of accident and chance. Macon hides behind books, and uses only carryon luggage in order to dodge his fear of possible trouble while picking up luggage. The movie opens as Sarah, Macon's wife, played by Kathleen Turner, tells him she wants a divorce. Since the death of their son, their marriage has not been the

Not too long after this revelation, Sarah leaves Macon to revamp her life. After Sarah's exit, Macon is forced to adapt to the single life with his dog, Edward.

Macon travels abroad during this film and also on a personal level. In order to deal with his son's death and his recent separation, Macon must also journey through the stages of anger, denial and acceptance.

On his way to the airport, Macon is forced to find a new kennel for Edward, who was barred from the another kennel for biting another dog. He happens upon "Meow Bow Kennel," owned by the eccentric Muriel Pritchett, played by Geena Davis.

Muriel immediately puts the moves on Macon, who politely exits, and flies to London to work on his newest travel guide. Upon return, he is once again tempted by Muriel, who offers to help him train Edward.

After some prodding, the reluc-

Collegian Coupons-

They really add up!

Remember

18 oz. Fishbowls

tant Macon agrees to let Muriel train Edward. As Muriel retrains Edward, there is a retraining of Macon. The two slowly and believably clutch to each other for sec-

Just as Macon begins to settle into his new life, Sarah calls and asks him to come home. He returns, but not without some resistance from Muriel and internal soul-searching. When both Muriel and Sarah follow Macon to France, the safety of his life and the inevitable choice between the two are handled well.

The development of metaphors and quieting naturalism in the film are both key attributes in the film's success.

Hurt is convincing and believable as the humdrum Macon Leary, who is slowly transformed into the mildly humdrum and risk-taking Macon Leary. The character's thought process and motivation were clear throughout Hurt's performance. This role has the potential to earn him his third Oscar nomination.

Davis and Turner are both believable as the two women who offer Macon opposite relationships. Davis illicits the eccentricity needed to create Muriel, a risktaking woman who lives deliberately. Turner, although she is not seen often in the film, employs her usual honest and believable acting style to create Sarah.

Class performance correlates with students' seating choice

By Sharon Hammes

Contributing Writer It's the first day of classes. Students file into a large lecture hall. What they do in the next minute may decide their fate in that class for the rest of the semester.

They choose their seats.

It may not be something students think about often, but choosing a seat could mean more than what kind of graffiti is scratched on the desk top. The seat chosen may affect what a student learns, the grade earned and viewpoints formed of the class.

Class performance can correlate with seating, said James Mitchell, professor of psychology.

"It's much easier for students in the front to be attentive, stay alert and concentrate on what's going on," Mitchell said. Students in the back of the room may not be interested.

"They can't attend to what's going on and it just puts them to sleep," he

Henry Camp, associate professor of anthropology and social work, has designated the back of his classroom as the "ozone layer." Comparing seats in the classroom to seats at a basketball game, he points out that it's harder to see the board from the rear and it's easier to be distracted.

"Sit in the front three rows the first and be an active listener. half, then go sit in the back the second half. It's a totally different atmosphere," he said.

Camp said he also hears more complaints about the noise level coming from the back of the classroom.

Charles Thompson, professor of psychology, refers to this as a "grade school mentality," in which some students believe they can do whatever they want in the back of the room.

It is "too easy to fade into the background and tune out" in the back of the classroom, Mitchell said. He advises students who are doing poorly in classwork to sit in the front rows and watch every move the instructor makes in order to remain attentive.

These professors' views and observations are supported by a study conducted by W.B. Holliman and H.N. Anderson of the University of Southern Mississippi. According to their article published in Teaching of Psychology, students occupying front row seats received higher grades than students sitting further Moving to the front, however, won't automatically improve a student's grade, Thompson said. The individual needs to take good notes Students choose a particular seat because they feel comfortable sitting in a certain area, Camp said. "I don't want to be noticed so I like to sit in the back," said Joe Stallbaumer, sophomore in engineering technology. It may be easier for students not to deal with changes, so they develop rigid little habits - such as sitting in the same chair - that make life uncomplicated, Camp said. Both Camp and Mitchell said they have observed students who become annoyed when others sit in their mentally-claimed seat.

"I sit in the same seat because I'm afraid I'll sit in someone else's seat," said Glenda Sudbeck, junior in business.

Thompson said older students often sit toward the front because they're serious about getting the information.

Camp said he has also observed a slight seating pattern based on sex, with males tending to sit more in the very back, "especially in a large class." Camp wasn't certain why this pattern exists.

Interest in a subject may cause students to sit toward the front, he said.

FREE RIDE

to the West Coast around Jan. 25. Help drive or just ride. Call Bev 456-2845.

OPEN

TO THE

PUBLIC

539-4811

QUALITY NATURAL FOODS from your local co-op store

Organic grains, flours, pastas, bulk herbs & spices, teas, coffee, nut butters, raw nuts, dried fruits, trail mix, cheeses, snack foods, health & beauty aids, vitamins and more.

People's Grocery Co-op 811 Colorado

ABCs OF FIRST AID

ASTHMATIC ATTACK

An obvious symptom of an asthmatic attack is the extreme difficulty in breathing, followed by wheezing in the chest. A severe attack can be very distressing so have the victim remain relaxed and in a comfortable position. If there is medication on hand administer it as soon as possible. Increase the intake of fluids. If the victim is a child or this is the first attack seek emergency care immediately.

The ABCs of First Aid is brought to you as a community service of the emergency room at Memorial Hospital. Be looking for the entire alphabet and always remember to clip and save this announcement for your own emergency

Memorial Hospital

We're working together for a healthier you. 1105 Sunset • Manhattan, KS 66502 • 913-776-3300

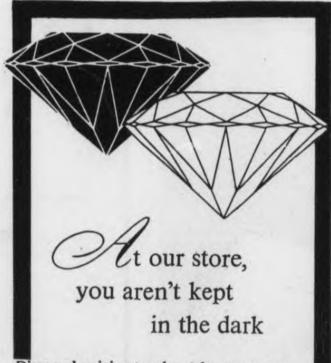

KMAN 1350

RADIO AUCTION

The items listed below will be auctioned to the highest bidder this Saturday from 8:05 a.m. to noon. Visit the sponsors . . . inspect the merchandise . . . determin your bid. Keep your radio on KMAN 1350 and your hand near the phone. Just call in and bid on the KMAN auction line: 776-1333.

AUCTION DATE: JANUARY 14, 1989

- BE	RETAIL	MINIMUM
$25 certificate: -RAOUL'S ESCONDIDO	30000	$ 14.00
One half-gallon Grade A maple syrup: EASTSIDE/WESTSIDE	$ 25.00	9 14.00
MARKETS	29.99	16.00
Cordovan Live 12-volt car battery: THIRD STREET BATTERY	54.88	28.00
One session: SLENDER YOU	6.00	4.00
Fisher Price stuffed animal: MANHATTAN HOBBIES & TOYS	24.99	13.00
$50 merchandise certificate: AGGIE SKI & SPORT	50.00	26.00
$25 dry cleaning certificate: WESTPORT DRY CLEANERS	25.00	15.00
$20 certificate: VERN'S DONUTS & CAKES	20.00	11.00
Single family 30-day treatment: AMERICAN PEST	30.00	16.00
10 pound bar of chocolate: EASTSIDE/WESTSIDE MARKETS	29.99	16.00
White/Westinghouse Microwave oven: KEN'S APPLIANCE	299.95	175.00
Casino Yahtze game: MANHATTAN HOBBIES & TOYS	19.99	11.00
$50 merchandise certificate: TAYLOR'S SHOES	50.00	26.00
Steak and Lobster dinner: MID-WEST FAMILY DINING	10.95	6.00
AKC registered Toy poodle: IRMA'S PET AND GROOMING - J.C.	240.00	130.00
$25 produce certificate: EASTSIDE/WESTSIDE MARKETS	25.00	13.00
Royal Prince hand-held vacuum: B & L VACUUM	94.95	55.00
Playschool Pipeworks 1000: MANHATTAN HOBBIES & TOYS	64.99	35.00
$20 merchandise certificate: MID-AMERICA OFFICE SUPPLIES	20.00	12.00
Sewing machine tune-up: WEISNER'S SEW UNIQUE	37.50	20.00
Dinner for four: PINATA	22.40	14.00
Movie rental package: HOME CINEMA	12.50	7.00
$25 merchandise certificate: JUDI'S CHILDREN'S WEAR	25.00	13.00
Skillcraft Quadlab: MANHATTAN HOBBIES & TOYS	24.98	13.00
$20 dry cleaning certificate: CINDERELLA DRY CLEANERS	20.00	12.00
Sportech Swing Analyzer pass: GOLF U.S.A.	35.00	18.00
PLUS MANY MORE ITEMS! ! !

Diamond pricing need not be a mystery. Let us show you how cutting, clarity, color and carat weight accurately determine a diamond's value-come in together-this is the way wise shoppers select diamonds.

402 Poyntz Thurs. 10-8 776-4000

Special! Read All About It.

Notice To All Students

T.J. Cinnamons Bakery, located next to Kinkos in Aggieville, is under new management. Baker Paul says, "Start your semester off right and get on a roll with T.J. Cinnamons Bakery."

Hours: Mon.-Sat. 7 a.m.-7 p.m. Sun. 7 a.m.-1 p.m.

UNDER GREAT NEW MANAGEMENT!

PARSONS SCHOOL OF DESIGN

Special Summer Programs

FRANCE WEST AFRICA ITALY GREAT BRITAIN JAPAN ISRAEL NEW YORK

International programs are offered for students, teachers and working professionals. Courses include: archaeology. architectural history, art history, ceramics, decorative arts, drawing, fashion, fiber, metal and surface design, graphic design, painting, and photography. Undergraduate and graduate credits are available to qualified students. For more information, please mail the coupon below or call:

Parsons Office of Special Programs (212) 741-8975

Parsons	School	of De	sign,	Offic	e of Special	Programs
66 Fifth	Avenue.	New	York.	N.Y.	10011

Please send me a brochure on Parsons Special Summer Programs.

Address
City	State	Zip _

Assets

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 7B

must be filed to carry out the division, according to testimony before the special committee by Dennis Priest, medical eligibility program supervisor with SRS.

In addition to the notice of intent to divide assets, state law requires an interspousal agreement to be filed with SRS. The agreement describes the resources owned by the couple and how those resources will be divided between the spouses.

The federal law makes no provision for a notice of intent or an interspousal agreement to carry the division, according to Priest's testimony.

According to a statement of potential fiscal impact filed with the Legislature at the time the division of assets law was under consideration, an additional $6.2 million would be added to the expenditures of the SRS department if all of the people affected by the bill took advantage of its provisions.

IRONICALLY, JEFF WENT

DOWN THERE TO HIDE FROM "SOMETHING BAD"

THAT HE THOUGHT

HAPPEN TO HIM ..

WAS GOING TO

About 55 percent of that total would be paid for from federal Medicaid funds. About 45 percent - $2.8 million - would have to be made up out of the state general fund.

As of Sept. 30, by which time 314 couples had filed notices of intent to divide their assets, the total additional cost was set at $4.1 million. Of that, the state was expected to pay $1.9 million.

Priest said that if the statute is repealed in favor of the federal law, the cost to the state would remain about the same.

"I would presume it is not going to be that different," he said. "There might be some additional increases.

But, not very substantial increases.' Priest said estimates of potential increases were not available.

Yet, changes in state law and policies would not be that great, he said, because of the efforts made by state legislators to closely pattern the state law after the federal law. The federal law was under consideration at the time the state law was passed.

"There won't be that big a transition from state to federal law."

JEFF HAD PLANNED TO MAKE A SPEECH.

BUT AS YOU KNOW

THE BIG DOOFUS

ACCIDENTLY LOCKED MIMSELF IN A BOME

SHELTER ..

ARE WE LEARNING ANY-

JUST CALL THE

COPS AND GET

ME THE ON!

OUTTA

THING FROM THIS DEFFREY?

BY RICHARD BROADFOOT

HI EVERYBODY! WE'RE HAVING

A LITTLE CELEBRATION BECAUSE

TODAY MARKS THE SECOND ANNIVERSARY OF THE DEBUT OF "LIFE AND TIMES." THE

COMIC STRIP YOU NOW

KNOW AS "SALAD!"

WON ANA

WE'RE HAVING

A PARTY AND

JEFF CAN'T

COME ...

Kedzie 103

ClassAds CLASSIFIED RATES

One day: 15 words or fewer, $2.50, 20 cents per word over 15; Two consecutive dates: 15 words or fewer, $3.50, 25 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.25, 30 cents per word over 15: Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 35 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $5.00, 40 cents per word over 15.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publications. Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon FRIDAY for Monday's paper.

Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not after the value of the ad.

exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not after the value of the ad, items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

Displey Classified Rates

One day: $5.20 per inch; Three consecutive days: $5.00 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.80 per inch; Ten consecutive days: $4.80 per inch; Opeadline is 4:30 p.m. two days before publication.)

p.m. two days before publication.)

Classified advertising is available only to those who do not disciminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex or ancestry.

1 Announcements

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs -skincare -glamor -nails gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor, 539-2070. COME ALONGII As current students, our participation in aerobics out at the Rec is Freel Signed, Go For Iti Collegian Coupons really add up!

Making the Grade

By Bob Berry

Bloom County

By Berke Breathed

Peanuts

By Charles Schulz

DON'T WAITII Friday, Jan. 13 (5p.m.) is the Intramural deadline for baskerball, doubles four-wall handball, doubles four-wall racquerball and table tennis. Signed, Go For It!

WANTED— 100 overweight people to try herbal weight control program. No drugs, no exercise. Doctor recommended. 100% guaranteed. 776-5114, 539-3333.

WELCOME BACK KSU Students and Faculty from 95.3, The Kat. See Thurtday's issue of Collegian for details on the KAT's and International Tours' Spring Break '89. Keep your c'ial set on 95.3 FM for more

His & Her

PERMS $1995

TANNING $10-$15

776-1330

CHICKEN AND The SPAGHETTI Tonight $3.95 Chef All you can eat!

SUN W CONNECTION Back to School

Special 5 sessions $12.50 10 sessions $25.00

Buy NOW and SAVE!

Manhattan's Largest Tanning Salon

1126 Laramie 776-2426

"Manhattan's Classiest Salon"

Call Christin or Jill

776-7874

2 Apartments—Furnished

FURNISH YOUR apartment affordably with furniture TV and appliances from Homestead Rental. Three room groupings starting at only $55 monthly. Let Homestead Rental deliver your furniture today. 2332 Sky-Vue Lane. 537-8774.

NICE ONE-BEDROOM apartment. Water, trash, three fourths gas paid. Laundry facilities. Nice for graduate student or couple. $265. 539-2482 after 4p.m. SLEEPING ROOM: Furnished, private bath, cable TV.

bills paid. 776-3333, after 5:30p.m.

STUDIO, ONE block from campus, $215/ month. Call daytime 532-6560, ask for Kendall.

TWO-BEDROOM IN quiet, modern adult complex nea campus. Paid heat, laundry, carport, patio. $335 Available now. Minimum year lease. No smoking pets, waterbeds. 537-9686.

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

NICE LARGE two-bedroom apartment, $350 per month

(Pete). Available starting next week.

4 Automobiles for Sale

1974 VW, new brake system, new battery, good fires, $800, 776-7363.

ATTENTION- GOVERNMENT seized vehicles fro $100. Fords, Mercedes, Corvettes, Cheyrs. Surp lus Buyers Guide. 1-602-838-8885 ext. A1797.

LINE PRINTER ribbons for sale- Black multistrike no. QM MS (4½ dozen), $1.25 each. Black nylon no. QM NY (15), $2.25 each. Call 532-6555 or come by Kedzie 103 to see.

9 Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to approach any such "employ-

$10- $660 weekly/ up mailing circulars! Rush self-addressed stamped envelope: Dept. AN-7CC-CU, 9300 Wilshire, Suite 470, Beverly Hills, CA 90212.

$17,840-$69,485. Call 1-602-838-8885 ext R1797.

CRUISE SHIPS jobs. Now hiring men and women. Summer and career opportunities. Excellent pay plus world travel. Hawaii, Baharnas, Caribbean, etc. Call nowl (206)736-7000 ext 326C, EARLY CHILDHOOD Assistant teacher, part-time Mon

GUARANTEED MEGABUCKS. Selling jewelry, manu facturer wants saleswomen. Bei

MCDONALD'S AT 815 N. Third is accepting applica-tions for all day parts. They will be taken at your convenience. Please apply in person, no phone

OFFICE ASSISTANT needed. Student position availattention to detail and work well with distractions. Knowledge of Food Service and personal computers is desired. Ability to acquire a Food Handler's Card is a must. Starting salary $3.65/ hour. Offers Union. Applications will be accepted through year-round, all countries, all fields, free information. Write IJC, P.O. Box 52-KS02, Corona Del Mar, CA

PART-TIME HELP wanted, 15- 20 hours a week, No experience necessary. Call 537-9188 or apply at 220 Levee Drive.

complete a training program. Bus driving experi-ence not required. Part-time, 6:30- 8:30a.m. and 2:40- 4:30p.m. Job description available. Apply to USD 383, 2031 Poyntz Ave., Manhattan, KS 66502. (913)537-2400. EOE

STUDENT ASSISTANT needed for routine library tasks. Must be available Monday, Wednesday, Friday, 11a.m. to 1p.m. Vet Medical Library, fourth floor Trotter Hall. EOE.

STUDENT CONTROL Ashistant Runner: 15-20 hours per week. Will deliver printouts around campus, work with on-line JCL, computer tapes, and peripheral equipment. Typing skills necessary. Some evening and weekend hours will be required. Need to be available to work during school breaks. Students with two years or more employment. potential preferred. Applications accepted through 5p.m., Jan. 13 in room 2B, Farrell Library. Contact Beth Alloway.

Apply by Jan. 19.

SUMMER JOBS outdoors. Over 5,000 openings! Na tional parks, forests, fire crews. Send stamp for free details. 113 E. Wyoming, Kallspell, MT 59901.

HELP WANTED!

Now accepting applications for full- and part-

DAIRY QUEEN

1015 N. 3rd, ask for Mr. Frye

FOR RENT: Three-bedroom apartment. One block south of campus. Very reasonable rates. Call Bill at

ONE-BEDROOM, NEWLY renovated, $250/ month, unfurnished, close to campus, sublease. 776-2018

8 Computers

LAPTOP DATA General Model 2, modern, coprocessor 512K, HP Think Jet Printer, carrying case 1-238-4998.

TWO AKC female Samoyed's. Ready 2-18. $75- $100.

ATTENTION- HIRINGI Government jobs-your area day, Wednesday, Friday, 11a.m. to 1p.m. and if possible, Monday, Wednesday, Friday, 4:15-5:15p.m. Requirements: High school diploma or equivalent and experience working with groups of children. Please apply to Marsha Tannehill. Seven Dolors Childcare Preschool, 728 Colorado (Eighth and Colorado) by Jan. 20.

prices, higher profits for yousss, information? 776-5545.

able for Monday through Friday afternoons in a fast paced office. Applicant must be able to type 40 wpm, communicate well with people, have good excellent practical experience in business. Bring your spring semester schedule and apply now at the Food Service Office on first floor of the K-State

OVERSEAS JOBS, $900- $2,000 month. Summer,

PART-TIME SALES person needed to work weekends for local furniture store. Please send resumes to Box 3, c/o The Collegian, Kedzie 103, KSU, Manhattan, KS 66508.

SCHOOL BUS drivers needed. $4.75 per hour, must be 21 years of age, have a good driving record and

STUDENT HELP for general labor, $4/ hour. Prefer students able to work four-hour morning blocks. Apply in person in payroll office, 117 Dykstra Hall.

WORK-STUDY STUDENT preferred to work in dairy sales counter, Call Hall. Contact Harold Roberts, room 130, Call Hall, or call 532-5654 time help. Please call 776-4117 for interview personnel needed. Contact Falsetto's

532-6555

13 Houses/Mobile Homes for Sale

ATTENTION- GOVERNMENT homes from $1 (You repair). Delinquent tax property. Reposse Call (602)838-8885 ext GH1797.

GOVERNMENT HOMES from $1. "You repair." Also, tax delinquent property. Call (805)644-9533 ext 263 for information.

18 Personals

WISS B., Miss Q. and Miss S. of Kedzie 103, I hope you be b, miss u, and Miss S, or Redzie 103, I hope you had a happy holiday, with farrily and friends surely you wanted to stay. But lucky for us, you're back on the Student Pub bus! (Sorry about that, but I gotta get these ads done.) LMS.

19 Pets and Pet Supplies

20 Professional Services

PROMPT ABORTION and contraceptive services in Lawrence. (913)841-5716. WEDDING PHOTOGRAPHY doesn't have to cost a fortune. Let me show you my portfolio and informa-tion packet. Call Brad Fanshier, 776-3785 or

Oraphics Plus 722 N. Manhattan • Aggieville • 539-6027

23 Roommate Wanted FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to share two-bedroon apartment close to campus. $100/ month, one-third utilities. Call Nanette, 537-1623. NICE APARTMENT, Just across from campus, Call, stop by. $150/ month, 927 Denison #4, 537-3803. NON-SMOKING FEMALE, own room, 1026 Osage

ONE- TWO non-smoking females to share farmhouse Prefer Veterinary or Animal Science majors. Free stall and pasture for horse, cow or dog. Cable, firewood, beef and eggs furnished. P.O. Box 1211,

ROOMMATE WANTED for two-story house with hard-wood floors and bannister. Beautiful. 776-0553/ 1-492-3166.

ROOMMATE WANTED— Clean, responsible person to share house, $175 a month plus one-half utilities. Call Lisa 776-3607. SHARE A house. Own room plus use of kitchen, living area and all utilities. $95 a month for rent. Call 539-0356 to inquire.

26 Sublease

SUBLEASE AVAILABLE January- May. One-bedroom basement one block from campus. $175. (913)367-4757 evenings.

> Sublease Efficiency for Spring Semester $170 2-blocks from campus

> > 537-1766

27 Spring Break

WELCOME BACK KSU Students and Faculty from 95.3, The Kat. See Thursday's issue of Collegian for details on the KAT's and International Tours' Spring Break '89. Keep your dial set on 95.3 FM for more

28 Wanted

WANTED: KU/ K-State basketball tickets. 539-6128, ask for Dale.

29 Spring Break

WELCOME BACK KSU Students and Faculty from 95.3, The Kat. See Thursday's issue of Collegian for details on the KAT's and international Tours' Spring Break '89. Keep your dial set on 95.3 FM for more

By Eugene Sheffer

Crossword

ACROSS

1 Cul-deabbr.

7 Apollo's mother

8 Georgia's pride

10 Taste

11 Dinner

18 It's be-course engine

fore bar or bath

19 Clock face 20 Guitar finger ridge

21 Violinist

builder

23 Atoll

25 River

boat 26 Cautious 27 Edible grain

13 Revs the

4 Tax aide:

28 Official DOWN

33 Acts with 3 Pirate

39 N.Y. barge of bloomer

Solution time: 23 mins

Yesterday's answer 12-10

decree

less bird

30 Flight

reluctance

37 Sticky

38 Kills

16 Skin bump 40 High note 17 Accumulate 41 Undercake

canal

stand

36 Show off

1 The hills

4 Coppers

5 Footways

7 One type journey

8 Kind of

6 Israeli

2 Above

of Rome

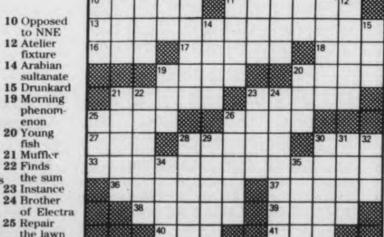

CRYPTOQUIP

PTLW. ECB QSWQ-CF

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: IF YOU CAN SEE A LIGHT AT THE END OF THE TUNNEL, IT COULD BE THE TOLL

Today's Cryptoquip clue: W equals N

1.11

PBBH CSWEBH ZTLWV

30 Mysteri-

31 Allot

32 Indian 34 Strong

35 Fairway

fish

Welcome Back To The K-State Union

The K-State Union welcomes you back to another eventful semester!

BOOKS! BOOKS! BOOKS!

The rush is on! Come to the Bookstore for all your back-to-school needs. New and used text books are available at reasonable prices. The Bookstore also has a wide variety of supplies and general merchandise required for your academic needs, computers, stationary, gift items, K-State souvenirs, t-shirts and sweat shirts, fiction and non-fiction reading material, children's literature, cookbooks, calendars, magazines, and a complete line of art, architecture and engineering equipment. If they don't have it, they can get it for you!

WILDCAT CARD

Have you ever been in line to pay for your lunch, and realized you left your cash at home? Or, have you ever gone to photocopy your project and discovered it costs just a little more than you had anticipated, and you don't have quite enough money to cover the expense? Don't get caught empty handed! Get a Wildcat Card from the Wildcat Card Window at the K-State Union.

The Wildcat Card can be used to purchase books, school supplies, food, movie tickets, bowling, billiards, photocopies, snack items, film developing...just about anything the K-State Union offers! And right now, if you deposit $175 or more into your new or existing account, you will receive a booklet full of valuable moneysaving K-State Union coupons!

GOURMET COFFEE

Try something new in the morning and sample the new gourmet coffee available in the Stateroom at the K-State Union. Choose from Irish Creme, Bavarian Chocolate, Kona Blend and French Roast Decaf Coffee.

LEAGUES

Sign-ups are underway for Spring Semester Leagues at the Recreation Area. There are still openings for men's, women's and mixed Bowling Leagues for teams or individuals. Billiard Leagues are also available for both men and women. The Recreation Area also has Rent-A-Lane, Table Tennis, Foosball, Video games, a snack area, fresh hot nachos, fountain drinks and a large screen TV. Stop by today...for the fun of it!

SPRING BREAK

Spend Spring Break at the new college hot spot...Panama City Spend Spring Break at the new college hot spot...Panama City Beach, Florida. The trip will take place March 10th through the 18th, and costs $178-$255 per person. This package includes 7 nights premier beachfront condominium accommodations, 8 beach parties at the world famous Spinnaker Beach Club, 8 poolside parties at the fabulous Miracle Mile Resort, team and 2-person beach volleyball tournaments with prizes and 2 evening poolside barbecues at the Miracle Mile Resort, for $255, includes transportation. Drive yourself for only $178.

EXPRESS

Express Yourself! Ride the K-State Union Express to and from Bramlage Coliseum to see the men's basketball team in action. Express tickets are free to you on game day with a purchase of $1 or more at the K-State Union. Just ask any K-State Union cashier for your Express ticket.

The Express shuttle will begin approximately 1 hour before each game. So, walk to the K-State Union, or park your car in the K-State Union parkinglot, and leave the driving to us!

FOOD 'N FLICKS

Looking for something to do on a Friday night? Come to the K-State Union for a great meal and a great film for one great price! "Friday Food 'n Flicks" begins January 13th with all-you-can-eat spaghetti, garlic bread, dinner salad and dessert, and the movie "Big Top Pee Wee," all for the low price of $4.99.

The buffet is from 5:30 to 7:00 p.m. at the Bluemont Room, 2nd floor of the K-State Union, and the movie begins at 7:00 p.m.

Spring Semester '89 Film Calendars and Film Cards are available free at the K-State Union.

COPIES

Be sure to take advantage of the many services the Copy Center has for you. They include red or black ink copying, cutting, folding, enlargements and reductions, diazo blueline, blackline, brownline and sepia printing, laminating, binding, buttons, Zenith Computer with letter quality printer, and free typewriters. They also have a large selection of quality papers in a wide variety of stocks and colors, ranging in sizes up to 11*x17".

BIRTHDAY CAKES

Let us bake a Birthday Cake for you! The K-State Union Food Service Bakery will bake a white cake with white frosting, with "Happy Birthday "that serves 12, for that special birthday person. The cost is $7 for a quarter sheetcake. Simply stop by the Food Service Office and fill out the form. The Birthday Cake will be ready for pick up on weekdays at the K-State Union Food Service Office.

LEADERSHIP

Get involved and have fun at the same time by becoming a part of the Union Program Council. Applications and information for UPC Committee Chairperson positions will be available beginning January 18th in the UPC Activities Center. Applications are due by 4 p.m. on February 3rd.

Successful candidates will be selected after interviewing on February 5th. Previous UPC experience is helpful, but not required to hold a leadership position. Chairpersons are needed for UPC President, UPC Arts, UPC Eclectic Entertainment, UPC Issues & Ideas, UPC Kaleidoscope Films, UPC Feature Films, UPC Travel, UPC Promotions, UPC Special Events, and UPC Outdoor Recreation. For more information, stop by the Activities Center or call 532-6571.

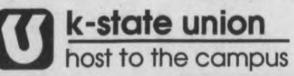

WILLIE MUGS

Get your "Willies" at the K-State Union! 12 oz. Wee Willie insulated mugs for $1.50, 24 oz. Wild Willie insulated mugs for $2.50 and Squeeze Bottle Willies for $1.50 are available at the Food Service and Recreation Area counters. Bring them back to the Union and get refills for a fraction of the price of the mug!

INTERNATIONAL I.D.'S

Traveling abroad? Get your International Student I.D. Card and receive incredibly low student air fares, accident-medical insurance and countless discounts on travel, cultural events, accommodations and more! Only $10 and good through December 1989.

Purchase your International Student I.D. Card in the K-State Union Activities Center, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Reorganized Office

The Office of Financial Aid has reorganized, which should make receiving help quicker and easier. See Page 3.

Weather

Partly sunny today with highs 30 to 35 and northeasterly winds 10 to 20 mph. Partly cloudy tonight with lows in the mid- to upper teens.

Defensive Win

164 0/0/0  11 Kansas State Historical Soc

The best defensive and offensive women's basketball teams in the Big Eight Conference squared off Wednesday night. See Page 7.

Thursday

January 12, 1989

Kansas State University Manhattan, Kansas 66506 Volume 95, Number 77

Kansas State Collegian

Window reader

Wednesday afternoon's warm weather gave Sheri Johnson, sophomore in environmental design, this chance to read in the window of her studio in Seaton Court.

Senate prepares for session

Top issues to include Lafene, athletic fee

Issues '89

Student Senate

- Lafene
- Studentathleticfee
- Finals week extension
- Allocations
- Divestment
- Farrell Library

Editor's Note: This is the second of a three-part series which previews upcoming issues in government.

By Nancy Prosser Staff Writer

K-State's Student Senate is preparing to tackle student issues in the spring semester. Some of the most pressing issues to be dealt with this semester include funding for Lafene Student Health Center, the feasibility of a student athletic fee, extension of finals week, budget allocations, divestment of funds from South Africa and funding for Farrell Library. The group's first meeting will be Jan. 19.

Lafene Student Health Center

"I see a recommendation from the Lafene task force coming this month or next," said Todd Johnson, Student Senate chairman.

There is a possibility of a phased-in fee increase over the next three years," he said. "The committee has worked several months on the report."

Mike Lynch, assistant vice president for institutional advancement, said a task force put together in 1986 recommended a fee increase over a three-year period.

its program to cut budgets where it could," he said. "Increasing costs of running the center are the reason for the needed increases. Liability insurance went from $3,000 a year ago to $8,000 now. Across nine physicians, that adds up to a lot of money.

"I don't think the students want Lafene to close, but if there is not a budget increase at the rate we are going there will be a zero balance at the center by 1990.'

The administration is looking for ways to make Lafene more efficient, he said.

Student athletic fee

"Many things need to be ironed out on the student athletic fee. Student input is important. The fee will be put to one of the standing committees to find what students do and don't want in an athletic fee," Johnson said.

"Finance committee tried to come up with an athletic fee bill last semester, but it was too late to get it through," said Lauren O'Connor, finance committee chairwoman.

Representatives from the KSU Athletic Department will meet with members of Student Senate today to discuss the direction they would like to see the athletic fee go in the coming semester.

Finals week extension

A finals week extension bill has already passed Student Senate but is pending approval by Faculty Senate. The legislation would extend K-State's finals week by two days and give students a dead day before finals week.

"This system would cut down on the number of finals per day, and would allow for full two-hour finals with 30 minutes between each final," Johnson said.

It would also allow for 73 days of instruc-"Student Senate approved one increase tion during each semester. Johnson said that and then recommended that Lafene evaluate under the old system there were 76 class days in the fall and 75 in the spring.

Allocations

Allocations is the process by which Senate divides its budget between the different cam-

"Finance committee has hearings for requests and then we go through the budgets and make changes where we have to," O'Connor said. "We then present that budget to Senate at the March meeting."

Senate will hold its first allocations meeting March 28.

Divestment

Senate is also looking into alternatives to investing student monies in South Africa. A committee was established last semester to look into the investment of student funds, Johnson said. "The committee is getting information to find out what money goes where, and how much goes to South Africa,"

Farrell Library

Although not directly involved in the issue of funding for Farrell, Student Senate is supporting the student group Students Help Enhance Library Funds.

"There is no push on Student Senate's part to increase student fees to help Farrell Library," Johnson said. "There is a student group forming called SHELF to lobby legislators to include K-State's library in their budgets next fall.

"Fee increase issues are sensitive ones, because they deal with student money. We as Student Senate want to represent student ideas and concerns, and to do that we need

Registration hindered for second day in a row

By Audra Dietz and Kevin Kramer Staff Writers

K-State's new computerized registration system which stalled Tuesday was repaired and ready for use Wednesday. For a while.

Students going through late registration were waiting in unmoving lines because the system stalled again, said Don Foster, University registrar.

Students who were unable to register Tuesday will not be charged the $10 late fee, he said. Officials at registration took the names of students who were waiting in line and entered their names into the computer Tuesday night.

"Students who are not on that list will still have to pay the late fee," he said. Late registration will continue in the Union Ballroom from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. until Jan. 18.

Although it was reported that the computer system was "down," it was only "thinking," Foster said. Because the system processes data slowly, the computer would appear to be down when it was, in fact, processing data.

The system was stalled again for more than 20 minutes Wednesday, creating backlogs. Foster said another overload caused the shutdown.

"It's not that the computer didn't work, there were just too many transactions all at once and the system couldn't process the information fast enough," Foster said.

"The problem with the computer operations is more complex than we understood," said Tom Gallagher, director of ■ See COMPUTERS, Page 10

Allies join in vetoing resolution to criticize United States' actions

By The Associated Press

UNITED NATIONS - The United States, Britain and France vetoed a Security Council resolution Wednesday criticizing America for shooting down two Libyan MiG-23 fighter planes last week.

Algeria and the other non-aligned members of the council — was 9-4, with Finland and Brazil abstaining.

Canada joined the allies in voting against the measure.

The Soviet Union, China, Ethiopia, Colombia, Malaysia, Algeria, Nepal, Senegal and Yugoslavia voted in favor.

Washington says two U.S. F-14s acted in self-defense in shooting down the two Libyan planes over international waters during naval maneuvers in the Mediterranean.

As permanent members of the 15-member The vote on the resolution - sponsored by council, any one of the negative votes from the United States, Britain or France was enough to kill the resolution.

The vetoed resolution "deplores the downing of the two Libyan reconnaissance planes" on Jan. 4 and asked the U.S. Navy to suspend maneuvers off Libya.

■ See VETO, Page 10

cites accomplishments in farewell address

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - President Reagan bade the nation a sentimental and contented farewell Wednesday night, asserting he had forged "a satisfying new closeness" with the Soviet Union and claiming overall of his eight years in office: "We meant to change a nation and instead we changed a world." Speaking nine days before his retirement to California, Reagan said, "the fact is parting is such sweet sorrow." He reflected on the modern presidency, "You're always somewhat apart. You spend a lot of time going by too fast in a car someone else is driving."

In an Oval Office speech delivered to a prime-time broadcast audience, he said his chief regret was the mammoth budget deficit that accumulated after he pushed through the biggest tax cut in American history.

Reagan addressed the nation from his Oval Office desk, his left hand in splint and swathed in bandages. The president had surgery over the weekend to straighten a curvature of his left ring finger that had been caused by an ailment known as Dupuytren's Contracture.

Reagan said his chief triumphs were the nation's economic recovery and "the recovery of our morale" and America's position as a world leader. He said his tenure had stood for freedom and proved that "democracy, the profoundly good, is also profoundly productive."

He said "nothing is less free than pure communism, and yet we have, over the past few years, forged a satisfying new closeness with the Soviet Union." His relationship with Mikhail Gorbachev blossomed in the course of five meetings during Reagan's second term.

"My view is that President Gorbachev is different from previous Soviet leaders," Reagan said. "I think he knows some of the things wrong with his society and is trying to fix

His recommendation for the future was simple. "What it all boils down to is this: I want the new closeness to continue." He followed up with his traditional warnings, "Trust but verify ... Watch closely - and don't be afraid to see what you see."

The national debt almost tripled in Reagan's term and he ran up the biggest budget deficits in history. His final budget proposal, released earlier this week for the 1990 fiscal year starting Oct. 1, projects a deficit of $92.5 billion.

"Action is still needed," he said. "If we're to finish the job, Reagan's Regiments will have to become Bush's Brigade.'

He called himself a "citizen politician" who sought office "in part to put up my hand an say, 'Stop!' to big government, and added, "I think we have stopped a lot of what needed stopping.

He said he had changed America through the tax cuts, which, he said, gave people greater incentive to

He said his tenure had changed the world with a treaty to reduce superpower nuclear stockpiles. Moreover, he said, his term had seen "the regional conficts that rock the globe" begin to recede. He cited Afghanistan, the Middle East and Angola, "mind for some time." He also said, "Countries across the

Of the disappointments during his tenure, Reagan said little. Nothing of the barracks bombing that took sevthe trade deficits or the scandals that tarnished his administration.

Nothing of the decision to sell arms to Iran and use the proceeds to fund the Contra rebels in Nicaragua. The Contras, subject of so many Reagan speeches, were not mentioned.

Citing "a great tradition of warnings in presidential farewells," Reagan offered "one that's been on my

He also said, "Countries across the He said an "eradication of the globe are turning to free markets and "American memory" of the nation's free speech."

Of the disappointments during his an erosion of the American spirit."

"We've got to do a better job of eral hundred Marine lives in Beirer, getting access that America is free-nothing of the Americans taken hos- dom theedom of speech, freedom tage and still held captive, nothing of of religion, freedom of enterprise and freedom is special and rare. It's fragile; it needs protection."

Associated Press

... Around the world

Weapons agreement signed

PARIS - A conference of 149 nations pledged Wednesday not to use chemical weapons and to work to eliminate them, but its final declaration was tempered by political compromise after five days of bickering.

The United States and other Western nations that have nuclear arms succeeded in blocking efforts led by Arab states to link the control of chemical and nuclear weapons in the

The United States, the most fervent opponent of the Arab position, said it was gratified by the results of the five-day international conference.

"The U.S. objectives for the conference were to focus worldwide attention on the problems of chemical weapons use and chemical weapons proliferation and help put a stop to the use of these weapons in violation of international law," said State Department spokesman Charles Redman in Washington.

Cubans accidentally deport

NIAGARA FALLS, Ontario - Carlos Fajardo took his family across the Rainbow Bridge into Canada and lost the pot of gold that had been their lives in the United States.

Fajardo, who struggled for 20 years to leave his native Cuba, accidentally deported himself and his family by crossing the border on a 20-minute sightseeing trip Dec. 23

Even though the family lived in the United States for four years, federal immigration officials will not allow them back because they are illegal aliens.

They are stranded in a motel in Niagara Falls, Ontario. "We came for 20 minutes," Fajardo said. "No one told us we could not go back."

Fajardo, 39, a small, soft-spoken man, said the ordeal began Dec. 20, when they set out from their home in Miami on a Christmas quest to find snow, which his adopted children, Yoandys, 12, and Yordalys, 9, had never seen.

... Around the region

Berdella sent to penitentiary

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. - Serial killer Robert Berdella has been transferred to the Missouri State Penitentiary after undergoing mental and medical evaluations at a prison center in Fulton, authorities said.

Berdella, 39, a former Kansas City antique dealer who confessed to sexually torturing, murdering and dismembering six men, was moved to the state prison Tuesday. He had undergone six days of routine testing at the Fulton Reception and Diagnostic Center.

In an interview shown Tuesday night on Kansas City public television station KCPT, Berdella criticized the Kansas City news media and police for dehumanizing him. He also said police could have "scared me off" with a better investigation after the first men disappeared.

However, Berdella provided little insight into the reasons behind the killings. He refused to answer specific questions about why he killed the men.

Pension repeal bill proposed

TOPEKA - Two bills have been introduced in the Senate to repeal part or all of a controversial law that increased legislators' pensions 44 percent, while four freshman House members promised not to take advantage of the plan.

The Senate bills are the result of criticism heard during campaigns about changes in legislators' and some state officials' pension plans made by the 1988 Legislature.

Those changes set up special classes in the Kansas Public Employee Retirement System for legislators and elected state officers. It decreased the amount of time they would have to hold public office to qualify for benefits from 10 to eight years and increased the multiplier used to determine monthly benefits.

The changes also set up a special plan for cabinet officers, most of whom previously did not apply for the state pension plan because of their relatively short tenures in office.

Because of the increase in legislators' pensions and the $400,000 price tag, some editorialists dubbed the changes the "pension outrage." Supporters of the changes maintain they are needed to encourage younger professionals to enter government

"I think it was an issue that people obviously brought to the forefront in most every campaign," said Sen. Ed Reilly, R-Leavenworth, the chairman of the Senate Federal and State Affairs Committee and primary sponsor of one of the bills.

Reilly's bill would repeal most of the provisions applying to legislators and elected state officials. It would leave untouched the change in years of services and the plan for cabinet officials. Ten other Republican senators, including Senate President Bud Burke, R-Leawood, are co-sponsors of the measure.

Man convicted of rape, murder

JUNCTION CITY - A jury found a Newton man guilty Wednesday in the rape and murder of a rural Goessel

The jury deliberated about 11/2 hours before finding Oliver Smith, 26, guilty of first-degree murder and rape in the death of Shelly Prine, 22. She was found dead by her husband in their home on Oct. 26, 1986.

Sentencing for Smith was set for Jan. 24 in Junction City. During testimony earlier Wednesday, a forensic scientist testified that a new, scientific method of identification linked Smith

Smith's DNA matched that found on a vaginal swab taken as part of a rape kit used on Prine at the St. Francis Regional Medical Center in Wichita.

John Coleman, of Lifecodes Corp., Valhalla, N.Y., said DNA typing performed by his company showed the two samples matched. Genetic typing is used to detect characteristics in genetic structure that many scientists consider as unique to an individual as fingerprints. It was only the second time in Kansas history that DNA typing has been used as evidence. Genetic evidence processed by the Lifecodes Corp. was used in May 1988 to convict Randy Pioletti, Wichita, of killing and cremating his ex-wife.

Dr. Ivan Balazs, director of clinical services for Lifecodes, said there is only a minute possibility that the genetic material

Smith's trial was moved to Geary County on a change of venue because Marion's County's entire black population is related or acquainted with Smith.

The 12-member Geary County jury panel included three men and nine women, one of whom is black.

with 12-mth lease

with 12-mth lease

Coming Attraction Laundries

25¢ Washers

25¢ Dryers

Free Shuttle Service 6-9 or 12 mth leases

Park Place

(913) 539-2951 1408 Cambridge, Manhattan

Graduates! Order Your Announcements Now.

JOSTEN

K-State Union Bookstore 10 a.m.-4 p.m., January +1, 12, 13, 16, 17

k-state union

6 delaine's

Your Downtown Store for Bridal & After-Five Wear

Store Wide 10 percent off Mothers' Gowns 10-30 percent off

Dyeable Satin Shoes $1699 •Mon.-Sat. 10-6 p.m.•

Thurs. 10 a.m.-8 p.m., Sun. by appt. 421 Poyntz • (913) 776-4498 *slight irregularities

K-State Student Special

The Topeka Capital-Journal

Subscribe All Semester $ for only

Delivery will begin upon receipt of payment For more information call 776-1552

K-STATE STUDENT DISCOUNT RATE '20

To Subscribe Mail Coupon to: Jerome Berry P.O. Box 836 Manhattan, Ks. 66502 DATE: agree to subscribe to The Topeka Capital nal for the full semester at the special rate NAME: of $20.00. This price includes consideration or non-delivery when classes are suspended periods when service is not requested. The STUDENT I.D. offer becomes effective the day of registration and expires the last day of final

UNIVERSITY:

Campus Bulletin

K-STATE PLAYERS will hold auditions for "The Rover" and "As Is" in the Nichols Theatre Lobby from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.

ICTHUS CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP will meet at 8 p.m. in the Union Little Theater.

SOCIETY OF AUTOMOTIVE ENGI-NEERS will meet at 6:30 p.m. in Durland 166.

ALPHA ZETA will meet at 7 p.m. in CAMPUS CRUSADE FOR LIFE will meet at 7 p.m. in Throckmorton 131.

KSU RODEO CLUB will meet at 7 p.m. in Weber 146.

FRIDAY

INTER-VARSITY CHRISTIAN FEL-LOWSHIP will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the UCM building at 1021 Denison Ave.

K-STATE PLAYERS will hold auditions for "The Rover" and "As Is" in the Nichols Theatre Lobby from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.

K-State Police

Monday

■ Campus and Riley County police departments both reported phone problems. Southwestern Bell employees were dispatched to fix the phones, and both phone systems were operating by Wednesday morning, according to police.

Tuesday

- A male reporting illness was transported to Memorial Hospital.
- A false fire alarm was set off at Bramlage Coliseum. Three student parking permits
- were reported lost off campus. ■ Three student parking permits
- were reported lost on campus. A wheel lock was placed on a black Mercury Lynx parked in lot
- A-5. ■ A gold Trans Am in lot A-13
- was reported disabled. A domestic disturbance report was filed from the Jardine Terrace
- Apartments.

were reported lost in an unknown vicinity. A student parking permit was reported stolen off campus. ■ The Manhattan Fire Department responded to a false alarm in Bramlage Coliseum. Bramlage Director Charlie Thomas said the alarm was activated due to a change had been drained recently. ■ An accident occurred at 2:30 p.m. north of Ahearn.

in water pressure because the pipes

Wednesday

- A parking stall east of Anderson Hall was barricaded.
- Three student parking permits were reported lost in an unknown
- vicinity. A student parking permit was
- reported stolen off campus. ■ The owner of a green Datsun 200SX parked in lot A-3 was notified his car was towed to Mike's Wrecker
- A student parking permit was Two student parking permits reported lost off campus.

Campus Briefly

Hepatitis takes life of K-Stater

Eighteen-year-old Dawna Zwickel, former freshman in preprofessional elementary education, died at 6:59 Wednesday night at the University of Kansas Medical Center in Kansas City, Zwickel, who died as a result of cardiac arrest, had been admitted to the hospital for several weeks, according to hospital officials. She was receiving treatment for a case of hepatitis which resulted from a severe case of mononucleosis.

Services for Zwickel will be Saturday in Leavenworth, but a time and location have not be set.

Zwickel attended K-State last semester but was unable to return due to her illness. She was a resident of Moore Hall and an Alpha Delta Pi pledge.

pital in Nebraska where she was to receive a liver transplant.

Zwickel was to have been transferred this morning to a hos-

CONTRACTOR OF PROPERTY FUNDRINKERY WELCOME BACK KSU

We began the Comedy Invasion in September of 1985. Thanks to you we have become one of the hottest rooms in the Midwest. We hope to continue to bring you the top performers on the national scene. Names you may recognize from television who have appeared on our stage include Franklin Ajaye, Ritch Shydner, Rich Jeni, The Amazing Johnathan and Pat Paulsen. Performances you will not want to miss this semester include Michael Winslow from Police Academy and Rich Hall from HBO's Not Necessarily the News, Carson, Letterman and author of SNIGLETS. Thank you for your support these last 3 years. We hope the next 3 years prove to be as enjoyable. We guarantee that we will work hard to bring you the top acts touring the country each and every week. The following is your Spring Semester Comedy Schedule.

Thank you, Don & Rich

Date	Headliner	Feature
1/16-17	Joe Bolster	Tim Rowlands
777	(Carson & Letterman appea	rances)
1/23, 24, 25	Pat Paulsen	Beth Donahue
	wed. (Presidential Candidate, Smoth	ers Brothers)
1/30-31	James Lee Reeves	Mike Casper
2/6-7	Sean Morey	Joe Kelly
	(Carson appearances)
2/13-14	Michael Winslow	James Inman
3 shows, 2 days	(Police Academy)
2/20-21	Pinkard & Bowden	Don Reese
2/27-28	Gary Dilena	Jason Dixon
3/6, 7, 8	David Naster	Susan Norfleet
3/13, 14, 15	Pinsky & Gray	TBA
3/20-21	Ollie Joe Prater	TBA
3/27, 28, 29	O'Brien & Valdez	TBA
4/3-4	Kozak	TBA
4/10-11	The Amazing Johnathan	TBA
4/17, 18, 19	Kenny Rogerson	Dave Markwell
4/24-25	Rich Hall	TBA
	(HBO's Not Necessarily the Letterman, SNIGLETS, Pizza

Note: Comedy is Scheduled for Wed. twice a month. Please refer to Dates.

*Reservations recommended but not necessary. Before 3 p.m.

531 N. Manhattan

After 3 p.m.

Jet crashes Alarm problem suspected

By The Associated Press

LONDON - Authorities questioned the badly injured pilot of a crashed Boeing 737 Wednesday, but revealed no clues as to why the jet's undamaged right engine was shut down well before the crash while the other engine burned.

The Civil Aviation Authority, meanwhile, ordered increased inspections on 37 airplanes with CFM56 engines, the type on the Midland Airways jet that crashed Sunday. Investigators said much more work was needed to pinpoint the cause of the crash, which killed 44 people and injured 82.

The government also ordered immediate checks of engine monitoring systems on similar aircraft to verify that they correctly indicate right and left, prompting speculation that a malfunctioning alarm system could have misled the flight crew.

Freddie Yetman, technical secretary of the British Airline Pilots Association, said this showed that investigators "must have some suspicion of these circuits."

U.S. media reported that the crew of the jet shut down the wrong engine, and Britain's tabloid newspapers drew similar conclusions in banner headlines.

"Error on the Flight Deck," the Today newspaper said. "Fatal Error" said the Daily Star. "Pilot Shut Off the Wrong Engine" said the Sun.

The Transport Department said that "evidence obtained early in the investigation" indicated both

Testing and treatment for

to women since 1974.

MasterCard accepted.

Insurance, VISA &

TAVERN

Kose

sexually transmitted diseases.

Providing quality health care

If you need abortion or birth control services, we can help. Confidential pregnancy testing . Safe, affordable abortion services . Birth control . Tubal ligation . Gyn exams .

For information and appointments (913) 345-1400

-Your Discount Beer Barn-

Go North on Tuttle Creek Blvd., then right on Barnes Rd. You can't miss it.

"The Finest Little Tavern By a Dam Site"

Muffler House

14 years in Manhattan

"Our Business Is Exhausting"

700 North Third St.

Manhattan, Ks. 66502

CAREER PLANNING & PLACEMENT

MAKE UP ORIENTATION SESSIONS

Toll Free (except KS) 1-800-227-1918.

Old Milwaukee Light Nite

$1.99 Pitchers

WELCOME BACK KSU

"It just doesn't get any better than this"

No Dress Code No Cover Charge of the plane's engines "might have suffered a related failure" and that possibility was still being examined.

The statement from the department's Air Accidents Investigation Branch also confirmed that the airplane's left engine caught fire and the right engine was shut down, and that pilot Kevin Hunt had told ground control the fire was in the right engine.

The reasons for shutting down the engine "are not yet clear and are still under investigation," according to the statement.

The jet, en route from London to Belfast with 126 people aboard, plunged into an embankment a half-mile short of the runway at East Midlands Airport in central England as it was trying to make an emergency landing Sunday

Hunt, whose back and legs were broken in the crash, was interviewed for 45 minutes at the intensive care unit of Leicester Royal Infirmary.

In the United States, NBC News quoted unidentified U.S. government sources as saying "the plane's flight recorders, which monitor engine performance and the pilots' conversations, indicate the crew shut down the wrong engine. The trouble was in one - they shut down the other."

But the network said investigators had yet to determine whether faulty instruments contributed to the crash.

omprehensive

4401 West 109th (I-435 & Roe)

Overland Park, Kansas

lealth for Women

537-3133

JIM ROSE

776-8955

Financial aid office reorganizes services

By Audra Dietz Staff Writer

The financial aid office has reorganized, and students should be able to get help faster and easier, said Director of Student Financial Assistance Larry Viterna.

"We will operate with a team approach this semester to give better service to the students," Viterna said.

Four teams, each consisting of a financial counselor and a processor, will now deal with student concerns. Students will be divided among the teams alphabetically. This way, the teams can handle the same students every time they come in for assistance or to make changes in their financial aid files.

The old system was not consistent or efficient, he said. Previously, students were shuffled to different counselors who were often unfamiliar with their financial record, which caused confusion, Viterna said.

"With four teams, we can rotate files more quickly and each team will always be working with the same students," he said.

Two new file processors and one full-time receptionist were also hired. Each team will also have a stu-

The counselors and processors were cross-trained to do both jobs. In case of an absence, a processor could counsel or a counselor could process files, Viterna said.

Service to students will be smoother, but the new team system still cannot stop delays in receiving financial aid.

About 30 percent of the checks usually do not get to the office in time for students to pay their fees, he said. Some students do not get their checks on time because they did not fill out some aspect of the application correctly, or they need to file additional

If a check does not come in, and a student cannot pay fees, the only solution is to apply for an emergency

A student's financial situation often changes, and this also causes checks to be delayed. A death in the family, unemployment, bankruptcy, illness and other unusual circumstances can affect the student's financial situation, and the amount of money a student needs may be different than the amount of aid which was applied for, Viterna said.

"We look at the situation and can make adjustments on their files. We also use our own professional judgement to help determine the amount a student can receive," he said.

More than 12,000 K-State students applied to receive aid in spring the aid they need," Viterna said.

Last semester, about 10,000 students received federal aid and more than 1,000 scholarships were awarded, he said.

This year, the financial aid office will start phasing in a new On-Line Student Financial Aid Service. The system will eliminate the need for students to pick up their financial aid check during registration by Fall

"We usually have to carry more than 40 boxes of checks over to registration. With the On-Line System, we won't have to do that," Viterna said.

This computer system will automatically deduct the amount of aid a student receives from the amount of tutition, he said. This way students will not have to pick up a check and cash it before paying their fees. The On-Line System will also be used for all University scholarships. Each student will have an account with K-State identified by his or her social security number. If a student receives aid for more than the amount of fees, then he or she will get a check for the difference.

"This account system will reduce the paperwork and the cost of printing checks," he said.

Students living in residence halls

"About 60 percent of students get or other forms of University housing will have the bill subtracted from their accounts, he said.

The system will also reduce the number of emergency student loans issued. If a student has been awarded federal aid or a scholarship and the University has not received a check by the registration deadline, then the student's account will still be credited. The student will not have to apply for an emergency loan to pay fees, Viterna said.

Installing the whole system will take about three years, and a target date for implementation is set for the fall semester of 1991.

Some new computers will also be a part of the new team approach in the financial aid office. Processors will be able to enter changes immediately on student financial files through a new software program, and this will reduce delays in receiving

Now, all the information is entered in a computer by one data processor, and it might take two or three days for a file to be updated, and by that time, there could be more changes,

Applying for department scholarships will also be easier this semester, with one standard form to be used by all colleges.

Professor to identify

By The Collegian Staff

A skull and other human remains were found last weekend along the banks of the Wakarusa River southwest of Lawrence, said a spokesman for the Douglas County Sheriff's Detective Mike Suit said the bones were sent to Michael Finnegan, professor of anthropology, for identification.

"There were numerous bones and human remains," Suit said.

The skull was discovered on Jan. 7

by a Lawrence man fishing along the river, and the rest of the bones were found on Jan. 8 by sheriff's deputies, Suit said.

No official report has been filed by Finnegan identifying the remains. Finnegan said he was unable to release any information about his findings until he filed a report with the Douglas County Sheriff's office.

Three people were reported missing when the remains were found. Suit said he could not tell if the remains were any of those people.

9264

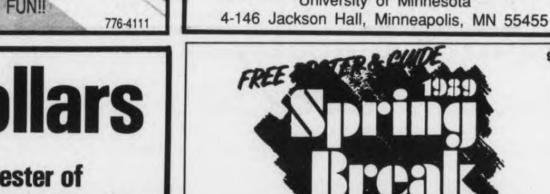

NEUROSCIENCE Graduate Fellowships and Training University of Minnesota Stipends of $12,000 and waiver of tuition Application Deadline, January 15. Call Collect For Immediate Information: (612) 624-7660, or

FAX (612) 626-5657, or BITNET: NEUROSC@UMNHSNVE.BITNET

research at the ultimate frontier

Graduate Program in Neuroscience University of Minnesota

Daytona Reach

Get your semester of fun and impess NOW at Nautilus of The Ladies Club: "The Total Fitness System"

Nautilus* 776-1654

The Ladies Clab

■like variety and excitement

require a flexible schedule

need some extra cash,

JOIN US IN OUR PURSUIT

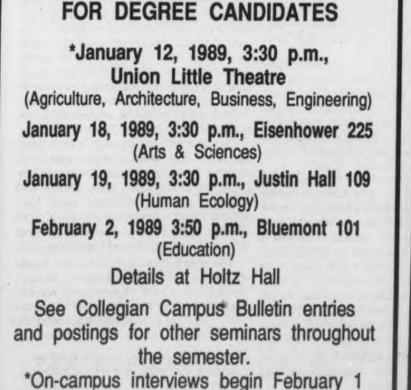

OF EXCELLENCE

Boyd Food Center (532-6484). ■ Derby Food Center (532-6483).

Interested individuals contact:

Kramer Food Center (532-6482).

SPECIAL & UNIQUE . . . LIKE SHE IS THE VERY BEST Do you want the very best? Really? Then shop at a store that sells the very best. Make sense? We do sell the very best. Really. These sets are good examples. Left with trillion diamonds, center with baguettes set in steps and at right brilliant rounds, all accenting unusually brilliant round center diamonds. Give us the opportunity to show you the very best

Editorial

Kansas State Collegian Opinions ■ Thursday, January 12, 1989

Hayden entertains with State Address

ithout a doubt, Gov. Mike Hayden is the most dynamic and exciting entertainer since Ernest T. Bass of "The Andy Griffith Show."

For the third consecutive year, Hayden, known lovingly by his constituents as "Cheeks," blessed the Kansas audience with his State of the State Address. Chock full of songs, performance art, readings and dramatic interpretations, many critics have already dubbed Monday's one-man show "The feelgood hit of 1989.

This was a special year for the routine. It was televised live and in living color from the gracious chambers of the House of Representatives. Fabulous acoustics!

Indeed a monumental performance, many people close to Hayden say this is just the kind of zany shenanigans which make 'Cheeks" the clown prince of pizzazz that he

Hayden tightened up his show for the nattily-dressed 125 state representatives and 40 state senators, not to mention the hobolooking press from the four far corners of the state who attended the 21-minute speech. Hayden, who early in his career had a habit of droning on for days, was graced with six pauses for applause from the legislators.

But the show wasn't just mere glitz and glamour. No siree, bub. "Cheeks," who along with ancient funny-man Bob Hope co-wrote

Commentary Chad L. Sanborn Collegian

the book on working a crowd, milked the act until the cows came home ... or something

Columnist

In an odd twist of production, Hayden opened the program with the show-stopping "Tax Return Windfall" skit.

Windfall. Whoo, the word itself sends chills racing up and down a taxpayer's spine. With the poise and grace of Lawrence Olivier's King Lear, "Cheeks" made good on his 2-year-old promise to cut personal income tax rates. However, the true beauty of the skit lies in Hayden's use of the phrase "return $78.9 million." It's almost as if Hayden were saying, "Check's in the mail," when in reality, it ain't.

With this little semantic antic, "Cheeks" Hayden has proven himself a big-time player. When the authorized biography is written, it will read like a fairy tale: small-town Kansas war hero plays tough like the big boys.

Of course, there is more. What makes the windfall skit so wonderful is the bit o' magic at the end. Just when you thought the skit had peaked, Hayden stuns you again by promising $14.8 million to the public school districts.

gain, he makes everyone see things that aren't there. There is no extra money going to the school districts, just an increase in the amount they can keep from local taxes. So they get to keep more, but they aren't getting more, (drum roll) because fewer taxes are being collected!

The districts couldn't buy more ketchup to keep the kids from being stricken with rickets even if they wanted to. Talk about a magic act! That's entertainment, folks.

In a touching moment, Hayden promised renewed dedication to help "at risk" students, those he defined as "having difficulty completing their education." Never mind that the definition describes most students. Did ya see the passion, man?

Then came the big mo, as in MOE, as in Margin of Excellence. Always a hot number, "Cheeks" made an ingenious move by personalizing the issue. By tying that bastard child of a university, Washburn, to the issue, Hayden has made the dance his own.

That's right, Hayden now owns the bumpand-grind Washburn number. Most remarkable is the elegance with which his body twists as he tries to convince us that inclusion of a law school, which has seen better days, into the regents system is important to all Kansans, not just Topeka property taxpayers. Geez, Ice Capades was never this good.

ext came the weakest part of the show, when "Cheeks" seemed to lose some of his drive and mumble something about the environment. Although it didn't have anything to do with kicking Colorado's butt for messing with western Kansas rivers, he did use the ambiguous phrase "environmental legacy."

But in the style of all great entertainers, Hayden regrouped. Earlier, during the performance art piece of the show, "Cheeks" was speaking in tongues about Kansas being the fourth best financially sound state in the U.S. of kicking A., and he touched us all with a need for conservative spending of our newfound reserves. To regroup, he switched his thrust (as all the great ones will do) and whistled a tune of assistance for rural communities.

Things like health care, more nurses and Medicaid made up his list of (dare we say) socialist recommendations.

ensing the crowd wanted less of this and more of what they paid for, hard-line stance on prisons, as in "We need Hayden took a familiar more of them." Yet, no one really wants any of the child-eating derelicts living in their neighborhoods. Prisons cause property values and therefore property taxes to go down, which could be almost as good as a windfall

Quick with the patented follow-up move, Hayden broke into his solid-gold single, the haunting "Death Penalty," which even though it has little to do with prison overcrowding, has a good beat and is easy to dance to. (I give it a 68, Dick.) Obviously it sounded good to many audience members. Watching on television, I swore I could see a few legislators lip-synching along.

Every artist, and the man is an artist, knows you ride a good horse until the cows come home ... or something like that. "Cheeks" followed the spooky "Death Penalty" with his Red Sovine-ish country hit "Highway Bill," a twangy, three-chord ditty about the ire of Kansans who are tired of being unable to pass Texas tourists driving those death machines some call RVs.

Hayden ended the show by trying to make everybody in the state put out their cigarettes and throw away their booze. Although First Nag Nancy Reagan had a No. 1 national hit with her retitled version of this song, "Just Say No (All You Unemployed Teenage Crack Mothers Without a Future.)," let us not forget Kansas is a state which seriously considers prohibition every election year.

Think "Cheeks" wants royalties? No way. Entertainers like Hayden, the man with the biggest heart in the business (I mean that, seriously), just want everyone to stop minding their own business and start minding somebody else's.

And then it was over, sort of. Hayden, the crazy nut, went into the crowd of screaming lustful legislators! The fans went wild. His family looked bored.

New examiner system would benefit Kansas tainly not new to society. The title ers fill the position only as time is a holdover from the days when spent outside their other main job. monarchy was the common form of government. Originally, coron- to be forensic pathologists, people ers had varied duties for the crown, but now their work deals in mainly one area - death.

Throughout the many years that physicians. coroners have been around, improvements have been made in the position. One of the biggest changes for the job was the creation of a medical examiner.

Unlike a coroner, a medical examiner is a full-time employee of the state. The responsibilities are very similar, determining causes of death and investigating questionable deaths. However, medical examiners are trained for the posi-

The position of coroner is cer- tion as a full-time job, while coron-

Medical examiners are required trained to investigate deaths and work with litigation. Coroners are only required to be licensed

It is time Kansas moved out of the middle ages and established a position in keeping with the 20th century. The medical examiner system is more efficient and precise than the coroner system. The advantages of a district medical examiner system are obvious. It is time Kansas joined the more progressive states and implemented the medical examiner system.

Coverage of news requires objectivity

"There's a bogey. He's on your tail. Fire! Fire!" Phrases like these were common fare in American living rooms recently when the public tuned in for the evening news only to discover clips of a well-known movie being run in its place.

With its sensationalized coverage of the recent downing of two Libyan fighter jets by U.S. pilots, the television news media took yet in this style of news coverage, another step toward credibility news, be it print or broadcast, is objectivity. When the media begins to mix opinion and glitz into what shaped and molded by the whims should be hard news, objectivity is lost and news is altered. It is no lonple in charge of gathering it.

was a perfect example of the televi- misinformed. sion media leaving the bounds of objectivity, thus threatening their misinformed because it cannot own credibility.

exciting scenes from the hit movie objective news sources, will be the

EDITOR.....

isters (Fall and Sp attempted to explain exactly how the F-14s operated in battle. The videotape from the actual jets was apparently not enough to satisfy the viewers. The entire news event was glamorized, sensationalized, and merchandised not only to affect viewer opinion of what actually happened up there but how it happened.

Many people don't see the harm where networks aim to increase viewership with elaborate graphics Always important in any sort of and shocking commentary. Yet, the end product is not actually news. Instead, the public is being of television news writers.

Eventually, viewers will discern ger news but a mixture of facts col- the lack of credibility in the news ored with the opinions of the peo- sources and refuse to believe them, or they will complacently follow The recent Libyan jet downing them and allow themselves to be

Ultimately the public, either separate fact from fiction or unin-Viewers were entertained with formed because of the lack of "Top Gun" as the commentator victim of this sort of journalism.

Janet Swanson

Sexual harassment persists

his may be a very shocking message to you: Sexual harassment is alive and well at K-State!

I do not know firsthand how pervasive the sexual harassment problem is on our campus, but a recent incident to which I became privy as the victim's academic adviser could be just the tip of an iceberg. Although some degree of confidentiality is certainly necessary to protect individual rights, I have found the review proceedings to be hidden behind a screen of furtive secrecy more stringent than the protective measures guarding the designs and blueprints of the U.S. nuclear weapons

I am aware this column will create unfavorable publicity. I have agonized over the conflict between my well-known loyalty to the University and the dictates of my conscience. I have concluded that this information must see the light of day as a warning to trusting and unsuspecting potential future

On Oct. 4, 1988, my advisee, appearing very emotionally distressed, requested permission to drop a course in which she had just been enrolled the preceding week. Asked for the reason, she told me the following: The class instructor, a graduate teaching assistant, had lured her into his apartment the previous Saturday under the pretext of an urgent need to discuss academic make-up work, a matter he had refused to settle in response to my advisee's request the day before.

Instead of discussing academics, however, the GTA proceeded to make verbal and physical advances, holding her hand and putting his arm around her shoulder. He had intimated that it could be very easy for her to earn an A, but changed his tune dramatically after being emphatically rebuffed by the student.

I reported the matter immediately to the GTA's department head and the following day to the Director of Affirmative Action, where the student gave a detailed account of

Commentary

Hermann J. Donnert Guest Columnist

the pertinent events. Although under great emotional stress, her composure was most fter more than two weeks of silence from Anderson Hall, I demanded action. Finally, on Nov. 7, a letter on the disposition of the case was delivered to my advisee. When she brought this letter to me she was extremely upset, and with good reason.

The contents of the letter cast serious doubt on my student's credibility. Naturally, the GTA had denied the substance of her allegations, and the reviewers were critical of the fact that there were no observers to corroborate either account. It appears to me that it is truly ridiculous to expect witnesses in a situation of this kind. Furthermore, the sanctions imposed on the offender were of no substantive consequence; at best they were a gentle slap on the hand in the form of an admonishment. It was, in my honest opinion, nothing more than a farce. Nov. 9, I conveyed my serious concerns about the review to the director of Affirmative Action. The review of my advisee's complaint had been conducted by the Director of Affirmative Action, the GTA's department head, and the associate dean of his college. This certainly gives the appearance of possible bias in favor of the GTA and raises questions about impartiality and due process for the victim.

econdly, information I had provided to establish probable cause that the GTA's action was maliciously premeditated had been ignored by the review panel and my advisee's impeccable credibility had not received adequate consideration.

Finally, the sanction; imposed on the offender were in my opinion woefully out of line with the seriousness of his actions. Disciplinary dismissal from K-State would have been most appropriate, or, short of that, banishment of the GTA from classroom duties as a generous compromise. At the conclusion of the conversation, the director of Affirmative Action promised to arrange for a further review. To my knowledge, no such arrangements have yet been made.

Although my advisee still has the option of taking her complaint to the Student Discrimination Review Committee, in good conscience, I cannot counsel her to proceed along this avenue and expose herself to further emotional trauma. Enough is enough! At this time of the semester, she must give her undivided attention to her academic pursuits. Anything less would be detrimental to her academic progress and success.

I am far from being a novice in disciplinary matters. I have had extensive experience chairing the Undergraduate Grievance Committee for almost eight years, dealing with numerous academic dishonesty cases. Most of these ended in disciplinary dismissal of the culprits, often for less heinous infractions than in the current sexual harassment case.

The review procedures for sexual harassment complaints on this campus are seriously flawed and in need of substantial revision. The way it stands now, the sexual harassment policy seems to be worth not much more than the paper and ink needed to print it.

Editor's note: Hermann Donnert is a Kansas State University professor of nuclear engineering.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

	Erwin Seba
EDITORIAL PAGE EDITOR	Catherine Doud
PHOTO/GRAPHICS EDITOR	Greg Vogel
SPORTS EDITOR	Chris Hays
ADVERTISING MANAGER	Todd Schultz
EDITORIAL BOARD	Barbara Baker, Kale Baldock, Catherine Doud, Susan L'Ecuyer Brian Hurrenell, Dwayne Lively, Scott Miller, Michael Nichols, Paula Selby Chad L. Sanborn, Mark Schmeller, Erwin Seba, Robert R. Short, Janet Swanson
	PS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publica- ttan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published Monday through Friday during the school year and
Monday and Thursday during sur	mmer sessions. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 68502. changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Man-epted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, Kedzle Hall 116, all and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word adver- ed to (913) 532-6565.
	Kansas State Collegian Subscription Bales

To charge by VISA or MasterCard, call (913) 532-6555 to Student Publications, Kedzie Hall 103, Kansas State I

College receives $100,000

By The Collegian Staff

The Beatrice Foundation gave an endowment of $100,000 to the College of Business Administration to provide scholarship assistance to underrepresented minority students and students who are the first in their families to attend college.

It is the second largest college on campus, with about 2,800 undergraduates and more than 80 minority students, said Randolph Pohlman, dean of the College of Business Administration.

The proposal for the endowment was drafted by Pohlman; Chandresh Bahadur, a K-State alumnus and former Beatrice employee; and Gary Hellebust, director of corporate and KSU Foundation relations.

The team made several trips to Chicago to establish a relationship with the Beatrice staff and set guidelines for the grant, Hellebust said.

Bahadur was a signifcant factor in setting the college apart from the other grant applicants, Pohlman said. "We have a high quality and attractive program," Pohlman said. "The money will be invested and a portion of the earnings will go to academic scholarships," Hellebust

He said investment income generated by the permanent endowment will provide the scholarship money.

Pohlman said the endowment is arriving in three installments of about $33,000 per year. The first installment arrived in November and scholarships should be available for the fall 1989 semester.

Ten to 12 scholarships ranging from $250 to $1,000 will be awarded based on the earning potential of the investment and the number of qualified applicants, Pohlman said.

"(The endowment) won't be up to full earning potential for four years."

Recipients will be recommended by the College of Business Administration Scholarship Committee to the KSU General Scholarship Committee where they will be selected, said Gordon Dowell, director of publications.

The college hopes the endowment will help other institutions recognize the business program and help support it, Pohlman said.

5 file for Board of Education

By Robert Short City Editor

Manhattan pediatrician Graham Rose announced at a press conference Wednesday his intentions to run for a position on the Manhattan Board of Education.

Rose's filing brings the total number of candidates for the three positions opening up on the USD 383 school board to five.

Board members whose terms end this spring are Roger Reitz, Beverly Eversmeyer and Martha Miller. All three incumbents of the seven-member board have filed for the positions again, said Hal Rowe, superintendant of schools.

"People have until January 24 to file," he said.

Meryl Wilson, partner in a local law firm, filed earlier this month, Rowe said.

The school board met Wednesday morning in a special session to approve 31 members of an advisory committee created to evaluate the problem of overcrowding in the school district. The committee is primarily composed of Manhattan residents and includes minority and military representation.

Eversmeyer said the upcoming election will be an interesting one for the voters because of the many controversial issues - including overcrowding - that will be handled by the board this spring.

"Of course the main thing is the space issue ...," she said. "You will see some strong positions on what we should have (done) with Lucky High School or the Farm Bureau building."

But Eversmeyer said she thinks the differences in opinion will work to the benefit of the voters. "I think there are going to be people with really different ideas strong, clear-cut opinions," she

If seven people file before the January deadline, a runoff election will be held Feb. 28.

AUDITIONS

for

K-STATE PLAYERS

Spring Semester Plays

THE ROVER

and

AS IS

Thurs. Jan. 12 Fri. Jan. 13 (Callbacks) Nichols Theatre Lobby 7-10 p.m. For further information call 532-6875 on color processing & 4x6 prints Each picture is the best it can be or we reprint it free...now! NO LIMIT ON ROLLS! Color Enlargements in One Hour 4x6 Color Prints in One Hour April 29, 1989

Manhattan Town Center

Ben Franklin POSTERS

This area's largest selection! And the area's largest selection of poster frames, too.

Hours: M-F 9-9, Sat. 9-7, Sun. 1-6 776-4910

Westloop Center, Manhattan

45 Years Serving America's Children

16" PIZZA ONLY 599

one topping dine-in or free delivery with coupon expires Jan. 31 "premium pizza at a cardboard pizza price" 523 South 17th

12th & Moro - Aggieville

any sub with purchase of medium or large soft drink.

M-W

Not valid with other offers. One coupon per customer EXPIRES: Feb. 15, 1989 Not valid on delivery

AHEARN FITNESS PROGRAM Structured Classes-Beg. Jan. 17

Spring '89 Schedule *Progressive Cardiovascular M-W-F 11:30 a.m.

T-U 12:00 p.m. *Aerobic Dance *Hydrobics 7:30 a.m. M-W-F 12:00 p.m. *Flex and Tone 11:30 a.m.

*Call for more information, 532-6765 Babysitting available

The Sound Shop Has Relocated to 1118 Moro. (next to Brother's)

*Aerobics/Flex and Tone

Our Expanded Store Now Has 5 Showrooms of the Finest Audio Equipment Available Anywhere.

Come check out our Back to School Specials and easy Student Financing.

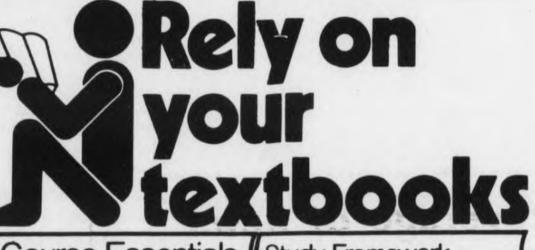

Discount records & stereo

1118 Moro

537-7555

537-4708

Course Essentials Study Framework

ecture Reinforcement (Exam Review

Illustrations

Future Reference

SAVE 25% On Used Textbooks

Varney's is loaded with used books All Your Purchases Guaranteed

Varney's guarantees that the book you buy is the right one for your class. If your schedule changes or you enroll in the wrong class, you can bring the undamaged book back for a full cash refund within* two weeks after classes start. All you need is the cash register receipt and the merchandise. You must have the cash register receipt for a refund. *No refunds on Quiz-out manuals.

in Aggieville since 1916

Phone 539-0511

Open Tonight Until 10 p.m.

Justices to decide retarded killer's fate

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - The Constitution's ban against cruel and inhuman punishment should not shield a retarded killer from execution even if the defendant has the mind of a 7-year-old, the Supreme Court was told Wednesday.

Assistant Attorney General Charles A. Palmer of Texas urged the justices to permit the execution of Johnny Paul Penry, 32, whose reasoning capacity has been described as that of a child of 7.

"He knew what he was doing," Palmer said of Penry, who stabbed to death Pamela Moseley Carpenter, 22, on Oct., 15, 1979, in Livingston, Texas, after he raped her. Palmer recited evidence that Penry killed the woman to prevent her from identifying him.

Carpenter's brother, retired National Football League placekicker Mark Moseley, was in the courtroom Wednesday.

Moseley told reporters afterward, "It's been nine years of hell for myself and my family. It's not something anyone should have to go through, and I feel that if anything good can come out of it that maybe we can render a decision that will make it not happen to someone else."

Curtis C. Mason, a lawyer representing Penry, spent little time arguing that all convicted retarded murderers should be spared.

Instead, Mason challenged the Texas death penalty law on narrower

Mason said the law prevented the jury, in determining what sentence to impose, from giving full consideration to mitigating evidence in Pen-ry's favor. Penry was abused by his parents, attended school only for a few days in the first grade and was in and out of mental hospitals while growing up near Houston.

"He is not fully responsible for the way he is today," Mason argued. But Mason said the jury in weighing punishment only was permitted to consider whether such mitigating evidence showed that Penry had acted "deliberaiely with the reasonable expectation that death would result."

While the high court might be reluctant to ban the death penalty for all retarded killers, it still could overturn the Texas capital punishment law on the narrower grounds cited by Justice Sandra Day O'Connor, whose vote could be pivotal in the case, suggested to Palmer that the Texas law gives convicted murderers limited hope of winning a life prison term as opposed to the death penalty.

She questioned whether the state law allows a juror to vote for life in prison even if the juror believed the defendant acted with diminished moral culpability because of his background.

Palmer replied, "The jury can say, My God, this boy's been treated so badly he didn't act deliberately." But he acknowledged the jury is barred from weighing such evidence to oppose the death penalty on other

Cruise, Hoffman break old combination

By Stacy Sweazy Collegian Reviewer

Miles of film have been produced about the tiresome combination of gutsy cops, psycho killers and sultry sex. "Rain Man" is defintely a refreshing change.

The story is about Charlie Babbitt, played by Tom Cruise, a hardhearted car salesman and cynical entrepreneur, who has an unemotional relationship with his father. Upon his father's death, Charlie finds he has inherited the family rose bushes and 1949 Buick Roadster convertible.

Review

He also finds that his birthright, a $3 million estate, has been left to a brother he never knew existed. However, the actual trustee of the estate is a doctor at a mental institution because his brother, Raymond (Dustin Hoffman), is autistic and Las Vegas casino. Charlie walks has been institutionalized since away with somewhat heavier pock-Charlie's infancy.

Hoping to retrieve the family millions, Charlie abducts his brother and makes plans to fly him from Ohio to the West Coast, But Raymond, after memorizing every detail from years of notable airline fatalities, developed a phobia of flying. This results in the brothers' taking to the road in Charlie's convertible. The time element of traveling across America puts Charlie's already shaky business in Raymond's compulsion for routines involving meals and TV watching struggles with Charlie's patience. However, his genius for numbers fascinates the young hustler, and a little after the half-way mark of the journey, Charlie turns Raymond's talent into a gambling his versatility in movies like "Tootets and no more debts.

Charlie's battle with greed vs. need results in an unspoken emotion for Raymond that warms his steely exterior. Charlie butts heads with a flim-flamming lawyer to try and gain custody of his brother and take him away from the asylum. Through the fight, Charlie discovers a love for Raymond that is genuine and not piteous.

The writers of "Rain Man," Ronald Bass and Barry Morrow, artfully include humorous monotony without jesting about autism. Hoffman's performance is spellbirding. After studying autism for many months, he perfected every element of the disorder to make his character convincing. Hoffman has a wealth of talent and has proven enterprise by exploiting his gift in a sie," "Kramer vs. Kramer" and "The Graduate." Hoffman reshapes each character without repeating traits.

Tom Cruise finally displays his talents in a role that won't cause women to salivate and swoon while in the theater. Unlike many of Cruise's characters. Charlie Babbitt is realistic and demonstrates a new style for Cruise in one of his best performances. He has finally broken away from the brat pack of young Hollywood actors. Hoffman and Cruise complement each other

The editing is effective and adds the verve that captivates the audience. The scenery is viewed through Raymond's eyes and helps the audience understand autistic perceptions of the outside world, but too many cheap hotel stops along the road cause "Rain Man" to drag a bit. The music, directed by Hans Zimmer, is outstanding.

Visible similarities few in new comedy

By Nancy Chartrand Collegian Reviewer

The story has been heard before. Twins who are separated at birth finally find each other and realize that despite being reared in two different environments, they are basically the same.

Well, sort of.

When the twins are played by Amold Schwarzenegger and Danny DeVito, it is a little hard to see the similarities.

Ivan Reitman's latest comedy, "Twins," starring this visually mismatched pair, offers a lot of laughs by heavier films, such as "Rain himself. Man" and "The Accidental Tourist.'

life on an island where people are kind and the environment is peaceful. He has become a gentle, kind and simple man.

Review

When he learns he has a brother, Schwarzenegger sets out to find him and then their parents. What he mother.

in a season that has been dominated finds is a brother not exactly like

DeVito's character grew up in an orphanage in Los Angeles. He is in The movie opens with Schwar- true DeVito form and plays (to borzenegger, who has spent his entire row another current movie title) a "Dirty Rotten Scoundrel." DeVito's character makes a living by stealing - then selling - cars.

> Schwarzenegger's character doesn't seem to care or realize how crooked his newly-found brother is. DeVito's character gets a kick out of his brother and decides to go along with his plan to find their

Together they find out news that proves especially distressing to DeVito's character. Their mother was actually part of a science experiment to create the ultimate

The scientists got what they wanted - Schwarzenegger - plus a side effect they didn't want -DeVito. Every trait considered to be good and strong went into Schwarzenegger and every trait the scientists considered bad and weak was given to DeVito.

Perm New Design Freedom

CHRYSLER Plymouth

GOETSCH-IRVINE CHRYSLER-PLYMOUTH-SUBARU

4th and Leavenworth Phone 776-4875 Expires 2/11/89

any repair work or maintenance on your car with this coupon Excludes body shop repair

Single

Bacon Cheeseburger

99¢ (regularly $1.35)

Mon., Jan. 9 through Sat., Jan. 14

1015 N. 3rd. Manhattan

Tuition . . . Books . . . Deposits . . . Rent . . . Bills . . .

Everyone seems to want your money this time of year. At Crimpers, we've decided you need a break. Now through Jan. 31, a cut and style is $5 off-only $10. Let us create the look that's right for you.

Now at a Special Low Price

HAIRCUT & BLOW DRY BRING THIS COUPON-

Expires 1/31/89

613 N. Manhattan

539-7621

M-Fri 8-8, Sat 8-5

GREEK & MEDITERRANEAN FOOD

537-7533

50° off

offer expires 1/31/89

1209 Laramie St. Buy 1 Gyro sand. & get Gyros sandwich 2nd at 1/2 price

HOURS 11 a.m.-3 p.m., 4:30-9 p.m.

537-8169 offer expires 1/31/89 Expires Jan. 26, 1989 MOST DELICIOUS TREAT IN TOWN

314 Tuttle Creek Blvd. S & B Center

512 Poyntz Ave. Manhattali, Kansas

1/3 off Perm &

Haircoloring or highlighting -all services performed by supervised cosmetology students--BRING THIS COUPON IN-Expires 1-31-89

Lordy'n Ladys Hair Design & Skin Care Studio

WELCOMES YOU TO WILDCAT LAND!

We can take care of all your personal beauty needs from head to toe.

> 15 Haircuts includes shampoo and blow dry

Must ask for an Artistic Hair Designer $4150 to $5150 Perms $30 to $35 *10 CFF on European Facial Prices Good With This Ad

One coupon per person.

TANNING BEDS AVAILABLE-*30 for 12 sessions 218 So 4th

PREDKEN

776-5651

512 Poyntz Avenue Manhattan, Kansas off Haircuts

> -all services performed by supervised cosmetology students--BRING THIS COUPON IN-Expires 1-31-89

DONUT LOVERS DOZEN

Corner of Denison & Claffin We deliver on large orders 776-8058

1/2 Dozen 1 Dozen Donuts For $1.99

1 Dozen Donuts Donuts For 99° For $1.99

Offer good thru 2/3/89 Offer good thru 2/3/89 Offer good thru 2/3/89 (with coupon) (with coupon) (with coupon) not good on deliveries not good on deliveries (with coupon)

Kansas State Collegian ■ Thursday, January 12, 1989 ■ Page 7

Lady Cats down Cowgirls, 78-68

By Mike Rouse Collegian Reporter

The best offensive team and the best defensive team in the Big Eight squared off Wednesday night and the defense came out on top.

The K-State Lady Cats, who came in as the best defensive team, were able to defeat the Oklahoma State Cowgirls 78-68 in Big Eight Conference action in Bramlage Coliseum.

OSU came in as the best offensive team because of an upbeat-tempo offense that had been averaging 83 points a game. But the Lady Cats were able to control the tempo most of the game and hold the Cowgirls way below their scoring average.

"We were able to control the tempo and played smart offensively," K-State head coach Matilda Mossman said. "We wanted to move the ball at our own pace and I felt we did that most of the game."

Mossman felt that her team did make some mistakes in the first half which allowed OSU to stay close.

"We got caught up in their tempo and put them on the free-throw line too many times in the first half," she said.

A comment from Oklahoma State head coach Dick Halterman about the K-State women last year apparently had the Lady Cats fired up coming in.

"We were fired up coming in because of the comment their coach said about us last year," Diana Miller said. "He said something about every other team having a chance to make it to the finals (of the Big Eight tournament) except for Kansas State."

Nadira Hazim, who had missed the last two games because of the flu, returned to lead all scorers with 24 points.

"People got me the ball when I was open," Hazim said. "You have to take advantage of that situation." Freshmen Mary Jo Miller scored a career high 19 points and played 38 minutes as she led her team in breaking a full-court defense applied by the Cowgirls most of the second half. "Mary Jo did a very good job in breaking the press but our big people were coming back to help and couldn't get down court to get the easy baskets," Mossman said.

K-State led by two points at halftime, and OSU stayed within three points for the first eight minutes of the second half until K-State scored seven straight and extended its lead to 59-49 with 9:01 left.

K-State's defense was effective most of the game as it forced the Cowgirls into 24 turnovers and only 14 percent shooting from the three point line, where they had been shooting at a 39 percent clip on the

The Lady Cats hit ten straight free throws over the last 1:56 of the game to seal the victory, including four from Rita Matteucci.

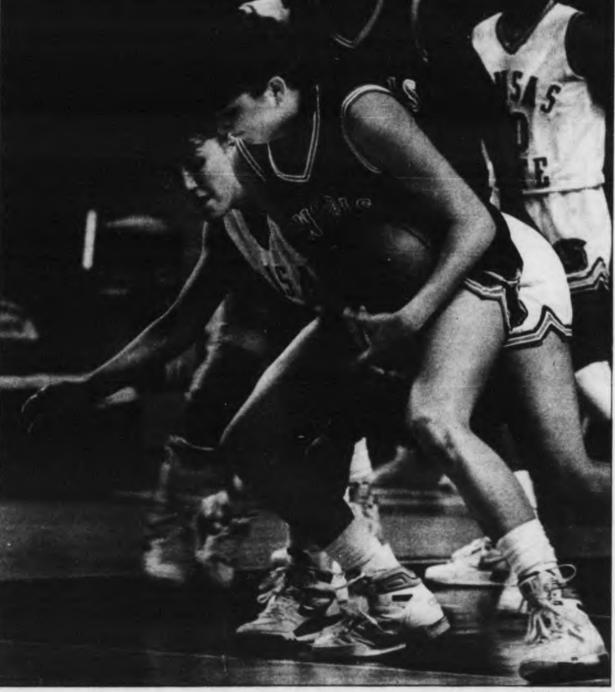

"Coach had us come in and work on our free throws this week," Diana Miller said.

"I was proud of Rita, because their bench was telling their players to foul her and she was able to hit her free throws," Mossman said.

OSU was led in scoring by Clinette Jordan with 21 points, while Jennifer Hepner came off the bench to contribute 20 points. The loss drops OSU to 8-5 and 0-1 in Big Eight play.

The victory moved the Lady Cats to 11-3 overall and 1-0 in the Big Eight, matching their total victories in conference play last year.

"I am extremely pleased to get the first one out of the way," Mossman said. "I was worried coming into conference play that we weren't capable of scoring enough points to win, but we were able to do it tonight."

K-State forward Rita Matteucci attempts to steal the ball from Oklahoma State's Susanne Rosson during the game Wednesday night at Bramlage Coliseum. The Lady Cats defeated the Cowgirls 78-68.

48 ruling passed at convention New prop

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO — Athletic scholarships will be harder to get for some incoming freshmen under a toughened Proposition 48 provision approved Wednesday by Division I schools at the NCAA convention.

By a 163-154 vote, delegates approved a measure they had defeated 151-159 the day before. The average in college preparatory new rule eliminates the partial qualifier and significantly tightens the requirements.

The rule takes effect in 1990.

A partial qualifier is a high school graduate with a 2.0 overall grade point average who does not meet other Proposition 48 requirements such as minimum test scores or a 2.0 sit out their treshman year and then have only three years of eligibility.

Non-qualfiers now must pay their own way their freshman year and still sit out without playing or practicing. They could be eligible for scholarships as sophomores but will still have only three years of eligibility. An NCAA spokesman in Mission, Kan., said about 600 partial quali-

Previously, partial qualifiers could fiers were admitted each of the three Frank, commissioner of the predo-

The proposal was almost unanimously opposed by black educators on the basis of their long-held argument that the standardized tests are discriminatory.

"This will affect not just black kids, but poor kids who are black, white and other shades," said Jim Proposition 48 freshman eligibility receive full scholarship aid but had to years Proposition 48 has been in minantly black Southwestern Athleuc Conterence. It means that a great many kids who cannot afford to pay their own costs for their freshman year will never get the opportunity for a college education.'

The request to reconsider was made by Alan Williams of Virginia, chairman of the infractions committee.

Manning may miss season

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES — Danny Manning of the Los Angeles Clippers, the top selection in last summer's NBA draft, apparently will be sidelined for at least the rest of the season because of a torn ligament in his right knee.

The development is another in a long line of disasters for the luckless Clippers, who haven't qualified for the NBA playoffs since 1976.

Team physician Dr. Tony Daly confirmed late Tuesday that Manning has a torn anterior cruciate ligament in his right knee. Daly made the announcement after studying results of computer-enhanced X-rays.

"After studying the results of the test Danny took Tuesday morning, I am 95 percent certain that the anterior cruciate ligament in his right knee is torn," Daly said. "The degree to which it is torn will have to be determined through diagnostic arthroscopic surgery.'

Rehabilitation of such an injury could take a year or

Manning's agent, Ron Grinker of Cincinnati, flew to Los Angeles Tuesday to be with his client, saying, "I'm here to be with Danny and comfort him. We want what's best for the future of Danny Manning and the Los Angeles Clippers."

A Clippers spokesman said Wednesday that he did not expect the team to issue any further update on the situation until later in the week.

The 6-foot-10 Manning was injured late in the first quarter of a game at Milwaukee on Jan. 4. The 22-year-old forward said he "heard a snap" when he landed stiff-legged after making a layup.

Manning signed a guaranteed five-year, $10.5 million contract with the Clippers, who, unlike other teams, don't insure their first-round draft choices.

Juco transfer Britt making quick impact

By Mike Rouse Collegian Reporter

K-State forward Reggie Britt has slowly made his way into being one of the top players on the Wildcat squad.

Britt had been a reserve for the first eight games, but after a 15-point, nine-rebound performance against Missouri-St.Louis three weeks ago, he has become a starter for the past three games.

"I just try to play hard every time I go onto the court," Britt said.

He transferred to K-State after two successful years at Coffeyville Community College, where he averaged 12 points a game and garnered all-Jayhawk Conference first team honors last year.

K-Stater Reggie Britt, who has started at forward during the Wildcats' past three outings, is averaging 7.9 points per game.

This season, Britt said he sometimes feels he can't step up and take charge like .ie did at Coffeyville.

"When one of our leaders is having a rough night, you want to stand up and step forward, but sometimes I feel like I'm out of place by doing that," Britt said.

Although his numbers may not show it, Britt has made big contributions to the Wildcat squad in just his first 11 games at the NCAA Division I-A level. He is averaging 7.9 points a game but has scored in double figures in his past three games.

He has hit double digits five times this year and is shooting more than 60 percent from the field. He is shooting 67 percent from the freethrow line but has recently improved in that area, hitting 16 of his past 19 charities.

"I have been taking my time and trying to lock in and get the free throws to fall," Britt said. "I think my problem at first was that I was shooting them too fast."

Wildcat coach Lon Kruger said he has been pleased with Britt's performance and likes the emotion Britt shows on the floor.

"He is excitable and plays with more emotion than anyone else I have been around," Kruger said.

Britt said, "I come out and make it fun and enjoy myself and still play hard because one day I know it will end."

He said he doesn't care what role he takes or how much he plays each game as long as he can contribute to the team's success.

"I just do whatever I can to help the squad, and part of that is playing hard every possession during the game," he said.

Britt said he still needs to work on some things but is also aware that he does have talent.

"I'm a strong player and have some good moves, but I still need to work on defense and being aware of the weak-side help," he said.

Britt said he hopes to have the chance to deliver a game-winning shot and said he could deal with the pressure should Kruger decide to go to him in the clutch.

"I will love it to death if that happens. You have to feel good if the coach has that much confidence in you," he said.

11 10 11	61-129 54-103	47.3 52.4	38-40	95.0	2.3	16.9
0.7	733355	52 A
11		92.4	45-62	72.6	6.7	15.3
	24-40	60.0	37-53	69.8	3.5	7.5
11	34-79	43.0	11-15	73.3	2.4	7.5
11	31-63	49.2	5-11	45.5		7.1
11	32-61	52.4	9-17	52.9	6.8	6.6
11	19-42	45.2	7-8	87.5	-	4.2
10	14-23	60.8	8-23	34.7		3.3
11	10-23	43.5	5-7	100000000000000000000000000000000000000		2.3
7	4-9	44.4	7-12			2.1
2	1-2	50.0	1-2			1.5
7	3-4	75.0	4-6			1.2
4	1-3				1-00-0	0.4
3	0-0					0.3
11	287-593	48.4		-		72.2
11	266-622	42.7		2777		63.6
	11 11 10 11 7 2 7 4 3 11 11	11 32-61 11 19-42 10 14-23 11 10-23 7 4-9 2 1-2 7 3-4 4 1-3 3 0-0 11 287-593 11 266-622	11 32-61 52.4 11 19-42 45.2 10 14-23 60.8 11 10-23 43.5 7 4-9 44.4 2 1-2 50.0 7 3-4 75.0 4 1-3 33.3 3 0-0 0.0 11 287-593 48.4 11 266-622 42.7	11 32-61 52-4 9-17 11 19-42 45.2 7-8 10 14-23 60.8 8-23 11 10-23 43.5 5-7 7 4-9 44.4 7-12 2 1-2 50.0 1-2 7 3-4 75.0 4-6 4 1-3 33.3 1-2 3 0-0 0.0 1-2 11 287-593 48.4 179-260 11 266-622 42.7 111-167	11 32-61 52.4 9-17 52.9 11 19-42 45.2 7-8 87.5 10 14-23 60.8 8-23 34.7 11 10-23 43.5 5-7 71.4 7 4-9 44.4 7-12 58.3 2 1-2 50.0 1-2 50.0 7 3-4 75.0 4-6 66.7 4 1-3 33.3 1-2 50.0 3 0-0 0.0 1-2 50.0 11 287-593 48.4 179-260 68.8 11 266-622 42.7 111-167 66.4	11 32-61 52.4 9-17 52.9 6.8 11 19-42 45.2 7-8 87.5 2.1 10 14-23 60.8 8-23 34.7 2.1 11 10-23 43.5 5-7 71.4 1.1 7 4-9 44.4 7-12 58.3 1.4 2 1-2 50.0 1-2 50.0 0.0 7 3-4 75.0 4-6 66.7 0.6 4 1-3 33.3 1-2 50.0 0.2 3 0-0 0.0 1-2 50.0 0.0 11 287-593 48.4 179-260 68.8 31.5

Sports Briefly

Call named all-Midwest

K-State volleyball player Shawnee Call, who was named to the all-Big Eight team for the third consecutive year in December, was named to the all-Midwest Region team during the holiday break.

Call ended her K-State career as the school's record holder for career marks in attacks, kills and digs. The Ellsworth native holds a total of ten K-State records.

Along with Call, the Midwest team features three players from Illinois and one each from Illinois State, Northern Illinois, Northern Iowa, Southwest Missouri State, Iowa State, and Northwestern.

"The awards that come Shawnee's way are just indicative of the kind of player she is," said K-State coach Scott Nelson. "Just add another to her collection."

Diver pleads guilty to charges

TAMPA, Fla. - Olympic diver Bruce Kimball pleaded guilty Wednesday to driving under the influence and manslaughter charges in the deaths of two teen-agers Aug. 1 and could receive up to 22 years in prison at his sentencing Jan. 30. Prosecutors said the 25-year-old athlete had a blood-alcohol reading of 0.2 percent, twice the legal limit, the night his car plowed into a group of teen-agers at a hangout in Brandon, killing two and injuring four shortly before the Olympic trials.

The athlete pleaded guilty an hour into his trial today to two counts of manslaughter while driving under the influence and three counts of causing great bodily injury while driving under the influence.

Kimball competed in the Olympic trials but failed to make the U.S. team.

Assistant State Attorney John Skye said a witness at the accident scene saw Kimball get out of the car, beat his fist on the ground and say, "There go the Olympics." Killed in the accident were Robbie Bedell, 19, and Kevin Gossic, 16.

No. 1 Duke cruises, 100-38

DURHAM, N.C. - Christian Laettner scored 13 points to lead six players in double figures as top-ranked Duke ran away from William & Mary 100-38 Wednesday night.

Duke, 12-0, scored almost at will while forcing the Tribe, 2-10, into 27 turnovers. The Blue Devils outshot William & Mary 54 percent to 26 percent and added substantially to a 41-point halftime lead with most of the starters on the bench. Jimmy Apple was the only William & Mary player in double figures with 13 points.

Street widening plan authorized

By Nancy Hill Staff Writer

City commissioners heard the first reading Jan. 3 of an ordinance authorizing the acquistion of property by eminent domain for the Anderson Avenue Widening Project.

The project will expand Anderson Avenue west of Seth Childs Road to Sharingbrook Drive, making it necessary for the city to obtain tracts of land bordering on the construction

The purpose of the ordinance is to aid the city in acquiring the final three to four tracts of land necessary for the construction to begin. The city originally had to acquire permanent or temporary right-of-way from 41 different owners.

"In no one of the cases did we acquire all of a lot," said Jerry Petty, director of community development. "I felt that we had a very positive reaction from those involved in the acquisition process.

The process by which the city will acquire the final land is that of condemnation. This will allow the court to appoint three appraisers and then upon their recommendations set a just compensation for the land tract.

If the city pays this amount, it has the right by power of eminent domain to possess the property despite any ongoing arguments between the city and the owners over

One of the properties cited for condemnation is in the process of being sold, so determining the actual owner has been difficult.

"We can't find the right people with the authority to sign the paper," Petty said. "One way to deal with that simply is to condemm it."

Anderson Avenue will be expanded to four lanes from Wreath Avenue to Sharingbrook Drive and to five lanes from Wreath Avenue to Seth Childs Road.

It will also have new stop lights, one of which will be placed on each of the ramps connecting Anderson Avenue and Seth Childs Road, and one at the intersection of Wreath and Anderson avenues.

Petty said 75 percent of the finances are allocated through a Federal Aid Urban Project fund. The remaining 25 percent will be paid by the city at large.

The initial request for funding was submitted about seven years ago, Petty said.

"Because of the size of Manhattan, we compete with other communities for the same pot of money," Petty said. "About once every 10 years it is our turn at the money.

Petty said he hopes the bulk of the construction will be completed by the end of this year. However, this goal will vary according to weather conditions, the contractor and the number of workers.

Mother of firefighter sues contractor, manufacturer

Special! Read All About It.

I.J. Cinnamons

Bakery

Notice To All Students

T.J. Cinnamons Bakery, located next to Kinkos in Aggieville, is under new management. Baker Paul says, "Start your semester off right and get on a roll

Hours: Mon.-Sat. 7 a.m.-7 p.m.

Sun. 7 a.m.-1 p.m.

UNDER GREAT NEW MANAGEMENT!

with T.J. Cinnamons Bakery."

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - A lawsuit naming two contractors, an explosives manufacturer and security guards has been filed by the mother of one of six firefighters who died Nov. 29 in an explosion at a rock quarry.

Marietta Fugate of Independence, mother of firefighter Thomas Fry, filed the lawsuit Tuesday in Jackson County Circuit Court. The lawsuit, which seeks at least $15,000 in damages, also asked ers of explosives.

damages for Fry's daughter. Four families have filed lawsuits in connection with the explosion, which occurred while the six firefighters fought a fire at the site in south Kansas City. One of the families later withdrew its suit. citing personal reasons.

Fry, 41, was a 15-year veteran of the fire department. Authorities are investigating the deaths as homicides because an arson fire led to the explosions of two trail-

WE WANT TO MAKE YOUR STUDENT LOAN!

Have the professionals at Kansas State Bank make your student loan. Simply contact us at:

537-4400 Lender code #821176

KANSAS STATE BANK

Westloop • Aggieville • K-State Union, Manhattan, Kansas 66502

TOWN CENTER

—Student Government—

Want to develop leadership skills-want to influence policy decisions that effect student's lives? Maybe Student Government Involvement is the Vehicle!

Submit application (to be found in SGS Office) by Jan. 13, 1989

Committees With At-Large Students

Academic Computing Advisory Committee Advisory Committee on Campus Development Athletic Ticket Sales Committee Campus Environmental Health & Safety Committee Commission on the Status of Women Communicable Diseases Committee Convocation Committee Council on Traffic, Parking & Police Operations Council on Student Affairs Fine Arts Council General Scholarship & Student Financial Aid Committee

Holton Hall Council Intercollegiate Athletic Council Out-Of-State Fee Appeals Board Recreational Services Council Sports Club Council Student Health Advisory Committee Students' Attorney Advisory Board Undergraduate Grievance Committee University Activities Board Judicial Positions Attorney General

Judicial Branch Positions

Attorney General Judicial Council Parking Citation Appeals Board Student Review Board Tribunal

Associated Students of Kansas

Communications Director Legislative Affairs Liason

START THE NEW YEAR RIGHT!

Take your car to Wayne's Quik Lube for Quick, Quality Service

- ★ We give you the best quality in oil, grease &
- ★ We use Quaker State filters and Quaker State's top grade of grease
- * We use the oil our customer selects from our inventory of Quaker State, Pennzoil, Trop Arctic, Havoline, Mobil, Motorcraft and Castrol.
- ★ We are a family owned and operated business and we care about your car.

NO APPOINTMENT NECESSARY AT

Wayne's Quik Lube

2304 Sky-Vue Lane

539-5431

Minor mechanical repairs done, also ////// /// /// *///

SHOP MANHATTAN'S EXCLUSIVE

WOMEN'S, JUNIORS & PLUS-SIZE FASHIONS

First Quality Name Brands Sold Elsewhere For Up to $60

MEN'S and WOMEN'S

ONE CENT MORE

Buy One Pair of Sale Shoes at Regular

Price... Get a Second Pair of Equal Value or Less for Only

Bring a friend ... relative ... or buy two pairs for yourself.

OPEN SUNDAY 12:00-5:30

Every Item Priced At $10

JANUARY SPECIAL BUY A $10 ITEM; GET A MARKDOWN ITEM ($3, $5 or $7) AT HALF PRICE

OPEN SUN. 1-5 323 Poyntz THURS. TIL 8 Middle of Downtown Manhattan

about Godfather's Pizza?™

The taste, the toppings...and these terrific moneysaving coupons!

539-5303

1118 Laramie Aggieville

Two Large Pepperoni Pizzas only $10.99

Present this coupon and receive TWO large pepproni pizzas for only $10.99.

WE DELIVER

Lunch Buffet only $3.75

Present this coupon and receive ONE all you care to eat lunch buffet and a free refill soft drink for only $3.75.

Monday-Friday, lunch time only.

receive a large single topping Original pizza for only $7.99 or a medium for only $5.99.

Present this coupon and

$7.99 Large

or $5.99 Medium

Managers institute plan to minimize book theft

By Brad Camp Collegian Reporter

The end of the semester may have meant cramming for finals, staying up late and late-night doughnut runs for many K-Staters. But for others it meant filing a stolen book report with the K-State

Police and local bookstores. Richard Herrman, investigator for the campus police, said 31 thefts involving books were reported last semester. "Book thefts are not really a problem during the buying rush, but during (book) buy back," said Judy Lundberg, K-State Union Bookstore assistant manager.

The Union and Varney's Book Store are using a plan to identify stolen books and catch the thieves.

Last semester Varney's had 15 reports of stolen books filed, only two of which were turned in to the police.

"The hardest problem with catching book thieves is people can't remember anything distinctive about the book, and it makes it hard to track books," said Dan Walter, book department manager at Varney's.

Each book is given a number that corresponds to the person who sold it back. If the book is stolen and identifiable, the thief will be caught, Walter said.

'Students need to make the book identifiable - circling a page number in all books would help," he said. Walter said writing on the book cover or the binding decreases the book's value

The Union Bookstore has coin-operated lockers and backpack storage at the lower level entrance. Starting this semester the Union will have employees at both entrances to check in and check out backpacks,

Many books are stolen from the locker area outside the bookstore, Herrman said.

Battery charges filed against student

By Janette Poole Collegian Reporter

Riley County police said the driver of a motorcycle involved in a November collision with a police car has been formally charged with aggravated vehicular battery in the death of a passenger, 17-year-old Sandi Oaklief of Effingham.

Sean D. McDougal, freshman in business administration, was the driver of the motorcycle that collided with a Riley County Police Department car on Tuttle Creek Boulevard north of Manhattan. Oaklief was the passenger on McDougal's motorcycle.

McDougal faces the original charge of aggravated vehicular battery. Additional charges have also been filed citing speeding, reckless driving and attempting to flee and elude police, according to the Riley County attorney's office.

McDougal is scheduled to appear for his preliminary hearing at 1 p.m. today in Riley County District Court before Judge Paul Miller. McDougal may choose not to appear at the hearing, but he may enter his plea to the

At the time of the Nov. 11 accident, McDougal was being pursued for speeding by Riley County police. At about 4 p.m., he collided with a second police unit, driven by Officer Faye Hannes, who had parked across the roadway in an attempt to stop the motorcycle. Alvin Johnson, director of the Riley County police, said McDougal was traveling at estimated speeds of 100 miles per hour during the chase.

The collision threw both riders from the motorcycle and both were hospitalized. Oaklief died from severe head injuries at the St. Francis Hospital and Medical Center in Topeka at approximately 3 a.m. on Nov. 12.

McDougal was admitted to The St. Mary Hospital and released on Saturday, Nov. 12.

Reaction from RCPD concerning the accident, which will be reviewed by the Riley County Law Board, has been limited.

Johnson said the police department views the accident as due directly to the actions of the student operating the motorcycle. He did say the police department has reviewed methods to improve the way department policies are written.

Memorial rally in Topeka honors King

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA - Several hundred people, including Gov. Mike Hayden and state legislators, honored the memory of Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. at the Statehouse rally Wednesday.

About 400 people, including several hundred Topeka school children, marched from the Kansas Judicial Center across the street to the second floor of the Statehouse, where Hayden spoke.

"We owe a great deal to Martin Luther King," Hayden said. "He opened the eyes of this nation to the cause of civil rights and permanently changed each of our lives. In his memory we can not forget that this nation stands on the principle of equality for all."

The celebration, marking King's 60th birthday, was held early because lawmakers won't be in town on Monday, which is a federal and state holiday.

sas State University, told the gathering that King's legacy is that he instilled a mentality that everyone is

"He taught that no one, no one deserves to be mistreated because they were born black, white, male or female," Boyer said. "I've come James Boyer, a professor at Kan- from the back of the bus to the capital of Kansas ... That's a message that needs to be taught."

During the celebration, Hayden awarded the 1989 Martin Luther King Jr. Award to Grant Cushinberry of Topeka, who has received national recognition for his efforts to feed and cloth the needy.

Looking to save some money? Use a Collegian coupon.

New class to address black family issues

By Nancy Prosser Staff Writer

At a time when racial concerns seem to be resurfacing, the Department of Human Development and Family Studies is offering a new class that will address the concerns of blacks in society.

The Black Family will emphasize the development of an understanding of black culture and history as well as the stresses black families face.

"The class has a learning experience to offer both black and white students," said Sakinah Salahu-Din, instructor of human development and family studies. "It will give students a chance to learn about the economic, political and social status of blacks. It will explore the factors that have contributed to certain conditions that blacks are in today."

Airport

Manhattan, Kansas

OPEN EVERY

Flea Market

She said racism is an important issue that merits the attention of black and white people.

"The big thing that we will look at is racism," Salahu-Din said. "We will take a concentrated look at how racism has impacted on black families. Whites need to understand black history to understand black people and their culture."

She said that only recently have textbooks included black people.

"I can remember when I was a kid, Dick and Jane were both blondhaired, blue-eyed white kids," she said. "Blacks in history have not been recognized in classrooms for the contributions that they made, because they were excluded from textbooks, but I see that changing. A lot of that change has come about from the social action of the 60s."

Salahu-Din grew up in Miami, Fla., in a segregated community where she experienced many types of segregation between blacks and

"There was separation of everything, including schools, bathrooms, housing and even theaters," she said. 'Racism in the Midwest is different than in the South. In the Midwest, racism is more subtle, the South is more overt."

Salahu-Din said she expects to change the way students perceive the condition of black people in America from historical and contemporary perspectives.

"I hope that this class will change some attitudes," she said. "Some people look at us and still see people who are inferior. We need to keep the lines of communication open, and that is one of the goals of this class. "The class will be taught from a historical perspective, with the major portion devoted to contemporary black families." Guest speakers will also be invited to the class. The three-hour credit class is open to any student of junior standing or higher.

Remember 18 oz. Fishbowls

Enjoy smooth, creamy Frozen Yogurt that tastes like Ice Cream but with 80% less fat!

OPEN: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Daily Noon-11 p.m. Sundays Nautilus Towers-Aggieville

PERSONAL COMPUTERS Authorized Warranty Service also servicing · PC compatibles & printers · Televisions & VCRs MIDWEST

SERVICES 524 Tuttle Creek Blvd. Manhattan 913-776-6650

In appreciation for your patronage we are offering

$10 cut & style with coupon

Get a fantastic Winter tan 10 sessions for $26 with coupon

At Joli we guarantee our results. Expires 1-31-89 Not Valid with other offers 1106 Laramie-Aggieville 539-1177

·China·Crystal·Silver Stainless Steel •Gifts and Collectibles

Be a registered Bride at

Aggieville 539-1891

See us at the Manhattan Bridal Show Houston Street Ballroom Sunday, Feb. 5 at 1 p.m.

WEEKEND Sat. 8 a.m.-4 p.m. Sun. 10 a.m.-4 p.m. Household Goods, Tools, Collectables, Crafts, Furniture, Coins, Jewelry & Lots More Space available Ft. Riley Blvd. to Airport Rd., to Murray Rd., Right to Access Rd., Right to the Market. Watch for the signs. 532-6541 PRIDE CO. (913)776-6906

We have information on landlord-tenant relationships-leases, inventories, and roommate agreements; consumer credit; door-to-door sales, mail order fraud and much more.

SGA Office, Union Courtyard Call or drop in!

776-5577

Pizza Shuttle

"NO COUPON SPECIALS"

776-5577

rime Time Special 3-10 in. Pizzas 1—Topping 4—Cokes 10.00

FAST N FREE DELIVERY

Government

hooks make distant.

Every year the Government publishes thousands of books. And every year the U.S. Government Printing Office sells these books to the public. Now there's a book that tells you about the Government's new and popular publications-but it's not for sale . . . it's free!

It's our catalog of books-hundreds of books from virtually every Government agency. The subjects range from agriculture, business, children, and diet to science, space, transportation, and vacations. And there are titles on military history, education, hobbies, physical fitness, gardening, and much, much more! There's also a special section for recently published books.

For your free copy of this catalog, write-

Free Catalog

P.O. Box 37000 Washington DC 20013-7000

AHEARN TENNIS GRAND OPENING

FRIDAY, JAN. 13th, 8:00 p.m.

TWO EXHIBITION MATCHES

Featuring SIDNEY WOOD

Wood is the 1931 Wimbledon Singles Champion & former U.S. Davis Cup team member. He held #1 world ranking & has been inducted into the Tennis Hall of Fame.

Ernie Barrett

General Admission:

Former KSU Athletic Director who has the distinction of having not only played in the first basketball game in Aheam Field House, but the first tennis match as well

$3.00 for Adults

$1.00 for College Age & under

Fred Kovaleski Former World Class Player once ranked as high as #12. Mitch Holthus The "Voice of the Wildcats" will be chair umpire for the celebrity match. TICKETS: Available at Ahearn Ticket Office

For information regarding special reserve ticket packages which include hosted reception in Bramlage Coliseum "Legends Room" contact: KSU Tennis Office, 532-7198

Steve Miller

Dave Hoover

Tennis standout

Steve Bietau

Athletic Director of KSU

A former Kansas State

Head Coach of the KSU

Women's Tennis Team

Computers CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Computer and Telecommunications Activities.

The computer's memory is not large enough to handle the volume of activity that is being attempted, he said.

"We recently had a consulting team, EDUCOM, look at and make recomendations for the future of the University's computing activities at large," Gallagher said.

The team, of which K-State is a member, is an association of universities across the United States that supports educational computing. It has already returned the first of its three-part study, which comprises the observations and interviews of funds. personnel who use the computer systems on campus.

"The first part of the report was simply an agreement between the University and EDUCOM for an will come from reallocations. But appraisal of the problem," Gallagher said. "The remaining reports are due this month."

Provost James Coffman said administrators have been aware of the deficiencies of the University's computing systems for quite some time and have made plans to correct the problem.

"We have received EDUCOM's preliminary findings and are acting upon their recommendations," he said. "Beginning July 1, resources have been reallocated to increase funding for University computing."

Tom Schellhardt, assistant vice president for administration and finance, said present plans call for increasing the University computing resources with approximately $560,000 of new and reallocated

Plans include a mainframe computer upgrade and addition of a student finanical aid management system, Schellhardt said. Most of the funds $150,000 in new money is scheduled to come from this year's Margin of Excellence plan, if its funding is approved.

Foster said the mainframe's upgrade will add size and power, and enable the computer to process transactions faster. The Registrar's office staff plans also to work with the computer's programming to streamline it and eliminate any "glitches."

Two of the University's larger computer users, the KSU Alumni Association and the Office of Student Financial Assistance, were asked before this week to curtail their computing activities during registration in anticipation of the problems, Gallagher said.

"We thought the large volume of activity was going to slow down registration rather than causing this disastrous problem," he said.

The overload also forced students to wait in enrollment. Because the systems are connected, when the did the ones in the enrollment center at Farrell Library.

Closed class listings could not be published because of the enrollment back-up, Foster said.

"All the computers on this system are tied together, so when one stalls, it affects them all, no matter what (the computers) are doing," he said.

The University's computer system has three parts: the operations branch, which is used to process information; the applications program, used for the actual transactions; and a communications software package, which suffered the overload, he said.

"I have been periodically informed of the computer's activity throughout registration," Gallagher said. "This problem will cause us to review the whole situation and analyze the problem to determine how to alleviate the problem in the future.

"The recent problems with the computer will have us look at a host of other solutions." Gallagher said. Included in these solutions are the possibilities of conducting registration either over a longer period of time or by mail.

Assistant registrar Gunile Devault credited student employees of the registrar's, cashier's and financial aid offices with "grace under fire." It was the student employees who made the process go smoothly most of the time.

"Our student employees did an excellent job during registration, working under some difficult conditions," Devault said.

Veto

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Earlier Wednesday, U.S. diplomats said that the United States canceled plans for Navy fighters to hold aerial maneuvers near Libya next week.

During U.N. debate on Tuesday, Ambassador Ali A. Treiki of Libya computers at registration stalled, so told the council that the U.S. 6th Fleet informed Libya aviation authorities that more U.S. aerial maneuvers were planned near Libya on Jan. 16-17.

Treiki complained that the United States was being uncooperative and trying to provoke Libya.

Herbert S. Okun, the secondranking U.S. ambassador, told reporters on his way into the council chambers on Wednesday that the aviation notice given to Libya has been canceled.

Another U.S. Mission officer, John Kriendler, said the entire military maneuver was called off.

The United States has said regarding the Jan. 4 air encounter that the two Libyan MiG-23s were armed and closing in an attack approach on two U.S. warplanes on patrol with the U.S. Navy in international waters.

SCHOLARSHIP INFORMATION FOR STUDENTS WHO NEED MONEY FOR COLLEGE

Every Student is Eligible for Some Type of Financial Aid

- Regardless of Grades or Parental Income. ships, grants, and loans, representing over $10 billion in private sector funding.
- Many scholarships are given to students based on their academic interests, career plans, family heritage and place of residence.
- There's money available for students who have been newspaper carriers, grocery clerks, cheerleaders, non-smokers . . . etc. Results GUARANTEED.

CALL ANYTIME For A Free Brochure (800) 346-6401

Hear the Future Now . . .

KSDB DB

ALL MORNING, EVERY MORNING-JAZZ IN THE MORNING

OUALITY NATURAL FOODS

from your local co-op store Organic grains, flours, pastas, bulk herbs & spices, teas, coffee, nut butters, raw nuts, dried fruits, trail mix, cheeses, snack foods, health & beauty aids, vitamins and more.

OPEN TO THE PUBLIC 539-4811

People's Grocery Co-op 811 Colorado

Tonight Pitchers • Wells Kami Shots

No cover before 8 p.m.

1120 Moro • 18 To Enter-21 To Drink • 537-9511

Order your college ring NOW.

K-State Union Bookstore 10 a.m.-4 p.m., January 11, 12, 13, 16, 17

88

Recreational Services

INTRAMURAL MANAGERS' MEETING

Thursday, January 12-4 p.m. K-State Union Forum Hall All managers must attend!

Intramural Entry Deadline

Friday, January 13-5 p.m. Rec Service Office Basketball, Doubles: Handball, Racquetball and Table Tennis.

BASKETBALL OFFICIALS NEEDED

•THURSDAY, January 12 at 6:30 p.m. K-State Union Big 8 Room •TUESDAY, January 17 at 6:30 p.m. Rec Complex, Rec Gym •THURSDAY, January 19 at 6:30 p.m. K-State Union, Room 207

MANDATORY ATTENDANCE AT ALL MEETINGS!

Questions may be directed to Tom or Steve at 532-6980 or stop by the Recreational Services Office in the Rec Complex.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL COURT RESERVATIONS

January 9-19, 1989 Reservations are made by phone 532-6951.

AEROBICS

Sessions will resume on WEDNESDAY, Jan. 11 at the Rec Complex . . . 6:30 a.m. M. W. F 4:30 p.m. M-Th 5:30 p.m. M-Th

AQUA-FITNESS

AT THE POOLS ... 6:30 a.m. M, W, F 7:30 p.m. T. Th A Student ID (S9 validation) or Facility Use Card is required to ATTEND!

SPRING Semester entries are being accepted now. Come to the office (2nd floor, Rec Complex) for more information.

Locker & towel service available at Rec Complex, $7 per semester

Rec Services Office 532-6980 Rec Complex

Outdoor Rental Center Rec Check

532-6894

532-6000

Intramural Hotline 532-6292

201119 preak 89 with 95.3 the KAT and International Tours.

Ski the slopes of Steamboat Springs or tan on the beaches of Padre Island, FREE!

Listen to the KAT for sponsor locations and your chance to win round trip transportation, hotel accommodations, food, equipment, lift tickets and more.

Winners will be announced Feb. 14.

You can accompany 95.3 the KAT's DJs and vacation winners to Padre Island or Steamboat Springs. For more information about 95.3 the KAT and International Tours motorcoach reservations.

Call International Tours, 776-4756. DEADLINE FOR RESERVATIONS IS JANUARY 26. CALL TODAY!

537-7546

Texas judge postpones filing lawsuit

By The Associated Press

BROWNSVILLE, Texas - A judge Wednesday extended for three weeks the period in which Central American asylum-seekers can leave southern Texas, where an immigration policy was blamed for trapping hundreds in desperate conditions.

U.S. District Judge Filemon Vela postponed until Jan. 31 a hearing in a lawsuit filed last week against the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

The hearing had been scheduled for today, when a temporary restraining order against the INS policy was

The order issued Monday restored the right for asylum-seekers to travel to U.S. destinations while their cases are resolved, a right they will retain until the rescheduled hearing.

The order inspired an exodus of hundreds of Central Americans from the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

"It's something fine for us, because we can go be with our families, and here in the valley we don't have anybody," said Ana Rodriguez, a 23-year-old Honduran headed for Austin, where she has relatives.

The Dec. 16 INS policy under fire required asylum-seekers to stay close to the application center nearest their point of entry while their requests are considered. Many Central Americans enter the United States in southern Texas and file their requests at the busy center in Harlingen.

The policy left Rodriguez and other aliens unable to leave the area.

ClassAds Kedzie 103

CLASSIFIED RATES One day: 15 words or fewer, $2.50, 20 cents per word over 15; Two consecutive dates: 15 words or fewer, $3.50, 25 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.25, 30 cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 35 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $5.00, 40 cents per word over 15.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client an established account with Student Publications. Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon FRIDAY for Monday's paper.
Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the adver-

tiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not after the value of the ad. Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

Diaplay Classified Rates
One day: $5.20 per inch; Three consecutive days: $5.00 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.80 per inch; Ten consecutive days: $4.60 per inch. (Deadline is 4:30

p.m. two days before publication.)

Classified advertising is available only to those who do not disciminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex or ancestry.

Announcements

ACT NOWII Be an Intramural Basketball Official. There is nothing like first-hand experience. Be part of the solution, not part of the problem. Signed, Go For Iti

SO YOU'D LIKE US

HE'S REALLY DESPERATE. ALL HE'S HAD TO EAT FOR THE PAST FIVE WEEKS IS SEVEN CASES OF "BEENIE-

SEVEN CASES OF

TO GET HIM OUT, HUH?

BENNY HIL BATHROOM HUMOR SEAL OF

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs -skincare -glamor -nails -gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor, 539-2070. COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp 539-6193.

LET'S GOII Don't forget to attend the Intramural Manager's Meeting today at 4p.m. in Union Forum Hall. Basketball is our sport, and it's important that we be represented! Signed, Go For It!

WANTED—100 overweight people to try herbal weight control program. No drugs, no exercise. Doctor recommended. 100% guaranteed. 776-5114, 200, 2023.

The Word

is getting around . . .

CAMPUS CRUSADE FOR CHRIST

Meets Thursdays,

7 p.m. Throckmorton Room 131

2 Apartments—Furnished

BASEMENT STUDIO apartment for one person. Close to campus, washer/ dryer, no pets. $175, plus one-third utilities. Call evenings 539-6144.

FURNISH YOUR apartment affordably with furniture, TV and appliances from Homestead Rental. Three room groupings starting at only $55 monthly. Let Homestead Rental deliver your furniture today. 2332 Sky-Vue Lane. 537-8774.

NICE ONE-BEDROOM apartment, Water, trash, three fourths gas paid. Laundry facilities. Nice for graduate student or couple. $265, 539-2482 after 4p.m. ONE TWO-BEDROOM furnished apartment for sub-lease at Anderson Place. Call 539-1222.

SLEEPING ROOM: Furnished, private bath, cable TV. Looking for mature student to rent room for $150, bills paid. 776-3333, after 5:30p.m.

TWO-BEDROOM IN quiet, modern adult complex near campus. Paid heat, laundry, carport, patio. $335. Available now. Minimum year lease. No smoking, pets, waterbeds. 537-9686.

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

FOR RENT: Three-bedroom apartment. One block south of campus. Very reasonable rates. Call Bill at 776-9087.

NICE LARGE two-bedroom apartment, $350 per month.

NICE, ONE-BEDROOM two blocks from campus. $260 includes all utilities, 537-4851 after 4p.m.

ONE-BEDROOM, NEWLY renovated, $250/ month unfurnished, close to campus, sublease. 776-2018 (Pete). Available starting next week.

ONE-BEDROOM, SECOND floor located 814 Leavenworth, $175/ month plus utilities. Available now

TWO-BEDROOM, MOST utilities paid. 539-6058 or

4 Automobiles for Sale

1974 VW, new brake system, new battery, good tires, $800, 776-7363.

1977 MONTE Carlo. Fully loaded with sunroof. $1,150

ATTENTION- GOVERNMENT seized vehicles from $100. Fords, Mercedes, Corvettes, Chevys. Surp-lus Buyers Guide. 1-602-838-8885 ext. A1797. CAN YOU buy jeeps, cars, 4x4s seized in drug raids for under $100? Call for facts today. (602)837-3401 ext 744.

7 Child Care

LICENSED DAY Care Home toddler opening, Marlatt area, hot meals and activities. Call 776-4425 after

8 Computers

AT&T 6300 512K, $750 or best offer. Software included

LAPTOP DATA General Model 2, modern, coprocessor, 512K, HP Think Jet Printer, carrying case. 512K, HP 1-238-4998, County By Berke Breathed

Bloom

By Jim Davis

5 Sort

reply

13 Agnus

18 Noted

prison 20 Fiery gem 22 Suggest

29 Cut off

31 Lupino

et al.

Simone agreed

ance unit

32 Jose or

Juan 33 On

34 Salt.

35 Resist

36 Fully

French

30 Old

Peanuts

Dear Spike, I have been asked

9 Employment

LINE PRINTER ribbons for sale- Black multistrike no. QM MS (4½ dozen), $1.25 each. Black nylon no. QM NY (15), $2.25 each. Call 532-6555 or come by

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of

$10- $660 weekly/ up mailing circulars! Rush self-addressed stamped envelope: Dept. AN-7CC-CU, 9300 Wilshire, Suite 470, Beverly Hills, CA 90212.

ATTENTION— HIRINGI Government jobs— your area. $17,840-$69,485. Call 1-602-838-8885 ext R1797.

COOKS WANTED. Learn the right way, excellent working conditions and benefits. Call 539-2651 for appointment.

CRUISE SHIPS jobs. Now hiring men and women. Summer and career oor runities. Excellent pay plus world travel. Hawaii, Baharnas, Caribbean, etc. Call nowl (206)736-7000 ext 326C.

EARLY CHILDHOOD Assistant teacher, part-time Monday, Wednesday, Friday, 11.a.m. to 1p.m. and it possible, Monday, Wednesday, Friday, 4:15-5:15p.m. Requirements: High school diploma or equivalent and experience working with groups of children. Please apply to Marsha Tannehill, Seven Dolors Childcare Preschool, 728 Colorado (Eighth and Colorado) by Jan. 20.

EXPANDING FIRM seeks motivated part-time program-mers. C-language experience preferred. Contact ICADA Technologies, Inc. (537-2864) before

GUARANTEED MEGABUCK$. Selling jewelry, manu-facturer wants saleswomen. Below wholesale prices, higher profits for you$$$, information? 776-5545. MCDONALD'S AT 815 N. Third is accepting applica-tions for all day parts. They will be taken at your convenience. Please apply in person, no phone calls, please.

OFFICE ASSISTANT needed. Student position available for Monday through Friday afternoons in a fast paced office. Applicant must be able to type 40 wpm, communicate well with people, have good attention to detail and work well with distractions. Knowledge of Food Service and personal computers is desired. Ability to acquire a Food Handler's Card is a must. Starting salary $3.65/ hour. Offers excellent practical experience in business. Bring your spring semester schedule and apply now at the Food Service Office on first floor of the K-State Union. Applications will be accepted through

OVERSEAS JOBS. $900- $2,000 month. Summer, year-round, all countries, all fields, free information. Write IJC, P.O. Box 52-KSr.2, Corona Del Mar, CA

PART-TIME SALES person needed to work weekends for local fur-flure store. Please send resumes to Box 3, c/o The Collegian, Kedzie 103, KSU, Manhattan, KS 66506.

PART-TIME HELP wanted. 15-20 hours a week. No experience necessary. Call 537-9188 or apply at 220 Levee Drive.

PART-TIME CUSTODIAN at First Lutheran Church 10th and Poyntz. Apply at church office, 9a.m. noon, 1- 4p.m. weekdays. Deadline Jan. 19.

SCHOOL BUS drivers needed. $4.75 per hour, must be 21 years of age, have a good driving record and complete a training program. Bus driving experience not required. Part-time, 6:30-8:30a.m. and 2:40-4:30p.m. Job description available. Apply to USD 383, 2031 Poyntz Ave., Manhattan, KS 66502. (913)537-2400. EOE.

HELP WANTED!

Now accepting applications for full- and parttime help. Please call 776-4117 for interview

> DAIRY QUEEN 1015 N. 3rd, ask for Mr. Frye

STUDENT ASSISTANT needed for routine library tasks. Must be available Monday, Wednesday, Friday, 11a.m. to 1p.m. Vet Medical Library, fourth floor Trotter Hall. EOE.

per week. Will deliver printouts around campus, work with on-line JCL, computer tapes, and peripheral equipment. Typing skills necessary. Some evening and weekend hours will be required. Need to be available to work during school breaks. Students with two years or more employment potential preferred. Applications accepted through 5p.m., Jan. 13 in room 2B, Farrell Library. Contact

STUDENT HELP for general labor, $4/ hour. Prefer students able to work four-hour morning blocks. Apply in person in payroll office, 117 Dykstra Hall. Apply by Jan. 19.

SUMMER JOBS outdoors. Over 5,000 openings! National parks, forests, fire crews. Send stamp for free details. 113 E. Wyoming, Kalispell, MT 59901. VISTA DRIVE In is now taking applications for full- and part-time help. Must be able to work some noon shifts. Apply in person. WORK-STUDY STUDENT preferred to work in dairy sales counter, Call Hall, Contact Harold Roberts, room 130, Call Hall, or call 532-5654.

13 Houses/Mobile Homes for Sale

ATTENTION- GOVERNMENT homes from $1 (You repair). Delinquent tax property. Repossessions. Call (602)838-8885 ext GH1797.

14 Lost and Found

FOUND: BLACK puppy with white markings on campus. Call 532-4542, or evenings 776-2456.

15 Miscellaneous Merchandise

Men's Basketball Sat. Jan. 21

K-STATE VS.

NEBRASKA

$23 package includes *Roundtrip motor coach transportation

*Game Ticket

★Pregame Activity

Classic Travel & Tours

104 S. 4th

SUN NO

Back to School Special

5 sessions $12.50 10 sessions $25.00 Buy NOW and SAVE!

Manhattan's Largest Tanning Salon 1126 Laramie 776-2426

OMESTEAD RENTAL

-Home-owned/Home-operated-

Manhattan's Complete Home Furnishings Rental Headquarters Furniture - TV - Appliances

· Low monthly rental rates 1- or 2-bedroom apt. groupings

Month to month leases

· Rent-to-own options 2332 Sky-Vue Lane

537-8774 SPRING BREAK 09 SOUTH PADRE ISLAND 100 $149

$213

10m $118

STEAMBOAT SHADOW RUN/OVERLO 5 OR 7 NIGHTS DAYTONA BEACH TEXAN HOTEL 7 MIGHTS

MUSTANG ISLAND PORT ROYAL CONDOS 5 OR 7 MIGHTS , $136

, $107 DON'T WAIT 'TIL IT'S TOO LATE! 1-800-321-5911 STEEPS.

ling on break dates and length of sta DJ SYSTEM. Mixer, equalizer, amplifier and base speakers with stands. Sansul receiver and speak-ers. 776-7689.

FOR SALE: Dining table and chairs. Call 537-2970 from 7:30p.m. on.

18 Personals

SKI BUMS Deanna, Brendon, Karen— Who am I? I'm a die heart! What movie? Watch for Apollo the Warhawki All the rage was great and so were the fuzzy... thank God for bodas! How 'bout those 10¢ waters. It's not worth pulling your ticket. Slow down! Leslie. CONGRATULATIONS, GEORGEI Just 30 years ago today you graduated from the North of Taxidermyll Wow.

HOUSY BABY— Bet you weren't expecting this, but I'm having your baby! Congratulations, Daddy! xxxxxxx

20 Professional Services

"Manhattan's Classiest Salon"

Call

Christin or Jill

CONNECTION 776-7874

Graphics Plus

722 N. Manhattan • Aggieville • 539-6027 PREGNANT? BIT (HRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confluential. Call 537-9180. 103 South Fourth St., Suite 25.

PROMPT ABORTION and contraceptive services in Lawrence. (913)841-5716.

WEDDING PHOTOGRAPHY doesn't have to cost a fortune. Let me show you my portfolio and informa-tion packet. Call Brad Fanshler, 776-3785 or

23 Roommate Wanted

CHEAP, CLOSE, Luxury furnished house, private bedroom, air conditioning, free cable Showtime telephone, parking, now. 537-1388.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to share two-bedroom apartment close to campus. $100/ month, one-third utilities. Call Nanette, 537-1623.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted. $155 a month plus utilities. NEED: FEMALE to take over lease. Modern facilities, laundry in complex, low utilities, close to campus. $133 plus utilities. 776-7913.

NICE APARTMENT. Just across from campus. Call, stop by. $150/ month, 927 Denison #4, 537-3803. NON-SMOKING FEMALE, own room, 1026 Osage. ONE- TWO non-smoking females to share farmhouse.

Prefer Veterinary or Animal Science majors. Free stall and pasture for horse, cow or dog. Cable, firewood, beef and eggs furnished. P.O. Box 1211, ROOMMATE WANTED for two-story house with hard-wood floors and bannister. Beautiful. 776-0553/ 1-492-3166.

ROOMMATE WANTED-Clean, responsible person to share house, $175 a month plus one-half utilities Call Lisa 776-3607.

ROOMMATE NEEDED to share two-bedroom apart-SHARE A house. Own room plus use of kitchen, living area and all utilities. $95 a month for rent. Call 539-0356 to inquire.

26 Sublease

NICELY FURNISHED, $150 deposit, $300 monthly one-half block from campus. Leave message 539-8961, Negotiable, SUBLEASE AVAILABLE January- May. One-bed basement one block from campus. $175. (913)367-4757 evenings.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT to sublease. Contract ends May 31. Across campus, leave message at 539-2971.

28 Wanted

FOR SALE: Two KSU-KU basketball tickets. 532-2093. KU/K-State basketball tickets. 539-6914, ask for

WANTED: KU/ K-State basketball tickets. 539-6128. WANTED TO buy, two or four KU/KSU men's b-ball tickets, Call after 5:30p.m. evenings, 537-3793.

29 Plane Tickets

TWO ROUNDTRIP tickets to Chicago leaving Friday returning Monday, $45. Call 776-3095.

Crossword

About -

(movie)

53 Envisioned

Easy gait

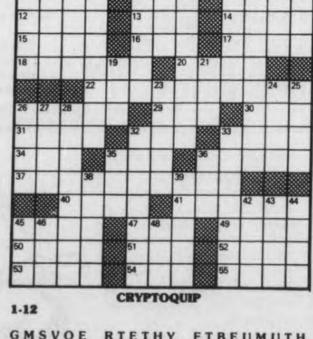

By Eugene Sheffer

37 Battle 21 Fizzy DOWN ACROSS 1 Magnet 1 Hemingcry, of drink 23 Andean way a sort 40 Bit monicker 24 Hands-up 8 Sing a 41 Evolution 2 Leave out la Ella 3 Spring link time period 4 Lures 25 Swindle 12 Church 45 Skunk's defense 26 CD, 5 Perfect 47 Fall for 14 Saga 15 Milk buy 6 Jamie behind Curtis 27 Brain-49 Irritate 50 Deceptive 7 Bomb unit 16 Slippery 28 Circus 8 Energy 17 Vitality 51 "All source organ 9 Moon of

GVH IMATN KOSVHLEY BLYK

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: AT DAWN, THE GUNG-HO DEER HUNTER FAWNS ON THE FOREST RANGER.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: B equals W

GMSVOE RTETHY FTBEUMUTH

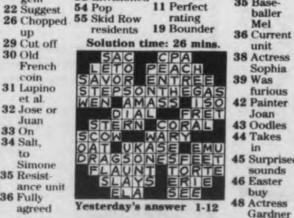

RHN BLY

shallow firmly

45 Surprised sounds

Jupiter

10 In the man ner of

Welcome Back To The K-State Union

The K-State Union welcomes you back to another eventful semester!

BOOKS! BOOKS! BOOKS!

The rush is on! Come to the Bookstore for all your back-to-school needs. New and used text books are available at reasonable prices. The Bookstore also has a wide variety of supplies and general merchandise required for your academic needs, computers, stationary, gift items, K-State souvenirs, t-shirts and sweat shirts, fiction and non-fiction reading material, children's literature, cookbooks, calendars, magazines, and a complete line of art, architecture and engineering equipment. If they don't have it, they can get it for you!

WILDCAT CARD

Have you ever been in line to pay for your lunch, and realized you left your cash at home? Or, have you ever gone to photocopy your project and discovered it costs just a little more than you had anticipated, and you don't have quite enough money to coverthe expense? Don't get caught empty handed! Get a Wildcat Card from the Wildcat Card Window at the K-State Union.

The Wildcat Card can be used to purchase books, school supplies, food, movie tickets, bowling, billiards, pho-tocopies, snack items, film developing...just about anything the K-State Union offers! And right now, if you deposit $175 or more into your new or existing account, you will receive a booklet full of valuable moneysaving K-State Union coupons!

GOURMET COFFEE

Try something new in the morning and sample the new gourmet coffee available in the Stateroom at the K-State Union. Choose from Irish Creme, Bavarian Chocolate, Kona Blend and French Roast Decaf Cof-

LEAGUES

Sign-ups are underway for Spring Semester Leagues at the Recreation Area. There are still openings for men's, women's and mixed Bowling Leagues for teams or individuals. Billiard Leagues are also available for both men and women. The Recreation Area also has Rent-A-Lane, Table Tennis, Foosball, Video games, a snack area, fresh hot nachos, fountain drinks and a large screen TV. Stop by today...for the fun

SPRING BREAK

Spend Spring Break at the new college hot spot...Panama City Spend Spring Break at the new college hot spot...Panama City Beach, Florida. The trip will take place March 10th through the 18th, and costs $178-$255 per person. This package includes 7 nights premier beachfront condominium accommodations, 8 beach parties at the world famous Spinnaker Beach Club, 8 poolside parties at the fabulous Miracle Mile Resort, team and 2-person beach volleyball tournaments with prizes and 2 evening poolside barbecues at the Miracle Mile Resort, for $255 includes transportation. for $255, includes transportation. Drive yourself for only $178.

EXPRESS

Express Yourself! Ride the K-State Union Express to and from Bramlage Coliseum to see the men's basketball team in action. Express tickets are free to you on game day with a purchase of $1 or more at the K-State Union. Just ask any K-State Union cashier for your Express ticket.

The Express shuttle will begin approximately 1 hour before each game. So, walk to the K-State Union, or park your car in the K-State Union parking lot, and leave the driving to us!

FOOD 'N FLICKS

Looking for something to do on a Friday night? Come to the K-State Union for a great meal and a great film for one great price! "Friday Food 'n Flicks" begins January 13th with all-you-can-eat spaghetti, garlic bread, dinner salad and dessert, and the movie "Big Top Pee Wee," all for the low price of $4.99.

The buffet is from 5:30 to 7:00 p.m. at the Bluemont Room, 2nd floor of the K-State Union, and the movie begins at 7:00 p.m.

Spring Semester '89 Film Calendars and Film Cards are available free at the K-State Union.

COPIES

Be sure to take advantage of the many services the Copy Center has for you. They include red or black ink copying, cutting, folding, enlargements and reductions, diazo blueline, blackline, brownline and sepia printing, laminating, binding, buttons, Zenith Computer with letter quality printer, and free typewriters. They also have a large selection of quality papers in a wide variety of stocks and colors, ranging in sizes up to 11"x17".

BIRTHDAY CAKES

Let us bake a Birthday Cake for you! The K-State Union Food Service Bakery will bake a white cake with white frosting, with "Happy Birthday that special birthday person. The cost is $7 for a quarter sheetcake. Simply stop by the Food Service Office and fill out the form. The Birthday Cake will be ready for pick up on weekdays at the

LEADERSHIP

Get involved and have fun at the same time by becoming a part of the Union Program Council. Applications and information for UPC Committee Chairperson positions will be available beginning January 18th in the UPC Activities Center. Applications are due by 4 p.m. on February 3rd.

Successful candidates will be selected after interviewing on February 5th. Previous UPC experience is helpful, but not required to hold a leadership position. Chairpersons are needed for UPC President, UPC Arts, UPC Eclectic Entertainment, UPC Issues & Ideas, UPC Kaleidoscope Films, UPC Feature Films, UPC Travel, UPC Promotions, UPC Special Events, and UPC Outdoor Recreation. For more information, stop by the Activities Center or call 532-6571.

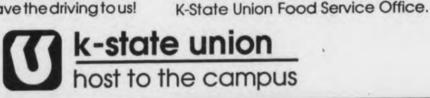

WILLIE MUGS

Get your "Willies" at the K-State Union! 12 oz. Wee Willie insulated mugs for $1.50, 24 oz. Wild Willie insulated mugs for $2.50 and Squeeze Bottle Willies for $1.50 are available at the Food Service and Recreation Area counters. Bring them back to the Union and get refills for a fraction of the price of the mug!

INTERNATIONAL I.D.'S

Traveling abroad? Get your International Student I.D. Card and receive incredibly low student air fares, accident-medical insurance and countless discounts on travel, cultural events, accommodations and more! Only $10 and good through December 1989.

Purchase your International Student. I.D. Card in the K-State Union Activities Center, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

SNOW CREEK SKIING JANUARY 28

Enjoy 12 glistening trails at Snow Creek Ski Resort located in nearby Weston, Missouri. The trip includes roundtrip transportation plus boots, ski equipment and lift tickets. Experience Missouri skiing for only $41 ($31 with your own equipment.)

INFO MEETING: TUES, JAN 17, 7 P.M., K-STATE UNION ROOM 206 SIGN-UP BEGINS WED, JAN 18, K-STATE UNION ACTIVITIES CENTER, 8 A.M.-4 P.M.

k-state union

Cassondra Redmond

(() k-state union

The Politics of Passive Resistance:

A Panel Discussion on Gandhi and Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

(This program is in conjunction with other activities honoring Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. the week of Jan. 16)

TUESDAY - JANUARY 17 K-STATE UNION COURTYARD NOON

Wik-state union

In honor of Martin Luther King week, all showings of the film "Gandhi" are free and open to the public.

WED., JAN 18, 7:30 P.M., K-STATE UNION FORUM HALL; THURS., JAN 19, 3:30 P.M., K-STATE UNION LITTLE THEATRE; 7:30 P.M., K-STATE UNION FORUM HALL

Wk-state union

Historical Opening

The Kansas Museum of History in Topeka will open its final wing tomorrow. Celebrations are planned for the grand opening. See page 7.

Weather

Mostly sunny today, high in mid-40s. Light and variable winds. Increasing cloudiness tonight with a 30 percent chance for light freezing rain late, low in mid- to upper 20s.

The 16th-ranked Jayl is will visit Bramlage Coliseum for the first time tomorrow for K-State's Big Eight Conference season opener. See page 9.

visional years Property 5 17 41800

Friday

January 13, 1989

Kansas State University Manhattan, Kansas 66506 Volume 95, Number 78

Kansas State Collegian

Faculty set issues

Extending finals week to be considered by senate

Editor's Note: This is the final installment of a three-part series previewing upcoming government issues at state and university levels.

By Kendra Gensemer Government Editor

Faculty Senate addresses issues that affect both students and faculty. Senate members said four important issues face the senate this semester: a possible extension of finals week, a review of the student grievance poli-

Issues '89

Faculty Senate

- Finals week extension
- Student grievance policy
- Instructor lecturer position
- Combining Grievance Board with Discrimination Review Board

cy, possible formation of a faculty "lecturer" position and the proposed combining of Faculty Grievance Board with Discrimination Review Board

Extension of finals week Last semester, Faculty Senate's

By Brian Hummell

Campus Editor

bers will be finishing watching the men's home basketball season in chairback seats, said Carol Adolph, for the intercollegiate athletic office, said the change came about because students standing in section 19 blocked the view of the faculty and staff members who were sitting in the (faculty and staff) sitting in section

18, which was the group most directly affected," Epps said. "There were two options given. They could receive a refund for the remaining games or they could move to other parts of the arena for an unobstructed refunds for the remaining games, while others were moved to the upper rows of sections three and nine.

Those two sections are the outside border of the chairback seating, which is reserved for major contributors to the KSU Athletic Department.

"This is just for the rest of the

"As a good faith effort we decided

Adolph said two people accepted view.'

year," she said.

upper third of section 18.

Jim Epps, administrative assistant ticket office manager.

About 65 faculty and staff mem-

Some faculty seating changed in Bramlage

There was an offer made to of the damage done, nor is it so

Academic Affairs Committee approved a "mock schedule" that extends finals week from five to seven days, said Wayne Nafziger, chairman of the committee.

He said the idea behind the change is to allow students more study time for each exam.

Beginning in the fall of 1990, the proposed calendar would reschedule final exams for Thursday and Friday, allow "reading days" on Saturday and Sunday, and continue finals Monday through Friday of the next week. Fall 1990 finals week is currently scheduled for the week of Dec.

The committee has also proposed an extended schedule for the spring semester of 1991.

"With these (new schedules) it is possible to have final exams 10 minutes longer with a break of 30 minutes between each exam," Nafziger said.

Senate will not address this issue until its Feb. 14 meeting.

The proposed schedule cannot become effective earlier because of procedural rules that must be observed, including publication of the schedule changes, Nafziger said.

"We wanted faculty members, as well as students, to discuss this as to to offer (chairback seats) to those disenchanted fans from section 18,"

Epps said. "We'll start talking about some kind of a reconfiguration of the seating at the end of the season."

during games has had another side

some benches bent during Midnight

Madness due to people standing or jumping on them," said Charles Thomas, director of Bramlage Coliseum.

severe that the benches need to be replaced, he said. The benches are Student Senate meeting and asking the students not to stand on the benches. I don't mind if they stand -

I don't want to get into that - just so

Epps said the athletic department will continue to make public address announcements asking fans not to stand for long periods of time and not Epps said. "We just have to appeal to their sense of decency. We're not

"I don't think coercion will work," to stand on the benches.

going to resort to threats."

long as it's not on the benches," Tho-

"I'm planning on going to the first made of aluminum.

There are no estimates for the cost

The tradition of students standing

"It wasn't a lot, but there were

■ See FACULTY, Page 14

or an air traffic control system, pilots must rely on each other for air pilots with current weather conditions and altimeter readings

Because Manhattan Municipal Airport doesn't have a control tower traffic control. An advisory service does operate, but only provides

Pilots: Airport 'dangerous

By Audra Dietz

Some pilots say flying into Manhattan can be hazardous because the Manhattan Municipal Airport doesn't have a control tower or a traffic control system.

"Some flyers avoid Manhattan because they feel it is a dangerous area to fly into," said pilot Jack Graber of Manhattan. He is the chief pilot for Farm Bureau Insurance.

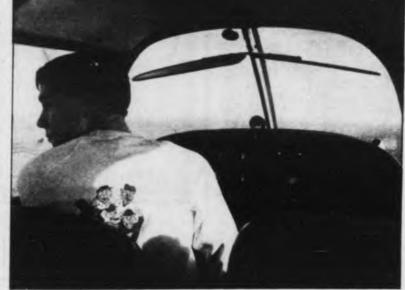

Graber said the airport needs a traffic control tower to eliminate confusion.

"A tower could give pilots immediate touch-down clearance, solve traffic conflicts and provide more accurate weather reports," he

The Federal Aviation Administration removed the airport's Flight Service System on July 2 and replaced it with an automated advisory system based in Wichita. With the automated system, pilots can get weather briefings but not landing or takeoff clearance for the Manhattan's airport does provide a temporary advisory system, but pilots still must rely on each other for air traffic control. The ground-based advisory service provided by Capitol Air Lines gives pilots only current weather conditions and altimeter readings to set flight altitudes.

The previous Flight Service System conducted traffic separations, a service which the advisory service cannot provide, said Airport Manager John Wallerstedt. Graber said other pilots have to look out for each other.

Staff/Greg Vogel

Graham Dorian, junior in business administration, pilots the K-State Flying Club's plane Thursday morning near Manhattan.

"Pilots have to radio each other to find out traffic information," he said. "The advisory service can't see other air traffic and doesn't have a full view of the runway."

The advisory service office is located in the airport terminal. Landing planes must approach the runway from the south because of Fort Riley's restricted airspace boundaries. One window in the office faces north and one northwest, thus limiting the operators' view of the runway. One person operates the advisory system from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. five days a week. The station often goes unmanned, leaving pilots without radio ground contacts, Graber said.

Since advisory station operators don't control air traffic, they don't have to be licensed by the FAA. "Anyone could get a job there.

There is no training program required to run the advisory service," Graber said.

When the airport operated under a Flight Service System, all workers had to complete an air traffic training program with the FAA and were federal employees.

The absence of the Flight Service System is causing congestion in Manhattan's airspace because pilots can talk on only one radio frequency. Under Flight Service, two frequencies were used.

"It's so confusing. Many pilots have had some close calls because they were trying to use the old frequency," said professional pilot Graham Dorian, junior in business administration.

Some pilots have called for flight information on the old frequency and could not get an answer because they did not know the new frequency was the only one now being used, he said.

Also, advisory system operators don't always give accurate barometer readings, and pilots can't set their altimeters correctly, Dorian said.

If a barometric reading is off by just one-tenth, he said, a pilot could fly at least 100 feet too low or too high and that can be dangerous in a landing approach.

"Sometimes, the advisory operators don't give the current barometer (atmospheric pressure) readings, and that causes problems," he said.

Dorian said he was given an old barometer reading once, but luckily, he rechecked it in time to set a new altitude.

When the Flight Service was removed and the advisory service took over, pilots had to use a new radio frequency to make contact with the advisory. Some pilots were not aware of the change and it caused temporary confusion, said

■ See AIRPORT, Page 10

begin week of commemoration Candlelight

By Chris Koger Staff Write

A candlelight vigil Monday, in memory of Martin Luther King Jr., will begin a week of University events honoring the slain civil rights

The fourth annual vigil march, sponsored by Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity, will begin at 5:15 p.m. Monday by Waters Hall and proceed to All-Faiths Chapel. President Jon Wefald and Diana Caldwell, of the minority affairs office, will speak briefly following the march.

Willie Washington, senior in electrical engineering and secretary of Aipha Phi, said the march is "done by students, for students."

'We want students to be aware of this event, because it is for them," he said. "A lot of people have been expressing an interest in speaking at the event, and it looks like a lot of people want to be involved." Caldwell said she thinks more people are becoming involved in the vigil every year. 'We are becoming accustomed to this ceremony, and people look forward to it," she said. "The more we have events like this, the more we can raise awareness of important issues within the student body."

Following the vigil, there will be an open discussion about King.

"We want students to express what Martin Luther King means to them," Washington said.

Veryl Switzer, co-chairman of the planning committee for the week's events, said he hopes there will be broad participation in the events from non-minority as well as minority students.

"This is not a minority program is for the total University. It is essential that everyone participates in the activities," he said. "This is the only chance some students will get to participate in something like this.

"If we don't get the students' attention, then we have failed our purpose.

The United Black Voices will perform at the vigil, as well as during halftime of the K-State vs. Southern Utah State University basketball game scheduled for Monday night at Bramlage Coliseum. A panel discussion on "The Politics of Passive Resistance: Gandhi and Martin Luther King Jr." will be conducted at noon Tuesday in the Union Courtyard. A pre-convocation forum at 7:30 p.m. in Union 212 will feature K-State faculty in a panel discussion about events in South Africa.

Also on Tuesday, a seminar on black families and institutions will focus on how organizations impact black families. Representatives from welfare offices, churches and educational institutions will be at the seminar at 4:30 p.m. in Justin Hall.

Michael Holen, associate dean of education, will receive the K-State Presidential Award for Distinguished Service to Minority Education in a reception at 4 p.m. Wednesday in the Union Cottonwood Room.

Antonia Pigno, chairwoman for the committee that selects the recipient of the award each year, said Holen has been involved in instituting new programs for minority graduate students since he came to K-State in 1971.

Randall Robinson, executive director of the Trans-Africa Black Robinson will be at 11:30 a.m.

American lobby for Africa and the Caribbean, will deliver the Martin Luther King Jr. Convocation Lecture at 10:30 a.m. Thursday in McCain Auditorium. Robinson's lecture is titled "Let Freedom Ring: Human Rights in South Africa."

Switzer said Robinson was chosen to speak because of the topic's importance.

The Robinson lecture, as well as the other events throughout the week, will provide students the chance to participate in a program that is an important learning experience," he said.

A post-convocation luncheon with

Soviets say reforms 'skidding'

MOSCOW - The Communist Party on Thursday unveiled a campaign platform that promises a higher Soviet standard of living but acknowledges that some of President Mikhail S. Gorbachev's reforms are "skidding."

Nearly four years after launching an ambitious modernization program to raise living standards and open its long-closed society to public scrutiny, the party said, "The economy has not yet begun to operate in a new way. People have not yet come to feel fully the results of restructuring."

The expectations raised by perestroika, Gorbachev's reform program, are far from being met, the platform said. "Progress in some areas, including the social sphere, is skidding."

The platform was adopted by the Central Committee at a plenary meeting on Tuesday and published in full by Tass on

At the same meeting, the leadership picked Gorbachev and 99 other top officials of the ruling party to run for election to the party's 100 seats in the Congress of People's Deputies. Despite a new election law allowing "an unlimited number of candidates" to participate in the March 26 election, the move guaranteed the top Communist leaders uncontested seats in the new 2,250-member parliament, which will elect the nation's president and a full-time legislature.

... Around the nation

Surfers banned from parking

PALM BEACH, Fla. - Lawn mowing is banned on Sundays, noisy tennis ball machines are outlawed in the mornings and hanging laundry outside is strictly forbidden.

So it's no surprise that surfers are unwelcome in this posh seaside town.

"These are very undesirable people coming into town," said resident Alan Beal.

After hearing his arguments, the City Council voted Tuesday to ban parking along a street used by many out-of-town swimmers and surfers accused of littering, trespassing and disturbing the peace. Two other streets already have similar parking bans for non-residents.

The ban takes effect after signs are posted in several weeks. Police Chief Joseph Terlizzese said on an average weekend his officers make 10 arrests and issue 35 to 40 parking tickets in the 12-block area where most of the problems have occurred.

QUALITY NATURAL FOODS

from your local co-op store

People's Grocery Co-op

811 Colorado

Going Out of Business

20-75% off Everything

Trains, Rockets, Puzzles and many, many more*

Everything Must Go (fixtures included)

Manhattan Kobbies & Tous

"Legos, Construx, Fisher-Price, Stuffed Animals, Models

TO THE

PUBLIC

539-4811

Organic grains, flours, pastas, bulk herbs &

spices, teas, coffee, nut butters, raw nuts,

dried fruits, trail mix, cheeses, snack foods, health & beauty aids, vitamins and more.

School gives students home

HOUSTON - Public school officials, concerned that students may be living on the streets, opened homeless shelters in two Houston schools Thursday so needy pupils can get beds, show-

A 12-year-old girl who had been sleeping under an abandoned house was the first of six children to enter the shelters,

"We didn't discuss anything with the child when she came in," said school board President Melody Ellis. "Right now she's playing checkers with one of the administrators. We just tried to give her encouragement and let her play."

The shelters will remain open nightly until at least Jan. 20, when the superintendent the Houston Independent School District will recommend to the school board that the program be continued or modified. Within an hour of opening, six children arrived at the shelters, and Ellis said another young boy who showed up at one of the campuses left before entering, apparently because of television cameras nearby.

"It is drizzling outside and it is extremely cold, and I would really like for these children to come in," Ellis said when asking reporters to leave the area. Temperatures were in the low 40s Thursday night.

Man arrested for conspiracy

NEWARK, N.J. - A Korean-American businessman was arrested Thursday in an alleged international conspiracy to buy nerve-gas bombs for export from the United States, possibly to Iran, officials said.

Juwhan Yun, 48, of Short Hills, was accused in a federal complaint of conspiring to violate the Arms Export Control Act by seeking to ship the gas sarin, which attacks the central nervous system causing convulsions and death.

"It was a wide-ranging, trans-Atlantic conspiracy," said First Assistant U.S. Attorney Michael Chertoff.

The arrest came the same day the West German government reversed itself and said it suspected that West German companies helped build a Libyan plant that the United States believes is for manufacturing chemical weapons.

The turnaround followed the arrest Wednesday night of a Belgian shipper tied to the case and confirmation by Libya that West German firms aided the project. Libya says the plant is for producing medicine.

In the New Jersey case, Chertoff added that at one point in the dealings with Yun, the purported destination was Iran but that this had not been verified.

Yun negotiated with an undercover customs agent posing as an arms dealer to buy 500 quarter-ton bombs that use sarin, said Richard Mercier, special agent in charge of the U.S. Customs Service's office in Newark.

Campus Bulletin

TODAY

INTER-VARSITY CHRISTIAN FEL-LOWSHIP will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the UCM building at 1021 Denison Ave.

K-STATE PLAYERS will have auditions for "The Rover" and "As Is" from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. in Nichols Theatre lobby.

SATURDAY

INDIA STUDENTS ASSOCIATION will meet at 7 p.m. in the Union Little Theatre. The Hindi feature film "Namak Haraam" will be shown.

SUNDAY

STUDENT ALUMNI BOARD will meet at 9 p.m. in Union 213.

GYMNASTICS CLUB will meet at 7 p.m. in Natatorium 4 in Aheam Field House. MONDAY

BLUE KEY will meet at 6 p.m. in the Director's Conference room of the Union.

K-State Police

Wednesday

- A student parking permit was reported lost in an unknown vicinity.
- Two student parking permits were reported lost off campus.
- A student parking permit was reported lost on campus.
- A wallet and contents worth
- $40 were reported lost.
- A non-injury, hit-and-run accident occurred in lot A-29. Damage was less than $500.
- Thursday ■ A student parking permit was hower Hall. Loss was $475.

reported stolen off campus.

- A wheel lock was placed on a white Dodge parked in lot A-30. Lock was later removed.
- A non-injury, hit-and-run accident occurred in lot A-17W. Damage was less than $500.
- A white Mustang parked in lot A-12 was towed to Manhattan
- Wrecker. A student parking permit was
- reported lost off campus. A purse was stolen from Eisen-

Corrections

Due to a reporter's error, the names of two analog hormones referred to in a story published Wednesday were incorrect. The correct spelling for the two chemical names is trenbolone and zeranol.

The name of a 17-year-old girl killed in a November traffic accident, Sandie Oakleaf, and the name of the director of the Riley County Police Department, Alvan Johnson, were misspelled due to a reporter's error in a story published Wednesday.

OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK

11 a.m.-1 a.m.

FREE DELIVERY WITH

$300 off 1-Bedroom with 12-mth lease

Second Level

Denison & Claflin

$365 off 2-Bedroom with 12-mth lease

537-0744

Laundries 25¢ Dryers 25¢ Washers

Coming Attraction

Free Shuttle Service 6-9 or 12 mth leases

Park Place

(913) 539-2951 1408 Cambridge, Manhattan

St. Francis Campus Ministry Come Welcome our new rector the Rt. Rev. Rob Saunders to St. Paul's this Sunday. SUN. A.M. Services 8 & 10:30 6th & Poyntz 776-9427

WELCOME BACK STUDENTS Best Back to School

> Sales in Town! Save Time ... Shop Us First

2 blocks south 521 N. 12th of Texaco Foodmart 539-5269

"Is God Relevant?"

Hear-

Mitch Holthus (the Voice of the Wildcats)

Grace Collegiate Class 9:15 a.m. Sunday, Jan. 15

Grace Baptist Church

2901 Dickens Ave. 776-0424 (For more information contact Gordon or Karen Hibbard, 537-8070)

Germany reverses claim of innocence

By The Associated Press

BONN, West Germany - The government suspects West German companies helped build a Libyan plant that may make chemical weapons, officials said Thursday, one week after asserting no evidence existed.

The embarrassing reversal followed the arrest Wednesday night of a Belgian shipper tied to the case and confirmation by Libya that West German firms aided the project. The United States claims the plant is intended for the manufacture of chemical weapons and Libya says it is for producing medicine.

Friedhelm Ost, the chief government spokesman, said in a statement: "The federal government has indications of the possible participation of German companies or persons at this plant in Libya. West German authorities are intensively pursuing these leads."

Official spokesmen at Ost's government press bureau refused to answer questions on the controversy over the plant at Rabta, south of Tripoli.

Ali Treiki, Libya's U.N. ambassador, said in an interview with CBS News earlier Thursday that West Germans "did help us, not only in this plant, in other plants also."

In Belgium, the Justice Ministry said Jozef Gedopt, head of Cross Link NV of Antwerp, was arrested Wednesday night.

Funds needed, regent-elect says By Erwin Seba News Editor

Money is the biggest problem facing the Kansas Board of Regents, "particularly as it pertains to increases in faculty and staff salaries," according to the new Regentdesignate, Charles Hostetler.

His appointment to the Board of Regents was announced Dec. 22 by Gov. Mike Hayden. He must be confirmed by the state Senate before he joins the board as a member.

As an example of the need to increase faculty salaries at the regents schools, Hostetler pointed out the recent report by the Faculty Senate on the status of faculty salaries.

"(The report) shows that K-State is 15 percent below its peer group in faculty salaries and last in the Big Eight," Hostetler said.

"I think that's got to be a point of real concern," he said. "I think that's not only true at K-State, but true of all the regents schools.

"Along with that is support of the Margin of Excellence. The MOE is a major step forward," Hostetler said. He added that MOE may have to be viewed as a foundation on which the state can build.

Hostetler said the issue of funding for higher education should be evaluated within the context of the Kansas economy.

"We've suffered a lot of economic hardship in Kansas, maybe we've done pretty well," he said.

Another money issue Hostetler said is important is increasing funding for facilities at the regents

"I think there is some need for some more funding for facilities. It would look to me that that is a major

Regent-designate Charles Hostetler, chairman of the board of the First Savings Bank of Manhattan, says money pertaining to faculty and staff salaries is the biggest problem facing the Board of Regents.

point," he said.

Hostetler complimented Hayden for his efforts to increase higher education funding.

"I think he has been a strong supporter of higher education," he said. Hostetler stressed comments Hayden made during his State of the State Address given Monday as an example of his leadership on the issue of higher education funding. "I think the governor's comments give an indication that he's leading K-State in 1960 and a bachelor of law the charge," he said.

A member of the staff of the Senate Confirmations Committee said the committee would try to interview Hostetler next week and would also accept testimony for or against his appointment after that interview.

Hostetler, who is chairman of the board of the First Savings Bank of Manhattan, is also the co-owner of the Charlson-Wilson Insurance Co. He received a bachelor's degree from degree from the University of Kansas Law School in 1963.

A member of the KU Law School Board of Governors, Hostetler has been an instructor in the K-State College of Business Administration since 1971. If appointed, he will have to resign his instructor's position because it would represent a conflict of interest with his position on the Board of Regents.

Student's memorial today By The Collegian Staff Delta Pi sorority and lived in Moore

A memorial service for a K-State student who died Wednesday will be held today at 11 a.m. in All Faiths Chapel.

Burial services for 18-year-old Dawna Zwickel will be held in her hometown of Leavenworth. She died at the University of Kansas Medical Center in Kansas City, Kan., of a cardiac arrest resulting from complications from hepatitis. Zwickel contracted the illness after a severe case of mononucleosis.

Zwickel, a freshman in preprofessional elementary education at K-State, was a pledge of the Alpha

HUNAM EXPRESS

no coupon necessary this week

1116 Moro 537-0886

Beef with Broccoli over Rice

¹1.99

Drive To Mexico In 10

Minutes!

That's about how long it takes to get from the K-State campus to Raoul's Escondido on the west side of Manhattan. Once you're there, you'll see why we call with authentic mexican food made from family recipes.

It's fast, it's convenient, and best of all, it's inexpensive;

remember, you can drive a short 10 minutes to Raoul's

Escondido, or you can drive 915 miles south!

You'll be treated to an all-you-can-eat buffet filled

When you're ready for a taste of authentic Mexico,

FREE DELIVERY $7 minimum

Dr. Robert C. Tout, director of Lafene Student Health Center, said developing hepatitis after a bout with mononucleosis is a rare occurrence.

"Whenever somebody gets mononucleosis they also have a case of hepatitis, but usually the body kills the virus before it gets too serious," Tout said.

Zwickel was to have been tranferred to a Nebraska hospital Thursday to undergo a liver transplant. KU Medical Center officials said she had been at the center for several weeks.

expires Jan. 19, 1989

ATTENTION K-STATE BASKETBALL FANS!

You "Win" when the WILDCATS "WIN"!

When the Men's Kansas State Basketball team is victorious, we'll help with the treats!

Here's How It Works;

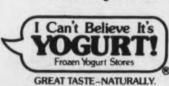

You'll receive the percent off your total purchase that matches the point spread. For instance, if the Wildcats win by 15 points, you'll receive a 15 percent discount. If they win by 30, it'll be 30 percent, etc.

Cheer the Wildcats on to victory against

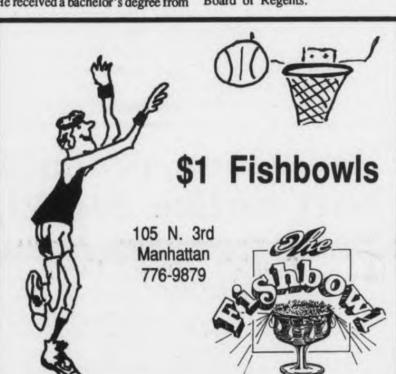

Kansas

and then come in to celebrate with us after the game.

Same offer applies to Monday's game vs. Southern Utah State. Discount good until closing time on game day.

705 N. 11th Nautilus Towers Open: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Daily Noon-11 p.m. Sunday

1989 NEW FISHBOWL MENU

BURGERS 4 oz. HAMBURGERS $3.25 TACO BASKET $2.40 7 oz. HAMBURGERS $3.75 SINGLE TACO add 25¢ for cheese SOUP CHILI

$1.75 $1.75 SANDWICHES with Grilled Cheese-$3.25 STEAK SANDWICH $4.25 $3.50 FISH SANDWICH SIDE ORDERS BBQ BEEF $3.50 CHEESE NACHOS $2.50 BBQ HAM $3.50 MEAT NACHOS $3.50 BBQ BRISKET CHILI NACHOS $4.25 POTATO SKINS $3.75 STEAK MOZZARELLA $4.25 CHEESE STICKS $3.25 STEAK-on-a-STICK CHICKEN LIVERS $2.75 everything above served with curly fries of tator tots CHICKEN GIZZARDS

> Our own special recipe HOMEMADE ONION RINGS $2.25

COME SEE US TODAY!

just $4.50 every day for lunch!

it Mexico!

Raoul's

Escondido

215 Seth Childs Rd.-Manhattan

Closed Classes

EARN MONEY FOR YOUR CAMPUS ORGANIZATION!

The Collegian needs groups periodically to stuff inserts and special sections into the paper. In just 2-21/2 hours your group can earn $75. Call or stop by for more information.

> Call 532-6555 Kedzie 101

Editorial

Kansas State Collegian Opinions ■ Friday, January 13, 1989

Standing students supportive of 'Cats

Bramlage Coliseum without worrying about being hosed down by faculty members, athletic department officials or coliseum employees.

What a relief.

With the K-State Department of Athletic's recent decision to relocate disgruntled faculty members to the chairback seats in sections three and nine, Wildcat fans can concentrate on cheering for their team, not bickering among themselves.

The funniest thing about this whole situation is the fact that only about 65 faculty and staff members chose to move. Therefore, the complaints made against students standing during the games couldn't have come from a sizable portion of the faculty and staff.

The faculty and staff as a whole are not to blame. Even those who complained got their way and moved to a better location. The problem is not with the people standing or not standing in the coliseum, it is with those who planned the seating arrangements.

Regardless of a change in planning — which made the seating

Students can finally stand up in one level instead of two, as was originally planned — this situation could have been avoided by placing all of the student seating on one side of the coliseum.

Students will stand up during games because they enjoy it. If the 'Cats are winning, they'll stand up to commemorate; if they are losing, students will stand up to give them support. Nobody can change that.

Jim Epps, administrative assistant for the intercollegiate athletic office, said further reconfiguration of seating arrangements will be studied at the end of the season.

If students are going to keep standing, why not put them all together on one side of the coliseum? The student body paid for about half of the cost of Bramlage. Are they not entitled to have one side of it during basketball season?

The athletic department, faculty and other Wildcat supporters should appreciate that not only is Bramlage sold out in its first season, but students are willing to stand up all game, every game, to cheer for their team.

Let's get this over with and have another great season.

Seating compromise needed

ho would have imagined? Blessed with a beautiful new coliseum (complete with graphics scoreboard, increased seating capacity, chairbacks for the wealthy alums and contoured benches for the loyal but less well-off supporters), the return of Coach Lon Kruger (whose class and coaching mastery guided the 'Cats to the Final Eight in 1988), and an exciting and talented group of players, Wildcat basketball promised nothing but good times for those anxious to transfer the infamous Ahearn "sixth man" to Bramlage Coliseum.

Sadly, a dark cloud has descended upon this panorama of purple promise. Much as the Civil War pitted brother against brother, this recent conflict has caused Wildcat fans to direct their animosity not toward the guy on the other team with the funny hair, but toward each other. And, the Mason-Dixon Line is the aisle between sections 18 and 19.

Students standing in sections 19 and 20 have impaired the view of faculty members sitting in section 18.

Much discussion has focused on identifying the root of the problem. The answer is twofold. First, the coliseum is built differently than originally anticipated. Initial blueprints contained a second deck, which would have relieved many of the present problems. In addition, the sample seating plan distributed to faculty and staff when soliciting donations was of a different building entirely. Consequently, the aisles are in different locations than those depicted in that drawing.

The second problem stems from the placing of the premium contributor seating in the location previously occupied by faculty and staff. Whether this decision was good or bad means little now. However, it is definitely a cause of the present dilemma.

Faculty and staff believe the students' refusal to sit during the game shows discourtesy, or perhaps even contempt, toward them. While standing may be viewed as rude or discourteous, faculty and staff should understand that none of it is directed at them intentionally. I've yet to hear a student gloating about getting revenge for a "D" in biology.

Commentary Folk

Doug Collegian Columnist

Students are standing for one reason and nonball or despising Norm Stewart.

a hand in every home victory, seats are uncommitted to $5,000 donors. And if you attended any games during the semester break, particularly the remembered that students initiated this buildcontest against Missouri-St. Louis, you know ing and paid $7.1 million for its construction. atmosphere of that building. Students make a dents would permanently hold their current difference, and they feel standing is part of

Students also take offense to the "if they don't sit down, then we'll just move them" attitude of some faculty and administrators. One faculty member suggested timed guidelines for standing ("Maximum 10 to 15 seconds following slam dunks, steals, or great effort," and "Last 2 minutes of each half"). Other "hardball" options suggested include "Personalized notes to all student basketball ticket holders' parents, personally signed by a goodly number of faculty," "Taking chairs out of all classrooms for one week — the first week of basketball season - to establish empathy for what it's like to stand when you don't prefer to stand. Then give pop quizzes," and assigning faculty "first 15 rows courtside, center court next year." Also suggested by some is an angled or V-shaped section, eliminating most or all of the students' courtside

It's time to end the bickering and accusations, and sign a truce in our little civil war. Threats and, in a couple of instances, physical acts, will only lead to further animosity. As I've heard many students, staff and faculty say, this type of conflict is contrary to the friendly atmosphere for which K-State is known. Let's come together as K-Staters and work for an alternative to relieve tensions.

ertainly, this is no easy task, as many individuals have searched for an answer over the past few one reason only: an incurable case of Wildcat weeks. But as a group, students, faculty, staff Fever. They're standing for their 'Cats. and administrators can look for other possi-That's it. That's all there is to it. Now in my bilities. Although somewhat of a sacrifice for fifth (and final) season as a student ticket hol- the KSU Athletic Department, perhaps an der, I can assure you it has become a reflex as end-section of chairbacks could be given to natural as clapping during the Wabash Can- faculty and staff, along with the adjacent bleacher section. Exact numbers are not read--State students are proud to have ily available, but a fair number of chairback

Above all, however, it should always be that the presence - or absence - of a cohe- And, before any fees were collected, the sive, boisterous student section dictates the administration guaranteed in writing that stuseating location.

Students should also demonstrate their willingness to resolve the problem by refraining from standing on the seats. It only hinders the view from section 18 that much more, while not improving students' view at all. In fact, a little simple geometry proves an individual's view actually worsens when the entire section steps up onto the seats. Also, you've probably noticed that when those seats are stood and jumped on they bend and creak like an old 747 fuselage. If we're going to lay claim to our share of this building, let's take care of it.

For the rest of the season, Wildcat fans should abandon their internal disagreements, give a little, and focus on helping the 'Cats achieve an undefeated home season. Let's welcome those Jailhawks to Bramlage as a united, screaming, frothing, fearsome mass of purple-clad Wildcat fans.

Violations, probations hurt entire Big Eight versities that have had part of their athletic departments placed on NCAA probation for recruiting violations.

Last week, Oklahoma State University was added to the list started last year by the University of Kansas and followed by the University of Oklahoma.

This growing list of suspended universities could mean more than a $400,000 loss of revenue for K-State's athletic department in just one year.

That's enough to hurt any program, especially a program that is already suffering, as indicated by the department's $800,000 loss listed in the University's June 30 financial report.

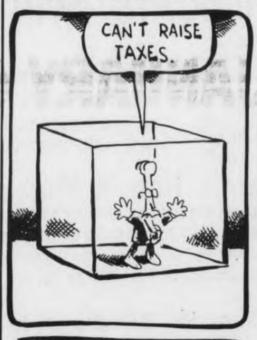

To further add to the injury, con-

Make that three Big Eight uni- ference officials are anticipating a loss of about $4.5 million just this

> But instead of hurting the players who graduate and sign multimillion dollar contracts or the coaches who keep universityowned cars and houses, it hurts the other universities in the conference.

> The monetary loss is measurable, but the damage to the conference's reputation is not. The effects will last far longer than the length of the probation.

> NCAA penalties are a necessary evil, but they should penalize the right people. Suspend coaches, suspend players, but hurting universities that the NCAA has deemed to have "clean" programs isn't necessary.

Wildcat masks

when the 'Cats take on KU.

raise the roof off Bramlage.

the move to Bramlage Coliseum.

1989 semester. This week not only represents the beginning of classes, but the kick-off of the K-State Big 8 basketball season Saturday to show that not a decibel of sound was lost in

With this mask and your best wildcat tory. Use it whenever you see the "Growl" sign. With all of us working together we can

Collegian Editorial Policies

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR are always encouraged. Those which pertain to matters of campus and/or public interest are especially encouraged, and are given the highest priority.

Letters should be kept as brief as possible, preferably under 300 words. Those who cannot condense their opinions should consider submiting their letter in the form of a guest column. All letters are subject to editing for space, style and taste.

GUEST COLUMNS are also encouraged. The column should be no longer than two double-spaced, typed pages. If the submission is used as a column and not a letter to the editor, it will be accompanied by the author's photograph.

SEND SUBMISSIONS to the Collegian in Kedzie 116. UNSIGNED EDITORIALS represent the consensus opinion of the Collegian's editorial board. Opinion columns do not necessarily reflect the opinions of the Collegian management, Student Publications, Inc. or the newspaper staff in general.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

	EDITOR	Janet Swanson
ı	MANAGING EDITOR	Susan L'Ecuye
ı		Erwin Sebi
ı
ı		Greg Voge
ľ		Chris Hay
ı		Todd Schult
ı	EDITODIAL BOARD
	Brie	an Hummell, Dwayne Lively, Scott Miller, Michael Nichols, Paula Selby anborn, Mark Schmeller, Erwin Seba, Robert R. Short, Janet Swansor
	tions Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The	ent newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publica e Collegian is published Monday through Friday during the school year and ı	Monday and Thursday during summer sessions. Sec	cond class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan, 66502.
ı	POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas St	ate Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Man-
ı	hattan, Kan. 66506-7167.
	News contributions will be accepted by telephone,	(913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, Kedzie Hall 116.

back for future games!

Bramlage seating Editor, Welcome back to K-State for the spring

When fans stand up, it is an indication of support for their team. I happen to believe that springing up, cheering and clapping are a much more evident, dramatic show of support than standing during the game, but there

Letters

Without a doubt, this game will be the one is room for honest difference of opinion. However, standing on the benches is not a special sign of support for our Wildcats. To To help you back the 'Cats this weekend, me, it is a sign of contempt for other fans and each person attending the game will be given it tells me that those who initiate standing on a mask with the likeness of yours truly, Willie the benches could care less about anyone else. That is an attitude I've not noted in many students I've become acquainted with over growl, you can help boost the 'Cats to a vic- the years. It is so unrepresentative of many young 'Cat fans that I can't understand it.

I have talked to a number of students who tell me they would prefer sitting to standing By the way, don't forget to bring the mask during the game, but they have no choice. When fans on the front row stand up, others Willie the Wildcat have to stand also. Standing on the benches compounds the problem.

In a more serious note, the ticket office will have to change the seating plan in future years. I suggest a plan where those who choose to sit can see the entire court. I've talked to faculty - most of them longtime supporters and many of whom contributed to Bramlage's construction - who have stated they will not buy tickets again. Perhaps the games could be sold out without them, but I don't think they are getting a fair shake! The Athletic Department has enough problems to deal with, this issue is giving them an unnecessary addition to the list.

I'm interested and support the 'Cats also, but will not stand on the bench throughout the game just so I can see the action instead of abuse of other fans. I hope we all direct our efforts toward spontaneous, wild-eyed support of the 'Cats, but in actions that are considerate of other fans.

D.H. Kropf professor of animal sciences and industry

Researchers work to improve superconductors

By Paul Branson Science Writer

Envision a train ride in the year

The train is floating inches above a magnetic track. On board, the train's computer makes calculations at incredibly high speeds, but never overheats because its circuits are made out of a superconductor.

Fanciful fiction or vision of the future? Advances in superconductors involving the fields of chemistry and physics - may someday make this scene commonplace.

Superconductors are materials which conduct electricity without resistance, and Mick O'Shea is one of the researchers at K-State developing ways to make the use of superconductors easier.

O'Shea said many elements have been found to be superconductive, but the low temperature at which most materials become superconductive limit their everyday use.

"After the discovery of superconductivity in mercury, a few other elements were discovered to be superconductors," O'Shea said. "Eventually, about half the periodic table was found to be superconducting at some temperature.'

Normally, electricity-conducting materials have resistance; however, elements can develop superconductivity as they cool to temperatures approaching absolute zero - roughly equivalent to minus 273 degrees Celsius. (Absolute zero is also referred to zero degrees Kelvin.)

Superconductivity was discovered accidentally in 1911 by Heike Kamerlingh Onnes when he was testing the Kelvin theory. Onnes attempted to prove electrons, once moving as a body, would stop as the temperature approached absolute

However, as the temperature neared minus 273 degrees Celsius, the electrons in Onnes' mercury sample continued moving instead of stopping.

He coined the phrase "superconductivity" to explain the phenomenon of electrons moving without resistance.

Peter Sherwood, associate professor of chemistry, is working with O'Shea to develop thin films of superconducting material and an accompanying base.

"Right now, we're just working on making good films," O'Shea said. He said making good base, or substrate, is a problem.

"The substrate we have now is quite expensive," O'Shea said. "The computer industry would like to be able to use silicon, but we've run into problems."

Using silicon as a substrate has been unsuccessful to this point, he

Sherwood said connecting a superconductor to a normal conductor is being researched.

"Superconductors contain a large amount of oxygen and most of the conductors, at present, are metals," he said. "When these two materials come into contact, the metal oxidizes and the oxide (which is formed) is a poor conductor of electricity.'

O'Shea said recent discoveries of creating superconductivity with alloys instead of metals have successfully raised the critical temperatures of superconductors. In 1987, researchers at the University of Arkansas discovered a superconducting alloy with a critical temperature of 125 degrees Kelvin.

George Hadjipanayis, associate professor of physics, is producing superconductors in a process called "sintering," commonly referred to as "shake and bake."

Shake and bake involves crushing one part yttrium, two parts barium and three parts copper oxide together. The powder is pressed, shaped and baked at about 900 degrees Celsius to form a small black

"The material is very hard, but it is also very brittle," O'Shea said. The brittleness keeps the superconductor nugget from being drawn into a wire.

The K-State professors are researching ways to deposit superconductive material on hair-like carbon fibers.

Sherwood said developement looks promising because the carbon fibers are flexible. The advantage of using carbon is that researchers can use available technology.

Sherwood is optimistic about the future of superconductors.

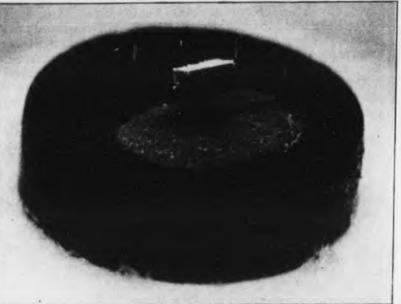

"Superconductor research has brought together so many researchers from many different fields," he O'Shea said the Japanese are working on a levitated train that uses superconductors.

'The train contains the superconductor, and the magnet runs beneath it," he said.

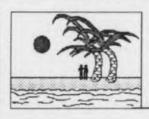

Although research is progessing quickly, O'Shea said the big breakthroughs are still five years away.

Staff/Gary Lytle

Cooled to minus 126 degrees Fahrenheit with liquid nitrogen, a superconductor measuring about an inch in diameter causes a small magnet to float in mid-air. The levitation, called the Meissner effect, occurs when the superconductor expels the magnetic field of the magnet.

Watch the Collegian for spring break information.

UNITED ARTISTS

$ 3 PER PERSON SHOWS BEFORE 6:00 p.m.

SETH CHILDS 6

TH CHILDS AT FARM BUREAU RD. 776-9696 Deep Star Six (R)
Daily at 7:15 & 9:30
Sat/Sun 2:10 4:40 & 7:15 9:50
Talk Radio (R)

Dirty Rotten Scoundrals (PG) Daily 7:15 & 9:40, Sat/Sun 9:05 & 11:30

Rain Man (R)
Daily 7:10 & 9:45, Sat/Sun 9:25 & 12:00

Accidental Tourist (PG) Daily 7:20 & 9:45, Sat/Sun 9:25 & 11:50

Working Girl (R)
Daily 7:20 & 9:35
Sat/Sun 9:20 & 11:35

Is your calendar

Not anymore.

too small to read?

1989 Stendig

Calendars

36" x 48"

$20

STRECKER GALLERY

10-5 Tues.-Sat. 332 Poyntz 539-2139

> Movie Information 539-1291 In Junction City Call 762-4094 CAMPUS

EVERYBODY'S ALL-AMERICAN

WESTLOOP CINEMA 6

THE NAKED GUNPG-13

TODAY AT 4:35-7:05-9:30 MATINEE SAT. & SUN. AT 2:05

TEQUILA SUNRISE R TODAY AT 4:35-7:05-9:30 MATINEE SAT. & SUN. AT 2:05

GLEAMING THE CUBERG-13

TODAY AT 4:30-7:00-9:20 MATINEE SAT. & SUN. AT 2:00

OLIVER AND COMPANYS

TODAY AT 4:30 & 7 MAT. SAT. & SUNL AT 2

MYSTIC PIZZAR

TWINSPG TODAY AT 4:40-7:10-9:25 ATINEE SAT. & SUN. AT 2:15

THINGS CHANGERG

TODAY AT 9:20 ONLY

TODAY AT 9:25

TODAY AT 7:00 and 9:30 MAT. SAT. AND SUN. AT 2:00 AND 4:30

Creative Entertainmen

Featuring

Tonight Show Regular

★Comedy Monday will begin following the Cats basketball game with South Utah State.

GO CATS!

Remember 18 oz. Fishbowls 776-9879 N. 3rd

Enjoy smooth, creamy Frozen Yogurt that tastes like Ice Cream but with 80% less fat! -- FREE SAMPLES--

1 Can't Believe It's
YOGURT! GREAT TASTE-NATURALLY

OPEN: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Daily Noon-11 p.m. Sundays Nautilus Towers-Aggieville

Free Hors d'oeovres Comedy Invasion Next Mon. & Tues.

Joe Bolster

3 Letterman Appearances

Congratulations to all the fall members:

John Baker T'Sharra Carlson John Downey Ed Elder Dan Foster Fern Grant

Trent Houlden

Brian Howell Bryan Jones Roxie Keller Denise Lambert Chuck Loganbill Sharon Maze Brian Palmer

Look forward to Oozeball, Wildcat Tip-Off Classic and Open House Dance.

Next meeting is Sunday, Jan. 22. EVERYONE WELCOME

Roseann Ross Allyson Schaff Trisha Thompson Scott VanderLaan Donna Wohletz

JANUARY CLEARANCE SALE

Huge Selection of Namebrand Shoes, 30-40% off

SPOTBILT		REEBOK Racbok
BASKETBALL HI BASKETBALL LO COACHES WHITE	59*5-35 54-30 53-30	PROAXAS MID AEROBIC 4000 MID DL 1400 RUNNING	59*5-35°° 53*5-30°° 39*5-25°°
TIGER STREET	74*5—40	CLUB CHAMPION CL 1000 RUNNING WOMEN WALKING	51°5-30°0 29°5-18°0 46°5-25°0
ECHELON GII RUNNING	69°5—40°° 89°5—45°°	WOMEN CYCLONE IC 1000 FITNESS SPORTS TRAINER	29°5-18°0 42°5-25°0 69°5-35°0
BASKETBALL HI LADY TENNIS	76°5-40°° 59°5-32°°	PROLEGACY MID NEW BALANCE
PUMA AWAY WOMEN XTG MEN XTG	63-35°° 63-35°°	M476 BASKETBALL W476	49*5-35°° 49*5-35°°
AVIA AVIA AEROBIC Lo MEN RUNNING	53-30°° 69-35°°	AEROBIC MEN TENNIS	46-25°° 49-25°°
BROOKS > TERRORES NOUVEAU BASKETBALL LO BASKETBALL HI LADY REVELATION LADY DEVOTION MEN PERSONA	6698—3500 5898—3000 6298—3500 6498—3500 5998—3000	CONVERSE CONVERSE CLASSIC HI NEEHI CHUCK TAYLOR ALL STAR TURQUIS, YELLOW, ORA RASPBERRY, IRISH SPRIN KHAKI BRIGHT BLUE	31-18°° 34*5-20°° 24*5-15°° NGE, NG,

29*5-1800

TURQUIS, YELLOW, ORANGE, RASPBERRY, IRISH SPRING, KHAKI, BRIGHT BLUE

Large Selection of Active Sportswear

Fashion Sweats 20% Off Lightweight Jackets 20% off 40% off Childrens Leotards 30% off Aerobic Wear (Tanks & kneetights)

30% off

Warm ups

BALLARD'S SPORTING GOODS

Hours: M-Th 8:30-8:00 Fri & Sat. 8:30-5:30 Sun 1:00-5:00

- TELL 1.0.

alentinos

MEN PERSONA

The Pizza Restaurant That Didn't Stop With Pizza

THE TRADITION HAS TRANSFERRED

Same Great Food . . .

 Award-winning Pizza
 Fabulous Salad Bar Homemade Italian Specialties Pasta—choice of sauces

Same Great Service . . . For Take-Out or Delivery call: 537-4350

Great New Location

3003 ANDERSON SUITE 941

East of Alco in Village Plaza Shopping Center

Open Daily at 11 a.m.

ALCO

FRI.: • Free Sandwich Bar 4-7 p.m.

•$2 Daiquiris, Margaritas, and Ice Cream Drinks.

SAT .: • Pre-game party starting at 10 a.m.

·Free Nachos during the game

Continue the party after the game at Brothers!

1120 Moro

537-9511

Dress code enforced

altered to end complaints

The Kansas license plates, introduced a year ago, are facing design changes due to complaints from new

The majority of complaints the state has received are that the tags' county designations are too small, said Sam Vanleeuwen, public information officer for the Kansas Department of Revenue in Topeka.

To alleviate this problem, vehicle owners who pay their auto registration will receive a decal with the county designation to cover the current county letters, Vanleeuwen said.

These new decals are as large as the county designations on the tags previous to the three letter and three numeral combination tags, he said. The larger county designation will cover up the renewal month, so Kansans will get three decals when registering their vehicle: a county decal, a month decal and a year decal. Vanleeuwen said the word "Kansas" will also be changed, but only on new plates for vehicles being registered for the first time. This change resulted from complaints that the state designation was too difficult to

"A lot of people are confused about the new plates. They think they will have to pay for a whole tag," he said. "This is definitely not the case - new plates will only be needed for new registrations, if a person's plate is lost or stolen."

registered in 1989 have the new decals, Vanleeuwen said it will probably be a few months before the license plates with the new "Kansas" design start to appear on vehicles.

"Most counties have a surplus of the tags from last year and it will be a while before they are all issued," he

About 8,000 tags left from last year will be used by Riley County drivers before the new ones are issued, said Zadie Floberg, deputy county treasurer. "About 8,000 tags is a rough estimate of what we have on hand, so it's hard to say when we'll be issuing the new tags," Floberg said.

The decals will not affect the price

Although the vehicles recently of vehicle registration, which is $14 for vehicles weighing less than 3,000 pounds, she said.

The estimated cost of the decals and plate design is $196,500, Vanleeuwen said. This figure is considerably lower than the cost of issuing everyone new plates, which is $3.1 million.

"We think this will eventually pay for itself, because about 2 percent of people in a county deliberately do not pay to register their car every year, and get away with it," Vanleeuwen

Although the new system has been in effect less than two weeks, Vanlecuwen said his office has received "quite a few letters" concerning the

Lawrence skull, remains identified by professor

By The Collegian Staff

A skull and other human remains found on the banks of the Wakarusa River last week have been identified, said Mike Suit, detective for the Douglas County Sheriff's office.

The remains were identified to be those of Nicholas Dikov, who was reported missing Oct. 21, 1981, from the Cherry Manor Rest Home, Suit said. Numerous search parties were sent to look for Dikov, but were unsuccessful.

The bones were sent for identification to Michael Finnegan, professor of anthropology.

"Dr. Finnegan's report showed that the man's fourth right toe was broken, but had re-healed, but the toe was only two-thirds its normal length," he said. These findings led to the identification of the remains.

The man died at least five years ago, according to the report, Suit said. Finnegan's report showed Dikov died of natural causes.

"We are presuming he died of natural causes shortly after he disappeared in 1981," said Carol Moddrell, Douglas County

Moonlight Madness Sale #7

Stop by our new location at 1118 Moro (next to Brothers) and have a BEER on us.

Tonight, Jan. 13 7 p.m. - Midnight 1118 Moro in Aggieville

$99 Dollars

Get your semester of un and fitness NOW at Nautilus of The Ladies Club: "The Total Fitness System"

Nautilus'

Fly to Fort Lauderdale For Spring Break Enter to Win Fabulous Trip for Two

WINNER WILL RECEIVE 2 nights lodging Dinner at a famous Night Spot Plus 1 day excursion to the Bahamas

Fill out slip below and bring to Keck's Steak House now thru February 24, 1989

Must be 18 to Enter-No Purchase Necessary Employees and their families may not enter Village Plaza Shopping Center Address Phone Number

Enter as often as you like

LUTHERAN CAMPUS MINISTRY

Invites you . . .

WORSHIP

SUNDAY, 11 a.m.

DANFORTH CHAPEL (Small Chapel on Campus) Holy Communion-Contemporary Liturgies EVERYONE WELCOME!

FRIENDSHIP SUNDAYS, 5 p.m.-LUTHERAN STUDENT CENTER,

1021 DENISON STUDY—RELATIONSHIPS—SUPPER JAN. 15-GETTING ACQUAINTED JAN. 22-INTERFAITH DIALOGUE "STEREOTYPES"

INTERNATIONAL CENTER, 5:30 p.m.

Pastoral Care & Counseling-Your Call is Welcome Campus Center- 1021 Denison, 539-4451-Don Fallon, Campus Pastor

WELCOME BACK STUDENTS

The people of God at

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH 801 Leavenworth

Welcome all students to Worship at 8:30 and 11:00 A.M. Sunday School at 9:30 A.M.

TUESDAY EVENING BIBLE STUDY FOR STUDENTS 5:30-6:30 EVERY TUESDAY AT THE K-STATE UNION (ROOM 205)

BRING YOUR BIBLE AND JOIN PHIL GITTINGS IN A STUDY OF "THE PARABLES OF JESUS".

"A Church Where People Come to Grow!"

FREE DELIVERY 539-4400

1217 MORO IN AGGIEVILLE "Next to Last Chance Saloon"

Special

no coupon needed-

2 Pizzas 3 Pizzas

2-10" Pizzas (2) Toppings

DAILY SPECIAL! DINNER SPECIAL 3-10" Pizzas (1) Topping

$7.95 2 Free Cokes-16 oz. 4 Free Cokes-16 oz.

Dine In-Carry Out Fast-Free Delivery

Why Use Coupons, When You Can Just Tell Us!?

Why should you have to hold on to a slip of paper? You can just tell us over the phone or in person that you want two pizzas instead of one.

2 FOR 1

everyday, every kind

$1.25

"slices at night" each slice of pizza

Falsetto's 539-3830

1127 MORO

Entertainment Friday

Kansas State Collegian ■ Friday, January 13, 1989 ■ Page 7

Kansas' historical moments on display

TOPEKA - "I think I will like main exhibits, and others will con-Kansas," Flora Moorman Heston wrote in her diary upon her arrival in Kansas in 1835.

As a woman settler, Heston's words reflect the theme of Topeka's Kansas Museum of History's fourth and final section of their main exhibit, "Voices From the Heartland: A Kansas Legacy," which opens to the public Saturday.

The opening officially marks the completion of the museum's permanent gallery and is considered to be another milestone for the Kansas State Historical Society and the Kansas Museum of History. The gallery, which took 14 months to complete, is the final of four sections and marks the end of five years of work on the main exhibit.

New programming and additions will continue to be made on the tinue to change in the Special Exhibits Gallery.

The final section of the museum's main exhibit interprets Kansas history from 1866 to 1920. It covers the years following the Civil War when central and western Kansas was transformed into a patchwork quilt of farms, ranches and towns by immigrant settlers from Europe and the eastern United States.

"I Think I Will Like Kansas" provides a look at the changes and growth that took place in Kansas after the Civil War. Vistors to the museum will be able to see a number of special objects in the exhibit. The highlights include a Santa Fe locomotive accompanied by a 1911 Santa Fe business car and 1920s drover's car; the Concord "mud wagon" stagecoach; William Allen

White's printing press; a pair of George Armstrong Custer's boots; "The Queen," an 1890s wooden windmill; a fully-restored, 1936 Farmall tractor and a Model 1877 Gatling gun used by the Kansas State Militia.

Bob Keckeisen, the museum's assistant director, said the exhibit features a new video disk program. He described it as a mix of modern technology with history.

"We have 1,800 photographs on a laser disk which works in conjunction with a computer program and touch screen operation," Keckeisen said. "This allows exhibit vistors to page through a photo album of Kansas life from 1860 to 1920."

The video disk presents a variety of historical programs containing details about Kansas and its settlers, politics, railroad, agriculture, lifestyles and the environment, he

"There is one audio progthat gives the viewer an idea of what the old nickelodeon show was like," Keckeisen said.

He said the railroad and its role in Kansas' history and development is illustrated in a specially designed mural painted by well-known Kansas artist Stan Herd.

"Herd is nationaly known for his murals and art," Keckeisen said. "The mural at the museum is the depiction of a typical 1880 Kansas railroad town."

Keckeisen said a number of different stories about people in motion are told within the mural. The artist himself is even depicted in the mural as a frontier illustrator.

"The mural is still in the progress of being painted," Keckeisen said. "Herd began the painting of the sky above the train and the mural last October and is expected to be finished this March."

Herd started working on the mural in November, and expects to finish in March.

The public has the opportunity to a.m. until 5 p.m. on Saturday. The century travelogue, Victorian parlor games, period clothing, and music.

A special supplementary prog-

"Buffalo Bill" Cody.

On Sunday, a two-part program, take part in an assortment of free "Past Times, Turn of the Century activities at the museum from 10 Leisure," will be presented at 2 p.m. John Ripley, a Shawnee County hisactivities scheduled are aimed at torian, will present "Nickelodeon children and adults, and will include Days," a variety of musical songcraft demostrations, an early 20th slide programs that were popular with Kansas audiences in the early 20th century.

"Sweet Home," a "dancial" in ram, "Cody! An Evening With Buf- one act will be performed. Written falo Bill," will take place at 7 p.m. and performed by Joan Stone with Saturday. Actor and historian Eric the "4,5,6 Speed-Up" Dance com-Sorg will perform the one-man play pany, it will tell the story of Kansas which provides a look at the legen- dance pavilions at the turn of the dary and colorful life of William century through dance, narration and music.

Tickets for "Cody" and "Past Times" are $2 per person for Historical Society members and $3 for non-members. Tickets are on sale at the information desk at the Kansas Museum of History and the administrative office of the Center for Historical Research.

These programs are accessible to everyone and are funded in part by the Kansas Arts Commission, the National Endowment for the Arts, The Shawnee County Historical Society, the Institute of Museum Services, and the Kansas State Historical Society board of directors.

Story by Kevin Kramer Photos by Steve Wolgast

A Santa Fe locomotive stands as the focal point of the new wing.

Now Showing

Campus Theater

Everybody's All American Today 7 and 9:30 Saturday and Sunday 2 and 4:30

Westloop Cinema 6

The Naked Gun Daily 4:35, 7:05 and 9:30. Matinee 2:05, Saturday and Sunday

Tequila Sunrise Daily 4:35, 7:05 and 9:30 Matinee 2:05, Saturday and Sunday

Gleaming the Cube Daily 4:30, 7, 9:20 Matinee 2, Saturday and Sunday

Oliver and Company Daily 4:30, 7 Matinee 2, Saturday and Sunday

Mystic Pizza Daily 4:40, 7:10 and 9:25. Matinee 2:15, Saturday and Sunday

Twins Daily 4:40, 7:10, 9:25. Matinee 2:15

Saturday and Sunday

Things Change Friday only 9:20

Seth Childs Cinema Deep Star Six Daily 7:15 and 9:50 Matinee 2:10 and 4:40 Saturday and Sunday

Talk Radio Daily 7:10 and 9:40 Matinee 2:00 and 4:30 Saturday and Sunday

Dirty Rotten Scoundrals Daily 7:15 and 9:50 Saturday and Sunday 9:05 and 11:30

Rain Man Daily 7:10 and 9:45 Saturday and Sunday 9:25 and 12

Accidental Tourist Daily 7:20 and 9:45 Saturday and Sunday 9:25 and 11:50

Working Girl Daily 7:20 and 9:35 Saturday and Sunday 9:20 and 11:35 nominated for Grammies Artists

By The Associated Press

BEVERLY HILLS - Tracy Chapman, whose rich contralto voice has taken her from cafe to concert hall, and Bobby McFerrin, an ebullient jazz vocalist whose message is "Don't Worry, Be Happy," were top nominees Thursday for the 31st annual Grammy Awards.

Chapman, a 24-year-old singersongwriter, received six nominations, including best song, record, album and best new artist, while McFerrin's five nominations also included record, album and song.

Chapman's self-titled first album was a surprise hit in 1988 and its single "Fast Car," about a woman seeking to escape a cycle of poverty, was a No. 1 hit. Chapman's song and record nominations, plus one for best female pop vocal performance, were for "Fast Car."

Her album also received a nomination for best contemporary folk recording. The Boston-based singer's album of folk and protest songs included "Talkin' 'Bout A Revolution," and "For My Lover." She came to the attention of record producers during nightclub performances and cafe stints while a student at Tufts University.

McFerrin, 38, whose "Don't Worry, Be Happy" was the first-ever a cappella song to reach the No. 1 position on Billboard charts, received nominations for best song, record and male pop vocal performance for "Don't Worry." He also received an album nomination for "Simple Pleasures."

McFerrin, who already has won five Grammy awards, also was nominated for best male jazz vocal performance for the song "Brothers."

"Don't Worry, Be Happy," was frequently played at political rallies for President-elect George Bush during his campaign. Anita Baker received four Grammy nominations, all for "Giving You The Best I Got," the one song she had eligible for this year's awards. The song is a candidate in the best record, song, best female rhythm and blues performance and best rhythm and blues song performance.

single, was released after the cutoff date for this year's candidates.

Two recent favorites of National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences voters, Sting and Steve Winwood, each received three nominations.

Sting's "Nothing Like The Sun" received an album of the year nod and the song "Be Still My Beating Heart" was nominated for song of the year as well as best pop male vocal performance. Sting has four career Grammys so far, all since 1983, when he was still a member of The Police.

Winwood, a rock veteran whose career spans nearly 25 years, received record of the year and best male pop vocal performance nominations for "Roll With It" and an album of the year nomination for the LP of the same title. Winwood has previously won two Grammys.

George Michael, whose smash album "Faith" sold more than 6 million copies and spawned six hits, received only two nominations,

Her album, titled the same as the album of the year and best pop male vocalist for "Father Figure."

Michael Jackson, who was shut out at last year's awards, received a single nomination for his "Man In The Mirror" single as record of the

The Beach Boys, who have never won a Grammy and have not been nominated since 1966, received a best pop group performance nomination this year for their hit "Kokomo." The songs' writers also received a songwriting nomination for best song written specifically for a movie, "Cocktail."

Nominated for record of the year were "Don't Worry, Be Happy," "Fast Car," Baker's "Giving You The Best That I Got," Jackson's "Man in the Mirror," and Winwood's "Roll With It."

Nominated for album of the year were Michael's "Faith," Sting's "Nothing Like the Sun," Winwood's "Roll With It," McFerrin's "Simple Pleasures," and Chapman's album.

Winners will be announced Feb. 22 in Los Angeles.

Student to spend semester in New York as part of United Nations study program

By Nancy Prosser Staff Writer

A K-Stater will be spending the spring semester in the Big Apple as one of the participants in the 1989 United Nations Semester in New Veronica Wilson, junior in political science and history, is one of only 30 to 40 college students across the nation who will spend the spring semester attending classes at Long Island University.

The group will take field trips to the United Nations and attend seminars.

"We will be taking classes at LIU, discussing the English, French and Soviet revolutions," Wilson said. "I hope that the classes will give me a better idea of what democracy is.

"We will also be attending classes in international media that compare the U.S. media to that of other nations."

Wilson said she learned about the program through the K-State arts and sciences honors program in Eisen-

"I decided to apply, and the Honor Semester Committee sent me an application. I think that they are looking for energetic, enthusiastic people with a genuine interest in learning about the United Nations," she said. Wilson gave many reasons for being interested in the U.N. program. "The main reason I applied for the U.N. Semester is that I've always been interested in other countries' cultures and political systems," Wil-

"I am interested in a career in diplomatic services and international relations, so this will be a good way to see if this is the kind of career I really wish to pursue," she said.

Wilson received a $500 scholarship from the 1989 United Nations Honor Semester Committee to help with her expenses during the

"The semester will be an exciting educational experience, and since I am a political science major, it may open new doors and ideas," she said.

Another K-Stater, Sandra Deyoe, will be attending the program as a resident adviser. Deyoe is a December graduate of K-State in modern languages and economics. She attended the program as a delegate during her sophomore year.

"The program brings honor students from different backgrounds together to deal with problems they face in today's society," Deyoe said.

In her position as resident director, Deyoe will live, eat and attend classes with the students in the program.

"The participants live in a dormtype situation throughout the semester," she said. "Since everyone is in the same group and classes, the group living ties together the learning situation that these kids are in during the day more effectively than a traditional university setting."

The semester is sponsored by the National Collegiate Honors Council, a professional organization of students and faculty from various campuses. The program is sponsored once every three years.

Employees laid off by Lenexa company

By The Associated Press

LENEXA - About 45 of the 300 employees at Informix Software Inc. will be laid off immediately, the parent company announced Wednesday.

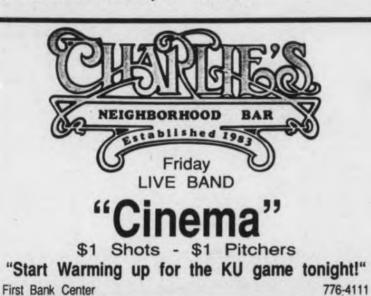

Informix Software was created in February when Lenexa's Innovative Software Inc. merged with Informix Corp. of Menlo Park, Informix Corp. said Wednesday that it would have an unspecified fourth-quarter loss and that it show a profit for 1988.

would lay off 165 of its 1,100 workers, a 15 percent cutback.

Analysts say Informix has had a slowdown in growth because of delays in the release of a new office software line designed for Macintosh computers. Phillip E. White, the chief executive officer, said the software is now expected to be released this quarter.

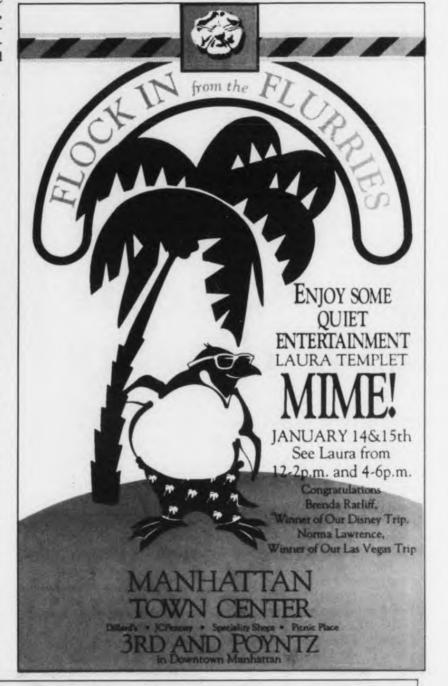

Despite the operating loss in figures to be announced Feb. 1, the company said it expects to Lafene Student Health Center will be closed on Monday, January 16, 1989.

> Emergency services will be available.

Call us! Manhattan

539-0561

Sun.-Thurs. 4pm-1am Fri.-Sat. 4pm-2am

$8.99 Special!

Get two 14" cheese pizzas for only $8.99. Additional toppings $1.40 each, covers both pizzas.

No coupon necessary for this great deal. Tax not included.

DOMINO'S PIZZA* NOW HIRING

$5.99 Special!

Get two 10" cheese pizzas for only $5.99. Additional toppings 95¢ each, covers both pizzas.

No coupon necessary for this great deal. Tax not included.

Our drivers carry less than $20.00. Limited delivery area. Fast, Free Delivery.™ © 1989 Domino's Pizza, Inc.

PIZZA HUT® PRESENTS

CAI JUVEKS PI*LL*A

It's a hearty feast of your favorite meat toppings. Piled high with Italian sausage, pepperoni, bacon, ham, beef and pork toppings. And topped with a special blend of mozzarella and tangy cheddar cheese.

MEAT LOVERS PIZZA ONE MEDIUM FOR ONLY 8.99 OR

TWO MEDIUMS FOR ONLY 12.99 DINE-IN / CARRY-OUT / OR DELIVERY

·AGGIEVILLE 1121 MORO 539-7666

·WESTLOOP SHP. CTR. 2931 CLAFLIN RD 539-7447

-3RD & MORO 231 MORO 776-4334

FOR DELIVERY CALL 539-7666 OR THE LOCATION NEAREST YOU

Present coupon when ordering. One coupon per party per visit at participating Pizza Hut ® restaurants. Not valid with any other Pizza Hut® offer. 1/20 cash redemption value. @1988 Pizza Hut, Inc. EXPIRES FEB. 15, 1989

Sports

Kansas State Collegian ■ Friday, January 13, 1989 ■ Page 9

KU brings potent attack to Bramlage

Kansas guard Jeff Gueldner in last year's game at Manhattan. The the 16th ranked Jayhawks in Bramlage Coliseum at 1:10 p.m.

Former K-State all-American Mitch Richmond flies over University of 'Cats will be without Richmond Saturday when they face Gueldner and

'Cats end week layoff

By Chris Hays Sports Editor

A team possessed. That is probably the best way to describe how the Kansas men's basketball team is playing right now. Possessed with one goal in mind to prove that it will take more than the loss of Danny Manning and an NCAA probation to keep it from staking its claim at being one of the best basketball teams in the country.

And so far, KU has plenty of believers — including K-State coach Lon Kruger, who will lead his Wildcats against the No. 16 Jayhawks at 1:10 p.m. Saturday in Bramlage Coliseum.

"Kansas is playing awfully well right now," Kruger said. "In the past they always had Manning as the focal point of their offense, but this team is very well-balanced as far as production point-wise. "It will be a little bit more difficult to prepare for a well-balanced team. You can't point the finger at certain people," he said The Brown University Bruins probably have no doubts that KU is a very well-balanced offensive team. The Jayhawks had nine players in double figures in their 70-point margin, 115-45, shellacking of the Ivy League school.

KU has hit the century mark six times this season and hasn't been tested very often. They enter Big Eight play with a 13-2 mark.

They will come in here with loads of confidence," Kruger said. "We're still searching right now and maybe not playing with as much confidence as we would like."

K-State is coming off a 72-67 loss at Minnesota last Saturday, but have had a week to prepare for Saturday's intra-state rivalry.

"We needed a week to work on sharpening things up, but coming off a break like this you never know how you'll respond," Kruger said. "But we welcome the chance to have a little extra time to practice.

"The key is that the players recogbit. We could have bigger problems

The problem Saturday will be stopping a Jayhawk offense that averages 98 points a game. However, K-State ranks first in the conference in defense, allowing the opposition just 63.6 points a game.

"Priority No. 1 for us is to get back on defense," Kruger said. "We have to take away the easy baskets that their defense creates. They get the ball up the floor."

Another key for the Wildcats is how well they handle Mark Randall underneath. The 6-foot-9 forward is averaging 19.4 points a game for the Jayhawks and is fifth in the nation in field goal percentage at 68.7.

KU has two other players averaging in double figures. Milt Newton comes in with 17 points a game, while Kevin Pritchard has been tallying 15.

Steve Henson leads the Wildcats' attack at 15.9 points a game. He is also second in the nation with a 95 percent accuracy from the free throw Henson is followed by Fred McCoy at 15.3, but McCoy was fairly quiet on offense in his last two games and missed last Saturday's loss to Minnesota because of the flu. Kruger said McCoy will be 100 percent ready on Saturday.

After McCoy, who recently lost his starting role to Reggie Britt, the scoring drops off considerably for the Wildcats. Britt and the two other 'Cats starters, Mark Dobbins and LaKeith Humphrey, are all averaging seven points a game.

On the line for the Wildcats with this game is the Bramlage Coliseum winning streak. K-State's men's and women's basketball teams have yet to lose in the new arena, and Kruger said it may be a litttle more hard to take if the first loss came against KU.

"It will be disappointing no matter who the first loss is against," Kruger said. "But I suppose it would be a little more distressful than if the first loss came at the hands of someone

KU is coming off an 87-86 loss at Miami(Fla.) Thursday night. Randall only scored six points in the contest, which ended the Jayhawks' 11-game winning streak.

Saturday will mark the first K-State-KU game in Bramlage Coliseum. The Wildcats defeated the Jayhawks 65-51 in the first game Field House. The last time K-State beat KU in Manhattan was in 1983 when the 'Cats edged out the Jayhawks 58-57.

Probable Starters

State (8-3)	Pos.	Kansas (13-2)
obbins(6-5, Sr.)	F	Newton(6-4, Sr.)
itt(6-6, Jr.)	F	Randall(6-9, So.)
assop(6-8, Jr.)	C	Alvar.(6-10, Sr.)
enson(6-1, Jr.)	G	Pritchard (6-3, Jr.)
umph.(6-4, Sr.)	G	Barry(6-4, Sr.)

revenge

First-place teams square off when Lady Cats meet Colorado

By Mike Rouse Collegian Reporter

The K-State Lady Cats will face one of their stiffest tests of the year when they meet the Colorado Lady Buffs at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in Bramlage Coliseum.

Colorado is 11-3 overall, 1-0 in the Big Eight Conference and is coming off a 77-53 victory Wednesday over Nebraska. Colorado also defeated second-ranked Lousiana Tech 61-60 Jan. 3.

"They are a very good team," K-State Coach Matilda Mossman said. "They play a lot of seniors while we play a lot of sophomores."

K-State is coming off a 78-68 victory Wednesday over Oklahoma State and is tied with Colorado atop the Big Eight standings with identical 1-0 and 11-3 records. A victory against Colorado will give the Lady Cats one more conference victory than they had all of last year, but Mossman believes this K-State team is not that different from the team that went 1-13 in the Big Eight last year. "We are a much better team than a year ago, with the same players,"

Mossman said she believes the victory over Oklahoma State will carry over into Saturday's game. "We have gained a lot of confidence this year and the victory over OSU just compounds that confidence," she said.

K-State continues to be led in scoring by Nadira Hazim, who is averaging 15.3 points a game. Hazim scored a season-high 24 points against Oklahoma State.

One reason for the Lady Cats' success so far, has been the way they have finally started taking higher percentage shots from the field, Mossman said.

"We are doing a good job of getting ourselves in position as individuals, for the shots we feel comfortable with," she said.

Freshman Mary Jo Miller continues to be impressive with her leadership skills at the point guard spot for the Lady Cats.

Miller is averaging 8.1 points a game and has scored in double figures, four times this year, including a career-high 19 points against OSU. Miller is the team leader in assists with 4.1 a game and has had eight assists in two games this

Probable Starters
Lady Cats (11-3)	Pos.	Colorado (11-
Bahner(5-11, So.)	F	Tripp(5-10, Sr
D.Miller(5-10, So.)	F	Starks(6-0, Jr
Matteuc.(5-11, Jr.)	C	Ford(6-2, Sr
Hazim(5-7, So.)	G	Turner(5-8, Sr
M.Miller(5-5, Fr.)	G	Wilson(5-4 Jr

Tennis facility opens tonight

By Jodi Johnson Collegian Reporter

K-State's women's tennis team will begin a new tradition at 8 tonight in Ahearn Field House with the official grand opening of new tennis facilities.

The event, which features the unveiling of portable indoor tennis courts, will be highlighted by an appearance of 1931 Wimbledon singles champion Sidney Wood.

Wood and former nationally ranked tennis pro Fred Kovaleski were to have challenged K-State tennis coach Steve Bietau and Dave Hoover, a Manhattan resident and former K-State tennis standout, in an exhibition match, but Kovaleski had to cancel Thursday. Kovaleski will be replaced for the event, but it is not known who will be his replacement.

A feature match will follow the exhibition match and will include Wood, K-State Athletic Director Steve Miller and former K-State Athletic Director Ernie Barrett. Barrett played in the first basketball game at Ahearn in 1950. "It's exciting to have Emie back when you think about all that he has meant to K-State athletics," Bietau said. "It's also exciting from a tennis standpoint to think about having Sidney Wood participate in this event. I think it will be enjoyable to everyone and a great start to our new facility."

The portable courts, Courtship, are the first of their kind to be installed in the United States, and are made of Decoturf, the same surface used on the courts at the U.S. Open in Forrest Hills, N.Y.

The three courts are divided into See TENNIS, Page 14 not after

By Mike Goens Sports Writer

K-State senior forward Mark Dobbins said the loss to Kansas in the Midwest Regional final last year in Pontiac, Mich., will probably stick with him forever. But he said it will not be a factor when the teams get together Saturday afternoon in the Big Eight Conference opener for both schools at Bramlage Coliseum.

"Everybody remembers the last game. We're anxious to play them again," Dobbins said. However, looking back at the season, he said it was still a very successful one.

Besides the loss to KU at regionals last year, Dobbins may also have an added incentive on his mind Saturday. The fifth-year senior has never played in a K-State win against the Jayhawks in Manhattan.

"I remember the pain of losing to KU at home last year. It was just disappointing," he said.

Dobbins said the game, to the players, is not a matter of bragging rights as much as being an important conference home game. He added that playing KU to open the conference schedule doesn't bother the team because it's just the way the schedule turned out.

"We'd love to win, it would be a good way to start the conference season. You can't put too much emphasis on the rivalry," Dobbins said. "You need to win at home in the conference and whenever you can on the K-State has had a week to prepare for the Jayhawks, following the Wildcats' loss to Minnesota last Saturday. Dobbins said it was an advantage for the Wildcats because they have been using the time to get in shape.

"Hopefully, the hard work will pay off," he said.

Jayhawks Saturday, the Humboldt native said the Wildcats must concentrate on getting back on defense to stop KU from running, which they have been doing well. "KU's record is no surprise," Dobbins said. "(All-American Danny) Manning was a great player, but you don't win a national championship with one player. They have good leadership. They're playing well."

Dobbins is perhaps K-State's best defensive player, and will probably

In order for K-State to stop the match up against KU's Milt Newton when the 'Cats are in a man-to-man defense.

> Dobbins has started the past four games after scoring a season-high 13 points in a win at Missouri-Kansas City and then grabbing a season-high eight rebounds along with 12 points two nights later at Akron.

One of Dobbins strengths seems to be his awareness on the court, which is probably why he has also been recognized for his awareness in the classroom.

K-State forward Mark Dobbins, who has started the last four games, says revenge will not be a factor when K-State plays Kansas.

Airport

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

pilot Mary Harrington.

The air sectional chart published two days before the flight service closed listed the old frequency and said the Flight Service Station was in operation. This chart was to be in effect until December 1988.

Aircraft have often attempted to approach both ends of the runway at the same time to land and pilots did not know it because they were talking on different frequencies, the report stated.

"Pilots could be on the right frequency according to the flight charter but really be talking on an old frequency and not know it," she said.

The frequencies are authorized by the FCC, and the change was finally made in September, and a notice informing pilots of the change was issued, Wallerstedt said.

Graber and Harrington both said they have had some close calls in the air, and the incidents could have been prevented if a traffic control tower or a flight service system was in use.

"An Army helicopter was coming in, and I was taking off on the same runway. Luckily, I saw him in time and avoided his aircraft. A tower would have helped," Graber said.

An incident is considered a "near miss" if two planes (or other aircraft) come within 500 feet of each other, he said.

"Twice, I've seen aircraft trying to land on the same runway when I was taking off," Harrington said. "We were on the runway at the same time, in both incidents, and the other plane was coming straight toward me."

Losing the Flight Service has also caused a decrease in flight operations and has hurt the airport economically, Harrington said.

The Army used to fly an Air-Evac DC-9 medical plane into the airport to re-fuel and pick up patients from Irwin Army Hospital, but stopped in August after the Flight Service closed, she said. The Air-Evac was making about four to six stops in Manhattan weekly, according to the

This caused the airport to lose about $15,000 worth of fuel sales to the military, Harrington said.

The Air Force also stopped bringing in its Red Cross plane for refueling, said Manhattan Mayor Dave

"(The Air Force) won't fly in here without any Flight Service," Fiser Harrington started a drive in August with other area pilots to get an air traffic control tower. Based on a survey done by the Manhattan Flight Service Station in 1987, Harrington said Manhattan has enough air traffic to justify a tower. According to the study, 71,079 flight operations were conducted in 1987, but the FAA counted only 38,575 operations and said Manhattan isn't busy enough to use a tower.

The figures are different because the FAA is not counting operations the same way at Manhattan as it does at other area airports.

Operations recorded by Manhattan's Flight Serivce were counted as a control tower station would count them. Control towers count all approaches, landings, takeoffs and touch-and-go's as two points toward work performed, even when multiple operations are performed by the same craft. The FAA gave these operations one point per craft in its

If the FAA is comparing Manhattan's traffic to other airports with towers, then flight operations should be scored equally, Harrington said.

All data concerning flight operations was obtained from a survey by the Manhattan Flight Service Station in October. November and December 1987 and from the FAA Air Traffic Activity report published by the U.S. Department of Transportation and the FAA, and was compiled by Harrington.

Operations include landings and takeoffs, any approaches to the runway, military exercises and instrument testing in the designated airspace. Manhattan's airspace covers the area in a five-mile radius from the airport and up to 3,000 feet above sea

"There is big mix of traffic coming in here," Graber said.

Manhattan serves commuter, military and general aviation, and conducts flight training.

Two commuter services, Capitol Air and Air Midwest, average 12 flights daily to Kansas City International Airport. Fort Riley makes 50 to 60 approaches weekly. Locally owned private aircraft do more than 40 approaches a week, and other users make at least 10 approaches a week.

K-State also attracts many chartered planes on weekends and for special events. During football season, about 60 visiting planes crowd the runways on game days according to the Flight Service study. The Landon Lecture Series also brings numerous private and chartered planes into Manhattan.

The city has the second busiest airport in Kansas, conducting more operations than Salina, Hutchinson or Topeka airports, all of which have control towers, according to FAA

Wichita's Mid-Continent airport is the only airport with more operations, FAA officials said.

Salina counted 52,426 operations in 1987, Hutchinson recorded 54,712, and Topeka had 68,841, according to FAA records.

The K-State Parachute Club routinely jumps 20 miles east of Manhattan near Wamego.

Airport's terminal to be remodeled

By Audra Dietz Staff Writer

The Manhattan Municipal Airport Advisory Committee discussed more improvements for the airport terminal and runway on Thursday.

Installing a control tower was discussed but no decisions or recommendations were made. However, a position paper on the control tower from the advisory committee was given to the city commsission, said Bruce McCallum, director of public works.

New carpet and wall covering will be put in the terminal Monday by Crown Decorating, said Airport Manager John Wallerstedt.

New tile in the vending area will be laid and the ticket counter will also be re-covered in the project, because the "terminal takes a lot of hard knocks," he said.

The remodeling project will cost the city between $5,700 and $6,000, McCallum said. The money will be taken out of the 1988 airport budget.

Construction of a new ramp from the terminal to the runway will start this spring.

"This (ramp) will let us bring in larger aircraft," McCallum said. Money for the ramp will come from local taxes and some federal matching funds and from unused portions of federal grants received

The city has $920,000 in federal funds for the ramp construction. The money must be used within a three-year period, and $300,000 will be used for this project in 1989, McCallum said.

Projects such as improving parking space for cars and airplanes, building a taxi ramp for local cab companies or installing a control tower are not eligible for federal grants, he said.

There is $60,000 of local tax money being used for remodeling the terminal and building the ramp,

"Our main problem is getting enough local money to keep these projects going," McCallum said.

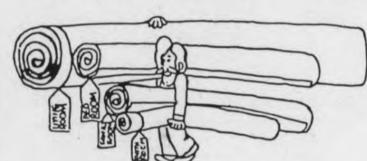

Airport funds must come from the city's general tax fund, but this remodeling project does not qualify as an area in need of city

The airport will have to compete with other departments, like parks and recreation, for the money," McCallum said.

About $500,000 is available in federal grants for constructing the airport ramp, but that is only about half of what is needed to complete the project, Wallerstedt said.

Manhattan had a total of 40,218 enplanements in 1988 making it eligible for federal funds.

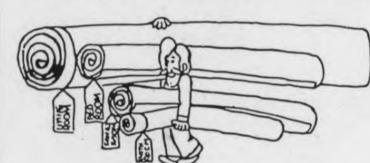

BRYANT CARPET CO.'s CARPET REMNANT SALE

BRYANT CARPET HEARTLAND HOME INTERIORS

Just across the Viaduct (at the foot of K-Hill) Mon.-Fri. 8:30-5:30

776-4367

Sat. 9:30-4

776-5577

776-5577

Pizza Shuttle

"NO COUPON SPECIALS"

Everyday Two-Fers 2-10 in. pizzas 2—Toppings 2-Cokes $8.00

FAST N FREE DELIVERY

BUY ONE! GET ONE

Women's Shoes 1222 Moro Aggieville

Get Personal in Collegian Classifieds

Welcome Back Students Weekend Special

Come visit our Pet Dept.

PIRANHA $3.00 reg. $4.50

NEON 2 for $1.00 reg. 80¢ each

while supplies last

GREEN THUMB PLANTS - PETS

Serving Manhattan Over 30 Years 1105 WATERS-539-4751 ACROSS FROM ALCO

alike variety and excitement

■require a flexible schedule

need some extra cash,

JOIN US IN OUR PURSUIT OF EXCELLENCE

Interested individuals contact:

■ Boyd Food Center (532-6484).

Derby Food Center (532-6483).

■ Kramer Food Center (532-6482).

WE WANT TO MAKE YOUR STUDENT LOAN!

Have the professionals at Kansas State Bank make your student loan. Simply contact us at:

537-4400

Lender code #821176

KANSAS STATE BANK

Westloop • Aggieville • K-State Union, Manhattan, Kansas 66502

about Godfather's Pizza?™

The taste, the toppings...and these terrific moneysaving coupons!

539-5303

Two Large

Pepperoni Pizzas

only $10.99

Present this coupon and

receive TWO large pepproni pizzas for

only $10.99.

Aggieville $7.99 Large Lunch Buffet

$3.75 Present this coupon and receive ONE all you care to eat lunch buffet and a free refill

only soft drink for only $3.75. Monday-Friday, lunch time only.

WE DELIVER Expires: 3-31-89

WE DELIVER

1118 Laramie

10

$5.99 Medium

Present this coupon and receive a large single topping Original pizza for only $7.99 or a medium for only $5.99.

UPC dance promotes safety

By The Collegian Staff

For those who like to think safety first, the Union Program Council Eclectic Entertainment Committee is sponsoring the "All New and Improved Ranger Bob Safety Dance" from 9 to midnight tonight in the Union Catskeller.

"Ranger Bob is a character on MTV's (Music Television) game show Remote Control," said Monte Stull, senior in arts and sciences and committee chairman. "If contestants choose his channel, they lose points but get a safety tip. For example, one time he came on missing a hand and he warned people never to feed bears."

The idea is to have a safe night because it is Friday the 13th, said Karen Smaldone, graduate student in speech and program adviser. "I never realized how hard it was to think of a fun idea for a dance," Stull said. "We thought Ranger Bob would be something fun and different. Who knows, maybe you will be seeing more of him the rest of the semester or maybe he will become a mascot for the committee, kind of like Opus (the cartoon character) has been."

Smaldone said there will be a disc jockey and that Mr. and Mrs. Black Student Union will also be at the dance informing people of events that will take place during Martin Luther King Jr. Week.

■ See DANCE, Page 14

U.S. agents foil conspiracy

By The Associated Press

NEWARK, N.J. - U.S. Customs agents on Thursday arrested a Korean-born naturalized citizen in an alleged international conspiracy to buy and export missiles and nervegas weapons from the United States, officials said.

A complaint filed in U.S. District Court identified the man as Juwhan Yun, also known as J.W. Yun, 48, president of Komex International Corp. of Short Hills. The nature of the business was not immediately

Yun awaited arraignment today on charges of conspiracy to export 500-pound bombs of a deadly nerve gas known as sarin, said Richard Mercier, agent in charge of the Customs office in Newark.

Mercier would not say where or how Yun allegedly intended to ship

Mercier said Yun negotiated with an undercover Customs agent to purchase the bombs. Yun and conspirators also tried to acquire TOW I and TOW II missiles, Stinger missiles and Varian radar tubes, according to the complaint. If convicted, Yun could receive up to five years in prison and a $250,000

Sarin attacks the central nervous system, quickly causing convulsions and death. Mercier described the gas as a "very rapid, odorless, colorless poison which can enter the body by inhalation, absorption or injection. Also named in the complaint was Charles Caplan of Britain.

The Department of Human Development and Family Studies will sponsor a seminar in honor of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. BLACK FAMILIES AND INSTITUTIONS

College of Human Ecology Justin Hall Room 109 Tuesday January 17 4:30-5:30 p.m.

WANTED Radio Announcers

Applications are now being accepted for announcer/DJ positions for various on-air shifts, including weekends. Prior AM or FM broadcast experience is necessary. Apply at our All-New studios, 2414 Casement Road, Manhattan, Monday-Friday, 8 a.m.-5 p.m. KMKF.

KQLA

Thank you to all who participated in Pacesetters

John Baker

Fern Grant

Trent Holden Roxie Keller

Sharon Maze

Roseann Ross

Brian Palmer

Allyson Schaff

Scott VanderLaan

Pacesetters

Top callers: John Baker

Trent Holden

Scott VanderLaan

Sharon Maze

Allyson Schaff

Also to those of you who donated prizes:

University Inn

Subs-n-Such

SII Sub-n-Stuff

Student Foundation

Pyramid Pizza

Westloop 6 Theatres

Ice Cream Social

AHEARN TENNIS GRAND OPENING

FRIDAY, JAN. 13th, 8:00 p.m.

TWO EXHIBITION MATCHES

Featuring SIDNEY WOOD

Wood is the 1931 Wimbledon Singles Champion & former U.S. Davis Cup team member. He held #1 world ranking & has been inducted into the Tennis Hall of Fame.

Ernie Barrett

Former KSU Athletic Director who has the distinction of having not only played in the first basketball game in Aheam Field House, but the first tennis match as well

Fred Kovaleski Former World Class Player once ranked as high as #12. Mitch Holthus The "Voice of the Wildcats"

Athletic Director of KSU Dave Hoover A former Kansas State Tennis standout will be chair umpire for the Steve Bietau celebrity match. Head Coach of the KSU

TICKETS: Available at Ahearn Ticket Office General Admission:

$3.00 for Adults $1.00 for College Age & under For information regarding special reserve ticket packages which include hosted reception in Bramlage Coliseum "Legends Room" contact: KSU Tennis Office, 532-7198

Women's Tennis Team

Steve Miller

1800 Claflin 776-4111 Open 2 p.m. to 2 a.m.

We've got the game on big screen!

KQLA

"CINEMA" PITCHERS

"Closest stop before and after the KU game!"" We're open at noon! *KU fans permitted

Pyramid Pizza

Offering Thin Crust Or Our Original Golden Braided Crust

so you'll want to order more"

The Delivery is Fast, Friendly, and FREE!!!

One Medium 13 inch Single Topping Pizza

For Only $6.50 Try our thin crust or our original golden braided crust

TWO LARGE PIZZAS

Expires 2/1/89

Plus 2 quarts of COKE Additional toppings extra
Expires 2/1/89

TWO MEDIUM PIZZAS For $9.50

Plus 2 quarts of COKE Additional toppings extra Expires 2/1/89

One Large 16 inch Single Topping Pizza For Only $7.99

Try our thin crust or our original golden braided crust. Expires 2/1/89

We accept Visa and Mastercard

Delivering all day, every day, For your convenience

Buffaloes roam Konza with new 'earrings'

From Staff and Wire Reports Thirty-four buffaloes, establishing a herd in a natural habitat on the Konza Prairie, roam freely with a special

Each buffalo has been tagged with personalized yellow "earrings" cattle eartags.

The black-numbered tags allow researchers to view and record the animals' actions on the Konza Prairie, a research site operated by K-State and owned by Nature Conservancy,

In order to tag the buffaloes Friday, they were baited into an outer pen of the corral at Konza Prairie with handfuls of range cubes — an alfalfa and protein treat. As the animals were moved through an alleyway into the pen, workers poked a select few with long, fiberglass poles to move them into working chutes.

Joe Gelroth, administrative associate of the Konza Prairie research park southeast of Manhattan, positioned himself at the last gate of the sorting pen. In the pen, 17 untagged calves and adults received a quick pierce through the ear and the numbered tags were inserted.

"Give her an earring," yelled Ted Barkley, a worker with a background in botany.

The buffaloes shot out of the squeeze chute's open gate, marking the end of the tagging process.

'We'll tag the buffalo every year for research purposes, observation and individual interactions between the bison," Gelroth said.

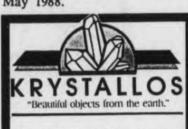

Behavior ecology is the focus of one of the researchers - Elmer Finck, the associate coordinator of the Konza Prairie. Another researcher will study the impact bison have on the vegetation, he said.

Finck will monitor the herd's structure and social interactions, such as determining the dominancy traits between males and females of the same and different age groups.

"Researchers log 30-minute observations by randomly picking one buffalo and monitoring its actions every 10 seconds," he said.

"We monitor whatever the buffalo is doing during the 30-minute period," Finck said, "whether they're sleeping, eating, fighting or pushing another animal."

About 160 hours of observation have been conducted monthly since May 1988.

'A gift shop specializing in unique and beautiful jewelry from around the world. 1124 Moro

Aggieville 539-0360

Kedzie 103

One day: 15 words or fewer, $2.50, 20 cents per word over 15; Two consecutive dates: 15 words or fewer, $3.50, 25 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.25, 30 cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 35 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $5.00, 40 cents per word over 15.

CLASSIFIED RATES

Cents per Word over 15.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publications. Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon FRIDAY for Monday's paper.

Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not show the water of the error.

after the value of the ad.

Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

Display Classified Rates

One day: $5.20 per inch; Three consecutive days: $5.00 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.80 per inch: Ten consecutive days: $4.80 per inch (Deadline is 4.2. p.m. two days before publication.)

Classified advertising is available only to those who do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, serious cripts as an appear.

nal origin, sex or ancestry.

Headaches? Nec!: Stiffness? Low Back Pain's Don't wait for it to get worse!!!

Call today 537-8305 Dr. Mark J. Hatesohl Chiropractor 3252 Kimball Avenue

MENS WEAR

We COMMENTER Lastrion clothing for men CLEARANCE

JACKETS, WINTER COATS, SWEATERS SLACKS, SPORT COATS, SHIRTS

> WELCOME BACK KSU!

1219 Bluemont

1208 MORO IN AGGIEVILLE

OPEN: 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

MON.-SAT.

THURS. til 8:30

Present this coupon for Any Burrito and Soft Drink for only $1.95!!

(Bean, Beef, or Combination Burritos only) Offer expires 1/31/89

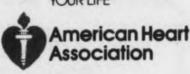

Open Daily at 11 a.m. 539-3166

ClassAds

Announcements

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs -skincare -glarnor -nails -gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor, 539-2070. COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp 539-6193. COMPLETE YOUR classroom requirements in one day at The Little Apple Driving School. Class is Satur-day, Jan. 14th. Call today! 539-4881 anytime.

> WE'RE FIGHTING FOR YOUR LIFE

Buy, Sell or Trade in Collegian Classifieds

SOUTH PADRE/ Spring Break '89— Nice rooms for a great pricel From $109 to $169 on the beach or minutes from it. Five or seven days. Don't spend all your money on a room, —you're never there anyway! (Limited space). Call 1-800-782-7653, ext 186.

SPRING BREAK '89 SOUTH PADRE ISLAND SHERATOR HOLIDAY INVIGULE VIEW

·-$213

DAYTONA BEACH ···* 118 MUSTANG ISLAND$136

HILTON HEAD ISLAND HILTON HEAD BEACH RESORT £107

DON'T WAIT 'TIL IT'S TOO LATE! 1-800-321-5911

WANTED— 100 overweight people to try herbal weight control program. No drugs, no exercise. Doctor recommended. 100% guaranteed. 776-5114,

Haves House of Music

532-6555

DOD Guitar Effects 30% OFF 776-7983

CHICKEN AND SPAGHETTI Tonight $3.95 All you can eat!

2 Apartments—Furnished

BASEMENT STUDIO apartment for one person. Close to campus, washer/ dryer, no pets. $175, plus one-third utilities. Call evenings 539-6144. (Continued on page 13)

16" PIZZA ONLY 599

one topping dine-in or free delivery with coupon expires Jan. 31 "premium pizza at a cardboard pizza price"

523 South 17th 537-1484

Special! Read All About It.

Notice To All Students

T.J. Cinnamons Bakery, located next to Kinkos in Aggieville, is under new management. Baker Paul says, "Start your semester off right and get on a roll with T.J. Cinnamons Bakery."

Hours: Mon.-Sat. 7 a.m.-7 p.m. Sun. 7 a.m.-1 p.m.

UNDER GREAT NEW MANAGEMENT!

Religious Directory

539-3921

Trinity Presbyterian Church

Church School 9:30 a.m.

Worship 10:45 a.m.

UNITARIAN-UNIVERSALIST

FELLOWSHIP OF MANHATTAN

10:45 a.m. Service & Sunday School

Nursery provided, everyone welcome

On K-18. 1/2 mile east of K-177

For info: call 537-2349

Unity Church

of Manhattan

Sunday Service 11 a.m.

·Nursary Provided

1110 College Ave.

Blue Valley Memorial United Methodist Worship 10:30 a.m. Sunday School 9:15 a.m. Nursery provided

835 Church Ave.

Christian Campus Ministry Worship 10:30 a.m. & 6 p.m. Bible Classes 9:30 a.m. & Wed. 7:30 p.m. Andy Miller-Campus Minister 2510 Dickens Ave. 539-6581

COLLEGE AVENUE UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

Sunday School - 9:30 a.m. (College-age Class) Worship Service - 10:45 a.m. 1609 College Ave.

Crestview Christian Church Worship 10:30 a.m. & 6:30 p.m. Collegiate Sunday School 9:30 Home Bible Study Groups 4301 Tuttle Creek Blvd. (on Hwy. 24, across from State Park)

Evangelical Free Church of Manhattan S.W. comer 14th & Anderso Steve Ratliff, Pastor Worship 9 a.m. Sunday School 10:15 a.m.

STUDENTS WELCOME! COLLEGE HEIGHTS BAPTIST CHURCH

776-2086 Nursery Provided 776-0259

9:15 a.m. Sunday School 10:30 a.m. Worship Service 6 p.m. Training Hour 7 p.m. Worship Service 2221 College Heights Rd. 537-7744

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Church School-9:45 a.m. Worship-8:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. Disciples of Christ

115 Courthouse Plaza 776-8790

FIRST LUTHERAN CHURCH Worship at 8:30 and 11 a.m. Sunday School-9:40 a.m. (Collegiate Class) 10th & Poyntz 537-8532

Grace Baptist

Collegiate Class 9:15 a.m. Morning Worship 10:30 a.m. 2901 Dickens

Manhattan Mennonite Fellowship Sunday School 9:30 a.m. Worship 10:45 a.m. KSU Student Group 7 p.m. Dorothy Nickel Friesen, Pastor 1021 Denison

St. Isidore's Catholic Student Center Masses: Set. 5 p.m. Sun. 9:30, 11 a.m. & 5 p.m. Confessions: Sat. 3:30 p.m.

539-4079

711 Denison 539 Chaplain: Father Norbert F. Diabal

Study group 6:30 p.m. Sun. 1221 Thurston, UFM House 539-8416 University Christian 776-5440 8:30-11 a.m. Worship 9:45 a.m. Sunday School 6:30 p.m. Eve. Service Accessible To Handicapped Students

Valleyview Community Church Now meeting at University Inn Lower level 17th & Anderson 10:30 a.m. Sunday Dan Walter, Campus Pastor 776-0112

St. Francis Episcopal Campus Ministry Corner of 6th & Poyntz Church times: Sunday 8:30 & 10:30 a.m. Rt. Rev. Rob Saunders 776-9427

Church of the Nazarene Morning Worship-10:50 Evening Praise-6:00

Sunday School-9:45

First

College Class-9:30 Pastor K. Ray McDowell 539-6376 (home) 1000 Fremont 539-2851 (church) *Nursery Available

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH 537-0518 801 Leavenworth

Worship 8°30 & 11 am.

Church School 9:30 am. *College Outreach (Tuesday, K-State Union) ·Weekday Programs for Youth Senior Minister Rev. Dr. Phillip S. Gittings III

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

8:45 a.m. Communion (first Sunday of the month) 9:45 a.m. Church School 8:45 & 11 a.m. Worship Nursery provided for all services

John D. Stoneking, Pastor 612 Poyntz 776-8821

> Manhattan Jewish Congregation

1509 Wreath Ave. 539-8462 Shabbat Services 8 p.m. Fri. Religious School 9:30 Sun. Rides available sponsor B'nai B'nith Hille! at K-State

Campus Adviser, David Margolies, 532-6154

St. Luke's Lutheran Church Worship Saturday 6 p.m. Sunday 8 and 10:45 a.m.

> -Bible Class-Sunday 9:30 a.m.

330 N. Sunset 539-2604

LUTHERAN CAMPUS MINISTRY

invites you ...

WORSHIP, SUNDAY 11 a.m. Danforth Chapel (campus) Lutheran Student Movement 5 p.m. Sunday - Lutheran Student Center Don Fallon, Pastor

SPECIAL HOURS THIS FRIDAY AND SATURDAY...

I.G. HOOK COORDINATES 1/2 price WOOL COORDINATES 1/2 price OVERSIZE SUPER MOCK-T & TURTLENECKS from $7.90 SWEATERS 1/2 Price

NEW SPRING GROUPS FROM GITANO, IVY, AND MORE

331 Poyntz, Downtown Manhattan

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM in an 18-plex, two blocks from KSU. Gas heat, no pets, $295. 776-3804 or

NICE ONE-BEDROOM spartment. Water, trash, three-fourths gas paid. Laundry facilities. Nice for gradu-ate student or couple. $265. 539-2482 after 4p.m.

NICE ONE-BEDROOM apartment refurnished last summer. Real close to campus also January rent paid $295, $295 a month. Call 776-1985.

ONE TWO-BEDROOM furnished apartment for sub-lease at Anderson Place. Call 539-1222.

SLEEPING ROOM: Furnished, private bath, cable TV. Looking for mature student to rent room for $150, bills paid. 776-3333, after 5:30p.m.

SMALL BASEMENT apartment west of campus. $175 includes all utilities. No pets. 539-5051 or 776-3804.

THREE-BEDROOM APARTMENT— Close to campus and Aggieville. $375 plus deposit and utilities. 537-6841.

TWO-BEDROOM IN quiet, modern adult complex near campus. Paid heat, laundry, carport, patio. $335. Available now. Minimum year lease. No smoking, pets, waterbeds. 537-9686.

ONE-BEDROOM on Sunset, $260 plus gas and electric. Laundry facilities, no pets, please, 539-5051 or 776-3804.

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

FOR RENT: Three-bedroom apartment. One block south of campus. Very reasonable rates. Call Bill at C'MON OUT, JEFF ..

THE HATCH IS OPEN!

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM on 17th Street available now

Two blocks to carripus. Balcony, gas heat, laundry facilities. $310. 537-9020 or 776-3804.

LARGE TWO bedrooms, leases available now and next August. Furnished and unfurnished. Phone 537-9064 daily.

NICE LARGE two-bedroom apartment, $350 per month, 537-4848.

NICE, ONE-BEDROOM two blocks from campus. $260 cludes all utilities, 537-4851 after 4p.m.

NICE ONE-BEDROOM in Lee/ Hunting area available now. Fireplace, dishwasher, laundry facilities, $340, 539-2103 or 776-3804.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM near City Park in 24-piex. All appliances, laundry facilities. $380, 537-8229 or 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM, NEWLY renovated, $250/ month, unfurnished, close to campus, sublease. 776-2018 (Pete). Available starting next week. ONE-BEDROOM, SECOND floor located 814 Leavenworth, $175/ month plus utilities. Available now. 539-3672. ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT in City Park area, $235 plus gas and electric. No pets. 539-8229 or 776-3804.

STUDIO APARTMENT adjacent to carripus, close to Aggleville. College Court Apartments. $220 monthly. Private parking, air conditioning, washer/ dryer and storage lockers. Call 532-7159. TWO-BEDROOM, MOST utilities paid. 539-6058 or

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT, one block from campus. Stove, refrigerator furnished. 1-468-3364.

4 Automobiles for Sale

1974 VW, new brake system, new battery, good tires,

1977 MONTE Carlo. Fully loaded with sunroof. $1,150

or best offer, 776-7689 ATTENTION- GOVERNMENT seized vehicles from $100. Fords, Mercedes, Corvettes, Chevys. Surplus Buyers Guide. 1-602-838-8885 ext. A1797.

HE'S WACHING

"GERALDO !!

PANIC RACES THROUGH CHARMIN'S MIND AS SHE BEGINS TO THINK THE WORST ... IS JEFFREY DEAD? DID HE RUN OUT OF OXYGON? have the weeks of SOLATION IN A BOMB SHELTER CAUSED HIM TO DO SOMETHING

SO WE GOT OFF

SO WHAT!

ON A BAD START, SO

HER FEARS

SUBSIDE WHEN

7 Child Care

LICENSED DAY Care Home toddler opening, Marlatt area, hot meals and activities. Call 776-4425 after area, hot meals and ac 6p.m. 776-2183.

8 Computers

AT&T 6300 512K, $750 or best offer. Software included

IBM MODEL 30 with Epson EX800, $1,700. Call

LAPTOP DATA General Model 2, modern, coprocessor, 512K, HP Think Jet Printer, carrying case. 1-238-4998.

LINE PRINTER ribbons for sale- Black multistrike no. QM MS (4) dozen), $1.25 each. Black nylon no. QM NY (15), $2.25 each. Call 532-6555 or come by

MACINTOSH 512KE Computer and 20MG hard drive. Programs included. Pagemaker, Filemaker Plus, Gulde, Reflex, MacMoney, also many games. $2,200 or best offer. 539-8535. UPGRADING? WRITER of science fiction wants to buy

ENITH

PERSONAL COMPUTERS Authorized Warranty Service

also servicing

· PC compatibles & printers · Televisions & VCRs

MIDWEST SERVICES 624 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

9 Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to approach any such "employment opportunity" with reasonable caution

$10- $660 weekly/ up mailing circulars! Rush self-addressed stamped envelope: Dept. AN-7CC-CU, 9300 Wilshire, Suite 470, Beverly Hills, CA 90212. ATTENTION— HIRINGI Government jobs— your area. $17,840- $69,485. Call 1-602-838-8885 ext R1797.

BUSINESS MAJOR to work 10 to 20 hours per week keeping books for laboratory. Must be able to work over surnmer and through next year. Call Jennifer.

CHILDCARE -- OUR home: Monday, Wednesday, Friday 11:45a.m. - 5:15p.m. Own transportation. Study time allotted. 776-8663 after 5:30p.m.

CRUISE SHIPS jobs. Now hiring men and women. Summer and career opportunities. Excellent pay plus world travel. Hawaii, Bahamas, Caribbean, etc. Call nowl (206)736-7000 ext 326C.

EARLY CHILDHOOD Assistant teacher, part-time Mon day, Wednesday, Friday, 11a.m. to 1p.m. and if possible, Monday, Wednesday, Friday, 4:15-5:15p.m. Requirements: High school diploma or equivalent and experience working with groups of children. Please apply to Marsha Tannehill, Seven Dolors Childcare Preschool, 728 Colorado (Eighth and Colorado) by Jan. 20.

EXPANDING FIRM seeks motivated part-time programmers. C-language experience preferred. Contact ICADA Technologies, Inc. (537-2864) before

FOR STUDENT office assistant. Duties include typing, running errands and general office work, 15 hours/ week at $3,35/ hour. Call 532-6875 for

GUARANTEED MEGABUCKS. Selling jewelry, manufacturer wants saleswomen. Below wholesale prices, higher profits for yousss, information? 776-5545.

JANITOR TO clean establishment Friday, Saturday and Sunday, flexible hours. (15 hours). Phone 776-5587 after Sparts consider.

MCDONALD'S AT 815 N. Third is accepting applica-tions for all day parts. They will be taken at your convenience. Please apply in person, no phone

Making the Grade

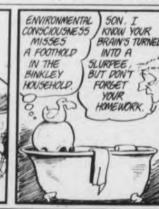

By Berke Breathed

Bloom County

By Charles Schulz

Peanuts

Garfield

Dear Brother Snoopy. Please tell your friends I appreciate being invited to the "Ugly Dog" contest

NEED COMPANION/ maid one or two weekdays for housekeeping and caring for handicapped hus-band. Call 776-6584 between 11a.m. and 7p.m.

OFFICE ASSISTANT needed. Student position available for Monday through Friday afternoons in a fast paced office. Applicant must be able to type 40 wpm, communicate well with people, have good attention to detail and work well with distractions. Knowledge of Food Service and personal correcters is desired. Ability to acquire a Food Handler's Card is a must. Starting salary $3.65' hour. Offers excellent practical experience in business. Bring your spring semester schedule and apply now at the Food Service Office on first floor of the K-State Union. Applications will be accepted the supplementations. Union. Applications will be accepted through

OVERSEAS JOBS. $900- $2,000 month. Summer year-round, all countries, all fields, free information. Write IJC, P.O. Box 52-KS02, Corona Del Mar, CA

PART-TIME SALES person needed to work weekends for local furniture store. Please send resumes to Box 3, c/o The Collegian, Kedzie 103, KSU, Manhattan, KS 66506.

PART-TIME HELP wanted. 15- 20 hours a week. No experience necessary. Call 537-9188 or apply at 220 Levee Drive.

PART-TIME CUSTODIAN at First Lutheran Church, 10th and Poyntz. Apply at church office, 9a.m., noon, 1- 4p.m. weekdays. Deadline Jan. 19.
PART-TIME SALES help— Retail shoes. Experience required. Send schedule, resume to: Box 2, c/o The Collegian, Kedzie 103, KSU, Manhattan, KS 66506.

PRESCHOOL HANDICAPPED teacher: A private nonprofit corporation providing services to the developmentally disabled has a part-time position in Manhattan. Appropriate degree or minimum three years experience with handicapped preschoolers.
Starting salary $6.56 per hour. Position starts Jan.
26, 1989. Submit application and two letters of reference by Jan. 17, 1989. Contact Big Lakes Developmental Center, Inc., 1500 Hayes Drive,
Manhattan, KS. 776-9201. EOE.
RESPONSIBLE HARD-WORKING person to help with housecleaning four-five hours a week and provide

SPONSIBLE HARD-WORKING person to help with housecleaning four-five hours a week and provide occasional transportation for 10-year-old girl. Please reply to Box 4, c/o The Collegian, Kedzie 103, KSU, Manhattan, KS 66506, Include two local

SCHOOL BUS drivers needed. $4.75 per hour, must be 21 years of age, have a good driving record and complete a training program. Bus driving experience not required. Part-time, 6:30-8:30a.m. and 2:40-4:30p.m. Job description available. Apply to USD 383, 2031 Poyntz Ave., Manhattan, KS 66502, (913)537-2400, EOE.

SCIENCE MAJOR to work early morning hours in a laboratory. 7:30- 9:30a.m. daily. Must be able to work through next year. Also needing students with large blocks of time. Call Jennifer, 532-6131.

STUDENT ASSISTANT needed for routine library tasks. Must be available Monday, Wednesday, Friday, 11a.m. to 1p.m. Vet Medical Library, fourth Trotter Hall FOE

STUDENT CONTROL Assistant/ Runner: 15-20 hours per week. Will deliver printouts around campus, work with on-line JCL, computer tapes, and peripheral equipment. Typing skills necessary. Some evening and weekend hours will be required. Need to be available to work during school breaks. Students with two years or more employment potential preferred. Applications accepted through potential preferred. Applications accepted through 5p.m., Jan. 13 in room 2B, Farrell Library. Contact

STUDENT HELP for general labor, $4/ hour. Prefer students able to work four-hour morning blocks. Apply in person in payroll office, 117 Dykstra Hall Apply by Jan. 19.

SUMMER JOBS outdoors. Over 5,000 openings! Na-tional parks, forests, fire crews. Send stamp for free details. 113 E. Wyoming, Kalispell, MT 59901.

VISTA DRIVE In is now taking applications for full- and part-time help. Must be able to work some noon shifts. Apply in person. WORK-STUDY STUDENT preferred to work in dairy sales counter, Call Hall. Contact Harold Roberts, room 130, Call Hall, or call 532-5654.

ANALYST

Entry level position at DPRA, Inc., a contact research firm specializing in environmental and regulatory issues. Applicants should have an advanced degree in resource economics, agronomy, soil sciences, biology or evironmental science. An undergraduate degree in a quantitative area (e.g. mathematics, systems science or engineering), some physical science or chemistry would be helpful, but is not required. Good verbal and writing skills are required. Salary range 18,000-24,000 with excellent KAPPA SIGMA Doug—Sorry you've been sick all week How about going down to Last Chance to test you benefits. Send letter and resume to director of human resources,

13 Houses/Mobile Homes for Sale

ATTENTION- GOVERNMENT homes from $1 (You repair). Delinquent tax property. Reposs Call (602)838-8885 ext GH1797.

14 Lost and Found

FOUND: BLACK puppy with white markings on campus Call 532-4542, or evenings 776-2456.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, Friday, January 13, 1989

15 Miscellaneous Merchandise

DJ SYSTEM. Mixer, equalizer, ampillier and Bose speakers with stands. Sansul receiver and speak-ers. 776-7689.

FOR SALE: Architecture drawing board, T-square and art box with some supplies. Mary 539-8421. FOR SALE: Dining table and chairs. Call 537-2970 from

SUN N CONNECTION

Back to School Special

5 sessions $12.50 10 sessions $25.00 Buy NOW and SAVE!

Manhattan's Largest Tanning Salon 1126 Laramie 776-2426

> Men's Basketball Sat. Jan. 21

VS. NEBRASKA

K-STATE

$23 package includes *Roundtrip motor coach transportation ★Game Ticket

★Pregame Activity

Classic Travel & Tours

104 S. 4th 537-7546

His & Her PERMS $1995

> TANNING SESSIONS

776-1330

18 Personals

BETA JF: You win! Margaritas, coolers and schnapper mix well with one tequila sunrise. Let's try Wichita again adding your idea. Thanks for a super break, babe. Love, AS.

SCOTT, HAPPY Birthday Sweet 26I You're not getting older, you're getting better! Love, Lars.

DPRA. Inc., P.O. Box 727.

Manhattan, KS 66502. E.O.E.

Delivery drivers and inside

VICKI- I Love You very very much! Forever yours.

20 Professional Services

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Cali 537-9180. 103 South Fourth St., Suite 25.

PROMPT ABORTION and contraceptive services Lawrence. (913)841-5716. WEDDING PHOTOGRAPHY doesn't have to cost a fortune. Let me show you my portfolio and informa-tion packet. Call Brad Fanshler, 776-3785 of 776-8805.

21 Rentals

SINGLE GARAGES near Aggieville. $25 per mor

MESTEAD RENTAL

-Home-owned/Home-operated

Manhattan's Complete Home Furnishings Rental Headquarters Furniture - TV - Appliances

 Month to month leases · Low monthly rental rates

• 1- or 2-bedroom apt. groupings Rent-to-own options

2332 Sky-Vue Lane M-S 9-6 537-8774

22 Resume/Typing Services

TERM PAPERS, cover letters, resumes, theses and dissertations entered, stored and completed to your specifications. Come see us. Ross Secretarial Services, 614 N. 12th (across from Kite's) 539-5147.

23 Roommate Wanted

CHEAP, CLOSE, Luxury turnished house, private bedroom, air conditioning, free cable Showtime, telephone, parking, now. 537-1388.

FEMALE, OWN room, two blocks from campus, $106.25/ month plus utilities. Call 1-762-4242. FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to share two-bedroom apartment close to campus. $100/ month, one-third utilities. Call Nanette, 537-1623.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share two-bedroom mobile home. Fully furnished with washer and dryer. $150 a month plus one-half utilities. 776-8683.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted, close to campus, $125. FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to share four-bedroom rtment two blocks from campus. Call 539-2239.

room, washer/ dryer, close to campus. Call 539-9451. MALE ROOMMATE wanted. $155 a month plus utilities.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to share house. Own

NEED: FEMALE to take over lease. Modern facilities, laundry in complex, low utilities, close to campus $133 plus utilities. 776-7913. NICE APARTMENT. Just across from campus. Call, stop by. $150/ month. 927 Denison #4. 537-3803.

NON-SMOKING FEMALE, own room, 1026 Osage.

ONE MALE, own room. No rent until February. No deposits or lease. Call 537-2056. ONE OR two female roommates wanted. Own room, $135 plus utilities. 537-6841.

ONE- TWO non-smoking females to share farmhouse.
Prefer Veterinary or Animal Science majors. Free
stall and pasture for horse, cow or dog. Cable, firework, beef and eggs furnished, P.O. Box 1211, ROOMMATE WANTED for two-story house with hardwood floors and bannister. Beautiful. 778-0553/ 1-492-3166.

ROOMMATE WANTED- Clean, responsible person to share house, $175 a month plus one-half utilities. Call Lisa 776-3607.

ROOMMATE NEEDED to share two-bedroo ment. Across campus, leave message at 539-2971. ROOMMATE WANTED to share two-story house next to campus, $125/ month, own room, one-fourth utilities, washer/ dryer, 539-7709.

SHARE A house. Own room plus use of kitchen, living area and all utilities. $95 a month for rent. Call 539-0356 to inquire.

WANTED: MALE roommate. $140 a month plus one-third electric and cable. Swimming pool. Five minute bike ride to campus. Call Terry at 776-3093.

26 Sublease

NICELY FURNISHED, $150 deposit, $300 month one-half block from campus. Leave message 539-8961. Negotiable.

SUBLEASE AVAILABLE January- May. One-bedroom basement one block from campus. $175. (913)367-4757 evenings. TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT to sublease. Contract ends May 31. Across campus, leave message at 539-2971. 28 Wanted

KU/K-State basketball tickets. 539-6914, ask for

WANTED: KU/ K-State basketball tickets. 539-6128,

WANTED TO buy, two or four KU/KSU men's b-ball tickets. Call after 5:30p.m. evenings. 537-3793. By Eugene Sheffer

Crossword

37 Letterturner White 40 Division word

41 Pub brews 42 Europe 46 Cleo's 12 Piercing barge site - Mare

48 Afternoon

49 Broker's

word

50 Busy one fellow

DOWN

1 Chinese

Chair-

51 You

4 Witticism 15 Using the Julian calendar 17 Loosen 18 "Anything

19 Went with

20 Pitching

Natalie

ACROSS

1 Pasture

sound 4 Retired for the night

mom

8 FDR's

tool

13 Nat or place 22 Calm 24 Historic times 25 U.S. flag 29 Impair 30 Merchan-

31 CSA general 32 Pros 34 Author Ferber 35 Sighing 36 "Lou man Solution time: 27 mins.

Grant'

Yesterday's answer 1-13

2 Wise one

3 Conserva-

group 4 Played a part 5 "Where

6 Right

7 Actress

8 Sudden

9 Polly, to Tom

10 Carnival attraction 11 Like peas

16 Off-

Wallace

the - Are

19 Tails

note

21 Spoken

22 Dopes 23 Bettor's

25 Mrs.

26 "One if

28 2001,

for one 30 Festive occasion 33 Gretel's

sibling

34 This, to

Pedro 36 Sadat

37 Moving

45 Hoover, trucks

business

Chaplin

39 Singer Carter 40 Unemployed 42 Peculia 43 MGM mascot 44 Islands souvenir lessly 20 Business by land..." 27 Descartes CRYPTOQUIP 38 "I cannot 1-13

DREU

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: FAMOUS DESERT NEWSPAPER WAS SEARCHING FOR A CAGEY HUMORIST WITH A DRY WIT.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: Z equals T

UIBZT. ZTU ZTU YJDDH

VDIZZUMUA

Faculty CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

whether or not they are really in favor of this," he said.

Some concerns among faculty members are that instructors may not schedule projects in lieu of extended exams and that lab time in science and engineering may be less, Nafziger said.

Student grievance policy Faculty members are concerned about what they perceive as an increase in student cheating, said Senate President Cornelia Flora.

Although the University has an established policy, Flora said lack of an effective procedure dealing with students accused of cheating and other unethical activities is a problem.

The policy now calls for receipt of an "F" for the class and expulsion from the university.

Flora said a procedure is needed that would protect students' rights to due process and yet still allow students and faculty to report suspected unethical actions.

The policy would not change with development of a procedure, she

A proposal addressing the problem has been drafted in committee and will probably be presented to Faculty Senate in March, she said. Pending approval by Faculty and Student Senates and University administration, the new procedure could go into effect next fall.

Instructor lecturer position

Flora has requested that Faculty Affairs Committee form an ad hoc subcommittee for the purpose of defining a new position entitled "lecturer," said Stephen Dyer, associate professor of engineering and chairman of the subcommittee. The defining document being developed will include criteria for selection and the rights and responsibilities of those who assume that title.

He said University administration requested the new position of "lecturer" to deal with "inequities embedded in the situation within several departments on campus involving part-time, temporary instructors."

Temporary instructors are signed only to a one-year contract, which means they are essentially "rehired" each year. The question of tenure

"It appears to be a sensitive issue," he said.

Faculty Affairs Committee Chairman David Vruwink said the lecturer position would allow faculty members to teach without being required to do research.

The subcommittee is presently considering a draft document provided by the provost's office and will be soliciting input from interested parties on campus, Dyer said.

Combining boards

Another issue yet to be decided by Faculty Senate is the combination of Faculty Grievance Board with the Discrimination Review Board.

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 9

six sections, each weighing 200 pounds. They can be rolled out in about 30 minutes, which conforms to the multiple uses of Aheam, also the home of the K-State volleyball and General admission tickets for tonight's event are available at the athletic ticket office and at the door.

The cost is $3 for adults and $1 for college students and younger. All proceeds will benefit the K-State women's tennis program.

Tennis

indoor track teams.

Dance

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 11

"The last dance that the committee sponsored was the Back to School Dance at the beginning of last semester. We had about 700 people attend that one so we are looking for good crowd for the Ranger Bob Dance," she said.

Melanie Smith, sophomore in journalism and mass communications and committee member, said the group sponsors one dance each semester.

"We (the committee) hope that it will help new students meet people."

Subcommittee Chairman Cliff Schuette said the boards originally existed for different reasons and would be combined as a way of handling all types of complaints, including grievances involving sexual harassment, promotions, tenure, discrimination and salary discrepancies.

Combining the boards would hopefully provide more rights for whomever was discriminated against, Vruwink said. It would allow the discriminant to present all aspects of the case, rather than only part of the case as is done now.

He said that when someone usually files a discrimination case, factors involved would force the grievant to choose between the boards.

Presently, the Grievance Board hears problems between University administration and faculty members dealing with issues such as promotions and salaries, he said. No clear procedure exists.

Schuette said the Discrimination Review Board hears discrimination cases and does have a set procedure.

Combination of the boards would establish a procedure, and all types of complaints would be dealt with by one board, he said.

Living the Dream: Let Freedom Ring

Kansas State University January 16-20, 1989

The fourth national observance of Martin Luther King, Jr., Day is Monday, January 16. Kansas State University will observe this celebration saluting the spirit of the late civil rights leader from Monday, January 16, through Friday, January 20. No other holiday serves as a focal point for encouraging improved race relations. The celebration can help unify America in the spirit of Dr. King's dream.

We urge you to participate in:

. A week to celebrate the life and dream of Martin Luther King, Jr.

. A week to reaffirm the American ideals of freedom, justice, and opportunity for all.

· A week for love, not hate; for understanding, not anger; for peace, not war. · A week for the family: to share together, to reach out to relatives and friends, and to mend broken relationships.

· A week when people of all races, religions, classes, and stations in life put aside their differences and join in a spirit of togetherness.

 A week for our nation to pay tribute to Martin Luther King, Jr., who awakened in us the best qualities of the American spirit. · A week for nations of the world to cease all violent actions, seek nonviolent solutions, and demonstrate that peace is not just a dream, but a real possibility.

. If for only a brief time, each of us serves as a drum major for justice and peace, then we will bring life to the inspiring vision of freedom of which Martin Luther King, Jr., "dreamed."

Keynote address

The keynote address, "Let Freedom Ring: Human Rights in South Africa," will be presented by Randall Robinson, Executive Director of Trans-Africa, a Black American lobby for Africa and the Caribbean, Robinson has been called America's most visible spokesman against apartheid. The address, which is part of the University Convocation Series, will be held Thursday, January 19, at 10:30 a.m. in McCain Auditorium.

Schedule of Events (All events are open to the public)

Monday, January 16

5:15 p.m.

Candlelight Vigil will form at Waters Hall and march from past the east side of Anderson Hall to All Faiths Chapel.

The All Faiths Chapel ceremony will include talks by President Jon Wefald and Diana Caldwell of Minority Affairs and a skit and music by the United Black Voices.

The United Black Voices will be the featured halftime entertainment during the basketball game between K-State and Southern Utah

Tuesday, January 17

Panel discussion: "The Politics of Passive Resistance: Ghandi and Martin Luther King, Jr." K-State Union Courtyard.

Pre-Convocation Forum: The Situation in South Africa. 212 K-State Union.

Wednesday, January 18 4:00 p.m.

Reception for Dr. Michael Holen, 1988 recipient of the KSU Presidential Award for Distinguished Service to Minority Education and Associate Dean in the College of Education. Cottonwood Room, K-State Union.

Film: Ghandi. Forum Hall, K-State Union. No charge.

Thursday, January 19

10:30 a.m. University Convocation: "Let Freedom Ring: Human Rights in South Africa." Randall Robinson, Executive Director of Trans-Africa, a Black American lobby for Africa and the Caribbean

-- -- LAL12

Luncheon with Randall Robinson. K-State Union Ballroom. $6.00. For tickets, call Minority Affairs, 532-6436, by January 16.

Film: Ghandi. Little Theatre, K-State Union. No charge

David Hall, a K-State graduate and former basketball player, and now Associate Dean of Academic Affairs at Northeastern University's School of Law in Boston, will speak to studentathletes and other interested individuals on "Life after Athletics."

Film: Ghandi. Forum Hall, K-State Union. No charge.

Friday, January 20 11:30 a.m.

Panel discussion: "Women and the Fight for Civil Rights." Anne Butler, Director of Educational and Supportive Services; Sakinah Salahu-Din, Instructor of Human Development and Family Studies; and Sue Zschoche, Professor of History. Sponsored by the Women's Resource Center. 209 K-State Union.

From January 9-27, Martin Luther King, Jr., memorabilia will be displayed in the showcase on the second floor of the K-State Union.

Sponsoring units

American Baptist Campus Ministry American Ethnic Studies Program Black Faculty/Staff Alliance Black Student Union College of Agriculture College of Architecture and Design College of Arts and Sciences College of Business Administration College of Education College of Engineering College of Human Ecology College of Veterinary Medicine Department of Housing Department of Intercollegiate Athletics Division of Administration and Finance Division of Continuing Education Division of Institutional Advancement Graduate School K-State Union Minorities Resources/Research Center Minority Engineering Program Office of Admissions Office of Affirmative Action Office of Minority Affairs Office of the President

Office of the Provost

University Relations

Mall Mime

A mime can make people smile without saying a single word. One mime performed this weekend for shoppers at Manhattan Town Center. See Page 5.

Weather

Sunny and mild today, highs 55 to 60. Southwest wind 10 to 20 mph. Clear tonight, lows in mid- to upper-20s.

Kansas State Historical Soc Attn: Newspaper Section 120 West 10th Close Loss

> The 'Cats fell to the Jayhawks 75-74 in overtime Saturday afternoon for their first loss at Bramlage Coliseum. See Page 7.

66612

5-DIGIT 66612

Tuesday

January 17, 1989

Kansas State University Manhattan, Kansas 66506 Volume 95, Number 79

Kansas State Collegian

March honors slain civil rights leader

By Michael Nichols Campus Editor

Police cars did not always redirect traffic for the benefit of people marching to celebrate civil rights. At least not when the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. was alive.

But a KSU police car at the corner of Vattier Street and Oak Drive Monday night allowed about 350 people access to Danforth Chapel. The march, sponsored by Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity, was the first event in a week-long series commemorating King's 60th birthday.

"This is not just a black thing," said Carl Charles, freshman in information systems and Student Governing Association director of minority affairs. "Look around. There are black, white, Indonesian people here. This is for everybody.'

"Dr. King was a beacon, a guiding light," said Ira Bolden, junior in electrical engineering. "We are here because of what he stood for and our responsibility as a nation to carry on that dream.

The vigil march began at Waters Hall, where the United Black Voices choir led about 300 people to Danforth Chapel, joining with others along the way. While some held hands, others echoed the choir's rendition of "We Will Overcome," which was sung, chanted and hummed all the way to the chapel.

"This event is terribly important," said Robert Krause, vice president for institutional advancement. "The entire week-long celebration is of increasing importance every year. The remembrance of Dr. King should last more than one week."

"When I think of Dr. King and other heroes and heroines ... I think of you, your parents, grandparents ... ordinary people who have done extraordinary things," said Hakim Salahu-Din, assistant director of admissions, addressing the audience at the chapel.

Salahu-Din's speech was followed by Veryl Switzer, assistant vice president of minority affairs and assistant athletic director; President Jon Wefald; and orations by K-State graduate Phil Jones and Student Body President Laurian Cuffy.

Salahu-Din praised not only King, but also the efforts of ordinary people in effecting changes in society. He warned against placing more importance on King than the cause he championed.

"Change is not always theatrical ... something that grabs a headline," he said. "Change is not always welcome. It is usually accomplished by ordinary people doing extraordinary

"When we worship the man, we're in trouble because he's dead. If we worship his work, his philosophy, we're on solid ground." Salahu-Din urged people to emulate King's fight against racism and inequality. "If we don't act on the things we believe in, we become small-minded, stingy ... people," he said. "We need the correct attitude that we are big enough to deal with the problems. We are all leaders. Don't say you don't want to be a leader ... then don't come to college - you're wasting your money.'

Switzer praised King for achieving more for civil rights in 13 years

Staff/Gary Lytle

Members of the Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity, standing, bow their heads as the Rev. Dave Stewart, head of the Baptist Campus Ministry, gives than American presidents could in Wefald presented the audience with a historical perspective of the plight of American blacks as compared to other ethnic groups. He said other black leaders merited as much praise as King for giving their lives to advance the position of black people in America.

Considering slavery and years of racism, Wefald said "it is amazing that (blacks) are in the position they are in ... to move forward."

"If we all work together, we can improve," he said. "We want it to improve. If we light candles here, they will be seen all over the country."

the benediction for the memorial service and candlelight vigil honoring the late Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. Monday at Danforth Chapel.

Manhattan resident Paige Nichols read a statement to Wefald urging him to join in "offering Martin Luther King's dream to blacks in South Africa by encouraging the divestment of all this University's monies" in that country.

She said King openly condemned

South Africa, and urged the president to help boycott racism "elsewhere in the world."

Today's campus activities in the celebration of Martin Luther King Jr. Week include a panel discussion at noon in the Union Courtyard, and a pre-convocation forum at 7:30 p.m. in

Enrollment increases

By Brian Hummell Campus Editor

K-State's spring enrollment figures are at their highest level since the 1982-83 spring semester.

As of Friday, 14,912 students were enrolled for on-campus courses and the University is projecting final enrollment figures exceeding 17,800; said Don Foster, University registrar. The 1988 spring semester final enrollment was 17,306.

Projected enrollment figures are based on the number of students who enroll late and the number of students enrolling through the continuing education program. John Fairman, assistant vice president for institutional advancement, gave two reasons for the enrollment increase.

The emphasis that began three or four years ago in terms of new student recruitment is, undoubtedly, one reason for the increase," he

Another reason Fairman quoted for the increase is "the work done by faculty and various student professional groups going into Kansas communities."

"People have caught on to that,"

Although enrollment increases are generally positive, some negative aspects also occur.

"This is definitely going to put tremendous pressure on faculty," Fairman said. "But it's a much better problem to have than if we had decreases of the same proportion.

"It's a situation where, if this kind of growth we've experienced in the last 14 years continues, we'll have to look at redirecting money into more academic programs," he

The money from tuition does give us some flexibility," in terms of alleviating pressures placed on faculty and on classroom space by the increased enrollment, Fairman

The largest enrollment increase was in the sophomore class, which was up 17 percent.

Students flee South Africa to escape racial discrimination

By Paul Branson Of the Collegian Staff

Two K-Staters have fled their native countries, leaving their families and homes to escape racial discrimination against blacks.

Kehla Mdluli, senior in business education, and Peter Manyothwane, freshman in mechanical engineering, are South African refugees.

"I was involved with a (South African) student organization which (murdered activist) Steve Biko organized for high school students," Mdluli said.

"At the time, (the high school students) were going out and teaching older people to write, especially their names so they wouldn't have to sign their names with an X," he said. "For quite some time, the South African government thought the student organizations did not have any political significance.

"However, when (the government) saw what we were doing, our efforts began to get their attention."

The South African government did not approve of Biko's program and tried to stop it, Mdluli said. "The police would come to my house looking for me - many times while I was working - and harass my parents," he said.

The government knew his work schedule and harassed his parents to create problems within the family, he

"Many times a person would be killed and the government would claim that it was a hit-and-run accident, but only so many accidents can happen," Mdluli said. "I was tired and fed up with the situation. They were making life hard for my family,

Mdluli left South Africa and fled to a refugee camp in Botswana in

"(The Botswanan government was) very reluctant to let us live outside the camp until we found ways to support ourselves," Mdluli said.

The camp organizers allowed representatives from organizations to interview refugees for scholarships. Mdluli said, "I received a grant from an organization called the African American Institute. They paid for my ticket here and will pay for my ticket home. They give me a monthly allowance that pays for all of my expenses.

"One of the stipulations of my scholarship is that I return to Africa after I graduate," he said.

Manyothwane went through similar channels for funding to pursue an education in the United States. He immigrated to the United States after meeting an American couple in Zambia who persuaded him to apply for a scholarship offered by the United Nations.

He left South Africa in 1981. Prior to leaving South Africa, he was involved in the African National Congress, which works for full participation of South African blacks in their government. The organization is now outlawed in South Africa. He said he attended several demonstrations and learned that several of his friends had been arrested. "I, myself, had been arrested before," Manyothwane said. "Being arrested was not something I wanted to go through again, so I left the

Before he left South Africa, he saw an increase in the number of people involved in protesting apartheid, he

"More people were becoming involved, more groups were becoming involved, and more countries were becoming involved," Manyothwane said. "At the same time, the number of South African refugees has increased drastically."

Just leaving the country often did not remove a person from danger, he

"Death squads came into the refugee camps and killed people that were considered dangerous - mostly leaders of groups which fled," Manyothwane said.

Mdluli said he did not want to have his picture taken by the Collegian because he feared the death squads Manyothwane described.

Mdluli returned to Botswana to visit his family last year, and when he returns again, he fears a photo may cause him harm.

Manyothwane said he will not be able to see his family until the South African government changes.

During their stay in the United States, the men said they feel many Americans aren't knowledgeable of the changes that need to occur in South Africa. Both students said they are disheartened by most Americans' attitude toward apartheid in South

"Maybe the problem is too far ■ See STUDENTS, Page 12

House to debate new districts By The Associated Press

TOPEKA - The House will start debate this week on one of the most politically contentious issues it faces - how to redraw the lines of members' legislative districts.

The House Legislative, Judicial and Congressional Apportionment Committee will begin general hearings on the issue Tuesday, with briefings from state officials for its 19 members. It will start taking testimony from legislators and concerned citizens next week, according to its chairman, Rep. Vince Snowbarger,

Legislators must deal with population shifts that have left some of their colleagues representing almost twice the number of people they should and others representing about two-thirds of the people they should. The Legislature must at least reap-portion the House this year and the House and Senate in 1992 under an amendment to the Kansas Constitution voters approved in November. For this year's effort, lawmakers must use numbers compiled last year during a special state census. They must use adjusted federal census figures starting in 1992.

Districts for the state House and Senate, as well as members of Congress, were last redrawn in 1979. Since then, the state has seen dramatic increases in population in some urban areas and decreases in some rural areas.

"There are going to be tradeoffs all the way through here," Snowbarger said. "You are going to see a shift in the balance.'

Some legislators have said the reapportionment debate is likely to be difficult because it affects each member. They have said each lawmaker has two general goals: making his or her district as politically "safe" as possible and making the districts of political enemies as unsafe as possible.

Snowbarger said that description is oversimplified, but he acknowleged personal and political feelings will come into play in areas of the state that lose or gain districts.

"It's a touchy process," he said. "As a Republican, I know there are

■ See HOUSE, Page 12

Racial violence marks holiday

MIAMI - About 75 people threw rocks and bottles at police involved in a chase Monday after the officers fired on a motorcycle-riding suspect, who crashed into a car and was critically injured, police said.

Police in riot gear were called to the scene, a predominately black area just north of downtown that has been the site of major racial strife in the past. The incident began about 5:45 p.m. on the Martin Luther King holiday when police started chasing a motorcycle with one or two possible robbery suspects, said Sgt. Michael Mazur.

Police started shooting, and the motorcycle wrecked, Mazur

"They ran into a car and one of the suspects was critically injured," Mazur said. "We're not sure if it was from the officers' shot or the car accident." A crowd of about 50 to 75 people gathered at the accident scene in the Overtown section and started throwing rocks and bottles, Mazur said. By several hours later, he said, the situation had become "very volatile" and some 100 officers were being summoned.

During three days of rioting in the Overtown section in 1982, arsonists torched buildings and mobs broke into stores, causing millions of dollars worth of damage.

Earlier firing of Regan wanted

WASHINGTON - President Reagan wanted former chief of staff Donald T. Regan out of the White House for some time before Regan was eventually ousted, Reagan said in a nationally broadcast interview Monday night.

Reagan related that he erred in granting the wishes of then-Treasury Secretary Regan and then-White House chief of staff James A. Baker III to switch jobs at the beginning of his second term in early 1985.

"I know that I have a soft heart," he said, when asked during a Cable News Network interview to say what he considered as a weakness of his presidential leadership style.

Regan was ousted at the end of February 1987, at the height of the Iran-Contra scandal, and was replaced by former Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn. Reagan insisted at the time he did not fire Regan, saying Regan had indicated at some earlier time he wanted to return to private business.

In the Monday night interview, however, Reagan said he quietly hoped to be able use a letter of resignation which Regan had submitted months earlier when the chief of staff indicated he would not likely serve through Reagan's entire sec-

"There was no firing at all," Reagan said.

111

A gift shop specializing in unique and beautiful jewelry from around

539-0360

Enjoy smooth, creamy

Frozen Yogurt

that tastes like Ice Cream

but with 80% less fat!

-- FREE SAMPLES--

1 Can't Believe It's YOGURT!

MUSIC

NIGHT

9 p.m.-2 a.m.

New Order . The Cure

Echo and the Bunnymen

Depeche Mode • Cummunards

Erasure • Caberet Voltaire

$1.50 WELLS

Aggieville

the world.

1124 Moro

Libya returns officer's body

DOVER AIR FORCE BASE, Del. - The body of a U.S. Air Force officer who was shot down over Libya in 1986 was returned Monday to the United States and honored with a brief

Maj. Fernando Ribas-Dominicci was killed in the 1986 U.S. air raid on Tripoli. He was 33 and a captain, and was promoted posthumously to major.

The C-141 Starlifter from Torrejon Air Base in Spain was met at Dover Air Force Base by Ribas-Dominicci's family and an Air Force honor guard, pallbearers and color guard.

... Around the region

Finney may run for Governor

TOPEKA - The only Democrat to hold statewide elective office said Tuesday that she may run for governor in 1990. State Treasurer Joan Finney said she is considering a challenge to Republican Gov. Mike Hayden, who is expected to run for reelection in November 1990, before his first four-year term expires. She said she will make a formal decision later this year. Finney made similar statements during the annual convention of the Kansas Farmers Union in McPherson this weekend. She is the second Democrat to publicly express interest in the governor's race. Second District Congressman Jim Slattery has said he will do some polling before the end of the year to see how politically vunerable Hayden is and then decide whether to seek the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Man killed by gunshot wound

JUNCTION CITY - An autopsy revealed that a man found slumped at the wheel of a pickup truck Saturday died of a gunshot wound to the head, police said.

Police said Monday they had no suspect or motive in the slaying of Nathan Grier, 65, of Junction City.

Officers found the man dead in the pickup in a north Junction City neighborhood about 6:30 a.m. Saturday. An autopsy was later performed in Wichita.

Florist decorates inauguration

SALINA - The last time Gib Cunningham was in Washington, D.C., he was in a tuxedo and shaking hands with Vice President George Bush.

Cunningham will be back in Washington this week - four years later - for Bush's presidential inauguration Friday. Cunningham, owner of a Salina florist shop, will be one of 50 florists who will help with decorations for the inauguration.

"I consider it a great honor," said Cunningham, 54. "It's an honor that not very many people have."

Cunningham will work on floral arrangements and decorations until he returns home Jan 21.

Cunningham was on a team that decorated the Kennedy Center in 1985. This year, Cunningham will serve as a team captain.

"The highlight last time was getting invited to the presidential ball," Cunningham said. "It's extremely nice to be able to walk among political dignitaries and be recognized for my

Twin sisters to marry twins

ALTAMONT, Kan. - Things always seem to happen in pairs for Carolyn and Marilyn Wiley - and their wedding will be no different.

The twin sisters, who live and work in Bartlesville, Okla., will be married March 11 at the Altamont United Methodist Church to twin brothers they met two years ago at an International Twins convention.

"They wrote, we called, they came down," Carolyn Wiley said of the romance that developed after the convention.

Carolyn Wiley is engaged to Dareld Nelson of Fridley, Minn., while her sister, Marilyn, is engaged to Dareld Nelson's brother, Donald Nelson of Welch, Minn.

Campus Bulletin

WOMEN OVER 50: SUPPORT GROUP will meet at 11:50 a.m. in Union 202.

BUSINESS COUNCIL will meet at 4 p.m. in Union 206.

ARTS AND SCIENCES AMBAS-SADORS will meet at 8 p.m. in Union

ALPHA CHI SIGMA will meet at 7 p.m. in Willard 218.

BAKERY SCIENCE CLUB will meet at 7:15 p.m. in Shellenberger 301. p.m. in Natatorium 4.

POULTRY SCIENCE CLUB will meet at 6 p.m. in Call 226.

AMATEUR RADIO CLUB will meet at 6:30 p.m. in Union 203.

WEDNESDAY

FRENCH TABLE will meet at 11:45 a.m. in Union Stateroom 1.

FLYING CLUB will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Union 212.

GYMNASTICS CLUB will meet at 9

K-State Police

Thursday

- Two student parking permits were reported lost off campus.
- An illegally registered student
- parking permit was reported. ■ Suspicious activity was
- reported in the vicinity of Jardine Terrace Apartments.

Friday

- A wheel lock was placed on a silver Toyota in lot A-28N. The lock was later removed.
- A wheel lock was placed on a blue Ford Escort in lot A-2. The lock was later removed.
- A non-injury hit-and-run accident occurred east of Anderson Hall. Damage was less than $500.
- A faculty/staff parking permit was reported lost in an unknown
- Three student parking permits were reported lost off campus.

Saturday

A male subject was arrested at Bramlage Coliseum during the K-State - KU basketball game for battery and disorderly conduct. A citation was issued to a subject in lot D1W for consumption of alcohol in a public place.

A suspicious activity report was filed regarding a subject loitering near vehicles in lot A-29 and the Union loading dock.

A police department in another jurisdiction requested assistance in a homicide investigation.

Sunday

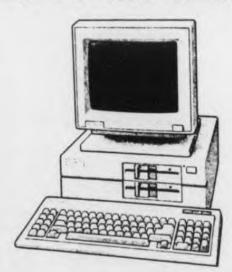

- A vehicle in lot A-2 was vandalized. Damage was an estimated $120.
- Police responded to an alarm in a campus office which was accidentally tripped. Alarm was reset by management.

Monday

- A stray, brown-and-black female dog was taken from Jardine Terrace Apartments to the Veterinary Medical Center.
- A two-vehicle, non-injury accident occurred in lot D-4. Damage was more than $500.

Compatibility Defined

IBM-Com.pat'i.bil'i.ty adv. 1. Capable of existing together in harmony. 2. Able to use most common software; usu. of the business/research world. 3. Growth & flexibility. 4. Hyundai 16TE.

Introducing the Super 16TE PC-compatible.

Introducing a new level of IBM-compatibility, speed (10Mhz) and flexibility (5 expansion slots). Each Hyundai includes 640K memory, a "101" keyboard, full software (wp, spreadsheet, database), orientation, support and an 18 month warranty. Best of all- its backed by $20 billion Hyundai Corporation and Connecting Point Computer Center in Westloop Shopping Center.

Retail

KSU Price. Disc. $ 735. 30% $ 1045. ☐ Super 16TE ☐ 2 drive, amber monitor 1095. ☐ 2 drive, color monitor 1299. 1495. □ 30Mb, amber monitor 1699. ☐ 30Mb, color monitor

KSU's "Seoul" Authorized Hyundai Dealer

Connecting Point 11 COMPUTER CENTER

1115 Westloop Shopping Center Manhattan, KS 843-7584

Attention Apple KSU Purchasers:

Connecting Point's "Apple Team" has contracted to support KSU department and personal Mac purchases. Call us for assistance in selecting systems, software solutions and ordering your Mac. Connecting Point now has a full line of Apple "Add-Ons" from disks to drives.

* Based upon full system purchase. IBM is a reg. tm of IBM Corp.

20-50% Բ

WAGON SALE

sweaters • blouses • skirts • pants · Cambridge · Ruff Hewn

+

 Merona • Otto • Putumayo · Silk Club · Fortune Cookie

30% selected styles of Jeans

Lee, Pepe, & Cherokee

1207 Moro in Aggieville Women's Casua Mon.-Sat. 9:30 AM to 5:30 PM Thur, evening 'til 8:00 PM Sunday 1-5 PM

OPEN: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Daily Noon-11 p.m. Sundays Nautilus Towers-Aggieville They've played Carnegie Hall, the Kennedy Center, Lincoln Center, the Lone Star Cafe. Garrison Keillor, host of "A Prairie Home Companion," called them "the best Cajun band in the world." Why? Because their fusion of traditional styles with jazz, rock, and bluegrass has brought the TUESDAY rich legacy of Cajun music out of the bayous and into the here and now. Join Beausoleil for an evening of sheer, unstoppable fun and ALTERNATIVE laissez les bons temps rouler!

> "Michael Doucet is one of the most delightful fiddlers on the planet. When he and Beausoleil step out, they do so without seat belts." -- Record Roundup

McCain

auditorium

Beausoleil

La musique acadienne

Friday, January 27, 8:00 p.m.

General Public: $12 Senior Citizen: $10 Student / Child: $8

Charge tickets to MasterCard or VISA at 532-6428, or come to the box office noon to 5:00 p.m. weekdays.

"Transportation for seniors is available through Kansas State Bank and the Manhattan Arts Council. For information, " call Marie Dellen at 537-4400.

 Make your evening on the town complete with tickets to Beausoleil and a buffet featuring Cajun specialities at the University Club. For information and reservations call (913) 539-7531.

SCHOLARSHIP INFORMATION FOR STUDENTS WHO NEED MONEY FOR COLLEGE

Every Student is Eligible for Some Type of Financial Aid Regardless of Grades or Parental Income. We have a data bank of over 200,000 listings of scholarships, fellowships, grants, and loans, representing over $10 billion in private sector Many scholarships are given to students based on their academic interests, career plans, family heritage and place of residence.

There's money available for students who have been newspaper carriers, grocery clerks, cheerleaders, non-smokers . . . etc. Results GUARANTEED.

CALL ANYTIME

(800) 346-6401

For A Free Brochure

All night long 1120 Moro 537-951

Marines revisit old battlefields, take sentimental trip into past

By The Associated Press

HUE, Vietnam - Wending their way over the green mountains of Vietnam through the misty Hai Van Pass, six former U.S. Marines revisited the battlefields of fallen comrades on a sentimental journey into

Where only heavily armed military convoys dared to go two decades ago, they rode in a van over the 68 miles of winding roads from Da Nang to Hue, stopping en route to embrace the beauty of the mountains and the serene waters of the South China Sea.

"This pass was continually harassed," said Robert Dalton, a 54-year-old free-lance writer from Davidsonville, Md., during a stop Sunday at an old French fort. Dalton, as a captain 20 years ago, commanded Kilo Company, 26th Marine Regiment, First Division, which patrolled sections of the Hai Van Pass.

"This is fantastic, the natural splendor," said Nate Genna, a maintenance man from Boston, during another stop to look out over the bay at a tiny fishing village set off by a steepled church in its center.

"I've never seen this before," said Genna, 41. "The only mountains I saw were west of Dong Ha," a former Marine base farther north.

Their odyssey brought them at nightfall to the old imperial capital of Hue, where emperors sat in ancient times and where U.S. Marines fought in modern times.

The capital was established more than 200 years before Christ and was the seat of the old Annam empire for 21 centuries, but it was here that U.S. Marines fought house-to-house and Tet offensive of 1968.

The Marines, on a 10-day visit to Vietnam, arrived in Da Nang by plane from Hanoi.

"I had butterflies in my stomach just seeing the place, the mountains around it," said Frank Noe, a firefighter from Stoughton, Mass. "I could see the strip from way ahead when we were comimg in."

For Noe, it brought back memories of his first arrival in Vietnam in November 1967 when he landed in Da Nang as a frightened 19-year-old youth.

The revetments then were filled with U.S. jets that regularly bombed North Vietnam and the air base was bustling with military activity. But this time, the 40-year-old Noe saw only the red noses of Vietnamese MiG fighters between the embankments, many of them rusting away.

A warmer reception awaited them in Da Nang, which was once a part of South Vietnam.

"There's more of the relaxed atmosphere here than in the north," said Mike Wallace, a 41-year-old farmer from Langdon, Kan.

"Look at the reception," said Dalton. "The people move a little bit brighter. Their faces are a little more open. They're a lot less constrained and they know us, they know Americans. They smile a little bit more than the people up north do and they just accommodate Americans a lot more

"A lot look mysteriously familiar, but at the same time something isn't the same," said Genna. "I think what's missing is my youth. You can't go home, like the saying goes. I was trying not to think. I was just did it 21 years later."

lost 142 men during North Vietnam's looking. I saw a place I saw a long time ago. It looks the same but it's not the same because I'm not the same. I'm 22 years older."

When William Johnson of Manchester, Conn., landed in Da Nang in October 1967, he was nervous.

This time, I was hoping I could see what I saw the last time, not a war going on, but I mean recognizable things which I don't see. I never even got into Da Nang really," said Johnson, 41.

In Hanoi, the former Marines were greeted with mostly stoic looks and an occasional forced smile from Vietnamese soldiers they once fought against.

Gene Spanos, a 39-year-old police lieutenant from Rosemont, Ill., pulled out a map and showed to Vietnamese officers the sites of former U.S. bases just below what was once the demilitarized zone that divided the country at the 17th parallel.

Spanos and the former Marines, all except Dalton members of the 11th Marines, said they were concerned that land mines their engineer battalion had planted were still killing and wounding civilians.

"In wartime the Americans also sprayed chemicals," one of the Vietnamese officers said. They shook hands for photographers and television cameras in an embrace that was less than spontaneous.

"You always had to carry a loaded rifle, a helmet and a flak jacket and anything could happen," said Genna. "I always dreamed about returning here just to take a nice slow relaxed walk without any fear, and I finally

Hayden reaffirms support for capital punishment

By The Associated Press

WICHITA - Kansas Gov. Mike Hayden said Monday he would keep a campaign pledge and support a bill to be introduced today to restore the death penalty.

Hayden said there was "overwhelming public support" for the death penalty. Sen. Edward F. Reilley Jr., a Leavenworth Republican who is chairman of the Senate's Federal and State Affairs Committee, is to sponsor the legislation.

"I can't go to any public meeting or even any private meeting with any sizable number of constituents without this being raised on their behalf," Hayden said. The governor said he was acting on long-held convictions. "I'm not in this issue for political gains or losses," he said. "I think it ought to be done.'

He said just as he respects those who disagree with him, he hopes voters on the other side of the capital punishment issue will respect him for taking a position he thinks is in the public's interest.

A 1972 U.S. Supreme Court ruling invalidated Kansas' death penalty law. Efforts to restore it have failed. The state's last execution was in 1965.

"For most of the state's history, we've had a law allowing for capital punishment," Hayden said. "It is a place reserved for only the most heinous crimes. For such crimes as first-degree murder, the killing of a law enforcement officer and drug-related murders, capital punishment should be available under our criminal justice system for the consideration of judges and

The proposal omits the death penalty for felony murder, a death that occurs while a felony is being committed.

The last effort to pass a death penalty bill failed in 1987. The House approved the bill 71-53, but the Senate rejected it 22-18.

An Associated Press survey of all senators prior to the session showed 20 supported or leaned toward supporting restoration of capital punishment, while 19 opposed it or leaned against it. Sen. Eric Yost, R-Wichita, was undecided. It takes 21 votes to pass a bill in the Senate.

The Legislature passed four capital punishment bills when John Carlin was governor in 1979-1987, but he vetoed all of them.

The bill to be introduced would provide the death penalty for premeditated murder, killings committed while engaging in drug trafficking and murder of any criminal justice official. Hayden said those officials include correctional, probation and parole officers.

"Clearly, society cannot continue to allow innocent citizens to be killed by uncaring criminals," Hayden said. "The rights of such victims must be elevated and capital punishment restored." He said the measure is a show of support for the law enforcement community and for the families of murder victims.

The bill has a better chance of passage this year than at any time since the old Kansas death penalty law was struck down, Hayden said.

The governor said three key Senate opponents of the measure Joseph F. Norvell, D-Hays; Robert G. Frey, R-Liberal; and Richard G. Gannon, D-Goodland were either defeated or retired during the 1988 elections.

About 20 opponents of the death penalty protested along the sidewalk outside the state office. They later moved to a hallway outside the governor's office.

Spokesman David Clint Harper said the protesters represented several groups such as Amnesty International, Inter-Faith Ministries of Wichita and the Kansas Coalition Against the Death Penalty.

"We're here to show the state does not overwhelmingly support capital punishment," he said.

Farm Bureau plans for move

By Steve Logback Collegian Reporter

Farm Bureau Insurance is continuing the move to its new $14.3 million facility, despite having not yet found a buyer for the old building.

The target date for the move to the new facility is in early June; however, Gordon Hibbard, director of communications and public relations for Farm Bureau, said the final stage of moving is scheduled to occur in late

"We hope to have all of the final moving completed over one weekend," Hibbard said.

A firm will be contracted by Farm Bureau to complete the move, he said.

The soon-to-be vacated building at 2321 Anderson Ave. is on the market to be sold and officials with Farm Bureau are considering a number of different options, Hibbard said.

The City of Manhattan has shown interest in purchasing the building. Hibbard said Farm Bureau has been

Chamber of Commerce in possibly making a deal with the city.

"We've been talking to the city, but as of yet, everything is tentative,"

In addition to the City of Manhattan, Farm Bureau is also marketing the building to other potential buyers. If the building remains unsold by the time the move is completed, the company will consider leasing the building, Hibbard said.

The new facility will offer several advantages and services which the building on Anderson Avenue is incapable of providing. Lack of needed space in the present building was a primary reason for construction of the new offices, Hibbard said.

"Space was almost entirely the reason," said Robert Larsen, vice president of Farm Bureau. "We were totally out of space. We expect to grow and must be able to service our clients better."

Hibbard said he hoped the new working closely with the Manhattan building will be helpful in attracting several leadership conferences to Manhattan. The first of these leadership conferences is already tentatively scheduled for late July or early August by a farm organization.

In addition, the new building will boast a state-of-the-art heating and cooling system and a video production room which will serve employees, agents and volunteers, Hibbard

Once completed, the new facility will also have a much larger cafeteria. Eventually, a patio will also be constructed for outdoor dining.

Adjustment to the new building will be one of the major challenges facing the employees, Hibbard said.

"I'm sure it will take all of us a while to get accustomed to the new surroundings," he said.

The Road KSU vs. Nebraska in Lincoln January 21, 1989

Busses will be leaving west Bramlage parking lot at 2:30 p.m. We will return by midnight.

Price includes:

Round trip travel and reserved basketball tickets.

Registration at Kansas State Athletic Department (at Bramlage). Registration deadline: Thursday, January 19.

Sponsored by International Tours and ICAT.

Stateroom construction nearly finished In phase one, the beverage area and traffic aisles were redesigned and a Mexican food line was added.

By Brad Camp Collegian Reporter

Eating lunch in the Union Stateroom is not what it used to be, or at least not as quiet. Renovations are underway, including construction of office space near the checkout lines.

Since early December, Union maintenance and repair employees have been constructing new office space for Becky Lind, cash operations manager.

The construction is the final phase of a three-part improvement plan for the Stateroom area, based on recommendations made in 1982 by an Ohio consultant.

Construction of the ice cream area and juice bar was included in phase two. Phase three called for the purchasing of new cash registers and the relocation of Lind's office. This phase will be completed with the remodeling of the dining room. Malley Sisson, food services director, said part of Lind's duties include scheduling employees and reducing customer backup due to overflow during busy hours, which is a difficult task to perform from Lind's former office in the kitchen

"It is difficult to see the lines and operations from the kitchen," Lind said.

With the new office and the panoramic view of the service area, Lind will be able to have instant feedback on customer surges and be able to react quickly to customer needs, Sis-

Because the construction is being done by Union maintenance employees and student labor, the cost will be minimal, Sisson said.

She said furnishings and storage space for the office will cost about

Living the Dream: Let Freedom Ring

Kansas State University January 16-20, 1989

The keynote address, "Let Freedom Ring: Human Rights in South Africa," will be presented by Randall Robinson, Executive Director of Trans-Africa, a Black American lobby for Africa and the Caribbean. Robinson has been called America's most visible spokesman against apartheid. The address, which is part of the University Convocation Series will be held Thursday, January 19, at 10:30 a.m. in McCain Auditorium.

Schedule of Events (All events are open to the public)

Wednesday, January 18

Reception for Dr. Michael Holen, 1988 recipient of the KSU Presidential Award for Distinguished Service to Minority Education and Associate Dean in the College of Education. Cottonwood Room, K-State Union.

7:30 p.m. Film: Ghandi. Forum Hall, K-State Union. No

Thursday, January 19

University Convocation: "Let Freedom Ring: Human Rights in South Africa." Randall Robinson, Executive Director of Trans-Africa, a Black American lobby for Africa and the Caribbean.

Luncheon with Randall Robinson. K-State Union Ballroom, $6.00.

Film: Ghandi. Little Theatre, K-State Union. No.

7:00 p.m.

David Hall, a K-State graduate and former basketball player, and now Associate Dean of Academic Affairs at Northeastern University's School of Law in Boston, will speak to studentathletes and other interested individuals on "Life After Athletics."

7:30 p.m. Film: Ghandi. Forum Hall, K-State Union. No

Friday, January 20 11:30 a.m.

Panel discussion: "Women and the Fight for Civil Rights." Anne Butler, Director of Educational and Supportive Services; Sakinah Salahu-Din, Instructor of Human Development and Family Studies; and Sue Zschoche, Professor of History. Sponsored by the Women's Resource Center. 209 K-State Union.

From January 9-27, Martin Luther King, Jr., memorabilia will be displayed in the showcase on the second floor of the K-State Union.

Ad paid for by Martin Luther King, Jr., Recognition Week sponsors.

Editorial

Kansas State Collegian Opinions ■ Tuesday, January 17, 1989

Holiday for King should be observed

How many people actually man who accomplished much for thought about Martin Luther King the benefit of all Americans. Jr. on Monday? Well, that may be the wrong question. How many events to attend Monday to help people actually practiced his vision remember King's life. Events of cooperation and respect for all ranged from convocations and human beings?

the "Marty Party." It is an excuse to Friday. use this day of solemn remem-holiday, which is meant to honor a and his values.

K-State provided a variety of King memorabilia displays to This is a very tall order to fill. candlelight vigils. For people who People are usually too busy with missed those events, many more themselves to care about freedom have been planned for the Martin or repression in the world. A good Luther King Jr. KSU Celebration example of this is the evolution of Week, which continues through

It only takes a few minutes of brance as another cheap opportuni- time to participate in commemorating King. This national holiday It shows a clear disrespect tow- should be made worthwhile by an ard and an apathy about the King active remembrance of the man

New payment system suffers complications semester was mired in an almost trial run. Orwellian bureaucracy. Multitudes of students waiting to have their computer records cleared of delinquent fees were left standing in student has a different sob story), weaving, swelling lines.

Those students with unpaid, and sometimes even paid, police fines joined a sort of rogues' gallery and watched entering students gaze in disbelief at the bottleneck of people swarming in the entrance.

Students with delinquent fees at Lafene Student Health Center or Farrell Library had to leave Ahearn Field House and walk half way across campus to settle their debts. Then, of course, they walked back to wait in line to be cleared.

whom grew impatient and somethe University its due - $681.40 new masses of enrolling students. - or perhaps even more, depending on particular fees.

archaic computer card system of fee payment to a new updated com-Aggravatingly enough, its best that arose.

Fee payment for the spring wasn't good enough on the first

But before students insist on whining about the trouble they were put through (probably every they should realize the magnitude of the conversion the University attempted.

The computer system, moody and slow, spent much of the time "thinking." Granted, it was a terrible inconvenience, but there is certainly no evidence to suggest University administrators wanted these inconveniences either.

Next fall, when students again line up to pay fees and fines, the University should have had time to have worked out at least a few of All of these students, some of the bugs from the system. This will hopefully result in a faster, more times abusive, only wanted to give inexpensive way of coping with the

The University should not be blamed for wanting to make the Despite the problems, however, system easier, nor should it be it was well past time to convert the blamed for wishing to collect on unpaid fines from students. However, the University should be critiputer system. Thus, the registrar's cized for not having enough foreoffice did what it thought was best. sight to anticipate the problems

President compared to Teflon

No Reagan legacy remains still remember the old television ads for Teflon pans in which their nonstick surfaces likened to that of a diamond. "But," remarked the narrator as an egg was cracked over a woman's ring, "you wouldn't want to cook on a diamond.

This illustrates the problem I have with calling Ronald Wilson Reagan "The Teflon President." Reagan, in my opinion, was more like a "Diamond President" - thoroughly non-stick but of very little practical use. His function was mostly ornamental and, like other diamonds, he could often be found wrapped around Nancy's finger.

Nonetheless, in the recent barrage of Reagan retrospectives, Reagan critics and fans alike have simultaneously alluded to the "Teflon Presidency" and the "Reagan Legacy" (be it good or bad) without realizing the impossibility of having both.

If Reagan was truly a non-stick President, then any legacy would slide off of him faster than you can say "Iran-Contra." Moreover, journalists want to slam Reagan for taking naps at cabinet meetings and his constant state of mental out-to-lunchedness, and then blame or credit him for everything that goes on in the free world. In other words, they want to have it both ways.

And why not? The Reagan years were, above all else, the years when America wanted to have it both ways and often got it.

The country wanted a freer, less government-controlled market, and it got it. Industries and the financial community were deregulated, and taxes were cut (sort of). We got economic growth, lower inflation and lower interest rates at banks and savings and loans. We also got the disadvantages of a freer market, though, including a polluted environment, a savings and loan industry that free-toaster-with-your-new-account-ed itself into bankruptcy, more people sleeping in the streets, and the frightening possibility that Donald Trump could purchase the United States in a leveraged buyout deal.

Commentary

Mark Schmeller Collegian Columnist

So what does the White House do when all the free-market ideologues come running back to the government for help? It gives us George Bush (that lifelong environmentalist) and a $100 billion bailout for the S & L's and slaps Ivan Boesky on the wrists. The people are happy again. The free market is restored, but just the good parts.

eagan also takes the credit for making the United States a respected world leader again, although Gorbachev is far more popular throughout the rest of the planet. The electorate wanted the U.S. of A. to stand toe to toe with terrorists and the Russkies, and the White House created that impression beautifully.

We decisively clobbered those worldrenowned military powers Libya and Grenada for things they didn't do (like bombing a Berlin Disco) or things they were going to do (like becoming another Cuba). And when someone actually did something, like when Arab fundamentalists killed 241 U.S. servicemen in Beirut, the U.S. turned tail, as retaliatory measures might have meant conflict with Syria and, just maybe, the Soviet

Is this the kind of get-tough military bravado that, argue conservatives, brought Gorbachev to his knees at the bargaining table? Or is it the action of a nation that likes to imagine itself as the mightiest nation on earth but isn't about to fight any wars over it?

At the apex of the French Revolution, Marie Antoinette said, "Let them eat cake." In the 1980s, Reagan added, "And let them have it as well." The real problem with being president in this day and age, as ably demonstrated by everyone from Lyndon Johnson to Jimmy Carter, is that the electorate places conflicting demands upon its leaders.

Voters want a freer market, but they don't want poverty, pollution and bankruptcy. They want world leadership, but they don't want to wield that strength for fear they might have to send their kids to some third world hellhole or the local fallout shelter. Johnson, Nixon and Carter left office in disgrace because they, in one way or another, tried to reconcile these contradictions. Reagan leaves office with high popularity because he ignored them or just didn't understand them.

his is what made Reagan appear to be a "Teflon President." Nothing ever stuck to him because he never broke any eggs, and, like the showman he is, never held back from giving America what it wanted, regardless of how tasteless, foolish or just plain wrong it was.

Most importantly, he never really bothered to give the impression that he was in charge. Indeed, toward the end of his term, Reagan himself often made jokes about his aloofness, an aloofness which, more often than not, shielded him from blame.

So, was Reagan truly a "Teflon President"? We may never know. Few, if any, eggs were ever dropped on his purportedly non-stick surface.

Is there such a thing as a "Reagan Legacy"? Probably not, because one has to break a few eggs to make a cake (these cake and egg metaphors are getting hard to follow). I suppose that there must be some sort of legacy from these past eight years, though I wouldn't know exactly what it is.

Whatever it is, it is certainly not a Reagan legacy. It was, more likely, a Meese, Regan, Stockman or Tip O'Neill legacy, or maybe even a Nancy Reagan legacy. For it to have been a Ronald Reagan legacy, it would have had to originated in his brain, which is asking just too much.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

	News Staff
EDITOR	Janet Swanson
MANAGING EDITOR	Const I Const
NEWS EDITOR	Caula Caka
EDITORIAL PAGE EDITOR	Cothadas Doud
PHOTO/GRAPHICS EDITOR.	Own Verel
SPORTS EDITOR	Chale Usin
CAMPUS EDITORS	Brian Hummell, Michael Nichols
CITY EDITOR	Randy Short
FEATURES EDITOR	I les Dissessation
ARTS AND ENTERTAINMEN	T EDITOR
GOVERNMENT EDITOR	Kendra Genserner
COPY CHIEF	Lad Planets
COPY EDITORS	Narry Powning Paula Cabu Jaca Thomas
STAFF WRITERS	Karen Allen, Audra Dietz, Nancy Hill, Chris Koger, Kevin Kramer, Nancy Prosser
SCIENCE WRITER	Paul Branson
SPORTS WRITERS	Mike Goens, Chris Wilhelm
COLUMNISTS	Barbara Baker, Kale Baldock, Doug Folk
	Dames I hash Cost Miles Ched Cashes Mr. On St.
REVIEWERS	Dwayne Lively, Scott Miller, Chad Sanborn, Mark Schmeller
CARTOONIST	Bob Berry, Richard Broadfoot
ILLUSTRATOR	Joe Cook
GRAPHIC ARTIST	Catherine Doud
PHOTOGRAPHERS	Christopher T. Assaf, Brad Carrip, Joe Freeman
The team of the te	Cresiopher 1. Assar, Brad Camp, Joe Freeman
EDITORIAL BOARD	Brett Hacker, Gary Lytie, Steve Wolgast Kale Baldock, Barbara Baker, Catherine Doud, Susan L'Ecuyer, Doug Folk
COTTOTINE GOTTO MINISTRALIA	Brian Hummell, Dwayne Lively, Scott Miller, Michael Nichols, Karia Redelsheimer
~	ad L. Sanborn, Paula Selby, Mark Schmeller, Erwin Seba, Robert R. Short, Janet Swanson
- Cit	L. Sarkoni, Pasia Seloy, Mark Schimeler, Erwin Seba, Hobert H. Short, Janet Swanson
	Advertising Staff
Andrews and the same
ADVERTISING MANAGER	Todd Schultz
ASSISTANT MANAGER	Tarrent McCanno
DISPLAY SALES HEPHESEN	ATIVES Descript Desire I seeked Malleda Dated
	Jeff Schrag, Brian H. Smith, Sherri Sorenson, Karen D. Templer, Brent Windsor STANTS Kim Beyer, Shelly Potter, Tomari Quinn, Christa South ASSISTANTS Army Canfleld, Christy Harwood, Dana Peterson, Joanne Wright
OFFICE/CLASSIFIED AD ASS	STANTSKim Beyer, Shelly Potter, Tomari Quinn, Christa South
ADVERTISING PRODUCTION	ASSISTANTS Array Canfield, Chrissy Harwood, Dana Peterson, Joanne Wright
GUALLIO AU 1919 "	Dennis Dishal, Michalle Himchler Kendell McMinimu
PHOTOGRAPHER	Jennier Quist
	Student Publications Staff
	The state of the s
DIRECTOR	David L. Adams
ACTING DIRECTOR/ADVERTIS	ING DIRECTOR
ASSISTANT DIRECTOR/NEWS	ADVISER
BUSINESS MANAGEH	Ann Foster
OFFICE MANAGER	Jackie Marrose
CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING M.	ANAGER Linds Cobmid
ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT.	Connia Euferman
NEWS PRODUCTION COORD	NATOR
ADVERTISING PRODUCTION	COORDINATOR Wanda Haynie
The Kansas State Collegian (U	SPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kanasa State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manh	SPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publica- attan, Kan. 66508. The Collegian is published Monday through Friday during the school year and ummer sessions. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502.
Monday and Thursday during s	ummer sessions. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502
POSTMASTER: Send address	changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.
	cepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, Kedzie Hall 116.
Inquiries concerning local, natio	nal and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word advertising questions should be direct	and to (913) 532-6565.
	Kantens State Collegian Subscription Plates
One Semester (Fall or Spring)	section and the section of the secti
A Section of the second of the	***************************************

WHAT IS THE REAL CAUSE OF THE FEDERAL DEFICIT? LOBBYISTS THE "IRON TRIANGLE" B. THE STONE PENTAGON G. THE TEFLON SQUARE eropofoot eksucollehini

Letters

Ozone harmed

It is not often that I am inspired to write a letter to you, but I have recently been made aware of the severity of an environmental issue which is worthy of some attention. I am by no means a fanatic environmentalist, but I want to take this opportunity to remind others of what I have just been reminded.

You may already be aware that the ozone layer that protects the Earth from ultraviolet rays is deteriorating. However, have you stopped to consider the effects? It has been documented that for every 1 percent depletion in ozone, there is a predicted 4 percent to 5 percent increase in skin cancer cases. It may also account for more eye problems, such as cataracts.

Did you realize that in the past 15 years the northern and middle United States have experienced a 3 percent decrease in ozone which is a predicted 12 percent to 15 percent increase in skin cancer cases?

We live in a world that concentrates on issues that presently affect us. We seldom look into the future in regard to environmental issues. When will we - worldwide stop and take a good look at what we are doing to our planet?

There is already a hole in the ozone layer at the South Pole. That alone should be cause for the world's population to be concerned. I urge you not to just read this and put it in the back of your mind, that has been happening for years. Now it is time to do something before the damage is irreversible, if it is not

> Amanda C. Stout senior in humanities

Language barriers

The purpose of this letter is to point out three serious problems students encounter and find difficult to handle. The first problem deals with teachers who know their materials, but can't be understood because of a foreign accent. This leaves students guessing, discouraged and disappointed.

The second problem faced is approaching teachers for help and finding them totally incapable of passing on knowledge to you. This inability to communicate, plus a foreign accent, doubles the trouble in important courses such as organic chemistry. The last problem, tenure, gives these teachers the ability to push and pull the buttons on students and teaching assistants. The money we pay out for this class goes to a totalitarian type of class in which students and lab instructors have no power to change or communicate problems and find solutions. This may be a well-worn subject, but this paper needs to investigate the extent of this problem and the implications it has on students, faculty and the University as a whole.

Crystal A. Gooss sophomore, pre-veterinary medicine

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR pertaining to matters of public interest are encouraged. Letters should be kept as brief as possible. All letters are subject to editing on the basis of space and style considerations.

Send submissions to the Collegian in Kedzie 103.

To add to her act, Templet started juggling and making balloon figures.

Eventually she would like to learn to you can do." Templet said.

"There's always something new Templet likes the versatility that comes with being a mime. She likes doing specific characters, especially

Charlie Chaplin. Another benefit of the job is that age is not a hindrance, ride a unicycle.

she said.

laughter

By getting her audience to look at new situations, Templet said she takes their minds off of their problems and enjoys the laughter which comes with the job. Templet does this without making fun of or ridiculing others. She believes in the heal-

Although Templet said the phrase is overused, she likes to use the theme "Don't worry. Be happy."

Looking to save some money?

Use a Collegian coupon.

ing power of laughter.

UFM

SPRING

CLASSES

Teaching . Learning . Growing

Register Now! This week at:

K-State Union, Wed., Jan. 18 10 a.m.-2 p.m.

K-State Union, Mon., Jan. 23 10 a.m.-2 p.m.

K-State Union, Wed., Jan. 25 10 a.m.-2 p.m.

* Including: Sign Language * CPR * Bicycle Maintenance * Yoga

Swimming . Photography . Weaving . Vegetarian Cooking . Golf

Backpacking • Raku Pottery • Sailing • Herbs • Birdwatching • Roses

Puppets • Sewing Swimsuits • Prairie Wildflowers • Genealogy

Interviewing Self-Defense • Carpentry • Soccer

Mime uses healing power of

By Cindy Ellis Collegian Reporter

Laura Templet of Lawrence can make people smile without saying a single word.

Templet, who performed as a mime this weekend at the Manhattan Town Center, likes to involve those around her, especially children. She said she likes children because they are so honest and are willing to respond to her.

"I think she's great," said Diana Reiber, 5, of Manhattan.

Her mother agreed. "I think she's fantastic," said Kim Reiber of Manhattan.

Templet is careful around children that seem scared of her performance. "So many kids are afraid of clowns, and I don't want to increase their anxiety about (them)," she said.

Templet works in the speech, language and hearing department at the University of Kansas and is currently attending classes at KU. She feels that her clasess help her improve her performances because they study communications.

Even though Templet didn't start performing until seven years ago, she has always been interested in dance and theater. In order to improve her act, Templet has taken a sign language class at KU, and has attended summer workshops specifically to study mime. She has studied at the School of Silence, in Boulder, Colo., and at a workshop in Ann Arbor, Mich., under the direction of Marcel

Wednesday

Guest DJ

Phil Canty

featured DJ on KSDB's

Jam The Box

Open 10 to 2

Ladies Free til 11

1216 Laramie

AGGIEVILLE S'ALL-PURPOSE BAR

B.Y.O.B. Upstairs if 21 B.Y.O.B. Upstairs if 21

Thursday

Live Bands

featuring

Kelly Girls

with

Solar Acid Wolves

Doors Open 9

$4

1216 Laramie

month in the Kansas City area as well as Manhattan, Lawrence, and Topeka. These are usually roving acts in at the art center in Lawrence.

malls and fairs. In her spare time, Templet performs about twice a Templet gives workshops for Brownie troops, kindergartens and grammar schools. She also teaches classes

Templet also does product promotion and live mannequin work. She recently had a job as a Roman statue where she had to stand still for an hour and then start moving slowly.

Staft/Christopher T. Assaf

Mime Laura Templet helps Amy Good, 8, Clay Center, attempt to catch a quarter off of her elbow during a performance. Templet performed at Manhattan Town Center Sunday afternoon.

8426 E. Hwy. 24 Manhattan, Kansas 66502 Sunday 1:00-5:00

SALE! SALE! SALE!

50% OFF Regular Price

Back cut Boa Boots Pendleton Shirts

Corduroy & Wool Sportcoats Pendleton jackets Levi Denim Knit Slacks Children's Boots

Large Selection of Men's Boots Turquoise and Silver jewelry Sweaters Comfy down coats Ladies boots (except ropers)

Sale ends: 1/20/89

Phone-in registration, 532-5866, with Visa or Mastercard Catalogs available, Farrell Library, K-State Union, UFM House

Comedy Invasion every Mon. & Tues. at 9 p.m.

Joe Bolster

along with Tim Rowlands

•Joe is a regular on the Tonight Show and has appeared on Letterman. Don't miss one of the top stand up comics in the country.

> Next Mon., Tues., Wed. PAT PAULSEN SMOTHERS BROTHERS—PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE

531 N. Manhattan

After 3 p.m. 539-9727

EARN MONEY FOR YOUR CAMPUS ORGANIZATION!

The Collegian needs groups periodically to stuff inserts and special sections into the paper. In just 2-21/2 hours your group can earn $75. Call or stop by for more information.

> Call 532-6555 Kedzie 101

Kansas State Collegian

Closed Classes

11310 11520 11540 11601 11610 14760 14770 165:00 16 19490 1 19510 2.1990 2.2990 2.3100 2.3120 2.3120 2.3120 2.3220 2.3220 2.3220 2.3220 2.3340 2.3440 2. If you liked other Print & Poster sales . . .

You'll LOVE this one!

TUESDAY-FRIDAY

4 Days Only!

January 17-20 9 a.m.—5 p.m.

1st Floor Concourse K-State Union

Best Selection-Best Prices Best College Poster Sale Anywhere We invite you to see for yourself

A Whole New World of Visual Images!

Great selection! Everything you didn't find at those other sales!

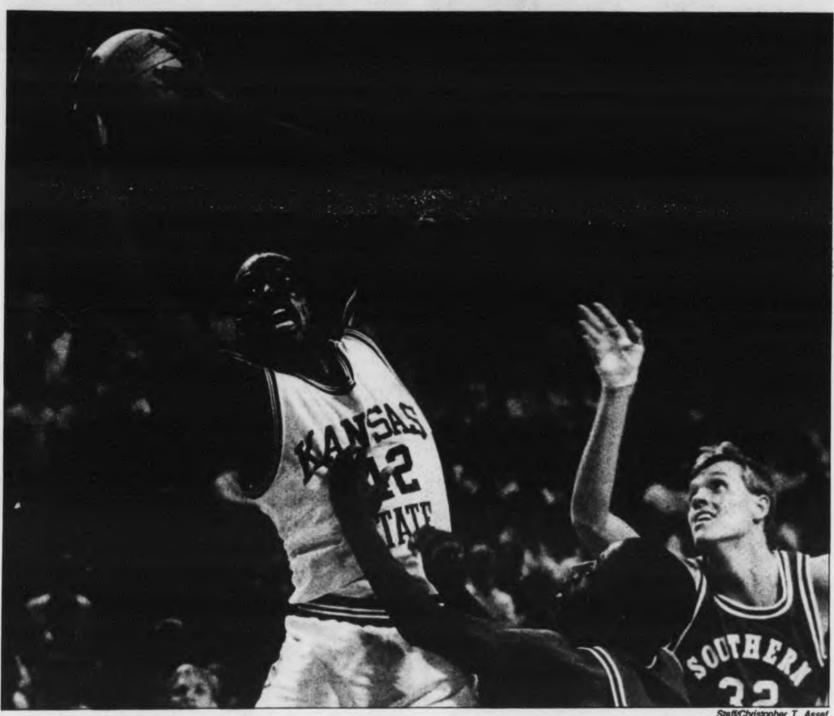

Mats & Frames, Too!

Most Prints $5 each-3 for $12 k-state union

Art reproductions, dance, sports, rock and movie stills, laser images, M.C. Escher, gallery posters, nostalgic posters, Van Gogh, photography. Rockwell, Monet, wildlife prints, movies, Picasso, Asian art, animal posters, Harvey Edwards, Frazetta, music images, floral graphics, science fiction, Rembrandt, modern & abstract images, Eliot Porter, Rosamond, art deco, art nouveau, Renoir, travel posters, scenic posters, Chagall, astronomy, Dali, humor, cars, show business personalities, Ansel Adams, Lilo Raymond, contemporary European art and photography . . . and MUCH, MUCH MORE!

SportsTuesday

Kansas State Collegian ■ Tuesday, January 17, 1989 ■ Page 6

K-State forward Tony Massop grabs a rebound above Southern Utah State players Jerry Naulls and Chris Koford. Massop scored 15 points derbirds. The win pushed the 'Cats' record to 9-4.

'Cats look flat in 84-75 victory

By Chris Wilhelm Sports Writer

The K-State men's basketball team looked flat as it beat Southern Utah State 84-75 Monday night in Bramlage Coliseum, upping the team's record to 9-4.

The 'Cats turned the ball over 25 times in the contest, but shot 59 percent from the field and outrebounded their opponents 40 to 27. They knocked off the T-Birds, who in the game the kids thought they are in their first year of NCAA Division I-A competition.

"In general, I was pleased with the way we opened the game," Wildcat Coach Lon Kruger said. "I was concerned that we might play flat coming off the disappointing loss to KU. There were several times in the game that we were sloppy with the ball and made poor decisions, especially in the second half.

"We were able to get the ball into the middle easy, early in the game. Later we forced it in when we should have kicked it to the outside. We had a lot of oppurtunities in the game that we just couldn't convert. It doesn't do us any good to have as many chances as we had, if we don't finish the play."

The game had a few bright spots for the 'Cats. Those included the play of junior forward Tony Massop, who had 15 points and eight rebounds and the offensive production of senior center Fred McCoy, who had 21 points, including 8 of 9 shooting from the field.

The 'Cats, who led by 19 points late in the first half, had to hold off a T-Bird rally late in the game. A rally brought Utah within seven points with about two and a half minutes to

"When we went into the locker room at halftime we felt we could still win the game even though we were trailing by 14 points, if we could just put something together in the second half," T-Bird Coach Neil Roberts said. "When we got to within 10 points with about five minutes left could really win it.

'We were down by as much as 19 and we came back. We were down by 14 and we came back. I would have to say that this is the best effort we've had out of our team all year."

K-State plays its second Big Eight Conference game as Colorado visits Bramlage on Wednesday for a 7:35 p.m. tipoff.

Britt 1-2 0-0 2, Dobbins 1-4 0-0 3, McCoy 8-9 5-9 21, Humphrey 5-11 5-7 15. Henson 4-8 2-3 11, Smith 5-8 1-1 11, Massop 7-11 1-3 15, Diggins 1-1 0-0 2, Simmons 1-2 2-3 4, Totals 33-56 16-26 84

SO. UTAH STATE (75)

C. Naulls 1-12-34, McDonald 3-92-38, Simkins 3-4 0-0 6, Marcelic 5-15 0-0 13, J. Naulls 5-10 3-4 14, Bailey 0-2 0-0 0, Lee 6-11 2-4 17, Nakken 2-3 3-5 7, Koford 3-7 0-0 6. Totals 28-62 12-19 75.

Halftime - K-State 46-32. 3-point goals - K-State 2-5 (Henson 1-3, Dobbins 1-1, Smith 0-1). So. Utah State 5-13 (Marcelic 2-6, J. Naulls 1-3, Lee 2-4). Fouled out -So. Utah State Simkins and Lee. Rebounds — K-State 40 (Massop, McCoy 8), S0. Utah State 27 (C. Naulls, Marcelic, Nakken 4). Assists — K-State 17 (Henson 4), S0. Utah State 13 (McDonald 4). Total fouls - K-State 21, S0. Utah State 24. A - 12,402.

Hoosiers return to Top Twenty

By The Associated Press

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. — The Indiana Hoosiers, who solved some early defensive problems with a smaller, quicker lineup, celebrated Coach Bob Knight's 500th career victory and a 10-game winning streak with a return to The Associated Press college basketball Top Twenty on Monday.

The Hoosiers, 13-4 and tied with Illinois at 3-0 for first place in the Big Ten Conference, were picked 19th in a nationwide poll of sports writers and broadcasters. They were 20th in the first regular-season poll but dropped out after losses to Louisville and Notre Dame.

Duke and Illinois, the only unbeaten NCAA Division I teams, remained first and second this week. but losses by nine other rated teams shuffled the rest of the rankings. North Carolina, another team that beat Indiana early in the season, dropped from eighth to 13th, ending its string of 63 consecutive weeks among the Top Ten.

Duke, 13-0, was picked No. 1 for the ninth consecutive week. The Blue Devils received 51 of 64 first-place votes and 1,266 of a possible 1,280 points while Illinois, the only received the other 13 first-place votes and 1,229 points.

1.	Duke (47)	13-0	1,2661
2.	Illinois (13)	15-0	1,2292
3.	Georgetown	12-1
4.	Louisville	12-2	998 9
5.	Oklahoma	13-2
6.	Michigan	14-2
7.	lowa	13-0
8.	Missouri	14-2	779 10
9.	Arizona	11-2	729 12
10.	UNLV	11-2
11.		14-3
12.		15-1	645 13
13.		14-3	639 8
14.		12-1	541 15
15.		11-1	477 13
16.		12-3
17.		14-2
18.		11-2	1000 0 1000
19.		13-4
20.	Stanford	12-3	112 -

Others receiving votes: Georgia Tech 49; Providence 40; Texas-El Paso 24; Villanova 21; Pittsburgh 10; California-Santa Barbara 9; St. John's 9; St. Mary's(Cal.) 8; West Virginia 8; Notre Dame 5; Ball State 3; Georgia 3; Alabama 1; Boise State 1; Clemson 1; Evansville 1 and Virginia 1.

Tennis team opens indoor facility

By Carolyn Holcroft Contributing Writer

Friday night marked the opening what is hoped by the K-State Athletic Department to be the beginning of another winning tradition at Ahearn Field House.

three portable tennis courts, the evening was highlighted by the performances of top-ranked tennis pro Mike Boston and 1931 Wimbledon singles champion Sidney Wood.

Once ranked No. 1 in the world, Wood is an inductee into the Tennis Hall of Fame and currently the chairman and chief executive officer of Tennis Sphere Inc., the company that manufactured K-State's new indoor courts. However, he wasn't sure exactly how he was talked into playing for the opening ceremonies at Aheam.

"I love to get away from the city, and to get some of these courts down. I like to make darn sure that everything is right and as it should be," said Wood, who was a little worried about his performance. "I haven't played for about four months, so I was bad on the timing. It was really just a hobby for me to start with and now it's just fun." Former K-State Athletic Director Emie Barrett was also present to of the new indoor tennis facility and play in one of Aheam's first tennis matches. Barrett has the distinction of having played in Ahearn's first basketball game in 1950.

"This is a great building ... It In addition to the unveiling of always has been. I might add that I was a little bit better prepared when I played basketball than I am for tennis," Barrett laughed. "But I was happy to be here because I think it's a compliment to Steve Bietau for the job he's doing for the tennis team. Anything that I can do to help Kansas State, I'm always available."

The activities were officiated by the voice of the Wildcats, Mitch Holthus.

In the first of two matches, a doubles team of Wood and Boston went up against K-State tennis coach Steve Bietau and former Wildcat tennis standout Dave Hoover. It was stressed that the first match, consisting of a nine-game pro set match, be taken in a serious light, although the second was not. After some impressive play by both teams, Wood and Boston fell to Bietau and Hoover, 9-3.

The second match was a six- effort, although in the end Barrett game set and featured the team of Wood and Barrett against Boston and K-State Athletic Director Steve Miller, who emphasized that the match was his "opening effort at tennis" and that the crowd was not to laugh at him.

Both teams made an honest Doubles Invitational Feb. 4-5.

and Wood won the match 6-2.

Proceeds from the admissions charge benefited the K-State women's tennis program.

The first meet scheduled to take place on the new courts is the KSU

Sidney B. Wood Jr., 1931 Wimbledon Singles Champion, returns a serve Friday at the opening of K-State's indoor tennis courts.

Colorado experience too much for young Lady Cats, 75-63

By Mike Rouse Collegian Reporter

The K-State Lady Cats knew that Colorado was a good basketball team going into Saturday night's Big Eight matchup between the two. And the Lady Buffs proved just how good they are by beating the Lady Cats 75-63 in Bramlage Coliseum.

"We got beaten by a team that just played better than we did. It's as simple as that," K-State coach Matilda Mossman said.

Colorado forced K-State into 24 turnovers, but was never able to put the Lady Cats away for good. K-State trailed by 20 points, 64-44, with 8:47 left in the game, but went on a 14-4 run over the flext six minutes to narrow the lead to 68-59 with 2:44 remaining.

"With all the mistakes we made, we were still in the ballgame with five minutes left," Mossman said. "I'm happy that we were able to stay close despite all our mistakes."

Mossman noted that the Lady Buffs' experience played a key part in the same areas where K-State's inexperience proved costly.

'Their experience paid off because they probably scored a lot of points off our mistakes," Mossman

Colorado came out with a balanced attack that kept K-State moving on defense the whole night.

"We made a lot of mistakes defensively. We are not a good defensive team right now," she said. "We were fine, defensively, before we left for Christmas break, but we just haven't been the same since we came back."

Anna Wilson was the biggest surprise for Colorado as she hit a school record of seven three-pointers. Wilson, who came into the game averaging just six points a game, finished with 25. Bridget Turner scored 18 points and grabbed 10 rebounds for Colorado.

K-State was led by Mary Jo Miller, who scored 17 points in a game that had a little extra incentive for the Lady Cats' point guard because she was heavily recruited by Lady Buffs' coach Ceal Barry.

"Colorado and (K-State) were her final choices last year, so this was a big game for her and I think she met the challenge," Mossman said. K-State, 11-4 overall and 1 in the Big Eight, will travel to Missouri on Wednesday night and Mossman hopes her team will be able to bounce back against the Lady Tigers.

LADY CATS (63) Matteucci 2-5 0-0 4, D. Miller 1-7 2-2 4, Bahner 4-54-512, M. J. Miller 7-152-217, Hazim 3-12 0-1 8, Funk 0-2 0-0 0, Cobb 4-5 0-0 8, Davidson 5-8 0-0 10, Boyle 0-0 0-0 0. Totals 26-59 10-12 63.

COLORADO (75)

Tripp 3-6 2-2 8, Starks 3-7 2-2 8, Ford 1-4 0-0 2, Wilson 8-16 2-3 25, Turner 6-10 6-7 18, DeWitte 4-10 4-4 12, Woodford 0-0 2-22, Martin 0-20-00, Weatherspoon 0-0 0-0 C. Totals 25-55 18-20 75.

Halftime - K-State 27, Colorado 40. 3-point goals - K-State 1-4 (M. J. Miller 1-3, Hazim 0-1), Colorado 7-11 (Wilson 7-11,). Rebounds - K-State 38 (Hazim 8), Colorado 29 (Turner 10). Assists - K State 9 (D. Miller 4), Colorado 8 (Tripp 3). Turnovers - K-State 24, Colorado 14 Total fouls - K-State 19, Colorado 17

Staff/Steve Wolgast

K-State guard Mary Jo Miller feeds a pass through the double-teaming Colorado guards. Bridget Turner and Annan Wilson Saturday night in Bramlage Coliseum. Colorado deafeated K-State 75-63.

Kansas escapes with overtime victory

Sports Writer

The K-State vs. KU rivalry remains alive and well even after a change of scenery in the first showdown between the two teams in Bramlage Coliseum.

KU survived a game-tying threepoint shot by LaKeith Humphrey in regulation and a point-blank miss by Billy Ray Smith in overtime to pull out a 75-74 win in front of a sell-out crowd of 13,500 Saturday afternoon. The loss was K-State's first in Bramlage.

"It was a heck of a college basketball game. My first experience of a game at K-State was almost too much," KU coach Roy Williams said. "We were lucky today. You have to be that once in a while."

"I don't have any faults at all with our effort. We did a good job in today's game," K-State coach Lon Kruger said. "Anytime you lose one like this it's disappointing. Kansas has an outstanding team. They did what they had to do to win.

In regulation, with K-State down 66-65, KU's Jeff Gueldner rebounded a Steve Henson miss, and Henson fouled Jayhawk guard Scooter Barry with eight seconds left. Barry nailed both ends of the one-andone to give KU a 68-65 lead.

From there, K-State rushed the ball up the court, attempting a threepoint shot that tied the game.

"It was a situation where we elected not to take a time-out and push it down and let Steve or LaKeith shoot," Kruger said.

The shot went to Humphrey, who hit a floating 23-foot jumper over the Jayhawks' Kevin Pritchard with just one second left on the clock, sending the partisan crowd into a frenzy and the game into overtime - that is, almost. Not until after Barry's 70-foot heave at the buzzer bounced off the rim were the 'Cats assured an extra stanza.

"He just wanted us to get a good shot," said Humphrey, who scored 19 points. "I just wanted the ball. I

K-STATE (74)

Britt 4-8 1-3 9, Dobbins 1-3 2-2 4, McCoy 5-10 2-5 12, Humphrey 6-13 5-6 19, Henson 7-156-6 23, Massop 2-5 0-1 4, Smith 0-3 0-1 0, Fritz 0-0 0-0 0, Simmons 1-2 1-2 3. Totals 26-59 17-26 74.

KANSAS (75) Newton 7-16 4-4 21, Randall 4-7 4-8 12, Alvarado 0-2 0-0 0, Pritchard 5-8 0-0 11, Barry 1-3 2-2 4, West 5-6 2-3 12, Minor 0-4 4-4 4, Maddox 2-4 2-2 6, Gueldner 2-3 1-2 5. Totals 26-53 19-25 75.

Halftime - KU 38-36. Regulation 68-68. 3-point goals-K-State 5-9 (Henson 3-7, Humphrey 2-2). KU 4-8 (Newton 3-6, Pritchard 1-2). Fouled out - McCoy, Alvarado, Pritchard. Rebounds - K-State 31 (Dobbins 6), KU 37 (West 10). - K-State 14 (Dobbins, Henson 5), KU 16 (Newton, Barry 4). Total fouls - K-State 24, KU 23, A-13,500.

felt comfortable with it. There was a little defense, but none that bothered

"He hit a tough shot," said Kruger. "As it turned out, I was glad they didn't foul. You can always look back and say you could have done this or that. We took our chances and hit the tough shot."

"I realized about five seconds after the horn sounded that I almost cost us the game," Williams said. "We should have committed a foul in the backcourt. I'm a lot more lucky today than intelligent. You'll never see me make that kind of a mistake again."

K-State appeared to have the momentum going into the five minute overtime. Humphrey hit a 10-footer in the lane eight seconds

"My first experience of a game at K-State was almost too much. We were lucky today (Saturday)."

-Roy Williams Kansas basketball coach into the extra period to put the 'Cats up 70-68. Milt Newton, who led KU with 21 points, answered for the Hawks with a 15-footer to tie the Humphrey was fouled at the fourminute mark by Pritchard, who fouled out. Humphrey made both free throws for a 72-70 K-State lead.

After a free throw by Mark Randall, Britt followed his own tip try with a basket to give the 'Cats a 74-71 lead. Gueldner answered underneath for two to pull KU back within one.

With 43 seconds to play, Henson missed a jumper in the lane and KU came away with the rebound.

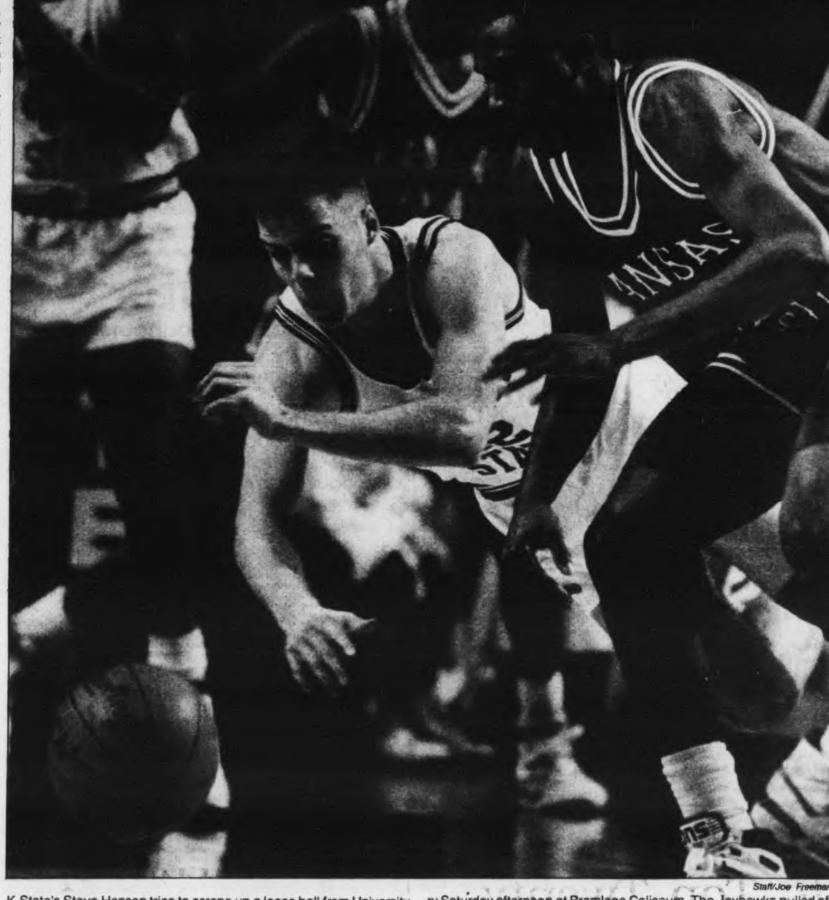

Newton was fouled by Smith with 30 seconds remaining and made both shots for a 75-74 KU lead. K-State called a time-out.

After K-State used another timeout when they couldn't get the ball in-bounds, Humphrey missed a jumper and Kansas collected the rebound.

Smith sent Randall to the line shooting two shots with nine seconds left on the clock. He missed both and K-State hurried down for another last-second shot. This time Henson found Mark Dobbins and he dumped the ball off to Smith, who missed the short jumper in the lane. Freeman West came away with the rebound and KU escaped with its sixth straight win in Manhattan. K-State hit just two of nine field goals in the overtime and appeared to be forcing the action.

"There was a lot of time on the ry Saturday afternoon at Bramlage Coliseum. The Jayhawks pulled off

K-State's Steve Henson tries to scrape up a loose ball from University of Kansas guard Lincoln Minor during the first half of the intrastate rivalclock and we wanted to look for a today," said Henson, who led all Kgood shot," Kruger said. "We prob- State scorers with 23 points. "Any

"As far as effort is concerned, it ably could have turned down some loss is hard to take whether you play good or bad, hard or not.

"We felt we had the momentum in was good for 40 minutes - 45 overtime," Dobbins said. "There were a couple of times where shots didn't fall or there were loose balls or rebounds, and we didn't take advanthe victory in overtime, 75-74.

tage of that. KU built a 10-point lead at 53-43 with 14:32 to play with a 15-7 run to it."

start the second half. But K-State managed to battle back.

"I looked up and we were right back in the ball game," Henson said. "I totally expected us to get back in Mary Jo Lampe, senior in apparel and textile marketing, and John McIntyre and David Wootton, seniors in industrial education, cheer after LaKeith Humphey scores a 3-point shot near the end of regulation time to tie the game. Afterward, the group displays its emotions at the 75-74 loss to the University of Kansas.

Saturday's sportsmanship not typical of K-State

Brian's Babblings BRIAN

HUMMELL Sports

Columnist

Oh, for the spirit of Aheam Field House!

Remember when being the loudest fans in the country, or at least the Big Eight, was enough? Now, we have to have the most obnoxious fans, too. There is no question K-State fans can be loud. And Bramlage Coliseum is as loud as Ahearn. That trivial item was once and for all, finally, at long last, laid to rest when LaKeith Humphrey drilled the prettiest, leaning, left-handed, knuckle-balling, three-point, game-tying goal in Bramlage history.

And how the crowd cheered. It was almost enough to forget about what had happened and what was about to happen. But then our beloved Wildcats lost.

Lost. Lost in the conference opener. Lost for the first time in our new play toy. Lost to KU.

What happened, and what most people probably want to forget, is the rude display of sportsmanship put on by the fans in purple.

Hey, I don't mind a stray chicken every once in a while, and a boo, or comment on the opposition's poor hygiene (made in good taste), often makes the game that much more enjoyable. But tossing a roll of toilet paper on the court is a form of expression most referees can't appreciate; they already have reams of the stuff in their locker room. It's like getting five toasters on your wedding day. Besides, most of these guys have good enough social skills to know that most messes requiring an entire roll of toilet paper are best dealt with in private.

Despite the general perception of referees being pansy-ized chumps who are trying to relive their grade school glory days, most are strongwilled enough to survive a deluge of paper products.

As for the bozo who attacked KU's mascot, you must be proud of yourself for wrestling down a mythical bird. From behind even.

So, what does it all mean? No milk and cookies for a whole week? If everyone were a goody-two-shoes would we have won the game?

None of this probably had an effect on the game, but it might have shed some light on the priorities of K-State fans.

We've been setting ourselves up to Ahearn and the last coat of purple paint was drying in Bramlage.

Most of the pre-season hype focusing on K-State basketball Coliseum. involved transferring the tradition. Who was going to sit, or stand, where and, of course, the crowd's ability to reach triple digits in decibels while chanting "air ball" topped everyone's list of questions.

So, Coach Kruger, sure you lost four starters from last year's team, but just how loud do you think the new building will be?

Who cares? Let's win some games, and go to the tournament.

We've managed to transfer all of the traditions from Ahearn except the one that matters. All the students be ambushed since the last shot fell in were standing and yelling louder than ever, but there wasn't much sportsmanship to be found Saturday afternoon in the stands of Bramlage

> K-Staters have never liked losing, or being down. Nobody does. What sets K-Staters apart is showing class when they are in those situations. Or it used to.

So it was loud enough to be a K-State crowd. But it wasn't a K-State crowd. These were not the fans who have won the Big Eight sportsmanship award two years in a row.

We weren't good sports.

Saturday, for the first time in a long time, K-State was zero for two at home against KU.

Pawn shops offer variety to consumers

By Jeff Bates Contributing Writer

A pawn shop might not survive in every town, but Manhattan - with the University and Fort Riley nearby seems to provide the right mixture of elements to support two pawn

"People who need pawn shops search them out," said Bruce Michal, Manhattan Pawn Shop Inc. manager.

Manhattan Pawn Shop, located at 317 S. Fourth, depends on students and local people for half of its business, he said. Fort Riley provides the remainder of the business.

Manhattan's other pawn shop, Cash Pawn and Gun Inc., is located at 1917 Fort Riley Blvd. Individuals from Fort Riley comprise 90 percent of Cash Pawn and Gun Inc.'s business, said Kyle Frogley, co-owner and operator of the shop.

For a pawn shop to be successful, there must be a large transient population, Michal said.

DENVER (FSI). The Hyundai Corporation has selected Connecting

Point Computer Centers as their exclusive authorized dealer in

Lawrence and Manhattan, Kansas.

This selection follows the signing of a major supply contract with the 180

store Connecting Point chain here

Hyundai, the $24 billion company known for its high quality, economical cars, has been a major producer of of microcomputers for the past

Hyundai's Super 16TE line of PCs follows their automotive tradition of price/performance. Myles Schachter,

Connecting Point President, said that he chose the Hyundai product line because of its great price, high speed and excellent software bundle. Each

Hyundai, he said, is fast at 10 Mhz or twice as fast as the original PC; has a full 640K memory, 12" or 14" flat

The Electric Desk software included with every computer is a quality word processor, spreadsheet and database. The system also comes with Keyworks, a program to store amber screen and a 101 keyboard.

last month.

several years.

Hyundai Computers

Introduced to Kansas

to any retail business because it stores offers products people want to buy. The one difference between pawn shops and other retail businesses is that pawn shops provide loan arrangements, he said.

"It's an interesting business, but you have to know a little bit about everything and really keep up on what's popular," Michal said.

"We have to keep up with the times as far as consumer goods are concerned," he said. "If something is obsolete, it's no good for us."

"I'll take anything I can make a dollar on, but I won't take anything that eats," Frogley said.

Pawn businesses offer product variety. Shops serve a wide variety of people - all with their own needs, Michal said.

"I've had people wanting to pawn fish in an aquarium and birds in a cage. We could have taken many cars if we had the space," he said.

Audio/video, electronics, jewelry The pawn shop business is similar and guns are the popular items in the

Dr. Rhonda Ross, the firm's Customer Support Manager, has found that the price has not compromised

the construction of these powerful

PCs. She states that the systems appear to be trouble free and highly compatible. She said this explains the manufacturer's 18 month warranty - far in excess of the industry standard.

Hyundai Super 16TE

Due to the new Connecting Point-

Hyundai contract, the Manhattan and

Lawrence stores are introducing these PCs at more than 20% off already competitive compatible prices with training included with every purchase. Already, United Telephone

Midwest Group, Menninger's Foundation and PARS Service has selected Connecting Point to provide

Hyundai PCs to their employees.

Michal said pawn shops are in the money lending business. To get a loan, a person must bring in property to be used as collateral.

'Most loans are under $100," he said. "The average loan ranges from $5 to $300. According to state law, $300 is the greatest amount which can be loaned on a single item."

State pawn shop laws allow a charge of 10 percent monthly interest on loans, with contracts existing for three months. When the person repays the loan plus the interest, he receives his property. If the loan is not repaid after the three months, the pawn shop becomes the owner of the property and prices the item for Frogley and Michal agreed that about 80 percent of people who borrow money redeem their items.

"Money loaned could vary from $2,000 to $10,000 (during a month's time), and even that is just an estimate," Frogley said.

"Just before Christmas, business was booming," he said.

People mainly sell jewelry, guns, stereos and televisions, Frogley said. The holidays aren't the only busy seasons, Michal said.

"Summer is the season when many loans are filed," he said. "People are more active in the summer and often need more money for travel and entertainment."

Business fluctuates with the University schedule. During fall and spring semesters, students are the major purchasers. They look for bargains on stereos and audio and video equipment, Michal said. Although students purchase more items than resident and military customers, the military segment signs 60 percent of the loan agreements offered by the Manhattan Pawn Shop Inc., he said.

Frogley said, "At Cash and Gun Inc., military people do almost all the pawning, while just about everybody comes in to purchase retail items.'

When asked if selling or purchasing stolen goods was possible, Michal said legitimate pawn shops work to make sure it doesn't happen.

'We get a positive indentification of the person when the loan is made," Frogley said, "If the item is worth more than $100, the person's fingerprint is put directly on our purchase sheet.'

Each week, the police collect a copy of the loan and sales tickets. Frogley said. If an item is stolen, the police remove the item from the pawn shop and locate the seller.

"If an item is sold before the police determine it stolen, nothing can be done to retrieve it," he said.

Lisa Pfannenstiel contributed to this

WANTED Radio Announcers

Applications are now being accepted for announcer/DJ positions for various on-air shifts, including weekends. Prior AM or FM broadcast experience is necessary. Apply at our All-New studios, 2414 Casement Road, Manhattan, Monday-Friday, 8 a.m.-5 p.m. KMKF.

776-5577

Optometrist Pharmacist Physical Therapist Physician Assistant

The Air Force can make you an attractive offer - outstanding compensation plus opportunities for professional development. You can have a challenging practice and time to spend with your family while you serve your country. Find out what the Air Force offers. Call

CAPT LAMONT PACK STATION TO STATION COLLECT 913-491-8640

ELIGIBILITY FOR CARE AT LAFENE STUDENT HEALTH CENTER

Health fees are established on the recommendation of the Student Senate with approval by the Board of Regents.

2. All students who are enrolled and attending classes during a regular semester or summer session who have paid health fees are eligible for care.

3. Those enrolled in Special Courses, for varying periods of time, who have made previous arrangements for health care coverage at Lafene are eligible for care. (Lists of these students must be furnished prior to being seen at Lafene.)

4. Only students, who have paid the health fee, may elect to have their spouse also covered at Lafene; however, they must pay the spouse fee within 10 days of the time their own health fees are paid. (Children cannot be seen.)

5. Emergency care, prior to referral, will be given anyone who

6. Students enrolled in 6 hours or less, electing not to pay the health fee during the Fall or Spring semesters, who wish to be seen, will be charged $25 for each office visit. This charge continues until the full health fee has been exceeded, then that student will be afforded the same privileges as the regular fee paying student for the remainder of that semester.

7. Students who were enrolled in the Spring and pre-enrolled for the Fall semester but not attending summer school may pay $15 and be eligible for care during the summer. This fee may be paid within 30 days prior to summer school registration and ends the day classes begin. A late fee of $20 will be accepted for the remainder of the summer.

8. Health fees are good until 12 o'clock the night the next semester begins.

NOTE: In addition to the above mentioned fees, there are minimal charges for certain supplies and services and the charges are subject to change without prior notice.

Advertisement

776-5577

keystrokes.

Pizza Shuttle

"NO COUPON SPECIALS"

rime Time Special 3-10 in. Pizzas 1—Topping 4-Cokes °10.00

Everyday Two-Fers 2-10 in. pizzas 2—Toppings 2—Cokes s8.00

FAST N FREE DELIVERY

Borck Brothers Fine Menswear "Semi-Annual Clearance Sale" Big and Tall Included

			-	3	el	le	20	et	e	20	l	6	i	ı	it	S
Regul	a	r															Now
185-230																	15500
245-285																	21500
315-345																	25500
365-385												,					29500
395-435																	34500
465-575																	38500

Fall Sports Coats 40% off Navy Blazer Excluded

Top Coats. 40% off

Trench Coats. 30% off

Fall Slacks 40% off

Fall Sweaters 40% off Fall Sport Shirts. . . 40% off

Headwear 50% off

Fall Robes & Pajamas 40% off

Gifts & Accessories 40-50% off

Fancy Dress Shirts. 30-50% off

1100 Westloop Place (913) 537-8636 Westloop Shopping Center 9:30-5:30 Mon. Set.: (il 8:30 Thurs.

Moonlight , Madness Sale 5:30-8:30 p.m.

TONIGHT Up to 70% OFF

Fall and Winter Merchandise including

Sweaters.....55 and up Dresses.....^{$}15 and up Skirts.....^{$7} and up Slacks...... Up to 70% off Blazers..... Up to 70% off Blouses......^{$}7 and up Bags.....Up to ½ off Coats..... Up to 70% off Sleepwear.... Up to 70% off Jewelry and Scarves. $2 and up

1225 Moro Aggieville

Closed 4-5:30 p.m. to prepare for Sale

MOE top priority for student group

By Nancy Prosser Staff Writer

When the two full-time lobbyists for the Associated Students of Kansas begin work this Legislative session, they will be supporting full funding for the Margin of Excellence plan.

ASK works with the Kansas Legislature, the governor's office and the Kansas Board of Regents to bring student concerns and needs to the attention of state lawmakers, said ASK Campus Director John McIntyre, senior in industrial engineering.

McIntyre said ASK joined with the Board of Regents in 1988 to lobby for funding of the Margin of Excellence plan.

The MOE plan is a funding program to keep Kansas institutions competitive with their peers and to provide an adequate level of support for faculty, student services and other university budget areas, he said.

"At our last meeting we set priorities. When we go to lobby, MOE is our No. 1 priority," McIntyre said. Since the MOE plan is top priority for ASK, the group spends niost some legislators that are going to of its time and political clout encouraging legislators to support

"We are in favor of full funding," McIntyre said. "Students were very instrumental in getting this funding. When students say that we care enough about our education to be in favor of raising tuition more than the 24 percent per year norm, legislators take notice of that."

The possibility of Washburn University's entering the state regents system is another issue ASK is tackling.

According to a policy statement, ASK believes that no expansion of the state university system should take place unless full funding of the second and third years of the MOE plan is approved and future funding of current institutions is not

McIntyre said the student governments of the regents universities unite in ASK for several reasons.

"Within ASK there are many differing opinions concerning Washburn's entry into the regents system," McIntyre said. "There are try to tie in Washburn with the MOE program. ASK is not completely opposed to Washburn's entry. It does have concerns, however, that need to be resolved."

One of those concerns is financial.

"The financial concerns of other member universities must be considered," McIntyre said. "If the higher education fund remains the same size, but must be divided between seven universities instead of six, Washburn's entry represents a loss to the current institutions.

"Making Washburn a state university must be accompanied by a legislative commitment to larger funding.'

Tuition, budgets and financial aid for regents system universities are determined for the system as a whole - not individually, he said. By working together, students have much more political clout and more resources.

ASK brings students from across the state together to discuss common concerns and develop new proposals. Those proposals are then brought to the attention of the state legislature.

'ASK is funded by student fees," McIntyre said. "Every student on campus is a member.

"Once a month (representatives from each school) meet in policy council. We (decide) policies that ASK lobbies for. Then once a semester we meet in legislative assembly to vote on policy drafting for that year."

ASK deals with issues that affect and concern student funding, campus planning and educational quality.

To help disadvantaged or struggling students in local schools, ASK developed the Youth Education Service Program. YES provides financial aid to university students who work as tutors in school programs for "at risk" children.

"YES is in its trial year," McIntyre said. "(ASK) gathered $30,000 from the state to support the program.

"The group works through college students who are paid to help in elementary and secondary education."

Bush makes plans for inaugural speech

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - Presidentelect Bush began his inauguration week by paying tribute Monday to the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. and working on his inaugural address as those organizing the swearing-in ceremony anxiously made lists, juggled seating arrangements and monitored weather reports.

While federal workers enjoyed a day off, behind-the-scenes activity for the inauguration of the nation's 41st president went on at a furious pace.

House Democrats arranged a "Majority Party Party" at a hotel ballroom Thursday night, the same time the GOP has scheduled a televised, star-studded inaugural gala.

"We had to give the Democrats something to do," said Howard Schloss, a spokesman for the Democratic Congressional Campaign are keeping mum on the tenor of the Committee, which strengthened its grip on the House in November. "Hopefully, in four years we'll be having the inaugural gala."

The gala was one of the myriad events put together by the Presidential Inaugural Committee, which is running most of the week's festivities. They open Wednesday with a tribute to teachers and end Sunday with a prayer service at Washington Cathedral.

Monday was a generally quiet day in the nation's capital, as federal offices were closed for the national holiday commemorating King's birthday. Bush offered a strong tribute of the slain civil rights leader at a prayer breakfast for black supporters.

'We must not fail the nation he loved so much and gave his life for. I understand that five days before becoming president of the United States of America," Bush told the gathering of some 300 black leaders.

He then returned home to work on the speech he will give Friday after taking the oath of office.

The president-elect and his aides speech, for which Bush is calling on the author of some of his most memorable campaign comments, speechwriter Peggy Noonan. The Bush team researched past inaugural addresses in preparation for the

Ben Franklin POSTERS

POSTERS

This area's largest selection! And the area's largest selection of poster frames, too.

Hours: M-F 9-9, Sat. 9-7, Sun. 1-6 776-4910

Westloop Center, Manhattan

NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTIONS

Suggested By

RECREATIONAL SERVICES WHEREAS, the average adult American gains from 7 to 12 pounds of excess weight during the Holiday Season . . . and, WHEREAS, most people are subject to an overabundance of stress during this hectic period . . . and,

WHEREAS, my exercise routine may have given way to other, more "pressing" holiday activities . . .

THEREFORE, I HEREBY RESOLVE, THAT WITH THE USE OF RECREATIONAL SERVICES FACILITIES & PROGRAMS,

I WILL ... -Make an appointment with the Health & Fitness Coordinator at the Rec Complex to have a fitness

-Establish a regular exercise routine and stick with it . . . -Follow a sensible eating plan to shed unwanted pounds . . . -Invite a friend to exercise with me . . .

-Organize my daily schedule to allow time to pursue better health and fitness . . .

IN AS MUCH AS I AGREE TO ABIDE BY THE ABOVE RESOLUTIONS ... I WILL CALL RECREATIONAL SERVICES AT 532-6980 FOR MORE INFORMATION TODAY.

January 1989 Special

FREE PERSONALIZED NAPKINS

With Your Invitation Order from the Masterpiece Wedding Collection

MASTERPIECE STUDIOS

Be a registered Bride at

5th & Poyntz 776-9067 Downtown

1227 Moro 539-1891 Aggieville

See us at the Manhattan Bridal Show Houston Street Ballroom Sunday, February 5 at 1 p.m.

Cheese and bacon extra.

Available for a limited time!

Manhattan • Lawrence • Topeka

K-State Union Bookstore

Today! 10 a.m.-4 p.m. k-state union

Order your college ring NOW.

K-State Union Bookstore Today! 10 a.m.-4 p.m.

c-state union =

State imposes marriage license restrictions

By Kevin Kramer Staff Writer

Although some believe marriage was meant to last forever, lawmakers in the state of Kansas decided marriage licenses were only meant to last six months.

Couples with cold feet about marriage had better check to see if their marriage license is still valid when they decide to get married. As of Jan. 1, the Office of Vital Statistics for the Kansas Department of Health and Environment in Topeka requires a marriage license be used within six months of issuance.

"Effective Jan. 1, marriage licenses will have to be used within six months from the date of issuance and require the signature of the bride and groom," said Charlene Satzler, director of the vital statistics office.

"If the new marriage license is not used in six months, it will expire and a new one will be required to marry,"

Vital statistics documents are reviewed and revised nationally every ten years, Satzler said. Changes are made to reflect standards set by the National Center for Health Statistics and the Uniform Vital Statistics Act.

"Previously, marriage licences were valid indefinitely, creating a storage problem for the state and counties," she said. "But the licences issued before Jan. 1 are still valid indefinitely despite the change."

Joyce Chalkley, deputy clerk for the 21st District Court in Manhattan, said, "It's great to have the expiration date. We have got a stack of old licenses that have never been used."

Chalkley said out of the 600 marriage licenses issued last year, about 100 were not returned.

A large number of the licenses issued to foreign students are never returned. Chalkley said she believed some of the foreign students considered themselves married after they purchased the marriage license.

Other statistical forms affected by the change are divorce or annulment, death, birth and stillborn certificates, Satzler said.

"The first standard certificates were developed in 1911 for birth and death," she said. "Marriage and divorce were added in 1913 and Certificates are revised in order to add new registration and records responsibilities and to eliminate ple of these changes," Satzler said.

requirements no longer deemed necessary, Satzler said.

Most of the changes to divorce certificates are minor and a format change on death certificates will request information on educational level and the city of birth of the deceased, she said.

"The return of occupation and industry of the mother and father to birth certificates this year is an exam-

IMPRESSIONS

Welcome Back

hank You for Great Business in 1988 Start the New Year with a New Look Call our experienced hair designers ebony services available-

537-1332 • 411 Poyntz • Lower Level

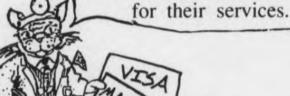

"Put a little spice in your life." Stop by T.J. Cinnamons Bakery, next to Kinkos in Aggieville, Kansas, and ask for our New Year coupons while supply lasts.

Hours: Mon.-Sat. 7 a.m.-7 p.m. Sun. 7 a.m.-1 p.m.

*(See Baker Paul for a free cup of coffee.)

Dr. Willie says Effective Immediately

Lafene Student Health Center is accepting VISA & MASTERCARD

It can be yours as an Air Force

Pilot. It's not easy, but the re-wards are great. You'll have all the Air Force advantages, such medical care—and much more.

soon will be, AIM HIGH. Contact as 30 days of vacation with pay each year and complete

If you're a college graduate or

School and pilot training. Call TSGT HOOD STATION TO STATION COLLECT your Air Force recruiter for details about Officer Training

See the cashier's office at Lafene for further info.

SPEAKER'S BUREAU

Just Another Way to Better Serve Our Community

Professional medical personnel from Memorial Hospital are proud to offer their service, by providing programs for organizations and events. Health Education is just another way we are "working together for a healthier you."

To schedule a program or for more information please call the Director of Education, at (913) 776-3300, ext. 113 weekdays from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. A minimum of 3 weeks notice is needed to schedule a speaker.

SPEAKER'S BUREAU PROGRAMS

Back Care

•Weight Control & Exercise

•Fitness & Exercise

Stress Management/ Relaxation

Sports Injuries

Cardiovascular Fitness

Diabetes

 Poison Prevention The Medicated

Generation-The Elderly Medi-Mate Program

•Family Life-Birthing, Baby •Health Care in

 Heart Healthy Diets Labor and Delivery

·Blodd Bank

Basic Nutrition

Mammograms

Lung Disease

Anorexia/Bulimia

Home Oxygen/ Respiratory Therapy

Home Care Equipment

•Smoking Cessation •Tissue & Organ Donation

•Trends in Health Care

Manhattan Autologous Transfusions
 And Many, Many More

Memorial Hospital

We're working together for a healthier you. 1105 Sunset • Manhattan, KS 66502 • 913-776-3300

What's the GODFAT

about Godfather's Pizza?™

The taste, the toppings...and these terrific moneysaving coupons!

539-5303

1118 Laramie Aggieville

$7.99 Large

$5.99 Medium

Present this coupon and receive a large single topping Original pizza for only $7.99

or a medium for only $5.99.

Two Large Pepperoni Pizzas only $10.99

Present this coupon and receive TWO large pepproni pizzas for only $10.99.

WE DELIVER

Lunch Buffet only $3.75

Present this coupon and receive ONE all you care to eat lunch buffet and a free refill soft drink for only $3.75. Monday-Friday, lunch time only.

Expires: 3-31-89

Attention: Please read the following letter if you had your portrait taken for the Royal Purple.

(206) 355-8887

8805 46th Place West Mukilteo, WA 98275

Dear Kansas State student:

On behalf of both our company and the Royal Purple yearbook I apologize for your inconvenience and the confusion caused by our mistaken insertion of a notice with some of your proof sets.

The notice requested that some students pay a $5.00 fee to have their selected pose included in the yearbook. This was a mistake! There is no additional charge to any Kansas State student to appear in the yearbook.

If you are one of the students that received the "$5.00 notice", please disregard it! All you need do is mark the pose of your choice (simply write "YEARBOOK" on the back) and return all of the proofs to us at:

> Yearbook Associates P.O. Box 91 Millers Falls, MA 01349

You must return all of your proofs promptly!

If you've already returned your proofs and you did pay the $5.00, It will be refunded to you!

Of course we hope you'll be happy with your proofs and will choose to order a personal portrait package. But you are under no obligation to do so. If you were photographed your picture will appear in the yearbook.

If you have any questions you may either call me at the above number, or our customer service department at (413) 863-9714. Remember, I'm in Washington State, our customer service is in Massachusets, please make allowances for the different time zones.

Again, my personal apologies for the confusion.

Sincerely,

Jand May 15. James S. Mays, Regional Director

RIB NIGHT

SPRING BREAK '89

Montego Bay 3399

Grand Bahamas $259

impulse

Sound Reinforcement

(913) 537-9694

MOMESTEAD

RENTAL

-Home-owned/Home-operated-

Manhattan's Complete Home

Furnishings Rental Headquarters

Furniture - TV - Appliances

• 1- or 2-bedroom apt. groupings

Men's Basketball

Sat. Jan. 21

K-STATE

VS.

NEBRASKA

$23 package includes

*Roundtrip motor coach

Classic

Travel & Tours

PERSONAL COMPUTERS

also servicing

Televisions & VCR;

PC compatibles & printers

Authorized Warranty Service

transportation

*Pregame Activity

★Game Ticket

104 S. 4th

2332 Sky-Vue Lane

537-8774

537-7546

Month to month leases

· Low monthly rental rates

Rent-to-own options

M-S 9-6

SOUND

Manhattan

537-7546

The

Chef

Jamaica

Cancun

Bahamas

Individual

Plans

Marie Services

Classio)

Travel & Tours

104 S. 4th

Dave Ely

Tonight

All you can eat!

includes salad bar

Drought guidelines Kedzie 103 to be set

By The Associated Press

WICHITA - Because it still is drier than normal statewide, the Governor's Drought Response Team is planning for possible spring and summer water shortages.

"Conditions have not improved from the summer and fall when we had concerns," said Clark Duffy, Kansas Water Office assistant director.

"Right now we're preparing for the worst. We're going to assume the worst," he said.

During a recent briefing for agricultural journalists, Duffy said drought conditions haven't eased, but lower temperatures and a corresponding lower demand for water have made the dryness less apparent.

At a Feb. 3 meeting of the Governor's Drought Response Team, contingency plans will be made for the spring and summer months, Duffy said.

The team may advise farmers and ranchers to think about culling livestock herds or at least make plans for adequate stock pond or stock tank water, Duffy said.

Local governmental agencies will be contacted and urged to begin water supply contingency and conservation planning, he said.

The Kansas Department of Health and Environment has a list of more than 4,000 private water wells that may go dry if the drought continues. Duffy said those well owners will be contacted.

Kansas State University's Cooperative Extension Service likely will take the lead in the agricultural and private well areas, Duffy said. The service's network of county agents across the state provides it with a means of making local contacts, he said.

A widely accepted measurement of drought, the Palmer Drought Severity Index, shows Kansas with severe conditions in all or part of more than 20 northeastern counties. Severe conditions also persist in a tier of several central counties.

Moderate drought conditions are being experienced in south central, east central and north central counties.

The index shows the least affected areas so far are in southwest and southeast Kansas.

Taking into account soil moisture conditions, precipitation, runoff, evaporation, temperature and other factors, the index isn't sensitive to slight rains, Duffy said. It takes several widespread rains at above normal levels for the index to be affected, he said.

Last summer nearly 80 counties got approval for emergency having and grazing for livestock because of dry conditions. More than 40 communities instituted some form of water conservation.

Duffy said while agriculture was the most seriously affected last year, the drought's impact could spread to more towns and cities.

Bloom County

CLASSIFIED RATES One day: 15 words or fewer, $2.50, 20 cents per word over 15; Two consecutive dates: 15 words or fewer, $3.50, 25 cents per word over 15; Three cons tive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.25, 30 cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 35 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $5.00, 40 cents per word over 15.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client an established account with Student Publications. Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon FRIDAY for Monday's paper. Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the adver-tiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not after the value of the ad.

Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE

for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

Display Classified Rates
One day: $5.20 per inch; Three consecutive days:
$5.00 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.80 per inch;
Ten consecutive days: $4.80 per inch, (Deadline is 4:30 p.m. two days before publication.)
Classified advertising is available only to those who do not disciminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sational orders are careastry.

national origin, sex or ancestry.

Announcements

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs -skincare -glamor -nails -gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor, 539-2070. COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp 539-6193. ENTRIES CLOSE 1/25/89 for 1989 Miss Manhattan-

K-State Pageant, an official Miss America Prelimin-ary, 537-2667. SOUTH PADRE/ Spring Break '99— Nice rooms for a great price! From $109 to $169 on the beach or minutes from it. Five or seven days. Don't spend all your money on a room, —you're never there anyway! (Limited space). Call 1-800-782-7653, ext

WANTED— 100 overweight people to try herbal weight control program. No drugs, no exercise. Doctor recommended. 100% guaranteed. 776-5114,

2 Apartments—Furnished

FURNISHED OR unfurnished large nice two-bedroom apartment. 537-4648.

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM in an 18-plex, two blocks from KSU. Gas heat, no pets, $295. 776-3804 or

NICE ONE-BEDROOM apartment. Water, trash, three fourths gas paid. Laundry facilities. Nice for graduate student or couple. $265. 539-2482 after 4p.m.

NICE ONE-BEDROOM apartment refurnished last summer. Real close to campus also January rent paid $295, $295 a month. Call 776-1985.

ONE-BEDROOM on Sunset. $260 plus gas and electric. Laundry facilities, no pets, please. 539-5051 or 776-3804.

SMALL BASEMENT apartment west of campus. $175 includes all utilities. No pets. 539-5051 or 776-3804. THREE-BEDROOM APARTMENT— Close to campus and Aggleville. $375 plus deposit and utilities. 537-6841. TWO-BEDROOM IN quiet, modern adult complex carrpus. Paid heat, laundry, carport, patio. $335. Available now. Minimum year lease. No smoking, pets, waterbeds. 537-9686.

TWO-BEDROOM, ONE and one-half bath near cam-pus. Washer/ dryer, $250 plus utilities. 537-8825

Apartments-Unfurnished

ATTRACTIVE, NEWLY decorated, large Town Ho nt. 1921 Anderson, walk to campus, Two bedrooms, two baths, washer/ dryer connections, gas heat. Large kitchen, large living and dining pets. Mature adults preferred. $350. Phone 537-4179 after 6p.m.

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM on 17th Street available now Two blocks to campus. Balcony, gas heat, laundy facilities. $310. 537-9020 or 776-3804.

LARGE TWO bedrooms, leases available now and next August. Furnished and unfurnished. Phone 537-9064 daily.

NICE, ONE-BEDROOM two blocks from campus. $260 includes all utilities, 537-4851 after 4p.m. ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT in City Park area, $235 plus gas and electric. No pets. 539-8229 or 776-3804.

STUDIO APARTMENT adjacent to campus, close to Aggleville. College Court Apartments. $220 monthly. Private parking, air conditioning, washer/ dryer and storage lookers. Call 532-7159. TWO-BEDROOM, MOST utilities paid. 539-6058 or

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT, one block from carry pus. Stove, refrigerator furnished. 1-468-3364.

NICE ONE-BEDROOM in Lee/ Hunting area available now. Fireplace, dishwasher, laundry facilities, $340, 539-2103 or 776-3804.

ClassAds

NICE TWO-BEDROOM near City Park in 24-plex. All appliances, laundry facilities. $380. 537-8229 or 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM, NEWLY renovated, $250/ month, unfurnished, close to campus, sublease, 776-2018 (Pete). Available starting next week.

ONE-BEDROOM, SECOND floor located 814 Leaven-worth, $175/ month plus utilities. Available now. 539-3672.

Automobiles for Sale

1974 VW, new brake system, new battery, good tires, $800, 776-7363.

1977 MONTE Carlo, Fully loaded with sunroof, $1,150

ATTENTION— GOVERNMENT seized vehicles from $100. Fords, Mercedes, Corvettes, Chevys. Surplus Buyers Guide. 1-602-838-8885 ext. A1797.

Child Care

LICENSED DAY Care Home toddler opening, Marlatt area, hot meals and activities. Call 776-4425 after 6p.m. 776-2183.

8 Computers

HAS NEVER been out of box! Brand new Epson FX-800 printer. A great buy for $210. Call Paul 537-1705 after 5p.m.

IBM MODEL 30 with Epson EX800, $1,700. Call

IBM PC model 30 with internal modern, Panasonic printer, and wp programs. Call anytime 776-7557. LAPTOP DATA General Model 2, modern, coprocessor, 512K, HP Think Jet Printer, carrying case. 1-238-4998. LINE PRINTER ribbons for sale- Black multistrike no. QM MS (4% dozen), $1.25 each. Black nylon no. QM NY (15), $2.25 each. Call 532-6555 or come by

MACINTOSH 512KE Computer and 20MG hard drive. Programs included. Pagemaker, Filemaker Plus, Guide, Reflex, MacMoney, also many games. $2,200 or best offer. 539-8535.

UPGRADING? WRITER of science fiction wants to buy cheap used computer for word processing

9 Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to approach any such "employment opportunity" with reasonable caution.

MISS MANHATTAN- K-State 1989 position open Minimum of $1,000 scholarship money plus many additional benefits. No entry fee. Applications accepted through 1-25-89. 537-2667, 537-4263. OVERSEAS JOBS. $900- $2,000 month. Summer, year-round, all countries, all fields, free information. Write IJC, P.O. Box 52-KS02, Corona Del Mar, CA

PART-TIME SALES person needed to work weekends for local furniture store. Please send resumes to Box 3, c/o The Collegian, Kedzle 103, KSU, Manhattan, KS 66508.

ANALYST

Entry level position at DPRA, Inc., a contact research firm specializing in environmental and regulatory issues. Applicants should have an advanced degree in resource economics, agronomy, soil sciences, biology or evironmental science. An undergraduate degree in a quantitative area (e.g. mathematics, systems science or engineering), some physical science or chemistry would be helpful, but is not required. Good verbal and writing skills are required. Salary range 18,000-24,000 with excellent benefits. Send letter and resume to director of human resources, DPRA, Inc., P.O. Box 727, Manhattan, KS 66502. E.O.E.

By Berke Breathed

ACROSS 1 Sticks for Mosconi

5 Minor

12 Bread

spread 13 Retail store

the Danube

14 City on

15 Special

17 Tall tale

18 Challeng

19 Synthetic

21 "The Sound of Music'

fiber

24 Arabic

26 Green letter

25 Serve tea

vegeta-

30 " - Take

31 Date and frying

need edges

35 Monster

mom

36 Colt's

33 Fabric

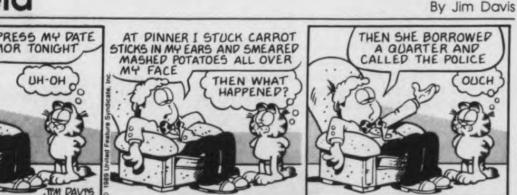

Romance"

coconut 32 Deep-tractor prophet

9 Crushing

Peanuts

By Charles Schulz HAVEN'T SEEN OLAF IN

WE WANT YOU TO WRITE TO

PART-TIME SALES help— Retail shoes. Experience required. Send schedule, resume to: 8 ox 2, c/o The Collegian, Kedzie 103, KSU, Manhattan, KS 66506.

$10- $660 weekly/ up mailing circulars! Rush self-addressed stamped envelope: Dept. AN-7CC-CU, 9300 Wilshire, Suite 470, Beverly Hills, CA 90212.

GUARANTEED MEGABUCKS. Selling jewelry, manu-facturer wants saleswomen. Below wholesale prices, higher profits for you$$$, information? 776-5545.

PART-TIME CUSTODIAN at First Lutheran Church, 10th and Poyntz. Apply at church office, 9a.m. noon, 1- 4p.m. weekdays. Deadline Jan. 19.

ATTENTION— HIRINGI Government jobs— your area. $17,840- $69,485. Call 1-602-838-8885 ext R1797.

BUSINESS MAJOR to work 10 to 20 hours per week keeping books for laboratory. Must be able to work over summer and through next year. Call Jennifer, 532-6131.

CHILDCARE— OUR home: Monday, Wednesday, Friday 11:45e.m.-5:15p.m. Own transportation. Study time allotted. 776-8663 after 5:30p.m.

CRUISE SHIPS jobs. Now hiring men and women Summer and career opportunities. Excellent pay plus world travel. Hawaii, Baharnas, Caribbean, etc. Call nowl (208)736-7000 ext 326C.

EXPANDING FIRM seeks motivated part-time program mers. C-language experience preferred. Contact ICADA Technologies, Inc. (537-2864) before FOR STUDENT office assistant. Duties include typing running errands and general office work. 15 hours week at $3.35/ hour. Call 532-6875 to PRESCHOOL INSTRUCTOR for City of Manhatta

Responsible for the supervision of 10 to 12 preschool children from three-five years old. Position requirements include the establishment of Position requirements include the establishment of a teaching program for preschool children that includes craft classes for the different developmen-tal stages; leading children in songs, storytime and supervising free play time. Instructors should meet the minimum state certification requirements Some formal education in early childhood or related field is required. Hours are 9a.m.- noon, Monday. nesday and Friday. $5/ hour. Apply at Person nel Office, City Hall, 11th and Poyntz by Jan. 23, 1989. EOE-M/F/H.

SCHOOL BUS drivers needed. $4.75 per hour, must be 21 years of age, have a good driving record and complete a training program. Bus driving experi-ence not required. Part-time, 6:30-8:30a.m. and 2:40-4:30p.m. job description available. Apply to USD 383, 2031 Poyntz Ave., Manhattan, KS 66502. (913)537-2400. EOE.

SCIENCE MAJOR to work early morning hours in a laboratory. 7:30- 9:30a.m. daily. Must be able to work through next year. Also needing students with large blocks of time. Call Jennifer, 532-6131.

STUDENT ASSISTANT needed for routine library tasks. Must be available Monday, Wednesday, Friday, 11a.m. to 1p.m. Vet Medical Library, fourth floor. Trother Hall, EOF. Hall EOE.

STUDENT HELP for general labor, $4/ hour. Prefer students able to work four-hour morning blocks. Apply in person in payroll office, 117 Dykstra Hall. Apply by Jan. 19. Apply by Jan. 19.

SUMMER JOBS outdoors. Over 5,000 openings! Na-tional parks, forests, fire crews. Send stamp for free details. 113 E. Wyoming, Kalispell, MT 59901. VISTA DRIVE in is now taking applications for full- and part-time help. Must be able to work some noon part-time neep. must shifts. Apply in person. WORK-STUDY STUDENT preferred to work in dairy sales counter, Call Hall. Contact Harold Roberts, room 130, Call Hall, or call 532-5654.

TUTORS NEEDED Call 532-6244

Volunteer tutors are needed for grades 1-12. If you enjoy helping children and adolescents, and would like a new friend, then we welcome you as a Friendship Tutor. Tutors are needed for a variety of subjects. For information call Mark White at 532-6244.

13 Houses/Mobile Homes for Sale

1977 WINDSOR 14x75. All appliances, redwood deck, big two-car garage, insulated shop. All on three-fourths acre. Make offer. 1-494-8484. ATTENTION- GOVERNMENT homes from $1 (You repair). Delinquent tax property. Call (602)838-8885 ext GH1797.

GOVERNMENT HOMES from $1. "You repair." Also, tax delinquent property. Call (805)644-9533 ext 263 for information.

14 Lost and Found

FOUND: BLACK puppy with white markings on campus Call 532-4542, or evenings 776-2456. FOUND CAR cover in parking lot B3. Call 532-3430.

15 Miscellaneous Merchandise

FOR SALE: Dining table and chains. Call 537-2970 from 7:30p.m. on.

Hayes House of Music DOD Guitar Effects 30% OFF

327 Povntz 776-7983

38 Cello's

cousin

MIDWEST SERVICES 624 Tuttle Creek Blvd. Manhattan 913-776-6650

FOR SALE: The Electromagnetics Problem Solver and Schaum outlines for Electromagnetics and Vector Analysis, Essential for EM Theory, Over $46 now. Asking $30 for all three. Like new condition. 537-1989 evenings. DJ SYSTEM. Mixer, equalizer, amplifler and Bose speakers with stands. Sansul receiver and speak-ers. 778-7689.

16 Motorcycles/Bicycles for Sale

MOUNTAIN BIKE for sale, loaded with extras, excellen condition, $350, 776-8629.

18 Personals

"BUNS," KNOW whether you're at Cardwell or Farrell, you still have great Buns! The Buns Patrol.

19 Pets and Pet Supplies

WANTED: USED aquarium. Call 532-3430 Haymake 20 Professional Services

SINGLE GARAGES near Aggieville. $25 per month.

Always hire a professional! We design Bluemont & Manhattan

TERM PAPERS, cover letters, resumes, theses and dissertations entered, stored and completed to your specifications. Come see us. Ross Secretarial Services, 614 N. 12th (across from Kite's) 539-5147.

CHEAP, CLOSE, Luxury furnished house, private

FEMALE, OWN room, two blocks from campu $106.25/ month plus utilities, Call 1-762-4242. FEMALE, OWN room, nice house near campus, washer/ dryer, $145 plus utilities, 537-8825.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to share two-bedroom utilities. Call Nanette, 537-1623.

mobile home. Fully furnished with washer and dryer. $150 a month plus one-half utilities. 776-8683.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to share four-bedroom apartment two blocks from campus. Call 539-2239

NEED: FEMALE to take over lease. Modern facilities laundry in complex, low utilities, close to campus $133 plus utilities. 776-7913.

ONE MALE, own room. No rent until February. No

ROOMMATE WANTED for two-story house with hard wood floors and bannister. Beautiful. 776-0553/ 1-492-3166.

share house, $175 a month plus one-half utilities Call Lisa 776-3607 ROOMMATE WANTED to share two-story house next to campus. $125/ month, own room, one-fourth utilities, washer/ dryer. 539-7709. ROOMMATE WANTED to share one-bedroom, base

ROOMMATE WANTED- Two-bedroom duplex close to carripus, fireplace, garage, washer/dryer, tenced yard, pets okay, very nice. $200/ month plus one-half utilities. Laura 776-5528.

SUBLEASE THIS beautiful apartment at least till May, $150 a month all utilities paid including cable Furnished or unfurnished, get free January rentl Call 537-7484, Dan.

WANTED: MALE roommate. $140 a month plus one-third electric and cable. Swimming pool. Five minute bike ride to campus. Call Terry at 776-3093.

-half block from campus. Leave messag 539-8961. Negotiable

SUBLEASE AVAILABLE January- May. One-bedro basement one block from campus. $175. (913)367-4757 evenings.

Crossword

37 Staub of 23 Teddy 2 Eskimo baseball Roosevelt knife

3 Slippery

40 Remark-4 Unite able deed 5 Love god 42 Tokyo, 6 Confusing 26 Actor network 43 Arena 7 Crude metal

sport 48 DDE de-8 Ambles feated him 9 Croakers 28 49 Meadows 10 Hodge-50 Beery or podge 11 TV Webster 51 New comedy

Guinea 16 Dennis town 52 Actress Doris Sommer 20 Creek 53 Slightly 21 Sacred bull

DOWN

1 Male swan

Solution time: 23 mins.

22 Tree

trunk

Yesterday's answer 1-14

party 24 Gift to the poor Nicolas 27 Cry heard at 43 Across 29 Weaver's 31 Biblical story 34 Miss Harper.

to pals?

35 Picnic or hike 37 British air arm 38 Calf meat 39 Cartoonlightbulb's 40 Antiaircraft 41 "So what

44 Biblical name 45 Tibetan gazelle 46 Cheese's partner

47 Friend's

22 -cheap 32 33 CRYPTOQUIP

GMFFMLBVU MG

WAYT

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: I RECKON THAT A DEFEATED POLITICIAN, LIKE THE EARTH, IS FLATTENED AT THE POLLS.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: L equals W

LYVFMVR OBTOASU WIMLT

Daytona Beach PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 South Fourth St., Suite 25. The Right Price 139 Cheapest PROMPT ABORTION and contraceptive services in Lawrence. (913)841-5716. Possible Rates 21 Rentals

22 Resume/Typing Services

resumes for your profession. Typeset & laserprinted. Graphics Plus corner of Aggieville 539-6027 bedroom, air conditioning, free cable Showtime, telephone, parking, now. 537-1388.

23 Roommate Wanted

apartment close to campus. $100/ month, one-third FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share two-bedroom

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted, close to campus, $125

MALE ROOMMATE wanted, $155 a month plus utilities

NON-SMOKING FEMALE— Own room, private laundry, garage. $192.50 plus one-half utilities. Donna 776-8384.

deposits or lease. Call 537-2055. $135 plus utilities, 537-6841.

ROOMMATE WANTED- Clean, responsible person to ment apartment. One and one-half blocks west of campus. Call for information. Ask for Jim. 776-7980.

SHARE A house. Own room plus use of kitchen, living area and all utilities. $95 a month for rent. Call 539-0356 to inquire.

26 Sublease

NICELY FURNISHED, $150 deposit, $300 monthly

By Eugene Sheffer

Garfield

Students

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 away for (the American public) to understand," Mdluli said. "Most people here don't know what it is like to walk in the cold with no shoes and to have very few rights and to go to bed hungry, truly hungry."

Manyothwane said the problem is not with the American people but with the American government.

"The policy of keeping investments in South Africa so that the blacks won't suffer economically is a falsehood," he said. "It would be possible to remove selected investments that would hurt the government and not the blacks." By removing selected investments, the government would lose money and be unable to send soldiers into the black townships, Manyothwane said.

Many whites in South Africa have begun supporting anti-apartheid movements, Mdluli said. The support stems from information spread by government troops, which were sent into the black townships to break up demonstrations. Some of these troops saw whites initiate violence. The government, however, claimed that violent riots were caused by black extremists.

Mdluli said distrust is the obstacle to a more representative form of govemment in South Africa.

"There is a great amount of distrust between the (South) African government and the blacks," he said. "They fear what would happen if we were given any power. But this fear is unfounded. We do not want to exterminate the whites - because we need them just as they need us.

"Many other countries in Africa have been liberated and in most of them the whites have been allowed to stay. But there will be change. And Mdluli said blacks have staged peaceful demonstrations. Only a few incidents of rock throwing occurred when soldiers arrived.

"The soldiers can do whatever they want," Mdluli said:

The soldiers met the demonstrators' rocks with bullets. The only alternative action will be to meet their bullets with bullets, Mdluli said.

"And we will get our guns," he said. "If we cannot get them from the United States, we will go to the Soviets. If we can't get them there, we will go elsewhere. We will go to the devil for our independence."

House

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE districts out there that are Democratic and to change them would require changes that would be an affront to everyone's sensibilities. We'll try to start with existing districts and to a great extent stick with them."

However, that will prove almost impossible in some areas. In populous Johnson County, five districts contain more than 11,000 more persons than they should. The county contains growing Karsas City area suburbs, and Secretary of State Bill Graves has said its population entitles it to 41/2 more House

In Sedgwick County, which contains Wichita, the state's largest city, two districts have more than 16,000 more people than they should.

Several Topeka-area districts in Shawnee County have more than 4,500 fewer people than they should, and the county should lose a House seat in reapportioment. The same is true of Wyandotte County.

The "ideal" House district should have 18,334 people, based on the state census.

16" PIZZA ONLY 599

one topping dine-in or free delivery I with coupon expires Jan. 31 "premium pizza at a cardboard pizza price" 523 South 17th 537-1484

AVIATION CADET

Pilot training, ages 19-24, with Associate Degree or 60 semester hours for our Naval Must be U.S. Citizen, a GPA 3.2. Call Naval Management placement office Mon.-Thurs., 9 a.m.-4 p.m. 1-800-821-5110.

The Department of Human Development and Family Studies will sponsor a seminar in honor of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. BLACK FAMILIES AND INSTITUTIONS

College of Human Ecology Justin Hall Room 109 Tuesday January 17 4:30-5:30 p.m.

PROGRAM

Do you want to fly? Aviation Cadet Program. physically qualified with this change may not be peaceful." Begin Graduate School Psychology In September '89 Doctor of Psychology Innovative Applied
 Clinical Small Classes Hospital Affiliations North Central Accredited Clinical Training Facilities On Premises Afternoon & Evening Classes Full & Parttime Programs
 Handicapped Accessibility Equal Opportunity Educational Facility Minority Scholarships Available

Forest Institute of Professional Psychology

1322 South Campbell • Springfield, Mo. 65807-1445

417/831-7902

Remember 18 oz. Fishbowls N. 3rd

UNITED ARTISTS $ 3 PER PERSON

LA SETH CHILDS 6

SHOWS BEFORE 6:00 p.m.

TH CHILDS AT FARM BUREAU RD. 776-969 Deep Star Six (R)
Delly at 7:15 & 9:30
Set/Sun 2:10 4:40 & 7:15 9:50
Talk Radio (R) Daily 7:10 & 9:30

Dirty Rotten Scoundrals (PG) Daily 7:15 & 9:40, Sat/Sun 9:05 & 11:30

Rain Man (R)
Daily 7:10 & 9:45, Sat/Sun 9:25 & 12:00

Accidental Tourist (PG)
Daily 7:20 & 9:45, Sat/Sun 9:25 & 11:50

Working Girl (R)
Daily 7:20 & 9:35
Sat/Sun 9:20 & 11:35

532-7755

532-7759

SHUTTLE SERVICE

for temporarily or permanently physically limited students on campus, building to building. Inquire by calling 532-6436

Kansas City Times & Sunday Star K.C. Star

P.O. Box 4183 Topeka, KS 66604

THE KANSAS CITY TIMES & SUNDAY STAR

Student Discount

SEMESTER RATE

lagree to subscribe to The Kansas City Times & Sunday Star for the full semester at the special rate of $20.80. This price includes consideration for nondelivery when classes are suspended for holidays, fall, winter, or spring breaks and other periods when service is not requested. The offer becomes effective the first day of class and expires the last day of finals. Delivery begins the first day of classes and ends the last day of finals.

students of this university or college. It is SUNDAY students of this utiliversity of college made only to areas where delivery is made by a carrier or agent of The Star.

ADDRESS:	ZIP
PHONE:	APT:
STUDENT I.D. # JNIVERSITY:
SIGNED:

of other fine features to the XL 2500.

Ribbon System," which automatically prevents you from using the wrong combination of ribbon and correcting

There's full line correction, Auto

Half-Space, Auto Center, even our Right

Oh, one more feature we forgot to mention—the price. You'll be happy to hear that the XL 2500 is surprisingly

So you see, the XL 2500 won't just make your writing

It'll also help you with

Open the door to your future...

Gain practical experience in both marketing and advertising while earning 3 credit hours. The curriculum includes selling and designing Collegian ads for local retail clients as well as creating marketing plans. This invaluable on-the-job training will open doors to future occupational prospects.

For more information contact Gloria B. Freeland at 532-6555 or stop by Student Publications in Kedzie 103.

LAFENE HEALTH CENTER

Clinic..... 532-6544 Lafene Women's Clinic. 532-6554 Pharmacy 532-7758 Sportsmedicine Clinic .. 532-7880 Physical Therapy..... 532-7880 Health Education 532-7755 Administration.....

Cashier.....

Of course, we've also added lots

Students, your assignment today is to learn how to use the Smith Corona XL 2500 typewriter.

Ooops, don't get too settled in your seats. The XL 2500 isn't a very difficult

In fact, unlike most electronic typewriters, it's a downright snap to pick up. The Spell-Right 50,000 word electronic dictionary adds new meaning to the word "simple."

WordEraser*erases entire words at a single touch.

WordFind* finds your mistakes before anyone else can.

The XL 2500 even makes correcting mistakes as easy as making them.
With the Smith Corona Correcting affordable.

Cassette, you simply pop in your correction tape.

easier.

For more information on this product, write to Smith Corona Corporation, 65 Locust Avenue, New Canaan, CT 06840 or Smith Corona (Canada Ltd.), 440 Tapscott Road, Scarborough, Ontario, Canada M1B 1Y4.

 9

0/0/0

Old Station

A 77-year-old Keats resident owns and operates a service station that has been in his family for three generations. See Page 7.

Weather

Partly sunny today, high around 50. Northwest winds 10 to 20 mph. Clear tonight, low in the lower to mid-20s.

Buffs at Bramlage

The 'Cats will be searching for their first Big Eight Conference win tonight against Colorado at Bramlage Coliseum. See Page 9.

Wednesday

January 18, 1989

Kansas State University Manhattan, Kansas 66506 Volume 95, Number 80

Kansas State Collegian

Drifter murders 5 in school assault

By The Associated Press

STOCKTON, Calif. - A young drifter wearing combat fatigues opened fire with an assault rifle at screaming children in an elementary school yard Tuesday and then invaded classrooms.

Five children, all refugees from Southeast Asia, were killed and 30 people wounded before he killed himself.

"He was just standing there with a gun, making wide sweeps," said Lori Mackey, who teaches deaf children at the Cleveland Elementary School and ran to her window when she heard what she thought were

She said she saw a man standing in the schoolyard, spraying gunfire back and forth from a Russian AK-47 assault rifle as 400-500 students from grades 1-3 played at recess. She said when she realized what was happening, she took her 10 students into a rear room where they couldn't be

"He was not talking, he was not yelling, he was very straight-faced, it did not look like he was really angry, it was just matter-of-factly," she said of the gunman, whom she described as about 5-10 with short dirty-blonde

"There was mass chaos. There were kids running in every direction," she said.

Lucian Neely, deputy police chief of this agricultural city 60 miles southeast of San Francisco, identi-

From Staff and Wire Reports

TOPEKA — House Speaker Jim

The House took eight votes on

Braden spent a good part of last week looking and acting worried, and for proposed rules changes — changes

Braden's leadership team more difficult - and Braden lost all eight. It fight against its own leadership. The loosen up the legislative process in

One rule change lowered the number of votes required to bring legislation onto the floor from 84 to 70, thus allowing the minority party more rights to come to the floor and away from the speaker ... (They) open the

"The new rules allow for more ease in bringing up legislation.

the 125-member chamber.

good reason.

against the speaker.

New rules to make speaker's job hard fied the gunman as Patrick West, 24, who was originally from Stockton but had lived most recently in Lodi, about 15 miles northeast of here. Prior to that he lived in Sandy, Ore., where he purchased an AK-47 from the Sandy Trading Post on Aug. 3., said Sandy Police Chief Fred Punzel. Neely said police had "no idea" of a motive.

West, who used the alias Patrick E. Purdy, had an "extensive criminal history," mostly in the Los Angeles area, Neely said. The crimes included soliciting for sex and narcotics and weapons violations, he said.

Punzel said West had lived with an aunt and uncle for several months until October and said the aunt, Julie Michael, "told me he was a loner and as a child he was an alcoholic." He said West had apparently been living in Texas, Memphis, Tenn., and Connecticut since leaving Oregon.

Deputy Police Chief Ralph Tribble said the gunman, dressed in battle gear and wearing a flak jacket, set his car on fire as a diversion before entering the campus at about 11:40 a.m. PST with two handguns and the AK-47.

Bruce Fernandes, a spokesman for the San Joaquin County Office of Emergency Services, said five people were killed before the gunman shot himself in the head, and 30 wounded, most of them pupils. Neely said at least 15 of the wounded were in critical condition.

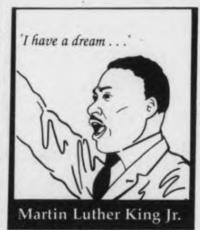

■ See SHOOTING, Page 14

Cardiff, spoke Tuesday night at the pre-convocation forum "The to leave that country because of his opposition to racism.

Alan Lipman, a visiting professor from the University of Wales at Situation in South Africa." Lipman, born in South Africa, was forced

Speakers commemorate King

South African forum focuses | Class studies families on state of economy, image

By Kevin Kramer Staff Writer

"We should be aware of the vast differences when drawing analogies between South Africa and the civil rights struggle in the United States," said Alan Lipman, a visiting professor in the department of Lipman was speaking Tuesday

as a member of the Pre-

Convocation Forum panel designed to peak interest and provide information on South Africa prior to Architecture.

It was in sharp contrast to the Senate, where the 22 Republicans stuck together and adopted rules that process by giving more power to individual legislators," said Marvin

"I don't know where to go from here," Braden, R-Clay Center, said

Barkis, House minority leader.

that would make the job of Speaker left the 18 Democrats crying foul. was an assault on rules deemed too Those rules will greatly limit the restrictive and a personal attack minority party's ability to force bills out of committee and to force roll call votes on proposed amendments. A group of 10 Republicans led the

It was just the opposite in the group's members formed an alliance House. with the House's 58 Democrats to

The discontented House Republicans said they were interested in opening the legislative process to rank-and-file lawmakers by making it harder for the leadership to bottle up bills in committee and prevent procedural changes. They said after the fight, they didn't see the GOP split or the coalition with the Democrats as permanent.

■ See GOP, Page 14

Thursday's Convocation. In the three-person panel's presentation, moderated by Convocation committee member Tony Crawford, the forum "The Situation in South Africa," attracted an audience of about 25 students, faculty and local citizens concerned about the situation in South Africa.

Vastly different circumstances - political, social and economic histories - exist which don't crossover, Lipman said.

Lipman, who was born and lived in South Africa for 37 years, was active in the opposition to racism, aparthied and the government. He was so involved that in 1965, he left the country to avoid imprisonment.

There are differences between their struggle and what has occurred here," he said. "Be wary of easy comparisons."

Wayne Nafziger, professor of economics, provided an explanation of the current economic role of the Southern African region and South Africa's impact on neighboring countries.

■ See FORUM, Page 12

By Deborah Dinges Collegian Reporter

A panel discussed the effects of societal institutions on the black family during the seminar "Black Families and Institutions" Tuesday.

Barbara Stowe, dean of the College of Human Ecology, said the seminar was a contribution to the campus' week-long commemoration to Martin Luther King Jr. and a celebration of the re-opening of the Black Family course. The class has not been offered for five years.

Stowe said the department lacked a faculty member with the appropriate experience and background to bring more to the class than the textbook could offer.

After describing King's dream of brotherhood, Sakinah Salahu-Din, instructor for the course, said, "Twenty-one years after his death, we're moving away from the dream."

The color line is less apparent today than in the past, but still exists, Salahu-Din said.

She said the only way to reverse this trend is through educating all people about blacks and whites -

information that has been distorted

The Rev. Mary Pope, founder and pastor of the Church of Deliverance in Junction City; Fordie Pettis, area director for the Manhattan Department of Social and Rehabilitation Services; and Larry Dixon, principal of Junction City's high school, were panelists for the seminar sponsored by the Department of Human Development and Family Studies.

The panelists accomplished the purpose of the seminar by discussing the three major institutions that affect the lives of black families: the church, schools and state welfare services.

"The church was, is, and will always be the backbone of the black community," Pope said. "The church teaches children selfesteem and that if you have a mind, if you have faith - you can do it."

The education community has affected the black child in a different way, Dixon said. Limitations and low expectations placed on black students have had a negative effect on their education.

See FAMILY, Page 11

Police close 130 blocks; Miami violence spreads

By The Associated Press

MIAMI - Crowds burned a car and directed gunfire and rocks at police as violence flared anew and spread Tuesday after a night of rioting sparked by the fatal shooting of an unarmed black motorcyclist by a white policeman.

Schools were closed, a professional basketball game was canceled and police cordoned off a 130-block area of the predominantly black Overtown neighborhood. After nightfall, authorities told law-abiding citizens of Overtown to remain indoors and began a block-by-block sweep of the

"We're not going in there to be brutal, we're going in there to make sure we restore order to these areas," said Fred Taylor, head of Metro-Dade's police, who joined Miami police for the sweep. "I don't think we can allow this thing to continue."

Police said they would arrest all violators, but would not release details of arrests until Wednesday

Trouble erupted again Tuesday afternoon when a white man in a luxury car reportedly fired into a crowd of blacks in the area, wounding one person before driving away.

"All I know is that one person was hit in the side," police spokesman Angelo Bitsis said, adding that the unidentified victim was hospitalized in fair condition.

Violence broke out in several other black neighborhoods, including just outside the Miami Arena on the border of Overtown, where the National Basketball Association's Miami Heat was scheduled to play the Phoenix Suns Tuesday night. The game was canceled after about 25 youths shattered car windows.

In Liberty City, several miles away, police said there was sporadic gunfire and widespread looting. Police said officers rescued one shooting victim while under fire, and returned fire at another man, injuring him in the leg.

A meat truck was looted and one white motorist was beaten after his car broke down in Overtown.

The car of Associated Press photographer Mark Pesetsky was burned and he was roughed up by a mob when he attempted to take pictures of the crowd that had gathered near the site of Tuesday's shooting.

Police fired tear gas at the crowd and in turn were pelted by rocks and bottles. They then sealed off a several block area and shots could be heard from within.

Pesetsky, who was not seriously hurt, said he and two other photographers had been taken pictures from what he thought was a safe distance when the violence reached him.

"I saw someone coming around a building and throwing rocks, and I said 'Let's go, get out of here," Pesetsky said.

The FBI announced that it would open an investigation into Monday night's shooting to determine whether there were civil rights violations, Miami bureau spokesman George Kiszynski said.

"I can't tell you how long it will take, but it will be an extensive and thorough investigation and it will be done as promptly as possible," Kiszynski said.

Meanwhile, a passenger on the motorcycle who was injured when the driver crashed into a car after the shooting died Tuesday at Jackson Memorial Hospital of massive head injuries, spokeswoman Betty Baderman said

Mayor Xavier Suarez, one of the targets of rock and bottle throwing Monday night, spent Tuesday meeting with black leaders and residents of Overtown, a neighborhood of rundown, low-slung apartment buildings and trash-strewn vacant lots, just north of downtown Miami.

"People are angry, people want a full explanation of what happened," said Suarez, who also expressed particular concern about the damage to Miami's image less than a week before the city hosts the Super Bowl.

At least two buildings and three cars were burned in the rioting. which broke out about two hours after a white police officer shot and

■ See RIOT, Page 14

Czechoslovakians arrested

VIENNA, Austria — Czechoslovak police drove crowds from Prague's main square with water cannons for a third day Tuesday, although no protest was being held, and 14 activists may be prosecuted, dissidents and witnesses said.

Fourteen dissidents were detained Monday, including playwright Vaclav Havel, whose works are banned.

They had tried to lay flowers in Wenceslas Square to honor Jan Palach, a 20-year-old student who burned himself alive 20 years ago to protest the Soviet-led invasion that ended the liberal "Prague Spring" in August 1968.

A prosecutor told relatives Dana Nemcova, spokeswoman for the human rights group Charter 77, and Sasha Vondra, a Charter 77 spokesman, would stay in custody for an unspecified period, a dissident source said by telephone from Prague.

Nemcova's son, David, who was married Saturday, also was among the 14 arrested Monday along with Jana Sternova, a former Charter 77 spokeswoman who met with President Reagan last year in Washington.

Germany sent Libya chemicals

FRANKFURT, West Germany — West Germany's Merck chemical company told the government Tuesday that it shipped 19 tons of a chemical solvent to Libya last year. It said the destination may have been the plant Washington says can produce poison gas.

A Frankfurt company reported it provided expensive ventilation equipment to a now-defunct Frankfurt firm reportedly at the center of the plant's construction at Rabta, Libya.

A transport company in Cologne said federal officials seized some of its records in conjunction with the growing Libyan investigation investigation.

The acknowledgments add to the growing list of West German companies that were or may have been involved in providing materials for the plant, although they may not have known it at the time.

After listening to days of denials from their government leaders, West Germans have become increasingly accustomed to daily revelations of further involvement of West German businesses in what U.S. officials say is Col. Moammar Gadha-fi's chemical weapons plant.

... Around the nation

Hearst uncertain of pardon

WESTPORT, Conn. — Newspaper heiress Patty Hearst Shaw says she's not sure whether President Reagan's recent expression of interest in her request for a pardon means one will be forthcoming.

"I don't know," she said during a brief interview Monday with The Advocate of Stamford at her Westport home. "It's a little premature for anything like that. If he (Reagan) doesn't approve it, it would go to the next administration."

Shaw, granddaughter of newspaper tycoon William Randolph Hearst, last August quietly asked for a pardon for her role in the 1974 robbery of a bank.

She has maintained she was brainwashed by the radical Symbionese Liberation Army.

... Around the region

KCC advises utility refunds

TOPEKA — A Kansas City, Mo., utility should be required to refund at least $1.3 million to its customers because of unscheduled power outages at the Wolf Creek nuclear power plant, the Kansas Corporation Commission's staff recommended Tuesday.

The refund would represent charges Kansas City Power and Light Co. passed on to its customers between September 1987 and February 1988. The KCC's staff said the utility should refund $1.3 million, as well as interest.

The commission is scheduled to discuss the matter Wednesday. It is expected to schedule a hearing at which the utility will have to show why it should not have to refund the money.

The KCC already has scheduled such hearings for March 20 for another Wolf Creek owner, Kansas Gas and Electric Co. of Wichita. The KCC's staff has recommended that KG&E be required to refund $6.4 million. Both utilities own 47 percent of the plant

The utilities incurred the costs over six months, starting in September 1987, when the nuclear plant was not generating electricity on 127 days. The plant was scheduled to not generate electricity on only 56 of those days, the staff noted.

Nuclear fuel is less expensive than other fuels, such as coal, natural gas and oil. When Wolf Creek was not generating electricity, the two utilities generated the electricity at non-nuclear plants, the KCC's staff said.

The Wolf Creek plant is about four miles south of Burlington, about 60 miles south of Topeka.

Court rules biter incompetent

LAWRENCE — A man charged with biting a woman in church was ruled incompetent Tuesday at a court hearing he did not attend because he refused to wear clothes.

Larry Tubbs was ordered to the Topeka State Hospital by District Judge Dean Shepherd, who asked for a report within 90 days.

Tubbs' attorney, Shelley Bock, said Tubbs was refusing to wear clothes and had been intimidating. Bock did not elaborate. Tubbs, 29, was charged with misdemeanor counts of battery and damage to property.

Police said that Tubbs became "unruly and disruptive" during the evening services Nov. 25 at the Second Christian Church. A woman who intervened was bitten several times on the legs and midsection.

Tubbs earlier had labeled the incident an "ecclesiastical matter."

Man murdered in argument

LEAWOOD — A 25-year-old Olathe man was shot to death in Leawood during an argument at a home, authorities said.

Richard D. Ellis was shot once in the head about 8:30 a.m.

Monday and died at St. Joseph Health Center about two hours later, according to Leawood Police Chief Stephen Cox.

It was the first homicide in Leawood in almost five years, according to Cox, who said the city's last homicide occurred in March 1984.

Cox said Ellis and the resident of the home were arguing over a "business matter" when the shooting occurred.

Police were investigating the death, Cox said, but had not determined if charges were going to be filed in the case.

Campus Bulletin

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Campus organizations are encouraged to use Campus Bulletin. All announcements must be submitted by 11 a.m. one day prior to publication. Announcements for Monday's bulletin must be in by 11 a.m. Friday. However, publication is determined by the amount of space available on a first-come, first-serve basis and is not ensured. Information forms are available on the shelf outside Kedzie 118. Forms should be left in the box on the shelf after being filled out. All submissions must be signed and are subject to verification. Questions should be directed to the Collegian's campus editors in Kedzie 116.

CAREER PLANNING AND PLACE-MENT is now posting sign-up schedules for on-campus employment interviews by Kansas, regional and national employers. All eligible candidates are urged to register and apply.

KSU RODEO CLUB Anyone interested in competing for the 1989 Miss Rodeo K-State Contest must notify Kelly Freitag at 776-3158 before Jan. 20.

UFM is sponsoring a chili feed on Jan. 21 from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Cost is $3. Call 539-8763 for reservations.

TODAY

FLYING CLUB will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Union 212.

GYMNASTICS CLUB will meet at 9 p.m.

NATIONAL SOCIETY OF BLACK ENGINEERS will meet at 6 p.m. in Durland

COLLEGIATE 4-H will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Union 213.

THURSDAY

ICTHUS CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP will meet at 8 p.m. in the Union Little Theater.

DORS will meet at 9 p.m. in Union 203.

EATING DISORDER SUPPORT GROUP will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 205.

ARTS AND SCIENCES AMBASSA-

KSU RODEO CLUB will meet at 7 p.m. in Weber 146.

SOCIETY OF WOMEN ENGINEERS will meet at 7 p.m. in Durland 152.

PRE-VET CLUB will meet at 7 p.m. in Trotter 201.

PARACHUTE CLUB will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 206.

CAMPUS CRUSADE FOR CHRIST

will meet at 7 p.m. in Throckmorton 131.

K-State Police

Monday

reported lost off campus.

- A theft report was filed concerning room number signs missing from Nichols Hall. Loss was $20.
- A student parking permit was reported lost or stolen in an unknown vicinity.
- A suspect was reported to have been calling false orders to area businesses.

Tuesday

■ A student parking permit was

- A green and white Ford was towed from reserve parking stall 214 to Manhattan Wrecker Service.
- A checkbook was reported lost in Manhattan.
- A student parking permit was reported lost in an unknown vicinity.
- A gold bracelet worth $100
- was reported lost on campus.

 A wallet and contents worth
- A wallet and contents worth $14 were reported lost off campus.

Campus Briefly

Scholarships to aid child care

Fifty Kansas child care providers who meet income and other requirements will now be eligible to receive scholarships for child development associates.

The assessment fee paid by the Kansas Department of Social and Rehabilitation Services.

and Rehabilitation Services.

"The child development associate credential signifies that a child care giver has acquired the necessary competencies to provide quality care for young children," said professor Mary Dean Apel. Apel is associate director of Kansas Child Care Training

Best Prices—Mon.-Wed. 99° Thurs.-Sun. $250 & $165

Best Service—No Membership Fee Best Location—Behind Alco

Next to the new Valentino's

Open 7 Days A Week

Sun.-Thur. Noon-9 Fri. Noon-10

ri. Noon-10 Rental VCRs Available Sat. 10-10

Borck Brothers Fine Menswear "Semi-Annual Clearance Sale" Big and Tall Included

			-	3	el	e	*	et	e	20	1	5	i	1	it	S
Regul	aı	r															Now
185-230																	15500
245-285																	21500
315-345																	25500
365-385																	29500
																	34500
465-575																	38500

Fall Sports Coats 40% off
Navy Blazer Excluded

Top Coats. 40% off

Trench Coats. 30% off

Fall Slacks 40% off
Fall Sweaters 40% off

Headwear 50% off

Fall Sport Shirts. . . 40% off

Fall Robes & Pajamas 40% off

Gifts & Accessories 40-50% off

Fancy Dress Shirts. 30-50% off

BORCK Brothers

1100 Westloop Place (913) 537-8636 Westloop Shopping Center 9:30-5:30 Mon.-Sat.; til 8:30 Thurs.

Wed.— 25¢ Draws

Thurs.-99¢ Pitchers, Wells and Kami Shots

Fri.— Free Sandwich Bar 4-7 p.m.

No cover charge for the ladies

$2 Daiquiris, Margaritas, Pina Coladas, and Ice Cream Drinks

Next Week's upcoming events:

Tues. Male Dancers "Body Heat"

Fri. Live Band "The Heat"

Student charged with battery in mascot attack

Doug Sander, junior in physical education, is escorted out of Bramlage Coliseum by guards after tackling the KU mascot during a timeout Saturday. He was arrested and charged with battery and disorderly conduct. By Chris Koger Staff Writer

One arrest has stemmed from the K-State vs. University of Kansas men's basketball game Saturday, but few other problems occurred during the game, according to Bramlage Coliseum officials.

In the second half of the game, during an official's time out, KU's jayhawk mascot was tackled from behind by Doug Sander, junior in physical education.

Sander was arrested by K-State Police and charged with battery and disorderly conduct. He was taken to the Riley County jail and released an hour later after posting $300 bail.

"There's always a temptation for a fan to act out like this, but we want them to know it won't be tolerated," Coliseum Director Charles Thomas said. "It's prudent to take measures so it won't happen; we want everyone to have a good time and feel

At past K-State vs. KU games, live chickens had been thrown onto the basketball court before the tip-off. This year, however, only one chicken

Staff/Greg Vogel

Sanders tackles the Jayhawk in the second half. Several security problems also occurred. made it that far. At least four students trying to smuggle in a chicken were caught by security personnel at the doors, Thomas said.

There really weren't any problems other than the chicken thing, which will happen at every KU game played here," he said.

Because some of the chickens found by security had been sprayed with purple paint that causes lead poisoning, the chickens had to be put to sleep at the Veterinary Medical Center, said Jim Muller, assistant director of Bramlage. "It's a very cruel thing to do. Spray-painting a chicken causes it to die painfully," Muller said. "Traditions like that die slowly, but they should die." Thomas said throwing chickens is also potentially harmful to fans.

"A chicken in that environment is very frightened and is liable to hurt someone, especially if it is thrown from above," he said.

For a normal home game, for which large crowds aren't expected, about nine or 10 student security workers and four campus police are on hand. Thomas said. For Saturday's sellout, five more campus police were present at the game.

'We figured there would be a total sellout, and from incidents in the past, we knew it would be a good idea to beef up security," he said.

Class helps entrepreneurs

By The Collegian Staff

Owning a business can be quite exhausting, but with the help of the class Independent Study in Entrepreneurship a lot of the confusion can make sense.

Entrepreneurship is geared toward teaching all the aspects of starting a business, which are tied together in a business plan toward the end of the semester, said Randolph Pohlman, dean of the College of Business Administration and L.L. McAninch professor of entrepreneurship.

"There are a lot of things about starting a business that one doesn't think about before a class like this," Pohlman said.

The class begins with an intro- ness. He said he took the class duction to the role of an entrepreneur. This clears up some of the myths about entrepreneurs being independently wealthy people who never work and like to take risks all of the time, he said.

The class then learns how to determine market feasibility of a new product or service through research and market analysis, he

"We had to do a lot of research on our own," said Deuane Wells, K-State graduate and former entrepreneurship student. "It took us through the steps needed to start our own business."

Wells, a non-traditional student, owns a personnel recruiting busibecause he was thinking of pursuing his master's degree in business administration and thought the class sounded like a good overview of running a business.

The class also shows different types of ownership, sources of assistance, what must happen when dealing with patents, the aspects of dealing with international trade and the different ways of starting a business, Pohlman said.

"The business plan is the centerpiece of the course," Pohlman said. "It is no little project."

The business plan includes all the information from the students' research to determine the market feasibility of their businesses.

Baker, Baldock, Folk, Lively, Miller, Sanborn and Schmeller ... read Collegian columnists!

BROTHER CORRECTRONIC 320 TYPEWRITER

YOU DON'T HAVE TO WAIT FOR A SALE AT DILLARD'S TO SAVE.

A FAIR PRICE MEANS VALUE. TO YOU, THIS MEANS OUR HOME FURNISHINGS ARE AT FAIR PRICES EVERYDAY . . . SO

The Brother 320 Correctronic Typewriter features letter-quality daisy wheel cassette. Its total correction system makes typing faster, easier and more accurate. An absolute necessity for work or school.

SHOP TODAY 10:00 A.M.-9:00 P.M.

Automatic "Word Out" and "Line Out" correction system for erasing a single word or complete line

Full line lift-off correction memory

Variable pitch typing for pica and elite

12 characters per second typing speed

 Automatic right margin flush, centering and underlining

■ 12" paper capacity

5-year limited warranty

Built-in handle and lid cover

Stationery.

Dillard's

Editorial

Kansas State Collegian Opinions ■ Wednesday, January 18, 1989

Reagan's farewell parallels presidency

In his Jan. 10 farewell address, speech, freedom of religion, and President Reagan summarized his freedom of enterprise," the last an presidency in a manner true to form. He told us he "had changed a world," initiated a "recovery of our morale," shown that "democracy, the serious tones of previous the profoundly good, is also profoundly productive," and performed many other wonderful deeds, all the while avoiding saying anything that was actually meaningful.

Reagan then likened being president to "going by too fast in a car that someone else is driving," without telling us exactly who had been driving these past eight years and who was responsible for giving us all of these previously mentioned wonderful items.

In the tradition of all presidents from Eisenhower, who prophetically warned us of the growing military-industrial complex, to Carter, who warned us about increasing nuclear stockpiles, Reagan delivered his own cautionary note, once again, true to form. He warned us of the "eradication of the American memory," and its threat to the "American spirit, freedom of apparently new addition to the Bill of Rights.

This is hardly in keeping with addresses. Yet, perhaps its very blandness is perfectly in keeping with his own presidency.

For if Reagan gets his wish and American historical memory is revitalized, he will surely be remembered as the president with the worst historical memory, both of his own and of others' presidencies, as well as the president who gutted the memory of his nation's youngest citizens by consistently slashing federal spending on education.

Granted, finding contradictions in a Reagan speech is like shooting fish in a barrel, but too many contradictions bespeak of a neglect of substance and a contempt for the intelligence — and memory — of the audience. By these standards, there could be no better epilogue to the Reagan presidency than last Tuesday's farewell address.

New fee receipts require greater care

One of the last remnants of ful that they will hold on to a generpunch card technology has finally become extinct.

This semester the traditional fee cards were replaced with computer generated fee receipts.

The new process eliminates the need for other cards. All information is placed on the one receipt. According to the registrar's office, the new receipt will make fee payment an easier and quicker process. Granted, there were some problems on the first trial run, but in the long run the new system should be more efficient and time-saving.

Anything that can make the tedious process of fee payment less painless for students is certainly a change in the right direction.

But, as with anything new, there is a kink.

The new receipts are just that flimsy paper receipts. Now, by the time students are college age they should be able to keep track of such an important piece of paper. But if students couldn't hold on to a thicker card, let's face it, it's doubt-ic white piece of paper.

EDITOR

There are a variety of solutions to the problem. The university can just assume that students will be smart enough not to lose or wash or rip the slip of paper, or perhaps they could follow an example set by the Kansas Parks and Wildlife ommission. Small cardboard pockets are issued along with the paper licenses. This allows the paper to be folded and neatly carried in a billfold, while being protected from dirt and wear.

Perhaps small cardboard or plastic envelopes could also accompany the fee payment receipts. This would emphasize the importance of keeping the often-used receipt, and it might prevent students from tossing it out with the other materials they receive at registration. The plastic or cardboard envelope could also protect it throughout the semester.

It is an inexpensive and simple idea ... after all, some of the best ideas are simple ones.

Collegian Editorial Policies

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR are always encouraged. Those which pertain to matters of campus and/or public interest are especially encouraged, and are given the

Letters should be kept as brief as possible, preferably under 300 words. Those who cannot condense their opinions should consider submiting their letter in the form of a guest column. All letters are subject to editing for space, style and taste.

GUEST COLUMNS are also encouraged. The column should be no longer than two double-spaced, typed pages. If the submission is used as a column and not a letter to the editor, it will be accompanied by the author's photograph.

SEND SUBMISSIONS to the Collegian in Kedzie 116.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

	James Commission
	Susan L'Ecuye
THE TEN BOOK I SELL COMMISSION OF THE PARTY	Erwin Sebi
	Greg Voge
	Chris Hay
	Todd Schultz
EDITORIAL BOARD	Barbara Baker, Kale Baldock, Catherine Doud, Susan L'Ecuye Barbara Baker, Lively, Scott Miller, Michael Nichols, Paula Seby Chad L. Sanborn; Mark Schmeiler, Erwin Seba, Robert R. Short, Janet Swansor
POSTMASTER: Send address cha hattan, Kan. 66506-7167. News contributions will be accept	mer sessions. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502, anges to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Man- ated by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, Kedzie Hall 116.
The state of the s	and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word advertising questions should be directed	10 (913) 532-6555.
	Kansas State Collegian Subscription Rates
One Semester (Fall or Spring)	Kansas State Collegian Subscription nates 605
our source it my or shulft
Two Semesters (Fall and Spring)	$25 $10

To charge by VISA or MasterCard, call (913) 532-6555

Bush has questionable past wo days from today, George Bush will give up his position as vicepresident and chief Reagan cheerleader to become the 41st president of the United States. He will also become the first former director of the Central Intelligence Agency to put his name on the door of the Oval Office.

The pundits of the major news media have pointed out that, save for a few unconvincing pronouncements about a "kinder, gentler nation," we can expect from Bush largely the same pro-military, pro-big business, pro-intervention, anti-labor, anti-civil rights, anti-family farm policies of the last eight years under Reagan.

ABC's Sam Donaldson, always one to provide us with relevant, insightful political analysis, has also noted that Bush will, probably not be as witty as Reagan.

Lost, however, somewhere in all that relevant, insightful political analysis of the mainstream media, is the same question which the Democrats, apparently most of them equally ignorant of its implications, were asking in Atlanta: "Where was

In the October 1988 issue of "Mother Jones," Scott Armstrong and Jeff Nason answer the Democrats' question: "George Bush has been on the scenes of the biggest political scandals of the last two decades ... from Watergate to Iran-Contra, and he is one of the few survivors." They go on to pose their own question: "How does he always get out alive?" and then narrate a complex tale of then-CIA Director Bush's involvement with scandals, cover-ups and shady characters.

"While director of the (CIA), Bush played the role of a cheerleader and a front man willfully ignorant of unpleasant news. He ignored repeated signals that rogue, "off-thebooks" operations by former agents were out of control, leading to Agency acquiesence in illegal activities.'

If you remember the phrase "off-thebooks," from the Iran-Contra hearings, it might interest you to know that many of the Commentary figures of that scandal, such as Richard Secord, Albert Hakim, Felix Rodriguez, Theodore Shackley, Thomas Clines, John Singlaub, etc., were also busy with "rougue, 'offthe-books' operations," during Bush's tenure as CIA director.

Scott Miller Collegian Columnist

efore leaving the CIA, Bush appears to have done everything possible, or at least necessary, to stifle a Justice Department investigation of the CIA's cooperation with Operation Condor, one of the more notorious of these "offthe-books" operations.

Operation Condor was an international assassination ring set up in the mid-1970s by the intelligence services of various rightwing dictatorships. It employed, among others, Felix Rodriguez of Iran-Contra fame, Rafael Quintero and Luis Posada. Posada's claim to fame came in October 1976 when he blew up a passenger jet, killing 73

According to "The Iran/Contra Connection" by Jonathon Marshall, Peter Dale Scott and Jane Hunter, the weapons for Posada's attack were procurred through former CIA operative Edwin Wilson, who is now in jail for weapons smuggling, with the help of then-active CIA operative Thomas Clines. Although it looked as if Clines was himself involved in illegal activities, Bush apparently saw no problem with allowing him to conduct part of the ensuing investigation.

Clines, who was also later to emerge from deep within the bowels of the Iran—Contra affair, is a long-time associate of Theodore Shackley, Bush's appointee to the post of CIA associate deputy diractor for operations, and also of Iran-Contra fame.

vidence strongly suggests that cooperation from the CIA during Bush's tenure was essential not only to Posada's terrorist attack, but also to the assassination in Washington, D.C. of former Chilean official Orlando Letelier, and to various "private" attempts by right-wing Cuban exiles, such as Rodriguez, Quintero and Posada, to assassinate Fidel Castro.

When these events eventually threatened to come under congressional scrutiny, Bush pleaded ignorance and dragged his feet on the investigations.

According to Armstrong and Nason, Bush also used his influence to get prosecutors to drop charges against former CIA Director Richard Helms for lying to Congress about the CIA's role in the 1973 overthrow of Chilean President Salvador Allende. And, in 1977, when investigators tried to obtain CIA files on Park Tong Sun, a South Korean businessman accused of influence-peddling in Washington, the file mysteriously disappeared for several months, only later to reappear with important information missing.

One wonders, if such a litany as this can be constructed wholly from unclassified material and current scholarship, what other, perhaps more sinister, activities lurk in Bush's past, and why have we not heard more about

This leaves not only unanswered, but unasked important questions about Bush's susceptibility to blackmail by some of the more unscrupulous associates from his CIA days. How many of these former CIA operatives-turned-terrorists know things about Bush that could be compromising and that he would have to go to great lengths to keep concealed?

In this respect, it seems the president-elect, one of the perennial champions of "national security" during the last eight years, might himself be a potential threat to national security.

religion detrimental eorge Bush for emperor? How about George Bush for deity? It would seem that George Bush is vying for these titles even though he is already destined to become president. He is using his inauguration to lift himself up to an even higher level.

Last week Bush sent out an open mailing to nearly 300,000 clergymen of all denominations, imploring them to join in a nationwide, ecumenical prayer service after his inauguration.

In the mailing, Bush wrote, "...it is most fitting that the events of my inauguration as president conclude in an ecumenical service of prayer and thanksgiving." He even went so far as to send copies of the official liturgy for the service, printed in Washington, so that every church will be performing the same

Bush is attempting to turn his inauguration into a religious event. Any church which uses this liturgy will be acknowledging George Bush's place as an almost religious figure, similar to the status the late Emperor Hirohito of Japan held before World War II.

Also, by using his liturgy instead of their own, the churches will be placing Bush above their own religion. After all, it's one thing to say a prayer for a new president, using your own methods or practices; it's another when the new president outlines the prayer he would like uttered.

What Bush is doing is really nothing new. He is using civil religion to help establish himself as a leader. For those not familiar with the term, civil religion is, at its most basic level, a fusion of patriotism and religion.

The president is raised to the status of demigod and the country itself becomes like a holy land with a divine purpose. Any war fought under the name of this divine nation is likened to a holy war. Anything done in the name of the country is perceived as being done for a god which has given this nation its Civil religion has existed for almost as long as there have been empires. The ancient Roman emperors held divine status and every Commentary citizen was required to worship them. When the early Christians refused to worship the emperor they were heavily persecuted. As has already been mentioned, the Japanese had a long tradition of attributing divine status to their emperors prior to the end of World

Dwayne Lively Collegian Columnist

In the United States, civil religion has been used almost since its founding. Each president has seen some aspect of his job as holding a higher purpose. George Washington was the first president to add the words "so help me God," to the end of the oath of office. Our money, even though our nation professes separation of church and state, reads "In God we trust," More recently, however, civil religion in the U.S. has been taken to new isenhower and Truman used a form of civil religion to justify the conof"godless tainment communism." Since those days, in the eyes of our presidents and the religious leaders who follow civil religion, communism has remained the ultimate evil in the world and the justification for many of the United States' more questionable actions like Vietnam, the mining of Nicaraguan harbors, and placing ships in the Persian Gulf. A great many people were afraid that if we didn't help Kuwait, the Soviet Union would. God forbid that should ever happen!

No U.S. president has ever used civil religion the way Ronald Reagan has used it. Reagan called the Soviet Union the "Evil Empire," and often prayed that the people of the Eastern Bloc countries would one day know God. In 1984, he said that God had made the U.S. "the land of limitless possibilities," that the U.S. stands as a "shining city for all the world upon the hill," and that "democracy is just a political reading of the Bible."

With phrases like these, and a promise to put mandatory prayer back in the nation's schools, Reagan was able to seduce the religious right and use its resources to help him get elected in both 1980 and 1984.

ivil religion is dangerous because it establishes an unofficial state religion. Anyone who doesn't believe in the divinity of the nation is looked down upon. People will do things for their god that they would never do for their country. This is the basis for civil religion and the reason so many leaders use it; to convince people to believe that whatever they do for their country is good, because they are also doing it for God.

Civil religion reaches beyond the bounds of all established religions as well. Reagan, perceived as being on the religious right, said in his eulogy after the Challenger disaster, We can find consolation only in faith, for we know in our hearts that you who flew so high and so proud now make your home beyond the stars, safe in God's promise of eternal

This phrase is significant when you realize that the professed faiths of the Challenger astronauts ranged from Roman Catholicism and Judaism to Buddhism. In order for all of these people to be safe in God's promise of eternal life a new religion, not that of the religious right, is needed.

Reagan isn't as much of a fundamentalist as Jerry Falwell would like him to be. That's another part of civil religion. It requires the subtle abandonment of doctrine.

If civil religion has a plus, it is that it does achieve a level of ecumenism and helps tear down the boundaries between the traditional religions. To do this, however, it creates a false god, and a false heaven. Followers of civil religion, therefore, trade their soul for the success of their nation.

Steve Kuhn, a recent K-State graduate in marketing, purchased two of Taverns sold to K-State alumnus

By Brad Camp Collegian Reporter

Two of Aggieville's oldest taverns were sold Thursday to Steve Kuhn, a resident of Kansas City and former employee of one of the establishments.

Kite's Bar and Grille and The Station, formerly the Aggie Station, were sold by Ray Enterprises to Kuhn for an undisclosed amount. Terry Ray, president of Ray Enterprises, has owned the two Aggieville bars for a number of years.

"I bought Kite's in January of 1969, then sold it in 1984," Ray said. "For about 21 months, it had a different owner ... then we took it back over in January of 1986.

Ray Enterprises opened Aggie Station in 1975, sold it in 1984 and bought it again in January, 1987.

Ray said he sold the bars because of other business interests in Kansas City and Vail, Colo., causing him to frequently leave Manhattan.

Discover a great deal in the Collegian

classifieds.

Be Wise ...

Read the Collegian!

"With the time we were spending on these out-of-town projects, it seemed like a natural thing to sell," Ray said of the two bars.

"We just opened a restaurant in Vail, Colo., and we're getting ready to open a restaurant in Kansas City," he said. "(Kuhn) was looking to come back to Manhattan and get back into Aggieville."

Kuhn said he does not plan to make any major changes in the 35-year-old Kite's or The Station once the transfer of ownership is complete.

The Station's mixture of students and town people is a tradition Kuhn said he wants to continue.

"For both places, we are really in an evaluation period," he said. "We are evaluating every day." Preserving the Kite's tradition was important, Ray said, when he began looking for a buyer. Ray and Kuhn are K-State alumni.

and he knows the business. We are very pleased."

Kuhn started working for Ray in 1976 as a doorman at Kite's. In 1980, he was assistant manager and later worked as manager of Mr. K's, a former Aggieville tavern.

"I enjoyed Manhattan so much, I just wanted to come back," Kuhn said. "Kite's has always been the alumni and K-State center to check out and see what is going on. It is one of those places you just leave alone."

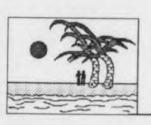

At an employee meeting Tuesday, Kuhn told employees he wanted to carry on the tradition," he said. complete several minor repairs "(Kuhn) understands the business throughout the tavern, but basically would keep the bar the same, said Doug Wetzel, senior in business education. "Basically they are trying to clean up the place," Wetzel said. "(Kuhn) told us if we see something broken or see something that needs to be fixed, to 'come and see me." Ray Enterprises also owns Last Chance Restaurant and Saloon, in Aggieville, but Ray said he does not plan to sell it in the near future.

"We are not actively pursuing a buyer for Last Chance," he said.

Watch the Collegian for spring break information.

WordPerfect

Get the highest rated word processor at an unbelievable educational price - with speller and thesaurus! ☐ WordPerfect V.4.2 -$ 125 ☐ WordPerfect V.5.0 -$ 135

Connecting Point. 111

1115 Westloop Shop. Ctr 539-0801

75%

F/T Faculty & Students ONLY

ABCs OF FIRST AID

BURNS

Apply cold water or submerge the burned area in cold water to relieve the pain. Do not apply ointments or fats. White, charred, or painless skin may be completely destroyed, and emergency medical evaluation is needed. Do not try to remove adhered particles of clothing. Cover the burned area with sterile dressing or freshly laundered The ABCs of First Aid is brought to you as a community service of the emergency room at Memorial Hospital. Be looking for the entire alphabet and always remember to clip and save

Memorial Hospital

this announcement for your own emergency

We're working together for a healthier you.

1105 Sunset • Manhattan, KS 66502 • 913-776-3300

What do you think?

You, the readers of the Collegian are important to us, so in an effort to better serve you in future issues, we would like to hear your ideas. Tell us what you like about the Collegian, but also give us some constructive criticism to help us improve campus news coverage. Please fill out the following questionnaire, then bring it to the Collegian newsroom in Kedzie 116, or mail it to the Collegian, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Classification (circle one): Fr So Jr Sr Gr Fac Staff Other

2. Male Female

3. How often do you read the Collegian? 5 4 3 2 1 0 days a week

4. What do you read first? Campus Bulletin Classifieds Cartoons Crossword Puzzle

Editorial Page Front Page Other. 5. What is your main source for news on a daily basis?

Radio Collegian Television Other Newspaper(s).

SPORTS

1. How would you grade Collegian sports coverage? ABCDF 2. What areas are lacking in sports coverage?

3. Do you find the box scores helpful? Yes □ No □

 Would you like to see more coverage of minor sports. club sports, and intramurals? Yes □ No □ Comments.

EDITORIAL PAGE

1. How would you grade the Collegian's Editorial Page? ABCDF

2. Do you feel the Letters to the Editor gives readers an adequate outlet for their opinions? Yes □ No □ Do Collegian columnists provide a balance of liberal and conservative views? Yes □ No □

Comments

ADVERTISING

1. How would you grade Collegian advertising?

ABCDF 2. Do you read the ads? Yes □ No □

3. Do you clip and use the coupon ads? Yes

No 4. Have there been any ads in the Collegian you've found offensive? Yes
No
No
If yes, please describe and explain why you find them offensive.

NEWS CONTENT

1. How would you rate the overall quality of writing and reporting in the Collegian?

ABCDF

2. How would you rate the overall quality of copy editing in the Collegian?

3. Have you ever been interviewed for a Collegian article? Yes □ No □

4. If yes, were you accurately quoted? Yes □ No □ Was your major or job title correct? Yes □ No □

5. What is your department or major:

6. Are you involved in any activity (club, sport, research, etc.) that should be covered more thoroughly? Please list. Any story ideas?

7. Do you feel your department receives adequate coverage in the Collegian? Yes □ No □

8. What activities or interesting people in your department would make interesting Collegian articles?

PHOTOGRAPHY/GRAPHICS AND DESIGN 1. How would grade Collegian photography?

ABCDF 2. Are cutlines under photographs accurate and complete? Yes D No D 3. If you have been pictured in the Collegian, were you correctly identified? Yes □ No □ 4. Do you find charts and graphs to be helpful when reading a story? Yes □ No □ 5. Would you like to see more charts and graphs in the Collegian? Yes □ No □ Comments

7. Do you find the Collegian's type size and style easy to read? Yes
No

THANK YOU

Council attempting to rekindle patriotism

By Karen Allen Staff Writer

"And so my fellow Americans: ask not what your country can do for you - ask what you can do for your

On Jan. 20, 1961, John F. Kennedy created a fevered optimism among supporters of a national service policy when he spoke these words on the steps of the U.S. Capitol during his inaugural address.

In 1989, the Democratic Leadership Council is attempting to rekindle that spirit of patriotism with its development of a national service policy proposal, referred to as a Citizens Corps.

The corps would "offer primarily young people a chance to volunteer for military or civilian service on a subsistence pay basis," said Ed Kilgore, a policy analyst at the DLC office.

Based on the philosophical position that government benefits should be earned rather than expected, the proposal provides pay for volunteers in the form of vouchers. The vouchers could be applied to tuition payments for either college classes, a job training program or housing payments.

And although "nothing is carved in granite," the current proposal calls for a volunteer to earn $12,000 for a year of military service and $10,000 for non-military service, Kilgore

The policy would allow for 700,000 volunteers each year, with the average participant being 18 or 19 years old. The yearly cost for the program, in vouchers alone, would be $7 billion, he said.

Both Kilgore and Will Marshall, policy director of the DLC, acknowledged the greatest constraint to the policy is finding a source for the funding.

"It's going to cost a heck of a lot of money," Marshall said.

The vouchers will be ultimately funded by elimination of Pell Grants and the refusal of governmental loans to students until they have gone through the program, Kilgore said. The federal government spends $8.3 million yearly on existing student aid programs.

Carol Peak, director of K-State's Community Service Programs said the "demand is definitely there" for volunteers. She also expressed her doubts about a program that would eliminate student aid programs.

"(You) would certainly want to be sure there was an adequate replacement for it," she said. "You can't eliminate all those opportunities."

Peak said she would be more in favor of a service program that was consecutive with receiving a college

Charles Moskos, a sociologist at Northwestern University and the "godfather" of the proposal as described by Kilgore, said the educational benefits will entice the middleclass population to enter the 'Middle-class kids are only attracted by educational benefits they don't want a career in the military or job skills," Moskos said. adding that his main idea was to expand the principle of the post-World War II GI Bill to include civilian service.

Those who chose to enter the program could volunteer for a wide range of activities. Kilgore said the main areas were home health care for the aides and constructing houses for the homeless. All of the activities would be meshed with the existing volunteer programs, he said.

The national service program would serve "primarily as a matchmaker between public agencies and the volunteer," Kilgore said. Proponents of the policy view it as a much less expensive way to address national needs, he said, citing the national movement toward home health care for the elderly as one example.

"Beefing up our ability to provide home health care could reduce Medicaid and Medicare," Kilgore said.

He said the proponents of the policy hope to alleviate the additional $5 billion a year for administrative costs by providing an opportunity for senior citizens to work for subsistence pay in administrative positions, much like that of the Volunteers in Service to America program.

The 24-year-old VISTA program requests its volunteers give one year of service. As of the end of October 1988, there were 2,620 VISTA volunteers working on 580 projects, said Diana Lundin, chief director of the program. A student's main educational benefit from VISTA is deferment or partial cancellation on a National Direct Student Loan, she

But not many students take advantage of the program, Lundin said, adding that the average age of a volunteer is 39.

"It's tougher to recruit people off campuses today. The level of idealism and sacrifice is just not there,"

The lack of younger volunteers elderly, child care, conservation may be a result of the low pay. The programs, literacy programs, teacher average annual subsistence allowance is slightly more than $5,500. That figure, added to a $900 readjustment allowance, reflects VISTA's continued suffering from President Reagan's push to eliminate socialwelfare programs in the early 1980s, > Implementation of a national service policy could help the current volunteer situation in the United States, Lundin said.

"It could raise people's consciousness and result in more and better qualified people (joining VISTA),'

Duane DeBruyne, a recruitment communications coordinator for the Peace Corps, agreed with Lundin's

"A big part of the success (of the Peace Corps) in the early '60s is that it was a major issue in the national agenda," DeBruyne said. "If that kind of attitude could be replicated in the '80s and '90s, it would help."

Volunteer programs weren't the only models used when the proponents of the policy were coordinating a proposal, Marshall said. Although most countries have a military draft, one country that provides an alternative to military service is West Germany, he said.

All males in West Germany are obligated to serve either in the army or at a non-military post for 15 months. Ingo Zborschil, a graduate in business administration, spent nearly two years in the army. He said he was paid a higher monthly salary for the entire 22 months because he chose to serve longer than the required time.

"For me, I think the army is a kind of responsibility for your country, and it makes sense," Zborschil said. He entered the army when he was 19 high school graduation. That is when most people choose to do their service, he said.

"A lot of people just accept (the military requirement)," Zborschil said. "Some say it's kind of a waste of time because they could start at the universities earlier."

Although Moskos wasn't optimistic about seeing the policy progress in the next two years, he believed that possibly in the next decade a national service policy would become reality.

"It's going to take a president to push it," he said.

President-elect George Bush spoke of a program geared to attracting volunteers to help in inner cities during his campaign for the presidency, Kilgore said. But Marshall said he believes Bush's program, Youth Engaged in Service (YES), is only a small step in the right direction.

"YES was directed more at affluent kids going into the ghettos,' Marshall said. "But this (proposal) is aimed more at the middle class. We want it to be viewed as a rite of passage, a part of growing up in America.'

The proposal, introduced by Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., and endorsed by Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis one day after the 1988 election, is at the "end of the earliest stages" of the legislative process, said Jennie Jones, a legislative assistant in Sen. Nunn's office.

The Legislative Council is in the process of drafting a bill based on the proposal, she said, adding that it will probably be sent between her office and the council several times before it is "fine-tuned."

One facet of the bill that may pose a problem is that the current proposal years old, immediately following his states that the vouchers will be taxfree. The proposal was not included in the 1988 Democratic platform.

Jones said Nunn, who was out of the country and couldn't be reached for comment, plans to introduce the legislation to Congress by February.

"People like the idea of national service in general," Marshall said. "It's when you get down to the specifics that you run into problems. ... Good ideas take a few years to percolate through. They are often pronounced dead and then they are

The DLC will continue to push the policy, but the "main battleground" for debate on the proposal will now shift to Congress, he said. Opponents will include conservatives who believe the government shouldn't have to bribe citizens into military service and Democrats who don't want to tamper with higher education costs, Marshall said.

Senate Minority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., advocated his own version of a volunteer program during his campaign for the presidency, but a spokeswoman from his office said she was not sure how it would correlate with the DLC's proposal. She said he is supportive of the concept of national service but Dole did not know enough about the proposal to issue a response.

State Sen. Sheila Hochhauser, D-Manhattan, said she hadn't heard much about it and would have to see the proposal to comment on it.

Collegian Sports is a hit.

CASEY'S BACK!

Hear him on KMKF 101.7 Sundays 10-2

WA WESTWOOD ONE WAY RADIO NETWORKS

EARN MONEY FOR YOUR CAMPUS ORGANIZATION!

The Collegian needs groups periodically to stuff inserts and special sections into the paper. In just 2-21/2 hours your group can earn $75. Call or stop by for more information.

> Call 532-6555 Kedzie 101

Attention: Please read the following letter if you had your portrait taken for the Royal Purple.

(206) 355-8887

8805 46th Place West Mukiltco, WA 98275

Dear Kansas State student:

On behalf of both our company and the Royal Purple yearbook I apologize for your inconvenience and the confusion caused by our mistaken insertion of a notice with some of your proof sets.

The notice requested that some students pay a $5.00 fee to have their selected pose included in the yearbook. This was a mistake! There is no additional charge to any Kansas State student to appear in the yearbook.

If you are one of the students that received the "$5.00 notice", please disregard it! All you need do is mark the pose of your choice (simply write "YEARBOOK" on the back) and return all of the proofs to us at:

> Yearbook Associates P.O. Box 91 Millers Falls, MA 01349

You must return all of your proofs promptly!

If you've already returned your proofs and you did pay the $5.00, It will be refunded to you!

Of course we hope you'll be happy with your proofs and will choose to order a personal portrait package. But you are under no obligation to do so. If you were photographed your picture will appear in the yearbook.

If you have any questions you may either call me at the above number, or our customer service department at (413) 863-9714. Remember, I'm in Washington State, our customer service is in Massachusets, please make allowances for the different time zones.

Again, my personal apologies for the confusion.

Sincerely,

James S. Mays, Regional Director

THE WINTER

Don't weight around any longer. Try SLENDER YOU today. Our prices have been reduced by 30%.

1 month 2 month

3 month

Programs Available

Your first session is FREE

3232 Kimball Candlewood Shopping Center Manhattan, KS 66502 • 913-776-3308

"On June 15, 1988 it became a medical necessity that I lose weight. I've lost 22 lbs and 291/2 inches since then. Dee has given me support and help all the way. It has really been fun."

12-19-88

nFocus

Kansas State Collegian ■ Wednesday, January 18, 1989 ■ Page 7

Life Beside The Slow Lane

EATS — Anyone needing to fuel up at Chapman's Service Station in Keats between noon and 3 p.m. will probably find the door locked and Alton Chapman at home napping or in front of the television — unless "As the World Turns"

Alton Chapman is the sole owner and worker at the only gas station in Keats, located about 11 miles west of Manhattan. Chapman compares himself to a person who likes to sell antiques — owning the station doesn't bring in much money, but it's a great books.

isn't especially exciting that day.

Chapman, 77, said he opens and closes the doors of his station whenever he feels like it. Usually it is open from 7 to 8 a.m., 9:30 a.m. to noon, and 3 to 6 p.m. Chapman said that earlier in his career he ran the station by himself from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m.

"For about the last 15 years, I close the station to take naps because of my heart trouble and high blood pressure," Chapman said.

and high blood pressure," Chapman said.

He said he believes in giving his customers full service — filling the gas tank and washing the windows.

As a motorcycle drove up to the tank, Chapman quickly walked outside.

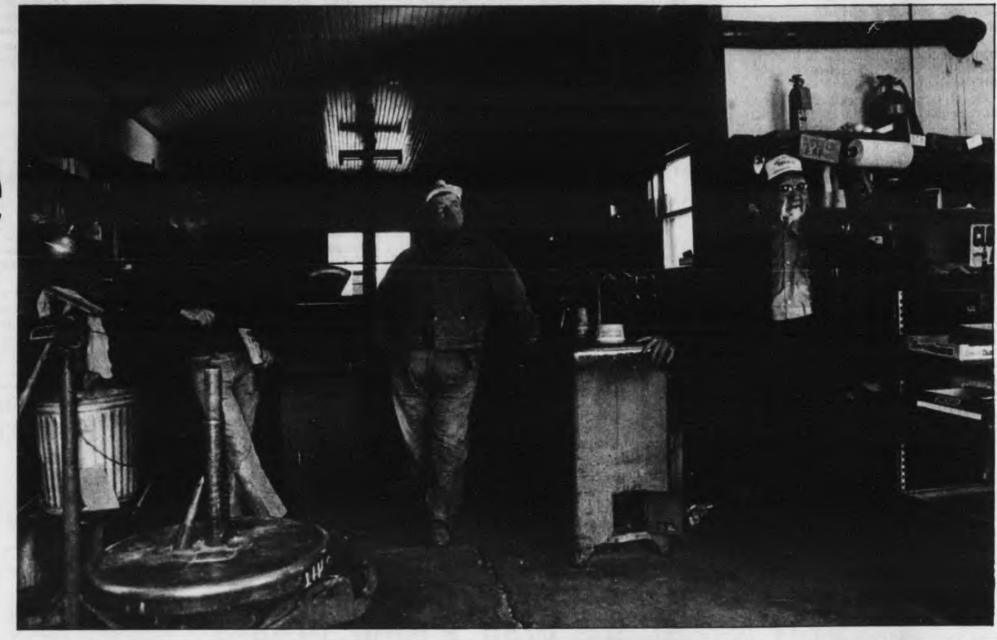

"Hello there," he said as he closed the station door behind him and reached for the gas handle. As he pumped 1.9 gallons of gas, he asked the customer, "Where's your windshield? How am I supposed to clean the windows?"

Chapman said he worked on cars, fixed tires and sold hardware years ago, but now he only sells gas, candy and bottled soda pop.

"In 1944, I fixed a car tire for 50 cents, a pick-up tire for 75 cents and a truck tire for a dollar," he said.

he atmosphere continues to resemble the 1940s. The outside of the white, one-room service station is accented with pink trim on the windows and a green roof. Featured in the pitch of the roof are the words "Chapman's Service Station" in pink print.

When walking into the station, the smells of dust and age accompany the sight of the cracked cement floor and drab walls of green paint, peeling and drooping in strips, revealing a brown background.

Chapman said, "I'm planning to paint the inside of the station in the spring, but customers say it would lose its old look if the walls were painted. Like it or not, it will be

The front desk has glass panels behind which sit boxes of Planter's Peanuts, Snickers, M&Ms and other local favorite candies.

The tire repair area contains general supplies. The east wall is lined with a shelf containing individual cubbyholes covered with lids of spiderwebs and dirt which shadow the contents — various sized bolts and other odds and ends.

On the opposite wall, equipment is hung over the work area, making its own pattern. On the shelves, containers of oil and fluids sit with dust enveloping the bases.

"All the furniture in this place is more than 44 years old," he said.

ollectibles include a Coke sign, three now-obsolete gas pumps and an old-fashioned Pepsi cooler from which Chapman sells soda in bottles.

Antique collectors have offered Chapman large sums of money for specific pieces in the store, he said. Eight years ago, he was offered $250 for the neon Coke sign in the window.

Although the old furnishings in his service station delight younger eyes, Chapman said he doesn't give them much thought.

Referring to a 35-year-old Coca-Cola clock, he said, "When I bought it, I didn't think about it becoming an antique. I just wanted a clock."

As he spoke, Chapman's trembling hand reached for his pipe and positioned it between his lips as he pulled from his pocket a red and black striped packet containing tobacco.

He lit his pipe by striking a match on the stove. A film of pipe smoke filled the room as Chapman sat in his chair behind the antique business desk. He leaned back and reminisced.

Chapman said, "I can't quite remember dates very well, but I do remember most events. If I'm asked about a date, I just say it happened sometime after 1911. I really should have written down the dates when my parents were still alive."

He said the Chapman crest hanging on the wall beside him represented his family roots which originated in England. His greatgrandfather settled in Pennsylvania and fought in the Civil War.

He said, "Everything was very different in those days. I remember being told that my great-grandfather once traded 80 acres of land near Chicago for a new pair of boots."

Chapman's grandfather was born in Pennsylvania and moved to Keats. In the early 1930s, Chapman's grandfather opened the service station. The ownership has been passed down through the family to Alton Chapman, who

e was born on a farm west of Keats and has lived in Keats most of his life. For the past 13 years, he has lived next door to the station. Before 1975, he lived across the street.

"I've been serving first-, second- and third-generation bubble gum," he said.

Chapman said he has observed many changes during his lifetime in the small town.

The biggest change, he said, is the speed offered by modern modes of transportation.

When he was a young boy during World War I, the cavalry took all day to travel from Fort Riley to Keats, the first overnight cavalry stop, Chapman said.

He said he can remember his father taking him to see the horses when the cavalry camped by the railroad tracks.

"Yeah, that cavalry didn't last long after World War II," he said, chuckling as he added that most of the men only walked from the stables and back. When the soldiers had to walk instead of ride a horse, "the line of marching men strung down through the

During World War I, Keats was less populated but had more businesses because people did not travel to Manhattan to shop, he said.

"Even a mechanic worked in a garage behind the station, but that was during the Model T days," Chapman said.

Standing in the doorway of the only gas station in Keats, Chapman waits for the next person wanting gas, a candy bar, a soda or just a place to sit and shoot the breeze.

(TOP) Watching another day go by, Alton Chapman, right, his son-in-law Ron Gocken, left, and Lyle Goff catch up on local news and gossip until the next customer arrives. (ABOVE) Although not a big sale, Chapman fills the tank on a customer's motorcycle.

n addition, businesses benefited from the railroad, which no longer exists except in "ruins where the tracks used to lay," he said.

When U.S. Highway 24 passed through Keats, business boomed at Chapman's Service Station. However, this changed with the construction of Tuttle Creek Dam. Construction of the highway routed people north toward the lake and away from Keats. Business has long since died down, Chapman said.

"People wonder why I have stayed in Keats," he said. "The key is my love of meeting and talking with people."

Chapman said he knows just about everyone in Keats, which he thinks has a population of about 100 people — but he hasn't counted lately.

Chapman and his wife, Ethel, have one daughter. Alton said he probably represents the last generation of the family tradition—but he's not particularly worried about the service station's fate. Chapman said he plans to run the station until he can no longer work, which he doesn't foresee anytime soon.

"When you get as old as I am, whatever you're doing, you're stuck with," he said. "I have to make it 11 more years. I want to see the turn of the century."

Story by Becky Jones and Lisa Pfannenstiel Photos by Gary Lytle

Death penalty bill aimed at drug-related murders

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA - Reinstating the death penalty for drug kingpins involved in murders and two proposals which would reinstate the deduction that allowed Kansas income taxpayers for federal taxes paid were introduced in the Senate Tuesday.

The House met for only 10 minutes this morning, taking care of housekeeping chores and receiving three new bills.

One of the House bills would place all non-profit medical and hospital state regulations, and another would require insurance companies to pay 1 percent per day interest on any settlement or judgment they declined to pay within 30 days.

Fourteen House Democrats joined in sponsoring a bill to render null and void the special pension improvement for state officials and legislators enacted last session. Two similar bills already have been introduced in the Senate.

In the Senate, the Committee on Federal and State Affairs introduced alty to be imposed on persons found guilty of first-degree murder or killing a criminal justice officer.

It would also impose capital punishment on people convicted of killing another person if the murderer is the organizer of a drug ring that employs at least five other people.

Criminal justice officials under the bill includes police officers, judges, prosecuting attorneys and probation and parole officers.

Holiday sales climb More money spent per person

By Mary Ubel Collegian Reporter

Despite fewer shoppers this holiday season, Manhattan Town Center merchants saw sales increases well above the 1987 season, said a mall official.

Mickey Thompson, advertising and marketing director for the mall, said there were fewer people shopping this year, but more money was spent per person. There was the traditional increase in sales during November and December for a majority of merchants in the mall.

Store manager for J.C. Penney, Bob Lund, said the 1988 holiday season was his "best Christmas ever."

"We must remember, this is only the second Christmas in the Town Center," he said. "Sales have doubled from our old location downtown."

Lund said sales were high for the mall during the 1987 Christmas shopping season because the season came two months after the facility opened. Yet this year, there were also increases in sales a year after the mall opened.

Lund said the increased buying occurred later in the season because there was "some procrastination from people, (because) everyone is looking for a bargain. They waited to buy closer to Christmas.'

Increases in sales over the previous year were not limited to the mall, however.

Patricia Pierce, owner of Undercover Lingerie in Aggieville, said the 1988 season was the "best Undercover has had in the last three years."

The 1988 season was equal to their best year, which was before the mall opened in 1987, she said. Since the mall opened, Pierce has had to double her advertising

Pierce said she was not really concerned with competing with the mall, but believes her biggest competitors are The Jones Store and Victoria's Secret in the West Ridge Mall, Topeka.

Scott Sewell, public affairs director for the Manhattan Chamber of Commerce, said Manhattan merchants had average sales for a holiday season.

Sewell said the increased buying occurred later in the year. The 1988 season "started slow and picked up at the end," he said, attributing the late start to the unseasonally warm weather and lack of snow.

David Colburn, manager of the Pathfinder in Aggieville, added his name to the list of happy merchants for the holiday season. The 1988 season was the "best Christmas we have ever had," he said.

Colburn said although sales were good, customers would come into the store two or three times to look at merchandise before buying. Many of the items sold by the Pathfinder are considered big ticket items and customers want to take their time before spending that much money, he said.

Dental care stops bad breath

By Mindy Robert Collegian Reporter

Despite a market full of mouthwashes, breath mints and sprays that claim to help eliminate bad breath, dentists say brushing and flossing teeth is the key to healthy teeth.

"Brushing and flossing your teeth are the most important things (in eliminating bad breath)," said Daniel Dempsey, dentist.

Brushing and flossing regularly will help rid 90 percent of the germs which cause halitosis or bad breath, Dempsey said.

Daniel Winter, dentist, said, "The principle cause of halitosis for most people is plaque and debris built up in their mouths."

bacterial coating on the teeth. These bacteria exist in everyone's mouth and build up over time, Winter said.

Plaque is the accumulation of a

The larger the number of bacteria, the more objectionable the mouth before bed. Biannual checkups to odor. While sleeping, a person may go six to eight hours without brushing, allowing bacteria to accumulate. The result is morning breath, he said.

"Chewing gum helps mask the odor, but as soon as you're done with it, the odor returns," Winter said. "It is a quick fix."

Mouthwashes or anything with flavoring will reduce bad breath temporarily, he said. The fluoride in mouthwash can help interrupt the bacterial accumulation on the teeth, thus reducing plaque. During a 24-hour period, plaque can collect in all areas of the mouth even the tongue, Winter said.

"That (accumulation of plaque) is why dentists recommend brushing three times a day," he said.

Some dentists also recommend using a mouth rinse with fluoride after morning and evening meals and have the debris professionally removed is also important, Winter

In addition to poor oral hygiene, a combination of other factors causes bad breath. Gum diseases and tooth decay increase susceptibility to bad breath, said Dennis Dlabal, dentist.

Charles Hughes, dentist, said he believes the primary cause of bad breath is food - instead of plaque. Foods with garlic and onions can cause bad breath.

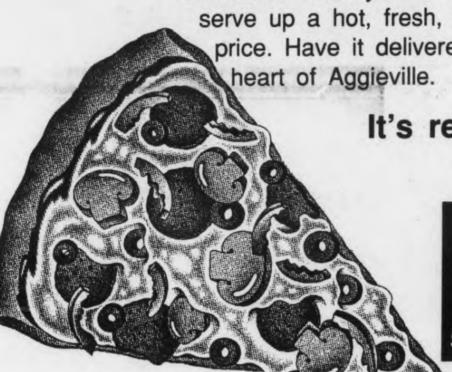

Dentists said some people are more prone to bad breath than others, due to the individual's chemistry. Different types of saliva, systemic conditions and improper nutrition can cause halitosis.

Smoking can be a cause of bad breath, Dlabal said. Smoke penetrates the tissue in the mouth and gives it the smell of smoke.

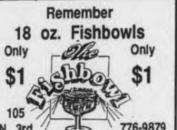

If You Don't Know When, You Might As Well Know Where.

You never seem to know when the craving for pizza will strike but when you're ready, we're ready. Ready to serve up a hot, fresh, great-tasting pizza at a terrific price. Have it delivered to your door or come to the

It's ready and waiting for you at > alsettos PIZZA 539-3830 1127 MORO

ATTENTION K-STATE BASKETBALL FANS! I Can't Believe It's YOGURT! Froam Yogurt Stores

You "Win" when the WILDCATS "WIN"!

When the Men's Kansas State Basketball team is victorious, we'll help with the treats!

Here's How It Works;

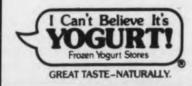

You'll receive the percent off your total purchase that matches the point spread. For instance, if the Wildcats win by 15 points, you'll receive a 15 percent discount. If they win by 30, it'll be 30 percent, etc.

> Cheer the Wildcats on to victory against

Colorado

and then come in to celebrate with us after the game.

Discount good until closing time on game day.

705 N. 11th Nautilus Towers Open: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Dally Noon-11 p.m. Sunday

SOAR TO NEW HEIGHTS

You want a career where the sky is your limit and you are in control.

Become an Air Traffic Control Specialist... You'll take off for career heights never before imagined.

You'll have a career with a tomorrow because today's aviation world is constantly expanding.

Enjoy a career with salaries up to $60K-plus, generous vacation, and excellent retirement.

A college degree in any major, work experience, or a combination of college and work will qualify. Send your name and address on a postcard for an application and more information to:

Federal Aviation Administration Dept: AP5 P.O. Box 26650 Oklahoma City, OK 73126

An Equal Opportunity Employer Discover Today's FAA

ESTABLISHED 1920 CLOTHING COMPANY

MENS WINTER CLEARANCE SALE

Merchandise Included In Our Sale Will Be

- Selected Suits
- •Selected Dress Shirts
- Selected Sports Coats
- •All Outerwear
- Selected Casual Slacks •All Sweaters

•All Sportswear

OUR SALE SCHEDULE WILL BE

Week 1 — Dec 26 thru Jan 1

Week 2 — Jan 2 thru Jan 8

Week 3 — Jan 9 thru Jan 15

- 40% off

Week 4 — Jan 16th thru Jan 21 — 50% off

Sale Ends Jan 21—1989!

1342 WESTLOOP PLACE • WESTLOOP SHOPPING CENTER MANHATTAN, KANSAS (913) 539-8081

Sports

Kansas State Collegian ■ Wednesday, January 18, 1989 ■ Page 9

Conference heats up for K-State squads

Coach Lon Kruger and his 'Cats will be looking for their first Big Eight Conference win at 7:30 tonight in Bramlage Coliseum.

Sports Writer

Coming off a less than sterling performance against Southern Utah State on Monday, the K-State men's basketball team will be back in action at 7:30 tonight in Bramlage Coliseum, facing Big Eight Conference opponent Colorado.

The Buffaloes bring a 5-10 record into the contest, but their record might be considered deceiving.

The Buffs have lost several close games, including five which were decided by four points or less. Two of Colorado's other losses went into overtime. Included in their five victories is a one-point win over Purdue, which K-State also defeated, 81-77, in its season opener.

Both K-State and Colorado will be looking to gain their first conference win tonight. The Wildcats are 0-1 in Big Eight play and the Buffaloes come in at 0-2 in the conference. K-State dropped its only league matchup Saturday, a 75-74 overtime loss to Kansas. Colorado was edged by Missouri, 84-75, and Iowa State, 81-77, in overtime.

"Colorado will bring a vastly improved team to town (tonight)," said Wildcat coach Lon Kruger. "They have lost a couple of heartbreakers. They were leading Missouri late in the game only to lose by eight or nine points. They also went into overtime (against Iowa State) before losing a close one.

"Both teams are looking for their first conference victory. We have to go into the game with the idea that Colorado is going to play us tough."

While Colorado's offense has been scoring just over one point more a game (73.7) than the Wildcats (72.4), the 'Cats defense is tops in the conference allowing only 64.6 points ■ See MEN, Page 14

K-State | Lady Cats eyes first hit road Big 8 win at Mizzou

> By Mike Rouse Collegian Reporter

The K-State women's basketball team will hit the Big Eight Conference road for the first time this season when it travels to Missouri for a 7:30 tipoff tonight at Hearnes Center.

Missouri is 11-4 overall and 2-0 in the Big Eight, including wins over Oklahoma, 71-68, and Iowa State,

A pair of free throws was the deciding factor last year in Columbia, as Missouri came back from a 12-point deficit in the second half and squeezed out a 67-65 win over the Lady Cats.

"We lost a close one down there that we should have won, so this is a big game," Lady Cats' coach Matilda Mossman said.

K-State comes into the game 11-4 overall and 1-1 in the Big Eight and is looking for its first Big Eight road win in almost two years.

"We have proven this year we can win on the road, but there is more pressure with this (game) being in the Big Eight," Mossman said.

The Lady Cats are coming off a sluggish 75-63 loss to Colorado, in which, despite 24 turnovers, the Lady Cats were still able to keep it fairly close. "We were able to stay within 12 points and you take away the 16 firsthalf turnovers and it is a new ballgame," Mossman said. "We were very impatient in the Colorado game and we forced some shots and passes we shouldn't have." K-State shot only 44 percent against the Lady Buffs, but Mossman said she isn't worried about the percentage her team shoots from the

"I'm not very concerned right now, we are starting to take better ■ See WOMEN, Page 14

The Lady Cats and coach Matilda Mossman will be in Missouri tonight

NCAA Rules Committee proposes football tie-breakers

Mid-Week Commentary TOM

MORRIS Sports Columnist

Someone once said that ties in sporting events are not unlike kissing your sister. With that thought in mind, an NCAA committee is considering a proposal which would eliminate that bit of athletic incest.

If the NCAA Rules Committee votes in favor of the proposal at meetings scheduled through today in Marco Island, Fla., tie-breakers would be established in college football.

The proposal would give each team four downs from the opponent's 25-yard line, then the teams would alternate possessions until one

It would not be a sudden-death tiebreaker such as the National Football League employs. If one team scores, the other would be given the opportunity to respond.

Eight of the 12 members of the NCAA Rules Committee would need to vote for the tie-breaker to put it into effect.

Not surprisingly, Big Ten Conference coaches are pushing the idea. Six of the 12 Division I ties last year were in that league.

K-State coach Bill Snyder is voting in favor of the proposal, which also isn't a big surprise. After all, Snyder suffered three draws last season while he was offensive coordinator at the University of Iowa.

"I'm all in favor of it. (Ties are) not the most enjoyable times to go through," Snyder said. "It just seems like there is a lot of game left to be played on the field (after a tie). The pros are able to do it. Why can't we get things settled." Although Snyder is in favor of the tie-breaker, he isn't quite sure the NCAA is going about it the right way. But then again, who hasn't questioned that governing body recently?

"I'd rather see it like the NFL or basketball does it. I'd rather see an overtime period.

change if you use that type of tiebreaker," he said. "It's hard enough to prepare for one game. If this passes, then you have to prepare for two seperate events. You have to have two different plans of attack."

The tie-breaker rule is one that has been needed for quite some time now. Remember when Kansas Jayhawks' Marvin Maddox blocked Mark Porter's field goal attempt in the closing seconds of that 1987 game? The Jayhawks and 'Cats limped to a 17-17 tie. And in 1982, a 7-3 record instead of 6-4-1 might

"All of the sudden, the rules have landed K-State a better postseason appearance than the Independence Bowl.

> Though K-State has a dubious distinction as the losingest collegiate football team in the country, tiebreakers could have helped. After 93 seasons, the 'Cats are 299-510-40. Wouldn't a chance to be 339-510 be a lot better?

For once, the NCAA needs to listen to its member institutions and pass the tie-breaker proposal.

You can't keep kissing your sister

Rice nursing ankle; vows to play Sunday

By The Associated Press

MIAMI - Jerry Rice couldn't move right or cut left in Joe Robbie Stadium on Tuesday, even when matched up against the media.

Rice walked gingerly into an interview session, favoring a taped-up, sprained right ankle he said needs more rest and more ice before Sunday's Super Bowl.

"It's really sore, but I still have four days to rest," said Rice, vowing to be ready. "I don't know how strong it's going to be, but if there's any way possible I'm going to be out

"I think just with my presence out there, they've got some respect for me," he said.

San Francisco coach Bill Walsh showed no sense of alarm about the Rice injury, including a false report that Rice was carried off the practice field after it occurred. He said it was too soon to judge its severity, although Rice will be held out of practice until Thursday or Friday. "We'll see what happens," Walsh said. Mike Wilson and John Taylor would be the 49ers' main downfield receivers in Rice's absence, with starting tight end John Frank also likely a more frequent target along with reserve wide receiver Terry Greer.

"Jerry's been 'Mr. Touchdown' for us, so that's some very large shoes to fill," said Wilson, an eightyear veteran who caught 33 passes for three TDs and a 12.3-yard average. "But if Joe (Montana) can come out and play the way he's played the last couple of weeks, it should be a very happy Sunday."

Taylor caught 14 passes, two for touchdowns, this season and made his mark as an All-Pro return specialist by running back two punts for

Frank missed half the season with a broken hand and had 16 receptions for three TDs, while former Canadian Football League star Greer caught eight passes.

Rice, who was troubled by a hip injury early in the season, hurt the ankle on Oct. 16 when cornerback Jerry Gray of the Los Angeles Rams hauled him down by the face mask after a long gain. He did not miss any games, but caught just one touchdown pass in the next four games and became less a primary receiver than a

Rice returned to form near the end of the season, catching a club-record 96-yard touchdown pass from Montana in a 48-10 victory over San Diego on Nov. 27 and grabbing five TD receptions in two playoff games.

Sports Briefly

Chiefs' Lewis to miss Pro Bowl

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - Kansas City cornerback Albert Lewis will miss the Pro Bowl with an ankle injury suffered in November, the Chiefs said Tuesday.

Lewis sprained his left ankle Nov. 27 and played sparingly in two of the last three games. He did not dress for the season-ending game against the New York Giants.

Hanford Dixon of the Cleveland Browns will start in place of Lewis, and Eric Thomas of the Cincinnati Bengals will take his place on the roster.

Chiefs linebacker Dino Hackett had earlier said he would miss the game because of a knee injury. Hackett was to be a backup for the game.

'Super' week begins poorly

MIAMI - A shooting death that triggered a disturbance in a Miami neighborhood also damaged a $2 million effort to improve the city's image during Super Bowl week, several officials conceded Tuesday.

"On every national morning television show, the lead-in was the incident Monday night," George Kirkland, president of the Greater Miami Convention and Visitors Bureau, said. "Certainly that's hard to overcome."

The fatal shooting of a black motorcyclist by a white policeman in an area near downtown sparked violence that involved at least 200 people and included gunfire and arson.

"I think all of Miami is embarrassed," said Tom Ferguson, president of the Beacon Council, which promotes Dade County for new business development.

"This really puts a damper on literally hundreds of thousands of volunteer hours that have been put in by this community preparing for the Super Bowl."

In addition to the volunteer work, Miami's Superhost Committee is spending $2 million to make a good impression on visitors in town for Sunday's game.

Super Bowl opponents resemble each other

By The Associated Press

MIAMI - Eric Thomas looks at Eddie Brown and sees Jerry Rice. Jeff Fuller looks at Roger Craig and sees Ickey Woods.

More specifically, as the San Francisco and Cincinnati defenses get ready for Sunday's Super Bowl, they see the other team's offense reflected in their own.

That was the consensus on Tuesday's "Picture Day," the first of the three hour-long sessions the players must spend with the more than 1,000 reporters and camera crews in town for the game.

The focus was on the two offenses, which ranked 1-2 in the NFL, with Cincinnati averaging almost 379 yards per game and San Francisco almost 370. The 49ers were first in rushing, the Bengals first in passing, but both have been run-oriented during the playoffs.

"They want to run the ball first, then throw it; we want to run the ball first, then throw it," said Thomas, Cincinnati's left cornerback, who was burned twice by Rice for touchdowns in the Bengals' 27-26 loss to the 49ers last season. One was a 22-yard TD pass on the final play of the game.

"But it's more than that. They have Roger Craig at running back, we have Ickey Woods and James downs to 10 for Craig.

Brooks. They have a great quarterback, we have a great quarterback. They have Jerry Rice, we have Eddie Brown.

Indeed, it is more than that. The Bengals, for example, took the unusual step of changing some of their offensive terminology this

Why?

Because it's similar to San Francisco's — natural enough since Sam Wyche was the 49ers' quarterback coach under Bill Walsh en route to becoming head coach of the Bengals. But beyond that, there's the simple coincidence of offensive talent, stacked at the same positions. It starts with two of the best quarterbacks in the game - Joe Montana, the 49ers' two-time Super Bowl MVP, vs. Boomer Esiason, the NFL MVP this season. Esiason is younger, left-handed and more mobile, but each is capable of winning a game by himself. It continues with the running games - Craig, who led the NFC in rushing with 1,502 yards, vs. Brooks and Woods, who had 1,066 for a 5.3 average as a rookie

True, Woods does posttouchdown shuffle better than Craig, who shuffles not at all. But Woods had more practice, with 15 touch-

Griffith struggles to top in 'rags-to-riches' story

P" Tom McLaughlin Collegian Reviewer

For anyone who's ever won. For anyone who's ever lost. And for everyone who's still trying.

"Working Girl," a happily-everafter, curse of the working-class film starring Melanie Griffith, Sigourney Weaver and Harrison Ford, uses a rags-to-riches formula to create a quasi-entertaining film.

The film centers around Tess McGill, a would-be executive, working as a secretary played by Griffith.

Tess wants to use her lofty ambitions, a degree obtained from night school classes and her hunger for success to climb to the top of the Fortune 500 company she works for, and which also happens to exploit her sex and lack of position.

Review

Friend and confidante, Cynthia, played by Joan Cusack, is also a secretary and thinks the dream is unrealistic, but urges Tess onward.

Although eager to succeed, Tess' ability to be easily duped and her inability to conform to the system's "non-spoken" standards of costume, etiquette and aggressiveness become believable obstacles for her character to overcome in climbing the corporate ladder.

Tess thinks her big break comes when her new boss, Katharine Parker, played by Sigourney Weaver, promises Tess opportunity in

Enjoy smooth, creamy

Frozen Yogurt

that tastes like Ice Cream

but with 80% less fat!

-- FREE SAMPLES--

I Can't Believe It's

YOGURT!

GREAT TASTE - NATURALLY OPEN: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Daily Noon-11 p.m. Sundays Nautilus Towers-Aggieville

UNAM EXPRESS 11 a.m.-1 a.m.

exchange for her loyalty.

But Katharine quickly becomes the villainess in this cinematic look at the American Dream. She, like others, uses Tess, only with a little more finesse. Katharine says, as Tess serves guests at her welcome party, "Good job, Tess. I'd help, but they can't see the quarterback passing out the Gatorade.

Tess, who begins to dress more conservatively in order to adapt to her new boss' standards, gets her break when Katharine conveniently breaks her leg on a ski trip and asks Tess to keep the office running smoothly until her return.

In the process, Tess discovers that Katharine has taken one of her ideas and is planning to pass it off as her own - an idea Katharine had earlier discounted as a "nice try."

Finally realizing that Katharine is no better than the other executives, Tess decides to use this opportunity to launch her career. She undertakes a masquerade that will launch the idea, and, Tess believes, save the company from a hostile Japanese

Soon thereafter, she meets Jack Trainer, played by Harrison Ford, with whom she hopes to co-chair the project. Tess, who tells Jack she has a "bod for sin and a mind for business," becomes unwillingly consumed with Jack under the situation's pretense and willingly consumed with her new project.

Open 7 days a week & SP AN AND

Using a similar formula as did

"The Secret of My Success," "9 to 5," and "A Wonderful Life," we see a hard-working hero/heroine ideal attempting to corner a portion of the American Dream.

Also like these films, "Working Girl" takes a farcical and satirical look at the exploitation of the "common person" by "white-collar America."

Although Ford became a nice hero and Weaver an effectively wicked antagonist, the somewhat predictable script did little to allow either of the stars to shine.

It is also somewhat ironic that Griffith, like the character she played, had to share the film's top-billing with the supporting Weaver and Ford. The film's producers and marketing firm may disagree, but this is Melanie Griffith's film.

The Statue of Liberty, despite being a heavy-handed symbol, becomes an interesting metaphor for Tess' own liberty. She, like earlier immigrants to this country, takes the ferry each day into the city and hopes to capture her dream.

Not an incredible piece of literature, the film makes for a nice evening's entertainment and a reinforcement of the less realistic 1980's American Dream.

TONIGHT $1.50 Wells $2.50 Pitchers

Comedy Next Mon., Tues., Wednesday—9 p.m.

Pat Paulsen Presidential Candidate along w/Beth Donahue Pat has appeared on: Smothers Brothers

Dr. Mark Hatesohl 3252 Kimball Ave

Here's your chance to try one!

IMPORTS $1.50

See us first about your date dash Still the closest stop after Bramlage!

McCain

auditorium

Beausoleil La musique acadienne

They've played Carnegie Hall, the Kennedy Center, Lincoln Center, the Lone Star Cafe. Garrison Keillor, host of "A Prairie Home Companion," called them "the best Cajun band in the world." Why? Because their fusion of traditional styles with jazz, rock, and bluegrass has brought the rich legacy of Cajun music out of the bayous and into the here and now. Join Beausoleil for an evening of sheer, unstoppable fun and laissez les bons temps rouler!

"Michael Doucet is one of the most delightful fiddlers on the planet. When he and Beausoleil step out, they do so without seat belts." -- Record Roundup

> General Public: $12 Senior Citizen: $10 Student / Child: $8

Charge tickets to MasterCard or VISA at 532-6428, or come to the box office noon to 5:00 p.m. weekdays. . . .

Transportation for seniors is available through Kansas State Bank and the Manhattan Arts Council. For information, * call Marie Dellen at 537-4400.

· Make your evening on the lown complete with tickets to Beausoleil and a buffet featuring Cajun specialities at the University Club. For information and reservations call (913) 539-7531.

AND CALL

IN YOUR BIDS!

RADIO AUCTION

The items listed below will be auctioned to the highest bidder this Saturday from 8:05 a.m. to noon. Visit the sponsors . . . inspect the merchandise . . . determin your bid. Keep your radio on KMAN 1350 and your hand near the phone. Just call in and bid on the KMAN auction line: 776-1333.

AUCTION DATE: JANUARY 21, 1989

Name of the second	HEIAIL	MINIMUM
	VALUE	BID
$30 merchandise certificate: THE DIET CENTER	30.00	16.00
Lazyboy lift-chair recliner: FAITH FURNITURE	1098.00	650.00
$25 certificate for sterling jewelry: DIAMOND CONNECTION	25.00	13.00
Movie rental package: HOME CINEMA	12.50	7.00
$25 certificate: EASTSIDE AND WESTSIDE MARKETS	25.00	13.00
Carefree Curl or Relaxer treatment: CRUM'S BEAUTY COLLEGE	40.00	22.00
$20 certificate: VERN'S DONUTS AND CAKES	20.00	11.00
Candlelight "Gourmet to Go" dinner: THE COTTON CLUB	30.00	16.00
Pass for 4 workout sessions: SLENDER YOU	24.00	14.00
$25 dry cleaning certificate: WESTPORT DRY CLEANERS	25.00	13.00
Litton II Microwave oven: MIDWEST APPLIANCE	454.95	240.00
$25 certificate: AGGIE SKI & SPORT	25.00	13.00
$125 certificate for two Sumitomo tires: REX'S TIRE CENTER	125.00	65.00
$25 certificate: RAOUL'S ESCONDIDO	25.00	14.00
Sportech golf analyzer pass: GOLF U.S.A.	35.00	18.00
$20 certificate: VALENTINO'S	20.00	12.00
"Gournet's Delight" package: EASTSIDE AND WESTSIDE MARKETS	26.16	16.00
$20 merchandise certificate: MID-AMERICA OFFICE SUPPLIES	20.00	12.00
Sewing machine tune-up: BERNINA HOUSE	29.95	16,00
Frigidaire 11,000 BTU air conditioner: WILLIAM'S APPLIANCE	546.00	320.00
Dinner for four: PINATA	22.40	14.00
$50 certificate: DRAPERY WORLD	50.00	26.00
$50 certificate: TAYLOR SHOES	50.00	26.00
Permanent: CRUM'S BEAUTY COLLEGE	30.00	10.00
$20 certificate: PYRAMID PIZZA	20.00	12.00
Six ft. tall Traveler's Palm: EASTSIDE AND WESTSIDE MARKETS	69.99	40.00
$20 dry cleaning certificate: CINDERELLA DRY CLEANERS	20.00	12.00
Single family 30-day treatment: AMERICAN PEST MANAGEMENT	60.00	36.00
Steak and lobster dinner: MID-WEST FAMILY DINING	10.95	6.00
Power blower: FARMER'S COOP	60.89	32.00
Victorian tapestry clutch: BERNINA HOUSE	45.95	24.00
Baby stroller: JUDI'S CHILDREN'S WEAR	130.00	68.00
Entertainment center: FURNITURE CENTER	519.95	300.00
Haircut, shampoo and blowdry: CRUM'S BEAUTY COLLEGE	7.50	4.00
3 coupons for car wash & dry: VP AUTO WASH	10.50	6.00
Case of Pepsi: PEPSI OF MANHATTAN	9.50	5.00
One pair of lady's SAS shoes: BROWN'S SHOE FIT	53.00	27.00
VISA AND MASTERCARD ACCEPTED !!! PLUS MANY	MORE ITE

Guns N' Roses release new record

By Mark Schreiner Collegian Reviewer

To satisfy the appetites of the more than six million fans who bought Guns N' Roses' first LP, "Appetite For Destruction," the band has released an eight-song EP called "GNR: The Lies."

Side one has four cuts from GNR's (pronounced "gunner" first recording, a live EP called "Live Like a Suicide." Side two has three new songs and an acoustic version of an "Appetite" song. The Los Angeles heavy metal band consists of singer W. Axl Rose, lead guitarist Slash, acoustic and rythmn guitarist Izzy Stradlin', drummer Steven Adler and bassist Duff "Rose" McKagen. The EP opens with "Reckless Life," the album's fastest cut. "I lead a reckless life," Rose sings. "I've done everything imaginable."

Review

Tattooed and infamous for excesses of alcohol, drugs and jail time, GNR performs tunes which are not for the whole family to enjoy. The group's popularity derives from its hyperactive lifestyle that is injected into the music.

"Nice Boys," the EP's second track, also reinforces GNR's

"Nice boys don't play rock 'n' roll. I'm not a nice boy and I never was," Rose sings.

"Move To the City" is not fast, not loud and not pretty. The song is a nondescript complaint to a girl heading for the jungle of a large city. It's about as much fun to listen to as most complaints.

Side one ends with "Mama Kin," a remake of an Aerosmith song. Like the entire EP, "Mama Kin" has heavy, slicing guitarplaying from Slash and Stradlin' which dominates over the bass and drums. The band's familiar sounds from "Appetite" definitely make a comeback on its second album.

The EP's best cut, "Patience," begins side two." Acoustic guitar, whistles and Rose's remarkably undestroyed voice create a slow, gentle song that fits its slow, gentle theme. The song is one of a few from GNR that is not laced with obscenities.

GNR's music, chiefly its twin angry guitars, is its strength, but the obscene lyrics cut down on GNR's radio airplay.

In "Used To Love Her," Rose sings, "I used to love her, but I had to kill her. I had to put her six feet under, and I can still hear her complain."

"You're Crazy" is an acoustic version of the same song on "Appetite." The remake didn't help. It doesn't fit to sing in full harmony that someone is insane. In several places, Rose's vocals even sound like Humphrey Bogart.

The EP ends with "One In a Million," a song in which the best spots are Rose's whistling introduction and Stradlin's Spanishstyle guitar solo. During the song, however, GNR manages to slander everyone but "standard, smalltown white guys."

Overall, "GNR: The Lies" is as good as "Appetite For Destruction," but with a more acoustic flavor. The acoustic songs, especially "Patience," show that the band can do something other than get mad.

Entertainment Section - every Friday.

AVIATION CADET PROGRAM

Do you want to fly? Pilot training, ages 19-24, with Associate Degree or 60 semester hours for our Naval Aviation Cadet Program. Must be U.S. Citizen, physically qualified with a GPA 3.2. Call Naval Management placement office Mon.-Thurs., 9 a.m.-4 p.m. 1-800-821-5110.

Hair by Design

You're not dressed up if Your Shoes are run down.

MANHATTAN SHOE REPAIR

401 Humboldt Drive-up convenience

Tues.-Fri. 8 a.m.-5:30 p.m. 8 a.m.-8 p.m. Sat. 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m. Closed Sunday and Monday 776-1193

Come Fly With Us!

If you're a pilot, or want to be, the K-State Flying Club is for you. We have five well-equipped planes with your name on the log sheet.

Call Sam Knipp, 539-6193

LOANS

WE WANT TO MAKE YOUR STUDENT LOAN!

Have the professionals at Kansas State Bank make your student loan. Simply contact us at:

> 537-4400 Lender code #821176

Commission denies rezoning

By Paige Gantz Collegian Reporter

After lengthy discussion, the Manhattan City Commission Tuesday returned a rezoning request for a tract of land at the northwest corner of Kimball Avenue and College Avenue to the city's Urban Area Planning Board.

A Lawrence developer is seeking to have the tract of land rezoned to allow the construction of a $3 million apartment complex. The project could "generate up to $56,000 a year in taxes for the city," said Colt Knutson, a Manhattan attorney representing the developers.

Knutson said the project could also help alleviate a need for student housing.

The city planning board had previously recommended that the commission deny the rezoning

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

The Junction City schools are engaged in the Effective Schools

Program in which "administrators and teachers look for equity along the lines of male and female education, plus minority groups, in addition to improving overall performance," he welfare.

Family

planned unit development because of the area's low density, residential population.

Jerry Donnelly, owner of the five-acre tract of land, contracted developer Bo Newsom of Lawrence for the project. According to the construction plans, if the tract is rezoned, five three-story apartment buildings would be built this spring.

Five more buildings would be constructed beginning next fall. Several residents opposed the project because it would not fit well into the predominantly residential area. "This is an inappropriate construction of this type of extremely dense housing in an area that is residential," said Bert Biles,

Manhattan. Nancy Denning, commissioner,

Pettis repeated a phrase from

The growing number of minorities are becoming incapable of progress,

Pettis said. White business owners

Langston Hughes describing King's dream as "the dream deferred."

and worth?" she asked.

request from R1 residential to made the motion to send back the request to the planning board and was supported three to one.

Other items of business considered by the commission included:

A request filed by the Big Lakes Developmental Center to consider the architectural compatibility of a proposed group home to be built in the Candlewood Addition, Unit 4. Commissioners unanimously approved the request.

■ The clarification of a city statute that gives the Riley County Police Department authority to tow illegally parked vehicles from city streets and municipal parking lots.

Extension of hours of restricted parking around the Manhattan Town Center to allow for the operating hours of the soon-toopen Carlos O'Kelly's Restaurant. The restricted hours are now from 3 a.m. to 6 a.m.

who hire only white employees are to blame for the increasing number of advantage of training to find out that there are no jobs for blacks," Pettis

"We don't want them to take unemployed blacks.

Panel discusses Gandhi, King's roles in protests

By Gary Lytle Collegian Reporter

Gandhi and Martin Luther King Jr., the two most prominent advocates of non-violent protest, were the main topic of a panel discussion, "The Politics of Passive Resistance," which took place in the Union Courtyard Tuesday.

The panel was comprised of Kenneth Jones, professor of history; Karen Martin, graduate student in counseling and guidance; and Student Body President Laurian Cuffy. A short film on the life and death of Martin Luther King Jr. was shown before the discussion.

Martin said the practice of nonviolence in the lives of Jesus Christ, Gandhi and King is a pattern which everyone should follow.

Although she was very young when King was assassinated, Martin said King's life and ideas of passive resistance influenced her.

Cuffy said it was good to focus on the past and the works of King, but people must also examine the present and future standing of race relations.

believe (racism) doesn't exist here on our campus," he said. Read the

'We must not fool ourselves to Cuffy said racism of the '60s was respect," Martin said. "It all boils overt and easy to see.

"But right now that doesn't exist," he said. "We have racism, but it's camouflaged; we can't put our hands on it. You try to point at it and it's elusive and disappears."

Today's racism presents itself in the feeling a black student has when attending a class where no one else will sit near them, or the uncomfortable feeling a white student might have going to a Black Student Union meeting, Cuffy said.

Martin gave an example of this subtle form of racism in telling how she had walked around the campus saying hello to various people, but received no response from anyone.

"If I can give a greeting to a fellow human being, at least return the down to respecting individuals."

In 1891, Gandhi went to South Africa to work as a law clerk; it was there he formed his ideas about passive resistance, Jones said. Upon Gandhi's return to India, he began a campaign of noncooperation in an attempt to win equality for Indians under the British rule, he said. However, his program of non-cooperation and civil disobedience was thwarted when violence erupted in the country.

Although Gandhi was assassinated and much violence still exists in India, Jones said, "Gandhi lives today (through) his ideas."

The discussion was part of the Union Program Council's "Let's Talk About It" series.

Looking to save some money? Use a Collegian coupon.

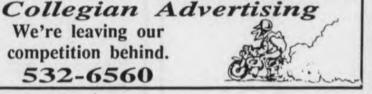

Have story ideas?

Call the Collegian at 532-6556

competition behind. 532-6560 "Is this the way to promote dignity

We're leaving our Pettis questioned the role of public

Entertainment

START THE NEW YEAR RIGHT!

Take your car to Wayne's Quik Lube for Quick, Quality Service

- ★ We give you the best quality in oil, grease &
- ★ We use Quaker State filters and Quaker State's top grade of grease
- ★ We use the oil our customer selects from our inventory of Quaker State, Pennzoil, Trop Arctic, Havoline, Mobil, Motorcraft and Castrol.
- ★ We are a family owned and operated business and we care about your car.

NO APPOINTMENT NECESSARY AT

Wayne's Quik Lube

2304 Sky-Vue Lane

539-5431

Minor mechanical repairs done, also

Drive To Mexico In 10 Minutes!

That's about how long it takes to get from the K-State campus to Raoul's Escondido on the west side of Manhattan. Once you're there, you'll see why we call it Mexico!

You'll be treated to an all-you-can-eat buffet filled with authentic mexican food made from family recipes. It's fast, it's convenient, and best of all, it's inexpensive; just $4.50 every day for lunch!

When you're ready for a taste of authentic Mexico, remember, you can drive a short 10 minutes to Raoul's Escondido, or you can drive 915 miles south!

COME SEE US TODAY!

Raoul's

Escondido

215 Seth Childs Rd.-Manhattan

TheEyesHaveIt Section in the Collegian every Friday.

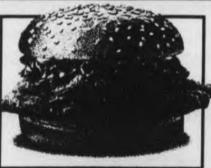

yours can too at our Optical Dispensary

Drs. Price, Young, Odle, and Horsch

Optometrists

537-1118 1119 Westloop Place

GET REAL CHICKEN CHOICES.

At your nearby Hardee's, you'll find three delicious ways to enjoy the rich full flavor of REAL chicken. Our recipes use only whole white meat cuts, and our Chicken Fillet Sandwich and Chicken Stix™ are cooked in cholesterol-free vegetable oil. The result is a rich, full flavor... and a wholesome goodness. So hurry in today, and taste

Chicken Fillet Sandwich Chicken Fiesta Salad Chicken Stix"

Chicken Fillet Sandwich & Regular Fry Combo

We're out to win you over."

KSU vs. Nebraska

in Lincoln January 21, 1989

Busses will be leaving west Bramlage parking lot at 2:30 p.m. We will return by midnight.

Cost $25

Price includes:

Round trip travel and reserved basketball tickets.

Registration at Kansas State Athletic Department (at Bramlage). Registration deadline: Thursday, January 19.

Sponsored by International Tours and ICAT.

Forum

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

"From 1980 to 1985, about half of the Western investments in Africa was is in South Africa," Nafziger said. "This not only supported aparthied, but contributed to the underdevelopment of neighboring countries."

Multi-national corporations and the African governments used South Africa as a regional core for their expanding activities, he said. Raw materials from neighboring countries were moved to South Africa for processing and manufacturing.

Clive Fullager, assistant professor in psychology, provided an account of his experiences and work with stupeople of South Africa," Fullager cancellation of classes.

celebration of Martin Luther King, Jr. Week includes a reception for Michael Holen, recipient of the KSU Presidential Award for Distinguished Service to Minority Education in the Union Cottonwood Room.

Father found guilty in daughter's death

By The Associated Press

OKLAHOMA CITY - An Oklahoma County district court jury recommended life in prison without parole for a man the panel convicted earlier Tuesday of the murder of his infant daughter.

The Oklahoma County jury took only 50 minutes to find Edward Charles Berry, 19, guilty of first-

·China·Crystal·Silver Stainless Steel ·Pewter*Linens Wedding Invitations and Stati Gifts and Collectibles

Be a registered Bride at

See us at the Manhattan Bridal Show Houston Street Ballroom Sunday, Feb. 5 at 1 p.m.

dents as a faculty member at the University of Witwatersrand in Johannesburg, South Africa.

"I'm not very representative of the Originally from England, Fullager described student protests and reactions by the government. He said for example, that students asked his cooperation in their protests against the government by requesting a

Today's campus activities in the Berry told jurors Monday that he occasionally hit his baby because of pressures in his life. He said he never intended to kill her.

776-5577

Kedzie 103 CLASSIFIED RATES

One day: 15 words or fewer, $2.50, 20 cents per word over 15; Two consecutive dates: 15 words or fewer, $3.50, 25 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.25, 30 cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 35 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $5.00, 40

cents per word over 15.
Classifieds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publications.
Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon

FRIDAY for Monday's paper.
Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not the value of the ad.
Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE

Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzle 103 or by calling 532-6555.

Display Classified Rates
One day: $5.20 per inch; Three consecutive days: $5.00 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.80 per inch; Ten consecutive days: $4.80 per inch. (Deadline is 4:30 p.m. two days before publication.)
Classified adventising is available only to those who do not disciminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex or ancestry.

1 Announcements

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs -skincare -glamor -na -gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor, 539-2070.

COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five airolanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp 539-6193. DAYTONA— BUMMIN' and Sunnin' Spring Break. Call Woody 539-4935, Dave T. 539-7491.

Pizza Shuttle

"NO COUPON SPECIALS"

rime Time

Special

1—Topping

4—Cokes

3-10 in. Pizzas

10.00

ENTRIES CLOSE 1/25/89 for 1989 Miss Manhattan— K-State Pageant, an official Miss America Prelimin-ary. 537-2667.

JARDINE TERRACE Mayor's Council will charge for parking for all basketball games and concerts. Price $2. Limited space.

SOUTH PADRE/ Spring Break '89— Nice rooms for a great price! From $109 to $169 on the beach or minutes from it. Five or seven days. Don't spend all your money on a room, —you're never there anyway! (Limited space). Call 1-800-782-7653, ext

WANTED— 100 overweight people to try herbal weight control program. No druge, no exercise. Doctor recommended. 100% guaranteed. 778-5114,

TUTORS NEEDED

Call 532-6244

Volunteer tutors are needed for grades 1-12: If you enjoy helping children and adolescents, and would like a new friend, then we welcome you as a Friendship Tutor. Tutors are needed for a variety of subjects. For information call Mark White at 532-6244.

776-5577

ARE YOU MISS AMERICA 1990?

990 COINTON Burger Buffet 4-7 p.m.

418 Poyntz 99 Beers Hayes House of Music

DOD Guitar Effects 30% OFF 327 Poyntz

2 Apartments—Furnished

CILIVIB

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM in an 18-plex, two blocks from KSU. Gas heat, no pets, $295. 776-3804 or 537-9020.

NICE ONE-BEDROOM apartment. Water, trash, three fourths gas paid. Laundry facilities. Nice for ate student or couple. $265, 539-2482 after NICE ONE-BEDROOM apartment refurnished last surmer. Real close to campus also January rent paid $295. $295 a month. Call 778-1985.

ONE-BEDROOM on Sunset. $260 plus gas and electric Laundry facilities, no pets, please. 539-5051 o 776-3804.

SMALL BASEMENT apartment west of campus, $175 includes all utilities. No pets, 539-5051 or 776-3804.

THREE-BEDROOM APARTMENT— Close to campus and Aggieville. $375 plus deposit and utilities. 537-6841.

TWO-BEDROOM IN quiet, modern adult complex near campus. Paid heat, laundry, carport, patio. $335. Available now. Minimum year lease. No smoking, pets, waterbeds. 537-9686.

TWO-BEDROOM, ONE and one-half bath near cam-pus. Washer/ dryer, $250 plus utilities. 537-8825.

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

ATTRACTIVE, NEWLY decorated, large Town Ho apartment, 1921 Anderson, walk to campus. Two bedrooms, two baths, washer/ dryer connections, gas heat. Large kitchen, large living and dining room, ample storage throughout. No children. No pets. Mature adults preferred. $350. Phone 537-4179 after 6p.m.

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM on 17th Street available now. Two blocks to campus. Balcony, gas heat, laundry facilities. $310. 537-9020 or 776-3804. (Continued on page 13)

Get On A Roll For 1989!

"Put a little spice in your life." Stop by T.J. Cinnamons Bakery, next to Kinkos in Aggieville, Kansas, and ask for our New Year coupons while supply lasts.

> Hours: Mon.-Sat. 7 a.m.-7 p.m. Sun. 7 a.m.-1 p.m.

*(See Baker Paul for a free cup of coffee.)

FAST N FREE DELIVERY THURSDAY is COUPON

DAY

SPRING BREAK IN FREEPORT

Everyday

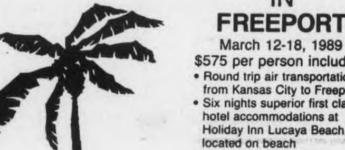

Two-Fers

2-10 in. pizzas

s8.00

2-Toppings

2-Cokes

In honor of Dr.

Martin Luther

King Jr. Week, all showings of this film are free and open to the public.

$575 per person includes: · Round trip air transportation from Kansas City to Freeport · Six nights superior first class hotel accommodations at Holiday Inn Lucaya Beach, located on beach

· Quad basis · Welcome cocktail party · Round trip airport/hotel transportation Professional escort

 And More....

TRAVEL

Limited Space!

SUNFLOWER TRAVE

our Toll Free # 1-333-1126 Lawrence, Kansas

WANTED Radio Announcers

Applications are now being accepted for announcer/DJ positions for various on-air shifts, including weekends. Prior AM or FM broadcast experience is necessary. Apply at our All-New studios, 2414 Casement Road, Manhattan, Monday-Friday, 8 a.m.-5 p.m. KMKF.

> EOE All Now All Had

YOUR ENTERTAINMENT ALTERNATIVE N PROGRAM COUNCIL

k-state union

SNOW CREEK SKIING

Saturday, Jan 28, 1989 $41

Enjoy 12 glistening manmade trails at Snow Creek Ski Resort located in nearby Weston, Missouri. The trip includes round-trip transportation plus boots, equipment, and lift tickets. Experience Missouri skiing for only $41. Only $31 with your own equipment.

Sign-up starts TODAY in the Union Activities Center, 3rd floor of the K-State Union, 8 a.m.-4 p.m.

Winner of eight Academy Awards, this powerful epic relates the miracle of how one remarkable man defeated the mightiest empire with the strongest military force on earth and freed 350 million people with one unbelievable plan-passive resistance:

Today and Tomorrow, 7:30 p.m., Union Forum Hall; Tomorrow, 3:30 p.m., Little Theatre Rated PG

k-state union

NION PROBRAM COUNCE

WHERE THE ADVENTURE BEGINS

UPC Chairperson Positions Available

Friday, Jan 20 & Saturday, Jan. 21, 7 & 9:30 p.m., Union Forum Hall and Sunday, Jan. 22, 7 p.m., Union Forum Hall $1.75, KSU I.D. Required

Rated PG

k-state union

State of the University Address

Are you interested in the University issues? Do you want to know where our student body president stands on these issues? Then attend Laurian Cuffy's State of the University Address.

Tomorrow, Jan. 19, at Noon in the Union Courtyard

k-state union

WEDNESDAY HOOH

TODAY Julia Henderson plays acoustic blues and folk

Noon in the Union Courtyard Wednesday Noon Live is back for the Spring Semester. Every Wednesday between noon and 1 p.m. in the Union Courtyard "Wednesday Noon Live" gives amateur performers the opportunity to express their talents on stage front of a live audience. Students, faculty, and anyone else who has a talent are encouraged to drop by the K-State Union Activities Center on the third floor of the K-State Union and pick-up a performance application.

Applications for Spring Semester are now being accepted. For more rmation contact the Activities Center at 532-6571.

K-state union

Applications and information for '89-'90 UPC Committee

Chairperson positions are available TODAY in the Activities Center, 3rd floor of the K-State Union. APPLICATIONS ARE DUE AT 4 P.M. ON FEBRUARY 3RD. Successful candidates will be selected after interviewing on Feb. 5. Previous UPC experience is helpful, but not required to hold a leadership position. Ten positions available.

Watch the Collegian in mid-February for information on UPC Membership application availability.

For more information: Call 532-6571 or stop by the Union Activities Center.

Wk-state union

February 17-19, 1989 $95

WEEKEND IN CHICAGO City-CHICAGO

hotdog stands, major shopping store to street vendors, Chicago has it all so experience Rush Street, where Chicago's finest nighclubs are loccated. Trip price of $95 includes roundtrip airline transportation from Kansas City to Chicago and two nights stay at the Oxford Hous info meeting: Jan. 24, 7:30 p.m., Union Big Eight Room. Sign-up begins: Jan. 25, Union Activities Center, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

March 10-18, 1989 $178-$255

Spend Spring Break at the NEW PIOA Floridal The package includes 7 nights premier beachfront condominium accommodations, 8 beach parties at the world famous Spinnakers Beach Club, 8 poolside parties at the fabulous Miricle Mile Resort, team and 2-person beach volleyball tournaments with prizes, trip staff advisors and 2 evening poolside barbecues at the Miracle Mile Resort, all for only $2551 Drive yourself for only $178.

> Info Meeting: Jan. 24, 8 p.m., Union Big Eight Room Sign-up Begins: Jan. 25, Union

k-state union

Activities Center, 8 a.m.-4 p.m.

(Continued from page 12)

LARGE TWO bedrooms, leases available now and next August. Furnished and unfurnished. Phone 537-9064 daily.

NICE, ONE-BEDROOM two blocks from campus. $260 includes all utilities. 537-4851 after 4p.m.

NICE ONE-BEDROOM in Lee' Hunting area available now. Fireplace, dishwasher, laundry facilities, $340, 539-2103 or 776-3804. NICE TWO-BEDROOM near City Park in 24-plex. All appliances, laundry facilities. $380. 537-8229 or

ONE-BEDROOM, NEWLY renovated, $250' month, unfurnished, close to campus, sublease. 776-2018 (Pete). Available starting next week.

ONE-BEDROOM, SECOND floor located 814 Leaven-worth, $175/ month plus utilities. Available now. 539-3872.

ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT in City Park area, $235 plus gas and electric. No pets. 539-8229 or 776-3804.

ONE FEMALE to fill four-bedroom house, block from campus, washer/ dryer. Rent $115. Call 776-3371,

STUDIO APARTMENT adjacent to campus, close to Aggleville. College Court Apartments. $220 monthly. Private parking, air conditioning, washer/ dryer and storage lockers. Call 532-7159.

TWO-BEDROOM, MOST utilities paid. 539-8058 or

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT, one block from carr pus. Stove, refrigerator furnished. 1-468-3364.

Automobiles for Sale

1974 MAYERICK, only $300, good interiors, engine, great for moving around. After 5:30p.m., 776-6277, Rick.

1974 VW, new brake system, new battery, good tires, $800, 778-7363.

LINE PRINTER ribbons for sale- Black multistrike no. QM MS (4½ dozen), $1.25 each. Black nylon no. QM NY (15), $2.25 each. Call 532-6555 or come by Kedzle 103 to see. MACINTOSH 512KE Computer and 20MG hard drive. Programs included. Pagernaker, Filemaker Plus, Guide, Reflex, MacMoney, also many games. $2,200 or best offer, 539-8535.

1981 BUICK Skylark. 539-4792.

Child Care

8 Computers

1986— DAYTONA, Shelby package, full power, very clean, must sell. 1 am broke. Call Dave at Phi Delt house. 539-5928.

ATTENTION— GOVERNMENT seized vehicles from $100. Fords, Mercades, Corvettes, Chevys. Surp-lus Buyers Guide. 1-902-938-8885 ext. A1797.

ACTIVE BALANCED creative day environment. Full day care, preschool. 597-1202.

LICENSED DAY Care Home toddler opening, Marlatt area, hot meals and activities. Call 776-4425 after 6p.m. 776-2183.

RELIABLE BABYSIT for three. Children, Wednesday, Friday, Saturday evenings. 539-7498.

HAS NEVER been out of box! Brand new Epson FX-800 printer. A great buy for $210. Call Paul 537-1705 after 5p.m.

IBM MODEL 30 with Epson EX800, $1,700. Call

printer, and wp programs. Call anytime 776-7557.

LAPTOP DATA General Model 2, modern, coprocessor, 512K, HP Think Jet Printer, carrying case.

IBM PC model 30 with internal modern, Pana

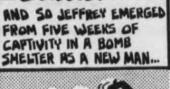

BY RICHARD BROADFOOT

A RENAISSANCE MAN... FULL OF

NEW IDEAS... NEW INSIGHTS... AND NEW PERSPECTIVES...

I'VE REACHED

AND SO JEFFREY EMERGED FROM FIVE WEEKS OF

UNFORTUNATELY ... JEFF'S TURNING POINTS SEEM TO LACK THE ELEMENT OF CHANGE ... OKAY ...

1977 MONTE Carlo, Fully loaded with sunroof, $1,150
UPGRADING? WRITER of science fiction wants to buy cheap used computer for word processing.
537-2260.

PERSONAL COMPUTERS Authorized Warranty Service

> also servicing · PC compatibles & printers

MIDWEST

9 Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to approach any such "employment opportunity" with reasonable caution.

$10- $660 weekly/ up mailing circulars! Rush self-addressed stamped envelope: Dept. AN-7CC-CU, 9300 Wilshire, Suite 470, Beverly Hills, CA 90212.

ATTENTION— HIRINGI Government jobs— your area. $17,840- $69,485. Call 1-602-838-8885 ext R1797. BUSINESS MAJOR to work 10 to 20 hours per week keeping books for laboratory. Must be able to work over summer and through next year. Call Jennifer, resses. Apply in person Wednesday, Jan. 18 and Thursday, Jan. 19 between 4 and 6p.m.

CHARLIE'S NEIGHBORHOOD Bar is now hiring walt

CHILDCARE - OUR home: Monday, Wednesday, day 11:45a.m.-5:15p.m. Own transportation. Study time allotted. 776-8663 after 5:30p.m.

CRUISE SHIPS jobs. Now hiring men and women. Summer and career opportunities. Excellent pay plus world travel. Hawaii, Baharnas, Caribbean, etc. Call nowi (206)736-7000 ext 326C.

EXPANDING FIRM seeks motivated part-time program-mers. C-language experience preferred. Contact ICADA Technologies, Inc. (537-2864) before

GUARANTEED MEGABUCK$. Selling jeweiry, manu-facturer wants saleswomen. Below wholesale prices, higher profit$ for you$$$, information? 776-5545. HELP WANTED for general house cleaning and child-care for three preschoolers. Monday- Wednesday-Friday preferred. $4/ hour. 776-3352.

MAJOR MANHATTAN Firm seeking part-time recep-tionist. Monday through Friday, 11:30a.m.-5:15p.m. Respond to P.O. Box 1688, Manhattan,

MCDONALD'S OF Westloop is looking for some enthuslastic dependable people who enjoy working with people. Part-time dayshift hours available between 5a.m. 4p.m. with very flexible schedules. Starting salary $3.50' hour with frequent raises available. Apply in person anytime, 1011 Westloop.

MISS MANHATTAN— K-State 1989 position open.
Minimum of $1,000 scholarship money plus many additional benefits. No entry fee. Applications accepted through 1-25-89. 537-2687, 537-4263. OVERSEAS JOBS. $900- $2,000 month. Summer year-round, all countries, all fields, free information. Write UC, P.O. Box 52-KS02, Corona Del Mar, CA PART-TIME SALES person needed to work weekends for local furniture store. Please send resumes to Box 3, c/o The Collegian, Kedzie 103, KSU,

Manhattan, KS 66506.

PART-TIME SALES help— Retail shoes. Experience required. Send schedule, resume to: Box 2, o/o The Collegian, Kedzie 103, KSU, Manhattan, KS 66506.

PRESCHOOL INSTRUCTOR for City of Manhattan Responsible for the supervision of 10 to 12 preschool children from three-five years old. Position requirements include the establishment of a teaching program for preschool children that includes craft classes for the different developments. tal stages; leading children in songs, storytime and supervising free play time, instructors should meet the minimum state certification requirements. Some formal education in early childhood or related field is required. Hours are 9a.m.- noon, Monday, Wednesday and Friday, $5/ hour. Apply at Personnel Office, City Hall, 11th and Poyntz by Jan. 23, 1989. EOE—M/F/H.

Making the Grade

By Bob Berry

Bloom County

ALMOST. THIS SHOULD

HEY!

By Berke Breathed

Garfield

THE BOOKSTORE

GOT EVERYTHING?

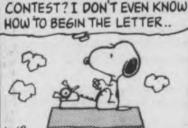

By Charles Schulz

HOW DO YOU INVITE YOUR OWN

BROTHER TO AN "UGLY DOG"

ROOF AND Russ manufacturing plant. Apply in perso 5107 Murray Road. 776-5081.

SCHOOL BUS drivers needed. $4.75 per hour, must be 21 years of age, have a good driving record and complete a training program. Bus driving experi-ence not required. Part-time, 6:30 - 8:30a.m. and 2:40-4:30p.m. Job description available. Apply to USD 383, 2031 Poyntz Ave., Manhattan, KS 66502. (913)537-2400. EOE.

SCIENCE MAJOR to work early morning hours in a laboratory, 7:30- 9:30a.m. daily. Must be able to work through next year. Also needing students with large blocks of time. Call Jennifer, 532-6131.

STUDENT ASSISTANT needed for routine library tasks. Must be available Monday, Wednesday, Friday, 11a.m. to 1p.m. Vet Medical Library, fourth floor Trotter Hall. EOE.

STUDENT HELP for general labor, $4/ hour. Prefer students able to work four-hour morning blocks. Apply in person in payroli office, 117 Dykstra Hall. Apply by Jan. 19.

STUDENT PROGRAMMER/ Consultant, 15- 20 hours UDENT PROGRAMMERV Consultant, 15-20 hours per week, to start as soon as possible, as a computer programmer/ consultant for faculty and students. Programming, as well as microcomputer knowledge, experience, and grade point average will be used as a selection criteria. Undergraduates with an employment potential of two years will be given preference. Equal Opportunity Employer. Contact Jacque Melsner, room 23, Cardwell by 5p.m., Jan. 24.

SUMMER JOBS outdoors. Over 5,000 openings! National parks, forests, fire crews. Send stamp for free details. 113 E. Wyoming, Kalispell, MT 59901.

VISTA DRIVE in is now taking applications for full- and part-time help. Must be able to work some noon shifts. Apply in person.

WORK-STUDY STUDENT preferred to work in dairy sales counter, Call Hall. Contact Harold Roberts, room 130, Call Hall, or call 532-5654.

13 Houses/Mobile Homes for Sale

1977 WINDSOR 14x75. All appliances, redwood deck, big two-car garage, insulated shop. All on three-fourths acre. Make offer. 1-494-8484.

ATTENTION— GOVERNMENT homes from $1 (You repair). Delinquent tax property. Repossessions. Call (602)838-8885 ext GH1797.

14 Lost and Found

FOUND CAR cover in parking lot B3. Call 532-3430.

15 Miscellaneous Merchandise

DJ SYSTEM. Mixer, equalizer, amplifier and Bose speakers with stands. Sansul receiver and speak-ers. 776-7689.

FOR SALE: Dining table and chairs. Call 537-2970 from

FOR SALE: The Electromagnetics Problem Solver and Schaum outlines for Electromagnetics and Vector Analysis. Essential for EM Theory. Over $46 now. Asking $30 for all three. Like new condition. 537-1989 evenings.

QUEEN-SIZED SATIN sheets, blue, never used $15; two light-colored flip chains $10 each; weight bench, no weights $20. Call evenings 539-3307, ask for

Hayes House of Music

Guitar and Bass Lessons 776-7983 327 Poyntz

Don't Forget

25¢

Draws

at

Brother's Tonight

"Manhattan's Classiest Salon"

Call Christin or Jill

776-7874

SOUTHERN

THE TANNING SALON

Tans thru 1-21-89

776-8060

SUN CONNECTION Back to School

Special 5 sessions $12.50 10 sessions $25.00 Buy NOW and

SAVE! Manhattan's Largest Tanning Salon

1126 Laramie 776-2426

16 Motorcycles/Bicycles for Sale

1982, 550 Yamaha Maxim. Good condition. New tires $700. 539-8218.

MOUNTAIN BIKE for sale, loaded with extras, excellent condition, $350. 776-8629.

17 Musical Instruments

PEAVEY GUITAR with Kahler Tremelo and hardshell

18 Personals

TO K-STATE blonde who hugged me at the KU game, maybe sometime might you be interested in sharing a drink with me. Painted wildcat face.

TO THE 11 of you, I know who you are, thanks your hunk a hunk a burnin' love.

To the gentleman in the suit that registered on Wed. night. Phone number is correst. Confused roommate answered.

> Please call back! The lady in black

19 Pets and Pet Supplies

SELLING POODLE Mice, silver and gold cold WANTED: USED aquarium. Call 532-3430 Haymaker

20 Professional Services

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnance test. Confidential. Call 597-9180, 103 South Fourt St., Suite 25.

PROMPT ABORTION and contraceptive services in Lawrence. (913)841-5716.

21 Rentals

22 Resume/Typing Services

TERM PAPERS, cover letters, resumes, theses and dissertations entered, stored and completed to your specifications. Come see us. Ross Secretarial Services, 614 N. 12th (across from Kite's) 539-5147.

Are you ready for your job interview? Let Graphics Plus prepare your resume. Typeset and laserprinted for a clean, professional look. Graphics Plus, corner of N. Manhattan and Bluemont, Aggieville, 539-6027

23 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE, OWN room, two blocks from campu $106.25/ month plus utilities. Call 1-762-4242. FEMALE, OWN room, nice house near campu washer/ dryer, $145 plus utilities. 537-8825.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to share two-bedroon apartment close to campus, $100/ month, one-third utilities. Call Nanette, 537-1623.

mobile home. Fully furnished with washer and dryer. $150 a month plus one-half utilities. 776-8683. FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share two-bedroom

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to share four-bedroom apartment two blocks from campus. Call 539-2239.

FEMALE TO share two-bedroom apartment, $140.
Private bedroom, on McCain Lane. Call Julie 539-1486, anytime. MALE ROOMMATE wanted. $155 a month plus utilities

Call 776-6892

NON-SMOKING FEMALE— Own room, private laundry, garage, $192.50 plus one-half utilities. Donna 776-8384.

ONE MALE, own room. No rent until February. No deposits or lease. Call 537-2055.

ONE OR two female roommates wanted. Own room, $135 plus utilities. 537-6841.

ROOMMATE WANTED for two-story house with hard-wood floors and bannister. Beautiful. 776-0553/ 1-492-3166.

ROOMMATE WANTED- Clean, responsible person to share house, $175 a month plus one-half utilities. Call Lisa 776-3607.

ROOMMATE WANTED to share two-story house next to campus. $125' month, own room, one-fourth utilities, washer/ dryer. 539-7709.

ROOMMATE WANTED to share one-bedroom, base-ment apartment. One and one-half blocks west of campus. Call for information. Ask for Jim. 776-7980. ROOMMATE WANTED- Two-bedroom duplex close to campus, fireplace, garage, washer/dryer, fenced yard, pets okay, very nice. $200/ month plus one-half utilities. Laura 776-5528. ROOMMATE TO share house, own room, washer/ dryer, $147/ month, 537-6832 early mornings. Late

SHARE A house. Own room plus use of kitchen, living area and all utilities. $95 a month for rent. Call 539-0356 to inquire. SUBLEASE THIS beautiful apartment at least till May. $150 a month all utilities paid including cable! Furnished or unfurnished, get free January rent!

WANTED: MALE roommate. $140 a month plus one third electric and cable. Swimming pool. Five minute bike ride to campus. Call Terry at 776-3093.

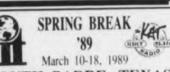

26 Sublease

Call 537-7484. Dan.

NICELY FURNISHED, $150 deposit, $300 monthly one-half block from campus. Leave message 539-8961. Negotiable.

SUBLEASE AVAILABLE January- May, One-bedroom basement one block from campus. $175. (913)367-4757 evenings.

27 Spring Break

SOUTH PADRE, TEXAS Round Trip Bus Transportation 5 Nights Lodging

(Holiday Inn - On The Beach) 3. Welcome Party Price $395 per person

STEAMBOAT SPRINGS, CO Round Trip Bus Transportation Free Shuttle To Slopes And Evening

Entertainment 5 Nights Lodging in Condo 4. 5 Day Lift Ticket 5. Ski Equipment for 5 days 6. Mountain Bar-B-Q Lunch

Price $460 per person Sponsored by International Tours and KSKT 95.3 The Kat

*Make deposits and reservations at 8th and Humboldt, 776-4756 DEPOSIT $100 due 1-26-89

SPRING BREAK '89 Reservations Available Now

SOUTH PADRE ISLAND, TX 100 $149 Sheraton/Holiday Inn/Gulf View STEAMBOAT, CO $93*

Shadow Run/Overlook 118' DAYTONA BEACH, FL MUSTANG ISLAND, TX 136

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, SC ... $107" Hilton Head Beach Condos Don't Wait Until It's Too

By Eugene Sheffer

Crossword

ACROSS 41 Of the 1 Camp bed cheek 43 On -4 Coin of (equal to) 44 Jet fol-8 The Lucy lower

46 Small Camera' drum 13 Knob at 50 It's worm by 28 the center of a Across shield 55 Seine

Iran

we love

14 Confused

"Birches"

payment 37 Swan sight 56 S.A. 15 Malay gibbon country 16 Craft for 57 Poker stake 28 Across 58 Education 18 He wrote org. 59 Soviet

20 Malay isthmus 60 Bellow 61 Hiatus Israeli port 24 Tumbler 28 He's out of this world 32 Singer Turner 33 Russian plane 34 Attica RUSTY 52 Coach townships 36 Press for genus 39 The cur-Yesterday's answer 1-18

19 Dry, as wine 22 Iowa town 23 Florida

DOWN

1 Bossy's

baby

2 Sharif

3 Source of poi 4 Stole cattle

demon

5 Young

org.

7 Canal

feature

8 Volcanic rock

10 Luau

lack?

cozy 27 Sensible 28 Curse of cities 6 Lawyers' 29 Heap 30 Compe tition for or Cobb

prizes

31 One of

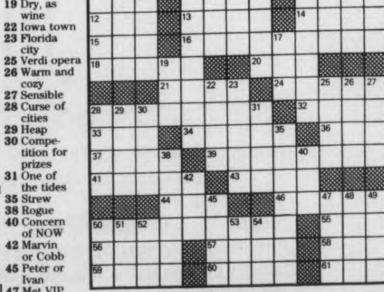

the tides 9 Hardwood 35 Strew 38 Rogue 40 Concern garland 11 Standee's of NOW 42 Marvin

17 Work unit 45 Peter or time: 27 mins. Ivan 47 Met VIP 48 Olive 49 Harvest 50 Health OIL 51 Duffer's goal

Parseg-

53 Numero 54 Give

ZTWVPW RDU DTRK

VREVTKF QBWKQTWC Yesterday's Cryptoquip: WERE FOLLOWERS OF MAD WARLORD GENGHIS KNOWN AS "KHAN

ZRV QYW KRCQEDFTP

Today's Cryptoquip clue: V equals R

Riot

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 killed the black motorcyclist being chased for a traffic infraction. No damage estimates were available.

Authorities said seven civilians and three of the 280 police officers called to the scene were injured.

Police guarded a 130-block area of Overtown on Tuesday, warning motorists who passed through that they could not be guaranteed protection. Six schools were closed and some buses were rerouted, but authorities refused to declare an evening curfew.

The disturbance recalled the bloody 1980 riot in adjacent Liberty City that also was linked to the death of a black motorcyclist at the hands of white officers. A similar disturbance broke out in 1982 when a black man was shot to death only a few blocks from where the latest incident

On Monday, Clement Lloyd, 23, died following a police chase that started just after 6 p.m.

Bitsis said Lloyd and a passenger on his motorcycle sped past a police officer, who gave chase. Then the motorcycle headed down a street where another officer, William Luzano, was taking a report.

Shooting

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Neely said the dead children all belonged to refugee families from Southeast Asia. He identified them as Raphanar Or, 9; Ram Chun, 8; Thuy Tran, 6; Sokhim An, 6; and Oeun Lim, 8. Thuy Tran was from Vietnam, the others from Cambodia. Officials said about 60 percent of the students at the school were from Southeast Asian refugee families.

Three of the children were slain in the yard, and the two others inside the school, Tribble said. He said at least one teacher was injured.

Republicans are miles apart on major issues, Hurt said.

"We're going to have to vote our constituency, which seems to break

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

the 'rebel' Republicans and the Democrats as far-reaching," said wonderful opportunity to be a majority, which does not happen very

Rep. Katha Hurt, D-Manhattan.

"I do not see the coalition between

"In setting house rules we had the

But the Demcrats and the 'rebel'

up coalitions and form others along party lines," she said.

Rep. Sheila Hochhauser, D-Manhattan, said she is hopeful for a Democrat-Republican coalition on some issues, especially regarding return of windfall tax revenues.

She said a coalition would increase the possibility of changing Gov. Mike Hayden's windfall return proposal to include property tax relief rather than just individual income tax relief.

But the split may last, and if so, Braden could have continuing problems while trying to win approval of Hayden's legislative agenda.

Because of a new rule, the budget process may become slower and more confusing. The rule allows the House to debate any agency's budget in discussing an appropriations bill, rather than the budgets of the agencies in the bill. Thus, on each bill the House could potentially debate the entire state budget.

"It very well could make the session longer, in number of days," said House Majority Leader Robert H. Miller, R-Wellington.

The 10 Republicans who formed the alliance call themselves "reformers," but they have also been called dissidents.

Women

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 9 percentage shots and shots we are comfortable with," she said. "What I am mostly concerned about is how many times we put them on the line. We are just not playing very smart defense right now. Lady Cat forward Diana Miller, who was averaging 12 points a game going into the CU game, was held to only four points. But Miller was able to pick up in other areas.

'(Diana) played great defense, she grabbed a lot of rebounds and had a strong overall game," Mossman said.

She said she has been pleased with the scoring efforts of Amy Davidson and Ameetrice Cobb, who are averaging about six points a game coming off the bench.

"They are the only two getting a lot of playing time right now and they are responding very well," Mossman said.

Guard Nadira Hazim leads the Lady Cats in scoring with a 13.2 average, while center Kristie Bahner is averaging nearly 10 points a Missouri is led by Sandie Prophete, who is averaging 20.9 points a game and 5.9 rebounds. Lisa Sandbothe is the Lady Tigers' leading rebounder at 6.4 a game and is chipping in an average of 11.1 points. Sharon Bax is the only other Lady Tiger in double figures.

Probable Starters Lady Cats (11-4) Pos. Missouri (11-4) Bahner(5-11, So.) D.Miller(5-10, So.) Prophete(5-8, Sr.) Bax(5-10, Jr.) Sandbothe(6-1 Matteucoi(5-11, Jr.) C

M.Miller(5-5, Fr.) G Brooks(5-7, Jr.)

Men

often," she said.

GOP

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 9 a game compared with the 75.5

points the Buffaloes have allowed. K-State is hoping for the continued offensive support of LaKeith Humphrey, who has averaged 17 points in the Wildcats' past two games. The 'Cats will also need big games from their leading scorers, Fred McCoy and Steve Henson, who have also averaged 17 points in K-State's past two games.

"Fred had a pretty good night for us against Southern Utah," Kruger said, "One of this team's biggest problems is manufacturing offense. If we can work the ball in the middle that's what we'll do. If not, we'll play a perimeter game.

'As far as our game plan goes, I don't see any drastic changes. It's important that we get off the mark, get our first conference victory and move on from there.

Colorado's 6-foot-10 center, Shaun Vandiver, leads the team in almost every category. The sophomore newcomer is averaging 19.4 points and 10.9 rebounds a game and shooting nearly 59 percent from the field. Vandiver and Colorado starting guard Reggie Morton were teammates of K-State guard Steve Fritz at Hutchinson Community College last

Two other Buffaloes join Vandiver in double figures. Steve Wise comes in averaging 11.5 points a game and Brian Robinson is averaging

Probable Starters

State (9-4)	Pos.	Colorado (5-10
bbins(6-5, Sr.)	F	Guest(6-5, S.
tt(6-6, Jr.)	F	Robinson(6-5, Sr.
Coy(6-7, Sr.)	C	Vandiv.(6-10, So.
nson(6-1, Jr.)	G	Morton(6-0, Jr.
mph.(6-4, Jr.)	G	Wise(6-2, So.

Compatibility Defined

IBM-Com-pat'i-bil'i-ty adv. 1. Capable of existing together in harmony. 2. Able to use most common software; usu. of the business/research world. 3. Growth & flexibility. 4. Hyundai 16TE.

\triangle HYUND Δ I

Introducing the Super 16TE PC-compatible.

Introducing a new level of IBM-compatibility, speed (10Mhz) and flexibility (5 expansion slots). Each Hyundai includes 640K memory, a "101' keyboard, full software (wp, spreadsheet, database), orientation, support and an 18 month warranty. Best of all- its backed by $20 billion Hyundai Corporation and your local Connecting Point Computer Center in Westloop Shop. Center. Retail KSU Price. Disc.

☐ Super 16TE $ 1045. $ 735. 30%

Sample Systems: ☐ 2 drive, amber monitor ☐ 2 drive, color monitor

1095. 1299. 1495. ☐ 30Mb, amber monitor 1699. ☐ 30Mb, color monitor

*Based upon full system purchase. IBM is a reg. tm of IBM Corp.

KSU's "Seoul" Authorized Hyundai Dealer

Connecting Point 233

1115 Westloop Shop. Ctr 539-0801

Attention KSU Apple Purchasers:

Connecting Point's "Apple Team" has contracted to support KSU departmental and personal purchases. Call us for assistance in selecting systems, software solutions and ordering your Mac. Connecting Point has a full line of Apple "Add-Ons" from disks to software to cases to drives.

Closed Classes

08780 10280 1	401 13180 I	4630 15430	19010	19980	21250	23380	24850	26110	29430	32810	34300	34470
		4440 15440	19030	2 0000	21240	234 50	24880	241 90	29990	32820	34320	36480
		4450 15450	19090	20070	21270	234 70	24900	26230	29450	32830	34340	34530
		4660 15460	19100	20060	21.280	23480	25 030	2627C	29470	32840	34350	36620
		4470 15470	19110	20090	21310	236 90	45050	26271	29480	32650	34420	34830
		4480 15480	19120	20100	21380	23700	04065	26272	29490	32860	34480	34910
		4700 15490	19130	20360	21400	23710	25070	26350	29500	32870	34540	37050
		4710 195eC	19140	20365	21470	23730	25080	26400	29540	32930	34550	37040
		4720 15910	19150	20300	21500	23750	25110	20440	29540	32 970	34570	37070
		4730 15930	19150	20390	21580	23760	25120	26450	29670	32990	34400	37080
		4750 15940	19300	20400	21 730	237 90	25130	26570	29700	33010	34440	37090
		4740 15950	19320	20410	22070	23800	25140	26600	29890	33000	34 482	37100
		4770 159e0	19330	20420	22080	23880	25150	20010	29990	33090	34 890	37130
		4760 10170	19340	20430	22090	23900	25160	26620	30310	35100	34940	37140
		4 790 16180	19350	20440	22120	23920	25160	26030	05506	33110	35211	37150
		4800 1e230	19390	20450	22200	23930	25220	26650	30920	33120	35212	37320
			19400	20470	22240	23940	25230	20010	31040	33121	35 300	37330
		4820 16430 4830 16530	19450	20510	22300	23940	29240	20000	31080	33122	35 310	37520
				20540	22420	23980	25260	26710	31150	33130	35 320	37600
		4840 16540 4850 16570	19460	20580	22430	23990	25620	26720	31160	33140	35 370	37720
			19500	10010	22550	24000	25430	24730	31140	33150	35 380	3764
		920 1000		20630	22500	240 10	25640	26770	31230	33160	35400	37940
		4930 16670	19510	20030	22630	24020	25650	24810	31330	33170	35410	30050
			19520	20450		24030	25660	20020	31370	33180	35440	M070
		990 16690 980 18700	19570	20650	22640	24040	25670	24640	31 750	33190	35470	****
			19000			240 50	25680	240 70	31760	33200	35 700
			19610	20670	22670	24040	25490	26490	31 770	33210	35 710
		990 17040 5000 17110	19620	20090	22660	24070	25700	24900	31010	33290	35 7.30
			19630	20700	22690	24080	25710	26920	31950	33300	35740
		010 17120 040 17210	19640	20740	22700	24100	25720	269 30	31,900	33320	35770
		000 17210	19660	10760	22710		25730	26940	31 91 0	33330	35880
		5070 17270	19670	20770	22720	24110		26950	31.920	33340	35910
		17280	19680	20780	22730	24140	25750	26980	31 970	33430	35930
			19690	10030	22740		25770	26990	32000	33590	36300
			16150	20840	22760	547.00	25780	27000	35010	33400	36310
			19150	20050	22870	24161	25790	27110	35050	33640	36320
			19730	21020	09822	241 70	25400	27111	32030	33660	34330
		140 17740	19740	21040	226 90	242.20	25810	27170	32 040	33 680	36340
		160 17770	19750	21080	22940	24230	25820	27200	32 540	33700	34350
		170 17830	1975 C	21100	22990	243 90			32 620	33770	34340
		180 17650	19770	21110	53050	24470	25840	28020	32 440	33740	36370
		190 17670	16870	21120	23060	244 90	25850		32 690	33850	34380
		200 17880	19020	21130	23090	24500	25900	26170	32710	33930	34390
		220 17890	19850	21140	23100	2 96 80	25950	26211	32 740	33970	34400
		240 17900	1986 C	21150	23120	24690	26000	24330			34410
		250 17930	19870	21160	23140	24740	26010	28750	32750	34000	34420
		330 18910	18880	21170	23230	24750	20011	29220	32760	34040	36430
		370 18920	19920	51500	23270	24740	26070	29300	32 770
0510 11440 13	10 14050 13	14000	19970	21230	23340	24810	40100	14450	32800	345.00	30400
0240	11440 124	11440 12460 14600 15 11450 13070 14610 15	11440 12460 14400 15360 18980 1 11450 13070 14410 15410 18990	1 11440 12660 14600 15360 18980 19950 1 1450 13070 14610 15410 18990 19960	11440 12660 14600 15380 16480 1990 21210 11450 13070 14610 15410 18490 19960 21220	1 11440 12460 14400 15360 18980 19950 21210 23260 1 11450 13070 14410 15410 18990 19960 21220 23290	1 11440 12460 14600 15380 16980 19950 21210 23280 24770 1 11450 13070 14610 15410 18990 19960 21220 23290 24780	1 11440 12460 14600 15360 18980 19950 21210 23260 24770 24080 1 11450 13070 14610 15410 18990 19960 21220 23290 24760 24090	1 11440 12460 14400 15360 18960 19960 21210 23260 24770 24080 29400 13450 13070 14410 18410 18990 19960 21220 23290 24760 24090 29410	1 11440 12460 14600 15360 16960 19950 21210 23260 24770 26080 29400 32760 1 13450 13070 14610 15410 18990 19960 21220 23290 24760 26090 29410 32790	1 11440 12460 14600 15380 18980 19950 21210 23280 24770 26080 29400 32780 34080 11850 13070 14610 15410 18990 19960 21220 23290 24780 26090 29410 32790 34120	1 11440 12660 14600 15380 18980 19950 21210 23280 24770 26080 29400 32780 34080 34460 11850 13070 14610 15410 18990 19960 21220 23290 24780 26090 29410 32790 34120 34450

You don't need your parents' money to buy a Macintosh.

Just their signature.

It's never been difficult for students to convince their parents of the need for a Macintosh* computer at school.

Persuading them to write the check, however, is another thing altogether.

Which is why Apple created the Student Loanto-Own Program. An ingenious loan program that makes buying a Macintosh as easy as using one.

Simply pick up an application at the location listed below, or call 800-831-LOAN. All your parents need to do is fill it out, sign it, and send it. If they qualify, they'll receive a check for you in just a few weeks.

There's no collateral. No need to prove financial hardship. No application fee.

Best of all, the loan payments can be spread over as many as 10 years.

Which gives you and your parents plenty of time to decide just who pays for it all.

Introducing Apple's Student Loan-to-Own Program

Regular Semester Hours: M-Th 8-8, Fri 8-5, Sat 9-5, Sun 12-5

66612

Pottery Man

Don Hummels, professor of electrical and computer engineering, has been making pottery for three years. See Page 8.

Weather

Sunny today, high 55 to 60. Winds turning to northwest and increasing to 10 to 20 mph by afternoon. Clear tonight, low 25 to 30.

Kansas State Historical Soc Attn: Newspaper Sect'n 120 West 10th Topeka, KS rust WIN

0/0/0 **

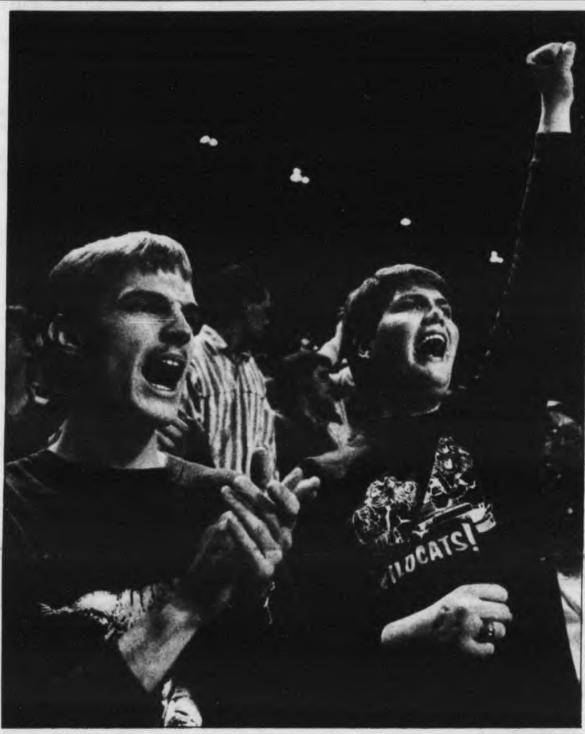

The 'Cats defeated the Colorado Buffaloes Wednesday evening for their first Big Eight Conference win. See Page 7.

Thursday

January 19, 1989

Kansas State University Manhattan, Kansas 66506 Volume 95, Number 81

Kansas State Collegian

Staft/Greg Vogel

Cheers Marc Machin, sophomore in electrical engineering, and Joe Jacklovich, senior in English, cheer for the 'Cats during the first half of the game Wednesday in Bramlage Coliseum. K-State defeated Colorado

Metallica cancelled Poor ticket sales the cause

By The Collegian Staff

Heavy metal fans, sit down and take a deep breath.

Metallica, the heavy metal rock band scheduled to play at Bramlage Coliseum Jan. 29, has been cancelled because of low ticket sales.

Charlie Thomas, director of Bramlage, said only 1,073 tickets had been sold as of Wednesday evening. Those holding tickets for the Metallica concert should return their tickets to the original place of purchase for a refund.

"We're all very disappointed," Thomas said. "No one ever wants to cancel a show, but because we are a new facility, we're still in the process of feeling out the market."

Def Leppard was successful because they are a lighter type of rock music, Thomas said. Metallica, whose music has a heavy metal sound, didn't appeal to enough people, he said.

"What works in Kansas City won't necessarily work in Manhattan," Thomas said. "Different geographical locations have different music

Attempts to move the show to the Kansas Expo Center were made with the hopes of higher ticket sales, Thomas said. However, the Topeka facility's management was not willing to accept the show.

Thomas said Bramlage will feel the loss in terms of advertising and production costs. However, the exact amount of that loss will not be known for several days.

The cost of a concert in Bramlage depends on the company that brings in the group. The Def Leppard concert was in the $80,000 to $100,000 range, he said.

"Most of the time, companies will set up for a particular group so we aren't sure of the total cost," Thomas

Although the concert schedule at Bramlage may seem sluggish this semester, Thomas said it isn't due to the coliseum itself or lack of interest on the part of concert promoters.

the year are slow and that many tours during the last few months have not come through the Midwest.

"Most of the recent shows in this section of the country haven't taken a west or east direction towards Manhattan — they have just left the section (out) altogether," Thomas said. "If a show is coming to this area, we should have a pretty good shot at booking the show for the coliseum."

Groups like Bon Jovi might skip playing in Bramlage in order to play multiple dates in the larger cities and draw a bigger crowd, he said.

Thomas said he is looking for a show that would appeal to a large audience with the possibly of playing to a sell-out crowd. He said he wants to schedule a variety of productions to come to Bramlage.

Productions such as the Beach Boys and Def Leppard have already performed in Bramlage since its opening on Oct. 1. The Harlem Globetrotters, Feb. 14, are the next He said tours during this time of scheduled performance.

Appointment approvals focus of Student Senate's meeting

Approval of committee appointments will be the main focus of Student Senate's first meeting of the semester at 7 p.m. tonight in the Union Big Eight room.

A bylaws revision for the Senate intern program will be discussed. The proposed change would allow for a maximum of 18 interns and a minimum of 12 interns.

We received numerous excellent applications for our intern positions, so we felt that changing the program choosing interns," said Senate Chairman Todd Johnson.

Approval of the director of the consumer relations board, as well as appointments to the finance committee and chairpersons of the standing committees, is on the agenda. All standing committees will meet next week.

Proposed changes in the constitution of Associated Students of Kansas will also be discussed for Senate's approval.

would give us more variability in During the open period before the meeting, Charlie Thomas, director of Bramlage Coliseum, will express his concerns about students damaging the benches in Bramlage while standing during basketball games.

Also during the open period, Mark Lapping, dean of the College of Architecture and Design, will present his views on ethical advertising.

Phil Anderson, instructor of speech, will be sworn in as the Faculty Senate representative to Student

Poison gas not easy

Germany continues

Libyan investigation

By The Associated Press

announced criminal probes of a key company in the Libyan chemical weapons plant dispute and a Bavarian company that reportedly delivered sophisticated equipment to Libya's air force.

aggressive about pursuing the story.

it will make pharmaceuticals.

learned of the charges.

FRANKFURT, West Germany - Prosecutors on Wednesday

The new probes bring to three the number of criminal investigations in the widening scandal, and in each case authorities acknowledged they were checking allegations made by West German news reports.

lished early this month, the nation's news media have been particularly

Since the first allegations of West German involvement were pub-

Politicians, meanwhile, have had to retract their earlier denials of West German involvement with the plant in Rabta, 60 miles south of the Libyan capital of Tripoli. Washington says it was built to make chemical arms, while the Libyan government of Col. Moammar Gadhafi says

In Bonn on Wednesday, Chancellor Helmut Kohl sat with other lawmakers as his chief aide, Wolfgang Schaeuble, addressed an acrimonious session of Parliament about when the government in Bonn first

Schaeuble said the U.S. government in May passed on tips about West German involvement in the suspected Libyan chemical weapons plant. He said the tips also involved the alleged German help in providing Gadhafi's air force with midair refueling capability.

By Erwin Seba News Editor

President-elect George Bush promised during his campaign for the White House to seek the complete elimination of chemical weapons from the world. That's a tall order.

Chemical weapons are relatively easy to produce when compared to nuclear weapons.

Atomic weapons require a welldeveloped industrial base, a secure supply of fissionable or fusionable material and a scientific community able to conduct the necessary research and development as preconditions for their production.

Analysis

In fact, the predecessors of some of the most deadly nerve gases in the U.S. arsenal were first discovered in pre-World War II Germany by researchers seeking a better insecticide.

To produce phosgene, also known as choking gas or mustard gas, all that is required is an industrial base roughly equivalent in development with those of Germany, France, Great Britain or the United States during World War I. It was on the stalemated battlefields of World War I that these weapons were first used. Yet, chemical weapons were quickly overcome by coutermeasures, most specifically the gas mask, which allowed soldiers to continue to fight in a contaminated environment.

The earliest gas attacks during World War I yielded casualties in the thousands. A year later, with the introduction of the gas mask and the troops in responding to a gas attack, casualties had dropped into the range of 30 to 40.

Mustard gas, a debilitating agent known as a vesicant, causes blisters and burns to the lungs, throat, nose and eyes. It's also a delayed-action effects are not felt until a few hours after exposure. These symptoms intensify until the victim is completely debilitated by exposure. A victim greater experience gained by combat may also die if the exposure is of long duration or of a heavy dosage.

> Chemical weapons such as phosgene require inhalation before they become deadly, but the most destructive chemical weapons require only exposure to the skin to be fatal.

These weapons are called nerve weapon because the first minor gases because they disrupt the functioning of the central nervous system. Among the symptoms of nerve gas exposure are loss of muscular control or coordination, filling of the bronchial passages with mucus, bronchial constriction, uncontrollable defecation and vomiting, convulsions, paralysis and respiratory failure. Death, preceded by these symptoms, occurs within mintues.

If the exposure is less than that necessary to cause death quickly, the victim will experience some symptoms, possibly leading to death in several hours. Nerve gases also take a long time to be eliminated from a victim's body. A person may survive a first minor exposure yet not survive a second such exposure because of the cumulative effects of the two exposures.

The use of chemical weapons is prohibited by the 1925 Geneva Accord. However, this agreement does not prohibit the development, production and stockpiling of chemical weapons, and allows the United States to maintain a huge stockpile of such weapons.

The Geneva Accord also has not prevented the use of such weapons. Italy used chemical weapons in Ethiopia in the 1930s. The Japanese used chemical weapons against the Chinese during Japan's occupation of China in the 1930s and 40s.

During the 1980s, chemical weapons were used by Iraq to stop Iranian offensives during the Iran-Iraq War. Iraq also used poisonous gases against potentially rebellious Kurdish citizens in 1988.

Because of their relative ease of production and widespread effects, chemical weapons are known collectively as "the poor man's atomic

Information for this article was provided by John Daly, assistant professor of history, and obtained from articles In Newsweek and Scientific American.

Speaker to stress South African rights

Harvard Law School graduate Randall Robinson, a staunch supporter of the South African antiertheid movement, will deliver he 1989 Martin Luther King Jr. Convocation today.

His address, titled "Let Freedom Ring: Human Rights in South Africa," will begin at 10:30 a.m. in McCain Auditorium. Robinson is the executive director of Trans-Africa, a black American lobbying group supported by $500,000. In addition to ing raise Trans-Africa funds, he helped raise money for antiapartheid groups fighting the Pretoria government through his involvement in the South African Relief Fund.

Literature released from Rebinson's office states that his work involves "organizing popular opinion to advocate practices that will help achieve a more progressive U.S. foreign policy toward the nations of Africa and the Caribbean."

Alan Lipman is a visiting professor in the department of Architecture from the University of Wales at Cardiff and a native of South Africa. He said inviting speakers from the anti-apartheid movement to the University is just ■ See ADDRESS, Page 10

Alumna wills $500,000 in funds for scholarships

By Scott Paske Collegian Reporter

Despite a delay in legal procedures, Department of Animal Sciences and Industry students will benefit from a cash gift of almost $500,000.

The KSU Foundation announced the school received $479,454 from the estate of Helen Rannells Sampson, a California woman who graduated from K-State in 1913 with a bachelor's of science degree in home economics.

The recent inheritance brought Sampson's total gifts to the University to just under $1 million.

"We're very pleased with the news," said Jack Riley, professor of animal sciences and industry. "Her contribution will bring a tremendous amount of scholarship funds to our department. However, it has become known that there is another document in existence that may expand upon what was spelled out in the will."

A technicality involving the will has placed the exact amount of funding for animal sciences and industry students on hold.

Riley said the clause most likely will not affect the availability of ■ See GIFT, Page 10

TOKYO - A Japanese computer engineer will attempt the first solo trans-Pacific flight in a helium balloon he designed, an official involved in the project said Wednesday.

Fumio Niwa will take off on Feb. 11 from Yokohama south of Tokyo and fly to a location yet to be decided on the West Coast of the United States, said Kazuyuki Kodama, one of 20 people working on the project. Niwa plans to complete the 4,800-mile trip in three to four days.

In 1981, a four-man crew from Japan and the United States crossed the Pacific Ocean in a balloon, but Kodama said this would be the first time anyone has tried it alone.

Niwa, 38, spent about $787,000 to build the balloon, and quit work at a computer company in November to prepare for the flight.

Botha recovering from stroke

CAPE TOWN, South Africa - President P.W. Botha sutfered a stroke at home Wednesday, but was "clear-minded" and might appoint a Cabinet member as acting president, his office said.

Botha, who turned 73 on Jan. 12, was in stable condition at No. 2 Military Hospital in the Cape Town suburb of Wynberg after suffering a mild stroke, his office said. No further details were released.

Botha's health generally has been excellent since he took charge of South Africa's white-run government as prime minister in 1978. Under a new constitution, he became president in Elize Botha, the president's wife of 46 years, and some of their five children came to the hospital to be with him, state radio said.

Botha was hospitalized shortly after 8 a.m., according to the South African Broadcasting Corp.

Botha's office said he was "quite clear-minded" and was likely to appoint one of his Cabinet ministers as acting president on Thursday.

According to South Africa's constitution, the president can appoint a Cabinet minister to fill in for him temporarily. If the president is incapacitated, the Cabinet can elect one of its members as acting president.

Botha has refused to comment on his possible retirement.

Greek smog level dangerous

ATHENS, Greece - Environmental groups warned people to stay indoors Wednesday because of dangerous smog levels, but government officials said there was no need for concern,

"There is no reason to worry. We are watching the pollution levels and we will inform the public responsibly if there is a problem," Deputy Environment Minister Giorgos Ktenas said.

The state-run Program for Pollution Control said smog readings were "moderately" above dangerous levels.

The Panhellenic Center for Ecological Studies, a private monitoring group, disputed that and said 386 people were hospitalized with smog-related breathing and cardiac problems.

Smog has become a major problem in Athens, home to almost one-third of Greece's population of 9.8 million. Cars, diesel taxis and the city's aging buses are blamed for most of the pollution.

... Around the region

Motorcyclists found dead

EL DORADO - Theodore Carter 33, and Corina Ferguson, 20, disappeared Dec. 21 when they left for a 20-minute motorcycle ride around the El Dorado area. Their bodies were discovered Tuesday.

Butler County Sheriff Dave Williams said a woman walking along old U.S. Highway 54 Tuesday afternoon just 11/2 miles east of El Dorado discovered the bodies.

Williams said Carter or Ferguson must have have lost control of the motorcycle. The machine left the road, hit a tree and caught fire. He said the victims were thrown over an embankment. Their bodies were hidden by the embankment and grass.

Lobbyists battle death penalty

TOPEKA - When he talked Wednesday about his campaign against death penalty legislation, Bill Lucero compared himself and his colleagues to David battling Goliath, with one significant difference.

"We don't believe in violence," he said.

Since the 1989 Legislature began last week, Lucero and his group, the Kansas Coalition Against the Death Penalty, have been waging a low-key, behind-the-scenes lobbying campaign to defeat capital punishment legislation.

Lucero and another lobbyist for the group, Sister Therese Bangert, acknowlege they're fighting an uphill battle. They've also heard Gov. Mike Hayden express confidence that a renewed push will get lawmakers to re-establish the death penalty as the punishment for certain murders.

However, they heard the same talk in 1987, when Hayden put the death penalty near the top of his legislative agenda. The House passed a capital punishment bill, but the Senate rejected it, 22-18.

An Associated Press survey last month showed that 20 senators are strongly in favor of capital punishment or could support some form of it. Another 19 are against it or are inclined to vote against it, and one, Eric Yost, R-Wichita, is undecided.

Child abuse bill introduced

TOPEKA - Eighteen Democratic senators introduced a bill Wednesday that would allow prosecutors to file first-degree murder charges against people charged with child abuse if the victims die.

The bill is a response to a state Supreme Court ruling that said child abuse could not be the underlying felony in felony murder charges. That ruling is being reconsidered by the high court, however, and a second ruling could come Friday.

Felony murder charges can be filed if someone dies in the course of another felony, such as robbery. In those cases, the underlying felonies become the basis for filing murder charges.

In July, the Supreme Court ruled 4-3 that child abuse, a felony, could not be used as the underlying felony for filing murder charges if the child dies. The court's ruling overturned two first-degree murder convictions.

Robert Lucas of Olathe was convicted in Johnson County District Court in connection with the death of an 18-month child, and Kevin Semisch, a Plains resident, was convicted of first-degree murder in connection with the death of his 6-week-

The court agreed to rehear the two cases after former Chief Justice David Prager, who joined the majority opinion, retired.

Campus Bulletin

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Campus organizations are encouraged to use Campus Bulletin. All announce-ments must be submitted by 11 a.m. one day prior to publication. Announcements for Monday's bulletin must be in by 11 a.m. Friday. However, publication is determined by the amount of space available on a first-come, first-serve basis and is not ensured. Information forms are available on the shelf outside Kedzie 118. Forms should be left in the box on the shelf after being filled out. All submissions must be signed and are subject to verification. Questions should be directed to the Collegian's campus editors in Kedzie 116.

AIR FORCE ROTC CADET GROUP #270 is sponsoring a lecture on the Strategic Defense Initiative by Hermann Donnert tonight at 7 in Denison 218.

CAREER PLANNING AND PLACEMENT is now posting sign-up schedules for on-campus employment interviews by Kansas, regional and national employers. All eligible candidates are urged to register and apply.

KSU RODEO CLUB Anyone interested in competing for the 1989 Miss Rodeo K-State Contest must notify Kelly Freitag at 776-3158 before Jan. 20.

UFM is sponsoring a chili feed on Jan. 21 from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Cost is $3. Call 539-8763 for reservations.

TODAY

COLLEGIATE 4-H will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Union 213.

ICTHUS CHRISTIAN FELLOW-SHIP will meet at 8 p.m. in Union Little

ARTS AND SCIENCES AMBASSA-DORS will meet at 9 p.m. in Union 203.

EATING DISORDER SUPPORT GROUP will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 205.

KSU RODEO CLUB will meet at 7 p.m. in Weber 146.

SOCIETY OF WOMEN ENGI-NEERS will meet at 7 p.m. in Durland

PRE-VET CLUB will meet at 7 p.m. in Trotter 201.

PARACHUTE CLUB will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 213.

CAMPUS CRUSADE FOR CHRIST will meet at 7 p.m. in Throckmorton 131.

NATIONAL ORGANIZATION FOR WOMEN will meet at 7 p.m. at the Ecumenical Christian Ministries building, 1021 Denison Ave.

SOCIETY OF MANUFACTURING ENGINEERS will meet at 7 p.m. in Durland 127.

SAILING CLUB will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 202.

FELLOWSHIP OF CHRISTIAN ATHLETES will meet at 9 p.m. in the Big Eight Room of the Football Office.

HORTICULTURE CLUB will meet at 7 p.m. in Waters 244.

AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF CHEMICAL ENGINEERS will meet at

1:30 p.m. in Ackert 120. AMERICAN NUCLEAR SOCIETY will meet at 8:30 p.m. in Ward 135.

WOMEN'S SOCCER CLUB will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Union 206.

ALPHA CHI EPSILON will meet at 1:30 p.m. in Ackert 120.

ENGINEERING AMBASSADOR EXECUTIVES will meet at 5:30 p.m. at Pizza Hut on Third Street.

ENGINEERING AMBASSADORS will meet at 7 p.m. at Skate Plaza Roller Rink, 400 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

FRIDAY

MARCHING BAND will meet at 6:30 p.m. at the Wareham Opera House for a banquet, slide show and dance.

SUNDAY STUDENTS FOR EDUCATIONAL

AWARENESS will meet at 8 p.m. in

K-State Police

Tuesday

- A student parking permit was reported stolen from a vehicle parked in lot B-3.
- A student parking permit was reported lost in an unknown vicinity.
- A billfold was reported lost on
- A faculty/staff parking permit was reported lost in an unknown vicinity.

A terroristic threat was called in to a resident of Haymaker Hall.

Wednesday

A brown Ford was towed from lot A-28 to Mike's Wrecker.

A student parking permit was reported stolen from a vehicle parked off campus.

$99 Dollars

Get your semester of fun and fitness NOW at Nautilus The Ladies Club: "The Total Fitness System"

The Lague Chub

The Mutual of Omaha Companies have a future for you . . . in Computer Data Services

- · The competitive market-based salaries you
- expect
- A selection of exceptional benefits
- · A personal career path
- · The job you want · Respect for you
- · The computer technology that puts us on the leading edge in our industry If YOU have what it takes for a challenging career in data processing, talk with the Companies that have a real future for you

Degrees: Bachelors/Masters Computer Science Mutual & Bachelors Information

F/T Faculty

& Students ONLY

776-5577

Contact your Career Placement Office to schedule an interview

On-campus February 6

Equal Opportunity Companies M/F

776-5577

WordPerfect

Get the highest rated word processor at an unbelievable educational price - with speller and thesaurus! ☐ WordPerfect V.4.2 -$ 125 ☐ WordPerfect V.5.0 -$ 135

Connecting Point. 111 1115 Westloop Shop. Ctr 539-0801

Pizza Shuttle

Everyday Two-Fers 2-10 in. pizzas 2—Toppings 2-Cokes $8.00

"NO COUPON SPECIALS"

Prime Time Special 3-10 in. Pizzas 1—Topping 4-Cokes 10.00

FAST N FREE

DELIVERY

Closed Classes

238 30 23710 23710 23730 23730 23730 23730 23730 23730 23730 23870 24070 0.878.0 (19.10) (19.10 11-010
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10
11-0-10 15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15-120
15 213400 21400 21400 214000 2140 10330 10340 10340 10440 11440 11440 11440 11440 11440 11440 149450 19 250x6 251x6 251x6

Bush pays tribute to Reagan; promises to support educators

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - A jovial George Bush began his inaugural whirlwind Wednesday by paying tribute to his political mentor of the last eight years and promising school teachers that from the moment he is sworn in as the nation's 41st president "education will be on my desk and on my mind."

"I don't believe I'd be standing here as president-elect of the United States if it hadn't been for the way President Reagan treated me as vice president and then the way he rolled up his sleeves and went to work ... helping his vice president be elected," Bush told a Republican National Committee luncheon, saluting the man who vanquished his presidential hopes in 1980, and bolstered them mightily in 1988.

"When I go say farewell to him tomorrow, it won't be too easy," he said. "We're not coming in to correct the ills of the past. We're coming in to build on a proud record."

But first Bush took time to honor

America's teachers.

This is my very first event on the inaugural calendar. ... That's the way I wanted it, meeting with educators," he told 230 top-rated public school teachers, gathered from every state.

"I know you've heard me say during this campaign that I intended to be the education president. Two days before I begin trying, I wanted you to know that I meant it."

Bush, who attended the exclusive Phillips Academy at Andover, Mass., and earned his college degree and Phi Beta Kappa key at Yale, told the teachers: "I am awed by your

"Education will be on my desk and on my mind right from the start," he

With two days to go before he is sworn in, Bush was all over town. First off, he moved from the vice presidential mansion into lodgings closer to the White House, then set off on a schedule crammed with social events.

Later in the afternoon, Bush embraced the surviving crew members of the USS Finback, a World War II submarine which rescued him after he bailed out when his TBM Avenger torpedo bomber was struck by Japanese fire.

Bush, who has accorded the Finback veterans the choicest seats at several inaugural events, welcomed them to his temporary quarters at the Blair House to renew memories.

One renewed memory, according to retired Rear Adm. Lawrence Heyworth of Virginia Beach, Va., once the Finback's gunnery officer, was that the crew nicknamed Bush "Ellie" for "his outstanding imitation of an elephant trumpeting."

That wasn't the stunt of an aspiring Republican. Bush, then 20, merely had seen too many "Tarzan" movies in the wardroom.

The weather was as good at it gets in Washington in January - bright sunshine, temperatures in the 50s, and forecasters said the odds were good that it would hold through Friday's big outdoor events.

Committee reaches goal

Memorial financed

By Mary Ubel Collegian Reporter

The Vietnam Veterans Memorial committee has reached its $20,000 goal to finance the construction of the KSU Vietnam Veterans Memorial with significant contributions made by Student Senate and Manhattan radio station

"It was a gesture of good faith from the student body," said Todd Johnson, Senate chairman. "We are proud to have the memorial."

Johnson said students should do their part to help finance the memorial, which is to be located east of All-Faiths Chapel.

Senate decided last semester to donate $7,051 to the memorial fund, which was to be used to complete construction. This donation surpassed the committee's goal. The University agreed to pay for the maintenance of the grounds and urged Senate to help pay for damages to the memorial if any major vandalism occurs after it is

"If we are going to spend all this money to build the memorial, it should be maintained," Johnson

Manhattan radio station KQLA donated $1,486 for building the

"We try to support local community-type activities and the memorial was just one way to get involved," said Ed Klimek, general manager of KQLA.

Klimek said the station was heavily involved in the Kansas Vietnam Veterans Memorial in Junction City. The Kansas memorial cost about $70,000.

"(That) was a much larger project, and KQLA collected about $10,000 which was donated toward the campaign," he said.

Klimek said he was contacted by Bill Arck, adviser to the committee and director of the academic assistance center.

"We had just finished with the Junction City memorial fund raiser and it went so well that we were glad to help with the memorial on campus," Klimek said. Klimek said that during fund raisers, some people donated an additional $5 or $10 when they realized that the money was for the

The target date to complete the memorial is April 29, 1989.

"We don't have a general contractor picked yet, but we are taking bids," Arck said.

He said the Association of General Contractors will be heavily involved with the project.

"The $20,000 is only an approximation of the total cost for the memorial," Arck said. "It took approximately one-and-a-half years to raise the money and construction will finally begin."

三八川

TABLE TENNIS QUALIFYING TOURNAMENT

Double EliminationTournament

January 28,1989 10 a.m.

Union Ballrooms K,S, & U Entry fee: $3.00

Open to all KSU Students! Winners to represent K-State at the Regional Tournament in Lincoln, Nebraska.

Sign-up Deadline: Noon, Jan. 25. Sign up in Union Recreation Area,

16" PIZZA ONLY 599

one topping dine-in or free delivery with coupon expires Jan. 31 "premium pizza at a cardboard pizza price" 523 South 17th 537-1484

AVIATION CADET PROGRAM

Do you want to fly? Pilot training, ages 19-24, with Associate Degree or 60 semester hours for our Naval Aviation Cadet Program. Must be U.S. Citizen, physically qualified with a GPA 3.2. Call Naval Management placement office Mon.-Thurs., 9 a.m.-4 p.m. 1-800-821-5110.

8426 E. Hwy. 24 Manhattan, Kansas 66502 Mon.-Sat. 9:00-5:30 Sunday 1:00-5:00 Thurs. 9:00-8:30

SALE! SALE! SALE!

50% OFF Regular Price Large Selection of Men's Boots

Back cut Boa Boots Pendleton Shirts Corduroy & Wool Sportcoats Pendleton jackets Levi Denim Knit Slacks

Children's Boots

Sweaters Comfy down coats Ladies boots (except ropers)

Turquoise and Silver jewelry

Sale ends: 1/20/89

RUNNING DAWG==

Manhattan's newest athletic apparel/shoe store!

Reebok running shoes 25% OFF

Softball bats and gloves 25% OFF

·Sweats 1/2 OFF while they last

Converse Cons hi-top basketball shoes $34.99 Reg. $54.99

300 Poyntz · Downtown

776-4949

Enjoy smooth, creamy Frozen Yogurt

that tastes like Ice Cream but with 80% less fat!

YOGURT!

OPEN: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Daily Noon-11 p.m. Sundays Nautilus Towers-Aggieville

-- FREE SAMPLES-k-state union recreation area

Compatibility Defined

IBM-Com-pat'i-bil'i-ty adv. 1. Capable of existing together in harmony. 2. Able to use most common software; usu. of the business/research world. 3. Growth & flexibility. 4. Hyundai 16TE.

Introducing the Super 16TE PC-compatible.

Introducing a new level of IBM-compatibility, speed (10Mhz) and flexibility (5 expansion slots). Each Hyundai includes 640K memory, a "101" keyboard, full software (wp, spreadsheet, database), orientation, support and an 18 month warranty. Best of all- its backed by $20 billion Hyundai Corporation and your local Connecting Point Computer Center in Westloop Shop. Center. ☐ Super 16TE $ 1045. $ 735. 30%

1095. ☐ 2 drive, amber monitor 1299. ☐ 2 drive, color monitor 1495. ☐ 30Mb, amber monitor

☐ 30Mb, color monitor

* Based upon full system purchase. IBM is a reg. tm of IBM Corp.

1699.

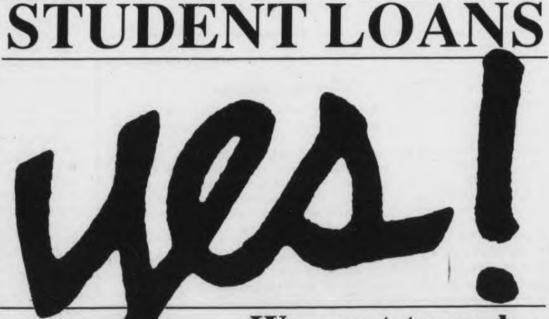

KSU's "Seoul" Authorized Hyundai Dealer

ConnectingPoint. 333 1115 Westloop Shop. Ctr 539-0801

Attention KSU Apple Purchasers:

Connecting Point's "Apple Team" has contracted to support KSU departmental and personal purchases. Call us for as-sistance in selecting systems, software solutions and order-ing your Mac. Connecting Point has a full line of Apple "Add-Ons" from disks to software to cases to drives.

KANSAS STATE BANK

We want to make your student loan!

Have the professionals at Kansas State Bank make your student loan. Simply contact us at:

537-4400

Lender Code #821176 1010 Westloop & 11th and Bluemont

Editorial

Kansas State Collegian Opinions ■ Thursday, January 19, 1989

New security plans help safeguard books

Students lugging their bookbags to the K-State Union Bookstore and Varney's Book Store in the process of buying books were in for a pleasant surprise during enrollment and registration — a safe place to store their bookbags as well as a new plan to circumvent book theft.

In the past, students who have gone through the book-buying process at the Union Bookstore may have suffered qualms about leaving their bookbags unattended at the entrance. The Union required leaving the bags outside the store entrance to help combat shoplifting and theft. However, the bags placed in open shelves were themselves prime targets for theft or cases of mistaken bookbag identity.

The money available to those appreciative.

selling back stolen textbooks encouraged theft, not only at the bookstore shelves but in other parts of campus as well. Despite having coin-operated lockers available, most students opted to risk using the shelves in the Union.

Starting this semester, however, the Union Bookstore has been stationing employees at the entrance to check bookbags in and out to minimize the risk of book theft.

Meanwhile, Varney's Book store is using a number coding system to make books identifiable. Thus, when stolen books are turned in, they can be traced to the original purchaser and the thief will be thwarted selves prime targets for theft or cases of mistaken bookbag identity.

At last, the two bookstores are providing a realistic service of which students can be especially appreciative.

Rights of free press to be observed today

It is easy to take many things in America for granted. Free trade, a representative government, freedom of speech and free press are just a few of the things for which our ancestors fought.

Despite their hard fight, it is unfortunate today that many people simply assume that these rights have been and always will be a part of American culture. Even today, all of these privileges must continue to be jealously guarded, lest they be taken away or disabled. from having faculty ediaprointed with prior review at the barriage appointed with prior review at the barr

Freedom of the press is one right that has been hanging precariously on the edge, with its supporters trying to fight off those who would seek control over it. Nowhere is this fight for press freedom more evident than in the student press, whether college or high school.

Although the Hazelwood vs. Kuhlmeier decision is supposed to apply only to high school students, and despite the fact that almost all legal decisions made prior to this decision have been in favor of the free college press, all college publications are still in danger of censorship and outside control.

The Student Press Law Center has received a marked increase in censorship complaints from college editors since the court decision — more than 350 this past year. Censorship problems ranged from having faculty editors appointed with prior review ability to having 4,000 issues of a student publication at the University of New Mexico stolen the day the newspaper publicly endorsed student government candidates.

College presses across the nation are fighting censorship problems that other newspapers not aligned with a university would never have to experience. It is essential that all presses remain free, no matter what the age of the editors, to continue to report the news without having biased outside censorship involved.

As today is Freedom of the Press Day and this month is Freedom of the College Press Month, it seems appropriate to take time to appreciate all the freedoms we enjoy, as well as fight ignorance and apathy, so that those freedoms will never be compromised.

Collegian Editorial Policies

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR are always encouraged. Those which pertain to matters of campus and/or public interest are especially encouraged, and are given the highest priority.

Letters should be kept as brief as possible, preferably under 300 words. Those who cannot condense their opinions should consider submitting their letter in the form of a guest column. All letters are subject to editing for space, style and taste.

GUEST COLUMNS are also encouraged. The column should be no longer than two double-spaced, typed pages. If the submission is used as a column and not a letter to the editor, it will be accompanied by the author's photograph.

SEND SUBMISSIONS to the Collegian in Kedzie 116.

UNSIGNED EDITORIALS represent the consensus opinion of the Collegian's editorial board. Opinion columns do not necessarily reflect the opinions of the Collegian management, Student Publications, Inc. or the newspaper staff in general.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

EDITOR	Janet Swans
	Susan L'Ecuy
	Erwin Se
COCONIAL DACK CO. CO.	Catherine Do
PRINCIPLE COLLOCK COLLOCK	······································
	Chris Ha
or oritio restroit	Todo Schu
	Barbara Baker, Kale Baldock, Catherine Doud, Susan L'Ecury
	Brian Hursmell, Dwayne Lively, Scott Miller, Michael Nichols, Paula Sell nborn, Mark Schmelter, Erwin Seba, Robert R. Short, Brett Stransthan, Janet Swans
tions Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhatta Monday and Thursday during sum	5 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Public n, Kan. 66508. The Collegian is published Mondey through Friday during the school year ar ner sessions. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502, nges to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Ma ted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, Kedzie Hall 116. and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word adve
tiang questions should be directed	ID (813) 075-6000'
	Kansas State Collegian Subscription Rates
One Semester (Fall or Spring)
Two Semesters (Fall and Spring)
One Year (Fall, Spring and Summi	0
T.	charge by VISA or MasterCard call (913) 532-6555

Holiday deserves respect his week we are honoring and celebrating the legacy of Martin Luther King Jr. He was indeed a great man who set the standards for social equality, justice and love.

During the past months I've been remembering one of last year's convocations, in which the executive editor of Ebony magazine, Lerone Bennett Jr., offered some important advice. He said if we do not strive to live and follow King's dream every day of our lives, then we assassinate King and his dream all over again.

Because Bennett's advice is still very valid and important, we should ask ourselves two critical questions. Does each and every one of us strive to live King's dream every day in our attitudes and beliefs? Are these supposedly liberal, progressive 1980s an example of King's dream?

I think we should answer these questions in the way King always did, so that we avoid false optimism and destructive pessimism. In the words of King, "We have come a long, long way but we still have a long, long way to go before we have a truly integrated and just society."

There has been some hope given to King's dream. Black Americans have made gains on the political agenda. Atlanta Mayor Andrew Young, Congressional Delegate Walter Fauntroy and Atlanta City Councilman Hosea Williams are only a few of the black politicians and leaders who continue to crusade for equality and human rights.

Another political inspiration has been the candidacy of the Rev. Jesse Jackson for the highest government office, president of the United States. Because of Jackson's inspiring campaign, many younger Americans, whether they be Spanish, Chinese, Indian, Japanese or Jewish, now realize that if they set their goals and work hard to achieve them, they can dream and aim to be anything they where we will see any other state it will be desired to the want, even president of the United States. We should not forget our local political accomplishments as students at K-State. Laurian Cuffy recently became the second black student body president in the history of this university. Cuffy built his campaign on the unity and growth of a diversified student body and a clear vision of King's dream.

Collegian Columnist

Although the improvements of minority portrayals in the media are minor, they are also worth mentioning. Programs like "The Cosby Show," "227" and "A Different World" show black Americans in positive, family relationships, seeking higher education and careers.

"21 Jump Street" continues to address racism and interracial dating. A movie called "Betrayed" explores closet bigotry and shows how deceitful and menacing it is when it's finally revealed. All these programs, in their own way, give insights to the many dimensions of black culture.

e must not overlook the weeds in the flower garden, though. There is still a long, long way to go. Whether it be television or movies, there is still a shortage of minority actors. Even with the thought-provoking programs, some shows still portray minorities according to a prescribed stereotype.

I mentioned the inspirational presidential candidacy of Jesse Jackson, yet there were still people — black and white — who insisted it wasn't time for a black person to run for president. How much time does it take? Time is indefinite and if we continue to wait passively, time remains indefinite. King once said, "The people on the wrong side in our nation, the extreme rightists of our nation, have often used time more effectively than the people of good will."

When it comes to interracial relationships, whether they be friendship or romantic, there are frowns, stares, insulting remarks, degrading labels, and individuals being disowned by family and friends because they refuse to stay in safe, exclusive race boundaries. There is also racial ambivalence.

People will say, "One of my best friends is a minority," or "I believe in Martin Luther King and his dream." Then in the next breath they will make an insulting remark about minorities or stress that they don't want anyone in their family to date interracially. In the area of interracial friendships and relationships, we have an extra long way to go before we ever realize King's dream.

We also have people who are afraid to speak out for what they believe in. Instead they stay in safe, exclusive race circles and say and do what pleases their family and friends. We can never change or improve our world if we are afraid of being called crazy or maladjusted for our beliefs.

ing was never afraid to stand up for what he believed. He once said, "Through maladjustments, we will be able to emerge from the bleak and desolate midnight of man's inhumanity to man to the bright and glittering daybreak of freedom and justice."

It is wonderful that we have a national holiday to honor King and his dream, but it means nothing if we forget him after the week of Jan. 16. From what I've read about him, he would have wanted us to do everything we can to make the world better each day we live, not just one day or one week.

HE'S CHANGED HIS MIND... HE SAYS WHO CAN RETIRE ON THESE REAGAN SOCIAL SECURITY CUTS ?...

Phone service unnecessary

n this here year of our Lord, nineteen hundred and eighty-nine, there is too much information about the really mundane questions of daily life, but not enough answers.

There ain't enough phone sex either.
Anyone lucky enough to have the new Manhattan-Junction City Directory, published by Woodward Publications Inc. of Lawrence, can let their fingers do the walking through a quagmire of data and entertainment called Cityline, a new service sponsored by area businesses.

Although filled with information, the service doesn't give answers to important questions — like "What the hell is an Ichabod, anyway?" No one really cares about the movies of superhunk Mark Harmon. And, the service definitely needs more sex.

Dial 537-3279 and Cityline is at your disposal. The number, 537-3279, is also 537-EASY. Naturally, everybody in the tricounty area figures it's a phone sex line. Sadly, it is just another way to keep everyone from venturing out of their electronic cottages.

In this service there are no quasi-English speaking, teen-age girls begging to be spanked, nor are there tight-lipped grade school librarian types to scold a bad, bad boy, not even a single leather-clad dominatrix wielding a cat o' nine tails. Nope, nothing of the sordid sort.

So, what's the point? The meaty but funloving phone guys don't hook up private lines so consumers can rise above the gutter. Heck no, they hook up lines so we can wallow in filth in the privacy of our homes. This is

After dialing the number, the callers — assuming they have push-button telephones — must enter a four-digit code to hook up to one of the more than 600 information lines.

There is some sex, but not enough. The birth control stuff is better than a cold shower. They make condoms sound boring (which they are), and after hearing the respective info lines, I will never ever wear a diaphragm or an intrauterine device. There is a line about

Commentary

Chad L. Sanborn Collegian Columnist

vasectomies, but I was afraid to call.

All men should avoid the depressing prostate cancer line. Basically it says that if you don't die of something else first, you are going to get it. And, if they remove the little bugger, well, let's just say the equipment will not need a vasectomy.

Another health line, smoking and exercise, provided me with another excuse not to work out. It didn't mention how hard it is to run with a Camel Light in your mouth, but it did say something about how smoking and exercise are more life-threatening than just smoking. Yeah, no more guilt.

lmost as exciting as a "Murder, She Wrote" episode, an up-to-the-minute mayhem line provided by WIBW news provides callers with all the latest news. And you gotta hear weather guru Andy Weingarten, he of the shellac hairdo, speak through his nostrils over the phone.

Killer, man.

An info line on the National Football League provides some silly happenings around the league, but no odds or point spreads. There is also a National Basketball Association info line, but there is no need to call it until the playoffs anyway.

The phone line for ordering K-State basketball tickets does not even provide hints as to the section in which people are allowed to stand when they cheer — you know, like at every other university, junior college, high school, junior high and Montessori preschool in this last domain of free expression we call the United States of America.

Entertainment-wise, there are info lines to cover the entire spectrum of dull. There is the extremely hick top 10 country singles line, complete with inaudible AM radio-sounding blurbs, and a top 10 hottest hits line to renew your disgust with top-40 radio, malls and stone-washed jeans.

Also, the rock tracks line keeps kids in the know about their favorite singers/bands and the drugs they are shooting. (Hey, c'mon, lighten up ... that ... that was only a joke.)

Those who took offense to that joke might possibly bust a gut at the Bazooka Joe-esque humor of the daily joke line, which is "updated daily with a good clean joke."

Probably the most annoying line is the jumbo comedy minute. For 90 seconds (get it, jumbo minute, ha!) some geek is turned loose to rattle on about answering machines, mothers-in-law and anything else except sex. This is the only phone call that needs a laugh track. Take my phone, please!

he soap opera line does manage to get across the point of your favorite soap, though much of the symbolism, and sex, is lost.

The cocaine info line, no pun intended, pretty much gives you the history, slang and location of the drug. If you wait on the line long enough, a sleazy-sounding Bolivian hombre comes on the line saying reassuringly: "I got none, but I can geet some. Relax, iz a sure theeng."

That's enough, call it yourself if you want more of this new service, which is just another reason for everyone to sit at home and veg. It underestimates the human spirit. Ironically, there is a line to check and see if you have spirit.

As we prepare for the 1990s, we are learning to stay afloat in a sea of information. People used to talk of newspapers dying out and readers getting direct news feeds to their home computers. Luckily for newspapers, no one ever stopped to consider the problem of lugging a home computer to the commode.

Because this service is just another spillway for others to belch forth more useless information into our lives, it may or may not survive. But one thing is for sure, it doesn't have enough sex.

Book checker

Emergency employee Pat Armour, Wamego, stores a bookbag for a K-State Union Bookstore customer Wednesday afternoon. Bag checkers have been hired to check in customers' bags outside the Children return to school in aftermath of shooting

By The Associated Press

STOCKTON, Calif. - Children returned to class to confront their fears with help from psychologists Wednesday, just one day after a gunman fascinated by toy soldiers killed five youngsters at the school he attended as a boy.

Blood was washed from the pavement overnight and bullet holes were patched at Cleveland Elementary School, where experts said it was important that pupils, mostly children of Southeast Asian refugees, deal with the trauma immediately.

"I still feel upset, but I have to bring my kid to see the teacher to let the teacher know my kid's all right," Brom Lee said in broken English. "Everybody's angry. Your kid there, you get angry too."

His daughter, 7-year-old Nary, said she was scared to return because "I saw blood." Holding tightly to her father's hand, she pointed to her leg and said, "I saw somebody get shot right here."

Police said Patrick Edward Purdy, wearing an olive drab shirt bearing the Iranian battle cry "Death to the Great Satin," on Tuesday sprayed more than 100 shots from an assault rifle, killing five youngsters ages 6 to 9 and wounding 30 other people.

A drifter who police said was either 24 or 26, Purdy killed himself with a pistol shot to the head after the mute, methodical attack during

"Why he did this we may never know," said Capt. Dennis Perry. "We can only assume that some problem came up in this guy that made him do it. Obviously, he had a military hangup."

Carved into the stock of Purdy's rifle was the word Hezbollah, Iranian for Party of God. Hezbollah is the name of a Shiite Moslem faction in Lebanon. Also carved into the rifle were the words "freedom" and "victory."

Perry said the man, in the days leading up to the bloodbath, lived in a motel room where officers found a broken rifle, about 100 toy soldiers scattered about and an olive drab cloth on which were drawn "three snarling-type faces."

Records indicate that a Patrick Edward Purdy attended Cleveland Elementary through third grade, from 1969 to 1973, said district spokesman John Klose.

As police pieced together his past, psychologists met with the children as they returned to class today. Volunteers, some speaking Cambodian or Laotian, were expected to act as translators.

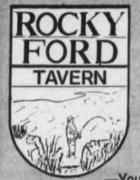

Bouquets were placed atop the school sign on the lawn, and five red roses were laid at its base. Across the street, a 9-foot paper sign read, 'Racists Are Ugly - Let's Stop Them."

Perry said the only contact his department had with Purdy before Tuesday was in 1986, when his mother called to complain that he and his half brother had vandalized her car after she refused demands for drug money.

Purdy had a long police record, most of it in the Los Angeles area, Perry said. Charges involved prostitution, marijuana, manufacture or sale of an illegal weapon, receiving stolen property and robbery, authori-

Perry said Purdy served jail time in at least the last two cases.

Coupons and personals - what else is needed?

Old Milwaukee Light Nite $1.99 Pitchers

"It just doesn't get any better than this" No Dress Code No Cover Charge

-Your Discount Beer Barn-

Go North on Tuttle Creek Blvd., then right on Barnes Rd. You can't miss it.

"The Finest Little Tavern By a Dam Site"

537-3133

Drive To Mexico In 10 Minutes!

That's about how long it takes to get from the K-State campus to Raoul's Escondido on the west side of Manhattan. Once you're there, you'll see why we call

You'll be treated to an all-you-can-eat buffet filled with authentic mexican food made from family recipes. It's fast, it's convenient, and best of all, it's inexpensive; just $4.50 every day for lunch!

When you're ready for a taste of authentic Mexico, remember, you can drive a short 10 minutes to Raoul's Escondido, or you can drive 915 miles south!

COME SEE US TODAY!

Raoul's

Escondido

215 Seth Childs Rd.—Manhattan

Hours: Daily: 10 a.m. until one hour prior to store closing; Sunday (who open): store opening until one hour prior to store closing. 5 Days Only! Wednesday, January 18 through Sunday, January 22 MANHATTAN, KS.

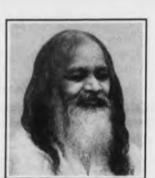

nied by an adult. "Appro

628 TUTTLE CREEK BLVD. BRING IN ANY LOWER-PRICED

ADVERTISED OFFER AND WE'LL MATCH IT

EVERY PAIR OF SALE SHOES HAVE BEEN SLASHED IN PRICE! Jomens Shoes Mens Shoes Boots Childrens Shoes CLOSEOUTS Mens, Womens, Youth WERE 1800 to 4800 WERE 10% to 50% OFF WERE 1200 to 3800 WERE 28[∞] to 68[∞] WERE 910 NOW NOW NOW NIGHTS 10-8 MTWTF OPEN SUNDAYS While they last McCall's Shoes THEY GO! YOU SAVE! 313 Poyntz

TRANSCENDENTAL MEDITATION

now what you are and act from your full potential."

Maharishi Mahesh Yogi Founder of the Transcendental Meditation program

What Is TM?

TM is a simple, natural, easily-learned mental technique that is practiced for 15 to 20 minutes twice daily sitting comfortably in a chair with eyes closed. During TM, the mind enjoys a settled state of inner wakefulness, pure consciousness, while the body gains a unique state of deep rest. The TM program, founded 30 years ago by Maharishi Mahesh Yogi, is a practical technique. It does not require any specific beliefs or lifestyle.

Eighteen Years of Research

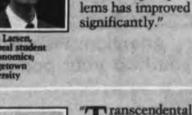

More than 350 scientific studies conducted in the past 18 years at 160 independent research institutions have shown that TM benefits all areas of life: mind, body, behavior, and environment.

TM LECTURE

Thursday Jan. 19 7:30 pm University Inn (across from campus)

© 1988 American Association for Ideal Education. All rights reserved. Transcendental Meditation* and TM* are service marks of the World Plan Executive Council—United States, a non-profit educational organization. Maharish

Transcendental Meditation brings the wisdom

TM develops creativity and broad comprehension. My ability to solve complex prob-

of the ages into modern day life. It's a practical technique for unfolding the mind's full potential."

"My M is a posi-1 tive addition to life that makes people feel better about themselves. TM helps you to be calmer, improves your outlook, and helps you study."

Once you start TM, you have more of what every college student needs—peace of mind. You find yourself on top of things and in control of everyday situations."

TM has done more for my intellectual development than any other course that I've taken."

Board approves plan

Funds allocated to At-Risk program

By Chris Koger Staff Writer

The Manhattan Unified School District #383 Board of Education approved more than $3,600 in funds for the Eugene Field Elementary School At-Risk Proposal.

The at-risk proposal is a program designed to improve the ability of the schools to successfully retain highrisk students through graduation.

Teresa Northern, principal of Eugene Field Elementary School, said it is important not to permanently label children who are having trouble in school. At the same time, she said, it is also important to develop programs that will keep them interested in classes.

"It is never too early to recognize children who need extra help and implement a program for them," Northern said. "These programs help (students) cope with problems in their life, whether they are socio-economic problems or family developments.

problems." Northern said at-risk programs should be implemented at all levels of learning. The school board has already allocated funds for six district schools, including Manhattan High and Bluemont Elementary

The school board plans to review fund requests for at-risk programs in other district schools at future meetings, Northern said.

These types of programs may help students who might later drop out of high school, she said.

The sooner we get them interested in their school work, the better chance there is they will finish school," Northern said.

According to the school board's published agenda, funds allocated to Eugene Field Elementary School will go toward a media center aide, an on-site production lab and other

The board also reviewed the kindergarten through 12th grade science and health curriculum scope and sequence report that is completed every seven years to update the methods and classes used in teaching

Paul Sodamann, chairman for the scope and sequence report committee and a science teacher, said there hasn't been a major change in the science classes offered. District students have consistently scored high in science on achievement tests.

'We do look at this area because it is important, but there really isn't a problem there," Sodamann said.

Joleen Hill, board member, expressed concern that some students fulfill their high school science requirements early.

"I see many of our students taking

■ See SCHOOL, Page 10

Debaters ranked third

By Janette Poole Collegian Reporter

An old cliche states there are two sides to every story, but the K-State debate team has been busy persuading its competition its side of the argument is the right side.

This semester's debate topic asks if an increase in restrictions on the civilian possesion of handguns in the United States would be justified. The topic is used by collegiate debate teams throughout the United States.

Because so much inflammatory material exists about the subject, the topic has given debaters a slight problem, said Edward Schiappa, K-State debate coach.

However, the K-State team is "a better than average research team .. in fact most schools in the country would agree to that point," he

The team is ranked third in the nation by the Cross-Examination Debate Association, which ranks collegiate teams once a month.

"If you want to go where the tough competition is, come to the Midwest," said Mary Keehner, one of three graduate assistants who serves as an assistant debate coach.

The Midwest region includes teams from Illinois, Kansas, Missouri, Minnesota and Oklahoma.

The team of David Filippi, sophomore in economics, and Rich McCollum, sophomore in philosophy, will be competing this week in a round robin, invitation-only tournament at Weber State in Ogden, Utah. Schiappa said the tournament invites eight or nine teams each year. K-State placed fourth last year and he is expecting to place in the top two this year.

"We have beaten the best teams that have been there," Schiappa

Following the Weber State tournament, three K-State teams will compete against more than 100 teams in a national tournament in Salt Lake City, Utah. During the weekend, five teams will travel to Central Missouri State in Warrensburg, Mo., for competition in a 20-team tournament. Keehner said this year's squad is very talented.

"There is enough to spread around ... we're good enough to divide and conquer," she said.

K-State received a first-place rating at a 50-team competition at William Jewell College Friday and

The team of Filippi and McCollum won first place in varsity. K-State's other teams placed fourth and fifth to round out the first-place

Restaurant

Home Cooking

Buffet, Salad, Dessert Bar-All you can eat,

Mon.-Sat. 11-2, 4:30-8

Hours

Plus Full Menu

11-9 p.m. Hwy. 24 East

Daily Sandwich Special - Freshly Made Steak Sandwich with French Fries $1.75

Going Out of Business 20-75% off Everything

"Legos, Construx, Fisher-Price, Stuffed Animals, Model Trains, Rockets, Puzzles and many, many more" Everything Must Go (fixtures included)

Manhattan Hobbies & Toys

317 A Poyntz, Downtown

Sun. Only

Store Hours: Mon.-Sat. 9:30-5:30, Thurs. 9:30-8, Sun. 1-5

Tonight

Pitchers • Wells Kami Shots

No cover before 8 p.m.

1120 Moro • 18 To Enter-21 To Drink • 537-951

H NORINKER

Comedy Invasion

Next Mon., Tues. and Wednesday - 9 p.m.

Pat Paulsen

·Smothers Brothers Comedy Hour

TONIGHT Mixed Drinks

$1.75 Pitchers $2.75

No Cover

 Presidential Candidate ·All Major TV Talk Shows Winemaker

•Mayor/Owner of Asti, Calif. "I've upped my standards ...

NOW UP YOURS" Before 3 p.m. -Pat Paulsen Campaign '88 After 3 p.m.

539-4321

531 N. Manhattan

539-9727

"LIVING THE DREAM"

-IN SOUTH AFRICA -APARTHEID

WORSHIP

11 a.m., SUNDAY DANFORTH CHAPEL

DIALOGUE WITH KEHLA MOLULI. REFUGEE STUDENT FROM SOUTH AFRICA COMMUNION: IN SOLIDARITY

Sponsored by LUTHERAN CAMPUS MINISTRY, 1021 DENISON, 539-4451

Vista's NEW 49¢ Hamb

Served with ketchup, mustard, pickle, and onion. Cheese and bacon extra.

Available for a limited time!

Manhattan • Lawrence • Topeka

What's the

1911 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

Attention: Please read the following letter if you had your portrait taken for the Royal Purple.

Yearbook

Dear Kansas State student:

On behalf of both our company and the Royal Purple yearbook I apologize for your inconvenience and the confusion caused by our mistaken insertion of a notice with some of your proof sets.

The notice requested that some students pay a $5.00 fee to have their selected Lose included in the yearbook. This was a mistake! There is no additional charge to any Kansas State student to appear in the yearbook.

If you are one of the students that received the "$5.00 notice", please disregard it! All you need do is mark the pose of your choice (simply write "YEARBOOK" on the back) and return all of the proofs to us at:

> Yearbook Associates P.O. Box 91 Millers Falls, MA 01349

You must return all of your proofs promptly!

If you've already returned your proofs and you did pay the $5.00, It will be refunded to you!

Of course we hope you'll be happy with your proofs and will choose to order a personal portrait package. But you are under no obligation to do so. If you were photographed your picture will appear in the yearbook.

If you have any questions you may either call me at the above number, or our customer service department at (413) 863-9714. Remember, I'm in Washington State, our customer service is in Massachusets, please make allowances for the different time zones.

Again, my personal apologies for the confusion.

Sincerely,

Janel May G James S. Mays, I Regional Director

(206) 355-8887

8805 46th Place West Mukilteo, WA 98275

about Godfather's Pizza?™

GODFA

The taste, the toppings...and these terrific moneysaving coupons!

539-5303

1118 Laramie Aggieville

Two Large Pepperoni Pizzas only $10.99

Present this coupon and receive TWO large pepproni pizzas for only $10.99. WE DELIVER

Lunch Buffet only $3.75

Present this coupon and receive ONE all you care to eat lunch buffet and a free refill soft drink for only $3.75.

Monday-Friday, lunch time only.

$7.99 Large $5.99 Medium

Present this coupon and receive a large single topping Original pizza for only $7.99 or a medium for only $5.99.

WE DELIVER

Kansas State Collegian ■ Thursday, January 19, 1989 ■ Page 7

'Cats find groove, dump Colorado 98-84

Staft/Christopher T. Assaf

University of Colorado guard Steve Wise blocks a shot made by K-State center Fred McCoy during the second half of Wednesday's game at Bramlage Coliseum. McCoy scored 12 points and made 11 rebounds for the 'Cat's first Big Eight win.

By Chris Wilhelm Sports Writer

The K-State Wildcats resembled one of the higher-scoring teams in the Big Eight Conference as they knocked off Colorado 98-84 in Bramlage Coliseum Wednesday night, running their conference record to 1-1.

K-State, now 10-4 overall, pulled away from the Buffaloes with 9:30 left to play and never looked back. Trailing by seven points at halftime, Colorado fought back to a 65-65 tie with 10:30 remaining. But the 'Cats outscored Colorado 29-7 over the next eight-and-a-half minutes to take a commanding 94-72 lead with 1:53 left to play. "This was a good game for us in that so many players stepped forward and filled different roles," K-State coach Lon Kruger said. "At the nine-minute mark it could have gone either way. We had some players step up and hit a couple shots to give us a six-point cushion and we rolled from there.

"This was a good all-around team effort. We really needed a win like this. The kids

Six 'Cats reached double figures as K-State scored its highest point total of the season. Previously, the Wildcats' best offensive output occurred in a victory against Utah State on Nov. 30 when they scored 86 points.

Taking game-high scoring honors was Steve Henson, who tallied 26 points on 11-for-19 shooting accuracy from the floor (one-for-three from three-point range) and three-for-four from the free-throw line. Henson also led the 'Cats in the assist department with 11 and had only one turnover.

The Wildcats also out-rebounded the Buffaloes 36 to 24, with 13 of the Wildcats' rebounds coming on the offensive half of the court. Fred McCoy had 11 rebounds to lead

Reggie Britt, nagged with the flu up until game time, also had a big night for the 'Cats, scoring 14 points on six-for-six shooting from the field and two-for-two shooting from the charity stripe.

"After I got my first two or three shots to go down I forgot all about not feeling well," said Britt, whose health was questionable up until game time.

Shaun Vandiver scored 24 points for Colorado on nine-for-14 shooting from the field and six-for-eight shooting from the freethrow line. Vandiver also added four rebounds and five assists in the losing effort. Dan Becker led Colorado in rebounds with five and Reggie Morton tallied eight assists to lead the Buffs.

"Vandiver did a good job no matter who we put on him," Kruger said. "Lance (Simmons) did a good job on him and he still scored 24 points. We made him work pretty hard, but he's a great player." A key to the K-State victory was the minimum number of turnovers, as they turned the ball over only six times in the contest. Monday, the Wildcats committed 25 turnovers in their victory over Southern Utah State.

"The thing I've been concerned with lately is how I've been opening the game," Henson said. "LaKeith (Humphrey) and I need to set a good tone and pace about things early in the game. We made some good plays early with a good pace and I only had one turnover tonight.

"(The low amount of turnovers) is what I'm most impressed about. We were able to play aggressive and still keep the number of turnovers down. We had six in the whole game tonight and I probably had that many myself last game," Henson said.

"There weren't too many lulls in our effort tonight," Kruger said. "We played aggressively both offensively and defensively tonight. The biggest thing is the number of players that stepped forward. We always have a few every game who step forward, but tonight we had several and that's definitely what we need."

K-STATE (98)

Britt 6-6 2-2 14, Dobbins 4-5 0-0 10, McCoy 4-12 4-8 12, Humphrey 3-8 2-2 8, Henson 11-19 3-4 26, Massop 5-8 0-0 10, Smith 4-8 3-4 11, Fritz 0-0 2-3 2, Simmons 2-2 1-2 5, Standfield 0-0 0-0 0, Maydew 0-1 0-0 0, Weigel 0-0 0-0 0. Totals 39-69 17-25 98. COLORADO (84)

B. Robinson 6-10 3-3 15, Guest 1-2 1-2 3, Vandiver 9-14 6-8 24, Wise 5-12 0-0 12, Morton 4-8 0-0 9, Becker 2-5 2-4 6, Penix 1-3 0-0 3, Vaughn 1-1 0-0 2, R. Robinson 0-1 1-2 1, Molis 1-2 0-0 2, Kuosman 1-1 0-0 3, Markham 1-1 2-2 4. Totals 32-60 15-21

Halftime - K-State 48, Colorado 41. Three-point goals - K-State 3-6 (Henson 1-3, Dobbins 2-3) Colorado 5-13 (Wise 2-6, Morton 1-3, Becker 0-1, Penix 1-2, Kuosman 1-1). Fouled out - none. Rebounds — K-State 36 (McCoy 11), Colorado 24 (Becker 5). Assists - K-State 25 (Henson 11), Clorado 21 (Morton 8). Total fouls - K-State 12, Colorado 20. A-12,117.

Big	Eight Conferen	ce Stand	lings
	Big 8	Pct.	Total	Pct.
Oklahoma	2-0	1.000	14-2	.875
Missouri	2-0	1.000	15-3	.833
Oklahoma St.	1-0	1.000	10-4	.714
x-Kansas	2-1	.666	14-3	.823
K-State	1-1	.500	10-4	.714
Iowa State	1-2	.333	9-5	.643
Nebraska	0-2	.000	10-4	.714
Colorado	0-2	.000	5-10	.333
x-Ineligible for	post-season play	0.0
	Games This	Week
	All times list	ed CST

Saturday, Jan. 21 Oklahoma St. at Missouri, 1:10 p.m. Oklahoma at lowa State, 3:10 p.m. K-State at Nebraska, 8:05 p.m. Kansas at Colorado, 8:05 p.m.

Monday, Jan. 23 Wyoming at Nebraska, 7:35 p.m.

Wednesday, Jan. 24

Missouri at Maryland, 7:05 p.m.

Proposed

Inexperience again haunts Lady Cats in 82-75 loss

From Staff and Wire Reports Columbia, Mo. - The K-State women's basketball team was overcome by inexperience at Missouri Wednesday night and let a five-point lead with just over four minutes remaining slip away, as the Lady Tigers rallied for an 82-75 victory.

'We played like a young and inexperienced team in the last five minutes," Lady Cats' coach Matilda Mossman said. "We were proud of our effort. We just couldn't get the job done when the game was on the

With 4:34 remaining, and K-State on top, 68-63, Missouri went on a 19-7 run to finish the ball game to hand the Lady Cats their second straight Big Eight Conference loss.

By Brett Stranathan

Contributing Writer

After three months at Bramlage

Coliseum, K-State men's basketball coach Lon Kruger and his staff decided in early December to move back to Ahearn Field House. Kruger said that in Bramlage, the basketball offices were too far away from until practice time. We used to always see them between classes.

"We just weren't seeing the kids

Newer isn't always better.

The Lady Tigers scored 18 of their Matteucci scored 11. final 22 points from the free-throw line and all of their free throws came in the second half.

Going into the game, Mossman voiced concern about how many times the Lady Cats were sending the opposition to the line, and her team responded in the first half. But in the second half, Mizzou went to the line 31 times, sinking 24.

The Lady Cats pulled within four points, 79-75, after a Mary Jo Miller three-pointer at the 22 second mark. That was as close as they were to get, as Missouri pulled out its third conference win in as many tries.

Miller led the Lady Cats with 22 points, while Ameetrice Cobb got 13, Kristie Bahner had 12, and Rita

LADY CATS (75) Matteucci 3-75-611, D. Miller 4-81-29, Bahner 4-89 4-4 12, M. J. Miller 7-12 7-8 22, Hazim 4-12 0-0 8, Funk 0-0 0-0 0, Cobb 6-11 1-1 13, Davidson 0-2 0-1 0, Boyle 0-0 0-0 0, Totals 28-60 18-22 75. MISSOURI (82)

Prophete 12-26 4-5 28, Lisa Sandbothe 3-8 5-6 11, Primuf 3-6 4-4 10, Jorgenson 4-11 5-8 13, Brooks 2-6 0-0 4, Yancey 4-106-6 14, Bax 1-30-0 2, Field 0-10-20, Lori Sandbothe 0-0 0-0 0, Totals 29-71

Halftime K-State 38, Missouri 32 3-point goals - K-State 1-1 (M. J. Miller 1-1), Missouri 0-1 (Prophete 0-1). Rebounds - K-State 33 (D. Miller 7), Missouri 47 (Prophete 13). Assists — K-State 16 (M. J. Miller 5), Missouri 13 (Prophete 5). Total fouls — K-State 23, Missouri 16. Fouled out — Matteucci, Bahner and Funk. Technicals - K-State bench.

Sports Briefly

Tar Heels stomp No. 1 Duke

DURHAM, N.C. - Scott Williams sparked North Carolina's inside game, scoring 22 points to lead the 13th-ranked Tar Heels to a stunning 91-71 upset of top-ranked Duke in an Atlantic Coast Conference game Wednesday night.

Duke suffered its first loss of the season after 13 victories and fell to 3-1 in the ACC. The Tar Heels, who dropped a 23-point decision at Virginia last Sunday, clogged the inside and shut down Duke's offense. With Danny Ferry nursing a sore back, the Blue Devils didn't fare much better from the perimeter, either. North Carolina, 15-4 and 2-1 in the ACC, pounded the boards on both ends to take charge. Of their 14 baskets in the second half, only one was a jumper from beyond 10 feet. Running up a 10-point lead midway through the first half,

North Carolina held a 39-34 halftime lead. After the Tar Heels took a timeout, North Carolina came back with six straight points. Duke answered with three baskets of its own, the last a 3-pointer by Phil Henderson with 14:50 left, for a 50-45 lead.

Peterson: List narrowed to 7

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - Carl Peterson, president and general manager of the Kansas City Chiefs, says he hopes to have a head coach selected by the end of the week.

Peterson said, however, he would probably not announce his selection until after the Super Bowl.

Peterson interviewed Atlanta receivers coach Jimmy Raye on Tuesday. Raye is the only black candidate on what Peterson said was a list of seven candidates.

He previously interviewed former Cleveland head coach Marty Schottenheimer, Bears defensive coordinator Vince Tobin, Rams quarterback coach Dick Coury, Falcons assistant head coach-defense Fred Bruney, 49ers defensive coordinator George Seifert and Dick Vermeil, former head coach at Philadelphia.

Lions hire Gansz, Widenhofer

PONTIAC, Mich. - The Detroit Lions on Wednesday named former Missouri coach Woody Widenhofer as defensive coordinator and former Kansas City Chiefs coach Frank Gansz as special teams

Coach Wayne Fontes made the announcement in Mobile, Ala., where he was attending practices for this weekend's Senior Bowl

Widenhofer, who turns 46 on Friday, was head coach at Missouri for the past four seasons after one season as coach of the Oklahoma Outlaws of the United States Football League.

Gansz, 50, posted an 8-22-1 record the past two seasons as head coach of the Kansas City Chiefs.

tie-breaker voted down

by NCAA By The Associated Press MISSION - An NCAA committee has voted down a proposal to establish a tie-breaker for football. Big Ten coaches were pushing the idea after six of the 12 Division I ties last season were in that conference.

The tie-breaker under consideration would have given each team four downs from the 25-yard line of their opponent. The teams would have alternated possessions until one scored. The other team would then have been given the opporunity to

The Rules Committee voted down the proposal during its annual meeting, which ended Wednesday in Marco Island, Fla.

In other action, the committee: Eliminated the use of tees on field goals and point-after attempts.

Gave teams the option of having penalties that are assessed after a touchdown enforced on either the point-after try or the succeeding kickoff. Penalties previously were assessed only on the succeeding kickoff.

Voted to have the ball blown dead if a player simulates being down.

Voted to call unsportsmanlike conduct if a player points his finger, arm or hand at an opponent.

Made 25-second field clocks mandatory by 1990.

■ Voted to penalize defensive teams 5 yards after the first timeout when offensive teams are unable to put the ball into play because of crowd noise.

Those are important visits because they keep everyone in touch," Kruger said. "I know that sounds crazy, but I felt it was important enough to do that."

The players seem to agree with their coach.

"It was harder for us to see him when he was in Bramlage," said junior guard Steve Henson. "(It is) nice to go see (Kruger) when you have an hour to spare and you don't have to go that far. It was something he (wanted) to do, so it was fine with Henson's counterpart at guard, LaKeith Humphrey, agreed.

"It's fine with me. It's a little more convenient and easier to get to than having to come out (to) Bramlage."

The actual moving occurred during the recent holiday break. Although there were no objections from the Athletic Department, Kruger said he had no doubts that most people wondered why he and his staff made the move.

"When you move out of a brandnew building, questions arise, but it needed to be done for communications purposes," he said.

Even though moving to Ahearn gives the coaching staff the convenience of being close to campus and the players, disadvantages exist.

First, the basketball staff had to uger moves back to Ahearn give up its brand-new offices. Kruger's Bramlage offices have already been reoccupied by women's basketball coach Matilda Mossman and her staff. The Lady Cats' offices were given to Associate Athletic Director Veryl Switzer and K-State volleyball coach Scott Nelson and his staff.

The second disadvantage happens every day when Kruger and his staff have to commute to Bramlage for practice. The third-year coach said it is more convenient to have his office at the coliseum, which is also where the athletic department is housed. Kruger said it is easy to lose contact with the other departments.

"Bramlage was great. We hated to leave," he said.

Finally, even though the offices the staff now occupies were previously the athletic department's administrative offices, Kruger said it is still not as spacious as Bramlage.

By Unda Kleiner Collegian Reporter

Three years of dedication and hard work at the potting wheel have earned Donald Hummels, professor of electrical and computer engineering, his first one-man ceramics show.

Hummels' ceramics and containers are on display from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. through Friday in the Ambry Gallery located in West Stadium.

Hummels said he was apprehensive about his one-man show but feels it portrays an inner accomplishment.

"There is so much to learn," he said. "Working with pottery is relaxing, challenging and rewarding."

Hummels' family has collected different pottery pieces while on family trips, and he said he believes his curiosity stems from his interest as a collector.

"I was really fascinated when I saw a potter working on a potter's wheel," Hummels said. "That's when I thought I might enjoy ceramics and wanted to try my hand at it."

Hummels began his hobby, making pottery, three years ago. In the evenings and during weekends he would create his wares on a homemade potter's wheel and fire them in his kiln.

His kiln uses a down-draft design of lightweight fire brick and hard fire brick. It contains four burners operated by propane gas. The 20-cubicfoot kiln door is made of a double row of lightweight fire brick. The bricks are stacked and unstacked each time the kiln is loaded.

It takes Hummels and his wife, Kay, three hours to load the kiln with about 35 wares and about 14 hours to fire the pottery.

He said expectations and hopes build as he works on the pots.

"It's like Christmas every time I open (the kiln)," he said.

Last summer Hummels mixed 900 pounds of clay, formed 25-pound blocks and stored them in plastic containers which moistened the clay. He will have to mix more than 900 pounds of clay this summer to meet his demands.

In the future, Hummels would like to buy a clay mixing machine so he can mix the clay as needed - instead of making a year's supply at one

He can make two pieces of pottery in about an hour, but it can take longer when he is improving a skill or creating a concept. He has experimented by making an earthenware pot with clay taken from a nearby pond, and he has glazed some of his pots with clay slip collected from Fancy Creek.

Remember oz. Fishbowls 776-9879

Government books

Free Catalog

P.O. Box 37000 Washington DC 20013-7000

There is evidence in Hummels' work of tremendous enthusiasm for creating pottery, said Angelo Garzio, professor of art.

"I am extremely proud to have been a part of what Don has done," Garzio said.

Garzio permitted Hummels to audit his class — which was the first time Garzio allowed an individual to observe his class. Prior to his experience with Hummels, he felt an individual would become discouraged without a background in art.

"Don has proved me wrong, which is obvious by his hard work and production of objects of joy," Garzio Hummels said, "When the possibility of working with someone who is really an expert like Garzio came about, I jumped at the chance." Before Hummels audited Garzio's class, he had enrolled in a beginning ceramics class through a University for Man program. He found the class interesting but was slightly disappointed because the course didn't involve using the potter's wheel.

Hummels' family has collected his wares since he began his hobby. There will be a time when he will have too many pots and will probably sell some. Nevertheless, he said he doesn't want to look at his hobby as a

"I want to be able to make what I like, not what someone else wants me to make," Hummels said.

Included in his many pieces of pottery is a set of dishes which his family uses daily. Completing the dishes was a time-consuming project because the cups, plates and bowls had to be made one at a time.

Kedzie 103

CLASSIFIED RATES

One day: 15 words or fewer, $2.50, 20 cents per word over 15; Two conseculive dates: 15 words or fewer, $3.50, 25 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.25, 30 cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 35 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $5.00, 40 cents per word over 15.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publications. Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon FRIDAY for Monday's paper.

Airport Flea Market Manhattan, Kansas OPEN EVERY WEEKEND

Sat. 8 a.m.-4 p.m. Sun. 10 a.m.-4 p.m.

Household Goods, Tools, Collectables, Crafts, Furniture,

Coins, Jewelry & Lots More Space available

Ft. Riley Blvd. to Airport Rd., to Murray Rd., Right to Access Rd., Right to the Market. Watch for the signs.

PRIDE CO. (913)776-6906

* Non-traditional Students

Owls Nests

Friday, January 21 from 3-6 p.m. UFM - 1221 Thurston (corner of Thurston and N. Manhattan) Come meet the new officers of OWLS (formerly aarts) more than one wrong classified insertion, it is the adver-tiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not after the value of the ad.

Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

Display Classified Rates
One day: $5.20 per inch; Three consecutive days: $5.00 per inch; Five consecutive days; $4.80 per inch; Ten consecutive days; $4.60 per inch. (Deadline is 4:30

p.m. two days before publication.)

Classified advertising is available only to those who do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion. national origin, sex or ancestry.

(Continued on page 9)

Candlewood

Collegian

Coupons to clip!

who has been making pottery for three years, is showing his art in Ambry Gallery in West Stadium.

HERE'S $5.00

TO SPEND

Choose sale merchandise totaling $25 or more and pay only $20 with coupon Offer good today through Sun. 22

Maidenform Bra 15.00-9.00 Flannel gown 28:00-14.00 25.00 coupon -5.00 your total $20.00 no credit cards accepted with this offer

M-F 10-5:30 Thurs. 10-8 p.m. Sat. 10-5 Sun. 1-5 1224 Moro Aggieville

One Large One Topping Pizza NOW SERVING THIN CRUST 539-4888 Mark Fauid mokee "We Pile It On!" Expires PYRAMI

AGGIEVILLE FLOWERS 6 ROSES FOR

cash 'n' carry 537-9549

12th & Laramie M-S 10-5

Speedy FREE Delivery

SCHOLARSHIP INFORMATION FOR STUDENTS WHO NEED MONEY FOR COLLEGE

Every Student is Eligible for Some Type of Financial Ald

Regardless of Grades or Parental Income.

We have a data bank of over 200,000 listings of scholarships, fellow-ships, grants, and loans, representing over $10 billion in private sector

Many scholarships are given to students based on their academic interests, career plans, family heritage and place of residence. There's money available for students who have been newspaper carriers, grocery clerks, cheerleaders, non-smokers . . . etc. Results GUARANTEED.

CALL

ANYTIME

For A Free Brochure

(800) 346-6401

512 Poyntz Ave. Manhattan, Kansas

1/3 off Perm & Haircoloring or highlighting

-all services performed by supervised cosmetology students--BRING THIS COUPON IN-Expires 1-31-89

512 Poyntz Avenue Manhattan, Kansas off Haircuts

-all services performed by supervised cosmetology students--BRING THIS COUPON IN-

Expires 1-31-89

- ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs -skincare -glamor -nails -gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor, 539-2070. COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp 539-6193.
- COUCH POTATOES needed for study. Adults 30-39 years; short, easy testing. Call Laurel 532-6765. ENTRIES CLOSE 1/25/89 for 1989 Miss Manhattan-K-State Pageant, an official Miss America Prelimin-ary. 537-2667.
- JARDINE TERRACE Mayor's Council will charge for parking for all basketball games and concerts. Price $2. Limited space.
- JEWELRY LOVERS, Where are you???? 75% saving-$$$. Gold rings. $15III Silver pendants. $3III Manufacturers 776-5545.

ARE YOU MISS AMERICA 1990?

WANTEO— 100 overweight people to try herbal weight control program. No drugs, no exercise. Doctor recommended. 100% guaranteed. 776-5114.

MARCHING BAND- Don't forget tomorrow's banquet. 6:30p.m. at the Warehan

SOUTH PADRE/ Spring Break '89— Nice rooms for a great price! From $109 to $169 on the beach or minutes from it. Five or seven days. Don't spend all your money on a room, —you're never there anyway! (Limited space). Call 1-800-782-7653, ext

WHAT MAKES for exciting fulfilling relationships? For a free questionnaire, write: Relationship Survey, Box 5142, Station A, Wilkes- Barre, PA 18710.

2 Apartments—Furnished

BEAUTIFUL THREE-BEDROOM furnished apartment. Large living room, dining room, kitchen on main floor at 1019 Bluemont. Fully carpeted with back ch. 537-0428 or 537-6841

FURNISHED OR unfurnished, nice one-bedroom near campus. $260 includes all utilities. 537-4851 after 4:30p.m.

HUGE ONE-BEDROOM, big enough for two people, between Aggleville and City Park, January- May $300/ month. Call Karen, 532-6560.

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM in an 18-plex, two blocks from KSU. Gas heat, no pets, $295. 776-3804 or

NICE ONE-BEDROOM apartment. Water, trash, three-fourths gas paid, Laundry facilities. Nice for gradu-ate student or couple. $285, 539-2482 after 4p.m. NICE ONE-BEDROOM apartment refurnished last surrmer. Real close to campus also January rent paid $295. $295 a month. Call 776-1985.

ONE-BEDROOM on Sunset. $260 plue gas and electric. Laundry facilities, no pets, please, 539-5051 or 776-3804.

SMALL BASEMENT apartment west of campus. $175 includes all utilities. No pets. 539-5051 or THREE-BEDROOM APARTMENT— Close to campus and Aggleville. $375 plus deposit and utilities. 537-6841.

TWO-BEDROOM, ONE and one-half bath near campus. Washer/ dryer, $250 plus utilities, 537-8825.

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM on 17th Street available now. Two blocks to campus. Balcony, gas heat, laundry facilities. $310. 537-9020 or 776-3804.

LARGE TWO bedrooms, leases available now and next August. Furnished and unfurnished. Phone 537-9064 daily.

ATTRACTIVE, NEWLY decorated, large Town House apartment. 1921 Anderson, walk to campus. Two bedrooms, two baths, washer/ dryer connections, gas heat. Large kitchen, large living and dining room, ample storage throughout. No children. No pets. Mature adults preferred. $350. Phone 537-4179 after 6p.m.

NICE, ONE-BEDROOM two blocks from campus. $260 includes all utilities. 537-4851 after 4p.m

NICE ONE-BEDROOM in Lee/ Hunting area available now. Fireplace, dishwasher, laundry facilities, $340, 539-2103 or 776-3804.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM near City Park in 24-plex. All appliances, laundry facilities, $380, 537-8229 or 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM, SECOND floor located 814 Leavenworth, $175/ month plus utilities. Available now. 539-3672.

ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT in City Park area, $235 plus gas and electric. No pets. 539-8229 or 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM, TWO balconies, new carpet, across the street from campus. $250. Available now. 537-4924.

ONE FEMALE to fill four-bedroom house, block from campus, washer/ dryer. Rent $115. Call 776-3371,

STUDIO APARTMENT adjacent to campus, close to Aggieville. College Court Apartments. $220 monthly. Private parking, air conditioning, washer/ dryer and storage lockers. Call 532-7159.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT, one block from carn-TWO-BEDROOM, MOST utilities paid. 539-6058 or

RICHARD BYOADFOOT

"WHAT IT TAKES TO BE A MAN:

THERE ARE A THOUSAND DIFFERENT WAYS FOR A BOY TO BECOME A MAN ...

THOSE OLD "BOY BECOMES MAN" MOVIES. ERRICK... HOW CAN WE EVER THANK YOU FOR SAVING OUR VILLAGE!?

.THERE ARE

THE OUTDATED

WE SEE IN

THEN THERE ARE THE MORE CONTEMPORARY CLICHE'S THAT WE SEE IN THE NEWER "BOY BECOMES MAN-JUST BEFORE HE GETS HACKED TO BITS BY A MUTANT "MOVIES

BUT MOST OFTEN IT'S SUBTLE .. SOMETHING THAT ALMOST

INTO A

MOVER .. SHAKER ..

DURING THE NEXT WEEK. JEFFREY WILL BECOME. A MAN!

4 Automobiles for Sale

1972 CHRYSLER Newport Custom, runs great, rides smooth. $100. 539-8668.

1974 MAVERICK, only $300, good interiors, engine, great for moving around. After 5:30p.m., 776-6277, Rick.

1981 BUICK Skylark, 539-4792. 1981 THUNDERBIRD V-8, two-door, air, AM/FM ste-reo, Good conditions, must sell. $1,600 or best.

1986— DAYTONA, Shelby package, full power, very clean, must sell. 1 am broke. Call Dave at Phi Delt house. 539-5928. ATTENTION- GOVERNMENT seized vehicles from $100. Fords, Mercedes, Corvettes, Chevys. Sur lus Buyers Guide. 1-602-838-8885 ext. A1797. CAN YOU buy jeeps, cars, 4x4s seized in drug raids for under $100? Call for facts today. (602)837-3401 ext 744.

Child Care

ACTIVE BALANCED creative day environment. Full day care, preschool. 537-1202.

LICENSED DAY Care Home toddler opening, Mariatt area, hot meals and activities. Call 776-4425 after 6p.m. 776-2183.

RELIABLE BABYSIT for three. Children, Wednesday, Friday, Saturday evenings. 539-7498.

8 Computers

HAS NEVER been out of box! Brand new Epson FX-800 printer. A great buy for $210. Call Paul 537-1705 after 5p.m.

IBM PC model 30 with internal modern, Panas printer, and wp programs. Call anytime 776-7557.

LINE PRINTER ribbons for sale- Black multistrike no. OM MS (41/4 dozen), $1,25 each. Black nylon no. QM NY (15), $2.25 each, Call 532-6555 or come by Kedzie 103 to see.

MACINTOSH 512KE Computer and 20MG hard drive. Programs included, Pagemaker, Filemaker Plus, Guide, Reflex, MacMoney, also many games. $2,200 or best offer, 539-8535. TRS 80-III, two new drives, modern, Star printer, LeScript, games, free disks! $330 or best offer, 776-6799.

9 Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of tisements in the Employment classification. ers are advised to approach any such "employ-

$10- $660 weekly/ up mailing circulars! Rush selfaddressed stamped envelope: Dept. AN-7CC-CU, 9300 Wilshire, Suite 470, Beverly Hills, CA 90212.

ATTENTION— HIRINGI Government jobs— your area. $17,840-$69,485. Call 1-602-838-8885 ext R1797. CHARLIE'S NEIGHBORHOOD Bar is now hiring waitresses. Apply in person Wednesday, Jan. 18 and Thursday, Jan. 19 between 4 and 6p.m.

CHILDCARE -- OUR home: Monday, Wednesday, Friday 11:45a.m.-5:15p.m. Own transportation. Study time allotted. 776-8663 after 5:30p.m.

COMPANIONS TO work with elderly needed 4- 7p.m. Monday-Friday complete an application by Jan. 24. Homecare, 2803 Claffin. EOE.

EXPANDING FIRM seeks motivated part-time program-mers. C-language experience preferred. Contact ICADA Technologies, Inc. (537-2864) before GYMNASTIC COACHES needed. Preschool, noncompetitive, competitive and aerobics. Brand new facility. 539-2835 or 539-3613.

HELP WANTED for general house cleaning and child-care for three preschoolers. Monday-Wednesday-Friday preferred. $4/ hour. 776-3352.

HOUSEKEEPER NEEDED: Live-In housekeeper, near campus. Room, board and salary. Call 1-239-4335 or 539-3210 after 6:30p.m.

MAJOR MANHATTAN Firm seeking part-time recep-tionist. Monday through Friday, 11:30a.m.-5:15p.m. Respond to P.O. Box 1688, Manhattan, Kansas 66502. MCDONALD'S OF Westloop is looking for som enthusiastic dependable people who enjoy working with people. Part-time dayshift hours available between 5a.m. 4p.m. with very flexible schedules. Starting salary $3.50/ hour with frequent raises available. Apply in person anytime, 1011 Westloop MISS MANHATTAN- K-State 1989 position open. Minimum of $1,000 scholarship money plus many additional benefits. No entry fee. Applications accepted through 1-25-89. 537-2667, 537-4263.

TUTORS NEEDED Call 532-6244

Volunteer tutors are needed for grades 1-12. If you enjoy helping children and adolescents, and would like a new friend, then we welcome you as a Friendship Tutor. Tutors are needed for a variety of subjects. For information call Mark White at 532-6244.

Bloom County

By Berke Breathed

By Jim Davis

Peanuts

Garfield

By Charles Schulz 24 Pop's

I CAN'T BELIEVE I ACTUALLY

POOR OLAF .. HE WAS

OVERSEAS JOBS. $900- $2,000 month. Summer, year-round, all countries, all fields, free information. Write IJC, P.O. Box 52-KS02, Corona Del Mar, CA

PART-TIME SALES person needed to work weekends for local furniture store. Please send resumes to Box 3, c/o The Collegian, Kedzie 103, KSU,

PART-TIME SALES help— Retail shoes. Experience required. Send schedule, resume to: Box 2, c/o The Collegian, Kedzie 103, KSU, Manhattan, KS 66506.

PART-TIME LABORERS, ag background helpful. Apply in person, Nelson Poultry Farms, two and one-half miles east Highway 24. 776-9401.

PRESCHOOL INSTRUCTOR for City of Manhattan Responsible for the supervision of 10 to 12 preschool children from three-five years old. Position requirements include the establishment of a teaching program for preschool children that includes craft classes for the different development. of 10 to 12 tal stages; leading children in songs, storytime and supervising free play time. Instructors should meet the minimum state certification requirements. Some formal education in early childhood or related field is required. Hours are 9a.m.- noon, Monday, Wednesday and Friday, $5 hour. Apply at Person-nel Office, City Hall, 11th and Poyntz by Jan. 23, 1989. EOE—M/F/H.

RADIOLOGIC TECHNOLOGIST (A.R.R.T.) on-cal position for weekends and occasional relief for nights. Our radiology department features diagnos-tic equipment for procedures including nuclear medicine, ultrasound, mammography, diagnostic radiology. The St. Mary Hospital. 776-1981. EOE.

ROOF AND Russ manufacturing plant. Apply in person, 5107 Murray Road, 776-5081.

SCHOOL BUS drivers needed. $4.75 per hour, must be 21 years of age, have a good driving record and complete a training program. Bus driving experi-ence not required. Part-time, 6:30-8:30a.m. and 2:40-4:30p.m. Job description available. Apply to 11SD 93-2001 Popular Ave. Machattan KS 56502 USD 383, 2031 Poyntz Ave., Manhattan, KS 66502. (913)537-2400. EOE.

STUDENT HELP for general labor, $4/ hour. Prefer students able to work four-hour morning blocks. Apply in person in payroll office, 117 Dykstra Hall. Apply by Jan. 19.

STUDENT PROGRAMMER/ Consultant, 15- 20 hours per week, to start as soon as possible, as a computer programmer/ consultant for faculty and students. Programming, as well as microcomputer knowledge, experience, and grade point average will be used as a selection criteria. Undergraduates with an employment potential of two years will be given preference. Equal Opportunity Employer. Contact Jacque Meisner, room 23, Cardwell by 5o.m., Jan. 24.

SUB-N-STUFF SANDWICH Shop is accepting applica tions for delivery drivers, late night and lunch h Apply in person, 1200 Moro, no phone calls plea

SUMMER JOBS outdoors. Over 5,000 openings! National parks, forests, fire crews. Send stamp for fre details. 113 E. Wyorning, Kalispell, MT 59901.

THE STATION under new ownership is now taking applications for bartender, waiter/ waitress, door and DJ help. Apply 1115 Moro, 1-5p.m. weekdays. VISTA DRIVE In is now taking applications for full- and part-time help. Must be able to work some noon shifts. Apply in person.

13 Houses/Mobile Homes for Sale

1977 WINDSOR 14x75. All appliances, redwood deck, big two-car garage, insulated shop. All on three-fourths acre. Make offer. 1-494-8484.

ATTENTION- GOVERNMENT homes from $1 (You repair). Delinque:« tax property. Report Call (602)838-8885 ext GH1797.

14 Lost and Found

FOUND CAR cover in parking lot B3. Call 532-3430. FOUND: REGISTERED to Terri Whitt at Welborn Animal Hospital and found in front of Anderson Hall on the 18th. Male dachsund mix, brown puppy, very friendly. Call 53:2 2168, ask for Joann or leave message at Boyd Hall Desk, 532-6477.

15 Miscellaneous Merchandise

1300 SQUARE feet used rust-colored carpet. $250. BOOKSHELF, DESK chairs, student and office desk beds, couch, misc, furniture. 776-9705. FOR SALE: Six piece living room set. Asking $400, without end tables $325. Like new. Cash only pieces. 539-8238.

FOR SALE: The Electromagnetics Problem Solver and Schaum outlines for Electromagnetics and Vector Analysis. Essential for EM Theory. Over $46 now. Asking $30 for all three, Like new condition.

Hayes House of Music

Guitar and Bass Lessons 327 Poyntz 776-7983

SPRING BREAK '89 Jamaica

Montego Bay 3399 Cancun Best in Mexico.......309 Bahamas Grand Bahamas......⁵259

Daytona Beach The Right Price 139 Individual Cheapest Possible Rates Plans

- Jane Classic Travel & Tours 104 S. 4th

1 Gun the motor

4 Tailor's

pride

mate friend

song

partner

14 Andy's

15 Dump

17 Delete

editorially

18 Slippery

fellow

19 Parodies

economist

Gershwin's

brother

address

21 Noted

wife 25 George

26 Polite

28 Band

32 Grime

34 Young

36 Flying speed

37 Car type horns

12 Fifi's

13 Met

8 Stallion's

537-7546

39 Saloon

44 Put on

46 Arthur's

50 Inlet

56 "I you so!" 57 Way out

51 Bard's

52 Gilbert &

Sullivan

player

58 Regret ones

60 Edges

59 Wise

41 Plato's P

42 Hodges of

address

baseball

Crossword

DOWN

1 Indian

ruler 2 Flight sight

4 "Eight

less bird

16 Barbie's

beau

20 Youngster 21 Young-3 Bordeaux sters 22 Noted

23 Use a straw

director 27 Abrade 5 Period 6 Broadcasts "—, I'm Adam Men Out"

limit 9 Cupid 10 Rake 11 Superl-61 Coloring ative suffixes

8 Upper

Solution time: 22 mins.

Yesterday's answer 1-19

site 30 Soreness 31 Not barefoot 33 Remnants 35 Flat 38 Zilch 40 Sci-fi often 43 Also-ran 45 Thumbs 46 Roman censor 47 Swear

48 Gangster's 49 Prepare for takeoff

55 Actress

18 Personals

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, Thursday, January 19, 1989

from $93*

from $118'

PERFECT FOR dorm— two light-colored flip chairs $10 each; weight bench, no weights $20. Call evenings 539-3307, ask for Jeff or Linda.

ENITH

PERSONAL COMPUTERS

also servicing

. Televisions & VCRs

624 Tuttle Creek Blvd. Manhattan 913-776-6650

SPRING BREAK '89

Reservations Available Now

SOUTH PADRE ISLAND, TX from $149'

MUSTANG ISLAND, TX from $136"

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, SC from $107

Don't Wait Until It's Too

Late!

Call Toll Free Today

1-800-321-5911

*Depending on Break dates & length of stay

Don't Forget

99¢

Pitchers, Wells

and

Kamis

at

Brother's

SOUTH PADRE, TEXAS

Price $395 per person

SKI

STEAMBOAT SPRINGS, CO

2. Free Shuttle To Slopes And Evening

Price $460 per person

Sponsored by International Tours

and KSKT 95.3 The Kat

*Make deposits and reservations

at 8th and Humboldt, 776-4756

DEPOSIT $100 due 1-26-89

16 Motorcycles/Bicycles for Sale

1982, 550 Yamaha Maxim. Good condition. New

MOUNTAIN BIKE for sale, loaded with extras, excelle condition, $350. 776-8629.

PEUGEOT 10-SPEED, ladles' 26" bicycle, blue, exclent condition. $150 or best offer. 776-7260.

PEAVEY GUITAR with Kahler Tremelo and hardshe

Hayes House

of Music

DOD

Guitar Effects 30% OFF

17 Musical Instruments

$700, 539-8218.

case. 537-4331.

Round Trip Bus Transportation

5 Nights Lodging in Condo

Ski Equipment for 5 days

6. Mountain Bar-B-Q Lunch

1. Round Trip Bus Transportation

(Holiday Inn - On The Beach)

2. 5 Nights Lodging

3. Welcome Party

Entertainment

5 Day Lift Ticket

SPRING BREAK

BEAC

Sheraton/Holiday Inn/Gulf View

STEAMBOAT, CO

Port Royal Condos

Shadow Run/Overlook

DAYTONA BEACH, FL

Hilton Head Beach Condos

MIDWEST

SERVICES

· PC compatibles & printers

Authorized Warranty Service

AFRITI, THANKS for the present, I love them. I hope you will be happy this semester with new car, new place, new pets. Love, your surprises.

To the gentleman in the suit that registered on Wed. night. Phone number is correst. Confused roommate

> Please call back! The lady in black

19 Pets and Pet Supplies

WANTED: USED aquarium. Call 532-3430 Haymaker

20 Professional Services

DISSERTATIONS, THESES, term papers, mail merg-

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 South Fourth St., Suite 25.

PROMPT ABORTION and contraceptive services in Lawrence. (913)841-5716.

21 Rentals

SINGLE GARAGES near Aggleville. $25 per month.

22 Resume/Typing Services

job interview? Let Graphics Plus prepare your resume. Typeset and laserprinted for a clean, professional look. Graphics Plus. corner of N. Manhattan and Bluemont, Aggieville, 539-6027

Are you ready for your

TERM PAPERS, cover letters, resumes, theses and dissertations entered, stored and completed to your specifications. Come see us. Ross Secretarial Services, 614 N. 12th (across from Kite's) 539-5147.

23 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE, OWN room, two blocks from campus. $106.25/ month plus utilities. Call 1-762-4242.

FEMALE, OWN room, nice house near campus washer/ dryer, $145 plus utilities. 537-8825. FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share two-bedroom mobile home. Fully furnished with washer and dryer. $150 a month plus one-half utilities.

FEMALE TO share two-bedroom apariment, $140. Private bedroom, on McCain Lane. Call Julie 539-1486, anytime. MALE ROOMMATE wanted; $155 a month plus utilities

MALE ROOMMATE, own room, one block from campus, washer and dryer, $125 plus one-third utilities. 537-1825. NON-SMOKING FEMALE- Own room, private laundry, garage. $192.50 plus one half utilities. Dor 776-8384. ONE OR two female roommates wanted. Own room, $135 plus utilities. 537-6841.

ONE-ROOMMATE NEEDED to share three-bedroom upstairs apartment with two other males. Across the street from campus. $120/ month plus one-third utilities. 776-6483.

ROOMMATE WANTED for two-story house with hardwood floors and bannister. Beautiful. 776-0553/ 1-492-3166. ROOMMATE WANTED to share one-bedroom, basement apartment. One and one-half blocks west of campus. Call for information. Ask for Jim. 776-7980. ROOMMATE WANTED- Two-bedroom duplex close to campus, fireplace, garage, washer/dryer, lenced yard, pets okay, very nice. $200/ month plus one-half utilities. Laura 776-5528.

ROOMMATE TO share house, own room, washer/ dryer, $147/ month, 537-6832 early mornings. Late ROOMMATE WANTED: To share basement apartm

Close to campus. Water, gas and trash paid. $120 month. Call Debbie. 776-1784. ROOMMATE WANTED to share three-bedroom house, non-smoker, five minutes from carrous. $160/ month, pets ok. 537-8550.

SHARE A house. Own room plus use of kitchen, liv area and all utilities, $95 a month for rent. Call 539-0356 to inquire. WANTED: MALE roommate. $140 a month plus one-third electric and cable. Swimming pool. Five minute bike ride to campus. Call Terry at 776-3093.

24 Situation Wanted

FIST HOLE Repair Co. We fix party damaged walls. For a free estimate, call after 6p.m. ask for Chris.

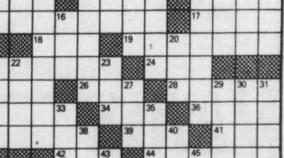

26 Sublease

SUBLEASE AVAILABLE January- May. One-bedroom

(913)367-4757 evenings.

776-7983

By Eugene Sheffer

BLC HXLTEVB KYF IOFFEWZ

IRYOBEHOX JYXXHXLJRT Yesterday's Cryptoquip: THE FIERCE OLD LION WAS NOSTALGIC FOR THE ROARING TWENTIES.

CRYPTOQUIP 1-19

29 Clucking baddies,

HTERWFVKEC ZLEWZ JEBK

Today's Cryptoquip clue: Z equals G

Students take part in dance festival

By Craig Hamrick Collegian Reporter

While most students were getting back into the swing of attending classes last week, nine students and three faculty members traveled to Ames, Iowa, to attend the Midwest/Central Midwest Regional American College Dance Festival.

This is one of the major events of the year for exposure to what is happening in dance," said Luke Kahlich, associate professor of speech. "It's one of the few times (students) get a chance to see themselves with their peers, and can take up to four classes a day from different teachers."

More than 400 dancers from 11 different states took part in the annual festival which is designed to expose dance students to the work of their peers.

Sharisse Horn, senior in dance, attended the festival and choreographed "The Runaways," one of the works performed by the K-State

"It's a slapstick piece and the months before his death, King was at

K-State to deliver a University convocation. He spoke of civil rights and the future of integration to a crowd of more than 7,000 in Ahearn Field

While today's convocation is part judges said for something like that the timing has to be perfect," she said. "The judges liked the idea and the movement, but we hadn't had much time to work on it before the festival and one of the original dancers wasn't able to go, so the timing was a little off."

Horn said she felt she had benefited from the judges' critiques. "You learn a lot (at the festivals) because the judges tell you about your work and you get to hear them critique others, too," she said.

Michael Townsley, junior in dance, also attended the festival. He took part in six classes in three days, the subjects of which ranged from modern dance to African dance.

"The classes were the best part," he said. "It's neat to see how different teachers teach the same thing."

Performers at the regional festivals, which are held throughout the United States, are eligible for national scholarships including internships with professional dance companies.

Gift

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 scholarship money to the department, but might redirect funding to other areas such as the upkeep of land involved with the estate.

Money for the department will be placed in a permanent, nonexpandable scholarship fund at the KSU Foundation. Annual investment income for the fund, known as the Hile-Rannells Scholarship, will provide at least $24,000 in scholarships each year.

Graduate and undergraduate recipients of the scholarship will be selected by the KSU General Scholarship Committee based on recommendations of a group representing the Department of Animal Sciences and Industry.

Larry Moeder, associate director of Student Financial Assistance and assistant to the committee, said the criteria for awarding the scholarships revolve around the contributor's results of achievement tests taken by students in September. Nancy Thompson, director of elementary education, said the district's results were higher than the national average, but not "amazingly higher."

The school board also reviewed

Recipient honored by K-State award

By Ginger Miller Collegian Reporter

Michael Holen, associate dean of the College of Education, was the man of the hour at a reception in his honor Wednesday in the Union Cottonwood Room.

Holen was the recipient of the KSU Presidential Award for Distinguished Service to Minority Education.

Provost James Coffman said movement toward diversity involves funding, motivation, extra effort and imagination.

"I think this recognition is richly deserved," Coffman said.

"No award honors me more so than this (award)," Holen said. Holen has been involved with an ongoing set of programs dealing with students from predominantly black colleges. He said about 120 black students in this program have received their doctorates at K-State.

"It's important to know that things I've considered to be important for the last 20 years are important to other people," Holen said.

Last year, federal support was given to bring 15 doctoral candidates from Grambling State University to K-State.

"The students that we have had not only reflect different educational backgrounds, but cultural, social and geographic backgrounds," Holen said.

Not only will K-State serve as a host institution, but also two to six students will receive fellowships that have been granted to K-State. The administration matched federal monies offered in order to win the grant. This was the only grant given in the nation, Holen Holen credits President Jon Wefald for making it a priority to diversify the University. K-State is now more actively seeking minority students, he said.

Holen said in the 1970s, minority education was thought to be a social issue.

"Now it is to the point where (the administration) understands diversity is an educational issue,"

Wefald presented Holen with an inscribed plaque and a $1,000 check during the fall commencement ceremonies in December.

Address

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 one of the ways K-State can help in the fight against apartheid.

Divesting from corporations that indirectly provide funding to the government of South Africa is even more important, he said. This action should be taken "very quickly, very urgently."

Lipman lived in South Africa for 37 years, where he said he was involved in racial, apartheid and government opposition groups. He fled the country 25 years ago with his wife and two children after pressure from the government became too strong.

"It's time for (the United States) to do something here, and not just tell us what to do," he said.

On Jan. 19, 1968, two and one-half of the University's weeklong celebration in remembrance of the slain civil rights leader, Lipman said it is important to remember there are big differences between the situation in

School

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6

South Africa and the civil rights struggle in the United States.

the majority of their science classes their freshman year, and maybe only one more their junior or senior year," she said.

Calling the issue a "hot potato," Barbara Withee, president of the school board, said she agreed that requiring students to take certain courses in the junior and senior years is necessary.

> Get a head start on an excellent career opportunity.

> > THE FEDERAL RESERVE BANK OF KANSAS CITY

is seeking

MANAGEMENT DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

Analysts and

Summer Interns

Qualified analyst candidates should receive a business-related or liberal arts degree this spring or summer and be interested in working towards a generalist management position.

Our internship program is designed to provide college juniors, seniors, and graduate students with challenging professional work experience in a business environment and the opportunity to evaluate us as a potential employer.

Good communication skills, strong analytical and leadership ability, creativity and initiative are essential to both the analyst and intern positions.

We offer competitive starting salaries and excellent advancement opportunities.

We will be interviewing at your campus placement office on:

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1989

For more information, please contact your placement office or:

Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City Attention: Personnel-Campus Recruiting 925 Grand Avenue Kansas City, Missouri 64198 (816) 881-2463

THURSDAY

The Pizza Restaurant
That Didn't Stop With Pizza

THE TRADITION HAS TRANSFERRED

Same Great Food . . .

 Award-winning Pizza
 Fabulous Salad Bar Homemade Italian Specialties

•Fantastic Luncheon & Evening Buffets

Same Great Service . . . For Take-Out or Delivery call: 537-4350

Great New Location

3003 ANDERSON SUITE 941

East of Alco in Village Plaza Shopping Center

Open Daily at 11 a.m.

ALCO X

99¢ well drinks 50¢ kamikaze shots $1.50 BBAMB 5:00-11:00, burgers, burgers & more burgers! PLUS Backroom Dancing 18 to enter, 21 to drinl 619 North 12th, Aggieville, 539-979

K-State Union Courtyard

Rent a framed piece of art for your place.
only costs from $1 to $3 per semester.

Wk-state union

Looking for something different to do on Friday evenings? The K-State Union has the answer! For the low price of $4.99 you get all-you-can-eat Pasta Buffet with dinner salad, garlic bread and dessert. Plus, admission to the 7 p.m. Feature Film showing that evening. The dinner will be every friday from 5:30-7 p.m. in the Bluemont Room (2nd floor of the Union). There will be three different pasta dishes to choose from every Friday, and, of course, a different Feature Film! Give yourself a break and try FRIDAY FOOD 'N FLICKS starting TOMORROW!

STATE OF THE UNIVERSITY ADDRESS

Are you interested in University issues? Do you want to know where our Student Body President Laurian Cuffy stands of these issues? Then join UPC Issues and Ideas on Thursday, January 19 at noon in the Union Courtyard for Laurian Cuffy and his STATE OF THE UNIVERSITY ADDRESS!

785 MED HESDAI

The UPC Eclectic Entertainment Committee is again sponsoring one of the greatest shows on earth. "Wednesday Noon Live" (WNL) is back for the Spring. Semester. Every Wednesday between noon and 1 p.m. in the Union Courtyard, WNL gives amateur performers the opportunity to express their talents on stage in front of a live audience. Students, faculty/ staff, and anyone else who has a talent is encouraged to drop by the Activities Center on the 3rd floor of the K-State Union and pick up a performance application. Applications for this semester are now being accepted. For more information contact the Activities Center at 532-6571!

This film introduces a cinematic world where Daffy Duck and Donald Duck play a piano duet, walking broomsticks from "Fantasia" clean up a Hollywood sound stage and an animated rabbit with big feet, long ears, and a polka-dot tie enlists the help of a dectective Eddie Valiant, played by "live" actor Bob Hoskins. This milestone film is co-produced by Touchstone Pictures and Steven Spielberg.

Friday & Saturday at 7 and 9:30 p.m. and Sunday, 7 p.m., Forum Hall. All shows $1.75 with KSU ID.

TODAY

3:30 p.m., Little Theatre, 7:30 p.m., Forum Hall

IN HONOR OF MARTIN LUTHER KING, JR. WEEK, ALL SHOWINGS OF THIS FILM ARE FREE AND OPEN TO THE PUBLIC. **

WEEKEND IN CHICAGO February 17-19, $95

Information Meeting, Jan. 24, 7:30 p.m., Union Big Eight Room.

PANAMA CITY BEACH, FLORIDA March 10-18,

$178- $255 Information Meeting, Jan. 24, 8 p.m., Union Big Eight Room.

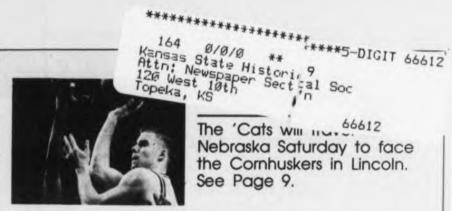

State of K-State

Student Body President Laurian Cuffy delivered the State of the University Address Thursday, See Page 3.

Weather

Sunny and a little cooler today, high 45 to 50. East to northeast winds around 10 mph. Clear tonight, low in mid-20s.

Kansas State Histori, 9 Attn: Newspaper Sectial Soc 120 West 10th Sectial Soc Topeka, KS The 'Cats will inc. 66612 Nebraska Saturday to face the Cornhuskers in Lincoln.

See Page 9.

Friday

January 20, 1989

Kansas State University Manhattan, Kansas 66506 Volume 95, Number 82

Kansas State Collegian

Speaker links United States, apartheid

Staft/Christopher T. Assaf

Randall Robinson, executive director of Trans-Africa, delivers the Convocation lecture Thursday morning in McCain Auditorium. Robinson,

By Karen Allen Staff Writer

During a visit to South Africa several years ago, the director of Trans-Africa noticed corporations' advertisements on billboards. He realized that not only did South Africa look like America but the United States "had become the legs on which apartheid stands."

Remembering Martin Luther King Jr. as a "citizen of the world," Randall Robinson urged an audience of about 350 at a University Convocation on Thursday to broaden its horizons and become more sensitive to world issues.

Robinson's speech in McCain Auditorium on human rights in South Africa was a part of the University's week-long celebration honoring

The United States, along with other Western nations such as Japan, France, Britain, Israel and Germany, could end apartheid if they would impose strong economic sanctions on the government of South Africa, he said. If the supply of crude oil to its government and military was cut off abruptly, it would be in serious trouble after 250 days, Robinson

He named the Mobile, Shell and Total corporations as contributors to the country's oil supply and said he advocated putting pressure on these types of companies to divest in South Africa.

At a press conference before the convocation, Robinson said divesting has been a very effective tactic. Although he said he had no specific figures, he believed more than half of what would be considered major universities in the United States have divested.

Robinson urged students to 'awake from their period of recent sleep and make trouble for the great faculty/management team." He said too many of those involved with the administration of a University "only see the campus as a business."

Alan Lipman, visiting professor from the University of Wales in Cardiff and a native of South Africa, agreed with Robinson.

"He was quite right to urge the students to put pressure on the administration," Lipman said. "Show is so important." At the press conference, Robinson said the economic sanctions now in effect are "entirely too moderate." They affect 25 percent of imports into the United States, but affect none of the exports. Robinson said part of the problem needs is that first the citizens of the United States must become more knowledgeable about the world. "You've got to become people of in becoming sensitive to the world's the world," he said. "Learn about your society from the outside in." Aruna Michie, associate professor of political science, said she also would like to see more people in this state realize "the world extends beyond Kansas," especially when it comes to foreign policy considerations.

"If citizens are willing to put up with it, then it will continue," Michie

Although South Africa and its apartheid system may seem "almost like it's in a time warp ... in a galaxy ■ See ROBINSON, Page 12

Regents reject plan to merge programs

From Staff and Wire Reports

KANSAS CITY, Kan. - A proposal to designate the College of Engineering at K-State as the state's comprehensive engineering school was rejected unanimously Thursday by the Kansas Board of Regents.

The regents also turned down a recommendation from three nationally known engineering consultants that the architectural engineering programs at K-State and the University of Kansas be merged into a single program at K-State.

Consultants as well as representatives of K-State's College of Engineering had sought the comprehensive designation as a means of establishing that institution's primacy with respect to new programs and funding of equipment purchases.

But Stanley Koplik, the board's chief administrative officer, said designation of the engineering colleges at either K-State, KU or Wichita State University would be "simplistic" and potentially damaging to the other schools.

"I don't think we want to dampen any of the three programs by giving to one school a label that may infringe on the others," Koplik said.

He said that as the state's land grant school, K-State should be expected to provide a comprehensive array of engineering programs.

But, he added, "I would have the same desire for KU, and perhaps in the future for Wichita

Koplik defended the work of the consultants, although he opposed their recommendation.

"They wanted to look at serving Kansas residents," he said. "If that is the approach you take, then their conclusions are valid."

However, Koplik said his own philosophy was to take a broader, regional approach.

Noting that the two architectural engineering programs in Kansas are among only 13 nationally, he said "if you look at serving students in all states and the region, then you can justify two programs."

Charles Hostetler of Manhattan, a regent participating in his first meeting, questioned why the consultants were retained if the regents had no interest from the outset in eliminating program duplication.

Donald Rathbone, dean of K-State's College of Engineering, said the decision would not hurt his program.

"It'll be business as usual," Rathbone said.

Rathbone said he didn't know why the consultants were brought in and then ignored by the regents. "I think the political process watered down the recommendation of the outside professionals," Rathbone said. He said K-State holds a leadership position in engineering in the K-State President Jon Wefald suggested that the regents allow him and the heads of the Kansas and Wichita campuses to work together toward a mutual solution.

But KU Chancellor Gene Budig asked the regents "to take no action to jeopardize any prog-■ See REGENTS, Page 12 whose group lobbies for black Americans, called for U.S. divestment in South Africa to fight apartheid.

Senate approves Structural changes made in internship program

By Nancy Prosser Staff Writer

Student Senate approved all standing committee heads and 18 student interns in its meeting Thursday night. Senate approved a bill to increase the number of possible interns to 18 from 12. The change has been implemented for this semester. The committee of interns will consist of 18 individuals, nine of which will research public opinion, and the remaining nine will conduct other

"I feel that there was a need for a change in the structure of the intern program," said Many Jo Lampe, senior in apparel and textile marketing and previous Senate operations committee chairwoman.

Senate also approved the appointment of Wade Whitmer, freshmen in physical education, as director of the Consumer Relations Board, Ira Bolden, junior in electrical engineering, as chief of staff and John McIntyre, senior in industrial engineering, as campus director of Associated Students of Kansas.

Phil Anderson, speech instructor, was sworn in as Faculty Senate representative.

In committee reports, Chris Kern, senior in landscape architecture, presented Senate with a timeline for a student athletic fee that would bring the question to a student referendum on March 28.

Also in committee reports, Student Body President Laurian Cuffy, his State of the University Address.

Senate also voted to adopt revisions to the ASK constitution. During open period, Charlie Thomas, director of Bramlage Coliseum, addressed Senate about the problems created when fans stand on the aluminum benches in Bramlage during basketball games. He said the benches are being damaged from the extra stress that is placed on them. "Basketball is a phenomena on this campus like I have never seen in the country," Thomas said. "We are wrecking havoc on the lower-level benches," he said. "There is no funding in the budget to replace benches." Thomas asked senators for their input in solving the problem. 'Its going to have to come from you and ICAT, to encourage people to not stand on the benches," he said. Also during open period Mark Lapping, dean of the College of senior in management, spoke about Architecture and Design, expressed concern about an Espresso Royale advertisement that ran in the Collegian last semester.

"This is my fifth year at K-State, and every year I grow increasingly concerned about the racial atmosphere here and in this country," Lapping said.

The play on words in the ad was significant, the ad contained Hitler's code words," Lapping said.

Todd Schultz, Collegian advertising manager, and Janet Swanson, Collegian editor, responded to Lapping's presentation.

When we recieved the Espresso Royale ad, our staff felt that they knew what was meant by the ad. The store wanted to promote itself as a place to relieve the stress and tension of finals," Schultz said.

"If the ad was offensive, we apologize and ensure you that it was not ■ See SENATE, Page 12

Bush, Washington ready for inauguration

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - George Bush spent his last day as vice president Thursday rehearsing the presidential inaugural address he will deliver at noon Friday and saluting the mentor whose shoes, he said, would be "pretty darn hard to fill."

On the eve of his installation into the heavy responsibilities of office, Bush was upbeat. "I really feel this," he said. "Our best days are yet to

Bush spent much of the day out of the public eye, preparing for one sentimental last visit to the Oval Office as a loyal subordinate, giving interviews and rehearsing the 15-minute address which will set the tone of his administration.

For this state occasion, Washington's weather was glorious. Visitors and Washingtonians alike strolled with topcoats unbuttoned in the balmy-for-January sunshine. A mixture of sunshine and clouds, with an afternoon chill, was predicted for Friday, when Bush takes the oath.

Four years ago, the weather was so harsh that President Reagan had to be sworn in indoors and his inauguration parade was cancelled.

Reagan spent his last full day in office saying goodbyes. Meeting reporters, he discussed a somber aspect of his presidency — his failure to win the release of nine Americans held hostage in Lebanon, some for nearly four years. "We don't know where they are," the outgoing president admitted, saying any rescue attempt would have been foolhardy.

'There hasn't been a moment that this hasn't been on my mind," Reagan told news service reporters.

ence of top high school students from around the country, promised to do "all in my power" to let them take advantage of life's opportunities and talked about Americans' characteristic optimism.

"No one better personifies that than a president named Ronald Reagan, whose shoes are going to be pretty darn hard to fill," he said.

Vice President-elect Dan Quayle, appearing separately before the same students, made a confession: "As one looks back at life, I'll be the first to admit I wish I had taken education more seriously."

The Bushes and the Quayles planned to join 12,000 other blacktie revelers at a $9 million entertainment gala, televised live to the nation, on the eve of Bush's big day. In the Capitol, where workers

Bush, appearing before an audi- buffed the heavy mahogany doors through which Ronald Reagan will usher his successor, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee unanimously approved Bush's senior cabinet appointee, Secretary of State-designate James A. Baker III, who had appealed during confirmation hearings this week for a restoration of bipartisanship in foreign policy.

Bush, at the forum for high school students, borrowed a line from Franklin Delano Roosevelt: "We can't always build a future for our youth, but we can build our youth for the future.'

"I really feel this: our best days are yet to come," the incoming president

Bush laughed at himself.

"I certainly learned the importance ■ See BUSH, Page 12

Soviet hunter kills power line

MOSCOW - A bored hunter killing time with his gun shot out a power line insulator, blacking out a city of 140,000 people and causing more than $1.5 million in lost industrial production, it was reported Thursday.

It took almost seven hours for the power line to be repaired and for electricity to be restored to the southern city of Maikop, about 800 miles south of Moscow, and to surrounding villages, according to the Communist Party daily newspaper Pravda.

The outage brought Maikop factories to a halt, and caused $1.6 million in lost production, Pravda said.

Losses totaled $190,000 at a local furniture factory and $416,000 at a plant making industrial communications equipment, it said.

Pravda did not say when the blackout occurred, and indicated the bored marksman had not been caught.

"So who is going to answer for this?" Pravda asked.

Submersible capable of record

TOKYO - A Japanese company on Thursday launched a deep-sea research submersible capable of diving to a worldrecord depth of 21,325 feet, according to a government official. The Shinkai 6500 was christened and launched in Kobe, in western Japan, by the Mitsubishi Heavy Industries Ltd., said an official of the Science and Technology Agency. Its final cost is expected to be $96 million, according to the official, who spoke on condition of anonymity. He said it measures 31 feet by 9 feet by 101/2 feet, and it weighs 25 tons. It can dive deeper than similar submersibles of the United States, France and the Soviet Union, which have a depth of about 19,685 feet, he said.

Japanese discontinue book

TOKYO - Japanese publishers said Thursday they have stopped publishing the popular "Little Black Sambo" because of its racial overtones.

Iwanami Shoten, the first Japanese publisher to introduce the story to this country, decided in December not to reprint it, said Hisao Ogawa, chief editor of the company's children's books division.

He said the company recently discovered the book had overtones of racial descrimination. "We can't deny that the name

'Sambo' and pictures represented discrimination," he said. The original book, written by Helen Bannerman in Britain in 1899 for her daughter, is an adventure tale about a black boy and tigers.

Other major Japanese publishing companies decided earlier to discontinue printing and marketing the book.

A representative for one of them, Shogakukan Ltd., said Thursday it also decided to stop selling the stories because the boy's name had connotations of racial discrimination.

Nigeria to get contraceptives

LAGOS, Nigeria - The U.S. government will give this overpopulated nation 800 million birth-control devices this year, a senior U.S. official said.

The devices will include birth-control pills, foam tablets and condoms, according to Richard Sturgis, local director of the U.S. Agency for International Development.

The U.S. government will provide the devices for distribution through Nigeria's military, state governments, and the Planned Parenthood of Nigeria.

Nigeria is Africa's me 103 million people in 1985.

... Around the region

Salvagers recover 'treasure'

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - River salvagers are hauling, crate by crate from a muddy pit in a Wyandotte County, Kan., bean field, what could be one of the most extensive, intact collections of pre-Civil War artifacts to be discovered.

In a month's time, an Independence-based group has recovered tons of preserved cargo from the steamboat Arabia, which sank in the Missouri River just below Parkville in 1856. They are about halfway through their search.

"It was a floating Wal-Mart," said Michael Weichman, an archaeologist with the Missouri Department of Natural Resources who has visited the dig. "It had a little bit of everything. It's basically a time capsule."

Other archaeologists agree the 1856 wreck provides a vivid picture of western migration and everyday life on the frontier

"We can lay out one slice of history right here," said Jerry Mackey, a partner of the excavation group River Salvage Inc. "Everything you would need to live in that day and age is right here.

The Arabia, which sank after hitting a snag, was capable of pushing 220 tons against the current and probably was nearly full as it headed to supply general stores in Council Bluffs, Iowa, and beyond.

Salvagers have recovered eyeglasses, top hats, cowboy hats, pocket knives, straight razors, soggy Havana cigars, four gross of wooden clothespins, scores of porcelain doorknobs, school slates, barrels of square nails, shiny screws, coffee mills, ink pens and wells, needles and thimbles.

They also have found finer amenities, such as intact Wedgwood wash basins and pitchers, a complete and undamaged porcelain tea set with hand-painted gold trim, jewelry with handpainted cameos, six gold wedding bands, glass condiment and spice bottles, good-as-new strips of black lace, copper coffee pots and dinnerware and still-sealed bottles of cologne and

DPT vaccine supply exhausted

TOPEKA — State supplies of the DPT vaccine are exhausted and the state will not be able to order more until additional state money is appropriated, health officials said Thursday.

Supplies of the vaccine, which protect children against diptheria, whooping cough and tetanus, have been depleted since the first week in January, said Richard Parker, director of the Bureau of Epidemiology for the state Department of Health and Environment. Inventories of the vaccine at many of the state's community health departments are also gone, he said.

The state agency says it needs $365,000 for the vaccines, but Gov. Mike Hayden has asked the Legislature for $140,000 for the program.

Also, health departments in two of the state's largest counties are now buying the vaccine from private distributors until the state can supply it again. Officials with the Shawnee County Health Department said those purchases have already cost the county about $6,000.

Sheryle Burns, epidemiology officer for the Sedgwick County Health Department said that with the vaccine the department has purchased privately, it will be a couple of weeks before the agency will run completely out.

The increasing cost of the vaccine and an increase in restrictions on the use of federal funds the state receives to supplement its purchase of it have caused the state to run out of money to purchase the vaccine, officials said.

"Basically, we just got caught short," Parker said. Supplies of other vaccines such as the Measles, Mumps and Rubella vaccine and the Oral Polio vaccine are purchased with federal grants and are not threatened.

Campus Bulletin

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Campus organizations are encouraged to use Campus Bulletin. All announcements must be submitted by 11 a.m. one day prior to publication. Announcements for Monday's bulletin must be in by 11 a.m. Friday. However, publication is determined by the amount of space available on a first-come, first-serve basis and is not ensured. Information forms are available on the shelf outside Kedzie 118. Forms should be left in the box on the shelf after being filled out. All submissions must be signed and are subject to verification. Questions should be directed to the Collegian's campus editors in Kedzie 116.

CAREER PLANNING AND PLACE-MENT CENTER is now posting sign-up schedules for on-campus employment interviews by Kansas, regional and national employers. All eligible candidates are urged to register and apply.

KSU RODEO CLUB Anyone interested in competing for the 1989 Miss Rodeo K-State Contest must notify Kelly Freitag today at

UFM is sponsoring a chili feed on Jan. 21 from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Cost is $3. Call 539-8763 for reservations.

THE K-STATE DEPARTMENTS OF ENGLISH AND PHILOSOPHY are sponsoring a lecture at 4 p.m. Tuesday in Denison 220. Rosiland Ladd of Wheaton College will speak on the topic of "Death and Children's Literature: Charlotte's Web and the Dying Child."

TODAY

MARCHING BAND will meet at 6:30 p.m. in the Wareham Opera House for a banquet, slide show and dance.

INTERVARSITY CHRISTIAN FEL-LOWSHIP will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Union OWLS will meet at 3 p.m. in the UFM building, 1221 Thurston.

AFRICAN STUDENTS' UNION will meet at 8 p.m. in the International Students'

SUNDAY

STUDENTS FOR EDUCATIONAL AWARENESS will meet at 8 p.m. in Union

DELT DARLINGS will meet at 7 p.m. in the Delta Tau Delta House.

MONDAY

CHIMES will meet at 9 p.m. in Union 205.

HUMAN ECOLOGY COUNCIL will meet at 5:15 p.m. in Justin 254.

ENGINEERING STUDENT COUNCIL will meet at 6:30 p.m. in Union 213.

ASSOCIATION OF COLLEGIATE ENTREPRENEURS will meet at 7 p.m. in the Union Big 8 room.

BUSINESS COUNCIL will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Union 209.

BUSINESS AMBASSADORS will meet at 5 p.m. in Calvin 201.

KARATE CLUB will meet at 8:15 p.m. in Union Ballroom K.

BETA ALPHA PSI will meet at 7 p.m. in the Union Little Theater.

IEEE EXECUTIVE BOARD will meet at 3:30 p.m. in the Electrical Engineering Conference Room in Durland.

BETA ALPHA PSI will meet at 6 p.m. in Calvin 212. Fall and spring pledges must

CHRISTIAN STUDENT FELLOW-SHIP will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 204.

GERMAN TABLE will meet at 11:30 a.m. in Union Stateroom 2.

WEDNESDAY

BETA ALPHA PSI will meet at 6 p.m. in Calvin 212. Fall and spring pledges must

ROCK CLIMBING CLUB will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 208.

K-State Police

Wednesday

- A student parking permit was reported lost or stolen off campus.
- Books worth $100 were stolen from a backpack on campus.
- An injured, stray dog was taken to the Veterinary Medical Center.
- A child dislocated his shoulder at the Jardine Terrace Apartments.
- Three stalls were barricaded in the visitor's section of lot A-30 as requested. ---

Thursday

- Criminal damage to a 1984 Ford in lot A-15 was reported. Damage was an estimated $25.

- Criminal damage to the hood and hood ornament of a vehicle in lot A-2 was reported. Loss was estimated at $26 and damage $75. A silver Ford Mustang was
- towed from lot A-5 to Manhattan Wrecker. Damage to the right rear fender and a missing left rear wheel cover were reported before towing. A silver and maroon Pontiac
- Firebird was towed from reserve stall 218 to Mike's Wrecker. Damage to the left rear fender and bottom side of the left front fender were reported before towing.
- Six parking stalls in the visitor's section of lot A-30 were requested to be barricaded early Friday morning.
- A maroon and white Mustang A water extractor valued at was disabled for half an hour in front $745 was stolen from Willard Hall. of Nichols Hall.

FREE McCain Tickets

Become an usher at McCain Auditorium. In return for your time we will give you free tickets to the exciting events scheduled in the McCain Performance Series.

Join us at an orientation meeting in the McCain Lobby on Tuesday, January 24 at 4 p.m.

If you are unable to attend, call 532-6425 for details.

BOTHERS In Aggleville

FRI. •Free Sandwich Bar 4-7 p.m. $2 Daiguiris, Pina Coladas,

and Ice Cream Drinks.

•No Cover Charge For the ladies

SAT. •$2 Margaritas

1120 Moro 537-9511 18 to Enter 21 to Drink

Hear him on KMKF 101.7 Sundays 10-2

WESTWOOD ONE RADIO NETWORKS

Closed Classes

19910 16-66
16-670
16-670
16-700
16-700
16-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-700
17-10710 10710 10710 10710 10710 10710 10710 10710 10710 10710 10710 10710 10710 11710

Cuffy addresses campus issues

By Steve Logback

Informing the student body about issues which directly affect it was the purpose of the State of the University Address delivered by Student Body President Laurian Cuffy Thursday in the Union Courtyard.

Cuffy and Student Senate Chairman Todd Johnson spoke to about 50 people in an event sponsored by the Union Program Council's Issues and Ideas Committee.

In his opening statements, Cuffy said commitment to informing students about University issues was his main goal.

"I'll make sure that any type of information I have or that is being dealt with in student government is somehow channeled to you (the students)," he said. "We're going to try to use every vehicle possible to try to keep you informed and this (speech) is one vehicle."

Drawing from his campaign slogan, "Unity and Growth," Cuffy said it is important to enhance the cultural awareness of all students.

"It calls upon you, it challenges you as individuals within the student body to reach out to other students," he said. "What I perceive my job as being, one of the major things, is to really focus in on the development and enhancement here at K-State in

Cuffy said he wanted to clarify the "informal coalition" between himself and John McIntyre, senior in industrial engineering, who was defeated by Cuffy in last semester's student body presidential election runoff.

He said the coalition is actually the joining of the leaders of the executive, legislative and judicial branches of student government in order to understand issues affecting the student body.

Staff/Christopher T. Assat

Student Body President Laurian Cuffy delivers the State of the University Address to an audience of about 50 in the Union Courtryard Thursday. The event was sponsored by the Union Program Council.

tency of recommendations made by student government and the engineering council regarding engineering fee increases. He said communication between the two groups will need to be improved to prevent further inconsistencies.

Student government representatives felt the proposed fee increase should not be enacted because it might set bad precedent for other programs, Cuffy said.

Another issue he addressed was the need to have a student government section in the Collegian.

"It would allow a measure of accountability as far as our student Cuffy also explained the inconsis- senators are concerned," he said.

Cuffy said another important aspect of student government is Lobby Day, Feb. 6. He said it is important to get students to meet their legislators in order to promote their ideas.

Johnson previewed issues expected to be confronted by Senate this semester, including investigation into the divestment of student monies possibly invested in companies conducting business in South

He said the Senate needs to consider how many dollars are invested is affecting the citizens of that nation. Another issue Johnson said is important is the proposed athletic

"That's something that is really heating up," he said.

Cuffy also elaborated on the athletic fee, saying he was not opposed to the athletic fee, but rather to student ignorance of the issue.

"Students need to get informed and need to get detailed information, not only as far as the athletic proposal is concerned, but also other fees that may come up," he said.

Cuffy said the athletic department in South Africa and how this money is currently in a slump, and Senate must consider how the fee will affect the University.

Speakers explain life after athletics

Martin Luther King Jr.

By Jodl Johnson Collegian Reporter

"The quality of life after athletics is determined by the life you lead now," said David Hall, associate dean of Northeastern University Law School.

Hall's message, "Life After Athletics," was given in the Union Ballroom last night to about 150 people as part of Martin Luther King Jr. Week.

Hall, a 1972 graduate in political science and former K-State basketball player, said athletics should be used as a training ground for social change.

"I know that the qualities and characteristics that distingushed Dr. King, and the men and women who worked with him, are the same attributes you are learning as athletes right now," Hall said. "You must learn to carry these attributes from the basketball court to life.'

Athletic Director Steve Miller agreed with Hall's message.

professional football stint with the campuses today.

Detroit Lions that ended when he was injured after four games. "I can relate very briefly that there is life after sports," Miller said. "You must realize that things do change, and it affects not only your life, but emotionally and spiritually."

Hall said athletes need to be aware of the challenges that await them and to not only to prepare for athletics, but for life outside of athletics as well.

"Preparation is nine-tenths of victory," Hall said. "If you only prepare yourself athletically, then you are limiting and shortchanging yourself."

He said athletes should never be victims of the "athletic syndrome," which is when an athlete's future is dependent on how well an they perform. Hall, who owns the K-State basketball record for most rebounds in a game with 27 against the University of Oklahoma, said it is important to include other activities along with athletics.

'Not only did I pull down 27 rebounds that night, but the next day I led a meeting for the Black Student Union," he said. "Though my life was successful in one area, I did not center my life around that one area - I hope and pray you do this also."

Hall said despite the numerous changes that have occurred since the civil rights movement, the Miller told the crowd of his struggle continues on college

INITIATION is here . . .

776-5577

Come in and see our Greek Gift Room: Lil Sis Pillows, Boxers, Sweatshirts, Wooden Gifts, Pin Pillows, etc. 537-9103

2615 ANDERSON 15% off with KSU Student I.D. HOURS: Mon-Sat 9:30-5:30, Thurs: 9:30-9:00 pm, Sun: 1-5 pm

NAGEL/PLAYBOY PORTFOLIO

OFF 20% All Posters STRECKER

10-5 Tues.-Sat. 332 Poyntz 539-2139

GALLERY

Creative Entertainment Movie Information 539-1291 In Junction City Call 762-409 CAMPUS HEART OF AGGIEVILLE

SCROOGED PG-13 TODAY AT 7:00 AND 9:00 MAT. SAT. & SUN. AT 3:00 AND 5:00

WESTLOOP CINEMA 6

THE NAKED GUN PG-13 TODAY AT 4:35-7:05-9:30
MATINEE SAT. & SUN. AT 2:05 TEQUILA SUNRISER

TODAY AT 4:35-7:05-9:30 MATINEE SAT. & SUN. AT 2:05 GLEAMING THE CUBEPG-13 TODAY AT 4:30-7:00-9:20 MATINEE SAT. & SUN. AT 2:00

OLIVER AND COMPANY TODAY AT 4:30 ONLY MATINEE SAT. & SUN. AT 2:00

MYSTIC PIZZAR TODAY AT 7:00 AND 9:20 ONLY

THE JANUARY MANR

TODAY AT 4:40-7:10-9:25 MATINEE SAT. & SUN. AT 2:15 TWINSPG TODAY AT 4:40-7:10-0:25 MATINEE SAT. & SUN. AT 2:15

1304 WESTLOOP 539-0888

Super Bowl Super Deal Free Delivery

For Two:

EXPRESS

2 Crispy Won Tons 2 Crab Ragoons 2 Egg Rolls 4 Spicy Chicken Wing Segments Sweet and Sour Chicken Beef with Broccoli Fried Rice

2 Fortune Cookies $15

4 Crispy Won Tons

For Four:

4 Crab Ragoons 4 Egg Rolls 8 Spicy Chicken

Wing Segments Sweet and Sour Pork Kung Pao Chicken Shrimp Chow Mein Fried Rice

4 Fortune Cookies

$30

Drive To Mexico In 10 Minutes!

That's about how long it takes to get from the K-State campus to Raoul's Escondido on the west side of Manhattan. Once you're there, you'll see why we call it Mexico!

You'll be treated to an all-you-can-eat buffet filled with authentic mexican food made from family recipes. It's fast, it's convenient, and best of all, it's inexpensive; just $4.50 every day for lunch!

When you're ready for a taste of authentic Mexico, remember, you can drive a short 10 minutes to Raoul's Escondido, or you can drive 915 miles south!

COME SEE US TODAY!

776-5577

Pizza Shuttle

"NO COUPON SPECIALS"

Prime Time Special 3-10 in. Pizzas 1—Topping 4-Cokes ° 10.00

Everyday Two-Fers 2-10 in. pizzas 2-Toppings 2-Cokes $8.00

FAST N FREE DELIVERY

WE WANT TO MAKE YOUR STUDENT LOAN!

Have the professionals at Kansas State Bank make your student loan. Simply contact us at:

537-4400

Lender code #821176

ANSAS STATE BANK

Westloop • Aggieville • K-State Union, Manhattan, Kansas 66502

Editorial

Kansas State Collegian Opinions ■ Friday, January 20, 1989

Student body lacks government interest

Laurian Cuffy's efforts to inform K-Staters about student government are admirable. The question is: just how interested are students in being informed about student government issues?

Unfortunately, given the attendance at Cuffy's State of the University Address Thursday at noon in the K-State Union Courtyard, the indication is that students are not very interested.

The address occurred at a time and place easily accessible to many students. However, only 50 students out of the entire student body of nearly 18,000 were there. Of those 50, only two students had questions afterward - one a former student senator, the other a representative from the press.

This, as well as the number of students who voted in last semester's student government elections - 2,543 students out of a student body of 19,301 — gives the indication that students are not very interested in their own government.

Also, considering the number of calls the Student Senate Hotline (what's that?) receives - which senators themselves say is next to none - interest just doesn't seem

This is reinforced by the nonattendance at Student Senate meetings by K-State students. During Thursday's meeting, all visitors' chairs were empty except those filled by the open period speakers. Interest level definitely appears to be fairly low.

Consider the regular coverage of Student Senate by the Collegian, the existence of the Senate Hotline and even the State of the University Address. The information is available, but not consumed.

Reading the newspaper, stopping by the Student Government Services Office in the Union, or talking to senators — these are all simple ways a student body can become more informed.

Cuffy based much of his campaign on information and unity, but becoming informed on student government issues is the students' responsibility - and one they obviously aren't concerned about.

Sandinistas promote peace oo little information comes through the mass media about Nicaragua. So, it's not surprising if you've never heard anything about developments in Nicaragua's Atlantic Coast region, where conflicts arose between Atlantic Coast inhabitants and the Sandinista government soon after the 1979 revolution.

Some informed critics of the Sandinistas have gotten a fair amount of argumentative ammunition from the Sandinistas' early abuses of the Atlantic Coast's indigenous people, most of whom are Miskito Indians and have traditionally lived in isolation from the rest of the country.

For instance, the Sandinistas' "attempts to impose farm cooperatives, village committees and militias often clashed with the traditional forms of organization and the desires of the Indians."

This is reported in the Oct. 28, 1988 edition of "The Militant," a socialist newspaper very supportive of the Sandinista government, but which nonetheless seems to have over the years done a fairly objective job of reporting on Nicaragua.

"The Militant" goes on to say, "some Sandinista cadres brought with them attitudes that reflect the ignorance and prejudices about the coast peoples prevalent in the Pacific region (of Nicaragua)."

What "The Militant" does not mention is that clashes between the Miskitos and Sandinistas were sometimes violent and ended in the deaths of anywhere from a few dozen to two to three hundred Indians overall, depending on the sources one consults. This is clearly shameful and inexcusable and it is no wonder the majority of the about 80,000 Nicaraguan Miskitos fled to Honduras in late 1981 and 1982. Nor is it surprising that thousands took up arms against the Sandinista government, many joining the Contra forces. By 1983, "The Militant" reports, the Sandinistas recognized the futility of a purely military attempt as a solution to the crisis in the region.

In efforts to improve relations with the indigenous peoples, the government "released most Miskito prisoners and offered amnesty to any fighters who laid down their arms. It also abolished the special passes required of coast residents.'

Kale Baldock Contributing

Commentary

Of course, the government could never bring back those killed, but the harassment of the Miskito Indians did cease.

Columnist

After a December 1984 declaration by the Sandinista leadership to support autonomy on the Atlantic Coast, talks began between Sandinista and Miskito leaders to come to terms on an autonomy agreement. Finally, a law was drafted and was accepted by Nicaragua's National Assembly in September ut this was no magic solution to the problems faced by the Miskitos. The Contra war was still on, and although many Miskitos who had taken up arms surrendered and took up their lives once again on the coast, large numbers of them kept fighting.

By then, those who continued to fight not only considered the Sandinistas the enemy, but also fellow Miskitos who had made peace with the Sandinistas. This was probably due to the staunch right-wing, anti-communist indoctrination the Miskito fighters received from the CIA-supported Contras.

After telling of anti-Sandinista Miskitos killing "defenseless Miskitos," Susana Morley, a Miskito, told "The Militant," "We were living the reality of Nicaragua and we knew the Sandinistas were not bad like the Contra propaganda said."

This assessment may seem a bit rosy, but Morley goes on to describe how the Contras told the Miskitos that the vaccination programs being administered to them by the Sandinista government would kill their children. Miskito Contra leader Steadman Fagoth was instrumental in formulating lies in the minds of the Miskitos.

Morley said, "Fagoth told us the Sandinistas were going to take away our land and give it to the Russians. ... He said they planned to kill all the Miskitos, so we should flee and take up arms to defend ourselves."

For his calling the Miskitos to arms, the government arrested Fagoth and leaders of his group. However, this created protest among the Miskitos, so the Sandinistas released Fagoth and his men, who then went to Honduras to join the Contras.

The situation on Nicaragua's Atlantic Coast has come a long way from what it was in the early 1980's. The autonomy plan initiated by the Sandinista government has given the people residing in the coastal regions the right to form their own local governments through which to make their own decisions and govern their own lives.

hese steps of good faith on the part of the Sandinistas, along with the amnesty program for fighters who lay down their arms, have led thousands of Miskito Indians to do just that. Encouragement from Miskito civilians who now believe the Sandinistas' actions are sincere has

Such pleas were instrumental in bringing the leaders of 320 members of the armed Miskito group Yatama to sign a peace agreement with the Nicaraguan government on Oct. 1,

"For years we had nothing but war," Octavio Edward told "The Militant," as he described how the war tore apart the local economy, created unemployment and a lack of goods.

"We couldn't even vaccinate our children, since health workers were afraid to come.' The Nicaraguan government has pledged to restore health and educational services to the region, as well as resume logging operations, which should provide jobs and boost the local economy.

The Yatama troops are reportedly reorganizing as a local defense militia and will receive supplies from the Sandinista People's

The Sandinistas are far from perfect and have obviously made some mistakes. But their attempts to make up for such mistakes by promoting peace and autonomy on the Atlantic Coast need to be kept in mind in judging their overall actions and intentions for the people of Nicaragua.

Hayden's timing poor on death penalty issue

In a fine example of poor timing, Kansas Gov. Mike Hayden chose Martin Luther King Jr. Day to pledge his commitment to restore the death penalty in our state.

Remember, this is the same person who signed the bill into law which made Martin Luther King Jr. in the first place.

death penalty on a holiday honoring a man whose ideology consisted of faith in God and nonviolence, Hayden insulted anyone who respects King's contributions Day. to America.

Hayden justified support of the death penalty because of "overwhelming public support" and long-held personal convictions. He also said the measure is a show of support for the law enforcement community and for families of the murder victims.

The U.S. government established a federal holiday to honor King in light of his service, not only to black people, but to the entire nation.

In a speech delivered exactly two months before his death, King emphasized humility and that he didn't want to be remembered for a Nobel Peace Prize.

If he were alive today, King would probably cringe at the idea of a national holiday in his honor. Day an official holiday in Kansas However, because there is a day in his honor, it seems insulting to By announcing support of the announce support for such a proposal on that day.

> Hayden said it was merely a coincidence his announcement occurred on Martin Luther King Jr.

> It is probably not a coincidence Hayden chose a day on which there would be little significant news, such as the King holiday, so his announcement could make the front page of the state's newspapers and be the leading item on the stations' evening news.

Hayden hopes opponents respect him for taking a position he thinks is in the public's best interest. Let's hope we can continue respecting a governor who doesn't check his calendar.

Collegian Editorial Policies

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR are always encouraged. Those which pertain to matters of campus and/or public interest are especially encouraged, and are given the highest priority.

Letters should be kept as brief as possible, preferably under 300 words. Those who cannot condense their opinions should consider submitting their letter in the form of a guest column. All letters are subject to editing for space, style and taste.

GUEST COLUMNS are also encouraged. The column should be no longer than two double-spaced, typed pages. If the submission is used as a column and not a letter to the editor, it will be accompanied by the author's photograph. SEND SUBMISSIONS to the Collegian in Kedzie 116.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

EDITORIAL PAGE EI	DITOR	Catherine Doud
PHOTO/GRAPHICS E	EDITOR	Grea Vocal
or milita mail and blue
ADVERTISING MANA	AGER	Todd Schultz
EDITORIAL BOARD	Barbara Baker, Kale Baldock, Nancy Chartrand, Cal
	Brian Hummell, Dwayne Lively, Scott Miller,	Michael Nichols, Paula Selby
	Chad L. Sanborn, Mark Schmeller, Erwin Seba, Robert R. Short, Bre-	t Stranathan, Janet Swanson
The Kansas State C	collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is	nublehad by Ot wheet Oubline
	103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published Monday through Fri ly during summer sessions. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Ki
POSTMASTER: Sen	nd address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103,	Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan, 66506-71	167.
News contributions	will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian new	mmom Vedele Hall 116
	local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 53 2-6560, Classified word advertising questions should	id be directed to (913) 532-6555.
	Kanses State Collegian Subscription Rates
One Semester (Fall or	y Spring)	606
Tun Semesters /Estl	and Corina)
CHO SHIRMSING (Fall)	and Spring)
Summer Session		$10
One Year (Fall, Spring	g and Summer)	$50
	To charge by VISA or MasterCard, call (913) 532-6555
Send orders and addre	ses changes to Student Publications, Kedzie Hall 103, Kansas State Unive	mily Manhattan Man 00500 water making series measure	the sample to property t specimental treathe time 100' tempore prese pilito	ranty, metririmitatri, Posti, October.

Public apology

I would like to submit my public apology in regards to my actions at the K-State-KU game last Saturday.

I am not going to make excuses for what I did, that is not my intent. My only intention in writing this is to apologize to the university community, players, fans, Coliseum Director Charles Thomas, and all other offended individuals, to let them know that I am truly sorry about what happened. My actions were irresponsible and unsportsmanlike. I had no intention of hurting anyone - the fans, the mascot, no one - nor was I trying to be a hero.

I hope my actions will not have adverse effects on future K-State-KU games or any other events. I realize now that my misguided and emotional attempt to excite the crowd in hopes that it might give our team the spark it was going to take to win the game was a terrible mistake. This spark can only come from a great effort in the spirit of true sportsmanship by the team and fans alike. Because of my mistake, the great effort by the fans was not to

Finally, and perhaps most importantly, I wish to express my apology and remorse to the Jayhawk mascot who was the victim of my indiscretion. After being led away from the coliseum, handcuffed, taken to jail, and subsequently bonded out, I (through the assistance of friends) located the Jayhawk mascot, who was still in Manhattan, and was relieved to find out that he had not been hurt. I was able to speak with him regarding my poor judgment.

I would like to thank the team for its courageous effort and a great game and wish the Wildcats the best of luck with the rest of the

Doug Sander junior in physical education Fan disgusted

As a thoroughly devoted Wildcat basketball fan, I was disgusted with the mindless action of one student at Saturday's K-State-University of Kansas clash. At no time in the 15 years I've attended Wildcat games can I remember anyone, student or otherwise, accosting an opponent's mascot or Don't get me wrong, I don't hold a great fondness for the Jayhawk either, but that doesn't open the door for anyone to physically attack another - no matter how obnoxious they may seem.

A blindside hit like that was the equivalent of a clipping foul in football. Such a shot could've easily done knee damage, but the student involved didn't hesitate on that minor

Nor did he think of the possible retaliation Willie the Wildcat may face when K-State and KU match up again in Lawrence a week from this Saturday. Rest assured, the tackling incident will remain fresh on KU students

I applaud those who have pressed assault charges against the individual for this senselessness. I'd propose the athletic department go one further. In response to this or any similar extreme behavior in the future I'd like to see the offender banned from all Wildcat basketball games for the duration of his or her college career. That kind of deterrent should send the strong signal necessary here.

If non-students commit the same kind of indiscretion, a similar form of punishment is

Even if the 'Cats had won against those aggravating ol' Hawkers Saturday, the euphoria would've been permanently tainted by the regrettable mascot incident. As a Collegian columnist noted, we lost twice that

Eric Atkinson extension specialist in radio and TV

Soviet troops to pull out missiles

By The Associated Press

VIENNA, Austria — The 50,000 Soviet troops being pulled out of Eastern Europe will take the nuclear missiles and other arms under their control with them, the Soviet foreign minister said

A NATO spokesman welcomed the announcement by Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze as encouraging. U.S. arms negotiator Stephen Ledogar said the speech was "very upbeat, very positive," but warned against reading more into the statement than the Kremlin intended.

Shevardnadze's speech came on the final day of a gathering that produced a 35-nation human rights accord. Shevardnadze said the agreement was the product of a and West.

"The Vienna meeting has shaken up the Iron Curtain, weakened its rusty supports, made new breaches in it and hastened its corrosion," he said, referring to the East-West division as Winston Churchill described it 40 years ago. "Truth must be visible," Shevardnadze said in promising that the Kremlin would publish before the end of the month a timetable for troop removal.

Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev, in a unilateral move, announced in December that Soviet forces would be cut by 500,000 soldiers, including 50,000 stationed in Eastern Europe.

Shevardnadze said the troops departing Eastern Europe will take changing relationship between East with them "all their organic armaments, including tactical nuclear systems.'

> He also said the Soviet Union has stopped modernizing its shortrange nuclear weapons and called on the United States to follow suit.

> Those arms are tactical missiles with a range of less than 312 miles. The Soviet Union and the United States signed an accord more than a year ago to eliminate all intermediate-range nuclear forces and are negotiating for deep cuts in strategic arms.

> Ledogar, the U.S. ambassador to arms talks that are to start in March, said modernization is an option the United States would like to keep until NATO and the Soviet-led Warsaw Pact have an equal number of troops, tanks and other non-

"We don't want to abandon the nuclear leg of the deterrent until we have a much better situation on conventional forces," he told The Associated Press.

During a brief exchange with reporters after his speech, Shevardnadze made it clear that only shortrange weapons that are part of the military units to be withdrawn will be dismantled without conditions.

He said he could not say what percentage of the Kremlin's shortrange stockpile would remain deployed but that these figures and others will be released in detail before the March 9 start of the Conventional Armed Forces in Europe negotiations.

Recycling plan considered as source of campus funds

By Carrie Law Collegian Reporter

Two cents may not seem like much, but when you multiply it by 800,000 it adds up to a lot. According to Bill Wisdom, administrative officer for the Union, 800,000 cans of soda were purchased last year on campus. Had these cans been recycled, K-State could have saved $16,000. The reality of these figures is what gave George Miller, vice president for administration and finance, the idea of creating a recycling program at K-State.

"We can't afford not to recycle," Miller said.

Ed Rice, chairman of the K-State Recycling Committee, said that in order for the program to work, it needs to be kept as simple as possible. The committee is considering the potential of recycling aluminum, glass and paper and the costs that recycling may incur.

Rice said implementing the program would take a tremendous amount of help from faculty, students and staff. The projected date for a minimal recycling program is July 1.

The cost of operating the recycling project should be covered by the project itself. Additional profits may be used for intramural athletics and travel allowance for faculty members.

Phil Anderson, instructor of speech, contributed the idea of offer-

omprehensive

4401 West 109th (I-435 & Roe)

Lealth for Women

ing the proceeds of the recycling proiect to students in the form of scholarships. In Nichols Hall, for example, an average of 1,500 to 2,000 cans of soda are purchased every month. Anderson said this could raise $350 per year for speech scholarships. 'We do want to support our students," Anderson said.

One complication encountered was that cans used by Pepsi are made of steel, which is not recyclable, he said. The problem was solved by replacing the Pepsi machine with a Coke machine, which makes its cans of aluminum. Product preference was not a factor in opting for a Coke

Anderson said he is hopeful the Kansas Legislature will eventually pass a bottle deposit law, already effective in nearly half of all states, that would ensure all beverage containers must have a deposit.

SUPER BOWL SUNDAY

$1 Stadium Beers (24 oz.) Buckets of Longnecks

25¢ Hot Dogs

10¢ Popcom

GAME ON 7 FT. TV open at noon

99¢ Super Drinks

25¢ Burgers

call for reservations

California gunman had 'hate for everybody'

By The Associated Press

STOCKTON, Calif. - Patrick Purdy, the gunman who killed five Southeast Asian children in a crowded schoolyard, had no grudge against any particular ethnic group, just "a hate for everybody," police said Thursday.

Thirty other people were wounded in Tuesday's attack at Cleveland Elementary School, which ended when Purdy — a loner with drug and alcohol problems and a fascination with all things military - killed himself.

Most of his victims were children of Southeast Asian refugees, but Capt. Dennis Perry said: "Through his lifetime, Mr. Purdy developed a hate for everybody.

Perry said Purdy's enemy list apparently varied from day to day. He might be mad at one group but "the next day if he talked to Joe

Headache? Back Pain? Neck Pain? Not with

Chiropractic Call 537-8305

Dr. Mark Hatesohl

3252 Kimball Ave.

Dokes and he talked about the Lebanese ... he probably didn't like them either."

Purdy was described as a danger to himself and others and suffering from "mild mental retardation" in a mental health report prepared after his arrest in El Dorado County in 1987, Perry said. Arrested for firing at trees with a pistol, he tried to hang himself and slit his wrists while in custody, authorities said.

Perry described Purdy, who attended the school as a boy, as a

UNITED ARTISTS

$ 3 PER PERSON SHOWS BEFORE 6:00 p.m.

SETH CHILDS 6

Deep Star Six (R)

Daily at 7:15 & 9:30 Sat/Sun 2:10 4:40 & 7:15 9:50

Talk Radio (R)

Sat/Sun 2:00 & 4:30

Dirty Rotten Scoundrals (PG)

Daily 7:15 & 9:40, Sat/Sun 9:05 & 11:30

Rain Man (R)
Daily 7:10 & 9:45, Sat/Sun 9:25 & 12:00

Accidental Tourist (PG)
Daily 7:20 & 9:45, Sat/Sun 9:25 & 11:50

Working Girl (R)
Daily 7:20 & 9:35
Sat/Sun 9:20 & 11:35

"loner, no friends, no particularly known girlfriends, a problem with alcohol, a problem with marijuana and a distinct dislike for everybody not a particular race, everybody.'

"In a way he beat us, because we'll never know" why he did it, said Perry, chief of the investigation.

Purdy, 24, slipped into the schoolyard after detonating a pipe bomb in his battered station wagon. He fired more than 100 bullets with a Chinese-made semi-automatic AK-47 assault rifle before taking his own life with a pistol. The five youngsters killed were all children of Southeast Asian refugees. A 6-year-old boy remained in serious condition Thursday and 17 pupils and a teacher were in stable condition. The others were treated and released.

Dental Associates of Manhattan Get To Know Us Before You Need Us C.W. Hughes, D.D.S. J.R. Pettle, D.D.S. W.L. Lala, D.D.S. R.A. Fulton, D.D.S. W.C. Strutz, D.D.S. 1133 College Ave. Bldg. D Manhattan Medical Center Manhattan, Kansas 66502 (913) 539-7401

If you need abortion or birth control services, we can help. Confidential pregnancy testing . Safe, affordable abortion services . Birth control . Tubal ligation . Gyn exams . Testing and treatment for sexually transmitted diseases. Providing quality health care to women since 1974. Insurance, VISA & MasterCard accepted.

Overland Park, Kansas For information and appointments (913) 345-1400 Toll Free (except KS) 1-800-227-1918  Non-traditional Students Owls Nests Friday, January 21 from 3-6 p.m. UFM - 1221 Thurston (corner of Thurston and N. Manhattan) Come meet the new officers of OWLS (formerly aarts)

COME TO THE MOVIES TONIGHT 7 p.m. Free Admission Now on our big screen "SILKWOOD"

UCM Student Center 1021 Denison United Campus Ministry

Starring Meryl Streep

RUMMING DHWG

Manhattan's newest athletic apparel/shoe store!

•Reebok running shoes 25% OFF

Softball bats and gloves 25% OFF

·Sweats 1/2 OFF while they last

Converse Cons hi-top basketball shoes $34.99 Reg. $54.99

300 Poyntz · Downtown

776-4949

Valentino's

The Pizza Restaurant That Didn't Stop With Pizza

THE TRADITION HAS TRANSFERRED

Same Great Food . . .

 Award-winning Pizza
 Fabulous Salad Bar Homemade Italian Specialties •Fantastic Luncheon & Evening Buffets

Same Great Service . . . For Take-Out or Delivery call: 537-4350

Great New Location

East of Alco in Village Plaza Shopping Center

3003 ANDERSON SUITE 941

Open Daily at 11 a.m.

ALCO X

JANUARY CLEARANCE SALE

Huge Selection of Namebrand Shoes, 30-40% off

REEBOK Ragbok

SPOTBILT PROAXAS MID AEROBIC 4000 MID DL 1400 RUNNING CLUB CHAMPION 59-35°° 54-30°° 53-30°° BASKETBALL Hi 53-30°° BASKETBALL Lo 39*5-2500 COACHES WHITE 5195-3000 7400-4000 COURAGEOUS 29-18°° 46-25°° CL 1000 RUNNING WOMEN WALKING WOMEN CYCLONE IC 1000 FITNESS TIGER SET NO. ECHELON 2905-1800 GII RUNNING 89-4500 4200-2500 SPORTS TRAINER PROLEGACY MID 69-35 76-40°° 59-32°° BASKETBALL HI LADY TENNIS NEW BALANCE 49-3000 M476 BASKETBALL PUMA PHE 63-35°° WOMEN XTG 4995-3000 W476 MEN XTG KAEPA 44 raupa AVIA AVIA 46-25 AEROBIC AEROBIC Lo MEN RUNNING 53-3000 MEN TENNIS 49-2500 69-3500 CONVERSE CONVERSE BROOKS >ZHOUR 31-18°° 34-20°° CLASSIC HI NOUVEAU 66*5-3500 NEEHI 58-3000 BASKETBALL LO CHUCK TAYLOR BASKETBALL HI 62-35 24-1500 ALL STAR LADY REVELATION 64-3500 TURQUIS, YELLOW, ORANGE, RASPBERRY, IRISH SPRING, KHAKI, BRIGHT BLUE LADY DEVOTION 59-3000 MEN PERSONA

Large Selection of Active Sportswear

20% Off Fashion Sweats Lightweight Jackets 20% off Childrens Leotards Aerobic Wear (Tanks & kneetights) Warm ups

40% off 30% off 30% off

JACKETS 30% off

BALLARD'S SPORTING GOODS Hours: M-Th 8:30-8:00

Fri & Sat. 8:30-5:30

Speech classes cut from fall schedule

By Mindy Robert Collegian Reporter

When the fall 1989 line schedules come out, two courses will be missing. The Department of Speech will not offer Employment Interview or Interpersonal Communications.

Harold Nichols, head of the speech department, said enrollment was a factor in the decision not to offer these courses next fall.

Nichols said that after a "healthy" enrollment for Interpersonal Communications in fall 1987, the course enrollment was below 10 in spring 1988 and enrollment was down to three students in the course in fall 1988.

Figures from the Enrollment Center show enrollment in Interpersonal Communications for this semester to be 24, with 25 being the maximum allowed in the class.

"It looks as though that class should be offered no more than once a year, and maybe every third semester," Nichols said.

He said Employment Interview has also experienced a drop in enrollment.

One section of Employment Interview has 21 students enrolled and the other section has 16. Both sections have a maximum enrollment of 25.

Nichols said there were previously four sections of Employment Interview.

The department must offer classes where there is pressure from students to offer them, he said.

Nichols said the decision to not offer the courses was made by the faculty of the speech department in the rhetoric communication

Peggy Null, instructor of speech, teaches Employment Interview.

"The purpose of the course is to give students knowledge and an interview 'script' so they will be prepared for the initial selection interview," Null said. "The course should be taught."

The course also helps students by making them understand how difficult the job search is, she said.

"The job search is difficult and can become frustrating," Null

16" PIZZA

one topping

with coupon

expires Jan. 31

a cardboard pizza

price"

523 South 17th

537-1484

THE NEW-

premium pizza at

dine-in or free delivery

said. "Students need guidance." Carol Todd, junior in marketing and management, said Employment Interview is a worthwhile course. "It helped me tremendously. I feel I can go out and find a job after having this class," she said. "When I'm interviewing, I'll be very self-confident."

While no one has denied the need for the course, Null said, "the course has not found a

She said there is some question as to what department should offer a course like Employment Interview.

Bruce Laughlin, director of the Career Planning and Placement Center, said his office provides library materials, books, audio visuals and other resources to help students prepare for job interviews.

Career planning and placement does not provide assimilated interviews, but students are able to meet with counselors to discuss any questions they may have, he

The center probably does not have the time and resources to conduct a class on interviewing, Laughlin said.

Janet Meyer, instructor of speech, teaches Interpersonal Communications. Meyer said the course gives students practical applications for everyday interaction.

She said students discuss how people define social relationships, conflict resolution and the relationship between language and social relations.

Lonna Dale, sophomore in family studies, has taken the Interpersonal Communications course.

"I learned how to communicate effectively with other people," Dale said. "I think it is a good

The course also taught Dale how to be an effective listener. "I'm going into counseling so (Interpersonal Communications) helped me in that," she said. Null said the thrust in the speech department is going toward public speaking. ■ See SPEECH, Page 10

AVIATION

CADET

PROGRAM

Do you want to fly?

24, with Associate

Pilot training, ages 19-

Degree or 60 semester

Aviation Cadet Program.

physically qualified with a GPA 3.2. Call Naval Management placement

office Mon.-Thurs., 9

a.m.-4 p.m. 1-

800-821-5110.

Must be U.S. Citizen, hours for our Naval

Violent Femmes' music mature

By Doug Fall Collegian Reviewer

Many thought Violent Femmes was finished after its last album, "The Blind Leading the Naked." Now, several years later and without fanfare, the band has returned with its latest effort, "Three."

The Violent Femmes produced 12 songs that should return it to its glory days among college radio music fans. Where the last album failed to follow up on hits such as "Blister in the Sun," "Add It Up," and "Country Death Song," this album succeeds.

Violent Femmes has definitely matured. The cover depicts the band members as three mild-mannered, GQ-type, conservative friends back for a reunion - a sharp contrast to the bizzare portraits on their last album. However, under the mask of this moderate and calm front lies the same hard-driving, slightly discordant sound that gave the band its popularity. Although the music has been tempered slightly, it has not been tampered with. There is still enough frenzy in its sound to please the most demanding Violent Femmes fan.

Review

There are several songs that seem to be regressions back to the style on the first album. "Just Like My Father," a song about heredity but with a twist, contains all the trademarks of this band such as the prominent bass and the acoustic-sounding guitar that sounds slightly out of

"I'm just like my father / Only I am much worse," sings lead vocalist Gordon Gano. These unconventional lyrics seem to be recurrent in almost all of the Violent Femmes' songs. "Nightmares" is almost humorous as Gano describes his distaste for one of his former girlfriends.

A cynical attitude toward women and relationships in general permeates this album, as it does on other Violent Femmes albums. "Mother of describes yet another female friend he has grown to dislike. "You look like you could be / The mother of a girl, / A girl I hate more / Than any other girl in the world."

If one stops merely at this, "Three" would appear to be a boring and monotonous album. What makes it so interesting are Gano's lyrics that border on the paranoid, or perhaps the nonsensical.

In "Outside the Palace," a somewhat atypical Violent Femmes song, Gano surfaces sounding almost neurotic. Through a clever system of rhyming, he denies a list of unrelated events that indirectly focuses on incest and religion - another common theme of Gano's songs.

His father was, perhaps still is, a very devout minister. Gano has struggled with which side to take, and his lyrics reflect this. In the past he has written songs from "Jesus Walking on the Water," where he doubts Christ's existence, to the other extreme in "Faith," which sounds more in line with his father.

Gano attacked modern religion in his last album with "Love and Me Make Three," a song which denounces the yuppie values which have infiltrated the modern church. On this album, "See My Ships" refers a Girl" carries on this motif as Gano repeatedly to Cain, though it develops into an indirect reference to cocaine, or "cold Cain."

> Pessimism, another characteristic of the Violent Femmes' sound, is also present on the new album. The Violent Femmes has always written songs with a bleak outlook, but on this new album, it reappears to a greater extreme. "Nothing Worth Living For," as it obviously sounds, is a very discouraging song, yet Gano pulls it off without destroying the spirited mood the music contains.

> If there is one area that remains untrodden by the Violent Femmes, it is social awareness. But amazing as it sounds, the band actually includes "World We're Living In," a song about the dangers of modern society.

> In a world of AIDS, violent crime, and environmental destruction, Gano despairs at the sight and admits that it isn't like it used to be. Though not in the same league as U2 or Midnight Oil, where Violent Femmes is concerned, anything along this line is truly astonishing.

With "Three," Violent Femmes is back and, from the sounds of it, here to stay. Although several years have passed since the band was last heard from, the sound has remained intact and should secure yet another successful album.

O'Kelly's Carlos doors open

By Mindy Robert Collegian Reporter

After two years of searching for a full-service, sit-down restaurant and bar, Manhattan Town Center will finally get what it was looking for

when Carlos O'Kelly's opens

"We are thrilled to have Carlos O'Kelly's at the Manhattan Town Center," said Chris Heavey, general manager of the mall.

Heavey said the search for this type of restaurant began a year before the mall opened.

A full-service restaurant is "very, very important to the Town Center,' he said.

Its purpose is similar to that of an anchor store. The restaurant will offer the customer an opportunity to sit down for a meal before they decide to shop, Heavey said.

Local restaurants were given the first opportunity to be in the mall before restaurants in a four- to fivestate area were contacted, Heavey

The key to placing Carlos O'Kelly's in the mall was the negotiations and the interest shown in having it in the mall, he said.

Carlos O'Kelly's has eight restaurants across the United States, including locations in Wichita and Topeka. The restaurant offers primarily Northern Mexican and Southwestern American food, said Richard Waite, general manager and coowner of Carlos O'Kelly's.

Waite said the restaurant is still accepting applications for employment. Of the 90 employees already hired, more than half of them are K-State students. Waite said he accepted applications from students mainly for hostesses, food servers, busboys, bartenders and cooks. Food servers will earn $2.01 per hour plus tips, while busboys will earn $2.50 per hour plus a percentage of the tips. Bartenders and cooks start between $3.50 and $4 per hour. Waite said he is waiting to fill some lower supervisory positions until after the restaurant has been open for Carlos O'Kelly's offers foods different than those found in other Northern Mexico.

restaurants of a similar type, Waite

One of the key elements in the concept of Carlos O'Kelly's is "providing our customers with good value for their money," Waite said.

The restaurant will also offer Mexican imported beers and a full bar. Margaritas will be the specialty of

Waite said Carlos O'Kelly's offers a unique atmosphere. The restaurant is designed in the style of Southwestern architecture along with artifacts reminiscent of the old Southwest and

Remember oz. Fishbowls N. 3rd 776-9879

Join us this Mon, Tues weekend at The Finest

Pat Paulsen Little Tavern By a Dam Site! Donahue

537-3133

TGIF-5 p.m. Free Hors d'oeuvres Comedy Invasion

Wednesday-9 p.m.

along w/ Beth

531 N. Manhattan

choice Free. That's Our

1123 Westloop Place, Manhattan 1009 W. 6th, Junction City

In-Stock RentalsM Guarantee. MATIONAL

MORE COPIES OF THE HITSI

Get a head start on an excellent career opportunity.

FEDERAL RESERVE BANK OF KANSAS CITY

MANAGEMENT DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM Analysts and

is seeking

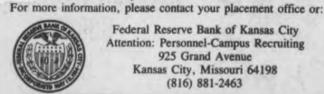

Summer Interns Qualified analyst candidates should receive a business-related or liberal arts degree this spring or summer and be interested in working towards a generalist management position. Our internship program is designed to provide college juniors, seniors, and graduate students with challenging professional work experience in a business environment and the opportunity to evaluate us as a potential employer.

Good communication skills, strong analytical and leadership ability, creativity and initiative are essential to both the analyst and intern positions.

We offer competitive starting salaries and excellent advancement We will be interviewing at your campus placement office on:

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1989

Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City Attention: Personnel-Campus Recruiting 925 Grand Avenue Kansas City, Missouri 64198 (816) 881-2463

KSU COMMITTEE ON RELIGION INVITES YOU: Living the Dream!

INTERFAITH DIALOGUE: JEWISH, CHRISTIAN, MUSLIM "STEREOTYPES AND RELIGION"

5:30 p.m., SUNDAY, JANUARY 22 INTERNATIONAL CENTER

ALL CAMPUS RELIGIOUS GROUPS POTLUCK SUPPER

The meeting will begin with panel presentations which will be followed by informal discussion in small group during supper to discuss how our religious faith stereotypes others or is stereotyped on campus. Our hope is for deeper racial, religious and inter-cultural understanding, broader friendships and global awareness.

EVERYONE WELCOME!

Crisp Wonton Fried Rice Hot & Sour Soup Kung Pao Chicken Sweet & Sour Pork

Beef with Oyster Sauce Hot Braised Chicken Pork with Snow Peas Pineapple Pastry

11 a.m.-1 a.m.

Free Delivery $7 minimum

Entertainment Friday

Kansas State Collegian ■ Friday, January 20, 1989 ■ Page 7

FOOD'N FLICKS

The words "all you can eat" often catch the eyes of hungry, budget-minded college students.

Let's face it — students are always looking for a bargain. The famous purple coupon books are about the only handout at fee payment that ever makes it to a student's room.

A food and entertainment package is now being offered by the Union Program Council and no coupons are needed.

Last Friday was the first installment of the Food 'n Flicks series sponsored by UPC's Feature Film Committee.

Every Friday, for $4.99, students can have all they can eat of three varieties of pasta, dinner salad, garlic bread, beverage and dessert, plus admission to the 7 p.m. movie. The price for children under 10 years of age is $2.99 and children under 3 are admitted free.

The buffet is offered in the Union Bluemont Room. With checkered tablecloths and waiters, dinner here avoids the cafeteria atmosphere of the Union Stateroom.

Last semester UPC sent out a questionnaire to several hundred students, said Marilyn Woodward, program coordinator. The purpose of the questionnaire was to find out how much students were willing to pay and what kind of food they liked. Food 'n Flicks was the program that resulted.

"We are working with the Union food service on the series," Woodward said. "Whenever we work with (the food service), it turns out well."

Although only five people attended the first night of Food 'n Flicks, the response of those attending the event was positive.

"I think that the low turnout was due to a combination of factors," Woodward said. "It was the first week back, we had little time to advertise, it was a three-day weekend and the movie may not have appealed to many people."

Harold Rathburn, graduate student in biochemistry, and Debbie Rathburn, graduate student in elementary education, brought their 5-year-old daughter Aubrey to see the feature film of the week, "Big Top Pee Wee."

"All in all, the food is really good," said Harold Rathburn.

The general menu will remain the same throughout the semester, but the types of pasta and dessert will probably change, Woodward said.

"You can't beat it for the price," said Debbie Rathburn. "I hope they don't quit doing it just because the first turnout was low. We will come again depending on the movie. Next week is 'Roger Rabbit' so we will probably be back then."

Woodward said UPC plans to continue the Food 'n Flicks series at least through spring break and then possibly pick it up again in the fall.

Whether the series will continue depends on future turnouts, Woodward said. When the weather gets nicer, fewer students may be coming to a movie, she said. Woodward said UPC would have to wait and see if the series takes hold.

"Even though only five people out of the 50 that went to the movie took advantage of the dinner, for the first time I think it was a good turnout," said David Grant, feature films committee chairman and senior in radio and television. "This week many students were asking about the series. I think this weekend will probably be the test."

He said the committee is expecting a larger turnout for this week.

"I didn't know about it in time last week, but if I had, I probably would have taken advantage of it," said Keith Adams, senior in milling science and management. "It is a good alternative to Aggieville on a Friday night and probably would be much less expensive."

Woodward said the committee is trying to make its program more family oriented and is making a push for non-traditional student participation. The committee has sent fliers to Jardine to let them know about the progam.

"I think this is a great idea for couples with children," said Debbie Rathburn. "I don't think that the University does as many familyoriented things as it could."

On Feb. 10, UPC will sponsor "Late Night" in the Union. On that night the buffet will be served in the courtyard in coordination with the other activities.

Upcoming feature films include "Die Hard," "Coming to America," "Punch Line," "Married to the Mob," "Imagine," and "Gorillas in the Mist."

Illustration by Joe Freeman

Coming Attractions

Forum Hall
Who Framed Roger Rabbit
7 and 9:30 Friday and Saturday,
7 Sunday

Story by

Nancy Chartrand

Campus Theater
Scrooged
Today 7 and 9:30.
Saturday and Sunday,
3 and 5

Westloop Cinema 6
The Naked Gun
Daily 4:35, 7:05 and 9:30.
Matinee 2:05,
Saturday and Sunday

Tequila Sunrise
Daily 4:35, 7:05 and 9:30.
Matinee 2:05,
Saturday and Sunday

Gleaming the Cube Daily 4:30, 7, 9:20. Matinee 2, Saturday and Sunday

Oliver and Company Daily 4:30, 7. Matinee 2, Saturday and Sunday

Mystic Pizza
Friday 4:40 only.
Matinee 2:00,
Saturday and Sunday

Twins
Daily 4:40, 7:10, 9:25.
Matinee 2:15
Saturday and Sunday

The January Man Daily 4:40, 7:10, 9:25. Matinee 2:15

Deep Star Six
Daily 7:15 and 9:50.
Matinee 2:10, 4:40, 9:50

Saturday and Sunday

Talk Radio
Daily 7:10 and 9:40
Matinee 2:00 and 4:30,
Saturday and Sunday

Dirty Rotten Scoundrals Daily 7:15 and 9:50. Saturday and Sunday, 9:05 and 11:30

Rain Man
Daily 7:10 and 9:45.
Saturday and Sunday
9:25 and 12

Accidental Tourist Daily 7:20 and 9:45 Saturday and Sunday 9:25 and 11:50

Working Girl Daily 7:20 and 9:35. Saturday and Sunday 9:20 and 11:35 Theater

Wareham Opera House Laughs and Loves Dinner and theater Saturday 6:30 Adults $17 Children $8.50

The following are the most popular videocassettes as they appear in next week's issue of Billboard magazine.

VIDEOCASSETTE SALES

1."E.T. The Extra-Terrestrial"

(MCA)
2. "Cinderella" (Disney)
3. "Dirty Dancing" (Vestron)
4. "Doctor Zhivago" (MGM-

UA)
5. "Callanetics" (MCA)
6. "The Sound of Music" (CBS-Fox)
7. "Lady and the Tramp"

8."Start Up With Jane Fonda" (Lorimar)
9."Pink Floyd: The Wall"

(Disney)

(MGM-UA)
10."Lethal Weapon" (Warner)
VIDEOCASSETTE
RENTALS

1."Three Men and a Baby"
(Touchstone)
2."Willow" (RCA-Columbia)
3."Red Heat" (IVE)

3."Red Heat" (IVE)
4."Beetlejuice" (Warner)
5."Colors" (Orion)

County program offers residents ability to test for radon gases

By Nancy Prosser Staff Writer

Radon gas and its link to lung cancer is the focus of a radon testing program now underway in Riley County, said an official with the Cooperative Extension Service.

Radon can be found in many Riley County homes, said Richard Hayter, director of Engineering Extension at K-State. High levels of the gas may be linked to serious future health problems.

"Radon is a decay product of uranium that is found in all soils, not just those near nuclear plants and mines," Hayter said. "The radon gas that the soil produces is a carcinogen that will eventually work its way into buildings through doors, windows and outside cracks."

Radon and its effects on health have been a topic of concern to researchers for the past 20 years.

"There have been comparisons of the threat of radon gas in the air to that of cigarette smoking," Hayter said. "For radon to have the same effect as cigarettes, you have to be exposed to the radon environment 70 percent of the time over a period of 70 years."

Manhattan conducts no routine radon testing for city-owned buildings, although city officials have discussed the possibility of a testing procedure, said Bruce McCallum, director of public works.

"We have discussed it on the administrative level," McCallum said. "But we really are just waiting to see what develops on the state and federal level for any controls or preliminary level."

County Extension offices have charcoal test canisters available for persons wanting to test the radon levels in their homes. The canisters cost from $10 to $15.

"The canisters are sampling devices, and can be purchased at the Riley County Public Health Department and most large discount stores," Hayter said. "They are simple to use. You leave the canister

"We have discussed it (testing) on the administrative level."

-Bruce McCallum director, public works in your home for three to four days, and then seal it and mail it back to the Extension department for the Radon levels are measured in pico-curries, measures of the amount of radiation per unit of air. The Environmental Protection Agency sets acceptable levels of radiation for different areas of the country. It set the danger level for radon at above four pico-curries.

The canister test is more accurate at higher levels than at lower," said Bruce Snead, Extension specialist in residential energy. "If the test comes back a three, that is not as accurate than if it comes back a 20 or greater."

Snead said the canister test method "is not ideal, but in terms of cost, it is the best alternative going," and can detect dangerously high levels of radon in the home.

"If the test comes back positive, 'We have discussed this only on a we suggest retesting a home over a period of six months to ensure accuracy," Hayter said.

For homes that show high initial levels of radon, alpha-track detectors will soon be available for longerterm testing, Snead said.

"Even if your neighbor had a test showing low levels, it does not mean your home will have similar levels," he said. "The only way to really know is to test."

The problem of radon gas is not unique to Kansas. Radon can be found anywhere in the nation.

"There is always the problem of the politics of certain environmental problems taking precedence over others," Snead said. "But in a study of uranium miners, those exposed to radon showed a greater level of lung cancer."

Snead said health physicists "certainly recognize the validity of the study."

The subject of debate has been whether at lower levels, there is still a link between the presence of radon gas and a health risk, he said.

"Anywhere in the country people should check their homes." Hayter said. "It is not unusual for there to be low levels of the gas in a neighborhood and high levels in just one or two houses in that area.

If homeowners find they have a problem in their home with radon levels, he said, they should first caulk all windows, doors and around basements - anywhere that air could be entering the home.

"There are ways contractors can ventilate around basements, if caulking does not correct the problem," Hayter said. "We are unaware of a home that is impossible to correct."

Wanted: Wildcats with wings

By Laurie Cox Collegian Reporter

Pilots qualified to fly a Cessna C-421 aircraft might be interested in applying for a new job opening at K-State.

The University is looking for "a full-time professional pilot to provide piloting services, schedule trips, and oversee maintenance of the aircraft," according to a classified ad in The Manhattan Mercury.

In the past, faculty and staff chartered individual planes through their respective departments, said Charles Reagan, assistant to the president. The new plan requires a pilot who will fly and charter planes for additional passengers in the same manner as a motor pool works.

The system is designed to make the billing process easier. A schedule of flights will be posted to make it possible for sharing flights, said Ed Rice, director of facilities management.

"Hopefully the system will be more efficient," Reagan said.

Employing a University pilot will also reduce expenses from the previous average charge of $1.34 per mile by other charters to $1.25 per mile, Reagan said.

Many of the flights scheduled are for faculty members of the College of Agriculture, who frequently visit test plots and fields throughout Kansas, Rice said. The pilot must have a commercial license, instrument rating, and multi-engine rating. He must have a minimum experience of 2,500 hours total flying time, 1,000 hours of multi-engine experience and recent flight safety training in a C-421 aircraft.

The pilot's salary will be more than $20,000 per year, said Rice, who is requesting letters of application and resumes by Feb. 1. Aviation consultant Stewart Ayton was hired to check the safety of the current charter companies and their planes, and the economics of chartering individual planes.

"The primary goal was to find one company with a plane that met these standards and lease it," Reagan said.

Botha names acting president

By The Associated Press

CAPE TOWN, South Africa President P.W. Botha, hospitalized with a stroke that has weakened an arm and leg, on Thursday named a Cabinet minister and long-time political ally as acting president.

Constitutional Development Minister Chris Heunis, the seniorranking Cabinet member, vowed at his swearing-in ceremony to adhere to Botha's policies.

"Everything is normal and under control," Heunis said later. "No government functions will be interrupted."

Heunis, 61, served as acting president for several days last year while Botha visited Europe. He will remain in his new post until Botha either returns to office or decides to retire, at which point the Cabinet would elect a new president.

Botha, who turned 73 last week, suffered the stroke at his home Wednesday and was taken to a military hospital in the Cape Town suburb of Wynberg.

Botha's office and hospital officials said the president was in stable condition Thursday. Doctors said his left arm and left leg were weakened by the stroke, but his facial muscles and speaking ability were not affected.

The president was able to sit up and drink tea, doctors said.

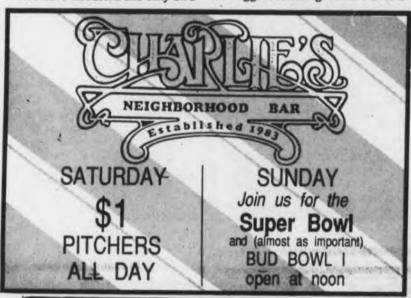

Heunis was sworn in Thursday at Tuynhuis, the state president's official residence in Cape Town.

In his Cabinet post, Heunis has been assigned to develop a constitutional format that would give blacks limited power sharing with the white-run government.

Heunis had been considered a contender to succeed Botha on a permanent basis, but his political fortunes have fallen during the past two years.

There have been reports in recent months that Botha planned to replace Heunis because of his inability to persuade black leaders to participate in negotiations.

Also, Heunis only barely won reelection to Parliament in 1987 when he was challenged by Denis Worrall, who had recently quit as South Africa's ambassador to Britain to run as an independent.

Inquire about 1 month Free!!! Never Too Far From Where You Want To Be! -Free Shuttle Service -Resource Center

-25¢ Wash & Dry Special Park Place

Try our new City Line # 537-3279-2068

539-4400

1217 Moro in Aggieville Call and ask for our BRAND NEW MENU

pizza by the slice-luncheon pizza dine in or free delivery

Offering

Thin Crust Or

Our Original

Golden Braided

Crust

Money Savings Specials

Delivered piping hot to your door . . so you'll want to order more"

The Delivery is Fast, Friendly, and FREE!!!

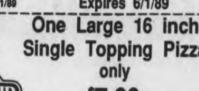

Buy Two Slices Get One Slice

FREE!!! Expires 6/1/89

One Medium 13 inch Single Topping Pizza only PYRAMID §6.50 Expires 6/1/89 Expires 6/1/89

One Small 10 inch only

Delivering all day, every day, For your convenience

We accept Visa and Mastercard

Single Topping Pizza §5.25 Expires 6/1/89 One Large 16 inch Single Topping Pizza §7.99 Expires 6/1/89

ADVERTISING 2. Do you read the ads? Yes

No

Do you clip and use the coupon ads? Yes □ No □ found offensive? Yes □ No □. If yes, please describe and explain why you find them offensive.

5. Comments,

What do you think?

You, the readers of the Collegian are important to us, so in an effort to better serve you in future issues, we would like to hear your ideas. Tell us what you like about the Collegian, but also give us some constructive criticism to help us improve campus news coverage. Please fill out the following questionnaire, then bring it to the Collegian newsroom in Kedzie 116, or mail it to the Collegian, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506.

GENERAL INFORMATION

1. Classification (circle one): Fr So Jr Sr Gr Fac Staff Other

Female 3. How often do you read the Collegian?

5 4 3 2 1 0 days a week 4. What do you read first? Campus Bulletin Sports Classifieds Cartoons Crossword Puzzle Editorial Page Front Page Other.

What is your main source for news on a daily basis? Collegian Radio Other Newspaper(s)

SPORTS 1. How would you grade Collegian sports coverage? ABCDF 2. What areas are lacking in sports coverage?

 Do you find the box scores helpful? Yes □ No □ Would you like to see more coverage of minor sports, club sports, and intramurals? Yes □ No □

Comments EDITORIAL PAGE

 How would you grade the Collegian's Editorial Page? ABCDF 2. Do you feel the Letters to the Editor gives readers an adequate outlet for their opinions? Yes

No 3. Do Collegian columnists provide a balance of liberal and conservative views? Yes □ No □ Comments

1. How would you grade Collegian advertising? ABCDF

Have there been any ads in the Collegian you've

NEWS CONTENT

Comments

1. How would you rate the overall quality of writing and reporting in the Collegian? ABCDF

2. How would you rate the overall quality of copy editing

in the Collegian? ABCDF

3. Have you ever been interviewed for a Collegian article? Yes □ No □ If yes, were you accurately quoted? Yes □ No □ Was your major or job title correct? Yes □ No □

5. What is your department or major: Are you involved in any activity (club, sport, research, etc.) that should be covered more thoroughly? Please list. Any story ideas?_

7. Do you feel your department receives adequate coverage in the Collegian? Yes □ No □

8. What activities or interesting people in your department would make interesting Collegian articles?

PHOTOGRAPHY/GRAPHICS AND DESIGN

Collegian? Yes □ No □

read? Yes □ No □

1. How would grade Collegian photography? ABCDF

2. Are cutlines under photographs accurate and complete? Yes D No D 3. If you have been pictured in the Collegian, were you correctly identified? Yes □ No □

4. Do you find charts and graphs to be helpful when reading a story? Yes □ No □ 5. Would you like to see more charts and graphs in the Comments. 7. Do you find the Collegian's type size and style easy to

THANK YOU!

Kansas State Collegian ■ Friday, January 20, 1989 ■ Page 9

'Cats at Nebraska in big road game

By Chris Wilhelm Sports Writer

After picking up its first Big Eight Conference victory over Colorado in Bramlage Coliseum Wednesday night, the K-State men's basketball team begins a tough road trip Saturday when it visits Bob Devaney Sports Center in Lincoln for an 8:05 p.m. matchup with Nebraska.

"Nebraska returns a lot of experience," said Wildcats coach Lon Kruger. "All those kids have been through it (conference play) before. They know how tough the league is."

K-State, coming off one of its best outings of the season both offensively and defensively, will be playing its first conference road game, while the Huskers will be looking for its first victory in league play.

Nebraska, 11-6 overall and 0-2 in the league, is 8-2 at home this season. The 'Cats, 10-4 and 1-1, have had troubles on the road, winning only two of five road games this year.

"The kids have done a good job of getting themselves ready to play lately," Kruger said. "We've been successful on the road the last couple of years. This year's team isn't as experienced as last year's team. We are gaining road experience and that takes time. Hopefully we've gained some experience from some of our tough road losses.'

Nebraska's versatile offense could keep the K-State defense busy. Six Huskers average over 10 points a game. They also average nearly 10 more rebounds per game than their opponents.

'Nebraska can rough you up inside and go up stong," Kruger said. "If they can't work it in they have guys who can put it up from outside."

The Comhusker's 7-foot-2 center Richard King is the tallest player in the conference this season, and Kruger is impressed with the improvement King has made since last season.

"King is an outstanding player," Kruger said. "He has made those strides to become an imposing player with a potential to block a lot of shots.'

King needs just one more blocked shot this year to set a Nebraska season record of 31.

The Cornhuskers are led in scoring by Eric Johnson and Beau Reid, who are averaging 12.3 and 11.5 points a game respectively. They are followed by Pete Manning at 11.3 and King at 11.0.

K-State's Steve Henson is leading the 'Cats with 17.6 points a game and is followed by Fred McCoy, who is chipping in 15.2 points a game.

Probable Starters

K-State (10-4)	Pos.	Nebraska (11-6)
Dobbins(6-5, Sr.)	F	Manning(6-8, Sr.)
Britt(6-6, Jr.)	F	Reid(6-7, So.)
McCoy(6-7, Sr.)	C	King(7-2, So.)
Henson(6-1, Jr.)	G	Scales(6-2, So.)
Humph.(6-4, Jr.)	G	Johnson(6-2, Sr.)

K-State decides in favor of bylaw

By Chris Wilhelm Sports Writer

With the NCAA's new bylaw, Proposition 42, drawing so much attention lately, some of the focus has been taken away from the intention of the bill, according to K-State Athletic Director Steve Miller. "My main concern with Proposition 42 is academic integrity," Miller said. "The bill was drafted to make sure that athletes coming out of high school get to a certain level where they can reap the benefit of an athletic scholarship."

Miller also said the reason K-State had previously voted down the proposal was that the original proposition had not been installed long enough to warrant a change.

"We voted 'no' to begin with on Proposition 42 because we already had Proposition 48 on the books and it had only been in effect a short time," Miller said. "We wanted to leave that legislation alone without fooling around with it to see if it was sound.'

K-State administrators decided to vote in favor of Proposition 42. though, because they felt the minimum standards — achieving a score of 13 or higher on the ACT or a 700 or higher on the SAT college entrance exams and also holding a 2.0 high school grade point average was suitable for incoming freshmen student-athletes.

Before this proposal, incoming student-athletes only had to achieve one of the latter under Proposition 48, in order to receive an athletic scholarship.

"By accepting Proposition 42 we are sending a message around the country that potential athletes must also be potential students," Assistant Athletic Director Jim Epps said.

'Many students coming out of high school are naive to the academic expectations in a college environment," he said. "Many students are indifferent to the academic side.

"The intention of the NCAA was to put greater strictures on academic requirements."

While an underlying question of racism revolves around the proposition, K-State administrators refute the claims of bias in accepting the proposition.

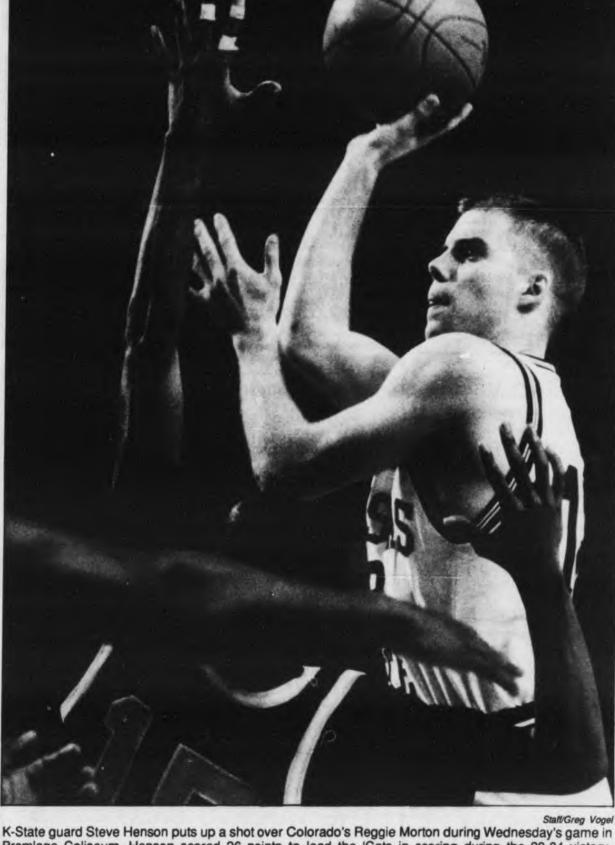

While all the concern is being raised as to whether or not Proposition 42 is racist, several predominantly black universities as well as black conferences voted in favor of it," Miller said.

"Many schools are feeling pressure associated with the allegation of racism and it's extremely unfortumade," Epps said. "Some coaches feel that it is bad legislation and their reasons are pure and there will be other coaches who have feelings that they will be denied a blue chip player because of the legislation.'

K-State's faculty representative to the Big Eight Conference and the NCAA, Robert Snell, said there is a need for minimum standards for athletes and the limits set up in Proposition 48, if anything, might be too low.

"The standards set up in Proposition 42 were taken to be a minimal level for students entering at the university level and being able to have any success at all," Snell said. "The outcry a few years ago was that the colleges were taking advantage of the athletes who had no chance of doing well.

"These standards are low enough that even if there is a question of racial or cultural differences involved in the standardized tests, any student expecting to continue at the college level with any success should be able to meet them."

Bramlage Coliseum. Henson scored 26 points to lead the 'Cats in scoring during the 98-84 victory.

Lady Cats entertain Huskers

By Chris Hays Sports Editor

Coming off two straight Big Eight Conference losses, the K-State women's basketball squad will be looking to even out its conference record Saturday when Nebraska ventures into Bramlage Coliseum for a 7:35 p.m. tip-off.

The Lady Cats, now 11-5 overall and 1-2 in conference play following Wednesday's loss to Missouri, were demoralized a year ago in Salina by the Lady Huskers, when Nebraska took advantage of a young K-State squad and cruised to a 71-51 victory in the first round of the Big Eight Tournament.

Inexperience again has been a key factor in the Lady Cats' two conference losses. The Lady Cats have committed more than 20 turnovers in each of their last two games. Coach Matilda Mossman credits that figure to her squad not playing very smart defense.

Defense was something that hadn't worried Mossman prior to Christmas break - it was the Lady Cats offensive decisions that were foremost on her mind.

Since the return from break, though, K-State's offense has made a complete turnaround. And so has the defense. The Lady Cats are searching for a way to put it all together, beginning Saturday against the defending Big Eight regular season champions.

The Lady Huskers are led by Amy Stephens, who comes in averaging 21.1 points a game. She is followed by Kim Harris at 12.3. Nadira Hazim continues to lead the Lady Cats at 14.2 points a game, while Diana Miller is averaging 11.6 and Kristie Bahner 10.

Probable Starters

Lady Cats (11-5) Pos. Nebraska (11-5) Taylor(6-0, Jr.) D.Miller(5-10, So.) Hubert(6-1, So.) Matteucci(5-11, Jr.) Harris/6-1, Sr.) M.Miller(5-5, Fr.)

New Ahearn track opens Saturday

By Mike Rouse Collegian Reporter

Many times, the first track meet of the season will usually not mean too much to a team or its coaches. The coaches will play down the opening meets and work the team into peak nate that these allegations were ever condition for the big meets at the end of the season.

This is not the case for K-State track coach John Capriotti. He has plenty of reason to think of Saturday's opener in Ahearn Field House as a big meet.

"This is a very big meet because of the new track we are using and we can see how far we are along so far," Capriotti said. K-State will play host to Wichita

State University, Southwest Missouri State University, Butler County Community College and Barton County Community College beginning at 10:30 a.m. for the field events and 12:45 p.m. for the track events.

Capriotti said he invites some junior colleges to these meets because those schools don't have the facilities that K-State does.

"We like to share the wealth with those schools and also we do a lot of recruiting through junior colleges, so this is a great recruiting tool," he

Saturday's meet will be the only scoring meet of the indoor season. Capriotti said he hopes the scoring factor will heighten the competition

"This is the only scoring meet of the year, so we hope the excitement level will be up for the competitors as well as the fans," he said. "Next year we hope to have three or four scoring

According to Capriotti, Wichita State and Barton County will be among the top contenders.

"WSU has an excellent sprint and distance team and Barton County is one of the top juco teams in the nation. They can compete with most Division 1 schools," Capriotti said. The junior colleges benefit from the Propisition 48 rule, so they always have good athletes running for them.'

Capriotti's main concern is how well the jumpers and throwers will do for K-State. He said he is also wondering whether his distance runners will show the effects of a rigorous training program.

"Our middle and long distance runners have trained real hard so far. We have to see if they let down for this meet," Capriotti said. One area Capriotti said he feels confident in is the sprints, in which junior college transfer Ray Hill will be competing for K-State. Hill was a two-time national champion in the sprints while competing for Central Capriotti said he also hopes freshmen like R.D. Cogswell in the high jump can step right in and compete right away at the collegiate level.

Arizona Community College.

The success of sprinters Joy and Markeya Jones along with Latrica Joyner are keys in the sprints for K-

"Our sprint crews will be valuable to the success of our team and they will have to do well because of injuries to our women distance runners," he said.

SAEs sponsor benefit basketball tourney

By Mike Goens Sports Writer

Sigma Alpha Epsilon will sponsor a basketball tournament this weekend in Ahearn Field House to benefit Goodnow Historical House. SAE's double elimination Basketball Shootout will have 14 fraternity and four sorority teams. The tournament games will be played on the three courts in the old part Ahearn Field House on Saturday and Sunday with the games starting at 9 a.m. Saturday and running until 8 p.m. The women's championship game has been scheduled for 7 p.m. Semifinals for the men's winners and losers bracket will start at 1:30 p.m. Sunday with the finals scheduled for 3:30 p.m. Trophies will be given to the men's and women's champion and men's second place team. A most valuable player award will be presented to each division.

An entry fee of $60 per house for one team was charged, and if two teams were entered from the same house, $50 per team.

SAE member Ed Thomas, coordinator of the tournament, said the fraternity hopes to contribute $1,000 to the Goodnow House, which is located on 2301 Claflin.

Thomas said the fraternity wanted to do something similar to the Phi Delta Theta football tournament and the Alpha Delta Pi and Kappa Sigma softball tournaments.

"We wanted to do something before the intramural season started," he said. "This was the best weekend before the season started.'

Super Bowl hype wears down as teams make final preparations

By The Associated Press

Super Bowl XIII Capsule A look at the Super Bowl matchup between the San Francisco 49ers and the Cincinnati Bengals at Miami's Joe Robbie Stadium Sunday at 4:00 p.m. CST. SAN FRANCISCO (10-6-0) VS. CINCINNATI (12-4-0)

LINE — San Francisco by 7. 1988 PLAYOFFS — San Francisco defeated Minnesota 34-9 in the conference semifinals and Chicago 28-3 in the NFC Championship.

Cincinnati stopped Seattle 21-13 in the first round and Buffalo 21-10 for the AFC Championship.

SERIES RECORD — San Francisco has won five of the six meetings between the two teams and five straight.

LAST TIME MET — The 49ers won 27-26 in the second week of the 1987 season at Riverfront Stadium. The Bengals were ahead 26-20 with six seconds remaining and faced a fourth and short at their own 25-yard line. Cincinnati elected to run the time off the clock by scrambling around the field, but were stopped with two seconds left. Joe Montana then threw a 25-yard pass to Jerry Rice with no time on the clock and Ray Wersching kicked the extra point to give the 49ers their improbable victory.

PREVIOUS SUPER BOWLS — This is San Francisco's third Super Bowl this decade. The 49ers won their previous two, beating Cincinnati and Miami. Joe Montana has a chance to become the first player to ever be named Super Bowl MVP three times.

49ERS OFFENSE - Joe Montana will again lead San Francisco and is again having a spectacular postseason. In two games, he's 33 of 54 for 466 yards, six touchdowns and just one interception. Jerry Rice has five of those touchdowns, among his 10 receptions for 194 yards. In 1988, Rice led the NFL with 1,306 receiving yards on 64 carries and nine touchdowns. Earlier this week, Rice injured an ankle, but is expected to be ready by Sunday. Roger Craig has rushed for 203 yards on 39 carries. Craig was the team's leading receiver during the year with 76 catches. Tom Rathman (102 carries for 427 yards this season) will spell Craig in the backfield. The 49ers have outscored Minnesota and Chicago 62-12, holding opponents to just six points in each half.

BENGALS OFFENSE — Boomer Esiason has had a subpar postseason, completing just 46 percent of his passes (18 of 39) for 202 yards and one touchdown. The Bengals, however, have gotten five touchdowns and 429 yards rushing. Ickey Woods including just 99.3 rushing. In the has been the main back, gaining 228 on 52 carries. Stanley Wilson has two touchdowns and a 6.2 yard average in the playoffs. James Brooks (with 931 yards during the regular season) should also see time in the backfield. Tight end Rodney Holman is the leading receiver with seven catches for 82 yards. Eddie Brown had 1,273 yards on 53 catches this season, Cincinnati has scored 35 points in the first half of playoff games this year, but just 7 points in the second half.

49ERS DEFENSE - San Francisco has played stifling defense over the last half of the season. The 49ers gave up only 285.9 yards a game, 33.5 yards.

playoffs, the defense, led by nose tackle Michael Carter and linebacker Charles Haley, limited Minnesota to 262 and Chicago to 267.

BENGALS DEFENSE - Cincinnati had 22 interceptions during the regular season and has five so far in the playoffs. Cornerback Eric Thomas leads in both categories, with seven for the year and two in the postseason. The Bengals, led by nose tackle Tim Krumrie, end Jim Skow and linebacker Reggie Williams, have limited Seattle and Buffalo to only three rushing first downs and from one-on-one communication, but more colleges at K-State are requiring more of a public speakingtype course.

Speech

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6 Nichols said the department is not intentionally shifting its focus away

"If there is a demand for the classes, we certainly might teach them again," Nichols said. "The problem comes in trying to accommodate students trying to get into classes that are full.

"It is a matter of figuring out how frequently (Employment Interview and Interpersonal Communications) can be taught so that they fill up."

Null and Meyer are both leaving the speech department at the end of this semester.

The department is presently attempting to fill three positions an assistant debate coach, a director of forensics and one to be determined by the skills of the other two, Nichols said.

"We are trying to get another faculty member to work with the debate squad. We have a nationally ranked debate squad with only one faculty working with it," he said.

Nichols said this does not mean an emphasis is being placed on debate but "it is a matter of trying to support what we have already got."

ClassAds

CLASSIFIED RATES

One day: 15 words or fewer, $2.50, 20 cents per word over 15; Two consecutive dates: 15 words or fewer, $3.50, 25 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.25, 30 cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 35 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $5.00, 40 cents per word over 15.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publications. Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon FRIDAY for Monday's paper.

Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not after the value of the ad.

SHOW

SOMEONE YOU

CARE

TRACK TO A

SCHOLARSHIP

Dairy

Oueen

Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE

Display Classified Rates
One day: $5.20 per inch; Three consecutive days:
$5.00 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.80 per inch;
Ten consecutive days: $4.80 per inch, (Deadline is 4:30
p.m. two days before publication.)
Classified advertising is available only to those who do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, say or ancestry.

Announcements

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs -skincare -glamor -nails -gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor, 539-2070. COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp 539-6193.

COUCH POTATOES needed for study. Adults 30-39 years; short, easy testing. Call Laurel 532-6765. ENTRIES CLOSE 1/25/89 for 1989 Miss Manhattan— K-State Pageant, an official Miss America Prelimin-ary. 537-2667.

SOUTH PADRE/ Spring Break '89—— Nice rooms for a great price! From $109 to $169 on the beach or minutes from it. Five or seven days. Don't spend all your money on a room, —you're never there anyway! (Limited space). Call 1-800-782-7653, ext

DAYTONA— BUMMIN' and Sunnin' Spring Break. Call Woody 539-4935, Dave T. 539-7491.

JEWELRY LOVERS, Where are you???? 75% saving-$$$. Gold rings. $15.00III Silver pendants. $3.00III Manufacturer# 776-5545.

VIDEOTAPE YOUR wedding or other parties. $50 and up. Call now for quotation. Budget Video Memories. 537-3716.

WANTED— 100 overweight people to try herbal weight control program. No drugs, no exercise. Doctor recommended. 100% guaranteed. 776-5114,

WHAT MAKES for exciting fulfilling relationships? For a free questionnaire, write: Relationship Survey, Box 5142, Station A, Wilkes- Barre, PA 18710.

Don't Forget No Cover For The Ladies Tonight Brother's

Free Delivery HUNAM EXPRESS 11 a.m.-1 a.m.

Restaurant 1304 Westloop 539-8888 Call 539-8888 or 537-0886

Weekend Special

Come visit our Pet Dept.

KUHLI LOACH 80¢

ASSORTED PLATIES 50¢

reg. $1.40

reg. $1.40

while supplies last

PLANTS — PETS

Serving Manhattan Over 30 Years 1105 WATERS-539-4751

ACROSS FROM ALCO

1015 N. 3rd. Manhattan GET ON THE

Give the one you love an ice cream cake for Valentine's Day.

Now there's Dairy Queen® cake to treat them to! Cool, creamy chocolate and vanilla DQ soft serve, layered with light crisp chocolate crunch, plenty of rich, cold fudge and covered with delicious icing. It's all frozen and packaged to take home. Wouldn't a Dairy Queen® cake be wonderful tonight?

An Air Force ROTC scholarship may get you on the right track to success. Find out if you qualify for tuition and other expenses, plus $100 each academic month. Get on the right track. Talk to:

> CAPT EVERETT 913-532-6600

Leadership Excellence Starts Here

Simply the best tans in town.

$2 tans end tomorrow

776-8060 519 N. 12th (Next to Mayer Liquor)

ARE YOU MISS AMERICA 1990?

2 Apartments—Furnished

BEAUTIFUL THREE-BEDROOM furnished apartme Large living room, dining room, kitchen on main floor at 1019 Bluemont. Fully carpeted with back porch. 537-0428 or 537-6841.

FURNISHED OR unfurnished, nice one-bedroom near campus. $260 includes all utilities. 537-4851 after

HUGE ONE-BEDROOM, big enough for two people, between Aggleville and City Park, January- May $300/ month. Call Karen, 532-6560.

NICE ONE-BEDROOM apartment. Water, trash, threefourths gas paid. Laundry facilities. Nice for graduate student or couple, $265. 539-2482 after 4p.m. ONE-BEDROOM on Sunset. $260 plus gas and electric. Laundry facilities, no pets, please. 539-5051 or 776-3804.

THREE-BEDROOM APARTMENT— Close to campu and Aggieville. $375 plus deposit and utilities. 537-6841.

TWO-BEDROOM, ONE and one-half bath near cam-pus. Washer/ dryer, $250 plus utilities. 537-8825.

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM on 17th Street available now

Two blocks to campus. Balcony, gas heat, laundry facilities. $310. 537-9020 or 776-3804. LARGE TWO bedrooms, leases available now and next August. Furnished and unfurnished. Phone NICE ONE-BEDROOM in Lee/ Hunting area available now. Fireplace, dishwasher, laundry facilities, $340, 539-2103 or 776-3804.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM near City Park in 24-plex. All appliances, laundry facilities. $380, 537-8229 or 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM, SECOND floor located 814 Leaven-

ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT in City Park area, $235 plus gas and electric. No pets. 539-8229 or 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM, TWO balconies, new carpet, across the street from campus. $250. Available now. 537-4924.

ONE FEMALE to fill four-bedroom house, block from campus, washer/ dryer. Rent $115. Call 776-3371,

STUDIO APARTMENT adjacent to campus, close to Aggleville. College Court Apartments. $220 monthly. Private parking, air conditioning, washer/ dryer and storage lockers. Call 532-7159.

THREE-BEDROOM, WASHER/ Dryer. $525/ month, fenced yard, close to campus, fireplace, very nice. 776-1945 or 776-7430.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT, one block from campus. Stove, refrigerator furnished. 1-468-3364. TWO-BEDROOM, MOST utilities paid. 539-6058 or

4 Automobiles for Sale

1972 CHRYSLER Newport Custom, runs great, rider smooth. $100. 539-8668.

1974 MAVERICK, only $300, good interiors, engine, great for moving around. After 5:30p.m., 776-6277, Rick.

1975 FORD- LTD, V-8, two-door, automatic, air conditioning, new battery, timechain, breaker, water-pump, distributor. $750. 537-1012.

(Continued on page 11)

AWARENESS WEEK JANUARY 23-27 1989

Wellness is taking responsibility for our own lives. For optimal wellness, we strive to find a balance in all the dementions of our life. There are six areas of wellness; physical, social. emotional, vocational, intellectual and spiritual.

PHYSICAL WELLNESS involves an awareness of nutritional needs and body functioning. When we are physically well we are willing to take time to condition and strenghthen our physical flexibility and endurance. Understanding the physical wellbeing is important in achieving and maintaining a wellness lifestyle.

Take your FREE LAO on Tues, Jan. 24 11:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m. Union Roon 206

> Stop by the PAC-CATS table in the Union T-Th.

VISIT WITH A PAL (Peer Assistant Leader) TODAY!

PAC-CAT OFFICE Lower Level Lafene Suite 26

Attention: Please read the following letter if you had your portrait taken for the Royal Purple.

(206) 355-8887

8805 46th Place West Mukilteo, WA 98275

Dear Kansas State student:

On behalf of both our company and the Royal Purple yearbook I apologize for your inconvenience and the confusion caused by our mistaken insertion of a notice with some of your proof sets.

The notice requested that some students pay a $5.00 fee to have their selected Lose included in the yearbook. This was a mistake! There is no additional charge to any Kansas State student to appear in the yearbook.

If you are one of the students that received the "$5.00 notice", please disregard it! All you need do is mark the pose of your choice (simply write "YEARBOOK" on the back) and return all of the proofs to us at:

> Yearbook Associates P.O. Box 91 Millers Falls, MA 01349

You must return all of your proofs promptly!

If you've already returned your proofs and you did pay the $5.00, It will be refunded to you!

Of course we hope you'll be happy with your proofs and will choose to order a personal portrait package. But you are under no obligation to do so. If you were photographed your picture will appear in the yearbook.

If you have any questions you may either call me at the above number, or our customer service department at (413) 863-9714. Remember, I'm in Washington State, our customer service is in Massachusets, please make allowances for the different time zones.

Again, my personal apologies for the confusion.

Sincerely,

3 Janel May (5 James S. Mays, If Regional Director

about Godfather's Pizza?™

The taste, the toppings...and these terrific moneysaving coupons!

539-5303

1118 Laramie Aggieville

Two Large Pepperoni Pizzas only $10.99

Present this coupon and receive TWO large pepproni pizzas for only $10.99.

Not valid with Sunday FREE drinks or any other discount offer. Limited delivery area Add $1 for delivery.

Lunch Buffet only $3.75

Present this coupon and receive ONE all you care to eat lunch buffet and a free refill soft drink for only $3.75.

Monday-Friday, lunch time only.

$7.99 Large or $5.99 Medium

Present this coupon and receive a large single topping Original pizza for only $7.99 or a medium for only $5.99.

16 Motorcycles/Bicycles for Sale

1982, 550 Yamaha Maxim. Good condition. New tires. $700. 539-8218.

PEUGEOT 10-SPEED, ladies' 26" blcycle, blue, excel-lent condition. $150 or best offer. 776-7260.

PEAVEY GUITAR with Kahler Tremelo and hardshe

ALAN-IT'S been a year and four months and I love you

BETAS: BRAD and Todd A .- Happy 21st Birthday to

GODSQUAD— ZANE, Scott, Dan, You are too witty, onery and smooth, but most of all the funnest friends a girl could havel Miss you! P.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, Damon D., from your wife and

OGNIB- DEBBIE G. knows where you'll be today at

17 Musical Instruments

case, 537-4331.

18 Personals

more now you're older. At mom's advice. Your Greek.

1980 MERCURY Bobcat. 98Km, four-speed, power brakes, new brakes, very dependable. $750. 776-8881. Keep calling.

1981 THUNDERBIRD V-8, two-door, air, AM/FM stereo. Good conditions, must sell. $1,600 or best.

1986 — DAYTONA, Shelby package, full power, very clean, must sell. 1 am broke. Best offer. Call Randy before 8. In the mounts. fore 8 in the morning, 776-1842. ATTENTION— GOVERNMENT seized vehicles from $100. Fords, Mercedes, Corvettes, Chevys. Surglus Buyers Guide. 1-602-838-8885 ext. A1797.

Child Care

ACTIVE BALANCED creative day environment. Full day care, preschool. 537-1202.

LICENSED DAY Care Home toddler opening, Mariatt area, hot meals and activities. Call 776-4425 after 6p.m. 776-2183.

8 Computers

HAS NEVER been out of box! Brand new Epson FX-800 A great buy for $210. Call Paul 537-1705

IBM PC model 30 with internal modern, Panasonic printer, and wp programs. Call anytime 776-7557 LINE PRINTER ribbons for sale- Black multistrike no. QM MS (4½ dozen), $1.25 each. Black nylon no. QM NY (15), $2.25 each. Call 532-6556 or come by MACINTOSH 512KE Computer and 20MG hard drive. Programs included, Pagernaker, Filernaker Plus, Guide, Reflex, MacMoney, also many garnes, $2,200 or best offer, 539-8535.

TRS 80-III, two new drives, modern, Star printer. LeScript, games, free disks! $330 or best offer. 776-6799.

Mills

PERSONAL COMPUTERS Authorized Warranty Service

also servicing · PC compatibles & printers

· Televisions & VCRs MIDWEST

SERVICES 624 Tuttle Creek Blvd. 0 -0-0 Manhattan 913-776-6650

9 Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to approach any such "employent opportunity" with reasonable caution.

$10- $660 weekly/ up mailing circulars! Rush self-addressed stamped envelope: Dept. AN-7CC-CU, 9300 Wilshire, Suite 470, Beverly Hills, CA 90212.

ASSISTANT SOFTBALL coach. Position begins Feb. 27, 1989 through May 27, 1989. Salary $1,292. Send letter or resume with qualifications by Jan. 27, 1989 to: USD 383, 2031 Poyntz, Manhattan, KS 66502, 537-2400, EOE.

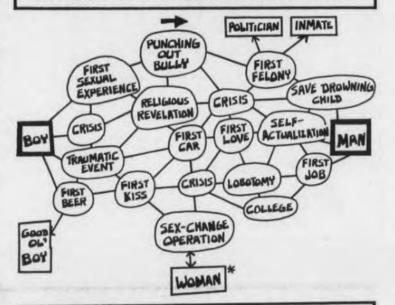

ASSISTANT TRACK coach. Position begins Feb. 27, 1989 through May 27, 1989, Salary $1,476. Send letter or resume with qualifications by Jan. 27, 1989 to: USD 383, 2031 Poyntz, Manhattan, KS 66502. 537-2400. EOE.

ATTENTION— HIRINGI Government jobs— your area $17,840- $69,485. Call 1-602-838-8885 ext R1797

CHILDCARE— OUR home: Monday, Wednesday, Friday 11:45a.m.-5:15p.m. Own transportation. Study time allotted. 776-8663 after 5:30p.m.

BOY BECOMES MAN"- PART I:

BECAUSE JEFFREY IS ABOUT TO BECOME A MAN ... THIS FLOW-CHART HAS BEEN INCLUDED TO HELP YOU UNDERSTAND THE PROCESS BY WHICH AMERICAN MEN ARE CREATED ...

* CARTOONIST'S NOTE: THE "GIRL BECOMES WOMAN !! FLOW-CHART WILL BE SHOWN WHEN I HAVE COMPLETED MY RESEARCH ON THE SUBJECT ... I KNOW VERY LITTLE ABOUT WOMEN ... EXCEPT, OF COURSE, WHAT MAKES THEM ANGRY.

COMPANIONS TO work with elderly needed 4- 7p.m. Monday-Friday complete an application by Jan. 24. Hornecare, 2803 Claffin. EOE.

GYMNASTIC COACHES needed. Preschool, competitive, competitive and aerobics. Brand new facility. 539-2835 or 539-3613. HELP WANTED for general house cleaning and child-care for three preschoolers. Monday- Wednesday-Friday preferred. $4/ hour. 776-3352.

HOUSEKEEPER NEEDED: Live-in housek campus. Room, board and salary. Call 1-239-4335 or 539-3210 after 6:30p.m.

JEWELRY MANUFACTURER wants dealers, Sales people. Successful moneymaking business. Investment? Commission? Guaranteed profits or money backli 776-5545.

LUNCHROOM PLAYGROUND supervisor. One and one-half to two hours per day. $4 per hour, 7:30-9a.m. and/ or 11a.m.- 1p.m. Apply USD 383, 2031 Poyntz, Manhattan, KS 66502. 537-2400. EOE.

MAJOR MANHATTAN Firm seeking part-time receptionist. Monday through Friday, 11:30a.m.-5:15p.m. Respond to P.O. Box 1688, Manhattan,

MCDONALD'S OF Westioop is looking for some enthusiastic dependable people who enjoy working with people. Part-time dayshift hours available between 5a.m.- 4p.m. with very flexible schedules. Starting salary $3.50/ hour with frequent raises available. Apply in person anytime, 1011 Westloop.

MISS MANHATTAN— K-State 1989 position open. Minimum of $1,000 scholarship money plus many additional benefits. No entry fee. Applications accepted through 1-25-89. 537-2667, 537-4263. PART-TIME SALES person needed to work weekends for local furniture store. Please send resumes to Box 3, o'o The Collegian, Kedzie 103, KSU, Manhattan, KS 66506.

PART-TIME SALES help- Retail shoes. Experience required. Send schedule, resume to: Box 2, c/o The Collegian, Kedzie 103, KSU, Manhattan, KS 66506.

PART-TIME LABORERS, ag background helpful. Apply in person, Nelson Poultry Farms, two and one-half les east Highway 24. 776-9401.

RADIOLOGIC TECHNOLOGIST (A.R.R.T.) on-call position for weekends and occasional relief for nights. Our radiology department features diagnos-tic equipment for procedures including nuclear medicine, ultrasound, mammography, diagnostic radiology. The St. Mary Hospital. 776-1981. EOE.

RELIABLE BABYSIT for three children, Wednesday, Friday, Saturday evenings, 539-7498.

SCHOOL BUS drivers needed. $4.75 per hour, must be 21 years of age, have a good driving record and complete a training program. Bus driving experi-ence not required. Part-time, 6:30-8:30a.m. and 2:40- 4:30p.m. Job description available. Apply to USD 383, 2031 Poyntz Ave., Manhattan, KS 66502. (913)537-2400. EOE.

SCHOOL SOCIAL Worker paraprofessional, part-time Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday evening 7- 9p.m. at Ogden Elementary School. BS degree in social work required. Applications must be received by Jan. 27, 1989 to be considered. Apply to USD 383, 2031. Poyritz, Manhattan, KS 66502. 537-2400.

STUDENT PROGRAMMER/ Consultant, 15- 20 hours DDENT PHOGHAMMEN Consultant, 15-20 hours per week, to start as soon as possible, as a computer programmer/ consultant for faculty and students. Programming, as well as microcomputer knowledge, experience, and grade point average will be used as a selection criteria. Undergraduates with an employment potential of two years will be given preference. Equal Opportunity Employer. Contact Jacque Melsner, noom 23, Cardwell by Som Jan 24. SUB-N-STUFF SANDWICH Shop is accepting applica tions for delivery drivers, late night and lunch help. Apply in person, 1200 Moro, no phone calls please. SUMMER JOBS outdoors. Over 5,000 openings! National parks, forests, fire crews. Send stamp for free details. 113 E. Wyoming, Kalispell, MT 59901.

THE STATION under new ownership is now taking applications for bartender, waiter/ waitress, door and DJ help. Apply 1115 Moro, 1-5p.m. weekdays. VISTA DRIVE In is now taking applications for full- and part-time help. Must be able to work some noon

HELP WANTED! Now accepting applications for full- and part-time help. Experience preferred. Please call 776-4117 for interview appt.

shifts. Apply in person.

DAIRY OUEEN 1015 N. 3rd, ask for Mr. Frye

By Bob Berry

Making the Grade

Bloom County

Peanuts

THIS IS OLAF? WHY IS HE WEARING A SACK? WHAT DOES HE LOOK LIKE?

12 Houses/Mobile Homes for Rent

FREE GROCERIESI Rent two-bedroom mobile home, receive $50 groceries at Dillons Stores. Rent three-bedroom trailer, get $75 groceries. 776-8562. Valid only until 2/10/89.

13 Houses/Mobile Homes for Sale

1977 WINDSOR 14x75. All appliances, redwood deck

ATTENTION- GOVERNMENT homes from $1 (You repair). Delinquent tax property. Call (602)838-8885 ext GH1797.

14 Lost and Found

FOUND: REGISTERED to Terri Whitt at Welborn Animal Hospital and found in front of Anderson Hall on the 18th. Male dachsund mix, brown puppy, very friendly. Call 532-2168, ask for Joann or message at Boyd Hall Desk, 532-6477.

LOST EARRING: Aggieville, one-half inch teardrop, blue/ purple shell. Please call 776-0678, Karen.

15 Miscellaneous Merchandise

1300 SQUARE feet used rust-colored carpet. $250.

BOOKSHELF, DESK chairs, student and office desk, beds, couch, misc. furniture. 776-9705. FOR SALE: Six piece living room set. Asking $400, without end tables $325. Like new. Cash only please. 539-8238.

REFRIGERATOR FOR sale. Nice for bar or bedre 537-8892, Randy.

WEIGHT BENCH— no weights $20. Call evenings 539-3307, ask for Jeff or Linda.

Hayes House of Music

Guitar and Bass Lessons 776-7983 327 Poyntz

$1.50 (COTHED) Margaritas and Daiquiris CILIVIB Plus hors d'œuvre bar

Friday Only 418 Poyntz

Hayes House of Music DOD

Guitar Effects 30% OFF 327 Poyntz 776-7983

> Men's Basketball Sat. Jan. 21 K-STATE

VS. NEBRASKA

$23 package includes ★Roundtrip motor coach transportation

★Game Ticket ★Pregame Activity

Classic Travel & Tours

104 S. 4th 537-7546

"Manhattan's Classiest Salon'

FREE TANS

776-7874

PAT, HAPPY big 21 todayll No explanation needed! Your Buds, Char, Jen, G.

PI PHIS and Morn R., Becky, Shella, Sherri and Denise Thanks!! You are all too good to be true! I

SUZAL— HAPPY 19th Birthdayl From the guy played volleyball with. Love, Airnless and Tu TRI DELTA Pledges- Initiation is finally here. We're so glad to have you all. Congratulations. Love, the Actives.

To the gentleman in the suit that registered on Wed. night. Phone number is correct. Confused roommate answered.

> Please call back! The lady in black

19 Pets and Pet Supplies

WANTED: USED aquarium. Call 532-3430 Haymak

20 Professional Services

DISSERTATIONS, THESES, term papers, mail merg-ing, labels, text scanning. Laser printing. Call 537-4146.

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 South Fourth St., Suite 25.

PROMPT ABORTION and contraceptive services Lawrence. (913)841-5716.

21 Rentals

SINGLE GARAGES near Aggieville. $25 per month,

SUBLEASE AVAILABLE, January- May, Two-bedroom furnished apartment, second floor near Aggleville. $300 plus electricity, about $10 monthly. 539-8881,

22 Resume/Typing Services

TERM PAPERS, cover letters, resumes, theses and dissertations entered, stored and completed to your specifications. Come see us. Ross Secretarial Services, 614 N. 12th (across from Kite's)

23 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE, OWN room, two blocks from campus, $106.25/ month plus utilities. Call 1-762-4242.

FEMALE, OWN room, nice house near campus, washer/ dryer, $145 plus utilities. 537-8825. FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share two-bedroom mobile home. Fully furnished with washer and dryer. $150 a month plus one-half utilities. 776-8683.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted— own room— two blocks from campus. Will come down on price! Call

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to share three-bedroom apartment. Own room, close to campus. February rent free. No deposit required. Call 539-1203.

FEMALE TO share two-bedroom apartment, $140. Private bedroom, on McCain Lane. Call Julie 539-1486, anytime.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted, $155 a month plus utilities. Call 776-6892. MALE ROOMMATE, own room, one block from campus, washer and dryer, $125 plus one-third utilities. 537-1825. NON-SMOKING FEMALE- Own room, private laundry, garage. $192.50 plus one-half utilities. Donna 776-8384.

ONE OR two female roommates wanted. Own room, $135 plus utilities. 537-6841.

ROOMMATE WANTED for two-story house with hard-wood floors and bannister. Beautiful. 778-0553/ 1-492-3166.

ROOMMATE WANTED to share one-bedroom, base-ment apartment. One and one-half blocks west of campus. Call for information. Ask for Jim. ROOMMATE WANTED- Two-bedroom duplex close to campus, fireplace, garage, washer/dryer, fenced yard, pets okay, very nice. $200/ month plus one-half utilities. Laura 776-5526. ROOMMATE TO share house, own room, washer, dryer, $147/ month. 537-6832 early mornings. Late

ROOMMATE WANTED: To share be Close to campus. Water, gas and trash paid. $120/month. Call Debbie. 776-1784. ROOMMATE WANTED to share three-bedroom house month, pets ok. 537-8550. ROOMMATE NEEDED to share a very nice house close to campus. Own room, no deposit required. 537-8560.

SHARE A house. Own room plus use of kitchen, living area and all utilities. $95 a month for rent. Call 539-0356 to inquire.

WANTED: FEMALE roommate, $130, 539-1132. WANTED: MALE roommate. $140 a month plus one third electric and cable. Swimming pool, Five minute bike ride to campus. Call Terry at 776-3093.

WANTED: ONE or two roommates to share large house Own room. Central heat and air. Fireplace, colo TV, VCR, microwave, furnished except for bed-room. Deck with large backyard. Driveway parking, two blocks from campus. Low rent, one-sixth utilities. Call anytime 539-1308.

24 Situation Wanted

FIST HOLE Repair Co. We fix party damaged walls. For a free estimate, call after 6p.m. ask for Chris.

26 Sublease

27 Spring Break

SUBLEASE AVAILABLE January- May. One-bedroom

basement one block from campus. $175. (913)367-4757 evenings.

SPRING BREAK '89

Jamaica Montego Bay399 Cancun

Best in Mexico.......309 Bahamas

Grand Bahamas $259 Daytona Beach

The Right Price $139 Individual Plans miller Classic) Travel & Tours

104 S. 4th

537-7546

Cheapest

Possible Rates

SOUTH PADRE, TEXAS Round Trip Bus Transportation 2. 5 Nights Lodging (Holiday Inn - On The Beach)

3. Welcome Party Price $395 per person

SKI STEAMBOAT SPRINGS, CO

Round Trip Bus Transportation Free Shuttle To Slopes And Evening

Entertainment 5 Nights Lodging in Condo 4. 5 Day Lift Ticket

5. Ski Equipment for 5 days 6. Mountain Bar-B-Q Lunch Price $460 per person

Sponsored by International Tours and KSKT 95.3 The Kat

*Make deposits and reservations at 8th and Humboldt, 776-4756 DEPOSIT $100 due 1-26-89

SPRING BREAK '89 Reservations Available Now

SOUTH PADRE ISLAND, TX $149* Sheraton/Holiday Inn/Gulf View from $93* STEAMBOAT, CO

Shadow Run/Overlook 110m $118 DAYTONA BEACH, FL Texan Mote

MUSTANG ISLAND, TX Nom $136" Port Royal Condos HILTON HEAD ISLAND, SC $107'

Hilton Head Beach Condos Don't Wait Until It's Too Late! Call Toll Free Today

Crossword

37 Refuge 38 Spell-offs

39 Tablet

41 Business

biggie 45 Fragrant

wood

out

47 Pub brew

ACROSS 1 Health club

stat

Alley

amount

14 Fido's pal

15 Chopping

tool

present 18 Fish

16 The

13 Great

4 Pitching

7 Gas pedal's

neighbor

By Eugene Sheffer

Garfield

THINGS TO DO ON

A RAINY DAY

Day 20 Greek By Charles Schulz cheese 22 Golfing 23 Deck toppers 27 Common article 29 Modern music style 34 "R.U.R."

48 4000-5 Spin 3000 B.C. 6 Battery end 52 Struck 7 Soft 53 "Dames (musical) 8 Bird of myth 54 Actress Farrow 9 Actress 55 Chemical Gardner 10 Beer-bash propeller suffix — Hawkins 56 Hinder need 57 Soak up 11 Before

58 Blue

DOWN

2 Fairy

3 Con-

1 Work cre

cerning

4 Schedule

abbrs.

Solution time: 24 mins Yesterday's answer 1-20

40 First 42 Cartesian coordi-43 Actress Verdugo 44 Gave in 45 Autocrat 46 Harvest 48 Naughty 49 Hwy. 50 East, in Berlin 51 Society

page word

17 Bearing 21 Cartography work 23 Came to 24 Truck part 25 One type of trip' 26 Congealed 32 28 Crone 30 Go awry 31 Angry 32 Cry to the torero 33 Keats poem 36 Fencing need 37 Slowly, to Mozart CRYPTOQUIP nates line

YUHREHKV PQZZ YDU IHZF XQKKHREWK YQPVDUG:

XH GDEU IQKA, FQZ." Yesterday's Cryptoquip: TOP FLORIST HAD BUDDING FRIENDSHIP GOING WITH BEAUTIFUL WALLFLOWER.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: K equals N

Miami business owners clean up

By The Associated Press

MIAMI - Benny O'Berry's sideby-side businesses in Miami's Liberty City section survived the 1980 and 1982 riots unscathed. But Tuesday night, one of them, a grocery operated by an Arab family for a year, was looted and burned to the brick.

"There's no doubt about it. If they had known I still own the building, they would have never torched it," said O'Berry, a black businessman whose driving school next door was untouched. "They didn't realize it

As the dust settled in Liberty City and Overtown, shopkeepers in the predominantly black neighborhoods shoveled up debris and counted up their losses Thursday.

Business owners and a black community activist said it was clear black-owned businesses were spared and others specifically targeted during three nights of rioting.

While the fatal shooting of an unarmed black motorcyclist by an off the violence, deep-rooted racial tension in these impoverished areas fueled the riots, those in the community said Thursday.

The rioters picked their targets carefully, they said, sometimes even ransacking a store and destroying its cash registers and scales but leaving behind large stocks of beer, wine and food.

Sam Bahhur, whose Palestinian family operated seven small food markets in Overtown and Liberty hurts me more than it hurts the Hispanic police officer Monday set City, watched with anger as customers streamed into the black-owned Dobson Grocery across the street from his ransacked store.

"They were not hungry. They just wanted to destroy," he said while his son used a shovel to clean up a heap of canned goods, cookies and panty hose packages.

"We ran away from the uprising back home in Palestine, now we find this. We ran away from persecution over there, and we end up destroyed here. Where can a man run to?"

Senate

intentional. We do our best to inform students on a local, state, and national level," he said.

"Our job is not to tell people what to think on a certain issue," Swanson said. "We ran a clarification of the ad in the same place that clarifications and corrections are always placed in the Collegian."

Mark Tomlin, state director of ASK, spoke to Senate during open session about the workings of ASK and its past accomplishments and plans for the future.

Bush

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 ■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

of education during the campaign," he said. "I learned how vital it is to memorize dates - Pearl Harbor day, for example." Bush got that one woefully wrong during the campaign.

But if Bush has straightened out his dates, he still needs help on names. He told the youngsters he hopes to do better in his inaugural address than "Benjamin Harrison did. He spoke for an hour and a half and then got pneumonia and died a few weeks later." Actually, that was William Henry Harrison, rams and their potential."

Regents CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Rathbone said the proposal to designate K-State's engineering program the comprensive engineering school in Kansas was basically a dead issue.

The regents did approve seven non-controversial recommendations in the consultants' report, pertaining to such matters as the need for higher faculty salaries, additional graduate teaching assistantships and limiting international undergraduate students.

The regents praised Gov. Mike Hayden's recommendations for higher education, which include a 9.2 percent increase in 1990 funding for the six regents' universities.

Hayden's seven-point plan covers regents' schools, community colleges, private colleges and Washburn University. The regents universities - KU, K-State, Wichita State, Emporia State, Fort Hays State and Pittsburg State — would receive $50.2 million more in fiscal 1990, or 92 percent of what the regents requested.

The governor also approved the regents' full request of $675,990 for the K-State Veterinary Medical Center and $75,000 for the Kansas College of Technology.

Michael Lorenz, dean of K-State's Veterinary Medical Center, said the most of the allocated money would time positions for half of a year. He said the approval reflected a statewide approval for the Margin of Excellence program. "We were pleased and pleasently surprised," Lorenz said. believe the governor has stepped forward in a bold manner," Regent Don Slawson said after the board approved Hayden's plan. "His recommendations are broad in scope and comprehensive. He has given us an excellent start in the legislative session to help us achieve our goals."

John Struve, director of K-State's budget office, said MOE funds this year will not come at the expense of any other regents institution. The funds will come from state general funds which are raised from state income and sales taxes.

Free!

The regents also approved financing plans for the KU satellite campus on 15 acres of land in Overland Park, with an option to purchase 35 more

The $6-million project will be financed by $5 million in long-term debt, 20-year bonds and $1 million for site work that has been included in Hayden's budget.

The debt will be paid with another $1 million from the state, private gifts and sale of the existing center.

Looking to save some money?

Use a Collegian coupon.

Robinson ■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

far away," the world is really a much smaller place, Robinson said.

When asked what kind of effect he thought the Bush administration would have on the present situation in South Africa, Robinson said: "I would be very dishonest with you if I said anything other than 'God only knows.' ... (Bush) said and did nothing (about the situation) during his eight years with the Reagan administration. ... But maybe he'll chart a new course," Robinson said it is important to realize much of the solution to ending apartheid will come from inside Africa. All the countries in Africa must support the African National Congress through funding, he said.

Although the initial impression of the situation in South Africa gave him a "painful sense of deja vu" to the fight for civil rights in the United States in the 1960s, Robinson said they are only alike in social aspects, not political.

"Only white sensibilities, not the power base, in the South were threatened (in the U.S.), he said, adding that it is a "struggle for state power in South Africa.

Worship 10:45 a.m.

Nursery Provided
Handicap Accessible

UNITARIAN-UNIVERSALIST

FELLOWSHIP of MANHATTAN

10:45 a.m. Service & Sunday School

Nursery provided, everyone welcome

On K-18, 1/2 mile east of K-177

For info: call 537-2349

Unity Church

of Manhattan

Sunday Service 11 a.m.

Study group 6:30 p.m. Sun. 1221 Thurston, UFM House

539-8416

University Christian

8:30-11 a.m. Worship 9:45 a.m. Sunday School

6:30 p.m. Eve. Service

Valleyview Community Church

Now meeting at University Inn

Lower level 17th & Anderson

10:30 a.m. Sunday

Dan Walter, Campus Pastor 776-0112

2800 Claflin

Accessible To Handicapped

539-3921

776-5440

Students Welcomi

*Rides Available 1110 College Ave.

One, Get One All Foliage Plants in 3" Pots Reg. price $1.69 ea.

Featuring a new crop of easy-care cacti and succulent plants. We can help you choose the proper plant for any location. ... And remember to bring your container for free liquid plant food!

Special prices good through Sunday, January 22.

Horticultural Services Garden Center

2 ml. east of Manhattan on U.S. 24

PROFESSOR

HOW TO SPOT THE NOID

Mon-Sat 8-6 Frl 8-7:30 Sun 10-6

Enjoy smooth, creamy Frozen Yogurt that tastes like Ice Cream but with 80% less fat! -- FREE SAMPLES--Can't Believe It's YOGURT!

GREAT TASTE-NATURALLY OPEN: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Daily

Noon-11 p.m. Sundays

Nautilus Towers-Aggieville

Religious Directory

Blue Valley Memorial United Methodist Worship 10:30 a.m. Sunday School 9:15 a.m. Nursery provided 835 Church Ave.

Christian Campus Ministry Bible Classes 9:30 a.m. & Wed, 7:30 p.m.

Andy Miller-Campus Minister 2510 Dickens Ave. COLLEGE AVENUE UNITED

METHODIST CHURCH Sunday School - 9:30 a.m. Worship Service - 10:45 a.m.

1609 College Ave. Crestview Christian Church Worship 10:30 a.m. & 6:30 p.m. Collegiate Sunday School 9:30

Home Bible Study Groups 4301 Tuttle Creek Blvd. Evangelical Free Church of Manhattan

S.W. comer 14th & Anderso Steve Ratliff, Pastor Worship 9 a.m. Sunday School 10:15 a.m. 776-2086 Nursery Provided 776-0259

STUDENTS WELCOME! COLLEGE HEIGHTS BAPTIST CHURCH 9:15 a.m. Sunday School

10:30 a.m. Worship Service 6 p.m. Training Hour 7 p.m. Worship Service 2221 College Heights Rd. 537-7744

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN

CHURCH

Worship 8*30 & 11 am.

Church School 9:30 am.

Weekday Programs for Youth

Senior Minister Rev. Dr. Phillip S. Gittings III

801 Leavenworth

College Outreach

(Tuesday, K-State Union)

Church School-9:45 a.m. Worship-8:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. Disciples of Christ

115 Courthouse Plaza 776-8790

537-8532 10th & Poyntz

Collegiate Class 9:15 a.m. Morning Worship 10:30 a.m. 2901 Dickens

Manhattan Mennonite Fellowship Sunday School 9:30 a.m. Worship 10:45 a.m. KSU Student Group 7 p.m.

St. Isidore's Catholic Student Center Masses: Sat. 5 p.m. Sun. 9:36, 11 a.m. & 5 p.m. Confessions: Sat. 3:30 p.m.

Chaplain: Father Norbert F. Diabal First Bap list Church

Sunday Worship 11 a.m. Church School 9:45 a.m. 2121 Blue Hills Rd.

St. Francis Episcopal Campus Ministry Corner of 6th & Poyntz Church times:

Sunday 8 & 10:30 a.m. Very Rev. Rob Sanders 776-9427

St. Luke's Lutheran Church

Worship Saturday 6 p.m.

Sunday 8 and 10:45 a.m.

-Bible Class-

Sunday 9:30 a.m.

330 N. Sunset

First Church of the Nazarene

pping out in laith . . . Reaching out in love Morning Worship-10:50 Evening Praise-6:00 Sunday School-9:45 College Class-9:30 Pastor K. Ray McDowell 539-6376 (home)

537-0518

539-2851 (church) 1000 Fremont 612 Poyntz *Nursery Available

Manhattan

1509 Wreath Ave. Shabbat Services 8 p.m. Fri. Religious School 9:30 Sun. Rides available sponsor B'nai B'rith Hillol at K-State

Invites you ...

WORSHIP, SUNDAY 11 a.m. Danforth Chapel (campus) Lutheran Student Movement 5 p.m. Sunday - Lutheran Student Center Don Fallon, Pastor 539-4451 1021 Denison

LUTHERAN CAMPUS MINISTRY

$6.00 Special!

door in 30 minutes or less-guaranteed.

Hours:

Sun.-Thurs. 4pm-1am

Fri.-Sat. 4pm-2am

Get a 14" 1-topping pizza for only $6.00! Additional toppings only $1.00 each.

Not good with any other offers or coupons. Tax Expires 2/3/89

Call us!

539-0561

Manhattan

$6.89 Special!

Beware. The NOID, that bizarre character that yuks pizzas, is out there

NOID, call Domino's Pizza and have a hot, fresh pizza delivered to your somewhere on campus. He could be disguised as anyone. Avoid the Get two 10" 1-topping pizzas for only $6.89! Additional toppings only 95¢ each, covers both pizzas. Not good with any other offers not included.

POMINO'S

WOM HIRING

Expires 2/3/89.

Get two 14" cheese pizzas for only $8.99! Additional toppings $1.40 each, covers both pizzas. No coupon necessary for his great deal

Special!

Our drivers carry less than $20.00. Limited delivery area. Fast, Free Delivery." © 1989 Domino's Pizza, Inc.

FIRST LUTHERAN CHURCH Worship at 8:30 and 11 a.m. Sunday School-9:40 a.m. (Collegiate Class)

Grace Baptist

Dorothy Nickel Friesen, Pastor 1021 Denison 539-4079

WESTVIEW COMMUNITY WORSHIP 8 & 10:30 a.m. Randy Sly, Pastor For Information on Cotage Class sall shurch office SUN. EVE. WORSHIP 6 p.m. 1st 3rd and 5th Sundays CARE CELLS (Small Groupe) 6 p.m. 3rd and 4th Surdeys 3001 Ft. Riley Blvd. S37-7173

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH 8:45 a.m. Communion

(first Sunday of the month) 9:45 a.m. Church School 8:45 & 11 a.m. Worship Nursery provided for all services

John D. Stoneking, Pastor 776-8821

Jewish Congregation

Campus Adviser, David Margolies, 532-6154

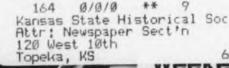

539-2604

More Food

The Flint Hills Breadbasket distributed about 29,000 more pounds of food in 1988 than in 1987. See Page 5.

Weather

Partly cloudy today and continued mild, high in mid- to upper-50s. South to southeast winds 10 to 20 mph and gusty, but diminishing during the afternoon. Mostly cloudy tonight, low around 30.

WEEKEIN VICIORY

The 'Cats rolled to a victory Saturday afternoon in Lincoln, Neb., by defeating the Cornhuskers, 80-68. See

Monday

January 23, 1989

Kansas State University Manhattan, Kansas 66506 Volume 96, Number 82

Kansas State Collegian

Inaugural ends Reagan's 8-year reign

Bush looks to changes

By Nancy Hill Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, D.C. - With his hand placed on the same Bible used at the first inauguration of George Washington 200 years ago, George Bush repeated a 35-word oath to become the 41st president of the United States of America.

Dan Quayle became the nation's 44th vice president when he raised his right hand and repeated the oath of office administered to him by Associate Justice Sandra Day

The inauguration ceremonies, which took place at noon Friday, were watched by more than 200,000 people as they huddled together on the grounds of the U.S. Capitol.

Bush's 20-minute inaugural address stressed continuity with the Reagan administration, but also change, utilitizing the theme "a new breeze is blowing."

"A new breeze is blowing - and a nation refreshed by freedom stands ready to push on," Bush said. "There's new ground to be broken and new action to be taken.

George Bush

"We must act on what we know: in crucial things, unity; in important things, diversity; in all things, generosity.'

Dan Quayle

bute to former President Ronald Reagan, with whom Bush served for eight years as vice president.

"There is a man here who has earned a lasting place in our hearts and in our history." Bush said. "President Reagan, on behalf of our nation, I thank you for the wonderful Early in his address, Bush paid tri- things that you have done for Bush said many Americans need to re-evaluate how to measure success, placing greater value in family and charity as opposed to material possessions and status.

"We will turn to the only resource we have that in times of need always grows: the goodness and the courage of the American people," he said.

"America is never wholly herself unless she is engaged in high moral principle. We as a people have such a purpose today," Bush said. "It is to make kinder the face of the nation and gentler the face of the world."

A "new activism" was offered by Bush as a means of utilizing simple hard work to better the lives of

"We must bring in the generations, harnessing the unused talent of the elderly and the unfocused energy of the young," he said.

Bush also challenged the members of the executive branch and Congress to work together harmoniously.

We need compromise; we've had dissension. We need harmony; we've had a chorus of discordant ■ See BUSH, Page 10

Zero-year jinx broken; Reagan survives office

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - Former President Reagan, who admits to having a superstitious nature, has all the same escaped a jinx that has long haunted certain presidents.

Reagan remains alive at the end of his presidency, even though he was first elected in a year ending with

For nearly a century and a half, every president elected in such a year had died in office. Reagan, despite a brush with cancer and an assassination attempt, was the first to break the William Henry Harrison, elected in 1840, died of pneumonia at the age of 67 a month after taking office.

Abraham Lincoln, elected in 1860, was assassinated in 1865 at the age of James A. Garfield, elected in 1880, was assassinated a few months later at the age of 50.

William McKinley, re-elected in 1900, was assassinated in 1901 at the age of 58. Warren G. Harding, elected in 1920, died of a heart attack in 1923 at the age of 58.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, elected to his third term in 1940, died of a cerebral hemmorhage in 1945 at the age

John F. Kennedy, elected in 1960, was assassinated in 1963 at the age of

Reagan, 77, survived an assassination attempt outside a Washington hotel in 1981 and underwent successful surgery for cancer of the colon in

Reagan has often invoked superstitious beliefs from the world of show business and sports and declined to disavow first lady Nancy Reagan's reliance on astrology.

Prices to increase for campus housing

By Cindy Ellis Collegian Reporter

Starting July 1, campus housing fees will increase by an additional $160 per year for students who live in the residence halls.

Director of Housing Thomas J. Frith said increased costs in operations is the reason for the increased fees.

The increase will generate about $700,000, said Larry Reno, fiscal officer for the department of housing. Reno said the money raised from the increase will be added to money from the general operation of the department which includes salaries, food, utilities and Frith said the Department of Housing does not receive any state support. All of the department's funding comes from the fees paid by the students.

He said he doubts the increase will affect the number of students living in the residence

"We are behind the standard rate of inflation with our increases," Frith said. "We're still one of the lowest cost room-and-board plans in the country." The increase means that fees for a double room with 20 meals per week - $2,100 this year - will cost $2,260 next year. Students at peer universities pay more for equivalent plans.

A double room and 20 meals per week costs Iowa State University students $2,480 per year. Utah State University students pay $2,415 and students at Oklahoma State University pay $2,620. Other room sizes and meal plan costs will increase also.

The fees paid for housing during the summer semester will also be increased dependent upon the number of weeks the student will be living in the residence halls.

A student living in the residence halls for two weeks during the 1989 summer session can expect to pay an addtional $25 over last summer's fees.

Donations double Bread Basket collections soar

By Ginger Miller Collegian Reporter

The amount of donated food collected by the Flint Hills Bread Basket in November and December was nearly double that collected during the same months in 1987.

Rick Mann, one of the originators of the community food donation program called the Mayor's Holiday Tree, said the community's support for the annual food drives has been

"I've been very excited about how the community has embraced the idea, not only with their food but money."

Mann, who is a former Manhattan mayor, said he set a goal of 60,000 pounds of donated food for 1988, and donations "went way over Throughout the months of November and December, 66,182 pounds of food were donated, 29,082 pounds more than the year before. The donations provided holiday meals for 1,162 Riley County families. "Our mission is to minimize hunger and poverty at the local level and to locate or find ways that are practical and low cost to achieve that," said Atina Hanna, executive director of the Bread Basket.

A Thanksgiving dinner at Manhattan Middle School was added to the holiday food program in 1988. This was the only program not limited to low-income families, Hanna

The Thanksgiving dinner program was aimed not only at those who could not afford the meal but also at shut-ins or individuals who otherwise would have spent the day alone. Hanna said 360 individuals were served at the meal, and she hopes the attendance will increase in the future.

Hanna said of the 2,094 individuals served at the dinner, 1,026 were children. Many children were also served at Christmas, she

Although the Bread Basket serves all of Riley County, 93 percent of the recipients live in Manhattan.

The Bread Basket is led by a volunteer board of directors. In addition to Hanna, there are three part-time staff members.

But what makes the organization successful, Hanna said, is the 300 to 400 volunteers or volunteer groups that offer time and services each year.

Mann said: "There are thousands upon thousands of volunteer hours worked each year. Without giving their time and talents, we couldn't serve nearly as many people as Community support is the Bread Basket's main contributor. The United Way, however, is responsible for one-fourth of the budget and the city of Manhattan gives about $1,000.

Although the holiday food program is the most publicized, the Bread Basket has two ■ See DONATIONS, Page 5

Staff/Steve Wolgasi

It's just in joust

Dressed in medieval knights' costumes, Andrew Winter, Ft. Riley, battles with a friend Sunday in City Park. Winter and other members of the Shire of the Spinning Winds chapter of the Society for Creative Anachronisms fight weekly.

Briefly...

Associated Press

... Around the world

Polish priest found dead

WARSAW, Poland - A 74-year-old priest who built a shrine to Poles killed in the Soviet Union was found dead in his apartment, and friends and authorities said the evidence points to foul play.

The Rev. Stefan Niedzielak, provost of the Charles Borromeo parish, was found dead at his home across the street from the church, the friends said.

The priest's apartment appeared to have been ransacked and he was found lying on the floor with his face bloodied, said Wojciech Ziembinski, a Polish independence activist who knew the priest.

An autopsy was scheduled for Monday, said Zofia Romaszewska, an official of the Solidarity union movement, with which the priest sympathized.

She said some things seemed to have been stolen from the apartment.

"Maybe it is simply a plain robbery on a parish, maybe not," said Romaszewska. State radio on Sunday evening reported that the investigation had shown signs of burglary and pointed toward murder.

"Intensive investigation is underway, and investigatons are being conducted to clear up the circumstances of this tragedy," radio said.

McCartney to speak for peace

LONDON - Former Beatle Paul McCartney said Sunday he'll say "we want peace" when he appears on a live phone-in program with Soviet residents this week.

McCartney has agreed to field questions from the Soviet Union on the British Broadcasting Corp.'s Russian Service for one hour Thursday.

McCartney, 46, said the Beatles were popular in the Soviet Union in the 1960s, in part for speaking out on peace with hit songs such as "Let It Be" and "All You Need Is Love." "People always used to tell us about how Beatles' records and Levis (blue jeans) were bootlegged and black-marketed in Russia," he said in the interview with Press Association, the domestic British news agency.

"It always gave me a lot of hope and made me think that people and kids worldwide were basically the same."

McCartney in November released a new album, "Back in the U.S.S.R.," on the Soviet label Melodia for exclusive distribution in the Soviet Union.

Dali's tomb being constructed

FIGUERAS, Spain - Artist Salvador Dali failed to respond to treatment and remained in very critical condition on Sunday as workers began building his tomb in Figueras, the town where the surrealist painter was born, authorities said.

The 84-year-old Dali was suffering from heart and respiratory problems and pneumonia, Dr. Carles Ponsati, head of Figueras Hospital and Dali's chief physician, said in a brief statement Sunday evening.

Ponsati said there had been no significant changes in his condition since Dali was rushed to the hospital four days ago.

He said Dali's illness was terminal and that he was not responding to treatment for the severe heart problem that was aggravated by pneumonia.

श्वाधिष्यादिश

NEIGHBORHOOD BAR

stablished 1983

Come Celebrate the Day After

... Around the region

Corps may conserve river flow

OMAHA, Neb. - The Army Corps of Engineers may act further to conserve water flows on the Missouri River, although the Rocky Mountain snowpack that helps replenish reserves is about 85 percent to 90 percent of normal, corps spokesman Chet Worm said.

Even with good snowpack runoff into the river, reservoirs will be low until the Great Plains states "get some pretty good rainfall," said Worm, chief of the corps' reservoir regulation section in Omaha.

In all, runoff is expected to be higher than 1988's 12.7 million acre-feet, the fifth lowest total since 1898, corps officials

Duane Sveum, chief of the reservoir control center, said the Corps will have a better understanding of the Rocky Mountain runoff after the snowpack peaks around April 1.

Income tax fight anticipated

TOPEKA - The stage is set for a major floor fight today in the Senate over Gov. Hayden's proposal for income tax cuts, a measure that Democrats say would close the door on any property tax relief measures.

Senate President Bud Burke, R-Leawood, predicted Democrats will attempt to torpedo Hayden's proposal to return an income tax windfall through reduced income tax rates.

"The debate Monday will be politically oriented," Burke predicted.

Hayden has proposed returning $78.9 million of the windfall through reduced income tax rates for all Kansas income taxpayers. The windfall is additional money the state receives as a result in 1986 changes in the federal tax code Senate Democrats caucused Thursday to map out their strategy on the issue and discuss what amendments to offer. Much of the discussion among minority party members focused on property tax relief and increasing state aid to local school districts.

"If it were up to me, and I were benevolent king, I would give it all back in tax relief," said Sen. Phil Martin, D-Pittsburg, who earlier warned that property tax increases are going to become a major issue.

Line forms to buy vowels

OKLAHOMA CITY - Thousands of Oklahomans converged on Penn Square Mall and formed a "snake-like" line, but it wasn't a conga dance festival and nobody was fighting for a chance to buy some incredible bargains.

Everybody was fighting for a chance to buy a vowel. Representatives of the "Wheel of Fortune" game show went to the mall to recruit fresh faces. They visit about a dozen cities each year so all the contestants are "not just people from Los Angeles," said associate producer Robin Kenner.

Host Pat Sajak and assistant Vanna White were not part of the recruiting team, but that didn't keep people from pressing up to doors at 7 a.m. Saturday, two hours before the doors opened, just to sign up for a slim chance to be tested for a shot at being a contestant.

"The parking lot was already filled by Montgomery Wards when I got here at 9 a.m., so I knew there was a large crowd," said Shelley Dixon, the mall's marketing director.

Campus Bulletin

ANNOUNCEMENTS

THE K-STATE DEPARTMENTS OF ENGLISH AND PHILOSOPHY are sponsoring a lecture at 4 p.m. Tuesday in Denison 220. Rosiland Ladd of Wheaton College will speak on the topic of "Death and Children's Literature: Charlotte's Webb and the Dying

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Ronald Fagen at 10 a.m. Wednesday in Bluemont 368. The topic is: "Staff Development Competencies for School Administrators.'

CAREER PLANNING AND PLACE-MENT is now posting sign-up schedules for on-campus employment interviews by Kansas, regional and national employers. All eligible candidates are urged to register and apply.

TODAY

KARATE CLUB will meet at 8:15 p.m. in Union Ballroom K

BETA ALPHA PSI will meet at 7 p.m. in the Union Little Theatre.

CHIMES will meet at 9 p.m. in Union 205. HUMAN ECOLOGY COUNCIL will meet at 5:15 p.m. in Justin 254.

ENGINEERING STUDENT COUNCIL will meet at 6:30 p.m. in Union 213.

ASSOCIATION OF COLLEGIATE ENTREPRENEURS will meet at 7 p.m. in the Union Big Eight Room.

BUSINESS COUNCIL will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Union 209.

POLITICAL SCIENCE CLUB will meet p.m. in Union 206.

OMICRON DELTA EPSILON will meet at 7 p.m. at Kite's.

TUESDAY

CHRISTIAN STUDENT FELLOW-SHIP will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 204.

GERMAN TABLE will meet at 11:30 a.m. in Union Stateroom 2.

BETA ALPHA PSI will meet at 6 p.m. in Calvin 212. Fall and spring pledges must

IEEE EXECUTIVE BOARD will meet at 3:30 p.m. in the Electrical Engineering conference room of Durland Hall

WHEAT STATE AGRONOMY CLUB will meet at 7 p.m. in Throckmorton 313.

GERMAN CLUB will meet at 4 p.m. in Eisenhower 123.

ENGINEERING AMBASSADOR EXECUTIVES will meet at 6 p.m. in Durland

OMICRON NU will meet at 6 p.m. in Union 213.

NATIONAL AGRI-MARKETING ASSOCIATION will meet at 7 p.m. in Union

KAPPA DELTA PI will meet at 7 p.m. in

■ A blue Ford Escort was

A mirror was broken off a veh-

An automated teller machine card was reported lost on campus.

reported disabled in lot A-12.

icle in lot B-3E.

K-State Police

Thursday

- A blue Ford Ranger was towed to Mike's Wrecker from lot A-15 for blocking the drive and boxing in another vehicle.
- A stop sign at the intersection of Serum Plant Road and Denison was reported missing.

Friday

- A case of telephone harassment was reported.
- Six stalls in the visitor's section of lot A-30 were barricaded as requested.
- A wheel lock was placed on a yellow Mazda GLS in lot A-28N.
- A car stereo was stolen from a vehicle parked in lot B-3. Loss was $150.
- A wheel lock was placed on a gray BMW in lot A-4.
- The rear window of a Nissan truck in lot D-5 was broken. Loss was $100.

A student parking permit was reported stolen from a vehicle in lot

An elevator in Durland Hall was shut off due to a mechanical malfunction.

Saturday

- A report was filed on theft of items from a vehicle on campus. Loss
- A 30-day temporary license tag was reported stolen from a vehicle in lot D-2.

Sunday

A report was filed on damage done to a vehicle parked on Petticoat Lane.

SHOW SOMEONE YOU CARE

Give the one you love an ice cream cake for Valentine's Day. Now there's Dairy Queen® cake to treat them to! Cool, creamy chocolate and vanilla DQ soft serve, layered with light crisp chocolate crunch, plenty of rich, cold fudge and covered with delicious icing. It's all frozen and packaged to take home. Wouldn't a

Dairy Queen

2 a.m.

Dairy Queen® cake be wonderful tonight? 1015 N. 3rd. Manhattan

$2.50 and Pitchers Teas We're open at 2 p.m. so come on down! Begin Graduate School In September '89

Psychology

Master of Arts

$2.00

- Doctor of Psychology Small Classes Applied
 Clinical Innovative North Central Accredited Hospital Affiliations Clinical Training Facilities On Premises
- Afternoon & Evening Classes Full & Parttime Programs Handicapped Accessibility Equal Opportunity Educational Facility

 Minority Scholarships Available Forest Institute of Professional Psychology 1322 South Campbell • Springfield, Mo 65807-1445

FUNDRINKERY Comedy Invasion Mon., Tues., and

Wednesday - 9 p.m.

Pat Paulson along with Beth Donahue ·Presidential Candidate

·All Major T.V. Talk Shows

·Smothers Brothers Comedy Hour

·Mayor/Owner of Asti, Cal. "I've upped my standards ... Now up yours" Pat Paulson Campaign '88

Winemaker

Before 3 p.m. 539-4321

531 N. Manhattan

After 3 p.m. 539-9727

We Care Enough to Listen . . . Do You?

FONE VOLUNTEER TRAINING

Jan. 28, 9 a.m.-5 p.m. UFM house 1221 Thurston For further info call 537-0999 after 5 p.m.

FONE CRISIS CENTER

SCHOLARSHIP INFORMATION FOR STUDENTS WHO NEED MONEY FOR COLLEGE Every Student is Eligible for Some Type of Financial Aid

Regardless of Grades or Parental Income. We have a data bank of over 200,000 listings of scholarships, fellow ships, grants, and loans, representing over $10 billion in private sector funding.

Many scholarships are given to students based on their academic interests, career plans, family heritage and place of residence. There's money available for students who have been newspaper carriers, grocery clerks, cheerleaders, non-smokers . . . etc. Results GUARANTEED.

For A Free Brochure CALL

ANYTIME

(800) 346-6401

Become an usher at McCain Auditorium. In return for your time we will give you free tickets to the exciting events scheduled in the McCain Performance Series.

Join us at an orientation meeting in the McCain Lobby on Tuesday, January 24 at 4 p.m.

If you are unable to attend, call 532-6425 for details.

for temporarily or permanently physically limited students on campus, building to building. Inquire by calling 532-6436

TUESDAY Crisp Meat Burrito 99¢

Ved. & Thurs. Manhattan Town Center MONDAY 79° Taco-Rito

Bundy confesses; death not delayed

By The Associated Press

STARKE, Fla. - Serial killer Ted Bundy took responsibility Sunday for two Idaho murders, continuing tearful eleventh-hour confessions even though they failed to bring him an execution delay, officials said.

Idaho state Attorney General Jim Jones said his chief investigator met with Bundy for about an hour, and that the condemned prisoner described two murders he committed in Idaho about 1974 or 1975.

"One seems to be fairly possible. The other is tough to tell at this time," Jones said in Boise after speaking to investigator Russ Reneau by phone.

Bundy provided Washington state and Colorado investigators on Friday and Saturday with details of at least nine murders for which he has long been suspected but never charged. By Sunday, however, he became erratic in his promises as he met with attorneys, a friend and paralegals.

Bundy, 42, who is scheduled to die at 7 a.m. Tuesday, broke but rescheduled an appointment with a Utah detective and canceled a Monday afternoon news conference with 30 journalists, state officials said.

"He's got visits scheduled with investigators from Colorado, Utah and Washington, some of them tonight and some maybe tomorrow, although we don't know about tomorrow," L.E. Turner, assistant superintendent at Florida State Prison, said late Sunday. "He may not have time for all of them."

Bundy, who has been on death row at the prison since July 1979, lost an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court a week ago, and no other court he has turned to since has offered a reprieve.

Bundy's next step could be an appeal to Anthony Kennedy, the Supreme Court justice assigned to consider last-minute Florida death appeals. One justice may stay an execution pending review by the full court, but Kennedy favors the death

In talks with authorities over the weekend, Bundy, who grew up in Tacoma, Wash., confessed to killing at least eight young women in that state in 1974, said investigator Robert Keppel of the Washington attorney general's office.

Bundy also confessed to the 1975 slaying of Julie Cunningham, 26, a Vail, Colo., ski shop employee whose body was never found, said Vail Police Chief Ken Hughey.

Hughey said Bundy is convinced that the only way he will get to heaven is to confess.

"He's attempting to purge himself," said Colorado Attorney General Duane Woodard. "It is part of his

Staff/Steve Wolgast

Halftime hoopla

"This meeting is a good sign that people want to understand (each other's faith)," said Islamic community representative Syed

Paul Snider, left; Jim Kurr, glasses; Chris Pinkerton; Blake Picinich; and Richard Koppelman watch the halftime festivities of Super Bowl

Each of the panel members gave a statement about the ways that their group has been stereotyped as well as how their group steroetypes others.

United Campus Ministry, and panel

2 FER MONDAYS

2 meals for price of 1

when purchasing 2 beverages

at regular price

The Rev. Al Zimmerman, of Section - every Friday.

Entertainment

Mondays

only

5:00 to 9

with this coupon

IUNAM EXPRESS 11 a.m.-1 a.m.

Open 7 days a week

GERMAN CLUB

Informational Meeting

123 Eisenhower Hall Everyone Interested

Invited to Attend

Tuesday, Jan 24 at 4 p.m.

XXIII in Marlatt Hall. Kurr's glasses allowed for the 3-D viewing of halftime entertainment and certain commercials.

member from the Christian community said that Christians are often thought of as being stern, judgmental, self-arrogant and greedy. He said this is sometimes true, but it is not true of the majority of Christians.

Enjoy smooth, creamy

Frozen Yogurt

that tastes like Ice Cream

but with 80% less fat!

-- FREE SAMPLES--

1 Can't Believe It's
YOGURT!

GREAT TASTE - NATURALLY

OPEN: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Daily

Noon-11 p.m. Sundays

Nautilus Towers-Aggieville

Free Delivery Restaurant

King week ends with interfaith dialogue

By Cindy Ellis Collegian Reporter

Uniting religions, justice and peace was the purpose of an interfaith dialogue Sunday night at the International Student Center. The KSU Committee on Religion sponsored a panel discussion on religious stereotypes, the final campus event celebrating Martin Luther King week.

Don Fallon, coordinator of religious activities, said the purpose of the dialogue was to bring different religious groups together for a better understanding of the others' faiths.

Fallon said he hoped this, and similar activities sponsored by the committee on religion, will help to create an interfaith understanding.

Members of the panel represented

Olson's Shoe

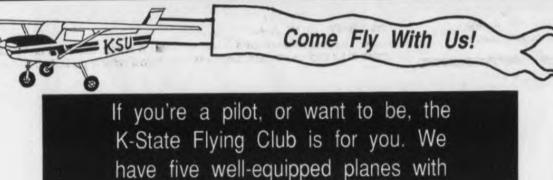

Service

the Jewish, Christian and Islamic

Remember oz. Fishbowls

Heels Quick! Polished and scuffs repaired 539-8571 1214B Moro

Call Sam Knipp, 539-6193

your name on the log sheet.

AWARENESS WEEK JANUARY 23-27 1989

Wellness is taking responsibility for our own lives. For optimal wellness, we strive to find a balance in all the dimensions of our life. There are six areas of wellness; physical, social, emotional, vocational, intellectual and spiritual.

INTELLECTUAL WELLNESS is expressed through self-directed learning about ourselves and our environment in order to reach our full potential. We experience intellectual wellness when we apply what is learned in the classroom to our own experiences outside the classroom

Take your FREE LAQ on Tues. Jan. 24 11:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m. Union Roon 206

> Stop by the PAC-CATS table in the Union T-Th.

VISIT WITH A PAL (Peer Assistant Leader) TODAY!

PAC-CAT OFFICE Lower Level Lafene 532-6927

"Body Heat" Tues., Jan. 24

9:00-11:30 Come early to assure the best seating only at Brothers

1120 Moro 537-9511

Male Dancers PAYING

THIS AD WORTH $3.00 OFF ANY ORDER OF 2 OR MORE PIZZAS. NOT VALID WITH OTHER COUPONS OR SPECIALS. EXPIRES Jan. 28, 1989

YOU MUST MENTION THIS AD WHEN PLACING YOUR ORDER

PIZZA SHUTTLE

776-5577

Association

American Heart

UNITED ARTISTS

$ 3 PER PERSON SHOWS BEFORE 6:00 p.m.

SETH CHILDS 6

ETH CHILDS AT FARM BUREAU RD. 776-Daily at 7:15 & 9:30 lat/Sun 2:10 4:40 & 7:15 9:50 Talk Radio (R) Sat/Sun 2:00 & 4:30

Dirty Rotten Scoundrals (PG)
Daily 7:15 & 9:40, Sat/Sun 9:05 & 11:30

Rain Man (R)
Daily 7:10 & 9:45, Sat/Sun 9:25 & 12:00

Accidental Tourist (PG)
Daily 7:20 & 9:45, Sat/Sun 9:25 & 11:50 Working Girl (R)
Daily 7:20 & 9:35
Sat/Sun 9:20 & 11:35

Tues., Thurs., Sat.

JEANNIE, top designer with 3 years experience. Specializes in long hair, and men's styling. For introduction JEANNIE is offering 50% off (reg. $18) a cut with style through Feb. 4th Call JEANNIE for your personal appointment. 776-8830

Candlewood Shopping Center

Vista's
NEW 49¢ Ham

Served with ketchup, mustard, pickle, and onion. Cheese and bacon extra.

Available for a limited time!

Manhattan • Lawrence • Topeka

Editorial

Kansas State Collegian Opinions ■ Monday, January 23, 1989

Alternative lecture series worth attending

Landon Lecture series, but even better speeches are to be heard on this campus.

So you may not have heard of Randall Robinson prior to his University Convocation last Thursday. But if you were there, you're not likely to forget him.

Robinson, executive director of Trans-Africa, upheld a University Convocation tradition of being interesting as well as informative.

Landon Lecturers aren't very fun. They're not controversial and they don't raise any eyebrows. Speakers at Landon Lectures are usually prominent and respectable individuals who defend some aspect of the status quo.

Luckily, we also have the Lou Douglas and University Convocation lectures to remind us that there is more to what happens in the world than what we watch on the six o'clock news.

Sure, it's fun to say you saw Ronald Reagan, Sandra Day O'Connor or Oscar Arias Sanchez at a Landon Lecture, but you can't forget the other smaller lectures,

K-State may be famous for its which many times are more enjoyable.

Some examples of these lecturers are Noam Chomsky, renowned linguist from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology who spoke about American-supported terrorism in Central America, the Middle East and South Africa in a Convocation in 1988; Michael Parenti, professor of political science at Harvard; economist Samuel Bowles and ex-CIA operative John Stockwell. All these were Lou Douglas lecturers.

While Landon Lectures are well-publicized, Lou Douglas and Convocation Lectures do not always receive the attention they deserve. Seldom are students excused for these less-renowned lectures, unlike the famous Landon Lectures.

And while the University deserves to be proud of the Landon Lecture program, it is important not to forget and neglect the smaller lecture series responsible for bringing so much information and controversy to the University community.

Other Perspectives

What exactly is a drug czar?

President-elect George Bush has appointed as his drug czar former Secretary of Education William Bennett. What will this guy do?

If Webster's New Collegiate Dictionary is correct, a czar is an emperor, or one having great power and authority. Bennett is going to have authority over drugs? Is he like a drug kingpin? Or will he fight the war against drugs?

The title needs to be changed.

Daily Nebraskan Jan. 19, 1989

Carreine Doud
Greg Vogel
Chris Hays
Srian Hurranell, Michael Nichols
Randy Short
Lisa Plannenstiel

_$45

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR pertaining to matters of public interest are encouraged. Letters should be kept as brief as possible. All letters are subject to editing on the basis of space, style and taste.

GUEST COLUMNS are also encouraged. The column should be no longer than two double-spaced typed pages, and the author will be notified if it will run in order to be

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

News Staff

Nancy Downing, Paula Selby, Jane Thorrpson

Karen Allen, Audra Dietz, Nancy Hill, Chris Koger, Kevin Kramer, Nancy Proser

Paul Branson

Barbara Baker, Kale Baldock, Doug Folk

Dwayne Lively, Scott Miller, Chad Sanborn, Mark Schmeiler
ancy Chartrand, Douglas Fall, Torn McLaughlin Jr., Mark Schmeiner, Stacy Sweatcy

Bob Berry. Richard Broadfor

Jeff Schrag, Brian H. Smith, Sherri Screnson, Karen D. Termpler, Brent Windsor Kirn Beyer, Shelly Potter, Tomari Quinn, Christa South Army Canfield, Chrissy Harwood, Dana Peterson, Joanne Wright Dennis Dlabal, Michelle Hirschler, Kendall McMinimy

Christopher T. Assaf, Brad Camp, Joe Feeman
Brett Hacker, Gary Lytle, Steve Wolgast
Kale Baldock, Barbara Baker, Catherine Doud, Susan L'Ecuyer, Doug Folk Kendra Genserner, Brian Hummell, Dwayne Lively, Scott Miller, Michael Nichols, Karla Redetehelmer
Chad L. Sanborn, Paula Selby, Mark Schmeller, Erwin Seba, Robert R. Short, Janet Swanson

Advertising Staff

Student Publications Staff

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publica-tions Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published Monday through Friday during the school year and Monday and Thursday during summer sessions. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Man-

News contributions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, Kedzie Hail 116. Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word ad tising questions should be directed to (913) 532-6555.

Kansas State Collegian Subscription Rates

photographed. SEND SUBMISSIONS to the Collegian in Kedzie 103.

MANAGING EDITOR.

SPORTS EDITOR

FEATURES EDITOR.

COPY EDITORS... STAFF WRITERS

REVIEWERS

ILLUSTRATOR.

EDITORIAL BOARD.

ADVERTISING MANAGER ...

DISPLAY SALES REPRESENTATIVES .

OFFICE/CLASSIFIED AD ASSISTANTS.

ACTING DIRECTOR/ADVERTISING DIRECTOR ASSISTANT DIRECTOR/NEWS ADVISER......

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING MANAGER . ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT.....

NEWS PRODUCTION COORDINATOR

One Semester (Fall or Spring) Two Semesters (Fall and Spring)...

ASSISTANT MANAGER.

PHOTOGRAPHER.

BUSINESS MANAGER ..

OFFICE MANAGER.

SCIENCE WRITER...

ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR...
GOVERNMENT EDITOR...
COPY CHIEF.....

Stopping rape concerns all

t is time to shed the myth that rape will be with us forever, and that the best we can do is to teach women to protect themselves with outdoor lighting, locks or martial arts. This attitude is an abdication of responsibility from those able to respond, and an acceptance of rape by those who profess to abhor rape.

I declare to you that there is no acceptable level of death, no acceptable level of humiliation, and no acceptable level of degradation in a culture that calls itself civilized. How can a country that holds justice high, a country dedicated to freedom, accept the level of fear that women live with daily? We've got to stop rape, and we can stop it.

For too long we have lived in denial. I can no longer deny the reality that every rape is a violation of my humanity. I can no longer deny that my silence implies my consent. I can no longer deny my sisters their freedom.

What man can look his daughter in the eye and try to explain that, "We live in the land of the free, but you must not go out at night"? Which of you can look your kid sister in the eye and tell her you love her and yet do nothing while she and one in three of her girlfriends will be raped by the age of 18? Raped by their relatives and peers. How long are men going to allow their 96-year-old grandmothers and our 3-month-old daughters to be sexually assaulted before we get off our butts and do something?

I am sick to death of hearing men say that because they would never rape, rape is not their problem. Well, whose problem is it then? Obviously, women who survive an assault experience a problem that will transform their lives for years to come. But what about the father who is ready to kill because his daughter has been raped? Is he experiencing a problem?

And why doesn't he generalize his feelings about this daughter to every woman on the planet? What about the husband of a woman who has been raped whose marriage dissolves within two years in two out of three cases? Is he experiencing a problem?

What about the college senior whose partner lives with fear of rape or memories of

Commentary

Straton Guest Columnist

Jack

rape? Is he experiencing a problem? What do men say to this? "Oh, I'm sympathetic, but I really don't have the time right est assured that unless you make the time right now, the problem of rape will be waiting for you when you finally get around to doing something. Or they will say, "I've got to put my energy into stopping nuclear war" or "environmental destruction." When will men make the connection that the same male patterns of violence involved in power, control and humiliation in international conflict are also involved in the violation, degradation and domination of an individual woman by an individual

You can identify with the porpoises that are destroyed at the hands of the tuna industry to provide a food source for you to eat. Why is it harder for you to identify with the women who are humiliated, mutilated and murdered at the hands of the pomography industry just to provide images for you to view while masturbating? How can a new-age man consider himself sensitive if he cannot sense, or does not respond to, the pain that engulfs his

But what can we do? Consider that: A 1985 survey of 7,000 students on 35 college campuses (Koss) found that one in four women had been raped by the age of 25. Ninety percent of the rapists were known by their targets. One in 12 men admitted forcing women to have sex, but virtually none of these men consider themselves rapists. These men, in other words, considered themselves normal, and thought that their sexual behavior was excusable, expected and even

In America, three out of four rapes are committed by men known to the victims, by men in our own peer groups.

y age 18, one in four to one in six males has been sexually assaulted heterosexually identified male.

Clearly our male peers need to be educated out of their rape behavior. And who is better to take on this task than you and I? Meaningful social change to end rape depends on action and education - men talking with men about rape and about sexism in general.

Men Against Rape is in the process of forming, and this is an invitation to men in this community, and any women who would like to work within this context, to join us in working to stop rape. Out first meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the University for Man, 1221 Thurston St. (For more information, you may contact me at 537-3294.)

Having outlined the harshest reasons why each of us should consider becoming personally involved in working to create a rape-free society, let me end on a warmer note. Working with a group of evolving men, in association with activist women, on such a positive goal is a very valuable, fulfilling experience. Personal stories about our own socialization are one of the most effective means to help both men and women understand and eliminate the roots of rape and rape-like behavior in men. And, consideration of our experiences also helps us in our own transformations.

It is our hope to have the membership of the group be as diverse as possible so that we may learn from the experiences of others, particularly personal experiences of racism and other oppressions that are so closely connected to the oppressions of women.

Jack Straton is a research associate in physics, founder and former director of Men Against Rape in Eugene, Ore., and co-founder of D.C. Men

FIRST OFFICIAL PORTRAIT OF THE BUSH CABINET

Consensus on SDI hard to find his is crazy, man. So, you've got a bunch of money, right, and you can spend it on anything. Like, nuclear war is supposed to be cost efficient. So like now, right, they are talkin', I mean seriously talkin', 'bout cutting back on all that stuff. But, like, we still have this albatross around our necks. I mean Star Wars, man. Whadda we do?

There are two sides to every black-n-white issue. I mean, gray areas are just too confusing. So, education 'bout this stuff has gotta be the best way, right?

I've spent my share of time around, like the liberals and the conservatives, and I've come to notice two distinct traits in each species: conservatives can't tell a joke, liberals can't take a joke.

So, all this Star Wars stuff. I mean, hey, what is the skinny on all this? What is wrong and what is right?

I mean, detente seems to work. The master plan seems to be coming together. The Russkies are gettin' out of Afghanistan. (Yeah, after they trashed the place.) People are calling the whole situation "their Vietnam." Get

But back to education. I decided to get the right (not as in correct) but as in right-wing side of the story. I went to this lecture, man, and decided against getting a flattop. But I did learn a thing or two 'bout stuff.

The dude, this like real prominent professor, gave a speech to some air jockeys. He starts sayin' how there is no evidence that Star Wars won't work. So I'm thinkin', "What's the deal, dude? Somebody, somewhere adamantly thinks it won't work. Not just jamokes, I mean, like real scientists and stuff."

But I didn't, like, say anything. I was just there to let him present his case, their case, and maybe, eventually, my case.

Conservatives can't dress, man. 100 much stone-washed or too much polyester. But they can rap about this space weapons stuff.

Commentary Chad L.

Sanborn Collegian Columnist

They jump right in, goin' on 'bout megajoules, G-forces and stuff; their eyes dartin' around, startin' to sweat, and their mouths gettin' real dry.

Gotta have the edge, man. If you're livin' on the edge, you gotta have the edge. And ya gotta find out what edge the other guys got.

So, this dude whips out these slides of, like, space weapons and stuff. The animated ones look like somethin' out of Sgt. Rock comics, and the photos look like stills from one of those movies on car maintenance they show you in high school auto shop.

There's all this stuff, man, which he says is all gonna cost less than the national deficit. Then he goes on 'bout not trusting the Russians. I'm thinkin', "Man, I dunno if I trust 'em either, 'cause I don't know any to see what they're like."

ut it starts to get boring, 'cause like it's a Thursday and I'm missin' Cheers. I wanna learn this stuff, and I try to concentrate on what the dude says about charged particles, and beams and stuff, but I can't focus. Cynicism is startin' to flow out of my pores like, ... well ... like

And I'm listenin' to this guy, but he ain't givin' answers. Every time he's asked 'bout somethin' I might like to know, he comes off with some really proud, "that's classified,"

It starts to seem real sad. I mean, I don't wanna look at the world that way. Too scary, too sad.

So I need the other side. Like, a man can't make up his mind 'til he's heard both sides. So I'm readin' in this book, it's like a compilation of stuff from "Scientific American" called "Arms Control and the Arms Race." In the part about Star Wars, the scientists who wrote it are talkin' like there is no evidence to suggest Star Wars will work.

So I go, to myself, "But, somebody obviously thinks this stuff will work."

At this point, I still dunno know who's right or where I stand. So I finish the article, and I'm thinking that I don't much care for Star Wars. But I need to reassure myself that others think like me, so I need to talk to some find one, he's just hangin' out, wearing black and smoking cigarettes, and he's like real passionate about the subject. He keeps tying the Sandinistas and world hunger into it. But I want to stay on the subject, so I say, "Hey, we do have like this defense-based economy, and the economy would benefit from the production of all this space weapons stuff, even if it don't work.

"Besides," I say, "what's so wrong about everyone dying all at once? And, how do we know these missiles even exist? I've never seen one, just soldiers, jeeps and barbed wire. I mean, it doesn't make sense to turn the power to blow up the world over to a different guy every four or eight years."

And this guy gets real upset. Says I'm being foolish; of course, they exist. And I'm gettin' real tired 'cause I gotta make up my mind soon. Do I want this junk floating in space, do I want safety from the threat of nuclear war, and is this the way to go about it? Will it work or not? I dunno. But my head hurts so I go home to bed. Curl up in the fetal position and drift off. Wake up the next day and I still ain't got a clue. Go figure.

One Year (Fall, Spring and Summer) ... One Year (Fail, Spring and summer).

To charge by VISA or MasterCard, call (913) 532-6555

Send orders and address changes to Student Publications, Kedzie Hall 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506.

Donations

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

other programs which are active throughout the year.

"By far our most important mission is to serve as a food bank for other centers to use," Hanna said. The food bank provides food for 32 area groups and centers.

This allows the other organizations to use their funds for other services. Hanna said. There are also five church pantries in Manhattan. The pantries are responsible for preparing meals from the food bank one day each week.

Hanna said the food pantries serve families who are not members of senior citizens programs or other groups to whom meals are provided.

Another source of food items is the USDA Surplus program, which provides commodities such as cheese, flour, honey, powdered milk and rice to eligible families in the county. These items are stored and distributed from the Bread Basket office.

In 1987, about 20,000 families received products through this program. In 1988 the amount of commodities supplied by the government dropped drastically and only 1,700 families could be served.

The USDA adjusts its minimum

We have:

expect

future for you

Bachelors/Masters

Compute

Information

10 and 型を定

Science

Systems

Bachelors

Degrees:

The Mutual of Omaha Companies have a future for you ...

in Computer Bata Services

· The competitive market-based salaries you

The computer technology that puts us on the

If YOU have what it takes for a challenging career in data processing, talk with the Companies that have a real

Contact your Career

Placement Office to schedule an interview

Mutual &

Companies

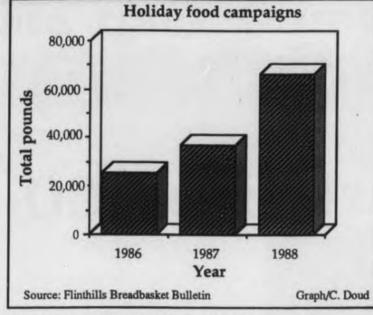

Equal Opportunity Companies M/F

♂Omaha 🥰

A selection of exceptional benefits

· A personal career path · The job you want · Respect for you leading edge in our industry income level for recipient families according to how much surplus food is available. The families with the greatest need and lowest income will be given first priority to receive food.

Hanna said the USDA does not announce how much food will be available until late in the year; therefore, the USDA surpluses do not affect the Bread Basket's programs.

Recently the Bread Basket's board of directors approved establishing a Share Center. Items such as clothes, household goods and toys soon will be supplied to qualified individuals.

Established in 1981, the Bread Basket serves the elderly, physically and mentally handicapped, welfare recipients and the homeless.

Since 1984, when the first holiday food baskets were distributed to county residents, Bread Basket volunteers have put together baskets of donated food for families with limited resources.

The baskets were distributed at Thanksgiving and Christmas to families who have been referred by the Kansas Department of Social and Rehibilitation Services.

Fly to Fort Lauderdale For Spring Break

Enter to Win Fabulous Trip for Two

Fill out slip below and bring to

Keck's Steak House now thru February 24, 1989

Must be 18 to Enter-No Purchase Necessary

Village Plaza Shopping Center

Name

Address

Phone Number

WINNER WILL RECEIVE

2 nights lodging

Dinner at a famous Night Spot

Plus 1 day excursion to the Bahamas

Community support assists Bread Basket's food increase

By Angle Smith Collegian Reporter

The Flint Hills Bread Basket was able to distribute about 29,000 more pounds of food in 1988 than it did in 1987, said Atina Hanna, Bread Basket executive director.

The organization distributes food to families in the Manhattan area who have limited resources.

Hanna said some of the increase in food provided can be attributed to the Mayor's Holiday Tree program and I Contributed A Twenty, the K-State support group for athletics.

"ICAT's step forward to help the Mayor's Holiday Tree could not have been more timely," Hanna said.

"A federal program that helps our families was dropped in May 1988," she said. "Since May, we have only received two shipments of (government surplus) food when the families were used to sometimes two every

45 Years Serving America's Children

March of Dimes

539-2651

ICAT assisted the Bread Basket by collecting cans of food at three men's home basketball games in December. Large purple hands made of foam, donated by State Farm Insurance, were given to the fans who contributed.

ICAT members collected $1,573 and 1,659 pounds of food. ICAT's contribution helped the campaign exceed its goal of 62,000 pounds of food for the needy. The final count was 62,082 pounds.

"Half of the money goes to the Bread Basket to buy meats and the rest goes to pay (families') utility bills," said Janet Killeen, head of publicity for the Mayor's Holiday Tree program.

Ruth Ann Wefald, a member of the Bread Basket board, chaired the project involving K-State's efforts to raise food and money.

"It was such a wonderful thing, the terrific response by the staff, students and really the whole community," Wefald said. "I wish I could translate such a warm message to all the people that helped." Matt McMillen, ICAT adviser, said he thought assisting the Bread Basket was a worthwhile project and hopes that it is something ICAT can be involved with in years to come. The Mayor's Holiday Tree is a project sponsored by the Aggieville Merchants Association, which donates to the Bread Basket. Rick Mann, former Manhattan mayor and founder of the Mayor's Holiday Tree, asked Wefald to coordinate a project in which proceeds would go to the campaign.

Fanny Packs Book Packs!

Lots of models! Come look them over!

from

Kangaroo JanSport Alpenlite Lowe

Ask about lifetime warranty

Caribou

Camp Trails The North Face

16" PIZZA

one topping dine-in or free delivery with coupon expires Jan. 31 "premium pizza at a cardboard pizza price" 523 South 17th 537-1484

AVIATION CADET PROGRAM

Do you want to fly? Pilot training, ages 19-24, with Associate Degree or 60 semester hours for our Naval Aviation Cadet Program. Must be U.S. Citizen, physically qualified with a GPA 3.2. Call Naval Management placement office Mon.-Thurs., 9 a.m.-4 p.m. 1-800-821-5110.

WHAT IS PAC-CATS?

McCain

a u d i t o r i u m

Beausoleil La musique acadienne Friday, January 27, 8:00 p.m.

the Kennedy Center, Lincoln Center the Lone Star Cafe. Garrison Keillor, host of "A Prairie Home Companion," called them "the best Cajun band in the world." Why? Because their fusion of traditional styles with jazz, rock, and bluegrass has brought the rich legacy of Cajun music out of the bayous and into the here and now. Join Beausoleil for an evening of sheer, unstoppable fun and laissez les bons temps rouler!

"Michael Doucet is one of the most delightful fiddlers on the planet. When he and Beausoleil step out, they do so without seat belts." --Record Roundup

> General Public: $12 Senior Citizen: $10 Student / Child: $8

Charge tickets to MasterCard or VISA at 532-6428, or come to the box office noon to 5:00 p.m. weekdays.

Transportation for seniors is available . through Kansas State Bank and the Manhattan Arts Council. For information.  call Marie Dellen at 537-4400.

* 1881 1882 Make your evening on the town complete with tickets to Beausoleil and a buffet featuring Cajun specialities at the . University Club. For information and reservations call (913) 539-7531.

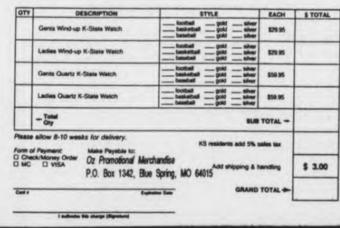

WILDCAT TIME

On-campus

February 6

Date:

This first ever offering of the K-State Wildcat watch will show your support for the Big 8's conference finest. This beautiful timepiece has been uniquely custom designed by Oz Promotional Merchandise. It is available in either gents or ladies styles with your choice of a wind-up or a quartz model. Either model comes with a one year factory warranty, and a choice of a floating sweep second hands including football, basketball or baseball. This watch is also available in either a gold or silver case. Simply mark the appropriate area below. This watch is an official Intercollegiate product and licensed by International Collegiate Enterprise, Inc.

Kansas City Times & Sunday Star

K.C. Star P.O. Box 4183 Topeka, KS 66604

THE KANSAS CITY TIMES & SUNDAY STAR

Student Discount

NAME:

SEMESTER RATE

lagree to subscribe to The Kansas City Times & Sunday Star for the full semester at the special rate of $20.80. This price includes consideration for nondelivery when classes are suspended for holidays, fall, winter, or spring breaks and other periods when service is not requested. The offer becomes effective the first day of class and expires the last day of finals. Delivery begins the first day of classes and ends the last day of finals.

TAX INCLUDED

•MORNING This offer is made and limited to full time students of this university or college. It is •SUNDAY students of this university of college. It is made by a carrier or agent of The Star.

ADDRESS: PHONE: APT: STUDENT I.D. # UNIVERSITY: SIGNED:

WHAT IS WELLNESS? WHAT DOES A WELLNESS PROGRAM OFFER?

SportsMonday

'Cats' first-half spurt fires 80-68 win

K-State forward Billy Ray Smith reaches in vain for a loose ball as Nebraska's Eric Johnson looks on Saturday night in Bob Devaney Sports Center. The 'Cats won the game, 80-68, and are now 11-4 on the season and 2-1 in the Big Eight.

By Chris Wilhelm Sports Writer

LINCOLN, Neb. - The biggest crowd in more than four years — 14,685 — was on hand Saturday night at the Bob Devaney Sports center as the K-State Wildcats throttled the Cornhuskers, 80-68.

The Huskers, who led by 10 points with almost four minutes to play in the first half, watched the 'Cats rattle off 12 unanswered points to take a two-point lead at the half,

"We didn't handle the ball real well in the first half," said K-State Coach Lon Kruger. "I told the team at halftime that they should feel good. We were down by 10 points on the road, and to run off 12 points in a row is a gut check and I'm really proud of the way our guys stepped up there and handled those possessions. We had a really good four or five minutes in there to end the half."

Even though they trailed at the intermission, Nebraska's statistics for the first half were better than those of K-State. The Huskers hit 17 of 34 field goal attempts, while the 'Cats connected on only 11 of 25. But the difference in the score for the half and for the game - came at the free-throw

In the first half, K-State was 13 of 16 from the charity stripe while the Huskers were 0 of 2. For the game, the 'Cats shot 28 of 34, while Nebraska converted only 1 of 6 free throws.

Three Husker starters had accumulated three fouls each by halftime, forcing Nebraska to switch to a zone coverage in the second half. The Huskers were able to tie the 'Cats cut on Dobbins' head that required 10 stitchtwice after the intermission at 44-44 and 53-53, only to have K-State outscore them 16-4 after the 53-point mark, with the Wildcats taking a 69-57 lead.

The closest Nebraska got after that was at the 2:17 mark, when the team drew to within nine at 73-64.

"They got themselves in foul trouble in the first half and couldn't go back to the man stat sheet, you'll see that Nebraska fouls a whole lot more than their opponents. That's just how they want to play."

The fouls allowed the 'Cats to shoot 11 times in the bonus situation and score 16 points. The Huskers got one chance to shoot a one-and-one and missed the first shot.

"We put a degree of importance on keeping the opponent from shooting one-and-one situations," Kruger added. "We like to keep them out of the bonus situation as much as we possibly can."

Another key area for the 'Cats in their victory was rebounds. Nebraska entered the game leading the Big Eight Conference in rebounds, averaging 52.5 off the boards in league games while K-State was last, averaging 31. The 'Cats were able to outrebound the taller Husker squad 38-32.

"Fred (McCoy) did a good job on the boards for us tonight," said Kruger. "He was giving up six or seven inches against (Rich)

King and he was able to win a lot of the battles. Tony Massop and Billy Ray Smith also mixed it up in there pretty good to give him quite a bit of help.

Massop also played good defense for the 'Cats, as the 6'8" forward was able to block two shots by Nebraska's 7'2" King.

"I thought we played very well both offensively and defensively tonight," Kruger added. "We are playing a lot more aggressive then we played two weeks ago and it's beginning to show. As a group we know how we can score and I think we are starting to learn that a little better.

"Steve (Henson) is one of our weapons. What we look for now is the additional people to help out every time we go down the Henson and Fred McCoy took game-high scoring honors for K-State with 18 points each. Mark Dobbins and LaKeith Humphrey both chipped in 14 points. Henson, who was only 1 of 6 from the field at halftime, finished the game by sinking 4 of his last 6 shots (2 of 3 from three-point range) to post a more respectable 5-12 finish from the field.

For the Huskers, Eric Johnson led the way with 17 points on 8 of 11 shooting. Rich King had 15 points for Nebraska.

Clifford Scales of the Huskers, who entered the game as the conference's most accurate field goal shooter (.769), hit only 1 of 9 field goal attempts.

Dobbins was the interesting story of the game. After Pete Manning of the Huskers knocked Dobbins down in the lane causing a es, Dobbins left the game with 12 minutes left in the first half. At that point he was 1 of 1, with his shot coming from three-point range.

But when he started the second half, he hit his first three shots, all from three-point range. For the game, the senior forward was 4 of 6 from the field and 4 of 5 from beyond the "Mark shot the ball real well for us defense," Kruger said. "If you look at their tonight," Kruger said. "He was a spark for us coming into the game and hitting those (three-point shots). He did that against Colorado, also. He's shooting the ball with real confidence.

K-STATE (80)

Britt 1-4 2-2 4, Dobbins 4-6 2-2 14, McCoy 5-9 8-12 18, Humphrey 5-8 4-4 14, Henson 5-12 6-6 18, Massop 0-1 3-4 3, Smith 2-4 3-4 7, Fritz 0-1 0-0 0, Simmons 1-2 0-0 2. Totals 23-48 28-34 80. NEBRASKA (68)

Manning 3-5 0-0 6, Richardson 4-11 0-0 9, King 7-14 1-1 15, Johnson 8-11 0-0 17, Reid 4-9 0-1 9, Scales 1-9 0-0 2 vanPoelgeest 3-6 0-4 6 Owens 1-4 0-0 2, Koca 0-0 0-0 0, Dolezal 1-2 0-0 2. Totals Halftime - K-State 36, Nebraska 34. Three-point goals-K-State 6-12 (Henson 2-6, Dobbins 4-5, Fritz 0-1). Nebraska 3-11 (Richardson 1-4, Johnson 1-3, Reid 1-2, Scales 0-1, Dolezal 0-1). Fouled out Manning, King, Johnson. Rebounds — K-State 38 (McCoy 11), Nebraska 32 (Richardson, King 6). Assists — K-State 12 (Humphrey 5), Nebraska 18 (Reid 7). Total fouls — K-State 13, Nebraska 26.

Ex-Cleveland coach talks with Chiefs

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - Former Cleveland Browns coach Marty Schottenheimer would not confirm that he would be the next head coach of the Kansas City Chiefs, but he did say the two sides have talked contract.

"We have talked (financial) specifics," Schottenheimer said Saturday during an interview in Miami. "And having discussed those, I'm very, very interested in the job."

Schottenheimer coached the Browns to four consecutive playoff berths before resigning at the end of the 1988 season. He has been a top candidate for the head coaching vacancies of both the Chiefs and the San Diego Chargers, but he informed the Chargers early last week he no longer wanted to be considered.

"San Diego never offered me a job," Schottenheimer said. "We continued to talk about things and, after some reflection, I decided the thing for me to do at that point was to let them know (he wanted to withdraw from consideration) so that they could pursue other Schottenheimer met Wednesday with Chiefs president and general Manager Carl Peterson in Atlanta and said he planned to meet with him again before he left Miami Sunday. Schottenheimer, 45, will head back home to Cleveland, and he said he doesn't have a plane ticket for Kansas City this week.

"But it's only Saturday," Schottenheimer said after finishing a round of golf in the Butkus Linebacker Invitational at the Tumberry Isle Country Club.

Schottenheimer replaced Sam Rutigliano as the coach of the Browns midway through the 1985 season. He inherited a 1-7 team. but the Browns were 4-4 the rest of the way under Schottenheimer.

In his next three seasons the Browns won AFC Central titles with records of 8-8, 12-4 and 10-5. Cleveland reached the AFC championship game in both 1986 and 1987, but lost to the Denver Broncos both times. Last season, the Browns finished in second place with a 10-6 record.

Schottenheimer resigned after Browns owner Art Modell recommended that he hire an offensive coordinator and make some other staff changes.

Peterson interviewed Schottenheimer the first time two weeks ago in Palo Alto, Calif., at the East-West Shrine Game. Schottenheimer flew to Kansas City last weekend for a second interview. The meeting in Atlanta was their third session.

There also has been speculation that Schottenheimer is a candidate for the head coaching job in San Francisco if Bill Walsh steps down after the Super Bowl.

"Absolutely not," Schottenheimer said.

Lady Cats hold off Nebraska rally to post 83-80 conference victory

By Mike Rouse Collegian Reporter

The K-State women's basketball team blew a 20-point halftime lead but held on to defeat Nebraska, 83-80, Saturday night in Bramlage Coliseum.

The Lady Cats defense came out prepared in the first half and forced Nebraska into committing 21 turnovers. The offense shot 51 percent from the field and the Lady Cats led 48-28 at the intermission.

"We had a great first half. We did everything well the first 20 minutes," K-State coach Matilda Mossman

With K-State leading 19-17 with 11:12 left in the half, the Lady Cats went on a 20-2 run over the next six minutes, giving them a 39-19 lead with 5:04 left before the half.

But when both teams came out in the second half, it was a totally different ballgame.

While K-State's offense was cooling down, the Cornhuskers were becoming as red hot as their uniforms. Nebraska's full court pressure defense helped force many K-State turnovers and let Nebraska get back into the game. "We made some dumb mistakes against their press in the second half, but toward the end we were finally able to break it," Lady Cats forward

Diana Miller said. Nebraska's defense held K-State scoreless for almost six minutes at one time in the second half, when the Lady Huskers were able to turn K-State's 20-point halftime lead into just an 81-80 advantage with 27 seconds remaining.

From there, Nebraska was forced to foul, sending K-State's Nadira Hazim to the line, but the Lady Cats' leading scorer missed the front end of a one-and-one opportunity. K-State's Kristie Bahner was there to grab the rebound, though, and she too was immediately fouled. Bahner then hit both of her free throws with seven seconds remaining to give the Lady Cats a three-point, 83-80, advantage. Mary Jo Miller then stole an errant Nebraska pass with three seconds left to secure the Lady Cats' second conference victory.

Diana Miller led the Lady Cats in scoring with 21 points, including eight of nine from the field and two three pointers.

K-State, now 12-5 overall and 2-2 in conference play, will play host to Iowa State at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in Bramlage Coliseum.

LADY CATS (83) Matteucci 4-13 3-4 11, D. Miller 7-8 5-8

21, Bahner 6-10 4-7 16, M. J. Miller 5-9 7-10 17, Hazim 3-7 6-10 12, Funk 0-1 1-2 Cobb 1-4 1-23, Davidson 0- 0-10, Boyle 0-3 0-0 0, Lane 1-1 0-0 2, Totals 27-56 27-44 83.

NEBRASKA (80) Halsne 11-17 7-9 29, Dudeck 0-1 0-0 0, Harris 2-4 0-0 4, Stephens 7-20 0-0 17, Bullock 1-1 0-0 2, Hubert 2-3 0-0 4, Yancey 0-1 6-6 6, Brooks 3-6 6-6 14, Muller 1-1 2-24, Taylor 0-0 0-0 0, Totals 27-51 21-23 80.

Halftime - K-State 48, Nebraska 28. Three-point goals - K-State 2-2 (D. Miller 2-2), Nebraska 5-12 (Stephens 3-10, Brooks 2-2). Rebounds - K-State 27 (Bahner 9), Nebraska 32 (Halsne 9). Assists - K-State 19 (M. J. Miller 6), Nebraska 18 (Stephens 6). Total fouls K-State 22, Nebraska 30. Fouled out -Harris and Stephens. Technicals Nebraska bench. A - 1,241.

K-State's Diana Miller shoots over Nebraska's Kelly Hubert Saturday night at Bramlage Coliseum. The Lady Cats won, 83-80.

Both K-State track teams take first at invitational

Ahearn's new track unveiled

By The Collegian Staff

The K-State Coors Invitational, which was ran on Ahearn Field House's new track surface, brought some surprises for K-State head coach John Capriotti - two track members qualified for the national indoor meet to be held in March at Indianapolis.

Dan O'Mara qualified with a throw of 59-51/2 in the shot put. Ray Hill qualified in the 55-meter dash with a time of 6.22 seconds, which was also an Ahearn Field House and K-State record.

"We did 10 times better then we thought we would do," Capriotti said. "It was great to have these outstanding performances this early in the season."

The K-State men won the meet with a total of 82 points. Barton County came in second with 59. Southwest Missouri State had 27; Wichita State, 23; and Butler County, 16.

The K-State women also won their division with a total of 68 points. Barton was second with 60 points, SMSU was third with 31. Butler, fourth with 14 and WSU finished last with 13.

"The score doesn't mean anything. We need to train and not worry about the scoring meets," Capriotti said.

K-State's Hill won the 55-meter and the 200-meter race with a time of 21.71 seconds, also an Ahearn and K-State record.

"I ran pretty good," Hill said. "I really didn't know if I would qualify, but it was in the back of my mind."

Cappriotti also was aware that Hill was capable of running well this early in the season.

"I knew he would come out and do something like this, I thought he was

Staft/Brett Hacker Field House. Armstead set a K-State record in the finals of the event with a time of 7.51

K-State's Charles Armstead, third from left, clears the last hurdle in the 55-meter hurdles Saturday afternoon during the K-State Coors Invitational track meet in Ahearn capable of doing it," Capriotti said.

K-Stater Charles Armstead broke a K-State record in the 55-meter hurdles with a time of 7.51 seconds. Barton County's Ronnie Coleman broke an Ahearn record in the 400 meters the women's MVP. She broke an with a time of 48.27 seconds. Krista Scruggs of Barton County broke an Ahearn record in the 400-meters with a time of 57.87 seconds.

Kim Walker of Barton County was Ahearn record in winning the 220-meters with a time of 24.7 seconds. Walker also won the 55-meters with a time of 7.05 seconds.

K-State's Angie Miller won the women's shot put with a throw of R.D. Cogswell both jumped 6-111/2 Come- ' Meet.

"Angie had some big throws that were fouls, so she can throw better than that," Capriotti said.

seconds. This was the first meet in the newly remodeled indoor track facility.

in the high jump, but Samuelson was awarded first place on fewer misses.

The K-State track teams will be in action again Saturday when they will K-State's Chris Samuelson and be the hosts for the K-State All-

Francisco wins Super Bowl with last-minute rally

By The Associated Press

MIAMI — San Francisco's greatest Super Bowl triumph nearly disintegrated in a flurry of mistakes and missed opportunities.

The heroics of Joe Montana, Jerry Rice, John Taylor and the combined efforts of the defense produced a come-from-behind, 20-16 victory over the Cincinnati Bengals on Sunday and saved such players as Roger Craig, Randy Cross and Taylor himself from spending a long off-season pondering their mistakes.

Thanks to the 49ers' fourth gamewinning rally in the fourth quarter this season, this team will likely go down in history as the team of the

"It's got to be one of our best wins ever," said Montana, who completed down by a field goal and come back and win it like we did ... it's got to rank up there, believe me.'

Montana's 10-yard touchdown pass into the outstretched arms of Taylor in the end zone with 34 seconds remaining brought back memories of what had been known as "The Catch" but which might now be came up with a topper." renamed "The Other Catch." The Catch was made by Dwight Clark, who leaped in the end zone to grab a high Montana pass to beat Dallas in the NFC championship game seven years ago.

Montana said he would have a hard time choosing between the Clark and Taylor catches.

"We were in a tough position, but we never gave up," Montana said of had a lot of time on the clock. We felt we could move the ball in that situation. We had to be confident because we had done it in the past."

"In every clutch situation, Montana came up with a good play. It wasn't that we broke down," Cincinnati coach Sam Wyche said, "he just "As we got going you co (Montana's) eyes light up," Cross said. "About halfway through that final drive, we knew we were going to score. You don't want anyone else who ever played the game for a long drive like that (except Montana)."

Craig, who wasn't on the 49ers' team that beat Cincinnati 26-21 in the 1982 Super Bowl, scored a touchdown in San Francisco's victory over 23 of 36 passes for 357 yards. "To be the 92-yard drive at game's end. "We Miami in the 1985 game. On Sunday, Craig ran for 74 yards and made critical receptions of 13 and eight yards during the final drive.

> That was the greatest drive in the history of the Super Bowl," Craig said. "It's got to be."

> In the second quarter, Craig had fumbled, the 49ers' only turnover of the game, to kill a drive into Cincinnati territory.

> "I had to make up for that fumble," Craig said. "Right before that, the other players were telling me to keep two hands on the ball, but I didn't.'

> Craig said the 49ers' experience in championship situations made the difference down the stretch.

"We kept talking to ourselves throughout the game and saying not to get down on ourselves," he said.

"And Joe Montana and Randy Cross kept providing leadership in the huddle.' "Today is a day I will never forget, it was just stupendous," Rice said as he held is 18-month-old daughter, Jaqui, in the 49ers' locker room. Wyche said Rice had "a world championship performance." Montana figured Rice beat the engals with more than his feet and hands. Rice played kind of a mind game with the Cincinnati defenders, Montana thought. "Jerry is deceptive in what he does," Montana said. "I think they don't believe he's as fast as he is." "We knew when Joe got into the two-minute offense that he's a master at it," said Wyche. "So it didn't come as a surprise. ..

Rushing Yards 106 Passing Yards 123 343 5 56 11-25-1 23-36-0 Return Yards Att.-Comp.-Int. 5-44 4-37 Fumbles-Lost 1-0 4-1 4-32 Penalties 7-65 Cincinnati 0 3 10 3-16 San Francisco 3 0 3 14-20

RUSHING - Cincinnati, Woods 20-79, Brooks 6-24, Jennings 1-3, Esiason 1-0. San Francisco, Craig 17-74, Rathman 5-23, Montanta 5-9, Rice 1-5. PASSING - Cincinnati, Esiason 11-25-1-144. San Francisco, Montana 23-36-0-357.

RECEIVING - Cincinnati, Brown 4-44, Collinsworth 3-40, McGee 2-23, Brooks 1-20, Hillary 1-17. San Franciso, Rice 11-215, Craig 8-101, Frank 2-15, Rathman 1-16, Taylor 1-10.

MISSED FIELD GOALS - San Francisco, Cofer 19, 49

Sports Briefly

Navratilova advances in open

MELBOURNE, Australia - Three-time champion Martina Navratilova took advantage of Hana Mandlikova's poor serve to beat her former Czech countrywoman 6-4, 6-1 Monday and advance to the quarterfinals of the Australian Open tennis

Mandlikova, who beat Navratilova in the 1987 Australian Open final, double-faulted nine times and was broken five times. She had a pair of double-faults in three of her losing

Calcavecchia wins Phoenix

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. - Mark Calcavecchia, who let one get away a week ago, was never seriously challenged in a frontrunning, seven-stroke victory Sunday in the Phoenix Open golf Calcavecchia held a three-shot lead starting the final round and steadily expanded it with a brilliant bogey-free 64 that left the rest of the pack straggering far behind.

He won this one, his fourth on the American tour, with a 263 total, a distant 21 under par on the TPC course at Scottsdale.

By his own estimate, the victory was a week late in coming. He held a two-shot advantage going into the final round of the Bob Hope Classic last week.

"I expected to win that one. I was playing so good I expected to win. And I blew it," he said.

Wilson disqualified for drugs

MIAMI — Cincinnati Bengals running back Stanley Wilson was declared ineligible for Sunday's Super Bowl because of drug use, the NFL announced just hours before the game.

League spokesman Joe Browne said Wilson, who has missed two full seasons because of drugs and has been penalized three other times, was reported to have violated NFL substance abuse policy late Saturday night.

Browne would not say if the information came from the Bengals or if it stemmed from a drug test. He said no other information would be released because of confidentiality.

Wilson had missed the entire 1987 season with his fourth drug problem and had been cleared to return to the league by NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle last summer.

Browne said it had not yet been determined whether Wilson's suspension would carry into the 1989 season.,

last chance of season Ickey loses to shuffle

By The Associated Press

MIAMI - Ickey didn't shuffle and Boomer went bust, but the Cincinnati Bengals still thought they had Super Bowl rings on their fingers with three minutes to play on Sunday.

But San Francisco quarterback Joe Montana and wide receiver Jerry Rice — who thrive on big moments - gave the Bengals a lesson in greatness under pressure.

Montana led the 49ers on a 92-yard touchdown drive, hitting John Taylor with the winning score with just 34 seconds to play, for a 20-16 victory over the Bengals.

Just minutes before, Jim Breech's third field goal of the game had left Boomer Esiason and the sputtering Bengals offense, best in the AFC during the season, feeling good about its goal, I figured with the way our defense had been playing, it was going to be a sweet ride home," Esiason said.

However, Montana gave the Bengals offense a lesson in true grit, leading the 49ers to the victory. As Esiason watched from the sideline, he thought back to John Elway's 98-yard touchdown drive two years ago that helped Denver beat Cleveland in the AFC championship and gain a Super Bowl berth.

"You might as well forget the great Denver drive that got them into the Super Bowl. Now, it's the great San Francisco drive that won the Super Bowl," Esiason said. "That indicates how great Joe Montana is."

The game was billed as a matchup of two explosive offenses, with Cincinnati having an advantage because of its bruising running game, which "After Jim kicked that last field led the NFL with a 169-yard average in the regular season. But San Francisco shut down the running attack, holding rookie Ickey Woods to 79 yards and no touchdown shuffles.

The 49ers also limited Esiason, top-rated passer in the NFL, to 11 of 25 passing for 144 yards with one interception.

"I felt really good throwing the ball. Sometimes things don't go right. What can you do?" a befuddled Esiason said.

The Bengals' offense roared only once in the game, marching to a field goal and their first lead of the game after taking the second-half kickoff. But the Bengals never put another solid drive together again, having to settle for Stanford Jennings' 93-yard kickoff return for their only touchdown.

The first drive of the second half, that was the Cincinnati Bengals' offense," Esiason said. "Unfortunately, we were only able to do that once or twice."

Bengals coach Sam Wyche said Esiason did a good job running the offense, but the Bengals merely were outplayed.

"I don't know how to describe his performance to you," Wyche said. "The numbers may not be what Boomer can do statistically."

The Bengals' offensive failures finally came back to haunt them as San Francisco cashed in on its final opportunity for the winning touchdown.

"This was a classic game for the Super Bowl, and a classic game for a player like Joe (Montana), whose career has revolved around those kinds of finishes," Wyche said.

Georgetown's Thompson returns to bench after 9-day protest over Proposition 42

By The Associated Press

LANDOVER, Md. - John Thompson's exhausting, controversial nine days as a protester were over. It was time to relax.

It was time to put Proposition 42 and Thompson's two-game protest out of mind for a while. It was made even sweeter when his third-ranked Georgetown Hoyas beat Connecticut 59-55 Saturday in Thompson's return to coaching.

What would Thompson do Saturday night? "Relax and look at St. John's film," he said after the game. He smiled when he said it, and it was obvious he was looking forward to playing the Redmen Monday night.

That's what I like doing. I can look at St. John's film without any interference in my mind and that's a great feeling. Last night (Friday), after practice, was the first time I could do that. Tonight will be the first time in a week I can watch a basketball film and concentrate on the basketball and not be concerned about anything else."

Thompson was concerned enough about the NCAA membership passing Proposition 42 - a set of academic entrance requirements, which if not met, would mean no athletic aid or eligibility for the first year - to make his two-game protest after labeling it "discriminatory."

He ended it Friday, saying that meetings with the NCAA, Georgetown administrators and representatives of other schools had shown him a "sincere committment" on the part of the NCAA for further re-evaluaton of Proposition 42.

Albert Witte, NCAA president, and Martin Massengale, chairman of the presidents' commission, said they would recommend holding up any NCAA movement on Proposition 42 until a related on-going study was completed. They indicated the study probably would not be completed until the 1992 NCAA

"I was glad to be back, because that's what I do best - coaching, not protesting," Thompson said. "I feel a little emotionally drained. The nerv-

The Georgetown players were glad Thompson was back on the bench, even if he had to work hard in the first game back, trailing by 10 points with 5:25 to play before taking the lead with 12 seconds to play. "I told them after the game, 'I don't mind blowouts, but I'm getting too old for the close games,'

Thompson said. Reserve Sam Jefferson made the deciding free throws with 12 seconds left — his first free throws of the

ClassA

By Gary Lytle Collegian Reporter

Two K-State agronomy professors received national recognition by being named fellows of the American Society of Agronomy last semester. The award is the highest honor given in the field of agronomy.

Gerry Posler and Stephen Thien were named during the annual meeting of the American Society of Agronomy in Anaheim, Calif.

Only about 1 percent of the approximately 9,000 members in the society are eligible for the award each year, Thien said. The society named 31 people last year, including Posler and Thien, as fellows.

The criteria for the award is based on a professor's achievement in research, education, public service and participation in the society. Recipients must have been a member of the society for at least 10 years, Thien Posler said it is somewhat uncommon for two professors in the same department to be named fellows in the same year.

Agronomists from K-State have received 26 national awards since 1980, said George Ham, head of the agronomy department.

"These national awards indicate how highly our faculty is regarded,'

The process of being named a fellow begins with being nominated, Posler said. A committee from the department selects candidates to be

"These national awards indicate how highly our faculty is regarded."

> -George Ham Head, Department of Agronomy

nominated for various national awards and assigns a person to help the candidate prepare a dossier to submit to the society.

Posler said candidates can be nominated from private industry and government, but most come from the land-grant universities.

Although the award brings prestige to himself and the department, Thien said he tries to take it in stride.

The fact that he and Thien were named fellows the same year is very special for Posler, who shared an office with Thien for about eight

Although Thien felt he and Posler were more involved in teaching than in research, both aspects are important in being named a fellow, he said. "You have to have a well-rounded resume," Thien said. He said he had no preference between teaching and research.

"I can't separate the two," he said, "they go hand in hand. On the one hand you find out something, on the other hand you tell people about it."

Posler said he enjoyed the teaching aspect of being a professor over

"To receive the award, you have to be doing some good things in all areas, but my strength is probably more in teaching than it is in research," Posler said. He is involved in research on the management and quality of coolseason grasses, legumes and forages. He has helped develop a computer program to plan forage systems which he uses in his classes and has been adapted for use in other states.

Soil biochemistry, including the interaction between roots and soil, is the area in which Thien conducts his research. He is also involved in research in sustainable agriculture, looking for ways to limit the amount of chemicals used in growing crops.

"There is a movement in agriculture to be very ecology-conscious, which has thrown some questions toward the unlimited use of chemicals," Thien said.

Kedzie 103

One day: 15 words or fewer, $2.50, 20 cents per word over 15; Two consecutive dates: 15 words or fewer, $3.50, 25 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.25, 30 cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 35 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $5.00, 40 cents per word over 15.

CLASSIFIED RATES

FREE CATALOG

of Government Books

Send for your copy today!

Deadline is noon the day before publi

more than one wrong classified insertion, it is the adver-tiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not after the value of the ad. Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

Display Classified Rates One day: $5.20 per inch; Three con

Che day: 35.20 per inch; 1 hree consecutive days: $5.00 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.60 per inch. (Deadline is 4:30 p.m. two days before publication.)
Classified advertising is available only to those who do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex or ancestry.

(Continued on page 9)

Have story ideas?

Call the Collegian at 532-6556

WE WANT TO MAKE YOUR STUDENT LOAN!

Have the professionals at Kansas State Bank make your student loan. Simply contact us at:

> 537-4400 Lender code #821176

Westloop • Aggieville • K-State Union, Manhattan, Kansas 66502

about Godfather's Pizza?™

The taste, the toppings...and these terrific moneysaving coupons!

539-5303

1118 Laramie Aggieville

Two Large Pepperoni Pizzas only $10.99

Present this coupon and receive TWO large pepproni pizzas for only $10.99.

WE DELIVER

Expires: 3-31-89

Lunch Buffet only $3.75

Present this coupon and receive ONE all you care to eat lunch buffet and a free refill soft drink for only $3.75.

Monday-Friday, lunch time only.

$7.99 Large $5.99 Medium

Present this coupon and receive a large single topping Original pizza for only $7.99 or a medium for only $5.99.

WE DELIVER

Expires: 3-31-89

UNION PROGRAM COUNCIL. YOUR ENTERTAINMENT ALTERNATIV

Rent a framed piece of art for your place. It costs only $1 to $3 per semester.

10 a.m.-3 p.m. Union Courtyard

Tues. & Wed., Jan. 24 & 25

k-state union

Juzo Itami's

Wed. & Thurs., Jan. 25 & 26

A tall, dark, cowboy-hatted stranger named Goro and a noodle shop operated by Tampopo set out in search of the perfect noodle in this delightful comedy from director Juzo Itami. What Moby Dick did for the whale, Tampopo does for the noodle in an inexhaustively charming and inventively erotic way. Unrated (114 min.) (In Japanese with English subtitles). $1.75

Wednesday and Thursday 7:30 p.m. Union Forum Hall

Thursday 3:30 p.m.

Union Little Theatre

The UPC Eclectic Entertainment Committee is again sponsoring one of the greatest shows on earth. "Wednesday Noon Live" is back for the spring semester. Every Wednesday between noon and 1 p.m. in the Union Courtyard "Wednesday Noon Live" gives amateur performers the opportunity to express their talents on stage in front of a live audience. Students, faculty, staff, and anyone else who has a talent are encouraged to drop by the Activities Center on the third floor of the K-State Union and pick up a performance application. For more information contact the Activities Center at 5:2-6571.

(k-state union

SNOW CREEK SKIING

Sun., Jan. 29, 1989 $41 Enjoy 12 glistening man-made trails at Snow Creek Ski Resort located in nearby Weston, Missouri. The trip includes roundtrip transportation plus boots, poles, skis and lift tickets. Experience Missouri skiing for only $41. Only $31 with your own transportation.

Sign-up in the Activities Center, 3rd floor, K-State Wkstate union Union, 8 a.m.-4 p.m.

CHICAGO

February 17-19, 1989 $95

Come join us as we travel to the fabulous "Windy City"- Chicago! From soaring skyscrapers to lakefront parks, luxurious restaurants to tiny hotdog stands, major shopping stores to street vendors, Chicago has it all! Also > experience Rush Street, where Chicago's finest nightclubs are located. Mingle, listen to music, or party. Trop price of $95 includes roundtrip airfare from Kansas City to Chicago and two nights stay at the Oxford House, located near Rush Street.

Info. meeting Jan. 24, 7:30 p.m., Union Big Eight Room. Sign-up for students begins Jan. 25, Union Activities Center, 8 s.m.-4 p.m. Others

Eight Room. Sign-up for students begins
Jan. 25, Union Activities Center, 8 s.m.-4

FLORIDA

March 10-18, 1989 $178-$255

Spend Spring Break at the NEW college hotspot-Panama City Beach, Florida! The package includes 7 nights premier beachfront condominium accommodations, 8 beach parties at the famous Spinnaker Beach Club, 8 poolside parties at the fabulous Miracle Mile Resort, team and two-person beach volleyball tournaments with prizes, trip staff, advisors and 2 evening poolside barbeques at the Miracle Mile Resort, all for only $255! Drive yourself for only 3178.

> Info. meeting Jan. 24, 8 p.m., Union Big p.m. Others may sign-up beginning Jan. 26.

Announcements

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs -skincare -glamor -na -gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor, 539-2070. COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp 539-8193.

COOKIE ORDERS. Did Girl Scouts miss you again this year? We'll take your order. Call 539-9508. COUCH POTATOES needed for study. Adults 30- 39 years; short, easy testing. Call Laurel 532-6765.

ENTRIES CLOSE 1/25/89 for 1989 Miss Manhattan-K-State Pageant, an official Miss America Preliminary. 537-2667.

JEWELRY LOVERS, Where are you???? 75% saving-$$$. Gold rings. $15.00III Silver pendants. $3.00III Manufacturer# 776-5545.

SOUTH PADRE/ Spring Break '89—— Nice rooms for a great pricel From $109 to $169 on the beach or minutes from it. Five or seven days. Don't spend all minutes from it. Five or seven days. Don't spend all your money on a room, —you're never there anyway! (Limited space). Call 1-800-782-7653, ext

VIDEOTAPE YOUR wedding or other parties, $50 and up. Call now for quotation, Budget Video Memories, 537-3716.

WANTED— 100 overweight people to try herbal weight control program. No drugs, no exercise. Doctor recommended. 100% guaranteed. 776-5114, 539-3333.

TUTORS NEEDED Call 532-6244

Volunteer tutors are needed for grades 1-12. If you enjoy helping children and adolescents, and would like a new friend, then we welcome you as a Friendship Tutor. Tutors are needed for a variety of subjects. For information call Mark White at 532-6244

2 Apartments—Furnished

BEAUTIFUL THREE-BEDROOM furnished apartme Large living room, dining room, kitchen on mair floor at 1019 Bluemont. Fully carpeted with back porch. 537-0428 or 537-6841.

FURNISHED OR unfurnished, nice one-bedroom near campus, $260 includes all utilities. 537-4851 after 4:30p.m.

HUGE ONE-BEDROOM, big enough for two people, between Aggleville and City Park, January-May $300/ month. Call Karen, 532-6560.

NICE LARGE one-bedroom apartment. Water, trash, three-fourths gas paid. Laundromat. Nice for gradu-ate student or couple. $265. Daytime 537-3961, 539-2482 after 4p.m.

ONE-BEDROOM on Sunset. $260 plus gas and electric. Laundry facilities, no pets, please. 539-5051 or 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM, ONE and one-half bath near cam-pus. Washer/ dryer, $250 plus utilities. 537-8825.

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM on 17th Street available now Two blocks to campus. Balcony, gas heat, laundry facilities. $310. 537-9020 or 776-3804.

LARGE TWO bedrooms, leases available now and next August. Furnished and unfurnished. Phone 537-9064 daily.

NICE ONE-BEDROOM in Lee/ Hunting area available

now. Fireplace, dishwasher, laundry facilities, $340, 539-2103 or 776-3804. NICE TWO-BEDROOM near City Park in 24-piex. All appliances, laundry facilities. $380. 537-8229 or 776-3804.

ONE-REDROOM, SECOND floor located 814 Leaven worth, $175/ month plus utilities. Available 539-3672. ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT in City Park area, $235 plus gas and electric. No pets. 539-8229 or 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM, TWO balconies, new carpet, across the street from campus. $250. Available now. 537-4924. ONE FEMALE to fill four-bedroom house, block from campus, washer/ dryer. Rent $115. Call 776-3371,

THREE-BEDROOM, WASHER/ Dryer. $525/ month, fenced yard, close to campus, fireplace, very nice, 776-1945 or 776-7430.

TWO-BEDROOM, MOST utilities paid. 539-6058 or

4 Automobiles for Sale

1974 MAVERICK, only $300, good interiors, engine, great for moving around. After 5:30p.m., 776-6277,

1975 FORD- LTD, V-8, two-door, automatic, air conditioning, new battery, timechain, breaker, water-pump, distributor. $750. 537-1012.

1977 T-BIRD, new tires, new paint, good engine.

1980 MERCURY Bobcat. 98Km, four-speed, po brakes, new brakes, very dependable. $750. 776-8881. Keep calling.

1981 ESCORT, cracked head, 76,000 miles, $500. 532-6750. Ask for Mary Black.

BY RICHARD BROADFOOT

BOY BECOMES MAN: PART 3

"THE SPARK"

· PC compatibles & printers . Televisions & VCRs

MIDWEST SERVICES 624 Tuttle Creek Blvd. 0 200 Manhattan 913-776-6650

9 Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to approach any such "employ-ment opportunity" with reasonable caution.

1981 THUNDERBIRD V-8, two-door, air, AM/FM ste-reo. Good conditions, must sell. $1,600 or best.

ATTENTION— GOVERNMENT setzed vehicles from $100. Fords, Mercedes, Corvettes, Chevys. Surp-lus Buyers Guide. 1-802-838-8885 ext. A1797.

IBM PC model 30 with internal modern, Pan-

printer, and wp programs. Call anytime 776-7557.

LINE PRINTER ribbons for sale- Black multistrike no. OM MS (4% dozen), $1.25 each. Black nylon no. QM NY (15), $2.25 each. Call 532-8555 or come by Kedzie 103 to see.

MAC 512KE with double-sided drive. Comes with handy carrying case, software. $1100 or best offer. 539-7338.

MACINTOSH 512K computer and imagewriter il printer, Macwrite, Macpaint, with manuals. Other software $1,250 or best offer. 778-6799.

NINTENDO WITH four games. Action gun and joystick. Call Lance 532-3483.

TRS 80-III, two new drives, modern, Star printer, LeScript, games, free disks! $330 or best offer. 776-6799.

PERSONAL COMPUTERS

also servicing

Authorized Warranty Service

Mills

Chlid Care

8 Computers

$10- $660 weekly/ up mailing circulars! Rush self-addressed stamped envelope: Dept. AN-7CC-CU, 9300 Wilshire, Suite 470, Beverly Hills, CA 90212. $350 A Dayl At Homel Process phone orders for our company. People call you. Nationwide. For details call (refundable) 1-518-459-8697 ext K925A. ASSISTANT TRACK coach. Position begins Feb. 27, 1989 through May 27, 1989, Salary $1,476, Send letter or resurne with qualifications by Jan. 27, 1989 to: USD 383, 2031 Poyntz, Manhattan, KS 66502. 537-2400. EOE

ATTENTION— HIRINGI Government jobs— your area $17,840- $69,485. Call 1-602-838-8885 ext R1797.

COMPANIONS TO work with elderly needed 4- 7p.m. Monday-Friday complete an application by Jan. 24. Homecare, 2803 Claffin. EOE.

GYMNASTIC COACHES needed. Preschool, noncompetitive, competitive and aerobics. Brand new facility. 539-2835 or 539-3613.

HOUSEKEEPER NEEDED: Live-in house campus. Room, board and salary, Call 1-239-4335 or 539-3210 after 6:30p.m.

JEWELRY MANUFACTURER wants dealers, Salespeople. Successful moneymaking business. Investment? Commission? Guaranteed profits or money backil 778-5545.

LUNCHROOM PLAYGROUND supervisor. One and one-half to two hours per day. $4 per hour, 7:30-9a.m. and/ or 11a.m.- 1p.m. Apply USD 383, 2031 Poyntz, Manhaltan, KS 66502, 537-2400, EOE. MCDONALD'S OF Westloop is looking for some onthus lastic dependable people who enjoy working with people. Part-time dayshift hours available between 5a.m. 4p.m. with very lexible schedules. Starting salary, $3.50° hour with frequent raises available. Apply in person anytime, 1011 Westloop. MISS MANHATTAN- K-State 1989 position open.

Minimum of $1,000 scholarship money plus many additional benefits. No entry fee. Applications accepted through 1-25-89. 537-2667, 537-4263. NANNIES NEEDED. Families in New England area looking for responsible individuals to s ren. Good pay and be call now. 537-0947. and benefits. For spring placers

PART-TIME SALES person needed to work weekends for local furniture store. Please send resumes to Box 3, o'o The Collegian, Kedzie 103, KSU, Manhattan, KS 66506.

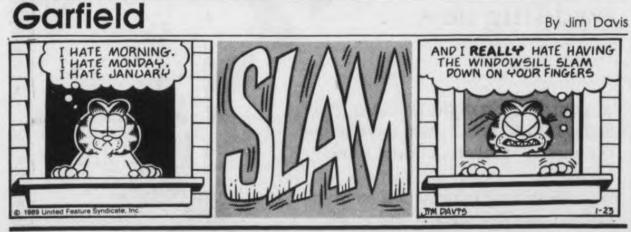

RESIDENTIAL ADVISOR III: A private not- for- profit corporation providing services to persons with developmental disabilities has an opening for a ntial Advisor III in a women's group home. ull-time, live-in position includes a staff This full-time, live-in position includes apartment with rent and utilities paid, 40 ho aparment with rent and utilities paid, 40 hours per week at $6.44 per hour, and a generous benefit package. Responsibilities include client supervision and programming, household maintenance, record keeping, and supervision of part-time staff; early morning and evening hours. Minimum qualifications: two years college or high school diploma plus related experience. Two letters of reference required upon hirs. Applications accepted until Jan. 27, 1989, at Big Lakes Developmental Center, Inc., 1500 Hayes Drive, Manhattan. EOE.

Bloom County By Berke Breathed

ON FUTURE PIALDEUE, A "BOXED" WORD SUCH AS THIS MAY APPEAR: ACBOLLR THEN . TO EACH NUMBER APD 100, PIVIDE BY TY. ROUND OFF EVENLY, AND FIRST, MATCH THE LETTERS TO THEIR EQUIVALENT NUMBER IN THE ALPHABET... SUBTRACT ROCK STAR JON BON JOVI'S SHORTS LIKE THIS: .. MATCH THE NEW NUMBERS TO LETTERS Q-17

Peanuts

By Charles Schulz

PART-TIME LABORERS, ag background helpful. Apply in person, Nelson Poultry Farms, two and one-half miles east Highway 24. 776-9401.

RADIOLOGIC TECHNOLOGIST (A.R.R.T.) on-call position for weekends and occasional relief for nights. Our radiology department features diagnos-tic equipment for procedures including nuclear medicine, ultrasound, marrimography, diagnostic radiology. The St. Mary Hospital. 776-1981. EOE.

RELIABLE BABYSIT for three children, Wednesday, Friday, Saturday evenings. 539-7498. ACTIVE BALANCED creative day environment. Full day care, preschool. 537-1202.

RESORT HOTELS, Cruiselines, airlines and amuse-ment parks now accepting applications for spring and surmmer jobs, internships and career positions. For more information and an application, write: National Collegiate Recreation Service, P.O. Box 8074, Hitton Head, SC 29938.

SCHOOL SOCIAL Worker paraprofessional, part-time Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday evening 7- 9p.m. at Ogden Elementary School. BS degree in social work required. Applications must be received by Jan. 27, 1999 to be considered. Apply to USD 383, 2031 Powert. Machanter. 45, 66502, 632-2400. Jan. 27, 1989 to be considered. Apply to USD 383, 2031 Poyntz, Manhattan, KS 66502. 537-2400.

STUDENT PROGRAMMER/ Consultant, 15- 20 hours UDENT PROGRAMMEN Consultant, 15-20 hours per week, to start as soon as possible, as a computer programmer consultant for faculty and students. Programming, as well as microcomputer knowledge, experiencs, and grade point average will be used as a selection criteria. Undergraduates with an employment potential of two years will be given preference. Equal Opportunity Employer. Contact Jacque Melaner, room 23, Cardwell by 5p.m., Jan. 24.

SUB-N-STUFF SANDWICH Shop is accepting applica-tions for delivery drivers, late night and lunch help. Apply in person, 1200 Moro, no phone calls please.

SUMMER JOBS outdoors. Over 5,000 openings! National parks, forests, fire crews. Send stamp for free details. 113 E. Wyoming, Kalispell, MT 59901. SUMMER JOBSII Two of Minnesota's finest sum youth camps seek college students to work as counselors. Employment June-August. For an application and interview, call Jeff at 1-800-451-5270 ext 310.

THE STATION under new ownership is now taking applications for barlender, walter/ waltress, door and DJ help. Apply 1115 Moro, 1-5p.m. weekdays.

HELP WANTED! Now accepting applications for full- and part-time help. Experience preferred. Please call 776-4117 for interview appt.

DAIRY QUEEN 1015 N. 3rd, ask for Mr. Frye

12 Houses/Mobile Homes for Rent

FREE GROCERIESI Rent two-bedroom mobile home, receive $50 groceries at Dillons Stores. Rent three-bedroomtrailer, get $75 groceries. 776-8552. Valid only until 2/10/89.

13 Houses/Mobile Homes for Sale

1977 WINDSOR 14x75. All appliances, redwood deck. big two-car garage, insulated shop. All on to tourths acre. Make offer, 1-494-8484.

ATTENTION- GOVERNMENT homes from $1 (You repair). Delinquent tax property. Call (602)838-8885 ext GH1797.

14 Lost and Found

FOUND: REGISTERED to Terri White at Welborn Animal Hospital and found in front of Anderson Hall on the 18th. Male dachsund mix, brown puppy, very friendly. Call 532-2168, ask for Joann or leave message at Boyd Hall Desk, 532-6477.

LOST 1/19: Silver foil brooch, square knot shape Reward. Call Susan, 539-3668 before 10p.m.

15 Miscellaneous Merchandise

1300 SQUARE feet used rust-colored carpet. $250.

BOOKSHELF, DESK chairs, student and office desk beds, couch, misc. furniture. 776-9705.

FOR SALE: Six piece living room set. Asking $400, without end tables $325. Like new. Cash only REFRIGERATOR FOR sale. Nice for bar or bedroom 537-8892, Randy.

HOUSTON STREET BALLROOM

Wedding Receptions Dances, Parties For direct bookings call 539-1234

SUN N CONNECTION 776-2426

> $2 sessions

coupon expires 1/29/89 sessions expire 6/31/89

Details Unlimited

43 Like

49 European wild

Haves House of Music

Guitar Strings & Drum Sticks 327 Poyntz

Buffet, Salad Bar and Dessert Bar

Hours: 11 a.m.-9 p.m.

Hwy. 24 East 21/2 miles east of mall

16 Motorcycles/Bicycles for Sale

1982, 550 Yamaha Maxim. Good condition. New tires $700. 539-8218. PEUGEOT 10-SPEED, ladles' 26" bicycle, blue, excel-lent condition. $150 or best offer. 776-7260.

17 Musical Instruments

PEAVEY GUITAR with Kahler Tremelo and hardshell case. 537-4331.

18 Personals

HEY YOU snowball '89ers, Party Pics are in, you hot tubbin fools, and we do mean fools! We had a great time, let's do it again next week! By the way, is there a zipper on this thing? I'm thinkin' yea! —Nat Brat KKG PLEDGES: We hope you enjoy inspiration week— we think you're the best! Love, Connie, Sally and Bridget.

19 Pets and Pet Supplies

BALL PYTHON. Very tame with custom built walnut cage. Call Micah or Lance 532-3483. WANTED: USED aquarium. Call 532-3430 Haymaker

20 Professional Services

DISSERTATIONS, THESES, term papers, mail merg-ing, labels, text scanning. Laser printing. Call 537-4146.

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180, 103 South Fourth St., Suite 25.

PROMPT ABORTION and contraceptive services in Lawrence, (913)841-5716.

21 Rentals

SINGLE GARAGES near Aggieville. $25 per month.

SUBLEASE AVALABLE. January- May. Two-bedroom furnished apartment, second floor near Aggieville. $300 plus electricity, about $10 monthly. 539-8881,

22 Resume/Typing Services

TERM PAPERS, cover letters, resumes, theses and dissertations entered, stored and completed to your specifications. Come see us. Ross Secretarial Services, 614 N. 12th (across from Kite's)

Always hire a professional! We design resumes for your profession. Typeset & laserprinted. Graphics Plus corner of Bluemont & Manhattan Aggieville 539-6027

23 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE, OWN room, two blocks from campus, $108.25/ month plus utilities. Call 1-762-4242. FEMALE, OWN room, nice house near campus, waaher/ dryer, $145 plus utilities. 537-8825.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted- own roomblocks from campus. Will come down on pricel Call 537-7269. FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to share three-bedroom apartment, Own room, close to campus. February rent free. No deposit required. Call 539-1203. FEMALE TO share two-bedroom apartment, $140.

Private bedroom, on McCain Lane. Call Julie 539-1486, anytime.

FEMALE TO share house close to campus, furnish $162.50/ month plus deposit. Share utilities. Call Renee at 539-8695.

MALE ROOMMATE, own room, one block from campus, washer and dryer, $125 plus one-third utilities. 537-1825.

ROOMMATE WANTED for two-story house with hardwood floors and bannister. Beautiful. 776-0553/ 1-492-3166.

ROOMMATE TO share house, own room, washer dryer, $147/ month. 537-6832 early mornings. Late

ROOMMATE WANTED: To share basement apartment

Close to campus. Water, gas and trash paid. $120/ month. Call Debbie. 776-1784.

ROOMMATE WANTED to share three-bedroom house, non-smoker, five minutes from campus. $160/ month, pets ok. 537-8550.

ROOMMATE NEEDED to share a very nice house close to campus. Own room, no deposit required.

SHARE A house. Own room plus use of kitchen, liv area and all utilities. $95 a month for rent. Call 539-0356 to locate. 539-0356 to inquire.

WANTED: FEMALE roommate, $130. 539-1132. WANTED: ONE or two roommates to share large house. Own room. Central heat and air. Fireplace, color TV, VCR, microwave, furnished except for bed-room. Deck with large backyard. Driveway parking, two blooks from campus. Low rent, one-sixth utilities. Call anytic 539-1308.

24 Situation Wanted

FIST HOLE Repair Co. We fix party damaged walls. For a free estimate, call after 6p.m. ask for Chris 539-8036.

27 Spring Break

SKI COLORADO

SPRING BREAK '89 March 11-16, 1989 Winter Park$266 Keystone$252 Steamboat.....$280

March 13-17, 1989 Winter Park$206 Keystone$197 Steamboat.....$221

Tour includes roundtrip sleeper bus, Classical and lift lodging and lift ticket for each ski day. Classio Travel & Tours 537-7546

SPRING BREAK '89

Reservations Available Now SOUTH PADRE ISLAND, TX 100 $149 Sheraton/Holiday Inn/Gulf View STEAMBOAT, CO from $93*

Snadow Run/Overlook DAYTONA BEACH, FL tran $118 Texan Motel MUSTANG ISLAND, TX "on $136"

Port Royal Condos HILTON HEAD ISLAND, SC ... $107 ilton Head Beach Condos

Don't Wait Until It's Too Late! Call Toll Free Today

*Depending on Break dates & length of stay SPRING BREAK

March 10-18, 1989 SOUTH PADRE, TEXAS 1. Round Trip Bus Transportation 2. 5 Nights Lodging

(Holiday Inn - On The Beach) Welcome Party

Price $395 per person

SKI STEAMBOAT SPRINGS, CO Round Trip Bus Transportation

Free Shuttle To Slopes And Evening

Entertainment 5 Nights Lodging in Condo

5 Day Lift Ticket Ski Equipment for 5 days

6. Mountain Bar-B-Q Lunch Price $460 per person Sponsored by International Tours and KSKT 95.3 The Kat

*Make deposits and reservations at 8th and Humboldt, 776-4756 DEPOSIT $100 due 1-26-89

By Eugene Sheffer

Crossword

ACROSS Trig. function

4 Island greeting 9 A long to hoe 12 Mine output like animal 14 Osaka sash 15 Like the Beatles

13 Badger

- amore

(tenderly)

Taylor 19 Secured 21 Coach's concern 24 Of the ear 25 Tokyo, formerly

26 Like some

18 Actor

28 Syllable with hood or house 31 Splinter group

33 Egyptian god 35 Adam's grandson 36 Inquired 38 Linen 57 Footlike vestment organ 58 Gladden 40 Funny 59 Welcome Knotts 41 Charlotte sign? and DOWN family 1 The heart

2 Granada certain gold 3 Min. socks 45 Singe division 47 Never, in 4 Benedict Berlin or Matthe 48 Dawn 5 Pantries goddess

6 Indian

Dolly!"

pigeons 54 "All 8 Appor-About -9 Hard con-55 Atelier fection 10 Organ stop 42 Naviga-56 Wrath

Solution time: 28 mins. 45 Ooze TEE THE NE

Yesterday's answer 1-21

isthmus 20 Quote 21 High tableland 22 Pindar's 23 Pinweeds 27 Biblical affirmaw 29 Implement 30 Serf

11 Get - of

16 Malay

(hear of)

32 One type of gas 34 Bed cover 37 Fiat 39 Head harness

tion hazard 44 Earth comb form

> 46 Sheltered inlet 50 Jefferson Davis's league: abbr.

51 Pep 52 NOW's concern 53 "Desk

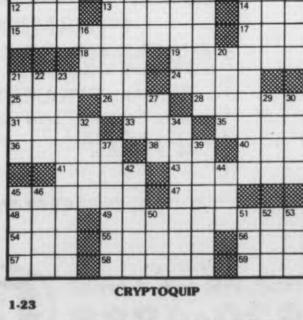

NER.

55 CRYPTOQUIP

SXTRS PLQWG-QY LGCVRI-LRYV DIZSQTSJ RPWGLVQCGP:

JXIL RDDGVQVG." Saturday's Cryptoquip: COOK BOUGHT TAN-NING SALON AND CALLED IT "THE BACK BUR-

Today's Cryptoquip clue: T equals C

DNA determines identity

By Bryan Ackley Collegian Reporter

Mankind has long sought the ability to swiftly and precisely determine whether an individual is telling the truth - especially in the courtroom.

As society prepares for the 1990s, a scientific revolution has already begun to change the course of events in American courtrooms.

The revolution involves the use of DNA, deoxyribonucleic acid. DNA is found in every living cell and contains the genetic codes that scientists use to make positive identifications of suspected rapists and murderers.

The process scientists apply to match genetic codes is called DNA fingerprinting and is commonly used in sexual assault cases, said Beth Montelone, assistant professor of biology.

DNA fingerprinting begins with using a vaginal swab to collect revealed his genetic code was samples of the rapist's sperm from the victim's body. The genetic code of the sperm is compared to the genetic code in the blood samples taken from the suspect and the victim. If the DNA of the sperm

"It's important to stress that the procedure is so accurate because the companies do the work so fastidiously."

-Beth Montelone Assistant professor of biology matches the code found in the suspect's blood, additional tests are performed to ensure a positive identification.

Recent tests performed on the sperm sample of a suspected rapist population, she said.

Michael Bartee, assistant Riley County attorney, said the county attorney's office has never used DNA fingerprinting.

"(DNA fingerprinting) can be used in any case where identity is the key issue. It's not used all the time - because the key issue is not always identity. Sometimes the issue (in a rape case) is consent,"

DNA fingerprinting is not performed in Kansas, Montelone said. She did not exclude the possibility of DNA fingerprinting being performed at K-State, but she emphasized it could cost about $1 million to create such a facility.

"It's important to stress that the procedure is so accurate because the companies do the work so fastidiously," she said.

Former dictator allowed to return

By The Associated Press

RIYADH, Saudi Arabia - Former Ugandan dictator Idi Amin, who angered Saudi authorities by slipping out of the country, will be allowed to return and resume his life in exile, an authoritative Saudi source said

The source, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said King Fahd was acting in response to requests by unidentified African leaders. He refused to say whether Amin had returned or whether a date had been fixed for that.

The African leaders reportedly included King Hassan II of Morocco, who has close ties with the Saudi monarch, and President Mobuto Sese Seku of Zaire.

Amin, 61, was ousted from his east African nation in 1979 and was granted political asylum in Saudi Arabia in 1980.

He slipped out of the desert kingdom on a forged passport and surfaced in Kinshasa, the Zairean capital, with one of his sons on Jan. 13.

Uganda immediately demanded Amin's extradition to stand trial for the death of tens of thousands of his political opponents during the eight years of his tyrannical rule.

Bush

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 voices," Bush said. "A new breeze is blowing - and the old bipartisanship must be made new again.

"They didn't send us here to bicker. They asked us to rise above the merely partisan. In crucial things, unity — and this, my friends, is crucial."

Bush said the improvement in relations with the Soviet Union, started under Reagan, will continue. Bush also said he would work to strengthen U.S. alliances throughout the world.

Bush's promise of an attack on drugs, particularly cocaine, was greeted with applause from the

"There are a few clear areas in which we as a society must rise up united and express our intolerance, and the most obvious now is drugs," Bush said.

Bush concluded his address with an analogy comparing history to a book with many pages. "The new breeze blows, a page turns, the story unfolds - and so today a chapter begins, a small and generosity - shared and written together," he said.

stately story of unity, diversity and

Chief Justice William H. Rehnquist administered the oath of office to Bush at 12:03 p.m. EST. First Lady Barbara Bush held a Bush family Bible and the Bible used at the first Washington inauguration.

Quayle's wife, Marilyn, held the Bible on which the vice president placed his left hand. The couple's children stood with their parents as the new vice president was sworn in.

YDIVE!?

YOU BET!!

Want to make a parachute jump but don't know where to start?

To learn more, come to our info meeting; Tuesday, Jan. 24 at 7 p.m., Union Forum Hall or 776-5577

LEARN HOW WITH THE

K-STATE

PARACHUTE CLUB

If you need abortion or birth control services, we can help.

Confidential pregnancy testing . Sale, affordable abortion services • Birth control • Tubal ligation • Gyn exams • Testing and treatment for sexually transmitted diseases.

omprehensive lealth for Women 4401 West 109th (1-435 & Roe)

☆Best Hotels Guaranteed

☆Best Location in Daytona

☆Shouting Distance from Everything

☆Top of the Line Luxury Coaches ☆Pool Deck Parties Every Day

Sign-up and information meeting at Kite's Thurs., Jan. 26 at 8:30 p.m. Free trip to be given away.

Driving Package⇒ $139 without Transportation

Full Package⇒ $219

with Transportation 104 S. 4th

Mary Cont

Classio.

537-7546

WHAT IS PAC-CATS CASH? PAC-CATS Cash is an incentive program that gives you a chance to earn "dollars" for your participation in the PAC-CATS Wellness Program. Trade your " cash" in for incentives at the PAC-CATS Office, Lafene Lower Level-Suite 26. EARNING CASH IS EASY

You earn $1 of PAC-CATS Cash for: *Meeting with a Pal *Completing your PAC for 1 week

A total of $2 per week is WHAT CASH BUYS

Level 1 Gifts *PAC-CATS baseball cap

*Medium Size I Can't Believe It's *Voucher for 2 jumbo cookies from

The Bakery *A beverage from the Union's Juice Bar

Purchase of Level 1 requires: $5 PC Cash

Level 2 Gifts *PAC-CATS "Celebrate Wellness" 1-

*The Stretching Book *Gourmet Brown Bag Lunch

*Ticket to an event at Nichols *PAC-CATS shorts Purchase of Level 2 requires: $9 PC Cash

*PAC-CATS "Celebrate Wellness" sweatshirt

Level 3 Gifts

START YOUR PAC TODAY!

Reach your goals and have some fun!

PAC-CATS would like to thank Residence Hall Food Service and I Can't Believe It's Yogurt for their support.

*1989 Diet and Health Calendar *Brown Bag Gourmet Lunch for 2 *1989 365 New Words a Year Calendar

*PAC-CATS "Celebrate Wellness" beach towel

Purchase of Level 3 requires: $17 PC Cash

776-5577

call 537-4195

Pizza Shuttle "NO COUPON SPECIALS"

Prime Time Special

3-10 in. Pizzas 1—Topping 4-Cokes s10.00

Two-Fers 2-10 in. pizzas 2—Toppings 2-Cokes

s8.00

Everyday

BUY ONE & GET ONE Specify Original "Golden Braided" or new "Thin Style" Crust

SPECIAL COUPON PYRAMID PIZZA® Buy Any PYRAMID PIZZA & Get The Second Pizza (of equal value) FREE! Good Mondays Only Expires 6/1/89

Delivery-Fast, Friendly & Free!

> 12th & Moro Aggieville, USA

We Pile It On!

The Kansas State Collegian Bridal Section - Feb. 3.

© 1987 Pyramid Pizza, Inc.

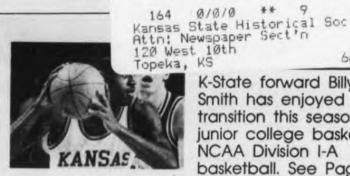

Funny Guy

Veteran comedian Pat Paulsen performed to a full house at Bushwacker's Monday night. See Page

Weather

Mostly cloudy today, high around 40. Northeast winds 10 to 15 mph. Cloudy tonight and colder with a chance for freezing drizzle, low in the upper 20s.

66612 K-State forward Billy Ray Smith has enjoyed the transition this season from junior college basketball to NCAA Division I-A basketball. See Page 6.

Tuesday

January 24, 1989

Kansas State University Manhattan, Kansas 66506 Volume 95, Number 84

Kansas State Collegian

Candidates file

City campaign issues to include airport, taxes

By The Collegian Staff

Airport improvements, taxes and city spending will be just a few of the top campaign issues facing candidates running for the Manhattan City Commission.

Prospective candidates have until noon today to file for office. Of the three commissioners whose terms expire this spring, two Gene Klingler and Nancy Denning have refiled. Mayor Dave Fiser will not seek

As of 5 p.m. Monday, four other Manhattan residents had joined the two incumbents in filing for office.

Dennis Marten, owner of the Ben Franklin Crafts store in Westloop, announced his candidacy Jan. 19.

Marten considers development of the Miller Tract, a proposed research and technical park that would be a cooperative effort between the city, county and K-State, an important issue before the Commission.

The city's role in the replacement of the Riley County landfill and the Manhattan airport are among the issues relevant to the campaign, he said.

Marten said he is also concerned with what the city can do for the future of small

'Small retailers must find creative answers in the situations they face every day in order to be successful," he said.

Marten said he was entering the race because of the quality of life that exists in Manhattan and his belief that this quality can be maintained as Manhattan grows.

Roger Maughmer, manager for Southwestern Bell, announced on Jan. 13 he was running for a position on the City Commission.

Taxes and spending will be a pressing issue in 1989 for the city of Manhattan, Maughmer said, adding that the city must decide between "need and affordability" when it makes important financial decisions.

"The commissioners will be making some tough decisions, in view of the current shopping list of issues," he said. "It will be a matter of passing the test of, 'do we need it, and can we afford it.'

Maughmer ran for City Commission two years ago. He said he is "very, very concerned about keeping Manhattan as progressive a community as it has been.

"The new commissioners have some mighty tough decisions," Maughmer said. Local businessman Rich Seidler was the fifth candidate to file for a commissioner's Seidler placed the upgrading of the Manhattan airport high on his list of priorities for the city. Assessing social service needs

■ See CITY, Page 10

Groups raise funds for cancer patient

By Karen Allen Staff Writer

While Delia Lugaro recovers from her first chemotherapy treatment in Houston, three student organizations are fighting another battle - raising funds to pay for the former K-Stater's costly cancer treatment.

The Puerto Rican Student Organization and the Army ROTC cadet program, both of which Lugaro was a member, have teamed with the Society for Professional Hispanic Engineers to raise money for her expenses.

Lugaro, senior in animal sciences, was diagnosed with non-Hodgkin's lymphoma shortly before Christmas when she returned to Puerto Rico to visit her family. Lugaro's cancer was diagnosed as being in the Phase

The phases are assigned according to location, node involvement and the degree to which the cancer has spread, said a nurse in the radial therapy unit at St. Francis Medical Center in Topeka. Phase IV is one of the more advanced phases.

Victor Oppenheimer, Lugaro's friend and a graduate student in pathology, said Lugaro already owes $15,000 to M.D. Anderson, a cancer hospital in Houston.

Although insurance will cover the majority of her hospitalization expenses, Oppenheimer said Lugaro is facing "some very big bills," and her family needs all the help they can get.

Delia Lugaro

Between treatments, Lugaro is living in an apartment in Houston with her sister.

Lugaro's medical insurance does not pay for the rent and expenses she and her sister are incurring while living in Houston, he said. Those bills may boost further if Lugaro does not have to be hospitalized during some of her future treatments, which is a possibility.

She still owes $172 to Lafene Student Health Center for laboratory tests run during the fall semester when doctors were trying to discover the problem, Oppenheimer said.

The fundraising efforts of the student groups include eight or nine students performing songs and dances from Latin American countries from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. Feb. 17 and 24 and March 24 at Manhattan Town Center, said Emilio Pedraza, a member of PRSO and sophomore in electrical

The group will be paid for its performances by the Manhattan Town Center and will hopefully raise money through donations from the audience, Pedraza said. The group

■ See STUDENT, Page 10

Shadow skate

Ryane Keithley, 13, Manhattan, takes advantage of Monday's weather while performing handstands on a skateboard in the Bramlage Coliseum parking lot.

Bush calls abortion decision 'tragedy'

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - President Bush on Monday called abortion "our American tragedy" as nearly 70,000 protesters marked the anniversary of the Supreme Court's landmark decision legalizing abortion. The march organizer said the new administration should "provide actions to carry out their words."

Bush, speaking by telephone hook-up to the activists, said the Supreme Court's 1973 Roe vs. Wade decision "was wrong and should be overturned."

"I wanted to share with you my deep personal concern about our American tragedy abortion on demand," Bush said over loudspeakers. "I think America needs a human life amendment and I think when it comes to abortion, there's a better way - the way of adoption, the way of life.'

The president said he was "confident that more and more Americans every year every day - are hearing your message and taking it to heart. I promise you that the president hears you now and stands with you in a cause that must be won.'

The crowd, estimated by U.S. Park Police at 67,300, assembled at noon in sunny, mild weather on the Ellipse with the White House as a backdrop. As Bush spoke at the start of the fally, which came after a weekend of demonstrations around the nation, the demonstrators cheered his words and waved

But Nellie Gray of the March for Life, which organized the annual protest, told the crowd Bush could not hear their applause because the White House communications office had installed a one-way communications line. She said she hoped that did not portend the nature of their future communications.

"He spoke to us, but he could not listen to us," she said. "That was not an adequate way to deal with our pro-life movement."

Gray said that at a meeting earlier in the day with Dan Quayle, she and other antiabortion leaders told the vice president, "We will not be talked to, and not (have) him listen

She said they told Quayle and other administration officials that "they need to provide actions to carry out their words.'

Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., echoed that call, "Bush has repeatedly made his commitment to the unborn. Now is the time to produce." Quayle said he assured the group of the administration's support and told them he has been involved with people from his home state of Indiana on the issue. Asked whether the Bush administration could succeed in getting the Roe vs. Wade decision reversed, Quayle replied: "Time will tell. We have the same commitment."

Abortion opponents are hoping that the ■ See ABORTION, Page 10

,000 killed in Soviet earthquake Approximately

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW - A predawn earthquake in Soviet Central Asia unleashed a 50-foot-high wall of dirt and mud that buried a mountain village and swept through at least two others yesterday, killing up to 1,000 people as they slept, officials said.

The devastating earthquake in the republic of Tadzhikistan was the second to strike the Soviet Union in two

"Almost everybody died," Zainiddin Nasreddinov, editor-in-chief of Tadzhikistan's official news agency, said by telephone after visiting the wrecked farming settlement of Sharora. He estimated the number of dead there alone at 600.

Sharora "had more than 150 peasant households before that tragic moment," the Soviet news agency Tass reported. "Now most of it is razed to the ground by the ruthless force of the natural calamity."

Tass said the number of dead in the disaster zone 1,800 miles southeast of Moscow was estimated at 1,000, but cautioned that was a preliminary figure.

"Rescue work is being continued and distant mountain villages have not been checked yet," Tass said. Damaged roads were hampering those efforts.

The quake struck the southwestern part of Tadzhikistan, a Soviet republ-that borders Afghanistan and China. The 40-second tremor, at 5:02 a.m. (6:02 p.m. EST Sunday) was centered about 20 to 30 miles southwest of Tadzhikistan's capital of Dushanbe, a city of more than 460,000 people in the fertile Gissar district, a center of grapegrowing and livestock-raising, Tass said. An official at Dushanbe's seismic center said the quake was strong enough to knock things off shelves in tall apartment buildings in the city, but that it caused no known damage or injuries there. He declined to give his name.

The U.S. Geological Survey in Reston, Va., estimated the quake at ic of more than 4.8 million people 5.4 on the Richter scale, which measures ground motion as recorded on a seismograph. The Dec. 7 earthquake in northwestern Armenia, 1,300 miles west of Dushanbe, registered a 6.9 on the Richter scale and killed 25,000 people.

> The earthquake unhinged a wall of sodden dirt and mud at least five miles wide that buried the village of Okuli-Bolo and much of Sharora, said Erkin Kasimov, an official of Tadzhikistan's Foreign Ministry.

"Almost all of the victims died asleep in the beds," Maj. Alexander Loparev, duty officer at Tadzhikistan Interior Ministry headquarters in Dushanbe said by telephone.

■ See QUAKE, Page 10

Dali dies of cardiac arrest

FIGUERAS, Spain - Surrealist master Salvador Dali, who was among the century's most important painters and created a public image to match his art, died Monday in the town where he was born 84 years ago.

The melting watches and wasteland of his dreamscape "Persistence of Memory" made an indelible impression on contemporary culture. It is probably the most celebrated of surrealist paintings.

Equally identified with "The Divine Dali," as he liked to call himself, were the pointed, waxed mustache curling up like a bull's horns, long hair and a walking stick, of which he owned Dali, a founder of the surrealist movement, was the last of an outstanding generation of Spanish painters that included Pablo Picasso and Joan Miro.

He died at 10:15 a.m. at Figueras Hospital. His physician, Dr. Charles Ponsati, said: "The cause of death was cardiac arrest brought on by his respiratory insufficiency and pneumonia.'

Dali had heart problems and had been confined to a wheelchair since suffering severe burns in a fire at his home in 1984. He was taken to the hospital five days before his death.

The painter was born May 11, 1904, to a notary public in this small Catalonian town. After a life of flamboyance and eccentricity, his lawyer Miguel Domenech said Dali died "softly, without making any special last statement."

... Around the nation

Affirmative action takes blow

WASHINGTON - The Supreme Court, in what three justices called "a giant step backward" for racial equality, drastically limited Monday the power of states and cities to earmark public works contracts for minority-owned businesses.

Voting 6-3, the court said the Richmond, Va., City Council unconstitutionally discriminated against whites in saying a contractor on any city building contract must give at least 30 percent of the value of the project to firms at least one-half minority owned.

Justice Sandra Day O'Connor, writing for the court, said the city that was once the seat of the old Confederacy and now has a majority of blacks on its governing body relied on "past societal discrimination" to justify the quota.

"None of the evidence presented by the city points to any identified discrimination in the Richmond construction industry," she said.

Adoption of such nationwide would obliterate the goal of a colorblind America, she said.

"The dream of a nation of equal citizens in a society where race is irrelevant to personal opportunity and achievement would be lost in a mosaic of shifting preferences based on unmeasurable claims of past wrongs," O'Connor said.

But Justice Thurgood Marshall, in a stinging dissent, said the ruling "sounds a full-scale retreat from the court's longstanding solicitude to race-conscious remedial efforts."

North's notes belong to U.S.

WASHINGTON - The government said Monday that fired National Security Council aide Oliver North has no Fifth Amendment privilege to withhold notebooks he compiled of his daily activities in the Iran-Contra affair.

Independent counsel Lawrence Walsh said in a court filing that North's notebooks are "presidential records over which the United States has complete ownership and control."

North last week formally challenged Walsh's efforts to obtain a subpoena for the notebooks, and a hearing is scheduled Wednesday before U.S. District Judge Gerhard Gesell.

"Production of organizational records is simply not protected by the Fifth Amendment, whether the documents incriminate a little or a lot," Walsh's court filing said.

North, whose criminal trial is scheduled to begin Jan. 31, logged his daily activities in dozens of spiral-bound notebooks and removed the last of them from his NSC offices when he was fired on Nov. 25, 1986.

The struggle to obtain the notebooks has been going on since prior to North's indictment. A subpoena for the notebooks was issued through the federal grand jury investigating the Reagan administration's arms sales to Iran and the diversion of money to the Nicaraguan Contras, Walsh's court filing said. That subpoena was withdrawn after North was indicted.

U.S. sub launches test missile

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. - The crew of the nuclear submarine Benjamin Franklin successfully launched a Trident 1 missile Monday while cruising submerged in the Atlantic Ocean off Cape Canaveral, the Navy reported.

A Navy statement said the 34-foot missile performed normally after it was unleashed from the submarine and sent its dummy warhead to an ocean target. The weapon has a range of 4,600 miles, but officials declined for security reasons to disclose how far Monday's Trident 1 traveled.

Purpose of the launching was to demonstrate the submarine crew's ability to safely handle, maintain and operate the weapon system. The firing was the 31st such demonstration firing for the Trident 1, the Navy said.

... Around the region

Water-use tax considered

TOPEKA — A stable funding source for Kansas' long-range water plan is necessary to insure that the state's water conservation efforts continue, several conservation and business leaders told a House committee Monday.

Although many of the witnesses lacked specific plans, most agreed with the thrust of a bill under study by the House Energy and Natural Resources Committee that calls for user fees to fund part of the State Water Plan. Estimated cost of the plan is $15 million to $19 million.

"It is essential in our opinion to establish a financial framework in which the work can be done and a source of revenue can be found," said Joe Harkins, director of the Kansas Water

The bill would impose a 3 percent tax on water, a 2 percent tax on fertilizers and a 4 percent tax on certain pesticides. It would also impose a fee of $1 per ton on solid waste disposed in any solid waste disposal area.

Campus Bulletin

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Campus organizations are encouraged to use Campus Bulletin. All announcements must be submitted by 11 a.m. one day prior to publication. Announcements for Monday's bulletin must be in by 11 a.m. Friday. However, publication is determined by the amount of space available on a first-come, first-serve basis and is not ensured. Information forms are available on the shelf outside Kedzie 118. Forms should be left in the box on the shelf after being filled out. All submissions must be signed and are subject to verification. Questions should be directed to the Collegian's campus editors in Kedzie 116.

THE K-STATE DEPARTMENTS OF ENGLISH AND PHILOSOPHY are sponsoring a lecture at 4 p.m. today in Denison 220. Rosiland Ladd of Wheaton College will speak on the topic of "Death and Children's Literature: Charlotte's Webb and the Dying Child."

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Ronald Fagen at 10 a.m. Wednesday in Bluemont 368. The dissertation topic is "Staff Development Competencies for School Administrators.

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Bruce K. Erickson at 2 p.m. Friday in Veterinary Medical Complex 235. The dissertation topic is "Cardiopulmonary Responses During High Intensity Treadmill Exercise in the Horse.

CAREER PLANNING AND PLACE-MENT is posting sign-up schedules for oncampus employment interviews by Kansas, regional and national employers. All eligible candidates are urged to register and apply.

*TODAY

SPURS SOPHOMORE HONORARY will meet at 8 p.m. in Union 203.

MORTAR BOARD will meet at 7 p.m. in the lower level of the Union.

OMICRON NU will meet at 6 p.m. in OWLS will meet at 11:30 p.m. in Union Stateroom 3.

KARATE CLUB will meet at 6 p.m. in Aheam Field House at the indoor track.

CHRISTIAN STUDENT FELLOW-SHIP will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 204.

ADVERTISING CLUB will meet at 7 p.m. in Kedzie Library.

GERMAN TABLE will meet at 11:30 a.m. in Union Stateroom 2.

BETA ALPHA PSI will meet at 6 p.m. in

Calvin 212. Fall and spring pledges must IEEE EXECUTIVE BOARD will meet at

3:30 p.m. in the Electrical Engineering conference room of Durland Hall. WHEAT STATE AGRONOMY CLUB will meet at 7 p.m. in Throckmorton 313. GERMAN CLUB will meet at 4 p.m. in

Eisenhower 123. ENGINEERING AMBASSADOR

EXECUTIVES will meet at 6 p.m. in Durland

OMICRON NU meets at 6 p.m. in Union NATIONAL AGRI-MARKETING

ASSOCIATION will meet at 7 p.m. in Union

KAPPA DELTA PI will meet at 7 p.m. in

BAKERY SCIENCE CLUB will meet at 2 p.m. in Shellenberger 110.

ASME will meet at 7 p.m. in Durland 161.

WEDNESDAY

OWLS will meet at 11:30 a.m. in Union Stateroom 2.

ROCK CLIMBING CLUB meets at 7

K-State Police

Sunday

A student parking permit was reported lost in an unknown vicinity

Monday

A blue Chevrolet Camaro in lot A-17W was towed to Manhattan Wrecker.

A student parking permit was reported lost off campus.

A student parking permit was reported lost on campus.

A vehicle's side was damaged in lot A-17E. Damage was estimated

A wheel lock was placed on a red Mercury Capri in lot A-5. The lock was later removed.

THE NATIONAL COLLEGE NEWSPAPER

U. is written by students for students, and will feature important articles, photographs and cartoons selected from university newspapers from across the country.

Look for U. in The Kansas State Collegian

Your newspaper is a charter member of the American Collegiate Network which has made the introduction of this exciting news publication possible.

The American Collegiate Network, Santa Monica, California

EDUCATION SYMPUSIUM

February 10, 1989 K-State Union "Choosing To Help Shape The Future"

For All Education Majors

Registration Deadline: January 27 in Bluemont Hall 006

LOANS

WE WANT TO MAKE YOUR STUDENT LOAN!

Have the professionals at Kansas State Bank make your student loan. Simply contact us at:

537-4400 Lender code #821176

ANSAS STATE BANK Westloop • Aggieville • K-State Union, Manhattan, Kansas 66502

SIGMA EPSILON

What: NEW MEMBER ORIENTATION When: January 24th at 7 p.m.

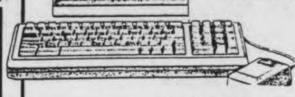

> Where: Union Little Theatre

Who: Students in All Majors

FREE TUNE UP

$50 Maintenance Check FREE on Mac Computers

K-State Union Thursday, January 26 9am-4pm Open to the General Public

Bring any Apple Macintosh computer with its printer and drives to the K-State Union. We'll test 'er out and clean 'er up - all for free!

Additional Offer: SAVE 33% on long-term maintenance. For every 2 months of Applecare you buy, get a third month free up to 3 years.

COMPUTER CENTER 1115 Westloop Shopping Center + 539-0801

AWARENESS WEEK

Wellness is taking responsibility for our own lives. For optimal wellness, we strive to find a balance in all the dimensions of our life. There are six areas of wellness; physical, social, emotional, vocational, intellectual and spiritual.

EMOTIONAL WELLNESS is evidenced by the ability to recognize and express feelings in a aware of our own and other's limitations and we support and assistance.

Take your FREE LAQ TODAY Stop by the PAC-CATS table TODAY!

> VISIT WITH A PAL (Peer Assistant Leader) TODAY!

PAC-CAT OFFICE

Lower Level Lafene 532-6927

By The Associated Press

courts of the state and the nation refused Monday night to block the

Tuesday morning execution of Ted

Bundy, who during the last three days confessed to 20 murders in

The 42-year-old law school dropout was described as subdued and emotional as he met with psychiatrist

Dorothy Lewis, apparently as part of his lawyers' preparations for a possible last-minute argument that Bundy was mentally incompetent to be

Gov. Martinez told reporters in Tallahassee, three psychiatrists were standing by to examine Bundy if necessary and certify his mental

After confessing during the weekend to two Colorado murders,

he talked with Colorado investigators again Monday, but disclosed no information about three unsolved slayings in the state, officials said.

Bundy also met with James Dobson, host of a California Christian radio show, during the afternoon. In a one-hour interview, Dobson said,

Bundy tearfully expressed "great remorse" but wanted to stress that he believes hard-core pornography

"was the fuel for his fantasies" that

Dobson, a psychologist whose show "Focus on the Family" is heard daily on about 1,300 radio stations, said Bundy admitted he was a mur-derer and said society had a right to protect itself from people "with his spurred him into violent crimes.

Western states.

executed.

competency.

STARKE, Fla. - The highest

Court refuses to stay

Bundy's execution

Dobson said Bundy now is "thankful that ... again he is in touch with his feelings and his guilt and he feels great remorse for what he's done."

da's electric chair at 7 a.m. today for the 1978 kidnap-murder of 12-year-old Kimberly Leach of Lake City. He also was convicted of killing two sorority sisters in Tallahassee in 1978.

5-4 to reject an emergency request aimed at keeping Bundy alive until a formal appeal could be filed with the nation's highest court. The justices formal appeals from Bundy.

had four times previously rejected

Bundy's lawyers argued that jurors in the Leach case were misled about the importance of their role in determining whether Bundy would receive the death penalty or life in prison for his crime. In Florida, juries in capital cases recommend a punishment, but the presiding judge is free to accept or reject the argument by a 6-3 vote, and they voted 7-2 to turn down a request to delay the execution until the high court could hear an appeal claiming that

Bundy's death sentence was tainted because his lawyers were not shown all the information considered in the

The attorneys also filed an appeal in state Supreme Court, claiming the jury instructions were improper. The state Supreme Court on Monday night denied his request for a stay and denied related requests for stays so that higher courts could review it.

The justices rejected a related recommendation.

sentencing.

U.S. Supreme Court justices voted

Bundy is scheduled to die in Flori-

Comedian centers on politics

Acts offer contrast

By Nancy Chartrand Collegian Reviewer

Veteran comedian Pat Paulsen proved to a full house at Bushwacker's Comedy Invasion Night Monday that comedy doesn't have to be vulgar to be funny.

Introduced by emcee Jeff Sutherland as the "almost president of the United States," Paulsen, dressed in a suit and tie, opened his jacket to reveal the lining — an American

"I know a lot of you out there are thinking, 'Where has Pat Paulsen been?' and the younger ones are wondering, 'Who in the hell is Pat Paulsen?'" he joked.

Paulsen is probably best known for his appearances on the controversial Smothers Brothers Comedy Hour in the early '70s where among other things, he played the part of the "Hippy Dippy Weather Man."

Review

In 1972 Paulsen began his tongue-in-cheek run for the presidency of the United States. In every election year since, he has "re-entered" the race in an attempt to spread his brand of politics.

"I know many of you are here because your parents said, 'Go see him before he dies," Paulsen said.

Although he is probably one of the older comedians to perform at Comedy Invasion, the audience, consisting mainly of college students, obviously found his routine

His material, for the most part, focused on politics. Poking fun at such past presidents as Nixon and Ford, he got the audience laughing.

"I wanted to talk to President Nixon one time," he said, "so I rented a room at the Watergate and spoke into the urinal — I got through to him."

The word urinal and a few casual references to sex were as explicit as Paulsen's routine became. Not so for his opening act.

In fact, Paulsen's routine was quite a contrast to opener Beth Reminiscent of the early days of Bette Midler, Donahue is a loud, brassy comedian.

Most of her routine centered around, "What I don't understand about sex and making love is ..."

Needless to say, Donahue delved into such subjects as feminine hygiene, sexual positions and

Although these are subjects that no decent citizen would dare mention in a crowded room, in a laughs. Many of those in attendance receives a big laugh.

Comedian Pat Paulsen delivers a joke Monday evening at Bushwacker's. Paulsen has been a presidential candidate since 1972.

were actually holding their

Donahue was a big hit with the crowd, but that is to be expected of college students. Anytime somecrowded bar they received big belly thing revolves around sex, it

Not to say that Donahue isn't a good comedian - she is a talented and promising entertainer.

Paulsen's brand of humor was more cerebral and subtle, but in a society where much is sexual and loud, the latter won again.

Speech team places first at Missouri

By Paige Gantz Collegian Reporter

A K-State forensics team captured first place in overall competition this past weekend at the Missouri Swing Competition.

The Speech Unlimited Individual Events team placed first at Northeast Missouri State and fifth at Central Missouri State in the three-day tournament competition.

"Not only is it impressive that the team consists mostly of freshmen and sophomores, but it's even more impressive that we did so well competing against upper-classmen," said speaking and five in interpretation. reward," she said. Craig Brown, director of individual events and speech instructor.

K-State accumulated 296 speaker points, which is a total of the number of points earned by the individual team members. The next closest team had 84 points.

"We competed well against the other teams," said Tom McLaughlin, the team's assistant coach, "especially since we are a relatively new

Students are able to compete in 10 individual events - five in public this and going to nationals is my

The team was able to win a combined total of 21 trophies from both tournaments, including five first place finishes, McLaughlin said.

Jill Turner, sophomore in speech, is one of three students who qualified for the national tournament in April in Fargo, N.D.

Turner said her informative speech on political cartoons is something she feels has "improved a lot since the beginning of fall.

"I've put a lot of hard work into

Shirlyn Henry, senior in theater and speech, and Cindy Green, sophomore in chemistry, also qualified for nationals but were unavailable for comment.

Qualifying for nationals is not something that is easily obtained, McLaughlin said. However, it can be reached by alternate qualifying achieving consecutive high finishes or by competing in the district tournament and being in the top 10 percent of students competing.

University, KDHE to reduce waste

By The Collegian Staff

The industries and smaller companies in Kansas will soon have a new source of help in dealing with hazardous waste.

K-State and the University of Kansas are working with the Kansas Department of Health and Environment in a three-year contract to significantly help in the cutting down and disposing of hazardous waste.

'The grant is seed-money for the new program which hopefully will turn into a self-supporting system," said Tom Gross, KDHE staff member. "One possiblity would be through the use of user fees."

"Kansas was one of 11 states awarded a grant by the Environmental Protection Agency," said Richard Hayter, director of Extension Engineering Programs, the K-State agency in charge of the grant. "K-State has the bulk of technical outreach effort."

KU will conduct the regulatory process, which involves training state regulators and local authorities.

K-State's role will be technical and will deal with one-on-one evaluations and different proposals offered to the companies to curb their hazardous waste outputs. All the onsite visits will be on an invitation

"This program is unique in that it is set up to be educational and not regulatory," Hayter said.

He said the responsibility of this project will be given to someone in the field of chemical engineering, preferably with experience in dealing with hazardous waste. The person involved will be in a faculty/staff role with a salary, and will be able to receive a master's degree in chemical engineering.

"It will be tough competing with the industries and their large salaries, but I am hopeful the master's degree will be the incentive that draws the quality person we will be looking for," Hayter said.

The program is in the beginning stage, and will not be started until unions: Problems bad luck

By The Associated Press

SEATTLE -- Officials at The Boeing Co.'s two major unions said Monday they haven't heard their members complaining about quality slipping at the planebuilder, and are hard-pressed to attribute a recent spate of bad news to anything but bad luck.

"I don't understand how it could happen," said Dan Mahoney, general counsel for the Seattle Professional Engineering Employees Association, which represents about 26,000 aware of to skimp on testing and quality assurance.'

Despite recent news accounts of some quality complaints by Boeing workers, Mahoney and Jack Daniels, spokesman for International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers Local 751, said the complaints hadn't reached them.

"I haven't heard of anything," workers. "Everybody realizes this 40,000 Boeing production workers world's largest commercial jetliner. company survives on airplanes that had a complaint, they could report it It worked on a new, smaller version stay in the air. There's no effort we're through their union shop stewards or of the 737, the model-500, due out business representives.

"All our members are concerned about quality," said Daniels. "But we haven't seen any evidence that quality has slipped."

In 1988, Boeing smashed industry records for new commercial jets ordered, 636 planes worth about $29.7 billion.

It introduced the 737-400, a

Boeing engineers and technical Daniels said, adding if any of the stretch twinjet, and the 747-400, the this spring, and announced it was increasing aircraft production across the board during the next few years. But 1988 also was the year safety of older aircraft became a worry, sparked by a terrifying accident in which an Aloha Airlines 737-200 lost part of its roof over Hawaii. Several airlines also criticized Boeing for poor workmanship.

about Godfather's Pizza?™

The taste, the toppings...and these terrific moneysaving coupons!

539-5303

1118 Laramie Aggieville

Two Large Pepperoni Pizzas only $10.99

Present this coupon and receive TWO large pepproni pizzas for only $10.99. WE DELIVER

Lunch Buffet only $3.75

Present this coupon and receive ONE all you care to eat lunch buffet and a free refill soft drink for only $3.75.

Monday-Friday, lunch time only.

$7.99 Large $5.99 Medium

Present this coupon and receive a large single topping Original pizza for only $7.99 or a medium for only $5.99.

WE DELIVER

Editorial

Kansas State Collegian Opinions ■ Tuesday, January 24, 1989

Death penalty: Pro vs. con

Death penalty more revenge than deterrent

Gov. Mike Hayden said in a Jan. 16 press conference that society cannot continue to allow innocent a point. There is nothing moral citizens to be killed by uncaring criminals. To solve this problem, he is trying to bring the death penalty back to Kansas.

den that capital punishment is a sion on the death penalty's constiracist, backward and costly endea- tutionality in 1976. vor which is not a deterrent to vio-sanctioning executions, which can as "overwhelming public support," easily cost millions of dollars more is neatly trying to fulfill a camthan life imprisonment?

Or what of the fact that more tive supporters. than half of those condemned to death row are black? Are all criminals in America black? Or do only blacks happen to get caught in premeditated murder? Anyone with Hayden's access to figures on death row statistics would come to the logical conclusion that capital punishment is a racist institution.

This is not to mention the moral aspects of killing someone to make about government-sponsored

Thirty-seven states have reinstituted the death penalty since the It doesn't seem to matter to Hay- Supreme Court reversed its deci-

Hayden, citing Kansas' long history of allowing capital punish-But how will legislators react to ment, coupled with what he deems paign promise made to conserva-

> Hayden said the measure is a support for the law enforcement community and the families of victims. In plain English, it just spells

> The argument is simple: why do we kill people who kill people, to show that killing is wrong?

Death penalty support by Hayden not shocking

Although Gov. Mike Hayden's announcement supporting death penalty legislation was ill-timed (on Martin Luther King's birthday), it was also correct.

in the past three gubernatorial elecappearance that the winner is finalconcerning the death penalty.

The U.S. Supreme Court has left commit. the death penalty decision up to the individual states. And, although the death penalty is not the only issue Kansans look at when choosing a governor, Hayden's stance on the issue was well-known.

Regardless of the way the legislators and Hayden decide the issue, moral debate will continue. Pro and con forces will continue to provide surveys, figures and Bibli-The issue has played a key role cal passages arguing their sides.

Society is affected ethically, tions. Hayden's statement gives the morally and financially either way. But the burden should not fall on ly willing to live up to his promise the families of victims of the most heinous crimes a human being can

> No ethical discussion on this subject will ever end with all sides completely satisfied.

> The voters of Kansas must decide the issue. By voting for Mike Hayden, they have.

Collegian Editorial Policies

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR are always encouraged. Those which pertain to matters of campus and/or public interest are especially encouraged, and are given the

Letters should be kept as brief as possible, preferably under 300 words. Those who cannot condense their opinions should consider submiting their letter in the form of a guest column. All letters are subject to editing for space, style and taste.

GUEST COLUMNS are also encouraged. The column should be no longer than two double-spaced, typed pages. If the submission is used as a column and not a letter to the editor, it will be accompanied by the author's photograph.

SEND SUBMISSIONS to the Collegian in Kedzie 116.

UNSIGNED EDITORIALS represent the consensus opinion of the Collegian's editorial board. Opinion columns do not necessarily reflect the opinions of the Collegian management, Student Publications, Inc. or the newspaper staff in general.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

EDITOR				Janet Swanson
MANAGING EDITOR				Susan L'Ecuyer
NEWS EDITOR				Erwin Seba
EDITORIAL PAGE ED	TOR			Catherine Doud
PHOTO/GRAPHICS EL	DITOR			Greg Vogel
SPORTS EDITOR				Chris Hays
ADVERTISING MANAG				Todd Schultz
EDITORIAL BOARD			Nancy Chartrand, Catherine Lively, Scott Miller, Mich
	Chad L. Sanborn, Mark S	Schmeller, Erwin Seba,	Robert R. Short, Brett St	ranathan, Janet Swanson
			reas State University, is put hed Monday through Friday londay and Thursday during summer sessions. Sec POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas St attan, Kan. 66506-7167.

er (Fall or Spring) ers (Fall and Spring). To charge by VISA or MasterCard, call (913) 532-6555

Gun control measures needed

"The essence of practicality, the AK-47 utilizes simple and robust construction, contributing to its legendary reputation for reliability and durability.

advertisement, Soldier of Fortune magazine

he reputation of the AK-47 assault rifle received another contribution last week when Patrick Purdy used one to kill five school children and wound 30 others in a Stockton, Calif., schoolyard shooting spree.

Purdy now joins men like James Huberty and that modern day folk antihero, the shopping mall sniper, in the upper echelon of great American loonies.

I was going to write this column about gun control, specifically, the need to tighten control over the availability of automatic and semiautomatic weapons.

I thought I could do this without offending the vast majority of those who own guns for hunting and home protection. After all, hunting deer with an Uzi or stopping a burglar with a MAC-10 seems a bit gratuitous. The only people that such weapons seem to serve are "collectors" and the Patrick Purdys of the

In order to get the other side of the story, though, I ventured down to the white trash section of my local newsstand and looked through the large assortment of gun magazines, tucked in between the pro wrestling and detective mags.

There, among such titles as Assault Rifles, Firepower, Guns and Ammo, and Survival, I got a taste of pro-gun thought. But I wanted more. I slapped copies of Soldier of Fortune and Combat Handguns down on the cashier's counter, reading a look of fear and admiration in her eyes. I was feeling quite bold myself.

Rife with tales of real life combat machismo and Third World exotica, Soldier of Fortune - The Journal of Professional Adventurers - makes for an entertaining read. What kind of man would not be stirred by such stories as "Where the Mercs (Mercenaries) Are: Suds, Studs and Duds in Guatemala City's Bar Don Quijote?" What armchair general could flip past "Differences of Approach to Counterinsurgency?'

Soldier of Fortune, though it puts on the airs of a trade publication for mercenaries, is basically a fantasy trip for the militant Walter Mitty, who longs for those mythical days of yesteryear when men were men and women were booty.

Commentary

Mark Schmeller Collegian Columnist

It is rumored that being a subscriber to Soldier of Fortune earns you a place on a special FBI list. That is doubtless one of its attractions.

hough it would be easy to write Soldier of Fortune off as a magazine for fascists, it would also be unfair. Sure, one story takes perverse pleasure in the fact that Jane Fonda recently broke her nose. "TOO BAD! TOO BAD!"

But another article tells of the author befriending a group of Peruvian Shining Path guerrillas - about the nastiest bunch of Maoists in the world — after they held him

The author makes special note of the guerillas' .303-caliber Lee Enfield rifles, which struck him as "intimidating." In the weird world of Soldier of Fortune, ideology takes backseat to what kind of firepower you're

Even weirder are the advertisements found in gun magazines. "Ready for Action?" asks one ad, as if being improperly armed were as offensive as body odor. Others offer sweatshirts and baseball caps with the CIA insignia, as well as a T-shirt with "I was killing when killing wasn't cool" emblazoned across the

A videocassete titled "Rock n' Roll #3: Sexy Girls and Sexy Guns" promises to show you Rosie and her MP-5, as well as Dottie toting an Uzi and Tani-Jo wielding her MAC-10. Along the same lines, a gun company offers "New Toys for Big Boys." The possibilities for Freudian interpretation here are, no doubt, endless.

Moving down a notch in civility, "Combat Handguns" serves as an excellent field guide for anyone desiring to shoot somebody else. The bi-monthly "Combat Tactics" column provides "Tips on concealed carry and rookie mistakes that can get you killed."

Tough issues, like "Mini Guns - useful or useless?" are tackled with penetrating insight, and the "It Happened to Me!" section allows readers an opportunity to write in and relate their gruesome self-defense tales a la "Penthouse Forum."

Most troubling, however, was a column titled "Self-Defense and the Law," in which the budding Bernard Goetz is advised on legal matters and courtroom survival. Such questions as: "What is the best type of gun to have shot your attacker with?", "Do names of the guns make a difference?", "Does it matter if you have a .357 Magnum and the bad guy had a .22?", and, the question we've all been asking ourselves, "Isn't it really better just to shoot the burglar on the doorstep, drag him inside, and put a kitchen knife in his hand before you call the police?" (It isn't, sports

In telling us why it is our civic duty to pack a handgun, the author criticizes, "The apologists for crime who tell women to dress ugly and hide their charms, and urge us all to travel in packs like dogs, but never, ever to carry a gun, don't understand the nature of free ut exactly how free are the readers of "Combat Handguns" and other paranoid gun loonies? Is it freedom to center one's life upon preparation for that encounter with the mugger or burglar? Are people who live in such constant fear that they can't go around the corner without a gun

I've never been one to dispute the old NRA dictum "Guns don't kill people. People kill people." However, after reading these magazines, I've come to the realization that there are a lot of people out there who can't wait to use guns to kill people. Such a desire is often thinly veiled behind claims that carrying guns is some sort of civic and personal duty of selfdefense, as the police can't prevent every crime that occurs.

Granted, taking away guns won't solve the problem of an overly violent America. But, as University Convocation speaker Randall Robinson, quoting Eldridge Cleaver, reminded us, "You are either part of the problem or part of the solution." By adding more guns to a nation with more than 10,000 gunrelated murders a year, those who preach the gospel of guns think they can put out the fire with more gasoline. They are no part of the solution.

Letters

Language barrier

This letter is to echo the concerns of Crystal Gooss in her Jan. 17 letter to the editor. From her letter, I can tell that she and I, as well as the rest of the undersigned, had the same organic chemistry teacher. There is no doubt in my mind that this teacher is a brilliant man, but if the man cannot communicate, the brilliance is wasted. I don't mean to pick on just this one teacher. There are many others with the same

I realize these instructors must pass a language test in order to teach. All I can say is, it just isn't good enough. I'm borrowing a lot of money to go to school here. I feel shortchanged when the instructors can't be understood. As Ms. Gooss said, the subject is wellworn. I say keep wearing it until something is

David Sjeklocha senior in pre-veterinary medicine and two others

Gun control

It is difficult for me to articulate how sad I am over the murders of the five children on a school playground in Stockton, Calif. Yet, at the same time, I am seething with anger that a man with a criminal record - including weapons violations - was allowed to purchase an AK-47 assault rifle.

Why, in the first place, was this weapon ever allowed to be on sale to the public, much more to a criminal? This is a weapon that exists for one purpose only: the killing of human beings. It is not a target rifle. It is not a hunting rifle. It is for one thing only: killing people. In this case, the weapon was turned on children playing innocently at school during recess, slaying five and injuring some 30

Just what is it going to take for the American public to wake up, once and for all, to the fact that the National Rifle Association is as right to live. guilty in this crime as Patrick West, a.k.a Patrick Purdy?

I hope every member of the NRA slept poorly last night thinking about those children. I hope some of them may have entertained some doubts about the NRA's continuing policy of attacking and blocking every attempt to keep brutal weapons like AK-47s, M-16s and Uzis out of the hands of psychotics and criminals. I hope some of them woke up this morning and tore up their membership card in the NRA. But I doubt it.

NRA members will tell you that "Guns don't kill people, people kill people." Try telling that to the parents of those five children. NRA members will tell you that "This is the price we pay for a society in which we are free to bear arms to protect our homes, to target shoot for sport and to hunt."

The price we paid was five dead children.

Has this society declined to such a point that we think little of sacrificing our children? This will only stop if we all finally see the National Rifle Asssociation for what it is: the enemy of the most basic right of all - the

R. Charles Pearce associate professor, journalism and mass communications

OpEd

Kansas State Collegian OpEd ■ Tuesday, January 24, 1989

Gallery

Bush not a threat able about these subjects than the average

Editor,

After reading columnist Scott Miller's editorial "Bush has questionable past" in the Jan. 18 issue of the Collegian, I just had to laugh. Once again Miller has provided the "politically unaware" readers of our fine campus paper with "shocking insights" into our endangered political system.

Of course, all of this corruption and danger is the work of the Central Intelligence Agency.

When Ambassador Vernon Walters visfall, several articles by Miller appeared in the Collegian, all having roughly the same theme: anyone who has been associated with the CIA is morally and, therefore, politically ing political stability. That is, should they

First it was Ambassador Walters. Now it's no one!

Miller has quoted several sources in his articles, ranging from "Mother Jones" magazine to John Ranelagh's "The Agency: Rise and Decline of the CIA." I commend Miller for his documentation but question his interpretation.

I have read most of the materials he has quoted, yet don't feel that our government is in danger of collapse or overthrow because people with CIA backgrounds hold prominent positions in the system.

I do not consider myself an expert on the CIA or political analysis simply because I have read widely on the subjects; should Miller consider himself an expert? Frankly, even though Miller may be more knowledgestudent, he has never been inside the operation of the CIA or the government. Therefore, his wisdom is questionable, certainly incomplete.

As for his observations on our next president, Miller's theory is weakly supported. That Bush was, by virtue of his position or otherwise, associated with Operation Condor and the overthrow of the Allende government is hardly reason to proclaim Bush a certain blackmail target.

As quoted in Miller's article, Bush "is one of the few survivors" of several large-scale ited K-State to deliver a Landon Lecture last political scandals. Therefore, it would seem reasonable to assume that Bush would easily handle any evil blackmail schemes by "unscrupulous associates" without disruptever occur.

Also, Miller identifies our next president our next president. Apparently we can trust as a "potential threat to national security." It can be argued that any person who holds the > power to extinguish existence of life on earth with the push of a button is a threat to our national security, including our president.

> However, the important point to remember is that we, the people, awarded that power to that individual by virtue of electing him as our leader. Questionable past or not, in spite of or because of his directorship of the CIA, the majority of American citizens have placed their trust in Bush's ability to run our

> What he did in the past does not matter to a large degree now. What he will do in the future does matter.

> > Catherine A. Barnes junior in political science

New coach welcomes support

Editor's note - Bill Snyder has now been at the helm of the K-State football program for about 25 days after finishing his duties as lowa's offensive coordinator Dec. 31, at the Peach Bowl. Snyder has said he has been encouraged with his staff's recruiting efforts

Snyder had about 35 prospective recruits on hand for the Jan. 14, K-State-KU basketball game - a number that one Wildcat player said was, by far, the most in his four years at K-State.

The hiring of Snyder's full-time staff has been completed. It consists of eight new faces to the Wildcat football program, as well as former Stan Parrish aide, Kevin Ramsey.

Snyder's chore of turning around a football program that will take a nation-leading, 27-game losing streak into the 1989 season will not be new to him. He and his Iowa mentor, Hayden Fry, overcame a similar situation when they took over the Hawkeye program 10 years ago. Iowa is now a perennial Big Ten Conference contender.

he purpose of this column is twofold in nature, directed at both the student body and the faculty/staff at K-State. I want to thank those of you from both factions who have received Commentary me and our coaches so well at K-State.

Snyder Guest Columnist

I was truly impressed with the warm reception my wife and I received at Bramlage Coliseum prior to the basketball game. That was to me, indeed, an indication that you do care about your football program. I stress your program because it is such a visible part of this University and the support that you provide is strongly related to its success.

I have been equally impressed with the support you have shown our basketball team at the home games I have attended. I know the young men in that program are highly motivated and perform as well as they possibly can when the fans (made up of so many students and faculty members) cheer so fervently for them throughout the course of a game.

As I have told thousands of fans around the state of Kansas, the most vital ingredient to the change of direction and success of K-State's football program will be the visible support provided by Kansans at our home games. My No. 1 objective is to bring fans, students and faculty back into the stadium on Saturday afternoons.

I firmly believe the players in this program need that support; when it is there they will play their hearts out. As I've said so often, "If you fill the stands, these kids will play so hard it'll make you cry." I truly believe that.

'm very grateful to those of you who have supported this program through the downside. Please stick with these kids. In fact, please bring a friend when you come. And for those who have lost interest in K-State football and are no longer attending home games, please give us a chance. We need you.

We want to represent you, K-State and the state of Kansas, better than at any time in the history of the school. We need your help to do it. We want you to be involved in what may become the greatest turnaround in the history of college football.

You mean a great deal to us, more than you may know.

Language errors humorous

he English language is the most widely distributed on the surface of the Earth, yet non-native speakers of the language tend to make English errors which are often humorous. When such errors appear on signs, they leave a permanent mark.

There exist numerous examples of incorrect humorous English signs in hotels in foreign countries. A hotel in Athens, Greece, declares, "Visitors are expected to complain at the office between the hours of 9 a.m. and 11 a.m. daily."

Across from a Russian monastary, a Moscow hotel sports a sign which reads, "You are welcome to visit the cemetary where famous Russian composers, artists and writers are buried daily except Thursdays."

"Do your utmost to alarm the hotel porter in case of fire," reads a sign in a Vienna, Austria, hotel.

Menus are not far behind, either. "Our wines leave you nothing to hope for," is printed on a Swiss restaurant menu. One of the items on a Polish restaurant menu is "Beef rashers beaten up in the country peoples' fashion."

Tailoring is for the elite in the United States but not so in South East Asia. Inside a Hong Kong tailor shop, a large sign declares,

Commentary Rizwan Mithani Guest Columnist

"Ladies may have a fit upstairs." Whereas the small print in a Taiwanese tailor shop says, "Because is big rush we will execute customers in strict rotation."

If you thought elevators are not funny, you are mistaken. A sign in a Bucharest, Romania, hotel lobby once said, "The lift (that's British for an elevator; it's also British for a ride) is being fixed for the next day. During the time we regret that you will be unbearable.

The French were never known for their values and consequently a sign in a Paris hotel elevator says, "Please leave your values at the front desk.'

A few other interesting signs can be found in different places. For instance, a laundry sign in Rome reads, "Ladies, leave your clothes here and spend the afternoon having a good time." An Indian one reads, "Don't kill your wife; let us do the dirty work."

Danish airline ticket office has a sign reading, "We take your bags and send them in all directions." And wasn't it a Budapest zoo where a sign said, "Please don't feed the animals. If you have suitable food give it to the guard on duty"?

However, any of these last four could have been seen in the United States.

Yes, our very own country is not far behind, and with good reason. Professor Higgins, of "My Fair Lady," says that English has not been spoken in this country for the past two centuries.

American church bulletin notices are often a source of humor. One example that comes to mind is "This being Easter Sunday, we will ask Mrs. Johnson to come forward and lay an egg on the altar."

Finally, a sign we ought to be ashamed of is the one I saw outside a Tennessee Long John Silver's which said "Now expecting Management Applications." I even have a snap of this one. No kidding!

Editor's note: Rizwan Mithani is a graduate student in computer science.

Letters

Paying the bill

Hail to the chief and farewell. On Jan. 20, a very successful and popular U.S. president (at least as measured by current public opinion polls) left office. But how popular or successful will the Reagan legacy seem down the road a few years? Ronald Reagan warned in his inaugural address on Jan. 20, 1981: "For decades we have piled deficit upon deficit, mortgaging our future and our children's futures for the temporary conveniences of the present. To continue this long trend is to guarantee tremendous social, cultural, political and economic upheaval." The warning was valid, but deficits were not reduced. In fact, the $25 billion to $50 billion annual deficits during the Carter administration were far more appealing than the $150 billion to $225 billion deficits that Reagan has racked up. The national debt is now about $2.6 trillion, almost three times the 1981 level. And, just interest on the U.S. debt is now more than $800 per person per year. Past presidents such as Johnson, Nixon, Ford and Carter chose to "tax and spend" with a "pay as you go" philosophy. The Reagan years can be characterized by "borrow and spend." When one charts total debts in all sectors to Gross National Product, the debt explosion of the 80s sticks out like a sore thumb.

But let's not be too hard on the guy. After all, Reagan had to receive the support of interest groups, bureaucrats, and Congress all of which ultimately should represent the wishes of the American people. And, when Reagan ran for president the first time around, Americans thought taxes were too high and defense spending too low. We wanted government services, but were unwilling to pay the bill.

Deficits such as those experienced during the Reagan era cannot go on much longer. Either we reduce the national debt now or we let the market do the work through high interest rates, inflation, exchange rate changes or pledge his commitment to restore the death some other measure to slow private spending.

To act now means we must stop our frivolous spending and start saving. Americans have never been adequate savers, but now personal savings rates are near an all-time low while consumer debt is at a record high. Increasing taxes should be considered, more cuts in federal spending must be made (especially defense spending) and, above all, a balanced budget must be adopted.

Households and businesses in this country are expected to budget properly and to make do with what can be afforded. Yet, we allow our representatives to squander away borrowed money and our future. Reagan has decided once again to set a good example for the American people and support a 50 percent pay raise for congress, judges, and high executive branch officials. (This was without any tax increase for support.)

According to Reagan, "We must be willing to pay for excellence in government" Well we certainly have already paid for enough bungling. The large pay raise will go into Editor, effect automatically Feb. 8 unless each house of Congress rejects it.

While many measures of the economy lead us to believe we are in better shape than eight The article, which in effect served as a help years ago, we really have just been living in wanted ad, stated: high style on borrowed time and money. America is definitely living beyond its means, and President Reagan can thank us and future generations for the popularity he enjoys today. We'll be stuck paying the bill.

1988 graduate in economics

Governor excused

Editor,

"Hayden's timing poor on death penalty non-sexist practices. Cox can be forgiven for issue," appearing in Friday's edition. I can this oversight, but the editors of the Colleonly assume that this article complies with gian, who are responsible for catching this the opinion of this paper.

This article states, "Kansas Gov. Mike Hayden chose Martin Luther King Jr. Day to penalty," and in turn "insulted anyone who respects King's contributions to America." The Collegian even accuses Gov. Hayden of planning this event, "so his announcement could make the front page of the state's newspapers and be the leading item on the stations' evening news.'

You guys don't really think that, do you? Does the Collegian think Gov. Hayden should not work at all on holidays to make announcements that we all knew would

Or, does the Colegian oppose Hayden and the death penalty so much that they came up with this? Or did the Collegian need a 9-inch by 2-column article for page 4? Paul McDonald junior in electrical engineering

Sexist article

In the Jan. 20 issue of the Collegian, reporter Laurie Cox reported that the University was looking for a full-time professional pilot.

"The pilot must have a commercial license, instrument rating, and multi-engine rating. He must have a minimum experience of 2,500 hours....'

The word "he" in the ad effectively elimi-William C. Wineinger nates 51 percent of the possible applicant pool. The University, as an equal opportunity employer, is obligated to eliminate sexist recruiting practices, which includes the language used in its open position descriptions.

The Collegian, as the bullhorn of the Uni-I am writing concerning the editorial versity, is responsible for maintaining these kind of mistake, cannot.

> Peggy Stockdale graduate student in psychology

First time since '52, Illini No. 1

By The Associated Press

Illinois became the first team this season other than Duke to hold the No. 1 position in The Associated Press college basketball poll on Monday. It also marked the first time the Fighting Illini have held that spot in the regular season in 37 years.

The only undefeated Division I-A team, Illinois received 62 of the 65 first-place votes cast and 1,296 points from the nationwide panel of sportswriters and broadcasters. The Fighting Illini were pushed to the limit Sunday to win their 17th straight, a 103-92 double-overtime victory over Georgia Tech.

The last time Illinois held the No. 1 spot in the regular season was in the poll released on Jan. 22, 1952 when it took over the top spot from Kansas. The Fighting Illini held it just one week as they lost to DePaul four days

Illinois was No. 1 in the preseason poll for the 1952-53 season but lost an early season Big Ten game with Minnesota.

Duke had held the No. 1 spot in the preseason poll and in the first nine regular-season votings but the Blue Devils, 13-2, lost their first games of the season this week, a 20-point home loss to North Carolina and a 75-71 loss at Wake Forest to fall to eighth in the voting.

Georgetown, Louisville and Oklahoma each advanced one place in the voting as did Illinois.

The Hoyas, 14-1, took second with one first-place vote and 1,173 points, just six more than Louisville, 13-2, which had the other two first-place

Oklahoma, 15-2, moved up to fourth with 1,079 points and was followed by fellow Big Eight member Missouri, 16-3, which received 939 points in moving up three places from last week. Arizona, 13-2, which also moved up three spots, was sixth with 884 points, nine more than North Carolina, which improved to 16-3 with victories over Duke and North Carolina State. The Tar Heels had fallen to 13th in last week's voting, the first time in 63 polls dating to the 1983-84 season they had not been in the Top

Duke, Seton Hall and Michigan rounded out the Top Ten.

The Blue Devils received 860 points, while Seton Hall, 17-1, had 788 and Michigan, 15-3 after a 71-68 loss to Wisconsin, dropped from sixth with 719 points.

1.	Illinois (62)	17-0	1,2962
2.	Georgetown (1)	14-1	1,1733
3.	Louisville (2)	13-2	1,1674
4.	Oklahoma	15-2
5.	Missouri	16-3	939 8
6.	Arizona	13-2	884 9
7.	N. Carolina	16-3	875 13
8.	Duke	13-2	860 1
9.	Seton Hall	17-1	788 12
10.	C. St. St. St. St. St. St. St. St. St. St	15-3
33.5
11.	Florida St.	14-1	644 14
12.	lowa	14-3	641 7
13.	UNLV	13-3	497 10
14.	Syracuse	15-4	447 11
15.	N. Carolina St.	12-2	401 15
16.	Indiana	15-4	321 19
17.	Ohio State	12-4	320 16
-555		15-3
18.
19.	Stanford	14-4	133 20
20.	Providence	14-2	64 —

Others receiving votes: Tennessee 53; Georgia Tech 51; St. Mary's (Calif.) 36; West Virginia30; Cal-Santa Barbara 24; St. John's 9; LSU 4; Texas-El Paso 4; K-State 3; Arkansas 2; Connecticut 2; Arkansas-Little Rock 1; LaSalle 1; Notre Dame 1; and Wake Forest 1.

Despite losing his starting position, K-State forward Billy Ray Smith has averaged nearly 10 points a game. Smith was named a top junior college transfer by Sports Illustrated in pre-season coverage.

Smith contributing in new bench role

By Mike Rouse Collegian Reporter

For K-State's Billy Ray Smith, the transition from junior college basketball at Midland (Texas) Community College to NCAA Division I-A basketball at K-State has been a pleasant one so far this season.

"I have enjoyed (the transition)," Smith said. "I came down here this summer and got accustomed to Manhattan."

Smith compiled impressive statistics while at Midland and garnered many honors. The Garland, Texas, native averaged 13.5 points and 6.3 rebounds a game last year to help guide Midland to a 25-7 finish.

He was selected a second-team all-American last year by Basketball Weekly, and Sports Illustrated ranked him as a top junior college transfer nationwide.

"I was surprised to get in Sports Illustrated last year because I wasn't a big scorer at Midland," Smith said.

Smith fit right in to the K-State program at the beginning of year and drew a starting role for the first seven games. He averaged only four points and two rebounds a game in his starting position and was replaced by senior Mark Dobbins.

Since Smith lost his starting role, his intensity level has somewhat picked up, said K-State coach Lon

"Billy Ray has practiced a lot harder and has concentrated very hard the last three weeks," Kruger said. "The second he stepped on the court, he has really concentrated on taking good shots."

In K-State's 75-74 overtime loss to Kansas Jan. 14, Smith had a chance to win the game in the waning seconds of the extra period. With three ticks left on the clock, he took a pass from Dobbins and put up a fivefooter that missed. Kruger said he and his players had faith in Smith taking the shot, but that it "unfortunately didn't fall.

"Teammates and coaches had no problem with the shot," Kruger said. "I haven't heard anything but positive remarks from teammates. Billy knew that he had to get the shot off fast and I don't think he realized that he had a little extra time."

Since the KU game, Smith has been averaging 9.6 points a game and scored 11 points in consecutive games against Southern Utah State and Colorado.

"I would like to keep the confidence up. I hate to have one good night and then have a bad night," Smith said. "I would like to continue to show what I can do for the team. I think everything will come together when I get into a groove."

Champs greeted at airport

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO - The San Francisco 49ers arrived home triumphantly Monday with their oncequestioned reputation secure as one of the greatest clutch teams in NFL

They flew in to cheers from a small crowd at a closed-access area of San Francisco International Airport at about 1:45 PST and immediately headed for a late-afternoon parade downtown, where thousands of fans lined the streets.

Labeled playoff flops as recently as last month, the 49ers disposed of that notion emphatically.

Their stunning 20-16 victory over Cincinnati in Sunday's Super Bowl was the fourth time this season the team came from behind to win in the final period.

crew teams upgrading equipment

By Deborah Dinges Collegian Reporter

The K-State crew team will be purchasing a new racing shell for varsity women's shell is in "top notch shape," said Troy Kolb, K-State crew member.

The new boat will cost $12,700. Half of the purchasing funds were generated through private donations from alumni and supporters, a $3,000 grant from the Student Governing Association and money earned in fundraisers such as the Ergathon.

The Ergathon is an annual fun-make donations on the basis of rowing resistance. meters rowed on rowing machines by team members.

The other half of the boat's cost varsity men this semester and the will be paid for by selling linear inches of the boat to alumni, parents of crew members and crew supporters at $10 an inch. Varsity men's coach Don Rose said crew is hoping to raise $7,000, with the shell measuring about 700 inches long.

The boat will be a Pocock-brand shell with a hull modeled after the German Empacher, said crew president Eric Custer. The shell will be thinner and rest lower in the water cut through the water better than the shell the varsity men have, which has a flatter bottom. Because Pocock has just begun making the new model shell, K-State will be one of the only teams using the hull this year.

The hull design might cause some problems on Tuttle Creek Reservoir, where the team practices.

"Tuttle has a lot of wind," Custer said, and boats with the new style hull don't take the wind as well as the crew's boats do now.

The carbon construction of the shell makes it lighter and the inside of the shell has a honeycomb con- repaired, riggers adjusted and the Custer said the new shell should struction rather than being hollow. Due to these factors, he said it won't lose energy to the flex of the boat and will move faster through the water.

> "The boat does not make the crew, but it could make a difference of one or two seconds in a race," Custer

The varsity women also have reason to be excited for the upcoming season. A private donation of $1,000 paid for a new look, said Lisa Gregoriew, senior in physical education and varsity women's captain. All of the boat's "shoes" have shell thoroughly cleaned repainted, Gregoriew said. The women's shell is at least 13 years old, Kolb said. Mandy Robinson, varsity women's coach, said the women's crew has had problems with the shell leaking in the past. Gregoriew said the improvements are an inspiration. "If the boat looks good, we look good - then we feel better and row better," she said.

Mary Rockers, senior in elementary education and varsity rower. said it's embarrassing to drain the been replaced, damaged spots water out of the boat after a race.

Walsh to stay with 49ers even if not as head coach draiser for the crew in which people than the old shell and will decrease

By The Associated Press

MIAMI - Still savoring the victory that made him the second winningest coach in Super Bowl history, Bill Walsh had bad news for the rest of the NFL Monday: Even if he steps down as coach, he will continue working to keep the San Francisco 49ers on top.

"I don't necessarily have to coach to keep the 49ers at or near the top of the league," Walsh said as he basked in the last-minute, 20-16 victory over Cincinnati that gave the team its third NFL title in the '80s and stamped it as unquestionably the team of the decade

"People with the right chemistry all participate together and are involved in the decisions. We have worked well together for years."

Walsh's news conference Monday was an opportunity for the 57-yearold coach, now second in Super Bowl victories to Pittsburgh's Chuck Noll, to get a few things off his chest.

He put in a none-too-subtle plug for defensive coordinator George Seifert as his successor if he decides to give up coaching.

Blaylock player of the week

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - The Big Eight believes Mookie Blaylock has tied a conference scoring record. Nobody is really sure.

But they are sure the Oklahoma guard has been named Big Eight player of the week for the second time in what's turning out to be a spectacular season. Three times the Sooners played last week, and three times Blaylock scored 30 or more points. It's known that former Sooner all-

American Wayman Tisdale had vote by The Associated Press, had three 30-point games in a row. But since the Big Eight doesn't keep such records, it's not known for certain whether anybody else ever did it, too.

One of the teams Blaylock victimized was Iowa State.

"Mookie Blaylock is just phenomenal," said Iowa State Coach Johnny Orr. "There is no question that he is a great player." Blaylock, the Big Eight's newcomer of the year last season in a go with younger players."

105 points, 15 steals, 15 rebounds and 25 assists in games against Iowa State, Pittsburgh and Kansas. He also played 123 of a possible 125 minutes.

Orr noted Monday at the Big Eight coaches' telephonic news conference that players of any size or potential are becoming hard to find at injury-bugged Iowa State.

"We're down to eleven guys," Orr said. "We have no choice but to

Montana again proves he's best QB ever

The master returned to center stage Sunday afternoon, and in doing so left little doubt that he's a cut above anyone who's played the game at his position during the modern era.

When San Francisco quarterback Joe Montana left the field following the 49ers' stirring 20-16 triumph over Cincinnati in Super Bowl XXIII Sunday evening in Miami, he did so without his third MVP trophy under his talented right arm.

That really isn't all that important, however, when one considers the greatest quarterback of our time had done something far more important. He had led his team to a third world title in a decade - and had done it in a way only he was capable of doing

This is the man that was on the throwing end of "the catch" in 1981, a scoring strike to Dwight Clark that led the 49ers over the Dallas Cowboys and into their first Super Bowl meeting with the same team they downed Sunday.

This is the man who led those same 49ers to a win in that Super Bowl and yet another against the Miami Dolphins, and who had by the end of 1985 stamped himself as the "quarterback of the '80s." Two Super Bowl titles and two MVP trophies in the big game weren't easily ignored.

Then, and not of Montana's own doing, the stamp wore off. Suddenly ignorance was fashionable.

By the beginning of the 1988 season, trade rumors blew in the Bay Area wind as frequently as did Jose

Svoboda on Sports

Canseco home runs during baseball season across the bay in Oakland. Montana was headed to San Diego, one report said.

It was laughable. Steve Young was the quarterback of the future, yet another story proclaimed. It made you want to cringe.

Coach Bill Walsh had a falling out with his star and the back injury Montana had suffered was far too severe to expect full recovery, yet other reports speculated.

The laughter was turning to tears. But don't cry for Joe Montana. Just as the box of tissues was being raided by 49er fans everywhere, the man they were prepared to cry for as if they were at a funeral - came back from the dead.

And it wasn't a simple resurrection, mind you. What we saw Sunday in the final 3:20 was fire and brimstone, dogs and cats living together. It was Hall of Fame stuff.

But that really isn't so surprising, now is it. That was No. 16 in red and gold out there and he's done it all history started at the San Francisco eight-yard line. Eleven plays and 92 yards later, Joe Montana had assured himself a place in the Hall of Fame. And no one was really all that surprised.

When Montana faded back to throw and finally delivered a perfectly-guided, eight-yard bullet to the chest of wide receiver John Taylor, it was as if the play came in countless freeze frames.

It was all too slow for Cincinnati Coach Sam Wyche.

"We knew that when Joe got into the two-minute offense that he's a master at it," Wyche said. "So it didn't come as a surprise ...

"In every clutch situation, Montana came up with a good play. It

The greatest drive in Super Bowl wasn't that we broke down, he just came up with a topper."

It was almost as if Montana knew he had something to prove and simply went out and did it. Not that any other mere mortal could have made it look as easy.

"As we got going, you could see (Montana's) eyes light up," said 49er center Randy Cross. "About halfway through that final drive, we knew we were going to score. You don't want anyone else who ever played the game for a long drive like that."

Fortunately for Cross and San Francisco, they didn't have anyone

They had the best - regardless of what the reports may say.

They had Joe Montana.

Doctor: Viruses difficult to treat

Collegian Reporter

Good health is often taken for granted until the immune system weakens temporarily, symptoms begin and the aches of a cold or flu infect the body.

Last year, Lafene Student Health Center treated 4,195 respiratory problems, including colds, said Dr. Robert Tout, Lafene director. Because colds are a "seasonal incidence," they are more common in the winter months.

Cold symptoms can range from sneezes and sniffles to a hacking cough, aches, pains and fever. Once the symptoms are identified, the next step is to find relief. However, with numerous over-the-counter remedies and prescription drugs, the decision may be difficult.

There are "no cold vaccines or drugs that can be given that affect the cold virus itself," Tout said.

Because there are more than 100 viruses that can cause a cold, the vaccine would have to contain many different properties, he said.

"There is no treatment for any virus," he said.

The only thing doctors can do is treat the symptoms, Tout said. Cold and flu patients should not use the multi-symptom cold remedies unless they suffer from every symptom, he said.

"I usually just treat their symptom," Tout said. With a multisymptom cold reliever, if it causes drowsiness or some other side effect, the symptoms of the flu or cold may be more difficult to diagnose. He said, "Millions and millions of dollars are spent on physicians to treat colds, when most of the drugs can be purchased across the counter.

"Past experience is the best way to tell what works. There is no product that is the best, or (doctors) would all be giving the same one.'

However, Lafene is an ideal source of assistance for students because "There is no treatment for any virus." -Dr. Robert Tout

Director of Lafene Student

Health Center the medicine is cheaper than overthe-counter remedies, he said. For a disruptive cough, Tout said to use cough drops instead of sprays.

David Kuehn, pharmacist at Barry's Drug Center, said victims of cold and flu symptoms should get a nasal decongestant if they are congested.

Kuehn also suggested aspirin or a non-aspirin pain reliever to reduce fever, as well as drinking plenty of fluids. If the symptoms persist for five to seven days, the individual should see a doctor.

Antihistamines are purchased for relief of cold symptoms, but according to Consumer Reports magazine, antihistamines only treat hay fever or similar allergies, not cold symptoms. Any reduction of symptoms is from the side effects of the medicine.

Tout agreed that antihistamines are most often given for hay fever, but he said, "In certain individuals, there is some antihistamine response. Therefore, (antihistamines) do have a given place (for cold treatment)."

Selected cold remedies

All brands listed below contain a single active ingredient helpful against a specific cold symptom. Most of the ingredients are also available as generic products of store brands.

Remisch	Products
Topical decongestant	Dristan, Neo-Synephrine, Sinex Duration, Dristan Long-lasting Nasal Spray Neo-Synephrine II Oramy, Sudafed, Sudanyl
Medicated lozenges and sprays	Chloraseptic Sore Throat Spray Spec-T Sore Throat Anesthetic Lozenges Sucrets N'Ice Sugarless Cough Lozenges
Pain reliever	Bayer, Bufferin, Norwich, St. Joesph Aspirin Datril, Tylenol Advil, Nuprin
Cough suppressant	Benylin DM, Delsym, Dr. Drake's, Pertussin 8-Hour Cough Formula, PediaCare 1 Liquid, St. Joseph Cough Syrup for Children, Hold 4-Hour Cough Suppressant Cheracol, Histadyl EC, Naldecon CX, Novahistine DH Benylin N'Ice Sugarless Cough Lozenges
	Medicated lozenges and sprays Pain reliever

Prints featured in exhibition

Professors display art

By The Collegian Staff

Diversity is the key strength of the show "Prints," said Lee Powers, exhibition coordinator for the Hays Arts Council.

"Prints," an exhibition of lithographs, etchings and silkscreen prints by faculty printmakers from six state universities in Kansas, will be assembled through Feb. 2 in the Main Gallery at the Hays Arts Center Gallery in Hays.

Charles Stroh, professor of art, is showing a woodcut and several lithograph prints in the show. He said the exhibition is different because the subject matter encompasses a broad spectrum of media. The print styles are also distinctive, said John Oshea, assistant professor of art. Oshea, who is displaying prints in the exhibition, said printmaking involves tools and materials unique to this art

When working with lithography, the artist uses slabs of Bavarian limestone and various chemicals to produce the lithograph.
Making an etching requires copper and zink plates, various types of acids and acid resistant materials.

Oshea said each person may take a different approach to the medium and use the aspects of the process in individual ways. Because of the many variables, the variety of results is substantial, he said. The Kansas Arts Commission is considering making "Prints" a touring exhibition. "It's nice to see real, original work," Oshea said. "It has a presence that you don't get in Powers said the exhibit is unique because of its subject matter and because all the prints were created by Kansas faculty printmakers. He said he could not recall a similar

James Munce, associate professor of art, and Teresa Schmidt, assistant professor of art, are dis-playing their work in the exhibit.

Students to reorganize American Indian group

By Carol Knorr Collegian Reporter

The Native American Indian Student Body is reorganizing after a sixyear period of inactivity.

The Office of Minority Affairs donated a fine arts allocation of $995 to the group. This funding can be used by the group regardless of whether it becomes active, as long as it is used for cultural enrichment programs.

Cheryl May, acting director of News Services and the group's acting adviser, said it will apply for funding from the Student Governing Services office and is actively seeking other forms of funding.

'The group was active prior to 1979," May said. "I was the adviser for the group up to that point, but I left the University, and during the next four years the program lapsed and lost its funding.'

During the fall semester, Diana Caldwell, minority student development coordinator, began a survey to determine if native American students were interested in reorganizing the group.

"There was a consensus among interested persons in the minority affairs office to check into the possiall minority groups on campus should be attended to," Caldwell

"We started with a telephone survey (to native Americans on campus) and felt very positive about the possibilities afterward," she said. "Then we sent out postcards to all native Americans on campus asking if they were interested in reforming the organization."

Caldwell said the response to the postcards was equally encouraging, so she called for a meeting Dec. 5 with the intention of confirming interest, but the turnout was very

Despite the turnout at the meeting, Caldwell said the minority affairs office and several native American students are still thinking positively about the organization.

May said there are a number of options for membership in the program. All native Americans could automatically become members upon enrollment, or they could opt for membership.

"The group will be open to any student, regardless of ethnic background," May said.

The most important functions of bility of regrouping, because we felt the group, she said, are to "be a base organization for native Americans and help people feel comfortable.

> "Imagine going somewhere where you were the only person like you. There are only about 41 native American students among 18,000 students. They may not recognize, see or know each other.

> "A base organization can be helpful to belong to for contact and support."

Dale Bushyhead, senior in preprofessional elementary education and acting president of the organization, said the group is helping to bring native American poet Luci Tapahonso to campus April 8.

Future plans for the group include sponsoring native American awareness activities such as films on native American culture and tribal dances.

"Today, there isn't the chance to film these ceremonies and ritual dances that take place," May said. "We have a wonderful film that was taken of the Pottawatomie Tribe's ceremonies during the depression that we would like to share with other students.

"One of the wonderful things about a university is that groups like this one can share differences."

Marymount to close in June

By The Associated Press

SALINA — Marymount College has given up efforts to stay open amid financial problems and will shut its doors June 30, officials announced Monday.

News of the closing, which had been rumored over the weekend, was brok in to students, faculty and staff at a closed-door meeting. Some emerged from the session in tears, and one student later played "Taps" on the front steps of the school's administration building.

The college, founded in September 1922 by the Sisters of St. Joseph of Concordia, was for women only until 1967, when the first men were admitted. The Roman Catholic Diocese of Salina took over the school in 1983, in a move intended to broaden the college's base of financial support and student enrollment.

The closing was announced by the Most Rev. George Fitzsimons, bishop of the 31-county diocese, who said the primary reason for the closing was financial.

The college, which has debt of about $1.2 million, began a $4.8 million fund-raising drive in October. Joe Wedding, who stepped down Friday as executive director of institutional advancement for Marymount, said donations had stalled at $2 million. About half of that total came from the diocese.

"Although it's been a long time in coming, this was a difficult decision for the board and diocese to make," the bishop said at a news conference after the announcement.

"It comes only after a great deal of oul-searching, a thorough evaluation of the college's resources, and consideration of the effect this decision has on the faculty, staff, students, alumni, community and the state," he said.

Marymount had seen enrollment decline slowly but steadily over the last decade. It had 877 students in 1977 but six years later was down to 704. Last fall it enrolled 653 students, up slightly from the 644 of the previous year. About 350 of the students are full-time.

But although the enrollment decline had stabilized, college officials said income from tuition and gifts to the college had not been enough to meet increasing financial

'We can all be proud of the way that Marymount College has fulfilled its mission to this area through education, cultural opportunities and service to the church," Fitzsimons

The bishop said that Marymount will invite student and faculty recruiters from other colleges to visit the campus throughout the spring term. The college has about 120 faculty, staff and administrators.

Rumors that the college might close began circulating Friday after the regular monthly meeting of the board of trustees.

to elections Salvadoran guerrillas agree

By The Associated Press

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador U.S.-backed government offered Monday to participate in elections and respect the outcome if balloting is postponed from March to September.

The Marxist-led guerrillas, who throughout the 9-year-old civil war have rejected elections as a "farce," set several other conditions in what they termed "a political proposal to contribute to peace."

Presidential elections are scheproposed they be postponed until Sept. 15.

The rebel proposal is contained in a document signed by the top five guerrilla commanders. It is to be made public at a news conference in Mexico City today.

The Associated Press obtained a copy of the proposal on Monday, the day the document was dated by its

The insurgents set several condi-Leftist guerrillas fighting the duled for March 19. The guerrillas tions in addition to postponing the

The government of President Jose Napoleon Duarte had no immediate reaction. Duarte was cloistered with Roman Catholic Archbishop Arturo Rivera Damas on Monday afternoon to discuss the guerrilla document.

Restaurant

Weekly Specials Mon. 4:30-8 Buffet has Grilled Steak-Fried Shrimp

Tues, 4:30-8 1st Buffet $5.85 second 1/2 price Wed. 4:30-8 child under 10 free with reg. price Buffets

Thurs. 4:30-8 Menu K.C. Strip Steak $6.95 Fri. Our Special Fresh Catfish Fillet on Buffet Hwy. 24 East (21/2 miles east of mall) Manhattan

SHOW SOMEONE YOU CARE

Give the one you love an ice cream cake for Valentine's Day.

Now there's Dairy Queen® cake to treat them to! Cool, creamy chocolate and vanilla DQ soft serve. layered with light crisp chocolate crunch, plenty of rich, cold fudge and covered with delicious icing. It's all frozen and packaged to take home. Wouldn't a Dairy Queen® cake be wonderful tonight?

1015 N. 3rd. Manhattan

STUDENTS WHO NEED MONEY FOR COLLEGE

Every Student is Eligible for Some Type of Financial Aid Regardless of Grades or Parental Income. We have a data bank of over 200,000 listings of scholarships, fellowships, grants, and loans, representing over $10 billion in private sector

Many scholarships are given to students based on their academic interests, career plans, family heritage and place of residence. There's money available for students who have been newspaper carriers, grocery clerks, cheerleaders, non-smokers . . . etc. Results GUARANTEED.

CALL

For A Free Brochure ANYTIME (800) 346-6401

Give your favorite K-Staters a gift they'll love long past Valentine's Day

A Week At Kansas State

Valentine's Special Save $10 now through Feb. 14, 1989

If you love K-State or someone who attends K-State, you will enjoy recalling the classes you took, the friends you made, the sporting events and other activities that make Kansas State University unique.

Share some of those fond memories in the form of a beautiful coffee-table book created by K-State alumni and student photographers — A Week At Kansas State. Those who have seen it, love the stunning color photographs and stories of campus life.

Student Publications Inc. is now offering the book at a special graduation rate. For a limited time, A Week At Kansas State, regularly $29.95, is now $19.95 plus tax with the coupon. Buy one now for yourself or a friend. Proceeds go toward photojournalism scholarships.

Bring this coupon to the Student Publications office, Kedzie Hall 103, and save $10 on A Week at Kansas State.

Limit 2 with coupon. Expires 2/14/89

For more information, call (913) 532-6555.

VISA and MasterCard accepted.

Movie looks at radio shows

By Tom McLaughlin Collegian Reviewer

You know that my worst fear is being boring. I'm sometimes afraid the audience is going to get up and

Oliver Stone's film "Talk Radio," a voyeuristic look at live radio, is an intense and refreshingly intriguing

Much like other recent Stone releases, which include "Platoon" and "Wallstreet," the film takes a detailed look at the dark side of humanity and the often-times decadent societal standards that push an individual toward success.

Review

Eric Bogosian, author of the script and the film's lead, is by no means surpassed by Stone's work.

In writing the screenplay, Bogosian merges "Talked to Death: The Life and Murder of Alan Berg" by Stephen Singular and his own stage peare Festival under the direction of of his inevitable death. Joseph Papp.

The result is a subtle and steady biodrama almost like the life of the controversial talk show host Alan Berg, who was murdered in Denver.

The story focuses on Barry Golden, an ordinary clothier, who is invited onto a talk show by a customer visiting his store.

Due to his quick wit and interesting philosophies, Barry is given his own show. This quickly dominoes into the changing of his name from Golden to Champlain and, eventually, into a feature personality spot on KGAB radio in Dallas.

Champlain, a once happily married man, is transformed into a man whose career goals drive his life.

After divorcing his wife and developing an audience which "loves to love" and "loves to hate" him, Barry is offered a national syndication contract for his radio show. It proves to be an interesting and ominous subversion of "Talk Radio," which plot throughout the film. Not as debuted at The New York Shakes- ominous, though, as the anticipation

Stone and Bogosian let this undercurrent of tension build slowly, avoiding the temptation to sentimentalize or offer slick "glitz," instead allowing the film's lead to "say what needs to be said" in a nervewrenching manner.

The film takes the audience on a roller coaster ride through several on-the-air sessions with Champlain, who discovers "free speech is like Russian roulette - you never know what's going to come up."

During the course of the film, Champlain, like playing with a loaded gun, vents honesty on adoring fans, anti-semetics, drug users and others eager to share their problems or philosophies of life.

More than anything, the film is an impressive character study that looks at a man - not too unlike Alan Berg who is cursed with the ability to be bluntly honest.

Although the film has a few problems, including an overly bizarre call-in audience, its merits outweigh its faults.

Bogosian delivers a first-rate performance. His ability to capture the many levels of Champlain is applaudable, while he carefully handles the sophisticated nature of the script. Bogosian's ability to capture the driven emptiness and hollow self-destructive nature of Champlain is convincing.

The film also features a strong cast of supporting characters, the most intriguing of which are never seen the individuals who call in to Champlain.

Although the film may seem to have a brusk ending, it is a realistic one. Because Stone lets the audience see Champlain in a vulnerable situation, sympathizing and empathizing with him is easy in the end.

The film is not full of car chases or any other kind of overt physical action. Nor is it full of soft-spoken subtlety. But the steady humor, isolation, slow-pace action and character development warrant the price-

Class developed for freshmen

By Deborah Dinges Collegian Reporter

Because many new students face problems of stress, health, financial difficulties and are unfamiliar with campus programs, the Academic Assistance Center staff developed the Freshman Orientation Seminar in 1987.

Freshman Seminar is a credit/ no credit course designed to acquaint students with K-State's policies and procedures as well as other facets of campus life.

The class has gone through some major revisions since its beginning, said Judy Lynch, coordinator of the class and associate director of the center.

Subjects have been added to inform students about AIDS, and the library and financial aid discussions have been replaced by lectures on how to be a smart consumer, Lynch said.

Enrollment in the course increased from 268 students in the fall of 1987 to 373 in the fall of 1988. Lynch attributes the increase to the growing visibility of the class.

"The business, human ecology and education colleges have really pushed the class," she said. Also, structuring the class to the traditional freshman student has made it appealing.

Despite the enrollment increase, Freshman Seminar is not being offered this semester.

"There are just fewer traditional freshmen who are new students in the spring," Lynch said. The academic assistance center does not promote the class as

CLASSIFIED RATES

tive dates: 15 words or fewer, $3.50, 25 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.25, 30

cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 35

cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $5.00, 40

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publications. Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon

Clipping

this ad

could introduce you to that person

you've wanted to meet all semester.

If you've spent the semester watching one particular person, it's time for you to write a Collegian Personal ad. A Personal will intrigue your mystery person and give you the opportunity to introduce yourself. Just bring this ad to Kedzie 103 to start your winter romance.

cents per word over 15.

YOUR NAME

DAY TO RUN

PHONE

ADDRESS I.D. NUMBER

MESSAGE

One day: 15 words or fewer, $2.50, 20 cents per word over 15; Two consecu-

Kedzie 103

much during the spring because fewer volunteer teachers are available, she said. Advisers are also a factor because in the spring, they have less time to advise students.

Lynch's philosophy for the class is to expose students to as much valuable information as possible. She said she wants to continually adapt the syllabus to the curriculum.

"Because of the nature of the class, the material - if unchanged - get's stale," Lynch

One of the biggest criticisms of the course is that it is too much work. The academic assistance center is considering changing the class from a full-semester to an eight-week course, she said. It would remain a one-hour credit/ no credit class.

"We don't want to take away from the students' other classes,' Lynch said.

"The students get out of (the class) what they put into it," said Kay Stewart, assistant dean in the College of Business Administration and an instructor of the class for the past two semesters.

Lynch said about 10 percent of the students drop the course.

"Students find out that it is not a blow-off course and don't want to work that hard," she said.

'(The course) was helpful. A lot of it was common sense," said Tammy Britt, sophomore in human ecology and business administration. "It was more like a support group than a class."

Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion, it is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not after the value of the ad.

Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE to accord on the control of t

Display Classified Rates
One day: $5.20 per inch; Three consecutive days: $5.00 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.80 per inch; Ten consecutive days: $4.80 per inch. (Deadline is 4:30 p.m. two days before publication.)
Classified advertising is available only to those who do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion,

(Continued on page 9)

for scholarships

By Cindy Ellis Collegian Reporter

Individual colleges are using the University application for scholarships this year, instead of having applications specifically made for of Student Financial Assistance, said questions have been added to the

By The Collegian Staff

Student members of various campus organizations are working to raise money for their respective groups by selling concessions at

With the opening of Bramlage, it was decided to have student groups run the four permanent and four temporary concession stands just as they did at Aheam Field House, said

Charles Thomas, coliseum director.

Thomas said not much advertising

"Word of mouth spread (it) like

Doug Caldwell, president of the Agricultural Mechanization Club, which runs one of the stands, said the group found out about the stands from one of the club members who

Thomas said each stand is run like a restaurant. The groups are responsible for setting up stands, selling concessions and cleaning up wildfire," Thomas said. "We had people calling long before we was needed to attract groups.

Bramlage Coliseum.

opened."

afterward.

works at Bramlage.

the individual colleges.

event," Thomas said.

from its stand.

their spring activities.

house improvements.

Eickhoff said.

to $6,000."

Students sell snacks

Larry Erpelding, associate director of Agriculture Resident Instruction, said this helps the students because there is only one application and one deadline, Feb. 1, to worry about. This is especially helpful to Larry Moeder, associate director the incoming freshmen and transfer

Students in the College of Agricul-University application in order to ture can apply for about $250,000 in meet specific information needs of scholarships to be awarded for the

The groups earn $4 an hour for

Sean Eickhoff, president of Kappa

Eric Custer, of the K-State Crew,

Custer said the money will go for

Eickhoff said Kappa Sig pledges worked the stand last semester to pay for their social functions and their other pledge activities, and are looking into using some of the money for will help out on a rotating basis," he will go toward scholarships and to offset costs of the spring formal,

"This semester the entire house

The money earned this semester

"All of our help is made up of students because they have a great deal each person working. Thomas said a group can make about $200 per

Sigma fraternity, said the fraternity earns an estimated $1,000 a month said, "We hope to raise about $5,000 event, depending on the event.

1989-90 school year.

Erpelding said usually 450 to 500 students apply for the scholarships. Last year, all available funds were awarded and 350 students received scholarships.

'We try not to let the money just sit there," he said.

The criteria varies for individual scholarships. Erpelding said some alumni contribute money for scholarships and place very specific stipulations on how the money is to be awarded. This criteria may include academic classification, credit hours, need, major or descent.

Kay Stewart, director of student services for the College of Business Administration said,"It makes (the application process) more just for the projected figure available.

students."

The College of Engineering, which awards between $250,000 and $300,000 in scholarships, is the only college to still use a special application.

Kenneth K. Gowdy, associate dean of engineering, said the college hopes to eliminate the extra applications next year.

The College of Arts and Sciences expects to award between $75,000 and $80,000 in scholarships.

The College of Architecture will award more than $125,000.

The College of Business Administration, which matches University scholarships such as KSU Foundation Scholarships, does not yet have a

Bring a friend to dinner... We have a new menu and a whole

Receive a free appetizer with coupon expires January 31, 1989

University Inn 17th & Anderson Ave.

Valid Mon.-Thurs. Not valid with any other offer.

the purchase of 2 dinner entrees.

a new taste . a new taste . a new taste . a new taste

invested here (at Bramlage)," Tho-"It is just like a business. They need to balance out at the end of each mas said. Open 7 days a week Free Delivery Call 539-8888 or 537-0886

HUNAM EXPRESS 11 a.m.-1 a.m. 的现在分词的现在分词的现在分词 PREGNANCY TESTING

CENTER 539-3338

•Free Pregnancy Testing Totally Confidential Services

·Same Day Results Call For Appointment

Walk-ins Welcome

·Located across from Campus in Anderson Village

OSU MEETING

TONIGHT 7:00 Union Rm 208

-Big 8 Conference Details -Upcoming Fund Raising Events

FUNDRINKERY

Comedy Invasion Mon., Tues., and Wednesday - 9 p.m.

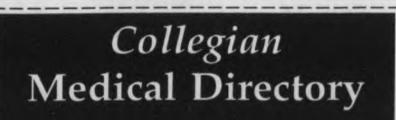

Pat Paulsen

along with Beth Donahue Presidential Candidate Smothers Brothers Comedy Hour All Major T.V. Talk Shows

·Mayor/Owner of Asti, Cal. "I've upped my standards . . . Now up yours"

Pat Paulson Campaign '88 Before 3 p.m. After 3 p.m. 539-4321 531 N. Manhattan 539-9727

Clip and keep for addresses and phone numbers

1133 College Ave., Bldg. D Manhattan Medical Center Manhattan, Kansas 66502 539-7401 C.W. Hughes, D.D.S. J.R. Pettle, D.D.S.

W.L. Lala, D.D.S.

R.A. Fulton, D.D.S.

W.C. Strutz, D.D.S.

Britt C. Feltner, D.D.S. New patients welcome *Evening & Saturday

Appointments Available •We see emergencies 537-8484 "We Cater To Cowards" dlabal feltner general dentistry J. Dennis Dlabal, D.D.S.

Collegian Pusonals

March 10-18, 1989

SOUTH PADRE, TEXAS

Price $395 per person

SKI

STEAMBOAT SPRINGS, CO

Free Shuttle To Slopes And Evening

Price $460 per person

Sponsored by International Tours

and KSKT 95.3 The Kat

*Make deposits and reservations

at 8th and Humboldt. 776-4756

DEPOSIT $100 due 1-26-89

CONNECTION

776-2426

$2

sessions

coupon expires 1/29/89

sessions expire 6/31/89

PERSONAL COMPUTERS

also servicing

· PC compatibles & printers

· Televisions & VCRs

RIB NIGHT

111 S. 4th includes salad bar

Details Unlimited

SPRING BREAK '89

Reservations Available Now

SOUTH PADRE ISLAND, TX trom $149'

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, SC 107

Don't Wait Until It's Too

Late!

Call Toll Free Today

1-800-321-5911

Depending on Break dates & length of stay

16 Motorcycles/Bicycles for Sale

trom $93*

from $118*

Sheraton/Holiday Inn/Gulf View

STEAMBOAT, CO

Port Royal Condos

DAYTONA BEACH, FL

MUSTANG ISLAND, TX

Hilton Head Beach Condos

0 000

Tonight

All you can eat!

$3.95

MIDWEST

SERVICES

624 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

The

Chef

Manhattan 913-776-6650

Authorized Warranty Service

1. Round Trip Bus Transportation

3. 5 Nights Lodging in Condo

5. Ski Equipment for 5 days

6. Mountain Bar-B-Q Lunch

Round Trip Bus Transportation

(Holiday Inn - On The Beach)

2. 5 Nights Lodging

3. Welcome Party

Entertainment

4. 5 Day Lift Ticket

COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp 539-6193. COOKIE ORDERS. Did Girl Scouts miss you again this year? We'll take your order. Call 539-9508.

COUCH POTATOES needed for study. Adults 30- 39 years; short, easy testing. Call Laurel 532-6765. JEWELRY LOVERS, Where are you???? 75% saving-$$$. Gold rings. $15.00III Silver pendants. $3.00III Manufacturer# 776-5545.

SOUTH PADRE/ Spring Break '89—Nice rooms for a great pricel From $109 to $169 on the beach or minutes from it. Five or seven days. Don't spend all your money on a room, —you're never there anyway! (Limited space). Call 1-800-782-7653, ext

VIDEOTAPE YOUR wedding or other parties. $50 and up. Call now for quoterion. Budget Video Memories.

WANTED— 100 overweight people to try herbal weight control program. No drugs, no exercise. Doctor recommended. 100% guaranteed. 776-5114,

2 Apartments—Furnished

BEAUTIFUL THREE-BEDROOM furnished apartment. Large living room, dining room, kitchen on main floor at 1019 Bluemont. Fully carpeted with back porch. 537-0428 or 537-6841.

FURNISHED OR unfurnished, nice one-bedroom near campus. $260 includes all utilities. 537-4851 after

NICE LARGE one-bedroom apartment. Water, trash, three-fourths gas paid. Laundromat. Nice for graduate student or couple. $265. Daytime 537-3961, 539-2482 after 4p.m.

ONE-BEDROOM on Sunset. $260 plus gas and electric. Laundry facilities, no pets, please. 539-5051 or 776-3804.

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM on 17th Street available now. Two blocks to campus. Balcony, gas heat, laundry facilities. $310. 537-9020 or 776-3804.

LARGE TWO bedrooms, leases available now and next August. Furnished and unfurnished. Phone 537-9064 daily.

NICE ONE-BEDROOM in Lee/ Hunting area available now. Fireplace, dishwasher, laundry facilities, $340, 539-2103 or 776-3804.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM near City Park in 24-plex. All appliances, laundry facilities. $380. 537-8229 or 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT in City Park area, $235

ONE-BEDROOM, two balconles, new carpet, across from campus. $250. Available now

ONE FEMALE to fill four-bedroom house, block from campus, washer/ dryer. Rent $115. Call 776-3371, THREE-BEDROOM, WASHER/ Dryer. $525/ month, fenced yard, close to campus, fireplace, very nice. 776-1945 or 776-7430.

TWO-BEDROOM, MOST utilities paid, 539-6058 or

4 Automobiles for Sale

1973 DODGE Coronet, five new tires, good school car, $700. Call 537-8950 after 5p.m.

1974 MAVERICK, only $300, good interiors, engine, great for moving around. After 5:30p.m., 776-6277, Rick.

1975 FORD- LTD, V-8, two-door, automatic, air conditioning, new battery, timechain, breaker, water-pump, distributor. $750. 537-1012.

1977 T-BIRD, new tires, new paint, good engine.

1980 MAZDA GLC-good condition, $1,100. 539-0136

1980 MERCURY Bobcat. 98Km, four-speed, power brakes, new brakes, very dependable. $750. 776-8881. Keep calling.

1981 ESCORT, cracked head, 76,000 miles, $500.

1981 THUNDERBIRD V-8, two-door, air, AM/FM stereo. Good conditions, must sell. $1,600 or best, 537-3721. ATTENTION- GOVERNMENT seized vehicles from $100. Fords, Mercedes, Corvettes, Chevys. Surplus Buyers Guide. 1-602-838-8885 ext. A1797.

Child Care

ACTIVE BALANCED creative day environment. Full day care, preschool. 537-1202.

8 Computers

HEWLETT-PACKARD with MSDOS, Lotus 1,2,3 word processing internal modern, full plus HP printer. $800. 532-2026.

LINE PRINTER ribbons for sale- Black multistrike no. QM MS (41% dozen), $1.25 each. Black nylon no. QM NY (15), $2.25 each. Call 532-6555 or come by

MAC 512KE with double-sided drive. Comes with handy carrying case, software. $1,100 or best offer. 539-7338. MACINTOSH 512K computer and Imagewriter II printer, Macwrite, Macpaint, with manuals. Other software $1,250 or best offer. 776-6799.

TRS 80-III, two new drives, modern, Star printer, LeScript, games, free disks! $330 or best offer.

BY RICHARD BROADFOOT

BOY BECOMES MAN-PART 4 " THE DREAM?"

EVERY BOY HAS A DREAM ...

SOME BOYS DREAM BIG.

NOW, I'M SURE YOU CAN HANDLE THE RESPONSIBILITY OF HAVING SOMEONE UNDER YOU AND THAT YOU WON'T ABUSE IT ...

SOME BOYS DREAM SMALL SO REMEMER ... JUST BECAUSE YOU'RE NOT

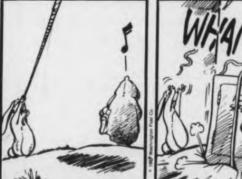

VERY FEW BOYS DREAM

By Berke Breathed

Bloom County

By Jim Davis

Peanuts

Garfield

9 Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to approach any such "employ-ment opportunity" with reasonable caution.

$10- $660 weekly/ up mailing circulars! Rush self-addressed stamped envelope: Dept. AN-7CC-CU, 9300 Wilshire, Suite 470, Beverly Hills, CA 90212.

$350 A Day! At Home! Process phone orders for our company. People call you. Nationwide. For details call (refundable) 1-518-459-8697 ext K925A.

ASSISTANT TRACK coach. Position begins Feb. 27, 1989 through May 27, 1989, Salary $1,476. Send letter or resume with qualifications by Jan. 27, 1989 to: USD 383, 2031 Poyntz, Manhattan, KS 66502. 537-2400, EOE.

ATTENTION— HIRINGI Government jobs— your area. $17,840- $69,485. Call 1-602-838-8885 ext R1797. COMPANIONS TO work with elderly needed 4- 7p.m

Monday- Friday complete an application by Jan. 24. Homecare, 2803 Claffin, EQE. GYMNASTIC COACHES needed. Preschool, noncompetitive, competitive and aerobics. Brand new facility. 539-2835 or 539-3613.

HOUSEKEEPER NEEDED: Live-in houseke campus. Room, board and salary, Call 1-239-4335 or 539-3210 after 6:30p.m. JEWELRY MANUFACTURER wants dealers, Sales-people. Successful moneymaking business. In-vestment? Commission? Guaranteed profits or money back!! 776-5545. LOCAL FINANCIAL institution seeking part-time teller 3- 6p.m. Monday through Friday, everyday Satur-day from '9a.m.- noon. If interested, call Sue

Carlson, 537-0200. LUNCHROOM PLAYGROUND supervisor. One and one-half to two hours per day, $4 per hour, 7:30-9a.m. and/ or 11a.m.- 1p.m. Apply USD 383, 2031 Poyntz, Manhattan, KS 66502, 537-2400, EOE. MCDONALD'S OF Westloop is looking for some enthusiastic dependable people who enjoy working with people. Part-time dayshift hours available between 5a.m.- 4p.m. with very flexible schedules. Starting salary $3.50/ hour with frequent raises available. Apply in person anytime, 1011 Westloop. NANNIES NEEDED. Families in New England area looking for responsible individuals to watch child-ren. Good pay and benefits. For spring placement, NATIONAL MARKETING firm seeks ambitious, mature student to manage on-campus promotions for top national companies this school year. Flexible hours with earnings potential to $2,500. Call Lisanne or Rebecca P. at 1-800-592-2121. NURSE/ TECHNICIAN wanted, Insurance Examiner in Manhattan area to complete reports including vital signs, redical history, and venipuncture. Write: Physical Data Service, P.O. Box 1444, Odessa, Texas 79760-1444, Attn: Chris Ortega Mgr.

PART-TIME SALES person needed to work weekends for local furniture store. Please send resumes to Box 3, c/o The Collegian, Kedzie 103, KSU, Manhattan, KS 66506.

PART-TIME LABORERS, ag background helpful. Apply in person, Nelson Poultry Farms, two and one-half miles east Highway 24. 776-9401.

RADIOLOGIC TECHNOLOGIST (A.R.R.T.) on-call position for weekends and occasional relief for nights. Our radiology department features diagnos-tic equipment for procedures including nuclear medicine, ultrasound, mammography, diagnostic radiology. The St. Mary Hospital. 776-1981, EOE.

RESIDENTIAL ADVISOR III: A private not- for- profit corporation providing services to persons with developmental disabilities has an opening for a Residential Advisor III in a women's group home. This full-time, live-in position includes a staff apartment with rent and utilities paid, 40 hours per week at $6.44 per hour, and a generous benefit package. Responsibilities include client supervision and programming, household maintenance, record keeping, and supervision of part-time staff; early morning and evening hours. Minimum qualifi-cations: two years college or high school diploma plus related experience. Two letters of reference equired upon hire. Applications accepted until Jan. 7, 1989, at Big Lakes Developmental Center, Inc., 1500 Hayes Drive, Manhattan, EOE,

SUMMER JOBSII Two of Minnesota's finest summer youth camps seek college students to work as counselors. Employment June- August. For an application and interview, call Jeff at 800-451-5270 ext 310. THE STATION under new ownership is now taking applications for bartender, waiter/ waitress, door and DJ help. Apply 1115 Moro, 1-5p.m. weekdays. TUTOR NEEDED for "watfor77" IE 372 computer and data processing class. Phone 776-3517 after

STUDENT PROGRAMMER/ Consultant, 15- 20 hours per week, to start as soon as possible, as a computer programmer/ consultant for faculty and idents, Programming, as well as microcomputer owledge, experience, and grade point average will be used as a selection criteria. Undergraduate with an employment potential of two years will be given preference. Equal Opportunity Employer. Contact Jacque Meisner, room 23, Cardwell by

PART-TIME SALES help— Retail shoes. Experience preferred. Send schedule, resume to: Box 2, o/o The Collegian, Kedzie 103, KSU, Manhattan, KS

Cancun Bahamas

Individual Plans A PORT Classio Travel & Tours

04 S. 4th

SCHOOL SOCIAL Worker paraprofessional, part-time Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday evening 7- 9p.m. at Ogden Elementary School. BS degree in social work required. Applications must be received by Jan. 27, 1989 to be considered. Apply to USD 383, 2031 Poyntz, Manhattan, KS 66502. 537-2400.

RESORT HOTELS, Cruiselines, airlines and amusement parks now accepting applications for spring and summer jobs, internships and career positions. For more information and an application, write: National Collegiate Recreation Service, P.O. Box 8074, Hilton Head, SC 29938.

SUB-N-STUFF SANDWICH Shop is accepting applica tions for delivery drivers, late night and lunch help. Apply in person, 1200 Moro, no phone calls please

SUMMER JOBS outdoors. Over 5,000 openings! Na-tional parks, forests, fire crews. Send stamp for free details. 113 E. Wyoming, Kalispell, MT 59901.

TUTORS NEEDED Call 532-6244

Volunteer tutors are needed for grades 1-12. If you enjoy helping children and adolescents, and would like a new friend, then we welcome you as a Friendship Tutor. Tutors are needed for a variety of subjects. For information call Mark White at 532-6244.

12 Houses/Mobile Homes for Rent

FREE GROCERIESI Rent two-bedroom mobile home, receive $50 groceries at Dillons Stores. Rent three-bedroomtrailer, get $75 groceries, 776-8552. Valid only until 2/10/89.

13 Houses/Mobile Homes for Sale

ATTENTION- GOVERNMENT homes from $1 (You repair). Delinquent tax property. Repossessions. Call (602)838-8885 ext GH1797. GOVERNMENT HOMES from $1. "You repair." Also, tax delinquent property. Call (805)644-9533 ext 263 for information. 14 Lost and Found

FOUND: MALE dachshund puppy, black and brown in the Shop Quik parking lot across from Goodnow Hall. Call 537-1096.

FOUND: PAIR of black leather gloves found in Denison Hall room 113-A. Claim at Union Lost and Found. LOST 1/19: Silver foil brooch, square knot shape. Reward. Call Susan, 539-3668 before 10p.m.

LOST: LIQUID silver/ turquoise necklace. Great p sonal value. Please call Cecille Benson, 537-4750 (work) or 539-8628 (home). Lost on campus LOST MY guitar at a car wash. Significant reward to you for it's return, 776-0765.

15 Miscellaneous Merchandise

1300 SQUARE feet used rust-colored carpet, $250.

BOOKSHELF, DESK chairs, student and office desk beds, couch, misc. furniture. 776-9705 REFRIGERATOR FOR sale. Nice for bar or bedroom.

NOW HAIRSTYLING Military Haircuts 110 N. 3rd 776-7808

Ladies Don't Forget Male Strippers Brother's Tonight Tuesday

SPRING BREAK '89

Jamaica Montego Bay 3399 Best in Mexico......5309 Grand Bahamas $259 Daytona Beach The Right Price $139

Cheapest Possible Rates

1982, 550 Yamaha Maxim. Good condition. New tires $700. 539-8218. 537-7546

PEUGEOT 10-SPEED, ladies' 26" bicycle, blue, excel-lent condition. $150 or best offer. 776-7260.

SPRING BREAK

17 Musical Instruments

Guitar Strings & Drum Sticks Buy one set, get second set for half price 327 Povntz

PEAVEY GUITAR with Kahler Tremelo and hardshell

CONGRATULATIONS TO the Pi Kappa Alpha basketball team on their championship victory in the SAE Basketball Tournament and many thanks to the SAEs who ran the tournament. —Men of Alpha Tau

19 Pets and Pet Supplies

BALL PYTHON. Very tame with custom built walnut

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180, 103 South Fourth St., Suite 25.

PROMPT ABORTION and contraceptive services in Lawrence. (913)841-5716.

SINGLE GARAGES near Aggieville. $25 per month.

SUBLEASE AVAILABLE. January- May. Two-bedroom furnished apartment, second floor near Aggieville $300 plus electricity, about $10 monthly. 539-8881.

22 Resume/Typing Services

TERM PAPERS, cover letters, resumes, theses and dissertations entered, stored and completed to your

Always hire a resumes for your profession. Typeset & laserprinted. Graphics Plus corner of Bluemont & Manhattan Aggieville 539-6027 apartment. Own room, close to campus. Februa rent free. No deposit required. Call 539-1203. FEMALE TO share two-bedroom apartment, $140. Private bedroom, on McCain Lane. Call Julie

23 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE TO share house close to campus, furnished. $162.50/ month plus deposit. Share utilities. Call Renee at 539-8695.

wood floors and bannister, Beautiful. 776-0553/ 1-492-3166. ROOMMATE TO share house, own room, washer/evenings. ROOMMATE WANTED: To share basement apartm Close to campus. Water, gas and trash paid. $120/ month. Call Debbie. 776-1784.

ROOMMATE WANTED to share three-bedroom ho month, pets ok. 537-8550.

to campus. Own room, no deposit required. 537-8560.

WANTED: FEMALE roommate, $130, 539-1132.

WANTED: ONE or two roommates to share large house. Own room. Central heat and air. Fireplace, color TV, VCR, microwave, furnished except for bedroom. Deck with large backyard. Driveway parking, available. Call 776-0765.

24 Situation Wanted

a free estimate, call after 6p.m. ask for Chris. 539-8036. GYMNASTICS, SPECIAL preschooler classes now

Crossword

38 Capital of Taiwan ACROSS 2 Indian

49 Grape

53 Lovers

1 Composer Nino 5 Robot drama 8 Weirs

12 Harrow's rival 13 Ending for ration 14 Month after Av 15 Abandons

National Park 18 Sue -Langdon 19 Easily offended 21 Friendship 24 Very old

17 - Verde

25 Theater in a way Robert

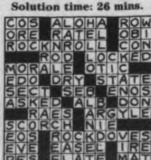

3 Craggy 41 Guevara hill 42 Split 4 Having 43 Suitable for a law 5 Garden court tool 48 Jewish 6 Ending month for mod

50 Mexican 7 Renovates 8 Shy 51 Gives a bad retiring 9 One review 52 Fall 10 Command behind

DOWN 11 Kill, as I Ump's. a dragon cousin

to the dog

Yesterday's answer 1-24 47 Army bed

16 "- Which Way You Can" 20 Louts 21 Arabic letter 22 Mr. fictional sleuth 23 Musical prince

24 Hebrew prophet 26 Imaginary 27 Road to 28 O'Hara plantation 29 Degree 31 (panacea) 34 Candles

35 Perfumes 37 "Ain't Sweet?" 38 Snare 39 Verdi heroine 40 Cruel czar

41 Rugged 44 Eggs, to Cicero 45 Weaken 46 River in Brazil

Hayes House of Music

18 Personals

ADPI MEG— The following living groups would like to wish you the happiest of semesters: ATO, Delts, TKE, Betas, Farmers, Sig Eps, Haymaker 3 and especially TX. All the besti Love, Mr. P.

cage. Call Micah or Lance 532-3483

20 Professional Services

DISSERTATIONS, THESES, term papers, mail merg-ing, labels, text scanning, Laser printing, Call 537-4146.

21 Rentals

evenings.

specifications. Come see us. Ross Secretarial Services, 614 N. 12th (across from Kite's) 539-5147.

professional! We design

539-1486, anvilime.

FEMALE. OWN room, two blocks from campus. FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted- own roomblocks from campus. Will come down on pricel Call 537-7269.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to share three-bedroom

ROOMMATE WANTED for two-story house with hard-dryer, $147/ month. 537-6832 early mornings. Late non-smoker, five minutes from campus. $160/ ROOMMATE NEEDED to share a very nice house close two blocks from campus. Low rent, one-sixth utilities. Call anytime 539-1308.

SHARE A house. Own room plus use of kitchen, living area and all utilities. $95 a month for rent. Call 539-0356 to inquire.

FIST HOLE Repair Co. We fix party damaged walls. For

By Eugene Sheffer

CRYPTOQUIP

GVYHPKJ BYBBWAWWD CGKAWI DEVGKXW CPAT KE HADPKJH

GAAGXTWI Yesterday's Cryptoquip: LOCAL DRIVE-IN RESTAURANT PUBLICLY ADVERTISED: "CURB YOUR APPETITE."

Today's Cryptoquip clue: V equals M

Quake

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 Residents of another village, Okuli-Poyen, apparently roused in time, fled in panic before the mudslide, which traveled 11/4 to 11/4 miles, could reach their homes, Kasimov said from Dushanbe.

Officials and Soviet media said the devastation was vast and total in places.

In Sharora, "cries and wails can be heard everwhere," Tass reported. "Some are bemoaning and burying their near and dear ones, while others are trying to find the few survivors between the thick layer of sand and clay."

It said all of the village's streets had been buried under the 50-foothigh layer of earth that the earthquake detached from a hill near the

The TV news program "Vremya" showed aerial footage of Sharora, with white roofs of buried homes peeking through the dirt like seashells scattered on a beach.

Kasimov said that according to preliminary figures, the quake and landslide destroyed about 100 buildings, including five schools and a maternity hospital near the epicenter.

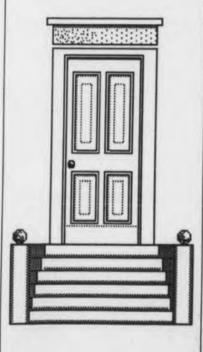

There was no exact count available for the population of the stricken villages. But the official at the Dushanbe seismic center said families are traditionally large in the mostly Moslem republic, and that one dwelling often houses eight to 10 people.

A Man's Gotta Do Wbat A Man's Gotta Do

All young men have one responsibility in common. They have to register with Selective Service within 30 days of their 18th birthday. It's quick. It's easy. And it's the law.

Open the door to your future...

Gain practical experience in both marketing and advertising while earning 3 credit hours. The curriculum includes selling and designing Collegian ads for local retail clients as well as creating marketing plans. This invaluable on-the-job training will open doors to future occupational prospects.

For more information contact Gloria B. Freeland at 532-6555 or stop by Student Publications in Kedzie 103.

Student

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 may schedule another performance in mid-March.

SHPE is helping to organize the performances and is raising funds among its members, said Gerardo Cosme, SHPE member and a senior in electrical engineering.

Freddie Martinez, an Army ROTC cadet and a senior in electrical engineering, said he will ask for donations from other cadets.

Maria Soler, a member of PRSO and senior in animal sciences, said she is gathering donations from PRSO members.

Although Lugaro wasn't one of the more active members of the organization, "she was always willing to help," Soler said.

Debora Alfaro, a senior in preveterinary medicine, grew up with Lugaro in Puerto Rico. They have been roommates since Lugaro transferred to K-State from Ohio State University her freshman year.

Alfaro said she is confident Lugaro will beat the disease.

Abortion

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 Supreme Court, with Reagan appointee Anthony M. Kennedy on board, may use a case from Missouri to review the legal doctrines governing abortion and reverse the decision legalizing abortion. Kennedy's views on abortion are not known.

Attorney General Dick Thornburgh said Sunday he hopes the court will use the Missouri case to overturn Roe vs. Wade.

The noontime rally and march to Capitol Hill have become an annual affair. Crowds at past commemorations on the Ellipse have ranged from 5,000 in a heavy snowstorm to 100,000 or more.

Police reported no violence Monday, but said about 75 anti-abortion protesters were arrested for blocking access to a Washington doctors' office where abortions are performed.

After the rally, protesters marched from the Ellipse to Capitol Hill. Some met with members of Congress, others gathered at the Supreme Court to chant "pro-life, pro-life, pro-life."

Advocates of the right to abortion attacked Bush's comments and warned about the consequences of restricting women's rights to abortion.

"Make no mistake about it: President Bush wants to drag American women back to a time when they risked mutilation, humiliation and even death in order to take the most basic control of their own lives," said Kate Michelman, executive director of the National Abortion Rights Action League.

Douglas Gould of the Planned Parenthood Federation of America said Bush appeared to be playing down the abortion issue, noting that the president sent Quayle to meet with the protest leaders instead of meeting with them himself.

"For George Bush to succeed in the future, he has to mute the controversy over this issue," Gould said. "He is pushing tolerance."

City

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 would also be important in his campaign, he said.

In a published release, Seidler said he "would like to be involved in planning the future of this city. ... Stanley Crowder, an employee of University Inn, has also filed for the office, but was unavailable for Commissioner Richard Hayter said he believes the main campaign issues will consist of Manhattan airport improvements, street development, the Bluemont Consortium, taxes, public transportation and social services.

These are only a few of the issues Hayter said he believes will be discussed throughout the campaign. The commissioners will emphasize certain issues, but he said it would be difficult to predict which issues will take precedent.

The general election date is scheduled for April 4. If seven or more candidates file before today's noon deadline, a primary will be held Feb.

28. Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7

Candidates must pay a $10 filing fee or can waive the fee by having 50 signatures on a petition supporting them as candidates. Of the three positions open on City Commission, one person will fill a two-year term and the other two will fill four-year terms, depending on the number of votes they receive. Anyone who is registered to vote in Manhattan, lives within the city limits or resides within the precinct can vote. Voting registration will close one week prior to election. Trisha Fraser Champlin, election coordinator for Riley County, said after the county receives the names of the candidates, they are published under legal notices.

Read the Entertainment Section in the Collegian every Friday.

taste! We have a

a new

new menu and a whole new taste!

a new taste . a new taste . a new taste . a new taste

Bring this coupon in to receive 10% off your dinner entree. expires January 31, 1989

University Inn • 17th & Anderson Ave. Valid Mon.-Thurs. Not valid with any other offer.

TONIGHT Pool tournament at 8 p.m. $1 Bottles—$1 Tonics

1800 Claflin

776-4111

WHAT IS PAC-CATS? PAC-CATS is a Welliness Program for R. Staters. The goal of the pure same to to there are students awareness of their years like style, choices and to so and their re-WHAT IS WELLNESS?

on file, is port of wellness. Wellness involves finding and maintaining a balance within and between each dimension of our lives; the physical, emotional, intellectual, occupational, spiritual, and social,

WHAT DOES A WELLNESS PROGRAM OFFER?

The PACCATS Program is unique in that it combines welfaces with behavioral contracting and peer assistants. The mean component of the program include (T) assessment, 25 and setting and with a fine news the Personal Achievament Contract (PAC). If an arms according to

It you would like to participate in the PAC-CAIS Program, call 532-6927 or stop by Lafene room 26,

45 Years Serving America's Children

Enjoy smooth, creamy Frozen Yogurt that tastes like Ice Cream but with 80% less fat! -- FREE SAMPLES--

I Can't Believe It's YOGURT! GREAT TASTE-NATURALLY

OPEN: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Daily Noon-11 p.m. Sundays Nautilus Towers-Aggieville

Buy, Sell or Trade in Collegian Classifieds

YOU BET!!

LEARN HOW WITH THE K-STATE PARACHUTE CLUB

Want to make a parachute jump but don't know where to start?

To learn more, come to our info meeting; Tuesday, Jan. 24 at 7 p.m., Union Forum Hall or call 537-4195

What do you think?

You, the readers of the Collegian are important to us, so in an effort to better serve you in future issues, we would like to hear your ideas. Tell us what you like about the Collegian, but also give us some constructive criticism to help us improve campus news coverage. Please fill out the following questionnaire, then bring it to the Collegian newsroom in Kedzie 116, or mail it to the Collegian, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506.

GENERAL INFORMATION

1. Classification (circle one): Fr So Jr Sr Gr Fac Staff Other

2. Male Female 3. How often do you read the Collegian?

5 4 3 2 1 0 days a week 4. What do you read first?

Campus Bulletin Classifieds Cartoons Crossword Puzzle Editorial Page Front Page Other_

5. What is your main source for news on a daily basis? Collegian Radio Television Other Newspaper(s)_

SPORTS

How would you grade Collegian sports coverage? ABCDF What areas are lacking in sports coverage?_

Do you find the box scores helpful? Yes □ No □ 4. Would you like to see more coverage of minor sports, club sports, and intramurals? Yes □ No □ Comments

EDITORIAL PAGE

1. How would you grade the Collegian's Editorial Page? ABCDF 2. Do you feel the Letters to the Editor gives readers an adequate outlet for their opinions? Yes □ No □ 3. Do Collegian columnists provide a balance of liberal and conservative views? Yes □ No □ 4. Comments_

ADVERTISING

1. How would you grade Collegian advertising? ABCDF

and explain why you find them offensive.

2. Do you read the ads? Yes □ No □ 3. Do you clip and use the coupon ads? Yes □ No □ 4. Have there been any ads in the Collegian you've found offensive? Yes □ No □. If yes, please describe

5. Comments

NEWS CONTENT

Comments

1. How would you rate the overall quality of writing and reporting in the Collegian?

ABCDF 2. How would you rate the overall quality of copy editing in the Collegian?

ABCDF

Sports 3. Have you ever been interviewed for a Collegian article? Yes □ No □ 4. If yes, were you accurately quoted? Yes □ No □ Was your major or job title correct? Yes □ No □

5. What is your department or major:

6. Are you involved in any activity (club, sport, research. etc.) that should be covered more thoroughly? Please list. Any story ideas?_

7. Do you feel your department receives adequate coverage in the Collegian? Yes

No

8. What activities or interesting people in your department would make interesting Collegian articles?_

PHOTOGRAPHY/GRAPHICS AND DESIGN

1. How would grade Collegian photography? ABCDF

2. Are cutlines under photographs accurate and complete? Yes \(\text{No} \(\text{O} \)

3. If you have been pictured in the Collegian, were you correctly identified? Yes □ No □ 4. Do you find charts and graphs to be helpful when reading a story? Yes □ No □ 5. Would you like to see more charts and graphs in the Collegian? Yes

No 6. Comments.

7. Do you find the Collegian's type size and style easy to read? Yes □ No □

THANK YOU

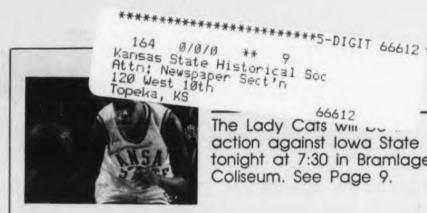

Population Studies

Donald Adamchak, associate professor of sociology, has lived in Africa gathering information on population. See Page 5.

Weather

Mostly cloudy today with a 50 percent chance for light rain or drizzle, high around 40. Wind 5 to 15 mph.

The Lady Cats will be action against Iowa State tonight at 7:30 in Bramlage Coliseum. See Page 9.

Wednesday

January 25, 1989

Kansas State University Manhattan, Kansas 66506 Volume 95, Number 85

Kansas State Collegian

Catchin' air

Staff/Steve Wolgast

Todd Jaenicke, Fort Riley, rides his motorcycle through the air Tuesday afternoon at the spillway area of the Tuttle Creek Reservoir. Jaenicke and his friends spent the afternoon taking turns riding.

Colleges to join efforts

Architectural credits to transfer

By Audra Dietz

University officials are expected to sign an agreement today that will allow students to take their first two years of architectural course work at the University of Missouri at Kansas City, then transfer to K-State to complete their five-year degree.

The program, to be announced by President Jon Wefald and UMKC Chancellor George Russell this morning, will join the College of Architecture and Design and UMKC's Department of Art and Art

All of the courses from UMKC's pre-design and architecture program will transfer to K-State so students will not lose any credit hours, said Dean of the College of Architecture and Design Mark Lapping.

The curriculum at UMKC includes composition, physics, art, drawing, graphics, basic design, theory and history of architecture," allow K-Staters to specialize in urban enroll in the program. design and transfer to UMKC for their last year.

Kansas City is an excellent environment for students who want to work with urban architecture, Lapping said. "For a student who did not come from a metropolitan area, it's very hard to study urban design in Manhattan," he said.

Wefald said the program will benefit the universities and the citizens of Kansas and Missouri.

"This program lets students who can't attend K-State their first two years, make progress toward their degree," Lapping said.

A pilot program, which started in September, was successful for both universities, he said.

"Today's announcement of the agreement just makes it official," Lapping said.

UMKC will not charge out-of-Another part of the agreement will state tuition to Kansas residents who "Legally, UMKC has the right to charge out-of-state tuition, but they are not going to - and that's unusual," he said.

Because tuition costs will be lower, Kansas and Missouri taxpayers get maximum benefits from their investment in higher education, Russell said in a statement released Tuesday.

To accommodate the added number of students who will be at UMKC, the university increased its office space and added design studios. Plans have also been made to hire additional faculty members.

Assistant professor of architecture Ray Streeter has been transferred to UMKC's faculty to teach urban design within the fifth year program. However, K-State does not plan on having to hire any faculty members due to the agreement, Lapping said.

$500,000 loss projected by athletic department

Campus Editor

Despite the athletic department's budget of $6.5 million for fiscal year 1988-89, the department is expected to lose about $500,000 for the year, said Steve Miller, athletic director.

"In athletics you're in a very volatile business atmosphere," Miller said. "You can project, but it's very difficult to adequately predict what's going to happen during the year.

"We always conservatively project income and always project expenditures very, very aggressively so that the two will obviously meet and that's a critical issue," he said. "You don't project an 0-11 (football)

A loss of $700,000 on football gate that we wanted to make, we were receipt projections for the 1988 season will be lowered to a net loss of $442,000 because of guaranteed fees from other programs. Miller said this will total the largest portion of the athletic program's loss.

An unforeseen cost for the athletic department was the resignation of former coach Stan Parrish, he said.

"I did not see fit to simply cut all of the (football staff's) salaries off," Miller said. "So I negotiated with that football staff and gave them a couple of months extension allowing them to look for jobs."

The changing of football staffs cost at least $361,000, Miller said. "In order to make the leap forward going to have to pay higher salaries and spend more money," he said. Moving the staff's offices from Ahearn Field House to Bramlage Coliseum cost the athletic department almost $20,000, Miller said. Furniture and other furnishings added another $100,000.

"(The new offices) didn't include any of the things we needed to have not to be extravagant - simply to conduct business," he said.

An unbudgeted addition Miller made to the program was the purchase of computers to store the department's records.

■ See LOSS, Page 12

Death penalty debated in legislature

Opposition presents case to Senate committee

By Karen Allen Staff Writer

Opponents to a death penalty bill introduced in the Kansas Senate last week will present their case today in testimony before the Senate Federal and State Affairs Committee at the Capitol in Topeka.

The bill provides the death penalty as a possible punishment for premeditated murder, killings committed while engaging in drug trafficking and murder of any criminal justice officer, including correctional, probation and parole officers. Felony murder, a murder that occurs while a felony is being committed, is excluded from the proposal. This is the first time in two years the Senate has considered a death penalty bill. Law enforcement officials and relatives of murder victims appeared before the committee Tuesday to urge lawmakers to reinstate the death penalty.

Attorney General Robert Stephan presented graphic descriptions in which capital punishment could be imposed under the proposed bill and cited three authentic cases where the murderers could have been executed.

"Although it is with difficulty that I describe in real terms when the death penalty could be imposed, I feel I must do so in order to remove this issue from an academic exercise to the real world in which it belongs," Stephan told the committee.

Stephan cited the case of David Andrews in Miami County, who stabbed his wife 15 times and killed his two stepdaughters in front of his

He also pointed out the May 1978 execution-style shooting of Kansas Highway Patrol Trooper Conroy O'Brien by three men on the Kansas Tumpike near Matfield Green.

In another case, Sedgwick County sheriff's detective Terry McNett was shot while serving a search warrant at a Wichita home last February.

These real-life human beings did not have the same opportunities afforded to their murderers," Stephan said. "They were executed in a cruel and unusual manner, probably to the glee and delight of their executioners. It is for them that I ask the Kansas Legislature to allow the system of justice to run full cycle." In comments before the committee, Michael Solaberry, Roeland Park, told of his feelings when his daughter was stabbed to death by an intruder in the home.

Solaberry said, at the time, his 3-year-old granddaughter saw her mother's "butchered body for many hours in the apartment after the mur-

"Only people who have been affected know the feeling - the pain deep in their hearts," he said.

Paul Heitzman, a high school teacher from Eudora, told the committee of the October 1986 murders of his daughter, Patty, and two others who were shot during the robbery of a clothing store in Kansas City, Mo. Heitzman said the crime of murder extends far beyond the victim who is

Proponent Emil Tonkovich, a professor at the University of Kansas Law School, told the committee a death penalty would give prosecutors "a tremendous bargaining chip" in imposing life sentences. David Kingsley, an assistant in K-State's special services office, spoke against the 1987 death penalty bill which passed the House, but failed to pass the Senate. Kingsley spoke on behalf of the local branch of the Rainbow Coalition, a national political action organization started by the Rev. Jesse Jackson.

Because Kingsley said he felt so strongly on the issue of capital punishment, which he described as "barbaric, backward and abominable," he is once again organizing the coalition to lobby against the bill. He said the opponents of the bill are aided because the issue was debated just two years ago.

The 1987 bill provided for the death penalty or imprisonment for life for the crime of murder in the first degree.

"It is so nice to be one of the few states that defeated a death penalty bill in the past few years," he said.

As of Dec. 31, 1987, 37 states had reinstated the death penalty since the 1976 U.S. Supreme Court declaring it constitutional, said a spokesman at the U.S. Bureau of Justice Statistics. That decision overturned a 1972 Supreme Court ruling that the penalty was unconstitutional because it was cruel and unusual punishment.

Kansas has not executed anyone since 1965 and has not had a death penalty law on the books since 1973.

But changes have been made in the Senate and in the state of Kansas since the last effort to pass the death penalty was made in 1987. Three staunch opponents of the issue -Joseph Norvell, D-Hays; Robert Frey, R-Liberal; and Richard Gannon, D-Goodland - were either defeated or retired during the 1988

Because of revenues from the income tax windfall and the lottery, ■ See PENALTY, Page 8

Cabinet positions set

By Kendra Gensemer Government Editor

Student Body President Laurian Cuffy' announced the ppointment of his Cabinet Tuesday evening in the Student Governing Services office.

The members, scheduled for approval next week by the Stu-dent Affairs and Social Services committee and then Student Senate, will comprise a 12-member body with the responsibility of assisting Cuffy with his duties as president.

Before releasing the names,
Cuffy said he did not rush the application and interview process cause he was trying to maintain his campaign theme of "unity and growth."
"I wanted to make sure the cabinet was a reflection of the student body," he said.

The cabinet positions filled were chief of staff, executive dvisor, two executive assistants, inority affairs director, international affairs director, state and community affairs director, college council coordinator, public relations director, special projects coordinator, attorney general and one other to be named later.

Ira Bolden, junior in electrical engineering and acting chief of staff, said the cabinet is "a mix of individuals, as far as different living arrangements, personalities, cultures and varying degrees of experience with student government."

Bolden was selected as chief of staff because of his experience as a Senate intern, student senator and personnel selections coordinator, and his ability to work well with Cuffy, said Chris Kern, chairman of the cabinet interview committee and senior in landscape architecture. The chief of staff oversees the cabinet and assumes the responsibilities of president in Cuffy's absence.

Cuffy appointed Mary Jo Lampe, senior in business management, as executive adviser because of her knowledge of the inner workings of student government, Bolden said.

"Basically I'm there for reference and knowlege," Lampe said. Haitham Hani Arafat, senior in industrial engineering, and Shan-nah Urbauer, freshman in political science, were selected as executive assistants. The two will work with Bolden and Lampe, attend meetings when Cuffy is unable to and help organize special projects. Bolden said Arafat was appointed because of his experience with student government at Iowa State University and his Lampe agreed with Bolden's assessment, "The first thing (Arafat) did when he got to K-State See CABINET, Page 12

Japanese minister resigns

TOKYO - Japan's Economic Planning Agency chief resigned Tuesday, becoming the third Cabinet minister in less than two months to fall victim to a major stock-trading scandal.

Ken Harada stepped down after news reports said he had received regular political donations from Recruit Co., the company at the center of the stock scandal.

Harada's resignation was a serious blow to Prime Minister Noboru Takeshita, who had reshuffled his Cabinet on Dec. 27 with a pledge to restore public trust in political ethics. The Japan Socialist Party, the largest opposition group, quickly called for Takeshita and the rest of the Cabinet to resign. Opposition criticism of the administration also was expected to delay parliamentary debate in coming weeks over the fiscal 1989 budget.

Harada, 69, had chaired a special parliamentary committee examining the stock-trading scandal until he was made the country's chief economic planner in the Cabinet reshuffle.

Harada submitted his resignation shortly after the Cabinet met to approve the budget. Takeshita named Koichiro Aino, 60, a six-term member of parliament and former vice foreign minister, to succeed him.

Harada is the second member of the new Cabinet to resign because of links to the stock scandal. A member of the previous Cabinet, Finance Minister Kiichi Miyazawa, also stepped down in early December.

... Around the nation

Miami police officer charged

MIAMI - Manslaughter charges against the officer whose shooting of a motorcyclist touched off last week's racial violence will not calm the black community, leaders and residents

Meanwhile, defenders of Officer William Lozano criticized the charges, saying they were rushed without judicial review because of racial tensions.

Lozano, 29, was free on $10,000 bond after turning himself in Monday at the Dade County Jail to face two counts of manslaughter in the deaths of Clement Lloyd, 23, and Allan

Police said Lozano shot Lloyd in the head, killing him and causing the motorcycle to crash into a car, fatally injuring Blanchard, his passenger. A parallel federal civil rights investigation into the killings was continuing Tuesday, U.S. Attorney Dexter Lehtinen said, but had not reached any conclusions.

The state manslaughter charges did not sit well with many in Overtown, which erupted into three days of riots after the Jan.

"They've only done that to keep the community quiet," said Lloyd's father Lee Lloyd. "But I don't think they are going to keep the community quiet - that's not enough.

Michael Wright, who manages an Overtown laundry, said he was bitter about the charges and the bail.

"As long as they shoot us, they get manslaughter," said Wright. "If we shoot one of them, it's first-degree murder, or if we shoot a Cuban or a white, it's first-degree murder."

... Around the region

Jazz drummer Lovett dies

LEAVENWORTH - Samuel "Baby" Lovett, a drummer who played with some of the legendary jazz artists, including Count Basie and Charlie Parker, died Monday at a Leavenworth hospital. He was 94.

Lovett was best known as Baby. His career moved from the nightclubs where Kansas City's jazz roots began in the 1920s, to a stint with Count Basie's band in 1949. He performed that year in Washington for President Harry S. Truman.

He played with vocalist Julia Lee's group in Kansas City and California from 1943 to 1958, and recorded on Capitol Records with the group.

Lovett also had played with jazz giants Joshua Johnson, Bennie Moten, and Jack Johnson.

He was born in Pineville, La. At 13, he got a set of drums and began playing with local groups. He moved to Shreveport, La., at age 18, then to New Orleans and to Kansas City in about 1922.

KU drive raises $100 million

LAWRENCE - A University of Kansas fund-raising drive has surpassed $100 million in pledges, two-thirds of the way to its five-year goal, officials announced Tuesday.

Campaign Kansas has taken in more than $23 million since it was announced in May. Donors had quietly pledged $76.4 million before the official kickoff.

Jordan Haines, national campaign chairman, said he was pleased the drive passed the $100 million mark, but added that we still have a long way to go to put this drive over our goal."

"The university has many serious needs and generous private financial support is critical if we are to help make KU one of the nation's premier state universities," said Haines, chairman of Fourth Financial Corp., Wichita.

The drive was helped by nine recent large gifts, two of them for $1 million. Southwestern Bell Foundation gave $1 million for professorships in business and engineering, and Charles and Mary Jane Spahr of Cleveland gave $1 million to expand the engineering library.

Man arrested for murder of 6

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - A neighbor of six people who died in a house fire last week has been arrested and charged with six counts of second-degree murder, becoming the fourth man charged in the case, police said.

Danny Hyler, 22, who lived across the street from the victims, was questioned and arrested over the weekend about the deaths but was released Sunday. He was rearrested and charged Monday.

He and three other men were being held in lieu of $1 million bail each.

A suspected drug dealer who had been arrested following a disturbance Thursday night paid two men $75 each to start the house fire early Friday, police said. Officers would not say which of the men made the alleged payment.

Six other people who were in the house in midtown Kansas City escaped, but two were injured.

Campus Bulletin

OWLS will meet at 11:30 a.m. in Union Stateroom 3.

KSU HORSEMAN'S ASSOCIATION will meet at 7 p.m. in Weber 146. ALPHA MU ALPHA will meet at 4 p.m. in MARKETING CLUB will meet at 5 p.m. in Calvin 108.

PAC-CATS will meet at 11 a.m. in the ROCK CLIMBING CLUB will meet at 7

K-State Police

Monday

- A student parking permit was reported stolen in an unknown vicinity.
- A white Volkswagen Rabbit was reported disabled in lot B-1 and later moved.

Tuesday

- A student parking permit was reported lost on campus.
- A student parking permit was reported lost in an unknown vicinity.
- A wheel lock was placed on a brown Renault in lot A-18 and later removed.
- A fire alarm was set off at Cardwell Hall due to a short circuit in the wiring of the building.
- A two-vehicle, non-injury accident that occured in lot C-1 on Sunday was reported.
- A vehicle on lot B-2 was damaged at an estimated cost of
- A tuba valued at $2,500 was stolen from McCain Auditorium.

Campus Briefly

Art department head named

Gary Woodward, associate professor of art, has been named head of K-State's art department.

"Money is tight in the department and has been for a while," Woodward said. "Right now, the department is maintaining its level, but I'm looking for things to improve in terms of support."

Woodward replaces Charles Stroh, profesor of art, who came to K-State to head the department in 1980. Stroh will continue to teach in the department.

Stroh said he is eager to get back into teaching and continuing with creative research.

Woodward received his bachelor of arts degree from the University of Northern Colorado in 1961. In 1964 he went on to earn his master's degree in painting from the University of Iowa and in 1969 earned a master of fine arts degree from the University of Washington at Seattle.

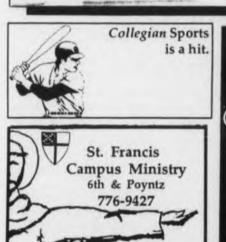

Bookstore check-in halted

When the rush of students buying books at the K-State Union Bookstore went away, so did the backpack check-in tables.

The tables were used as a way to improve security of the bookstore during the two-week rush of buying books, said Jack Connaughton, assistant director of the Union.

In addition to the tables, the Union Bookstore has always had the coin-operated lockers for backpack storage. The lockers cost a quarter, which is returned when the key to the locker is replaced, he said.

"If we didn't have the lockers, we would have to look into having check-in tables throughout the year, but the lockers aren't full all of the time, so we have removed the tables once the rush is over," Connaughton said.

STUDENTS AND FACULTY FOOD & FELLOWSHIP FOLLOWING SERVICE SUN. 5:30 P.M. SUN. A.M. Services 8 & 10:30 6th & Poyntz 776-9427

M ATTENTION STUDENTS Semester

Memberships

Tan Cards Available

776-1750 3236 Kimball Candlewood

Come Ride With Us!

Flowers For A Friend

- Purchase carnations in advance for your Valentine!
- •Bluemont Hall Foyer

January 25 & 26, 8 a.m.-3 p.m. January 27, 8 a.m.-Noon

Sponsored by KAPPA DELTA PI Education Honor Society

Give your tastebuds a new

We have a new menu and a whole new taste!

Bring this coupon in to receive 10% off your dinner entree. expires January 31, 1989

University Inn • 17th & Anderson Ave. Valid Mon.-Thurs. Not valid with any other offer.

It's A Sidewalk Sale at SPORTS PAGE *

Thursday, Jan. 26-Sunday, Jan. 29 Selected tennis rackets 25% OFF Nike warm-ups 25% OFF Adidas clothing 30% OFF Selected NCAA, NBA, NFL and MLB clothing up to 50% OFF $4.99 clothing rack

Sale Nike Sky Force 32.99 54.99 69.99 41.99 Avia 860 Air Trainer TW 74.99 59.99 Nike Air Play 69.99 48.99 Avia 470 Aerobic 20% OFF Over 50 styles on SALE Save up to 50%

I Too Am America

A One-Man Show About The Black American Experience

SATURDAY, JANUARY 28, 1989 K-State Union - Little Theatre 7:30 pm

sponsored by Southwestern Bell and Black Student Union

Bundy executed Tuesday

By The Associated Press

STARKE, Fla. - Ted Bundy, a law school dropout who ended years of denials that he was a killer with emotional confes sions to the gruesome slayings of 20 women in our states, was electrocuted Tuesday for murdering a 12-year-old

Bundy's last words, before a black-hooded executioner pulled a switch at 7:06 a.m. sending 2,000 volts through his body, were to his lawyer and a minister: "Give my love to my family and friends."

More than 100 proponents of the death penalty waiting in a field across from the Florida State Prison cheered, lit sparklers and set off firecrackers at the signal that 42-year-old Theodore Robert Bundy had finally been put to death for a crime committed almost 11 years ago. Three earlier execution dates had been stymied by appeals.

"Burn, Bundy, burn!" some embers of the crowd shouted. A group of about a dozen people par-odied an old tune by singing "On top of old Sparky" — a reference to the nickname for Florida's threelegged, oak electric chair.

About two dozen people opposed to the death penalty kept a vigil in the field.

"The people of Florida today administered justice," Gov. Bob Martinez said 1% hours after the execution. "If there's ever been anyone on Florida's death row that deserved the electric chair, Ted Bundy was that individual."

Bundy had been quick-witted, known for his cockiness. He was the subject of five books and a television miniseries, "The Deliberate

But he recently claimed to "feel God's presence," and was repor-tedly remorseful about his bloody trail of kidnappings, sadistic sexual mutilations and slayings in Washington, Utah, Colorado, Ida-

His execution, for the murder of sixth-grader Kimberly Diane Leach of Lake City, made him the 20th man put to death in Florida and the 106th in the United States since the U.S. Supreme Court allowed states to reinstate the death penalty in 1976. Kimberly was kidnapped from the grounds of her junior high school Feb. 9-1978, just three weeks after the killings of two women at Chi Omega sorority at Florida State University. The child's body was found three months later in an abandoned pigsty. Bundy was also under a death sentence for the two Chi Omega

Almost to the end he had insisted he was innocent, although he had been suspected of as many as 36 killings and disappearances. However, late last week he began talking to investigators from the four Western states, closing the books on 20 unsolved crimes.

Student Senate allocations help Childcare Cooperative

By Deborah Dinges Collegian Reporter

Concern for the state of salaries at the K-State Child Development Center prompted Faculty Senate members last semester to ask University President Jon Wefald to appoint a task force to look into child care at K-State, said Cornelia Flora, professor of sociology, anthropology and social work and Faculty Senate

Appointed in September, the members of the committee have been visiting similar child-care facilities at schools such as Wichita State University, the University of Kansas and Emporia State University, she said. They have also consulted representatives from off-campus child care

Flora said she believes this is an efficiency issue.

"Salaries at the center are terrible,"

Almost a year ago the K-State Child Development Center, formerly the KSU Childcare Cooperative, was engaged in debate over Student Senate funding for the facility.

Senate allocated 32,000 from its Contingencies for Reserve account in August 1988, which has been used for childships. The childships subsidize students who can't afford to pay for their children's care, said Mary Jo Lampe, executive adviser to Student Body President Laurian

The childships are restricted to parents who are students and demonstrate financial need.

Faculty Senate is concerned the low wages of the center's workers affect the quality and availability of child care for students, faculty and staff, Flora said.

"People work better when they know their kids are taken care of, and a large portion of (the University's) workers are parents," she said.

Bill Brown, senior in education, and Susan Brown, sophomore in education, have two children, Kelsie and Phillip, who are receiving childships for the 1988-89 school year.

Susan Brown said the childships pick up the difference between Department of Social Rehabilitation Services assistance payments and what the center charges. Kelsie and Phillip have been attending the center since August 1987. Prior to that time, they spent their days with babysitters.

Susan Brown said not knowing where to keep the children was the hardest thing to deal with when the family came to Manhattan. She said the children learn more at the center than they would with a babysitter.

The center rates are expensive and the "childships save at least a couple hundred a month," she said.

Nancy Bolsen, director of the center, said that when the center increased its prices June 1, many parents who used the center and demonstrated financial need were left without child care until Aug. 22, when the childships went into effect.

The center increased its prices on the basis of suggestions from a committee chaired by Charles Reagan, assistant to President Wefald, and assisted by Robert S. Krause, vice president for institutional advancement. The committee was formed to look into the possible restructuring of the center.

When the childships went into effect, 61 children received aid. Of these, 21 were new to the center. This semester, four additional students have received childships, three of which were already enrolled in the

The center is expecting about $51,100 in the 1989-90 school year from the Educational Opportunity Fund allocations which will be used for childships also.

Bolsen said the center has no alternative plans at this time if future EOF funding does not pass.

Reagan said the center's deficit has been relieved by the University

In the fall of 1986, the center had a $100,000 deficit which was eased by reducing the amount of rent owed on the Jardine Terrace Apartments complex. Part of the $100,000 was owed to the Division of Continuing Education, and was also relieved.

In the fall of 1987, the center experienced more financial difficulties. At that time, the center's rent in the Jardine complex was again reduced, Reagan said.

Germany's ethics questioned By The Associated Press prisoners, most of them Jews, at the Frankfurt.

FRANKFURT, West Germany -Charges that West German companies helped Libya build what may be a poison gas plant recall horrors from two world wars and images of what a politician called the "evil, selfdeceiving German."

Germany shocked the world in World War I by wiping out 5,000 Allied soldiers April 22, 1915, with chlorine gas, introducing the era of chemical warfare. The Nazis later use Zyklon B gas to kill millions of Auschwitz death camp.

In addition to lessons of the past, the current debate dwells on moral standards in a nation that has developed an arms export industry in the last 15 years that ranks fifth in the "German profits have grown much more quickly than ethical standards," said the Rev. Friedhelm Hengsbach, a social sciences professor at St. Georgen theological university in

"The Germans are very smart in the sense of economic realities, but they're not that shrewd when it comes to ethical responsibility and political realities," the 51-year-old Jesuit priest said in an interview.

Norbert Gansel, a member of Parliament for the opposition Social Democrats, put the problem succinctly: "Now, our history has caught up with us again. The evil, selfdeceiving German is back.'

Be Wise ...

Read the Collegian!

Tae Kwon Do Karate Demonstration

Master Chae Sun Vi; 7th Degree Black Belt KSU

Ahearn Field House Friday, Jan. 27th, 7-8 p.m.

Benefits: Self defense, lose and control weight, self discipline, coordination, self-confidence, top physical condition, and agility.

Community Education offers Tae Kwon Do Karate Classes with Instructor Chae Sun Vi on Tuesdays and Fridays, 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Class fee: $47.

Optional one K-State Undergraduate credit.

Register NOW! Call 532-5566 Community Education Division of Continuing Education 317 Umberger Hall KANBAS College Court Building

STUDENT LOANS

WE WANT TO MAKE YOUR STUDENT LOAN!

Have the professionals at Kansas State Bank make your student loan. Simply contact us at:

> 537-4400 Lender code #821176

Westloop • Aggieville • K-State Union, Manhattan, Kansas 66502

Excounter to men . c. 1208 Moro in Aggieville

WINTER SALE!

•WINTER COATS up to 50% off •SWEATERS 1/3 to 1/2 OFF ·SPORT SHIRTS_up to 50% OFF Reg. 28 $1800 •LEVI'S 501 Colors SAVE $1000 •FASHION JEANS .PLUS DRESS SHIRTS, SLACKS, FLANNEL SHIRTS, SPORT COATS ALL ON SALE NOW!

OPEN 10-6 MON. THRU SAT./THURS. TIL 8:30

Wed. 25¢ Kamis no cover Thurs. 99¢ Pitchers. In Aggieville and Kamis Fri. Live Band

Wells,

"The Heat"

Sat. No Cover for the ladies $2 Daiquiris, Pina Coladas, and Ice Cream Drinks

Coming Next Week: Jan. 31

"Obsession" Female Dancers

1120 Moro • 18 to Enter - 21 To Drink 537-9511

Editorial

Kansas State Collegian Opinions ■ Wednesday, January 25, 1989

Finals week extension would reduce pressure

Ask a K-State student what images the phrase "finals week" evokes and you'll probably get that type of response.

Finals week has become a dreaded period of malnutrition, sleepless nights and stress in the already demanding lives of K-State students. Forced to study for finals that are sometimes as tightly packed as six in three days, students must sacrifice the basic essentials of life in favor of valuable study time.

Officials at the FONE Crisis Center report that suicide and other stress-related calls increase during this period of the semester. As well as the stress related to finals specifically, this is also a time of stress "build-up", a pinnacle of anxieties accumulated throughout the

In mid-February, the Faculty Senate will have an opportunity to open the relief valve a little bit.

A proposal will be introduced to extend the length of the final examination schedule from five to seven days. The new schedule, already approved by the Student Senate, would add 10 minutes to each examination period (from 110 to 120 minutes), allowing 30 minutes between examinations. It would reduce the number of Bologna sandwiches and No- examinations per day from six to four or five.

> The proposed schedule would retain the current preparation day (dead day) given in the spring semester, and would add one for the fall, when classes currently end on Friday and finals begin on Monday. The semester would not be lengthened, as the two additional days would be taken one each from the Monday- Wednesday-Friday and Tuesday-Thursday classes.

Faculty will also benefit from the lengthened finals schedule. Additional time will be available to prepare and grade finals, as well as projects and reports. Although some instructors are concerned that losing a day will disrupt lecture schedules, one day from a 50-minute class should be relatively easy to make up.

An extended finals week would go far to reduce stress for K-State students, and would allow more time for preparation and study potentially leading to an increased educational benefit from classes. It would also help bring K-State more in line with its peers, many of whom have a genuine "dead week" for preparation.

The only real opposition will probably come from the caffeine

Forensics, debate deserve recognition

giate Dictionary defines team as "a pep band's "Wabash Cannonball" number of persons associated complete with crowd participation. together in work and activity."

helmets, sweat, high-top tennis and preparing for tournaments as shoes or a new coliseum in the K-State's basketball or football definition - just a group of people teams practice for games. All this with one common goal.

never have the benefit of 13,005 recognition. fans in purple, a pep band or cheerleaders, are nonetheless doing well Schiappa, K-State has come to be in collegiate competition, bringing nationally recognized for its debatrecognition to the University.

They are K-State's forensic and years. debate teams.

to the forensics team which captured first place in overall competition last weekend at the Missouri Swing Competition. The team won the tournament with 296 individual points, while the next highest team earned 84 points. debate team - ranked third in the from their peers.

Webster's Seventh New Colle- nation, here's a long version of the

It's feasible that the debate team Note nothing is mentioned of puts in as much time researching without the benefits of special ear-Two of K-State's teams, which ly enrollment for classes or public

With the direction of coach Ed ing skills during the past several

If a win with a 212-point spread Here's a big "eat'em up" cheer or a national ranking isn't good enough, both teams are enjoying the addition of talented freshmen and sophomores who will help extend the winning tradition for years into the future.

Let's take some purple pride in the forensic and debate squads -Hey, let's not forget the debate the two teams that are getting squad either. To K-State's finest national attention without cheers

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR pertaining to matters of public interest are encouraged. Those which pertain to matters of campus/public interest are especially encouraged and are given the highest priority.

Letters should be kept as brief as possible. All letters are subject to editing on the basis of space, style and taste. SEND SUBMISSIONS to the Collegian in Kedzie 116.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

						202
EDITOR			THE OTHER PROPERTY.			Janet Swanso
MANAGING EDITOR				nir (moissonmanoria)	heteropoisterios estatuirio	Susan L'Eouy
NEWS EDITOR						Erwin Set
EDITORIAL PAGE E	DITOR					.Catherine Do
	EDITOR
M. C.	AOPD					T
ADVERTISING MAN	Journal & Terroristant Control of Control				***************************************
EDITORIAL BOARD		Dwayne Lively	, Scott Miller,	Michael Nichols,	Karla Redelsheir	mer, Paula Sek
	Chad L. Sanborn, I	Mark Schmeller,	Erwin Seba, I	Robert R. Short,	Brett Stranathan	, Janet Swans
tions Inc., Kedzie Hall Monday and Thursda	Collegian (USPS 291 02 103, Manhattan, Kan. 6 by during surremer sessind address changes to	96506. The Colle sions. Second of	gian is publishe lass postage p	d Monday throug	h Friday during the n, Kan. 66502.	e school year ar
hattan, Kan, 66506-7
	will be accepted by	electrone /013	532,6556 OF	at the Collegian	neuernorm Kert	in Hall 116

Kansas State Collegian Subscription Rates One Semester (Fall or Spring) Two Semesters (Fall and Spring)

One Year (Fall, Spring and Summer). charge by VISA or MasterCard, call (913) 532-6555

K-State money in South Africa

Investments irresponsible

"The remembrance of Dr. King should last more than one week.

-- Robert Krause, vice president for institutional advancement.

f last week was any indication, the push for K-State to remove its money from business interests in South Africa seems to be slowly gaining

Last week's activities, including an excellent keynote speech by Randall Robinson, executive director of Trans-Africa, served not only as an opportunity to honor one of the civil rights movement's greatest leaders, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., but also as a departure point for discussions of K-State's business interests in South Africa.

As K-State administrators were repeating their disgust for racism, Robinson was busy pointing out how U.S. universities, including K-State, have helped prop up apartheid with their investments. Robinson urged students "to drag university administrators into the 20th century," even if the 20th century is almost over.

To my knowledge, the question of K-State business interests in South Africa has been around since at least 1985. In September of that year, as Congress was debating sanctions, the executive committee of KSU Foundation, which handles all the University's investments, issued a statement which briefly noted the Foundation's opposition to apartheid but then claimed it could not make "political statement" by divesting.

The Foundation did not mention what kind of political statement it would make by allowing its investments to continue to support apartheid.

One argument the Foundation relied on was that it had investments only in corporations which adhered to the Sullivan Principles. These principles, which were drawn up by the Rev. Leon Sullivan of Philadelphia's Zion Baptist Church, were timetabled guidelines for U.S. corporations' investments, hiring practices and community relations in

But on June 3, 1987, Sullivan said his guidelines were having no effect on apartheid and called for all U.S. businesses to pull out of South Africa by March 1988.

Commentary

Scott Miller Collegian Columnist

f course, Sullivan's call for a boycott was nothing new. The outlawed African National Congress of South Africa has called for similar boycotts since 1958, and King himself echoed that plea in 1964.

Regardless of Sullivan's position, the Foundation said it would not change its policy. During phone conversations and meetings, Foundation President Art Loub and Controller Les Longberg said apartheid could influence the Foundation to divest "only insofar as it affects the safety and security of investments."

They said legally they could consider only financial (not "political") factors and cited Kansas Law 17-5004, the so-called "Prudent Man Rule," as the basis for their decision. The statute, however, doesn't quite read that

According to Students' Attorney Dianne Urban, the law states that, "certain institutions and persons managing and investing property for others must exercise the judgement and care which prudent and intelligent investors use in the management of their own affairs.'

One could argue rather convincingly that 'prudent and intelligent investors" would not allow their money to support a blatantly oppressive regime.

In October 1988, Student Senate set up an ad hoc committee to investigate student investments in corporations doing business in South Africa. When the committee began discussions with Longberg, it focused again on "fiduciary responsibility."

On Nov. 4, Longberg sent a letter to Michel Cavigelli, chairman of the committee, which stated, "If your committee determines and the Student Senate ratifies that the political ideology of certain students supercedes the need for investment return, the Foundation will shift the (student) investment ... to a short-term investment."

Apparently, to oppose the University's role in perpetuating apartheid is "political," while the Foundation's position, which in effect defends that role, is presumably nonpolitical.

I, for one, am not convinced that the Foundation can magically transcend history itself to serve up a purely neutral, nonpolitical position void of ideology.

Longberg's letter was problematic in other respects, as well. First, it assumed, a priori, that South African-free investments yield lower returns.

At one point in his letter, the two were used interchangeably: "If the (SGA) wants a lower return on its investments, the KSU Foundation will shift the funds. ..." In fact, the committee never requested "lower returns"; it requested information about what corporations the University invests in — information it has yet to receive.

Second, and this is closely related to the first point, to remove student money from the present investment option does not mean that it would have to go to a short-term investment option with a lower return. In fact, there are several South Africa-free and socially responsible investment options available many with returns comparable to, if not better than, the returns of the present investment

But all of this is really missing the point. The question is not: Will socially responsible investing mean more or less money? Rather, the question is one with considerably more relevance to last week's activities. It is: Will K-State take a stand against racism, or will it do so only when the money is right?

o what if K-State could make more money by investing in companies in South Africa? Why not invest in businesses that use child labor as well? Or what about slavery, prostitution and drug trafficking? Of course, if the Foundation invested in such enterprises, it could always do so in the name of "fiduciary responsibility" and continue to pretend that its actions are non-political. But I somehow doubt that most students, alumni or even administrators would take such arguments seriously.

In the end, the issue is not a strictly financial one, but a political and even moral one. My guess is that King would have wanted it

Lottery win more likely than loan

Financial aid unsure thing

art Bryce burst into my study room, slammed his books down on my table, and plopped into an empty chair. "D.L.," he said, "I'm ticked off!" I frowned and set aside "The Grapes of Wrath" for another time. "So, Bart," I said. "Where have you been?" "Enrollment," he admitted. "I've been trying to pay my fees."

"Enough said. I understand fully." "No you don't!" Bart snapped. "You don't understand anything."

I leaned back in my chair. "Tell me all about it, Bart."

"I had it made, D.L. It's my last semester. Pay fees early. Get straight A's as usual. Graduate. Get a good job. Go into politics. Make a billion. Retire at age 40. You know, the American Dream.'

"I know, Bart," I said. "But enrollment changed all that?"

"Yes it did. I got to Ahearn a little bit late and there was this huge line of students there. I had to wait 30 minutes just to get inside the building. When I finally got to station one, the lady there told me I had to go to the delinquent fees station because I had to pay a fine."

"Bart," I interrupted. "That doesn't sound so bad. I think you're overreacting just a little

"No, I'm not," Bart said. "The nightmare has only just begun." "Continue then."

"I waited another half hour in the delinquency line only to have another lady tell me I had to go stand in the traffic fines line. I turned around to look at it. D.L., it stretched from the balcony all the way down the stairs and out the door. I was in that line two hours."

"Not fun," I said. Bart didn't seem to hear me. His eyes were glazed over and he was staring out into space. "Then, as I was just about to reach the table - I was only three people away from the table - when this man looked at us and said: 'You'll have to wait. The computer is thinking.'

"What do you mean, thinking?' I asked. 'Is the computer down? Is it broken down?' The man shook his head. 'The computer's not down,' he said. 'It's thinking.' Thinking, D.L. The computer was thinking. What do Commentary

Lively Collegian Columnist

Dwayne

computers think about, D.L.? Do they

"Maybe it was just overworked and had to shut itself off to catch up with itself," I

"That's not what he said, D.L. He said it was 'thinking.' Does this mean that the computer's alive? Do they plan all this?" Bart's face was turning red. "Do they do this to us on

"No, Bart," I said. "I'm sure they don't. Tell me the rest of the story, Bart."

"Yes, the rest of the story. Yes." Bart was almost catatonic, but he continued. "After 40 minutes, the computer ceased contemplating Nirvana and I was able to pay my $8 parking ticket and proceed to the Financial Aid table."

"I don't think I want to hear this part, Bart. I've been having some trouble with that table "You will listen to the rest, D.L. You will,

You see, there's a storm a brewin' in the wind and the world is never going to be the same." raised my eyebrows, nodded and found myself wishing I owned a handgun. "I asked them for my loan checks, but they said I had been flagged for re-verification since last semester and would have to produce a number of documents in order to get my financial aid."

"I had the same problem," I said. "It's nothing to worry about."

"When I called them before enrollment, they said that my financial aid was there waiting for me. They didn't say anything about reverification. They said it would be waiting for me."

"All the information on reverification comes up on another computer. If they don't check it, they don't know."

"They told me the same thing. I told them that when I call for information about my loan I want to know everything that affects my money. They told me to 'write my Congressman' if I didn't like it."

"You should," I agreed. "They're the only ones who can do anything about it."

"No, D.L.," Bart said, standing up. "That time has past. The Republicans have failed to achieve total victory and the Democrats are no alternative. It's time for action, D.L., time to take the law into our own hands and take back what is rightfully mine ... ours. It's anarchy time, D.L. It's time for the people to rise up. Viva la revolucion!"

What ensued next is unrepeatable but suffice it to say that Bart went into an extended, colorfully verbose tirade about Marxism, free enterprise, free education, and the questionable ancestry of each member of the U.S.

fter an hour, exhaustion caught up with Bart and he was finally forced

"I'm sorry, D.L.," Bart said. "That's a side of me I don't like to admit exists, but sometimes ... sometimes I just wonder if my precious Republicans really have my best interest at heart when it comes to education. Do you think they do, D.L.? Honestly, I mean. Is there hope?'

I thought a moment then said, "Let me put it to you this way Bart. If I were a freshman and had all this financial aid stuff to do over again, I would pray that God let me win Lotto America. The odds of winning are about the same as the odds of actually receiving your financial aid. Maybe even better."

"You may be right, D.L.," Bart said. "You may be right. Viva la lottery!"

GUEST COLUMNS to the Collegian are encouraged. The column should be no longer than two double-spaced typed pages, and the author will be notified if it will run in order to be photographed.

Send submissions to the Collegian in Kedzie 116.

School aid debated

State funds may be used

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA - The Senate Education Committee heard testimony Tuesday on a bill that would award matching state money to school districts as part of a new educational excellence grant program.

The program would be administered through the state Board of Education.

Under the program, every school district in the state could apply for an educational excellence grant, said Connie Hubbell, chairwoman of the state Board of Education.

The state would match local money with grants, which would be limited to 50 percent of the actual cost of the programs. The local district would be required to prodescriptions and evaluations of its said.

The Legislative Educational Planning Committee, which drafted the bill, has recommended allocating $5 million for the program.

In addition, in his budget message, Gov. Mike Hayden recommended spending $2 million to address the problem of at-risk students.

The bill incorporates two programs.

The first would help at-risk students, those who experience problems that interfere with their learning, graduation and job opportunities.

The second would prepare schools for the future by introducing new instructional procedures and technologies.

A goal of the at-risk program would be to address the more than 19 percent of Kansas students who enter the ninth grade, but do not vide the state board with annual complete high school, Hubbell

In her testimony, Hubbell cited statistics on the number of Kansas teen-agers' social problems.

"Although it is not solely the school's responsibility to alleviate the many social conditions that put children at risk, school programs and staff efforts are necessary to help children cope with health and social stresses that impair their ability to learn, progress through school and graduate," Hubbell

Also testifying in favor of the bill were Craig Grant, lobbyist for Kansas-National Education Association; Chris Graves, executive director of Associated Students of Kansas, and Bill Curtis, assistant executive director for the Kansas Association of School Boards.

Grant said that money transferred from the general fund of local school districts to match the state's share should be outside any budget limitations set by the

Professor studies Africa

By Brad Camp Collegian Reporter

In an attempt to help improve the societies of lesser developed countries, Donald Adamchak conducted population studies in Africa and has recently returned to K-State.

Donald Adamchak, associate professor in sociology, lived and worked for 21 months in Harare, the capital of Zimbabwe, Africa.

His work involved population studies funded by the Rockefeller Foundation.

As a faculty member at the University of Zimbabwe, Adamchak instructed a class on demographics and assisted with the drafting of a two-year master's program in demography that will begin in March. He also contributed to research projects.

"The research was an excellent opportunity to investigate a part of the world that is the most poorly understood and underdeveloped region of the third world," Adamchak

The study of populations is important to the future of Africa, he said. Zimbabwe has a population of 9.4 million and in 20 years, Adamchak predicts the population will double.

With the present birth rate, the population in Africa will double in about 24 years. At this rate of growth, jobs will be hard to find, Adamchak said. Unemployment is already high.

A project Adamchak helped with, "Population Conflict," involved research in the nearly 45 nations located primarily south of the Sahara desert, or Sub-Sahara Africa.

"(The project dealt with) how population factors, through time, interact with societal structures that lead to conflict and instability - like revolutions and civil disobedience or wars," he said.

The topic area has been a neglected area of research in terms of looking at population development,

Let your opinions be known with a letter to the editor

Another project concerns male fertility attitudes - a new movement in research of third world countries. "For about 35 years, family planning programs of the world dealt Adamchak said.

exclusively with women," Adamchak said. "Since cultures of these societies give men the power and influence to govern women's reproductive potential, it seems appropriate to study men in the family planning process

"(Africa) has a very successful family planning program. About 35 percent of women in the reproductive age group are using a modern method of contraception.

The problem is that women are using contraceptive methods to regulate the birth of children rather than prevent additional births, Adamchak

The increasing number of elderly

Donald Adamchak, associate professor of sociology, is compiling research on population he gathered while living in Zimbabwe. people in Africa - as in many developing countries - is outgrowing the ability of the people to support and care for them. The elderly population's increase is the basis for a project on aging and intergenerational support, he said. "The number of elderly people is rapidly increasing in Africa, and the traditional form of support, the family system, is beginning to decline with modernization," Adamchak said. "There is virtually no social security or pension system in Sub-Sahara Africa." Adamchak plans to return to Zimbobwe for about six weeks during the summer to conduct follow-up research on the male fertility project.

Cheap, but effective Collegian Classifieds

Ad promotes K-State athletics

By Scott Paske Collegian Reporter

Assistant Athletic Director Chris Peterson is hoping for a "Revolution" by using a promotion that will reach K-Staters through their televi-

Peterson created a 60-second commercial, set to the song "Revolution" by pop singer Tracy Chapman. The commercial, "Kansas State University," is filled with scenes from K-State sporting events. The spot also features people who have been involved with recent changes in the athletic program.

"Steve Miller (K-State athletic director) hired people from around the country to come in and attempt to establish a more positive attitude toward our program," Peterson said. "I think what we've done is a step on the right track.'

Peterson developed the tape with the help of video producers Michael Looney and Norman Burge.

Spenco Comfort

Orthotic arches Neoprene wrist, knee. and angle supports Hot and cold gel wraps

Olson's Shoe Service 1214B Moro

Enjoy smooth, creamy Frozen Yogurt that tastes like Ice Cream but with 80% less fat!

OPEN: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Daily Noon-11 p.m. Sundays Nautilus Towers-Aggieville

Peterson, who is in charge of marketing and promotion for Wildcat Athletics, said the lyrics emphasize emerging from poverty to create a better situation. The song's concept is similar to K-State's current status.

"I took the music and told Mike (Looney) and his staff in the production department to put together a piece that really related to the lyrics," Peterson said. "From the feedback we're getting, they obviously did a good job."

Because the commercial was created locally and used clips from a promotional film, production costs for the project were low, he said. The commercial is being marketed regionally in conjunction with Kansas Cable Ads.

The clip has been distributed in Hutchinson, Overland Park, Topeka and Manhattan, Peterson said. It will appear during K-State's remaining televised basketball games.

The advertisement was aired during Sunday's Super Bowl on KSNT at a cost of $1,800.

The commercial features opening shots of Anderson Hall, Farrell Library and a student drawing under a tree on campus.

The athletic scenes include Wildcat point guard Steve Henson blocking a Nebraska player's shot in the Big Eight Conference Tournament last year, and a touchdown pass from quarterback Paul Watson to wide receiver David Brooks against Louisiana Tech last season.

While students and athletes are the main focus of the commercial, Peterson said space was allotted for the coaches and administration.

"I believe the shots of President Wefald, Steve Miller, Bill Snyder and Lon Kruger really highlight what we're trying to accomplish," he said. "They deserve the credit for their

1107 N. 3rd 537-1003 Offer expires Feb. 8, 1989

new BEGNANGS

SHOE & Leather

You're not dressed up if Your Shoes are run down.

MANHATTAN SHOE REPAIR

401 Humboldt

Drive-up convenience Wash Palace Shoe Drop Station Candlewood Shopping Station Open Tuesday-Saturday 776-1193

DANCE PERFORMANCE AUDITIONS

FOR SPRING '89

Dance auditions for Spring Dance '89 and for membership in the Kansas State Repertory Dance Company will be held:

Thursday Jan. 26, 5:30-7 p.m. 304 Ahearn Gym All Majors Welcome!!!

For More Information 532-6887

 Credit available for performance and technical work

WHAT IS PAC-CATS?

WHAT IS WELLNESS?

management, spiritual ascarciess and values, and the ability to identify approximation a positive affective manner. Our aptitude our outlooking is part of wellness. Wellness involves finding and maintaining a balance within and between each dimension of our lives: the physical, emotional, intellectual, occupational, spiritual, and social,

WHAT DOES A WELLNESS PROGRAM OFFER?

Program, call 532-6927 or stop by Lafene room 26.

1115 Westloop Shopping Center + 539-0801

Bush pledges to revise Reagan budget proposal

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - President Bush pledged Tuesday to submit detailed revisions to Ronald Reagan's budget next month and suggested high-level negotiations between the White House and Congress to produce an early agreement.

The White House acknowledged that Bush had not kept his promise to send his team of budget negotiators to Congress on the first day of his presidency. Likewise, it appeared unlikely Bush would follow through on his

· A full-service salon

· Men's & Women's

HAIR AFFAIR

465 E. Poyntz

Next to Food-4-Less

776-5488

exp. 3/1/89

Beausoleil

La musique acadienne

Friday, January 27, 8:00 p.m.

They've played Carnegie Hall,

the Kennedy Center, Lincoln Center,

the Lone Star Cafe. Garrison Keillor, host of

"A Prairie Home Companion," called them

"the best Cajun band in the world." Why?

Because their fusion of traditional styles with jazz, rock, and bluegrass has brought the rich legacy of Cajun music out of the bayous and into the here and now. Join Beausoleil for an evening of sheer, unstoppable fun and laissez les bons temps rouler!

"Michael Doucet is one of the most delightful fiddlers on the planet. When he and Beausoleil step out, they do so without seat

belts." --Record Roundup

General Public: $12

. Senior Citizen: $10

Student / Child: $8

Charge tickets to MasterCard or VISA at

. 532-6428, or come to the box office ' through Kansas State Bank and the call Marie Dellen at 537-4400. . .

noon to 5:00 p.m. weekdays.

Transportation for seniors is available

Manhattan Arts Council. For information,

Make your evening on the town complete with tickets to Beausoleil and a buffet featuring Cajun specialities at the University Club. For information and reservations call (913) 539-7531

* (253/36)

Haircuts

Hair

Cuts

promise to personally lead the budget talks.

Amid a glow of bipartisan good will on the fourth day of his presidency, Bush met at the White House with Democratic and Republican congressional leaders to seek cooperation on the budget and foreign policy.

"Generally there is a very hopeful sense that we are going to be able to find bipartisanship almost everywhere," the speaker of the House, Rep. Jim Wright, D-Texas, said after two hours of talks with Bush.

GOODSON

AUTO TRIM

Tailor Made Seat Covers Tonneau Covers

Boat Covers

Window Tinting

Convertible Tops

Vinyl Tops

Complete Auto, Truck

& Boat Upholstery

201 Sarber Lane

(behind Wal-Mart)

Manhattan, Kansas 66502

Architectural firm offers scholarship

By Mindy Robert Collegian Reporter

Paying for a college education will be easier for one student in the College of Architecture and Design next

The architecture firm of Fullerton, Carey, Oman and Alexander, Inc. is funding the William B. Fullerton Jr. Scholarship in Architecture and Design for a student in any area of the field, said Rusty Andrews, director of Annual Giving at the KSU

"(The College of Architecture and Design) is elated," said Mark Lapping, dean of the college.

"Our No. 1 priority has been to increase the number of student scholarships and scholarship monies available to our students," he said.

The amount of the scholarship will be equal to the cost of out-of-state tuition in a given year, Andrews said. "Few scholarships make payments this large," he said. Andrews said to be eligible for the scholarship, the student must be a graduate of a Kansas City metropolitan high school and a full-time student in the third year of an architecture and design program.

The scholarship is a one-year scholarship, renewable for up to three years as long as the recipient maintains a grade point average of at least 2.5 and does not change majors,

The architecture firm is funding the scholarship in honor of its founder, William Fullerton, Andrews said. Fullerton, a graduate of K-State with a bachelor's degree in architecture, founded the firm 40 years ago.

"It is new for an architectural firm to fund a scholarship," Andrews said. "The Kansas City chapter of the American Institute of Architects is urging other architectural firms in the Kansas City area to follow suit."

Lapping said the funding of a scholarship by an architectural firm is a "very, very important precedent," which reinforces the fact that each generation in a profession shares the responsibility in nurturing the next generation.

RADIO AUCTION

The items listed below will be auctioned to the highest bidder this Saturday from 8:05 a.m. to noon. Visit the sponsors . . . inspect the merchandise . . . determine your bid. Keep your radio on KMAN 1350 and your hand near the phone. Just call in and bid on the KMAN auction line: 776-1333.

AUCTION DATE: JANUARY 28, 1989

	RETAIL	MINIMUM
	VALUE 11.75	8ID 6.00
Winter Protection Package: VP AUTO WASH	25.00	13.00
$25 certificate for 1989 garden seed: EASTSIDE/WESTSIDE MARKETS
A pig roast for up to 50 people: RAOUL'S ESCONDIDO	287.50	190.00
Fertilome Lawn Progran: WEST ACRES GREENHOUSE-JUNCTION CITY	52.00	28.00
Sanitaire heavy duty vacuum cleaner: B & L VACUUM	449.95	250.00
Certificate for 10 tanning sessions: LORDS AND LADIES	25.00	13.00
Black and Decker Air Station inflator/compressor: FARMERS COOP	72.79	38.00
$20 certificate: VALENTINO'S	20.00	12.00
$25 service certificate: M & S PLUMBING	25.00	13.00
VCR cleaning and lube: THE CIRCUIT SHOP	32.00	16.00
Permanent: PAZAZZ	51.00	26,00
Pulsar lady's watch: DUERFELDT'S JEWELERS	165.00	95.00
Carpet/uphoistery shampoo for sedans: VP AUTO WASH	15.00	8.00
Case of Diet Pepsi: PEPSI COLA OF MANHATTAN	9.50	5.00
$25 certificate for gourmet coffee beans: KITCHENS PLUS	25.00	13.00
$50 certificate: AGGIE SKI & SPORT	50.00	26.00
$25 certificate: WESTPORT DRY CLEANERS	25.00	13.00
Prime rib dinner for two: THE COTTON CLUB	25.00	13.00
$50 certificate: TAYLOR'S SHOES	50.00	26.00
$50 certificate: DRAPERY WORLD	50.00	26.00
Decorative coal bucket: BEN FRANKLIN CRAFTS	25.50	14.00
European facial: CRIMPERS—AGGIEVILLE	35.00	18.00
Whirlpool microwave oven: ADYS APPLIANCE	199.00	100,00
Ryobi finishing sander: GRIFFITH LUMBER	61.99	34.00
$20 certificate: FALSETTO'S PASTA HOUSE	20.00	12.00
Movie rental package: HOME CINEMA	12.50	7.00
$500 tuition certificate: CRUM'S BEAUTY COLLEGE	500.00	300.00
One pair of men's SAS shoes: BROWN'S SHOE FIT	64.00	33.00
Single family annual treatment: AMERICAN PEST MANAGEMENT	150.00	78.00
$125 certificate for Sumitomo tires: REX'S TIRE CENTER	125.00	65.00
20" strand of cultured pearls: THE DIAMOND GALLERY	400.00	220.00
One session of the Video Graphics System: CRIMPERS	12.99	7.00
Candlelight gourmet-to-go dinner for two: THE COTTON CLUB	30.00	16.00
7" 14kt. gold herringbone bracelet: DIAMOND CONNECTION	43.00	22.00
Pizza—any size, any kind: PIZZA HUT	12.70	7.00
$20 certificate: UNIVERSITY INN	20.00	12,00
	DD ACCEPT	EDIII
PLUS MANY MORE ITEMS!!! VISA AND MASTERCA	AUGEPT	LW111

CONTRACTOR OF THE STREET OF TH SANCHOS & BURRITOS 88¢ each (reg. $1.30) TACO DINNER $1.77 (reg. $2.25) TACO HU TO THE SHADEN SHEW BY SERVING THE WIND WITH

Bakery Science Club BAKE SALE

TODAY 3-5 p.m. Shellenberger 105

Imagine... Never clean a contact lens again! Introducing DR. PAUL E. BULLOCK. (etafilcon A) Gehmen Gehmen DISPOSALENS SYSTEM

Clipping this ad could introduce you to that person McCain you've wanted to auditorium meet all semester.

If you've spent the semester watching one particular person, it's time for you to write a Collegian Personal ad. A Personal will intrigue your mystery person and give you the opportunity to introduce yourself. Just bring this ad to Kedzie 103 to start your winter romance.

YOUR NAME PHONE ADDRESS I.D. NUMBER DAY TO RUN_ MESSAGE_

Collegian Pusmals

What do you think?

You, the readers of the Collegian are important to us, so in an effort to better serve you in future issues, we would like to hear your ideas. Tell us what you like about the Collegian, but also give us some constructive criticism to help us improve campus news coverage. Please fill out the following questionnaire, then bring it to the Collegian newsroom in Kedzie 116, or mail it to the Collegian, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506.

GENERAL INFORMATION

1. Classification (circle one): Fr So Jr Sr Gr Fac Staff Other

2. Male Female 3. How often do you read the Collegian?

5 4 3 2 1 0 days a week What do you read first? Campus Bulletin

Classifieds Cartoons Crossword Puzzle Editorial Page Front Page Other_

What is your main source for news on a daily basis? Collegian Other Newspaper(s)

SPORTS

How would you grade Collegian sports coverage? ABCDF

What areas are lacking in sports coverage?

Do you find the box scores helpful? Yes □ No □ Would you like to see more coverage of minor sports, club sports, and intramurals? Yes □ No □

EDITORIAL PAGE

Comments

1. How would you grade the Collegian's Editorial Page?

ABCDF 2. Do you feel the Letters to the Editor gives readers an adequate outlet for their opinions? Yes

No 3. Do Collegian columnists provide a balance of liberal and conservative views? Yes □ No □

4. Comments.

1. How would you grade Collegian advertising? ABCDF

2. Do you read the ads? Yes □ No □

3. Do you clip and use the coupon ads? Yes □ No □ 4. Have there been any ads in the Collegian you've found offensive? Yes

No

No

If yes, please describe and explain why you find them offensive.

Comments_

NEWS CONTENT

1. How would you rate the overall quality of writing and reporting in the Collegian?

ABCDF 2. How would you rate the overall quality of copy editing in the Collegian?

Sports 3. Have you ever been interviewed for a Collegian article? Yes □ No □

4. If yes, were you accurately quoted? Yes □ No □ Was your major or job title correct? Yes □ No □

5. What is your department or major:

6. Are you involved in any activity (club, sport, research, etc.) that should be covered more thoroughly? Please list. Any story ideas?_

7. Do you feel your department receives adequate coverage in the Collegian? Yes □ No □ 8. What activities or interesting people in your department would make interesting Collegian articles?

PHOTOGRAPHY/GRAPHICS AND DESIGN 1. How would grade Collegian photography?

ABCDF 2. Are cutlines under photographs accurate and complete? Yes D No D

3. If you have been pictured in the Collegian, were you correctly identified? Yes □ No □ 4. Do you find charts and graphs to be helpful when reading a story? Yes □ No □ 5. Would you like to see more charts and graphs in the Collegian? Yes □ No □

Comments.

7. Do you find the Collegian's type size and style easy to read? Yes
No

THANK YOU!

CROWDING

Membership increases force sororities to alternative housing arrangements

Sororities promote greek living by saying membership offers unity, a support system and social and leadership opportunities within the bonds of sisterhood.

But in the last two years the theme of unity has been put to the test.

Several K-State sororities have been forced to deal with the sudden influx of members. The average membership of sororities at K-State is 119 women. Average house capacity is 65.

"We try to accommodate as many people as we can during rush," said Barb Robel, advisor for Greek Affairs. "When you have a pledge class that is nearly 50 people, the increased size of pledge classes poses problems if you automatically reserve bedspace for sophomores."

Quota - established by the National Panhellenic Conference - is the largest number of women each house is allowed to pledge.

For many houses, if the sororities pledged quota, they faced overcrowding and were required to develop alternative living arrangements for the additional women.

In 1987 and 1988, quota was 47 pledges, an increase from 35 in 1986. In 1987, the number of women that went through rush was 573, 154 more than had rushed in 1986, Robel said.

Robel said the increase sparked some concern among sororities on campus because most houses have space for 60 to 70 women. Sophomores, juniors and seniors usually live in the houses and freshmen live in residence halls or

Robel said houses are finding ways to accommodate their members through a variety of solutions, including providing annexes, renting apartment blocks and revising out-of-house liv-

Amanda Stout, Gamma Phi Beta member, said an addition to the Gamma Phi house was hurried along when quota was predicted to be the highest ever. The sorority increased its house capacity from 58 to 78 members. Construction began in April 1988 and was completed by September.

"We were planning on adding on to our house for a long time," said Stout, senior in humanities and social sciences. "However, since we just finished remodeling our house in 1985, we didn't plan on adding on quite so soon. The increasing numbers sped up the process."

Stout said without the additional space, about 30 active members would have had to live outof-house. With a larger pledge class to move into the house during its sophomore year, the overcrowding problems would have worsened had the addition not been made.

"It was very important to make additional room," she said. "Live-outs tend to grow away as much, and it's harder to contact them about bustle" of living with 76 other women.

Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority members watch skits performed by the pledges on neophyte night during initiation week.

effort, but the older they get, the more independent they become.

"I don't think unity has been affected yet, but it is a concern," Stout said. "Sororities can accomodate large numbers, but what are they getting out of it? The question of increasing membership and its effect on unity is the real problem with the greek system."

Members of Pi Beta Phi have leased a block of apartments located behind the house to compensate for their additional numbers.

The apartments were leased by Pi Phi House Corp., and members pay the same housing costs as the members living in the main house, said Amy Morrison, Pi Phi member. The women living in the apartments are considered in-house members.

"Living in the house was great - I wouldn't trade it for anything," she said. "It was nice to be able to run down the hall and talk to friends."

Morrison, senior in accounting and finance, said she chose to live in the apartments this year because she decided from the house because they aren't in the house "it was time for a change from the hustle and Morrison said she considers it worth the extra "For the live-outs, it's difficult to find extra effort of renting apartments as a group to keep time for the house. Some girls make an extra the house unified. Pi Phi had one of the largest pledge classes this fall with 50 members.

"In a pledge class that big, there's the possibility of someone not knowing someone else," she said. "We made seating arrangements in study hall so the girls would be sitting by different girls each time they studied. Most of all we made sure we were always encouraging them to get to know one another."

The Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority has adjusted to the increasing pledge class numbers in two ways. In 1979, the Kappas bought the house next to their main house and converted it into an annex capable of housing nine members. The Kappas also have an out-of-house policy allowing members to live in apartments if they choose, said Kappa member Ann Rinella.

Rinella, senior in apparel and textile marketing, said living in the annex is the same as living in the main house, but in the annex, "you have the best of both worlds."

"We follow the same rules as if we lived in the house," she said. "It's more quiet than the main house. In the annex you are more on your own, but with the house right next door, you can go over there whenever you want."

In 1981, Alpha Delta Pi bought a house located behind its main house to use as an annex. This year, however, even the annex wasn't enough to accommodate everyone, said Jennifer Leeds, ADPi member and senior in political

The ADPis created an out-of-house policy after previously not allowing any of their members to live out. With 47 pledges, the house members knew changes had to be made, Leeds said.

"Originally, we decided as a chapter we would not take quota, but our national sorority told us we should," Leeds said.

"Our old policy stated that nobody was allowed to live out of the house as an active," she said. No one wanted to live out when they heard people were going to have to move out - which became the problem, Leeds said. "Obviously, people were upset because they thought our house wouldn't be as close," she said. "Whenever you make changes, there's going to be some apprehension about it.

"It's been a Catch-22 situation. When everybody had to live in, they wanted to live out," Leeds said. "But now that members can live out, everbody wants to live in."

"For the first time, everything went pretty well," she said. "You can't expect things to go perfect because it was the first time we've had to do something like this." Robel said sororities will experience a period of adjustment for the next two years to compensate for the increases in membership.

"It's hard to get to know that many people," Stout said, "but as of now, it's so far, so good." The dilemma of larger pledge classes is not an issue for every sorority.

Alpha Gamma Delta, Kappa Delta and Sigma Sigma Sigma sororities have not experienced an increased membership problem, but their membership numbers have remained constant during the last several years, Robel said.

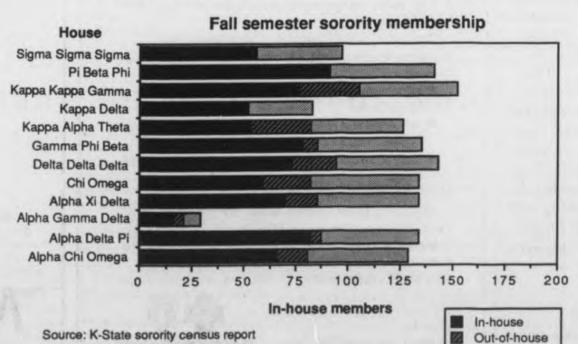

Story by Jodi Johnson

Photos by Brett Hacker

Pledges

Becky Cook, senior in history, prepares to leave her room at the Kappa Kappa Gamma annex. The annex houses nine sorority members unable to live in the main house.

Source: K-State sorority census report the state is in "a whole different economic picture" than it was in 1987. So, the argument that reinstituting the death penalty would be too much of an economic burden on the state may not have as much effect this time around, Kingsley said.

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Rep. Katha Hurt, D-Manhattan, who is against reinstituting the death penalty because it would be "incredibly expensive," said she disagreed with that comment.

"It doesn't matter whether you have $10 or $1,000, you spend it wherever it's the most economical,"

She said she is also against capital punishment because it has not been proven to deter crime.

The death penalty is "inherently unfair to minorities and poor people' and "barbaric," Hurt said.

Riley County Attorney Bill Kennedy said he was against the death penalty because he also believed its restoration would be "incredibly

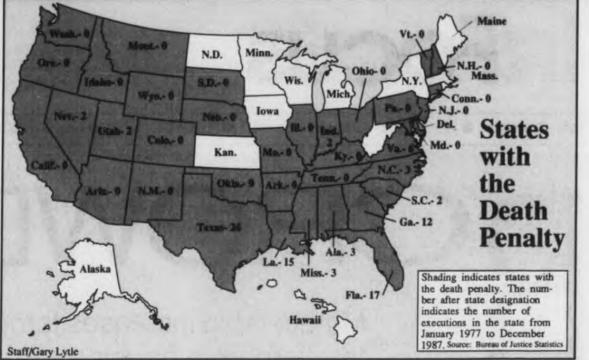

'The public defender is going to lay on a wild number of motions, (and I have) concluded that for the very few cases (to be prosecuted) the cost wouldn't be worth it," Kennedy

"Once people start looking at the dollars that are involved to fry a very few people in the end, they might start looking in the other direction,"

In 1987, Senate rejected the bill 22-18. A recent survey by The Associated Press showed 20 senators supported or leaned toward reinstating the death penalty, while 19 opposed it or leaned against it. The only undecided senator was Eric Yost, R-Wichita. To pass the Senate, the bill needs 21 votes.

Kingsley said much of the coalition's lobbying efforts will be targeted toward Sen. Lana Oleen, R-

Oleen, who had previously stated that she was in favor of similar legislation, said for the most part she was in favor of this bill.

Oleen said the only difficulty she had with the bill was the drug trafficking clause because she had not given serious consideration and support to such an addition.

Prior to the bill's introduction, she said most of her mail has been from proponents of the death penalty; however, within the last week, she has heard from more opponents than proponents.

The bill appeals to her because of the "amount and number of safeguards," including an intense appeal process, to protect those who are accused. Oleen said she realizes many people argue that the appeal process is what makes capital punishment so costly.

However, she said, "The court system and appeal process are already in place. We aren't looking at any mass

Mark Skinner, administrative assistant to Speaker of the House Jim Braden, R-Clay Center, said the House will take no action on the issue until the Senate does.

Rep. Sheila Hochhauser, D- penalty for death for murders com-

Manhattan, who wasn't sure the bill would even make it to the House, said she can "see the arguments on both sides."

Hochhauser said criminals who "do something heinous enough should owe some retribution to society," but has trouble justifying the heavy costs.

"With so many money issues this session it seems almost criminal to be talking about spending so much," she Hochhauser is also against the bill because she believes the justice system is racially biased.

Since the bill's introduction last week, Hochhauser said she has heard arguments from constituents on both sides of the issue. Alvan Johnson, director of the

Riley County Police Department, is in favor of the bill because he said it would prevent some crimes. "It will certainly deter some people from committing premeditated murder. And if it doesn't, it will certainly assure that that person wouldn't do it again," Johnson said. He said the bill's inclusion of the mitted against criminal justice officer's "doesn't make it any more

"I don't place the value of life any more on a police officer than on anyone else," Johnson said. "We all have the right to live."

given the opportunity to commit that crime again.

will send a clear message that we will not tolerate that type of action in the state," Fowler said.

"We tell people it's wrong to murder, so it's wrong to take a life because of that," McConnell said. The Associated Press contributed to this story.

Proponent Delbert Fowler, Derby police chief and president of the Kansas Peace Officers Association, told legislators he believed "if a person who has committed a heinous crime is put to death, that person will not be

"If the bill is enacted into law, it

Local members of Amnesty International are also against the bill. David McConnell, assistant professor of geology and vice president of Manhattan's Amnesty chapter, said the organization is against the death penalty mainly for humanitarian by daily meditation

Stress levels reduced

By Angle Smith Collegian Reporter

Meditation is often viewed as a technique used by long-haired hippies sitting yoga-style and humming an ancient Greek song. However, transcendental meditation is one technique used to reduce an individual's stress level in today's society.

According to the book "Maharishi Mahesh Yogi's Transcendental Meditation," TM is a natural, effortless, easily learned technique, practiced for 15-20 minutes twice daily while sitting comfortably with eyes closed.

The meditation technique claims to reduce stress; improve health; increase creativity, intelligence and productivity; improve relationships; and promote progress and happiness.

"The mind and body work as a unit and when one (unit) is settled, so is the other," said Steve Benjamin, a national lecturer on the TM techniques.

"TM strengthens oneself from within. By ridding oneself of stress on a daily basis, one will accomplish much more because he or she is healthier," Benjamin said. The program is learned through a seven-step process which includes the following: two lectures providing the necessary intellectual understanding to start the technique, a personal interview with a TM teacher and four consecutive days of actual practice of TM.

Mahesh introduced TM in 1959. At that time, Mahesh was the only teacher of the technique, but now there are many instructors.

There are 1,500 TM centers called Capitals of the Age of Enlightenment - throughout the world. The nearest center is in Kansas City, Mo. The cost for a college student to learn TM is $155.

Benjamin said he learned TM by accident. He was teaching computer science at Maharigh International University in Fairfield, Iowa, and attended a TM lecture with his mother — a victim of insomnia. After completing the seven-step process, his mother's insomnia was relieved, and Benjamin said he was a better person because of the training. The meditative experience can develop the individual's latent creative potential, which increases effectiveness and success in daily life,

Benjamin said. "The bottom line — in a college student's case - is grades," he said. Ravi Shankar, graduate student in industrial engineering, practices the meditative process. "My grade point average went from a 2.8 to a 3.9," Shankar said, adding that before using TM he was unable to concentrate on his studies.

"Because of transcendental meditation, now I can (concentrate)," he

The meditative technique may improve an individual's ability to communicate with others, Benjamin

"We are half of every relationship we have. Through TM we can improve our relationships by improving ourselves," he said.

TM is one meditative method students can use to relieve stress, it is not the only technique.

Lonnie Catlin, co-owner of Kindred Spirit Book Store, said there are other methods of meditations such as Zen, tai chi, movement, focus and silent which are just as effective

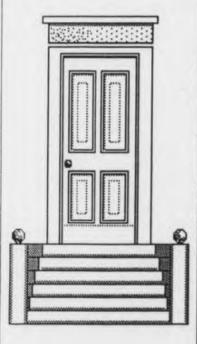

"I think it depends on the individual" Catlin said. "There are different methods that work for different people.'

He said movement meditation is concentrating on a certain muscle such as the calf muscle while running, walking or riding a bike. Focus meditation is similar, but the individual focuses on a object while sitting and relaxing.

Collegian Classifieds Where K-State Shops

Open the door to your future...

Gain practical experience in both marketing and advertising while earning 3 credit hours. The curriculum includes selling and designing Collegian ads for local retail clients as well as creating marketing plans. This invaluable on-the-job training will open doors to future occupational prospects.

For more information contact Gloria B. Freeland at 532-6555 or stop by Student Publications in Kedzie 103.

Tuesday-Friday 10-6:30 TO THE PUBLIC Saturday 539-4811 People's Grocery Co-op 811 Colorado

It's Like A

ONLY the food's not as good.

And, unless you have adequate health care coverage, you'll have to pay the bills.

That's why you need Shared Pay Comprehensive from Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kansas. It's affordable protection,

- 100% of your health care services at Lafene Student
- 50% of the cost of health services at all other approved facilities, until $500 is paid on a single contract.*
- 100% of covered services after your shared-pay maximum

Hurry. Enrollment Ends February 1, 1989.

Shared Pay Comprehensive health care protection starts first day of classes (January 11, 1989), but only if you enroll by February 1st. Get details at Lafene Student Health Center, the Student Government Office, or call the local Blue Cross and Blue Shield office, 539-4861.

*($1,000 on a family contract.)

An equal apportunity employer & Registered Marks Silve Cross and Silve S

Blue Cross and Blue Shield

Home sweet home

Lisa Guyll, RN with Chantal and Ariel Hartung, Manhattan

The Birthplace

There's no place like home and the day you bring your new baby home is a special day you will remember forever. But we know that you may have a question or concern after you and your baby are dismissed from the hospital. That's why The Birthplace developed our Home Visit Program.

If you live within a 20-mile radius of Manhattan, you may have one of our Birthplace Obstetric or Nursery nurses visit you within a week after you go home to examine both you and your baby. This provides you with an excellent opportunity to ask questions and be assured that all is going well.

This is another service from our family to yours and there is no charge for the visit. All of us at The Birthplace want you and your new baby to enjoy every moment at home sweet home.

We want you to see our beautifully redecorated Birthplace. Please call the Director of Education at 776-3300, ext. 113 to schedule your personal tour.

Memorial Hospital

1105 Sunset · Manhattan, KS 66502 · 913-776-3300

Lady Cats home to face Cyclones

By Mike Rouse Collegian Reporter

The K-State women's basketball team will try to improve on their 2-2 Big Eight record when they play Iowa State at 7:30 p.m. tonight in Bramlage Coliseum.

Last year, the two teams split their home-and-home series, each winning on its respective home court. K-State's 83-70 victory over the Lady Cyclones was The Lady Cats' lone conference victory last year.

Iowa State is 10-7 overall and 1-3 in the Big Eight and is coming off Saturday's 72-65 loss to Oklahoma. The Lady Cyclones' only conference victory was against Kansas, 68-60, Jan. 12.

The Lady Cats, 12-5 overall, are coming off an 83-80 victory against Nebraska Saturday night. The Lady Cats blew a 20-point halftime lead, but were able to hold on to edge the Lady Huskers. A week ago, the Lady Cats let a six-point halftime lead slip away against Missouri and then lost, 82-75.

"Initially, we get the tempo on our side and maintain it for the first twenty minutes. Then halftime comes and the other team takes over and we never get it back," said K-State coach Matilda Mossman.

This year's K-State ball club has already bettered the eight victories it had last season and has doubled last year's total number of conference victories. One key factor has been the addition of freshman Mary Jo Miller as a point guard.

"(Mary Jo) makes a big difference, but the maturity and experience that our team gained over the course of last year is a big factor too," Mossman said.

For the past six games in a row, the Lady Cats have had at least three players in double figures. In the Lady Cats' win against Nebraska, all five K-State starters scored in double

Three of the Lady Cats' starters average double digits. Nadira Hazim leads K-State at 14.1 points a game, while Diana Miller is averaging 12.1 and Kristie Bahner is averaging 10.3. The Lady Cats' other two starters

Mary Jo Miller and Rita Matteucci are averaging 9.9 and 8.2 points a game respectively.

"From the onset, we have stressed balance in our scoring," Mossman said. "We try to have a team-offense concept and as a result of that we spread our scoring out."

Rebounding, especially on the offensive end, has been one of Mossman's concerns during the past few games. K-State has been outrebounded on offense by a margin of almost four a game since entering conference play.

"We spent a lot of time the last week and a half on rebounding," Mossman said. "We gave up a lot of offensive rebounds and that is something we didn't want to do."

Even though the Lady Cats lead the Big Eight in defense allowing 61.9 points a game, the defense stills concerns Mossman.

"Were putting people at the (free throw) line too much and we are giving up a lot of shots in the paint, which we don't want to do," she said.

The Cyclones will be the tallest team the Lady Cats have met this year. They have no player shorter than 5 feet 8 inches tall.

Iowa State is led by center Carmen Jaspers, who is averaging 13.2 points game. Vanessa Ward and Lisa Greiner are averaging 12.7 and 10.6 points a game respectively.

Mossman also said she believes her team will have to set a lot of screens so her smaller players won't have to shoot over the taller

"They give a different look than any other team we have faced because of their height," she said. "They play a full-court, aggressive defense and their big girls get down and guard you which will present a problem in rebounding."

Probable Starters

Lady Cats (12-5) Pos. Iowa State (10-6)

Staff/Joe Freeman Sophomore guard Nadira Hazim is leading the Lady Cats by averaging 14.2 points per game. Hazim and the Chiefs name coach

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - Marty Schottenheimer, the winningest coach in the American Football Conference the past three seasons, became head coach Tuesday of the Kansas City Chiefs, an NFL sad sack since their glory days of the '60s.

"Our goal will never change," said Schottenheimer, who resigned as coach of the Cleveland Browns at the end of the season in a dispute with owner Art Modell.

"Our goal for 1989 is to become the champions of the National Football League. The most important thing is to establish right now that our goal is to be the very best."

Schottenheimer, 45, took the Browns to the playoffs each of the four full seasons that he coached them. His 32-15 regular season record the past three years is unmatched in the AFC and trails only the Chicago Bears and San Francisco 49ers among all NFL teams.

He resigned from the Browns on Dec. 27 in a dispute with Modell, who insisted Schottenheimer hire an offensive coordinator and stop filling that role himself.

Asked if he would hire an offensive coordinator with the Chiefs, Schottenheimer broke into a grin.

"We will have an individual to fill that role," he said. "Rest easy. Marty Schottenheimer is not going to call the plays. Someone will have that role, if not the title."

Asked why he would change from the approach that led to his departure from Cleveland, Schottenheimer said only that he thought remaining offensive coordinator for the Browns "was the best thing to do in that situation."

The naming of Schottenheimer completes a house cleaning that owner Lamar Hunt began in December with the resignation of team president Jack Steadman and the firing of General Manager Jim Schaaf.

Eleven days later, Hunt hired Carl Peterson as president and general manager. Peterson, as expected, fired coach Frank Gansz on Jan. 5.

Kruger looks to continue hex on Pokes at Stillwater tonight

By Chris Wilhelm Sports Writer

The K-State men's basketball team, now 11-4 overall, will be looking for its third consecutive conference victory tonight as it travels to Stillwater for a 9:10 p.m. tilt with Oklahoma State at Gallagher-Iba Arena!

Oklahoma State, 10-5 and 1-1, is tough in the friendly confines of Gallagher-Iba, posting a perfect 9-0 record at home this season. The team's lone league win came at home, an 82-69 pasting of Nebraska, while the Pokes suffered their only conference loss, 105-83, at Missouri.

K-State ran its Big Eight mark to 2-1 and its road record to 4-3 with an 80-68 victory over Nebraska in Lincoln last Saturday.

K-State coach Lon Kruger has had a lot of success against Oklahoma State. As a player at K-State. Kruger was 6-0 against the Cow-

"The streak is going to end at some point, but that is something you don't really think about going into the game," Kruger said. "We are just going to concentrate on taking away their strengths and working on what we do well."

Entering the contest K-State is fourth in the league in both field goal (.500) and free throw records (.729). The 'Cats lead the conference in three-point shot accuracy, hitting their treys at .518.

The Cowboys are last in the conference in field goal and free throw percentage, hitting just .405 and 549 respectively. The Pokes are third in three-point accuracy at

While the Cowboys have not made a high percentage of their shots on the season, their rebounding has allowed them to be successful.

"They are very athletic," said boys and as a coach he is 4-0, with Kruger. "They do an excellent job two of the victories coming in on the boards. They do a very good job on the offensive boards which allows them to get more shots at the

"We are concerned with their defensive pressure," He added. We will work on getting back on defense. They are a team that likes to speed up the transition game, but mostly, we have to worry about rebounds."

The leading scorers for the 'Cats going into the Oklahoma State game are Steve Henson, who is averaging 17.6 points a game, and Fred McCoy, who comes in at 15.4

points a game. For the Cowboys, five different players have averaged double digits. Richard Dumas leads the Pokes with 16 points per game.

The game will be televised live by ESPN, beginning at 9:10 p.m.

Probable Starters
K-State (11-4)	Pos.	Okla. State (10-5
Dobbins(6-5, Sr.)	F	Dumas(6-7, So.
Britt(6-6, Jr.)	F	Jefferies(6-6, Jr.
McCoy(6-7, Sr.)	C	Houston(6-7, Fr.
Henson(6-1, Jr.)	G	Gafney(6-4, Jr.
Humph.(6-1, Jr.)	G	Williams(6-2, Fr.

Old friends clash as Shockers' Fogler meets Jayhawks' Williams

By The Associated Press

Lady Cats will play lowa State tonight at 7:30 p.m. in Bramlage Coliseum.

LAWRENCE - Wednesday night may be the only time in their lives that Eddie Fogler and Roy Williams want each other to lose.

As assistant coaches under Dean Smith at North Carolina, the two became best of friends. It's a friendship each man speaks of with pride.

But these guys also have jobs. Fogler is head coach of the Wichita State basketball team and Williams holds a similar position at Kansas. And at 8:05 tonight, both teams will tip off in a regionally televised game that promises to capture the attention of an entire state.

Kansas is ranked No. 18 in the country with a 15-3 mark in Williams' first year as successor to Larry Brown. The Jayhawks are beginning a three-game home stretch against the three opponents most of their fans prefer to beat over all else. After Wichita State Wednesday night, the Jayhawks host Kansas State on Saturday and then entertain Missouri on Wednesday.

"I really don't know," Williams of having your arch-rivals follow "He's been important to me as a each other to town in rapid succes- friend and in what I've learned in sion. "Maybe I haven't been here long enough to understand the significance of it, but I think we've got a group of kids who don't get tied up in

"Roy and I are really, really close," Fogler said. "He is a good friend of mine. I just hope it's a good

"Eddie Fogler has been one of the best friends I

-Roy Williams KU basketball coach game, that both teams play hard and both teams pay well. If that happens, then the winning and losing isn't important." Williams denies taking any pleasure in contesting his good friend. "I'd just say I don't like to do it," he said. "He's too good a friend." Both men expect their opposition to be well coached.

"Eddie Fogler has been one of the said when asked of the significance best friends I have," Williams said.

Eddie. He's been a big influence on Although the Shockers are unranked, nobody at Kansas expects an easy time. "They have five kids who started for them lsst year," Williams said.

basketball. A lot of things I've tried to use as a coach I learned from

"They're an experienced team that's been to two straight NCAA tournaments. They have proven players at every position. They'll take good care of the basketball and play hard, sound, fundamental basketball. We've got our work cut out for us."

It seems doubtful that anything could happen in the game to destroy the friendship between the two Dean Smith proteges.

"If we win, I'm going to feel very bad for him," Williams said. "If they win, I'm going to feel bad for our program and our players. I told Eddie right now I'm more concerned for our program and players than I am for him. But I don't enjoy these situations whatever."

Athletes' injuries should be more important than winning, losing you win or lose, but how you play the consin, was injured on the first play game. One coach has also been on record as saying that winning isn't everything — it's the only thing.

The sporting world is full of tired cliches, but to what extent should an athlete take those statements seriously?

Any weekend athlete has heard the phrase "no pain, no gain." But should the athlete play in pain and risk further, even career-ending injury? And what if an athlete is injured and has no chance of returning? What should Cincinnati Bengals' nose tackle Tim Krumrie have done Sunday?

Krumrie cracked his left tibia and fibula (lower leg bones) early in the first quarter of Super Bowl XXIII.

It's been said that it's not whether Krumrie, a six-year player from Wisof San Francisco's second possession as the 49ers were pinned on their own 3-yard line.

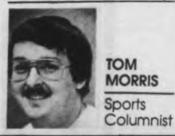

Krumrie was pursuing San Francisco running back Roger Craig on a trap. As Krumrie turned sharply to his left, he apparently planted his left cleat in the soft grass and twisted his leg trying to switch directions.

He stayed at Joe Robbie Stadium well into the second half before doctors advised him to leave for a hospital and an examination. Though it seems as if this is a case of common sense vs. stupidity, two of K-State's athletic trainers were positive Krumrie was in no immediMid-Week Commentary

TOM

MORRIS

"If he was at any risk at all, he would have been evacuated to a hospital immediately," said Carl Cramer, director of sports medicine.

"I'm sure the doctors would have sent him to a hospital right away if they felt he was in any immediate danger," added Steve Brace, trainer for the K-State men's basketball team.

Though Krumrie's injury revived memories of Washington Redskins' quarterback Joe Theismann fracturing his leg during a nationally televised Monday Night Football broadcast. Cramer said one has to remember that is the risk an athlete takes playing football.

"It's tough to see that happen, but that's just the nature of the game," he

A similar incident occurred Saturday when the Wildcats played Nebraska at Lincoln. K-State guard Mark Dobbins was knocked down in the first half by Nebraska's Pete Manning, causing a cut on Dobbins' head that required six stitches. He left the game with 12 minutes remaining in the half.

When Dobbins returned in the second half, he hit his first three shots, all from three-point range to help spark the 'Cats to a 12-point win. This was a comeback almost as noteworthy as the ones accomplished by Jerry Rice, Joe Montana or San Francisco coach Bill Walsh.

As with Krumrie, K-State's trainers stated that an athlete's health wasn't placed in danger to benefit team needs.

Brace said, "After the doctor had treated Mark, he said there was no danger of him furthering that injury and the rest is history.

"We try to stress toughness, and we try to have (athletes ready to play) if they have been injured, but there is no question that we would never place team needs over health care."

pain tolerance are individual areas that need to be evaluated before their playing status can be determined, he

The type of injury and the athletes'

Brace also said something that made a hell of a lot of sense. He said a human life is not worth a win. That's something any athlete should keep in Winning may be the only thing, but it sure isn't worth dying for.

Book helps children accept death

By Britt Owen Collegian Reporter

Although Wilbur loved life and feared dying, his acceptance of Charlotte's death in the book "Charlotte's Web" by E.B. White helps children deal effectively with death, said Rosalind Ladd, professor of philosophy at Wheaton College in Massachusetts.

Ladd, who is also president of the American Association of Philosophy Teachers, spoke on the subject of death in children's literature to an audience of about 60 Tuesday in Denison Hall.

"What a child learns about death and dying from books is more important than it seems," she said.

Because children have ideas and worries about death, children's literature dealing with the subject helps children cope with the transition from one generation to another, Ladd

A group of terminally ill children she studied had read "Charlotte's

"They never chose the happy chapter," Ladd said. "They always chose the chapter that Charlotte

The book is not totally about death, but it does raise the issue. The main value of the story is "what is natural, is good; but what is unnatural, is bad," Ladd said.

The natural death in the story is Charlotte's. The unnatural death includes Wilbur's near-butchering because he is a runt. Charlotte, the spider, led Wilbur, the pig, gradually into acceptance of Charlotte's death, which is how children should be approached, Ladd said.

'Charlotte's own death is described as part of living, growing and dying," she said. "It is planned, accepted and not to be feared."

Charlotte realized she could not control where she died, but she could control how she felt when she died, Ladd said. These values in "Charlotte's Web" can help children by showing them good qualities about death.

The overall tone of Charlotte's death is peaceful and content, she said. Charlotte was content to die because she had accomplished her

"Different families react in different ways," Ladd said.

The way one family deals with death may not be the best way for another. Families can either talk openly among each other, or each member of the family can deal with it individually, she said.

"Death is a fact of life," Ladd said. "I think that kids and adolescents know what it's about and deal with it in their own way."

Even though Charlotte's death was peaceful, she said it is appropriate for children's literature to approach all types of death, even

The best way to approach children about death is with a book, Ladd said. The parents should then discuss the book with the children.

The Collegian reaches more than 18,000 potential customers daily.

Kedzie 103 ClassAds

CLASSIFIED RATES

One day: 15 words or fewer, $2.50, 20 cents per word over 15; Two consecutive dates: 15 words or fewer, $3.50, 25 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.25, 30 cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 35 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $5.00, 40 cents per word over 15.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client an established account with Student Publications. Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon FRIDAY for Monday's Daper

Collegian

Classifieds

532-6555

Check

the

Read the Entertainment Section in the Collegian every Friday.

(Continued on page 11)

Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not after the value of the ad.

Items tound ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE to a perior of expectation three days. They can be for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

Display Classified Rates
One day: $5.20 per inch; Three consecutive days: $5.00 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.80 per inch; Ten consecutive days: $4.60 per inch. (Deadline is 4.30

p.m. two days before publication.)

Classified advertising is available only to those who do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion,

FUNDRINKERY

Comedy Invasion

Mon., Tues., and Wednesday - 9 p.m.

Pat Paulsen along with Beth Donahue

·Presidential Candidate ·Smothers Brothers Comedy Hour

·All Major T.V. Talk Shows Winemaker ·Mayor/Owner of Asti, Cal.

"I've upped my standards ... Now up yours"

Before 3 p.m.

539-4321

Pat Paulson Campaign '88 After 3 p.m. 539-9727 531 N. Manhattan a new taste . a new taste . a new taste . a new taste Receive a free appetizer with the purchase of 2 dinner entrees. coupon expires January 31, 1989

University Inn

17th & Anderson Ave.

Valid Mon.-Thurs. Not valid with any other offer.

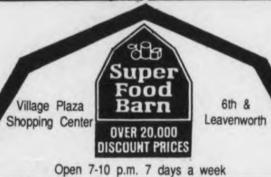

Pitchers TONIGHT

ON TAP COORS LT, BUD, OLD MILW.

•NO DRESS CODE

 NO COVER CHARGE THE FINEST LITTLE TAVERN BY A DAM SITE 537-3133

Budweiser 6 pack 2 Liter Coke (6 12 oz. cans) 89¢ $2.49 Wonder Light Bread Family Pack Buy 1 16 oz. loaf Fryer Breast $1.19/lb. Get 1 Free Betty Crocker Red Emperor Grapes Hamburger Helper

AWARENESS WEEK JANUARY 23-27 1989

Wellness is taking responsibility for our own lives. For optimal wellness, we strive to find a balance in all the dimensions of our life. There are six areas of wellness; physical, social, emotional, vocational, intellectual and spiritual.

VOCATIONAL WELLNESS comes from the personal satisfaction that is derived from performing your work related responsibilities.

We experience occupational wellness when we have integrated our commitment to work into a total lifestyle that is rewarding and personally satisfying,

STOP BY THE PAC-CATS TABLE IN THE UNION

VISIT WITH A PAL (Peer Assistant Leader) TODAY!

PAC-CAT OFFICE Lower Level Lafene Suite 26

GRAM COUNCIL YOUR ENTERTAINMENT ALTERNATIVE

Community Involvement Day Tomorrow

Local community and social service groups will be displaying promotional material and recruiting volunteers tomorrow, January 26 from 10 a.m. - 2 p.m. in the K-State Union Courtyard. K-State faculty, staff, and students, especially those seeking course credit for community service, are encouraged to come. This provides an excellent opportunity to get involved in the Manhattan Community.

k-state union upc issues & ideas

WEDNESDAY HOOH

39¢ lb.

Presents ... Ft. Riley Jazz Mechanics

An 18-piece stage band specializing in Jazz and Big Band sounds.

Wk-state union

$1.29

Sunday, Jan. 29, 1989. $41. Enjoy 12 glistening man-made trails at Snow Creek Ski Resort located in nearby Weston, Missouri. The trip includes roundtrip transportation plus boots, poles, skis and lift tickets. Only $31 with your own equipment. Sign up in the Union Activities Center, 8 a.m.-4 p.m.

WEEKEND IN CHICAGO February 17-19, 1989. $95. From soaring skyscrapers to lakefront parks, luxurious restraurants to tiny hotdog stands, major shopping stores to street vendors, Chicago has it all! Also experience Rush Street, where Chicago's finest nightclubs are located. Trip price of $95 includes roundtrip airline transportion from Kansas City to Chicago and two nights stay at the Oxford House, located near Rush Street. Sign-up begins today in the Union Activities Center, 8 a.m.-4 p.m.

PANAMA CITY BEACH, FLORIDA

March 10-18, 1989. $178-$255. Spend Spring Break at the NEW college hotspot -- Panama City Beach, Florida! The package includes 7 nights beachfront condominium accommodations, 8 beach parties, 8 poolside parties, team and 2-person beach volleyball tournaments with prizes, trip staff advisors and 2 evening poolside barbecues, all for only $255. Drive yourself for only $178. Sign-up begins today in the Union Activities Center, 8 a.m.-4 p.m.

Final Day! Rent a framed piece of art for your place. It only costs from $1 to $3 per semester.

10 a.m. - 3 p.m.

(k-state union

A tall, dark, cowboy-hatted stranger named Goro and a noodle shop operated by Tampopo set out in search of the perfect noodle in the original and delightful comedy from director Juzo Itami. What Moby Dick did for the whale, Tampopo does for the noodle in an inexhaustively charming and inventively erotic way. Unrated. (In Japanese with English subtitles) Wednesday, January 25 and Thursday, January 26, 7:30 p.m., Forum Hall and Thursday, 3:30 p.m., Little Theatre. $1.75

"Moonlighting's" Bruce Willis stars as a New York City detective who becomes the only hope for a group of hostages (one of whom is his estranged wife) being held by 12 terrorists in a Los Angeles high rise office building on Christmas Eve. Armed with only his service revolver, determination and a sense of humor, Willis wages a deadly cat and mous game against the terrorists, who have enough weapons to level an entire city! Rated R. Friday, January 27 and Saturday, January 28 at 7 & 9:30 p.m. and Sunday, Janu ary 29, 7 p.m. in Forum Hall. $1.75

An animated feature film produced by Steven Spielberg which relates a story of a mouse family that finds its way to a new world, striking the emotional chords of America's emigrant history. Washing up on American shores in a bottle, young Feivel the mouse is determined to find his relatives and be reunited in the New World. However, first Feivel must contend with the challenges and chances represented by New York City during the late 1800's. Rated G. Saturday, January 28 and Sunday, January 29 at 2 p.m. in Forum Hall. $1.50

Announcements

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs -skincare -glamor -nails -gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor, 539-2070. COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp 539-6193.

COOKIE ORDERS. Did Girl Scouts miss you again this year? We'll take your order. Call 539-9508. COUCH POTATOES needed for study. Adults 30- 39 years; short, easy testing. Call Laurel 532-6765. DAYTONA SPRING Break sign-ups begin tonight at Brother's 9p.m., beer and free pizza.

FEMALE COUNTRY band needs lead guitar player Call 537-1292 or 776-3206 for more information JEWELRY LOVERS, Where are you???? 75% saving-$$$. Gold rings. $15.00III Silver pendants. $3.00III Manufacturer# 776-5545.

SOUTH PADRE/ Spring Break '89— Nice rooms for a great price! From $109 to $169 on the beach or minutes from it. Five or seven days. Don't spend all your money on a room, —you're never there anyway! (Limited space). Call 1-800-782-7653, ext

VIDEOTAPE YOUR wedding or other parties. $50 and up. Call now for quotation. Budget Video Memories. 537-3716.

WANTED— 100 overweight people to try herbal weight control program. No drugs, no exercise. Doctor recommended. 100% guaranteed. 776-5114.

WHAT MAKES for exciting fulfilling relationships? For a free questionnaire, write: Relationship Survey, Box 5142, Station A, Wilkes- Barre, PA 18710.

2 Apartments—Furnished

BEAUTIFUL THREE-BEDROOM furnished apartment. Large living room, dining room, kitchen on main floor at 1019 Bluermont. Fully carpeted with back

BOY BECOMES MAN-PARTS

"THE POINT OF NO RETURN ..."

JEFF .. I'D LIKE YOU

THERE ARE THREE

THINGS THAT A CHILD

CAN NEVER BE CALLED

SIR, MAAM AND"THE DEFENDANT."

000

JIM, THIS IS

RALPH, YOUR

LAB PARTNER.

UTZAAKE!

SIR.?

Bloom County

TO MEET TROY ... OUR NEW STOCK BOY!

SALAD SY RICHARD BROADFOOT

PLEASED

TO MEET You, SIR!

AND ... NOW

THAT JEFF

HAS BEEN CALLED SIR.

HE IS NO LONG

ER A CHILD

ALTHOUGH HES

STILL NOT

QUITE A

Making the Grade

MAN ...

I'LL LEAVE YOUTWO

ALONE TO GET

BETTER AQUAINTED

WAIT.

FURNISHED OR unfurnished, nice one-bedroom near campus. $260 includes all utilities. 537-4851 after 4:30p.m.

ONE-BEDROOM on Sunset. $260 plus gas and electric. Laundry facilities, no pets, please. 539-5051 or 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT nice, spacious, furn-ished or unfurnished. Available immediately. Lease through May or longer. $300 per month. 537-4648 or 539-1577.

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM on 17th Street available now. Two blocks to campus. Balcony, gas heat, laundry facilities. $310. 537-9020 or 776-3804.

LARGE TWO bedrooms, leases available now and next August. Furnished and unfurnished. Phone 537-9064 daily.

NICE ONE-BEDROOM in Lee/ Hunting area available now. Fireplace, dishwasher, laundry facilities, $340. 539-2103 or 776-3804.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM near City Park in 24-plex. All appliances, laundry facilities. $380, 537-8229 or 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT in City Park area, $235

plus gas and electric. No pets. 539-8229 or 776-3804. ONE-BEDROOM, two balconies, new carpet, across the street from campus. $250. Available now.

STUDIO APARTMENT adjacent to campus, close to Aggleville. College Court Apartments. $220 monthly. Private parking, air conditioning, washer/dryer and storage lockers. Call 532-7159.

THREE-BEDROOM, WASHER/ Dryer. $525/ month, fenced yard, close to campus, fireplace, very nice. 776-1945 or 776-7430.

TWO-BEDROOM, MOST utilities paid. 539-6058 or

FOR LIFE WEYER AGAIN DE PROPERTO DE PROPER

THAT WON'T COME

TILL FRIDAY ...

OH GREAT ... I'LL BE

AN ADOLESCENT

FOR TWO DAYS!

HAVE TO BE DRAWN

SUPPOSE I'LL

WITH ACNE!?

TWO-BEDROOM AT 608 Yuma. Appliances furnished, $225. Off-street parking, pets allowed. 537-1450.

TWO TWO-BEDROOM apartments, one block from campus, $300. Stove and refrigerator furnished. 776-7371 or 1-468-3364.

4 Automobiles for Sale

1955 CHEVY low rider pickup, wide window, 350cu., power steering, power brakes, tilk, Cragar SS, subtramed, $4,250, 537-1539, ask for "Rat."

1973 DODGE Coronet, five new tires, good school car, $700. Call 537-8950 after 5p.m.

1974 MAVERICK, only $300, good interiors, engine, great for moving around. After 5:30p.m., 776-6277, Rick.

1975 FORD- LTD, V-8, two-door, automatic, air conditioning, new battery, timechain, breaker, water-pump, distributor. $750. 537-1012.

1977 T-BIRD, new tires, new paint, good engine

1978 CHRYSLER Cordoba V-8, air conditioning, AM/ FM cassette. Very good condition, 160K miles, must sell, $750, 776-3226.

1980 MAZDA GLC-good condition, $1,100. 539-0136

1980 MERCURY Bobcat. 98Km, four-speed, power brakes, new brakes, very dependable. $750. 776-8881. Keep calling.

1981 ESCORT, cracked head, 76,000 miles, $500.

1981 THUNDERBIRD V-8, two-door, air, AM/FM ste-reo. Good conditions, must sell. $1,600 or best.

ATTENTION- GOVERNMENT seized vehicles from $100. Fords, Mercedes, Corvettes, Chevys. Surplus Buyers Guide. 1-602-838-8885 ext. A1797.

7 Child Care

ACTIVE BALANCED creative day environment. Full day care, preschool. 537-1202.

8 Computers

776-6799.

HEWLETT-PACKARD with MSDOS, Lotus 1,2,3 word processing internal modern, full docume plus HP printer. $800. 532-2026.

LAPTOP DATA General IBM Compatible, 512K, modern, co-processor, Thinkjet Printer. $4,500 new, will sacrifice. 1-238-4998. LINE PRINTER ribbons for sale- Black multistrike no. OM MS (4½ dozen), $1.25 each. Black nylon no. OM NY (15), $2.25 each. Call 532-6555 or come by Kedzie 103 to see.

TRS 80-III, two new drives, modern, Star printer, LeScript, games, free disks! $330 or best offer.

Mills

PERSONAL COMPUTERS Authorized Warranty Service

also servicing

· PC compatibles & printers Televisions & VCRs

MIDWEST SERVICES

9 Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to approach any such "employ-ment opportunity" with reasonable caution.

$10- $860 weekly/ up mailing circulars! Rush self-addressed stamped envelope: Dept. AN-7CC-CU, 9300 Wilshire, Suite 470, Beverly Hills, CA 90212.

$350 A Dayl At Hornel Process phone orders for our company. People call you. Nationwide. For details call (refundable) 1-518-459-8697 ext. K925A.

ASSISTANT TRACK coach. Position begins Feb. 27, 1989 through May 27, 1989. Salary $1,476. Send letter or resurre with qualifications by Jan. 27, 1989 to: USD 383, 2031 Poyntz, Manhattan, KS 66502. 537-2400. EOE

BOY, I CAN'T

WAIT TO CUT

LAB ANIMALS,

HOM BOUT 4005

IF THIS GETS

PRINTED, THE REPUBLIC

15 DOOMED.

UP SOME LITTLE LANDERS!

By Berke Breathed

BOY, "THE DES MOINES

REGISTER

EDITOR WOUL

JUST

By Jim Davis

EQLR!

MISS

ATTENTION— HIRINGI Government jobs— your area. $17,840-$69,485. Call 1-602-838-8885 ext R1797.

GRADUATE ASSISTANT needed to work with nontraditional students in the FENIX office. Excellent career opportunity. Contact Suzanne Knorr, director. Leasure 3 or 532-6434 mornings.

GYMNASTIC COACHES needed. Preschool, competitive, competitive and aerobics. Brand new facility. 539-2835 or 539-3613.

HOUSEKEEPER NEEDED: Live-in housekeeper, near campus. Room, board and salary. Call 1-239-4335 or 539-3210 after 6:30p.m.

JEWELRY MANUFACTURER wants dealers, Sales people. Successful moneymaking business. Investment? Commission? Guaranteed profits or money back!! 776-5545.

LOCAL FINANCIAL Institution seeking part-time teller 3- 6p.m. Monday through Friday, everyday Satur-day from 9a.m.- noon. If interested, call Sue Carlson, 537-0200.

LUNCHROOM PLAYGROUND supervisor. One and one-half to two hours per day, $4 per hour, 7:30-9a.m. and/ or 11a.m.- 1p.m. Apply USD 383, 2031 Poyntz, Manhattan, KS 66502, 537-2400, EOE.

NANNIES NEEDED. Families in New England area looking for responsible individuals to watch children. Good pay and benefits. For spring placement, call now. 537-0947.

PART-TIME SALES person needed to work weekends for local furniture store. Please send resumes to Box 3, c/o The Collegian, Kedzie 103, KSU, Manhattan, KS 66506.

PART-TIME LABORERS, ag background helpful. Apply in person, Neison Poultry Farms, two and one-half miles east Highway 24. 776-9401. PART-TIME SALES help— Retail shoes. Experience preferred. Send schedule, resume to: Box 2, c/o The Collegian, Kedzie 103, KSU, Manhattan, KS

RADIOLOGIC TECHNOLOGIST (A.R.R.T.) on-call position for weekends and occasional relief for nights. Our radiology department features diagnos-tic equipment for procedures including nuclear restricts.

medicine, ultrasound, mammography, diagnostic radiology. The St. Mary Hospital. 776-1981. EOE. RESIDENTIAL ADVISOR III: A private not- for- profit corporation providing services to persons with developmental disabilities has an opening for a Residential Advisor III in a women's group home.

This full-time, live-in position includes a staff apartment with rent and utilities paid, 40 hours per week at $6.44 per hour, and a generous benefit package. Responsibilities include client supervision and programming, household maintenance, record keeping, and supervision of part-time staff; and the programming and evening hours. Minimum qualifiearly morning and evening hours. Minimum qualifi-cations: two years college or high school diploma plus related experience. Two letters of reference pired upon hire. Applications accepted until Jan 27, 1989, at Big Lakes Developmental Center, Inc., 1500 Hayes Drive, Manhattan. EOE.

RESORT HOTELS, Cruiselines, airlines and amusement parks now accepting applications for spring and summer jobs, internships and career positions. For more information and an application, write: National Collegiate Recreation Service, P.O. Box 8074, Hilton Head, SC 29938.

SALES: MAJOR league baseball fan needed. Part-time. Big bucks! Call Homerun Services at (213)473-0700.

SCHOOL SOCIAL Worker paraprofessional, part-time Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday evening 7-9p.m. at Ogden Elementary School. BS degree in social work required. Applications must be received by Jan. 27, 1989 to be considered. Apply to USD 383, 2031 Poyntz, Manhattan, KS 66502. 537-2400.

STUDENT COMPUTER Operator, 30 hours/ w Student must have been enrolled in at least six resident semester hours during the spring semester and remain in the status of a full-time student or be enrolled in four summer school resident hours. Must be willing to work evenings, weekends, during school recesses and summer months. Undergraduates with an employment potential of at least two years will be given preference. Previous computer experience and grade point average will be used in the selection criteria. Computer Science major not essary. Qualified persons in all disciplines are encouraged to apply EOE. Applications will be accepted until 5p.m., Jan. 27, room 2, Farrell

SUB-N-STUFF SANDWICH Shop is accepting applica tions for delivery drivers, late night and lunch help. Apply in person, 1200 Moro, no phone calls please.

SUMMER JOBS outdoors. Over 5,000 openings! National parks, forests, fire crews. Send stamp for free details. 113 E. Wyoming, Kalispell, MT 59901.

SUMMER JOBSII Two of Minnesota's finest summer youth camps seek college students to work as counselors. Employment June-August. For an application and interview, call Jeff at -800-451-5270 ext 310.

By Bob Berry THE STATION under new ownership is now taking applications for barrender, waiter/ waitress, door and DJ help. Apply 1115 Moro, 1-5p.m.

TUTOR NEEDED for "watfor77" IE 372 computer and data processing class. Phone 776-3517 after 6p.m. WORK-STUDY STUDENT to work with non-traditional students in the FENIX office. Contact Suzanne Knorr, director, Leasure 3 or 532-6434 mornings

Delivery drivers and inside personnel needed Contact

Falsettos PIZZA

12 Houses/Mobile Homes for Rent

539-3830

FREE GROCERIESI Rent two-bedroom mobile home. receive $50 groceries at Dillons Stores. Rent three-bedroomtrailer, get $75 groceries. 776-8552. Valid only until 2/10/89.

13 Houses/Mobile Homes for Sale

ATTENTION- GOVERNMENT homes from $1 (You repair). Delinquent tax property. Reposs Call (602)838-8885 ext GH1797.

14 Lost and Found

FOUND: MALE dachshund puppy, black and brown in the Shop Quik parking lot across from Goodnow Hall, Call 537-1096.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, Wednesday, January 25, 1989

FOUND: PAIR of black leather gloves found in Denison Hall room 113-A. Claim at Union Lost and Found.

LOST 1/19; Silver foil brooch, square knot shape Reward. Call Susan, 539-3668 before 10p.m. LOST: LIQUID silver/ turquoise necklace. Great per-sonal value. Please call Cecille Benson, 537-4750 (work) or 539-8628 (home). Lost on campus.

LOST MY guitar at a car wash. Significant reward to you for it's return. 776-0765.

15 Miscellaneous Merchandise

1300 SQUARE feet used rust-colored carpet. $250.

BOOKSHELF, DESK chairs, student and office desk beds, couch, misc. furniture. 776-9705. NIKON FE2 black body, good condition, $375. Nikon Nikkor 28mm 1/2.8, good condition $200. Chris

776-5994 after 5p.m. REFRIGERATOR FOR sale. Nice for bar or bedroom

Hayes House of Music

Guitar Strings & Drum Sticks 327 Poyntz

Buffet, Salad Bar and Dessert Bar

Hours: 11 a.m.-9 p.m. Hwy. 24 East 21/2 miles east of mall

Details Unlimited

99¢ BURGER BAR

$2 sessions

776-2426

coupon expires 1/29/89 sessions expire 6/31/89

HOUSTON STREET BALLROOM

Wedding Receptions Dances, Parties For direct bookings call 539-1234

16 Motorcycles/Bicycles for Sale

1982, 550 Yarnaha Maxim. Good condition. New tires $700. 539-8218.

1984 HONDA Aspencade 1200, 19,000 miles, looks and runs like new, extra chrome. Super buy at $4,950. Price a new onel 537-1539.

PEUGEOT 10-SPEED, ladies' 26" bicycle, blue, excellent condition, $150 or best offer, 776-7260.

17 Musical Instruments

SEVERAL OLD and new violins, violas and cellos with excellent tone, 539-8844.

18 Personals

AGD JULIE: You are the love of my Ille, sweetie. I give to you my love each day, and wish joy for us in every way. Our hopes and dreams will certainly come true, for nothing will ever stop me from loving you. Happy anniversary, darling. I Love You, Brian. TO THE three men at Varney's on Monday at six; We loved the laughs, killipops, and all of your tricks; We appreciate your generosity, so three suckers we've got; It's up to you now to write back or not.

Sigma Nu Jeff & Lambda Chi Doug:

To our hot accomplices in Spontaneity: Roger Rabbit was fun, but K.C.'s number one! An hour and half wait to bowl, no way! Hey! Who picked up the toll? We've got a new saddle -no cosmetics, but lots of zots. Watch out for flying leaps into the back seat followed by screams of laughter Bring out the ammunition! Summers past and dates from hell revealed, our secrets entrusted, we arrived in K.C., What? No ice skates? At least the officers were friendly. Onto the Plaza, it's forty bucks and doesn't even use gas! I guess we'll settle for legal 'shrooms and provalone. How bout those friendly KU people? Never knew dutch could be so much fun. Who knows what 'substance' the future holds? Did we hear Chicago? Until next time ...

You were absolutely WONDERFUL! Your KKG and G-Phi gals, Ward and Skel-Spontaneity I & II

20 Professional Services

DISSERTATIONS, THESES, term papers, mail merg-ing, labels, text scanning. Laser printing. Call

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy ntial. Call 537-9180. 103 South Fourth

PROMPT ABORTION and contraceptive services in Lawrence. (913)841-5716.

21 Rentals

SINGLE GARAGES near Aggleville. $25 per month

SUBLEASE AVAILABLE. January- May. Two-bedroom furnished apartment, second floor near Aggleville. $300 plus electricity, about $10 monthly. 539-8881, evenings.

22 Resume/Typing Services

TERM PAPERS, cover letters, resumes, theses and dissertations entered, stored and completed to your specifications. Come see us. Ross Secretarial Services, 614 N. 12th (across from Kite's)

Are you ready for your job interview? Let Graphics Plus prepare your resume. Typeset and laserprinted for a clean, professional look. Graphics Plus, corner of N. Manhattan and Bluemont, Aggieville, 539-6027

23 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE, OWN room, two blocks from campus, $106.25/ month plus utilities. Call 1-762-4242.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted— own room— two blocks from campus. Will come down on price! Call

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to share three-bedroom apartment. Own room, close to campus. February rent free. No deposit required. Call 539-1203. FEMALE TO share house close to campus, furnished

$162.50/ month plus deposit. Share utilities. Call Renee at 539-8695. MALE OR female to share apartment till May. One and one-half blocks west $135 plus utilities. Call for information. 776-7980. ROOMMATE WANTED for two-story house with hard-wood floors and bannister. Beautiful. 776-0553/ 1-492-3166.

ROOMMATE WANTED to share three-bedroom house non-smoker, five minutes from campus. $160 month, pets ok. 537-8550.

SHARE A house. Own room plus use of kitchen, living a and all utilities. $95 a month for rent. Cal

539-0356 to inquire. WANTED: FEMALE roommate, $130, 539-1132.

es. Call anytime 539-1308.

WANTED: ONE or two roommates to share large house. Own room. Central heat and air, Fireplace, color TV, VCR, microwave, furnished except for bed-room. Deck with large backyard. Driveway parking. two blocks from campus. Low rent, one-sixth

24 Situation Wanted

FIST HOLE Repair Co. We fix party damaged walls. For imate, call after 6p.m. ask for Chris.

539-8036. GYMNASTICS, SPECIAL preschooler classes now available. Call 776-0765.

28 Martial Arts

MARTIAL ARTS- Learn to gracefully defend yourself and ward off brutal, hostile attackers in our vibrant Tae Kwon Do Martial Arts Class. Class starts Friday, Jan. 27. Only $47. Call $32-5566 to register, or stop by College Court Building. Any questions? Call $32-5570 for information. Act now.

29 Wanted

CAN'T GO to the NU vs. KSU BB game? Sell me your tickets. Call Audra 532-6556— day or 539-7571 after 10p.m.

Crossword

By Eugene Sheffer

39 Former

46 Make series

55 Brood of

in layers

37 Golf club 58 Ending 11 - and for short 38 First gardener?

4 Take care

5 Aries

6 Make angry

7 Judge's road bench

59 Dirk

chess DOWN champ 1 Tiny 41 Barber socialists? shop cry 2 Elias 43 Populate amends 13 Brazilian 50 Skunk's bird defense 14 Not at 51 Doublehome crosser 54 Skirt or 15 Loren film heroine 18 Pinnacle of glacier 19 Bestow 21 Air follower

24 Actress

ACROSS

1 Melville's

captain

(movie)

5 "Adam's

8 French

town trademark

Hagen 25 Feed the kitty 28 Hardy heroine 30 He gets slapped in old movie

33 Handle clumsily 34 Send in payment 35 Yale man 36 G.L's

address

Solution time: 24 mins.

1-25

terminer or percent 16 Wood sorrel 20 Evict 22 Roman iourney 23 Devil 25 Psych. or Julia 26 Forty 3 Hebrew

29 — qua non 31 - carte 32 Obscure 34 Rivulet pheasants 8 Holy one 38 Garrets 40 Spring 56 Containers 9 Deceitful

winks

odds

27 Good

57 Come off 10 Country month 42 Totem 4 mins. 43 Splendor tainer Adams

> 45 Sight in Sicily IITS 47 Arabian sultanate 48 Hawaiian 49 Gaelic

> > 52 Costume component, often AT 53 "- to the West Wind"

CRYPTOQUIP

1.25

KRZ ITEC PBG YQHGA RHE QMG XBTGYNC MBE RBPUZNZY

PHEEHGA NZSZUKBSXZ Yesterday's Cryptoquip: AMUSING PUPPETEER WANTED ROMANCE WITH NO STRINGS ATTACHED.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: C equals Y

SO WHO WANTS TO WIN

AN "UGLY DOG" CONTEST?

Japanese comedy, Tampopo, 'takes noodles too seriously'

By Mark Schreiner Collegian Reviewer

"Tampopo," a Japanese comedy combining elements of "Airplane," "Monty Python" and "The A-Team," has one central joke - taking noodles too seriously.

The plot involves Tampopo, a widowed restaurant owner and Goro, a smoking, bandana-wearing, hattilting noodle guru.

A character similar to Hannibal Smith of "The A-Team," Goro saves Tampopo's son from some bullies and then walks into Tampoco's rundown restaurant just in time to see her being run-out by gangsters.

Goro slaps food on the head thug's face to get them to leave Tampopo alone, getting beat up in the process but Tampopo nurses him to health.

Review

To repay her, Goro gathers a crew of noodle connoisseurs - himself; his friend, Gun; a chauffeur; a hobo; good noodles and save her restaurant.

Tampopo's noodles start out lousy.

One customer, as tactful as an English teacher, says, "They're not alive enough. They lack vigor. And they lack profundity.'

Gun just says, "Frankly, they're bad.'

Goro trains Tampopo as if he were her drill sergeant. Between workouts, they visit other noodle restaur- food, including the sex scenes.

ants, noting masters' techniques while stealing recipes.

Along the way, Goro becomes sweet on Tampopo, but his first love

While Goro and Tampopo train, the film splits into vignettes that have nothing to do with the main plot except that each story is food-related. In one, an old woman in a supermarket squeezes the fruit until the juice squirts out, puts her fingers in and butter smears the jam on sweet rolls before the store manager catches her and slaps her wrist with a flyswatter. In another, a child in a zoo wearing a sign that reads, "I eat only natural foods. Do not give me sweets or sugar," is tempted by an old man with an ice cream cone. All the jokes fit into the category of slurping, burping, vomiting and throwing food. In one scene, Tampopo faints and Goro asks for water, which he drinks before spitting into her face to revive her. The film's humor is as good as and a fat man - to teach her to make Monty Python's, only without the silly paper-puppet scenes and with a harder-to-understand accent.

One of its weaknesses is that Tampopo" is a Japanese film with English subtitles, and the subtitle writer made grammar and usage errors, using, for example, "kaleidoscope" when "telescope" was meant.

The film has its disgusting parts, as when Tampopo watches the blood of a freshly knifed turtle being squeezed into a bowl. Everything is related to

"Tampopo" tries to be serious in parts, but fails. While it was entertaining to watch a dentist and his assistants vomit out a window after seeing an abscess in a patient's mouth, it was not entertaining to watch Goro and Tampopo try to fall

"Tampopo" is funny, but disjointed. At the screening, the reels were shown out of order, but I didn't notice until it was pointed out.

Humor, not noodles, is what "Tampopo" is about. Despite being a foreign film, it is not an art film anymore than "Airplane" is an art film. Anyone can understand and appreciate a one-minute scene of 20 women slurping spaghetti.

"Tampopo" makes no serious social statements, but it does succeed in poking fun at a country that, in many ways, takes itself more seriously than even America takes itself.

Finally, it was good to see a Japanese skyline without the accompaniment of a plastic model breathing atomic death on panicked citizens with dubbed voices.

Overall, "Tampopo" tries to be a lot of things and succeeds in being funny and fun. To take it seriously would be like taking noodles

"Tampopo," which means "dandelion" in Japanese, is unrated, 114 minutes in duration and will be shown in Forum Hall 7:30 tonight and 3:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Cabinet

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

was come to the Student Government Services office.'

Urbauer was chosen, Bolden said, because she wants to get involved with student government. She was also was a member of Cuffy's campaign staff.

To the position of director of international affairs, Cuffy appointed Faisal Sheikh Razzaq, senior in finance. Razzaq's involvement in International Coordinating Council and his concern for international students were major factors in the decision, he Cuffy wants to see an "interchange" of cultures, Bolden said. Bringing the concerns of internation-said.

al students to Student Senate is important and the international affairs director will assist Cuffy in doing that.

Troy Lubbers, senior in marketing, was selected as state and community affairs director because of the amount of experience he has with the Manhattan community, Bolden said. Lubbers will inform the cabinet and Senate about community issues.

Attorney general was appointed as Michael Kadel, senior in bakery science and management. Bolden said although Kadel does not have as much knowlege of the campus judicial system, he was selected because he is "very personable" and will "learn the system fast."

Other appointments were Carl Charles, freshman in information systems, as minority affairs director; Connie Coltrane, sophomore in chemical engineering, as college council coordinator; Barbara Baker, graduate student in educational counseling, public relations director; Maria del Pilar Soler, senior in animal sciences and industry, as student personnel and special projects coordinator.

LOSS

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

"You probably don't want to do business with a $6 million business in longhand," Miller said. "To update ... I implemented computerization." Two new positions were also created in the department. "Before we were done, we had overspent, or we will have overspent the budget by $800,000 or $900,000," he said.

Miller said the department plans on defraying costs through increases in fund-raising, basketball attendance and other cost-saving measures.

"Our literal deficit will only be about $500,000 to $400,000," Miller said. "Actually at the end of the year we will come out $300,000 or $400,000 ahead of all of our projections. So, had we not had these unbudgeted losses - primarily football revenue - we would have been load," he said. in great shape."

Miller said the recent probations given to Big Eight teams by the NCAA will be another way K-State will lose revenue.

"They're going to cost us some money - how much money remains to be seen," he said.

The conference has estimated a loss of $4.5 million for the first year of the probations.

Miller said the department could remedy its budget problems in five ways: a student fee, fundraising efforts, gate receipts, guarantees and state appropriations.

The athletic department intends to ask for a fee of $15 per semester per full-time student, an amount which would raise a projected $420,000, Miller said.

"We feel it's a very realistic and a very elemental request we're making of the students. But they are only one component of five, it's not as if we're saying students should shoulder the

Chris Kern, chairman of Student

$ 1 50

Senate's student affairs and social services committee, said the athletic department will present its proposal to the committee Monday.

Any student fee increase must be sent to the Board of Regents by March 29 or 30. Kern said if a student referendum on the issue occurs, it will probably be March 28.

Other avenues of increasing revenue through student support might be explored if the student fee fails, Miller said. Those avenues include increasing ticket prices or packaging football and basketball season tickets.

Projections for the 1989-90 budget estimate a revenue of about $7.3 million with $100,000 being placed in reserve and $260,000 to cover a portion of the current shortfall, Miller

The remaining shortfall is projected to be paid in fiscal year

Camp Ozark Counselor Positions

A Christian sports and adventure camp for boys and girls ages 8-16. located in the heart of the Ouachita Lake and Mountain Region in Arkansas, is now accepting applications for counselor positions.

SLIDE PRESENTATION:

For More Information Contact:

We Care Enough to Listen . . . Do You?

FONE VOLUNTEER TRAINING

Jan. 28, 9 a.m.-5 p.m. UFM house 1221 Thurston For further info call 537-0999 after 5 p.m. FONE CRISIS CENTER

Isn't it about time for a date dash? TONIGHT

WE'RE READY FOR YOU AT

A LEADER IN ENERGY

· A STRONG INTERNATIONAL COMPANY WITH A PROMISING FUTURE

•THE ENERGY SEGMENT OF DUPONT, THE WORLD'S LARGEST CHEMICAL COMPANY, A TOP TEN FORTUNE 500 COMPANY

As a leader in the energy industry and an integral part of DuPont, Conoco provides outstanding opportunities for graduates with demonstrated initiative and a commitment to excellence.

We have an outstanding Management Development Program and an aggressive team of employees which keeps us at the competitive edge. We are looking for exceptional ENGINEERING (Chemical, Civil, Industrial, Mechanical and Electrical) and MBA GRADUATES to enter one of the best Management Development Programs in the industry.

CONOCO INC.'S SUPPLY AND TRANSPORTATION DEPARTMENT WILL BE ON CAMPUS FEBRUARY 15th AND 16th TO INTERVIEW SPRING AND FALL '89 GRADUATES.

Please inquire at the KSU Placement Office for Details

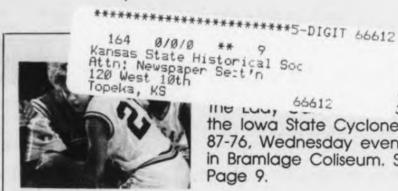

Reconstructing

Topeka has almost recovered from the November tornado that caused $4 million in damage. See Page 10.

Weather

Morning clouds and foggy today, becoming mostly sunny by afternoon, high in mid-40s. North winds around 10 mph. Mostly clear tonight, low in lower to mid-20s.

ITIE LULY the lowa State Cyclones, 87-76, Wednesday evening in Bramlage Coliseum. See

 9

Thursday

January 26, 1989

Kansas State University Manhattan, Kansas 66506 Volume 95, Number 86

Kansas State Collegian

Task force attempting to retain minorities

By Carol Knorr Collegian Reporter

Because retention of minority students at K-State has been dismally low, a task force has developed additional programs and financial support to increase the retention rate.

"Numbers show that (minority) enrollment has remained fairly stable, but retention is the problem," said Anne Butler, assistant dean/ director for Educational Supportive Services.

Hakim Salahu-Din, assistant director of admissions, said, "Very few colleges and universities are doing a good job recruiting minorities.'

K-State has been working on programs to enhance retention, but there is much that has not been done, Salahu-Din said.

During the fall semester, 949 minority students enrolled at K-State, which was an increase of 11 percent from the 1983 enrollment, when the last minority enrollment figures were taken.

New student minority enrollment was 321 in the fall semester compared with 206 new students enrolled five years ago - a 36 percent

A minority task force was established during the fall semester to investigate the retention patterns at additional financial resources for committee minority scholarships and developing programs to enhance individuals' college experience, said Reginland McGowan, director of Upward

Butler said the task force was divided into three subcommittees: a group studying past efforts K-State has used to address minority retenmaking recommendations.

"It appeared that the retention rate was 6 to 8 percent - with even fewer (minorities) graduating who actually started as freshmen at K-State," she

Salahu-Din said the admissions office has established several additional scholarships to recruit minori-

K-State. The task force has discussed tion, a group collecting data, and a ty students in the 1989 fall semester. "A total of $2,000 will be given to each semifinalist (qualifying) for the National Achievement Program for Negro students, and $2,000 will be awarded to each semifinalist of the National Hispanic Awards Program," Salahu-Din said.

He said the admissions office increased scholarships by more than 200 percent since 1986 with the cooperation of some colleges.

"In 1986, we had a base of $12,000 for minority admissions scholarhips," Salahu-Din said. "The (scholarship) figure is now $36,750."

Fifty-three minority students accepted Academic Achievement and Leadership Scholarships for the 1988 fall semester.

The AALS scholarship emphas-

Scholarship bill focuses on retention

Students could be eligible to get $750 per semester

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA - As many as a hundred minority students could receive college scholarships beginning this fall if a Senate bill discussed in committee Wednesday is enacted.

Under the proposed Kansas Ethnic Minority Scholarship Program, eligible Kansas residents could receive up to $750 per semester for as many as five years of college.

Eligible students would have to have strong academic records and be enrolled full time in a state Board of Regents university.

The board would select the recipients of the scholarships.

Discussion by the Senate Committee on Education indicated that although the program would apply primarily to incoming high school students, it would also include those already enrolled in college.

$50,000 from the state general fund to finance the program next fiscal governor for education, told the committee that Hayden is concerned about losing ethnic minorities to colleges outside of Kansas. She cited an American Council of Education study that said the main reason for the "brain drain" was economic.

cerned about the decline in ethnic minorities graduating from Kansas colleges.

Although there has been an Black enrollment has decreased.

The committee also heard testimony from Clantha McCurdy, director of student financial aid for the regents. McCurdy said that lowerand middle-income blacks especially are under-represented in Kansas

Minorities assume there will be no financial aid available, she said. The program would help correct that view.

Celso Ramirez, acting executive director for the Kansas Advisory Committee on Hispanic Affairs, told the committee he was concerned about the bill's requirement of an American College Testing score of at least 21 points. He said minorities at the University of Kansas averaged 17.2 points.

'KACHA recognizes the standards chosen by the committee are designed to attract only the very best minority students," he said. "KAC-HA is concerned about the student who may not qualify under these cuss the bill further today.

izes academics and leadership and adds credibility to minority recruitment, Salahu-Din said. The financial aid office and some colleges have offered at least 17 additional scholarship programs to minority students.

"There are several bright spots in minority education at K-State," Butler said.

The College of Education has a fellowship program to train doctorate level students to work in the education field, she said.

Michael Holen, associate dean of the College of Education, said, "It is one of the largest fellowship programs on campus. It has been a series of programs since the early '70s. The size of the program fluctuates, but it is the largest it has ever been right

In addition to the College of Education's efforts to improve minority education, the political science department offers a master's program in public administration, Butler said. The program's objective is to train more minority students.

Salahu-Din said the College of Engineering has "assistance and persistence" in retaining minorities, especially through awarding scholarships.

K-State's minority programs that

Exchange program's agreement finalized

By Audra Dietz Staff Writer

Officials from K-State and the University of Missouri at Kansas City announced Tuesday an architectural exchange program that will be a cooperative effort to prevent the duplication of programs between the universities.

The agreement allows students to take their first two years of architectural course work at UMKC, then transfer to K-State to complete a five year degree, said Mark Lapping, dean of the College of Architecture and Design.

The agreement, announced by President Jon Wefald and UMKC Chancellor George A. Russell, will join K-State's College of Architecture and Design and UMKC's Department of Art and Art History.

'The state of Missouri can't support an architecture program, and this agreement lets (UMKC) participate in one without having to pour out all the expense," said Max Skidmore, dean of UMKC's College of Arts and Sciences.

All the courses from UMKC's predesign and architecture program will transfer to K-State so students will not lose any credit hours, Lapping said. The UMKC curriculum includes composition, physics, draw-

"An enrollment cap of 30 students has been set for the fall semester," said Joy Swallow, UMKC assistant professor of architecture.

Swallow, a K-State graduate, was hired by UMKC as the program's coordinator.

As part of the agreement, K-Staters specializing in urban design will also be able to transfer to UMKC for their last year of course work.

"The program at UMKC is considered an extension of the K-State College of Architecture and Design, and faculty members from both universitites will teach classes," Skidmore Wefald and Skidmore said the program will benefit both universities.

"There is no need for both states to have separate architecture programs when we can work together," Skidmore said.

Neither UMKC nor K-State will charge out-of-state tuition for students who are enrolled in the counterpart's portion of the program, Lapping said.

UMKC has designated the Epperson House for the two-year program, Swallow said, because the building has adequate classroom and studio ing, basic design, theory and history space. It will be open 24 hours a day.

Hayden's tax-cut proposal raises opposition in House

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA - Opposition to Gov. Mike Hayden's proposal to cut individual income taxes by $78.9 million is forming among a significant group of House members who want to bring back a deduction for federal taxes paid.

A group of House members perhaps as many as 50 - plans to introduce a bill Thursday to give taxpayers the option of taking a deduction for federal taxes paid or foregoing the deduction for lower tax rates. -$16.5 million more than Hayden's plan.

The proposal is known as the "Oklahoma option" because it is patterned after an Oklahoma law that allows taxpayers to choose between the deduction and lower rates.

Hayden's proposal, which passed the Senate 29-11 on Tuesday, calls for cuts in the state's tax rates.

Rep. Robert Vancrum, R-Overland Park, told the House Taxation Committee that he plans to introduce his bill Thursday, and supporters plan to try to amend the bill during the committee's debate and on the floor of the House. Vancrum It would cost the state $95.4 million said the measure could have between 40 and 50 sponsors.

"There seems to be considerable ■ See TAXES, Page 14

Gov. Mike Hayden has requested

Denise Apt, special assistant to the

Apt said the governor also is con-increase in the number of ethnic minorities enrolled in Kansas colleges since 1982, that is because more Asians have enrolled, Apt said.

colleges.

standards." The committee is expected to dis-have existed for a number of years include ESS and Upward Bound.

Michael Townsley, sophomore in dance, during the Modern Three

Charles Pacquette, dance artist in residence, gives instruction to dance class in Ahearn Field House. Pacquette, who is teaching four classes, will be at K-State for four months.

Dance instructor teaches variety

By Craig Hamrick Collegian Reporter

Growing up in a small town in western Massachusetts, Charles Pacquette, dance artist in residence, had absolutely no interest in dancing. Although his younger sister took ballet lessons, he never gave dancing a second thought.

Pacquette spent most of his childhood participating in a variety of sports, ranging from gymnastics to track and field. When he started taking dance improvisation classes as part of karate training at the age of 19, he discovered a new world. Now, at 33, Pacquette has joined the K-State faculty.

"I've always enjoyed moving, but dance gave me something an emotional fulfillment that I didn't get from other sports. It's a connection of the mind, body and spirit in a stronger way than sports gave me."

As dance artist in residence, Pacquette teaches four classes - three in modern dance and one in improvisation and movement. He arrived in Manhattan Jan. 9 and will stay for four months.

"It's a temporary position, so the students get a wider variety of teachers and a wider background in modern dance," he said. "It's also an advantage for me because I get to visit the Midwest without making a full commitment."

This is the first time Pacquette more," Pacquette said. "It gave me has been to this part of the country and he said it is very different from his home in the East.

"Coming over on the plane, I was amazed to see the flatness and how sectioned off everything is," he said. "It looked like the back side of a transistor board."

Pacquette is experienced in performing and choreographing a variety of dance forms, including ballet, jazz and tap, but his favorite is modern dance.

"It's more free-spirited than ballet," he said. "In modern dance you deal with movement through time and space rather than trying to simply exercise a series of codified steps. Modern dance opens up more for creativity."

The creative process is something Pacquette said he is trying to understand.

"As time goes on I'd like to get a better understanding of what I'm doing and I'd like to make my dances clearer in their intent and their ability to move people," he said. "It can be frustrating because creativity isn't a tangible thing and you have to be open to everything."

Compared with other dancers, Pacquette started dancing at a late age, but said he plans to continue many years, as one of his idols, modern dancer Merce Cunningham, has done.

"(Cunningham) is getting old and his feet are arthritic," Pacquette ■ See INSTRUCTOR, Page 14

... Around the world

Tanker spills oil on Danube

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia - A Bulgarian tanker hit a stone quay, causing an oil leak that left a slick 1,000 yards long and 50 yards wide on the Danube River at Bratislava, the Czechoslovak news agency reported Wednesday.

The Bulgarian vessel, carrying heavy heating oil, hit the quay after the tow rope broke Tuesday evening, the news agency

In another accident Wednesday, a second ship, the Austrian Carrera II, ran aground and also began leaking oil, CTK said.

The ship had been on its way to Vienna from the port of Komarno, CTK said.

Contra organizer ambushed

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras - A former armed forces chief who helped the Reagan administration organize the Nicaraguan Contra rebel forces in Honduras was ambushed and killed Wednesday, officials and witnesses said.

Salvador Lobo, director of emergencies at the State Hospital School, told reporters Gen. Gustavo Alvarez Martinez died of gunshot wounds near his home in the capital's Florencia

Witnesses said six gunmen waited for Alvarez Martinez outside his home and poured submachine-gun fire into his car. The driver was also killed and Alvarez Martinez's son-in-law was wounded, police said.

One witness, Alba Luz Guzman, told The Associated Press the men "intercepted me and forced me to get out to flee afterwards in my automobile."

Radio America, a local station, said anonymous callers claimed responsibility on behalf of the Popular Liberation Forces, a leftist group.

Police found Guzman's car four miles away. Alvarez Martinez, 56, was chief of the armed forces from 1982 to 1984 under the government of President Roberto Suazo Cordova.

He was once considered the most powerful figure in Honduras and worked closely with the Reagan administration to set up the operations of U.S.-supported Nicaraguan rebels in Honduran base camps.

Couple wins betting pools

LONDON - A woman who along with her husband was facing unemployment has become a millionaire by winning big in the soccer pools.

Sheila Marshall of Normanton in central England won $1,122,180.

On Monday, Marshall had been told the company where she had worked for nine years was closing. Her husband, Alan, also was facing unemployment because of the imminent closing of the coal mine where he works.

Marshall, 49, said she used the family's star signs - Gemini, Virgo and Pisces — to help pick the lucky numbers.

Alan Marshall, 48, said the couple had been planning a silver wedding anniversary trip to Rio de Janeiro two years ago but could not afford to go. "Now it's very much back on the cards," he said.

The Marshalls shared a $3.54 million payout. The other winners were not identified, at their request.

IMPRESSIONS

Mair care center

$5 OFF Perm or Highlight

$3 OFF Haircut

ask for Linda Horne

15% off ebony services, ask for Angie

... Around the region

Driver, child die in accident

OTTAWA - A school bus skidded off a muddy country road and into a creek on the way to school Wednesday morning. A 16-year-old sophomore helped several children to safety as the bus began to sink in the cold water, but the driver and one child were trapped and died.

Bill Riley, one of 12 students on the bus, said the bus was upside down in the water and "I just started grabbing them and throwing them out the door." Dead are Dale R. Thomasson, 46, a teacher, counselor and school bus driver, and Loren Newkirk II, 8, both of Wellsville in rural east-central Kansas. Deputies said the two were trapped under the bus in the cold water of Walnut Creek for more than an hour. Newkirk was freed and survived for more than four hours before being pronounced dead at an Ottawa hospital Wednesday afternoon.

Franklin County deputy Alan Radcliffe said Bill Raley, a sophomore at Wellsville High School, "started getting kids out of the back. He went back to get the (8-year-old) kid and the bus rolled again. He jumped out and they said they never saw the driver or the other kid again."

Raley said in a telephone interview from his home later that he was frightened when the bus went into the creek and his heroics were "all just kind of a reaction." Rain had fallen dur-

He recalled that Thomasson hit the brakes as he went around a curve about seven miles northeast of Ottawa. "The bus flipped over...it went over the side and the bus rolled twice,"

"After it rolled over, it was lying on its top and I just started grabbing them and throwing them out the door. I got one out, a girl. Then the bus rolled over on its wheels and started filling up with water. And then I helped get another one out. The others had gotten out by themselves," Raley said.

Lawmakers: Water bill unfair

TOPEKA - Several lawmakers studying a proposal for permane it funding sources for the state Water Plan said Wednesday that agriculture would pay more than its fair share under

"As we look at who is responsible for water contamination, agriculture is responsible for 5 percent and industry 44 percent," Don Rezak, D-Onega, told members of the House Energy and Natural Resources Committee. "I think we need to prorate this down for those causing the problems."

Rezak did not say who is to blame for the other 51 percent of the contamination.

The committee began discussing possible changes in a proposal that would raise $14.6 million for the state Water Plan, mostly through user fees.

A 3 percent tax would be added to the sale of water, 2 percent to the sale of fertilizers and 4 percent to the sale of some

The bill also calls for $2 million to come from severance tax receipts and $1.5 million from a solid waste tipping fee. Rep. Eugene Shore, R-Johnson, said that because farmers, particularly irrigation farmers, use large quantities of pesticides and fertilizer, the plan would disproportionately overtax them.

"Oil and industry have caused more problems than anyone else," he said.

Campus Bulletin

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Campus organizations are encouraged to use Campus Bulletin. All announcements must be submitted by 11 a.m. one day prior to publication. Announcements for Monday's bulletin must be in by 11 a.m. Friday. However, publication is determined by the amount of space available on a first-come, first-serve basis and is not ensured. Information forms are available on the shelf outside Kedzie 118. Forms should be left in the box on the shelf after being filled out. All submissions must be signed and are subject to verification. Questions should be directed to the Collegian's campus editors in Kedzie 116.

SPRING DANCE '89 auditions will be from 5 to 7 p.m. today in Aheam 304. For more information, contact Luke Kahlich, director of

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Bruce K. Erickson at 2 p.m. Friday in Veterinary Medical Complex 235. The dissertation topic is "Cardiopulmonary Responses During High Intensity Treadmill Exercise in the Horse."

CAREER PLANNING AND PLACE-MENT is posting sign-up schedules for oncampus employment interviews by Kansas, regional and national employers. All eligible candidates are urged to register and apply

TODAY

EATING DISORDER SUPPORT GROUP will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 205.

COLLEGIATE FFA will meet at 8:30 p.m. in Waters 135.

RODEO CLUB will meet at 7 p.m. in Web-

ENGINEERING AMBASSADOR EXECUTIVES will meet at 6:15 p.m. in Dur-

ENGINEERING AMBASSADORS will meet at 7 p.m. in Durland 173.

KANSAS STATE ENGINEER MAGA-ZINE will meet at 5:30 p.m. in Durland 127.

SAILING CLUB will meet at 7 p.m. in

BETA ALPHA PSI will meet at 6 p.m. in

Calvin 212. Fall and spring pledges must BAPP CLUB will meet at 5:30 p.m. at

AG AMBASSADORS AND AG REPS

will meet at 6 p.m. in Waters 117. SIGMA DELTA PI will meet at 7 p.m. in BUSINESS EDUCATION STUDENTS will meet at 5:30 p.m. at 1835 Cedar Crest for a pizza party. ASCE will meet at 7:40 p.m. in Throckmor-

ICTHUS will meet at 8 p.m. in the Union

Little Theatre.

PAC-CATS will meet at 1 p.m. in Lafene

NASE will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Union For-

FORESTRY AND PARK RESOURCES CLUB will meet at 7 p.m. in Call 160.

CAMPUS CRUSADE FOR CHRIST will meet at 7 p.m. in Throckmorton 131.

PAC-CATS will meet at 11:30 a.m. in

GYMNASTICS CLUB will meet at 8 p.m. in Natatorium 4. SUNDAY

STUDENTS FOR EDUCATIONAL AWARENESS will meet at 8 p.m. in Union

K-State Police

Tuesday

 A student parking permit was reported stolen from a vehicle parked behind Derby Food Center. ■ The tail lights and rear hatch of a vehicle parked in lot B-3 were damaged.

Wednesday

Suspicious activity was reported in Justin Hall.

A student parking permit was reported lost on campus.

Clarifications

Due to an editing error Wednesday's story about the student body president's cabinet, Maria del Pilar Soler was identified as the student personnel and special projects coordinator. Her title is special projects coordinator. In the same story, Barbara Baker was identified as a graduate student in educational counseling. She is a graduate student in educational counseling and student personnel.

Going Out of Business

20-75% off Everything Legos, Construx, Fisher-Price, Stuffed Animals, Models Trains, Rockets, Puzzles and many, many more" Everything Must Go (fixtures included)

Manhattan Robbies &

317 A Poyntz, Downtown Store Hours: Mon.-Sat. 9:30-5:30, Thurs. 9:30-8, Sun. 1-5

DINNER SPECIAL

3-10" Pizzas

(1) Topping

4 Free Cokes-16 oz.

Hwy. 24 East (21/2 miles east of mall) Manhattan

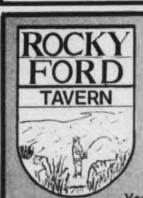

"FAST FORWARD" 51 Kamis & 51 Wells

Tonight

LIVE BAND

Open 2-2

776-4111

KEARBY'S

Restaurant

Old Milwaukee Light Nite

Weekly Specials

has Grilled Steak-Fried Shrimp

Tues. 4:30-8 1st Buffet $5.85

with reg. price Buffets

K.C. Strip Steak $6.95

Fri. Our Special Fresh Catfish Fillet

Wed. 4:30-8 child under 10 free

Mon. 4:30-8 Buffet

second ½ price

Thurs. 4:30-8 Menu

on Buffet

Pitchers

"It just doesn't get any better than this" No Dress Code No Cover Charge

-Your Discount Beer Barn-

Go North on Tuttle Creek Blvd., then right on Barnes Rd. You can't miss it.

"The Finest Little Tavem By a Dam Site" 537-3133

211 S. Seth Childs 1443 Anderson

M-Sat 7 a.m.-9:30 p.m. Sun 7 a.m.-8 p.m. 537-2426

M-Sat 11 a.m.-8 p.m. Sun 12 p.m.-8 p.m. 537-2411

537-2411

Buy 1/2 Sub 1-10 and med. drink and get the second half free of same sandwich CALL AHEAD ORDERS WELCOME

rs: Mon.-Sat. 11-8 Sunday 12-8:00 Seth Childs

HERS in Aggleville Wells & Kami Shots Tonight, only at Brothers Don't forget about our live band tomorrow "The Heat"! 537-9511 1120 Moro

DAILY SPECIAL

2-10" Pizzas

(2) Toppings

2 Free Cokes-16 oz. i

Fly to Fort Lauderdale For Spring Break Enter to Win Fabulous Trip for Two WINNER WILL RECEIVE 2 nights lodging

Dinner at a famous Night Spot Plus 1 day excursion to the Bahamas Fill out slip below and bring to Keck's Steak House now thru February 24, 1989

Enter as often as you like Must be 18 to Enter-No Purchase Necessary Employees and their families may not ente Village Plaza Shopping Center

Name

Address

Phone Number

Opponents give testimonial against capital punishment

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA - Paul Weber would have been 39 on Tuesday, when his mother, Alma Weber, told a legislative committee that capital punishment was retaliation, not

Her son was murdered 12 years

"Retaliation is fed on continuous anger," Weber, of Topeka, said in testimony before the Senate Federal and State Affairs Committee. She was among opponents of a bill that would reimpose the death penalty as a possible punishment for certain types of murders in Kansas.

Paul Weber was a parole officer when he was killed. His name is inscribed on the Kansas Law Enforcement Memorial on the north lawn of the Statehouse.

His mother said that when one of her other children asked about Ted Bundy, a serial murderer executed Tuesday in Florida, she responded: "To agree with capital punishment, for me, would be the same as if L places like the Soviet Union or Iran had a gun and shot him in the head, and I couldn't do that."

Weber returned to her seat and appeared to weep, comforted by Sister Therese Bangert, who also testified against the bill.

Others told the committee that reinstating the death penalty would not reduce the number of violent crimes and would be expensive. They also contended the death penalty is more apt to be used against minorities, particulary blacks who kill whites.

Chairman Ed Reilly, R-Leavenworth, said the committee might discuss and act on the bill next week

David Gottlieb, a law professor at the University of Kansas, said most executions occur at least 10 years after the crime was committed and does not deter murderers. The lengthy appeals process is hard on victims' families, he added.

"Perhaps capital punishment in will deter (killings), but I doubt it," Gottlieb said.

Donna Scheweis, representing Amnesty International, cited a study by the University of Stanford that showed 350 people have been wrongfully convicted of a capital crime during this century, and 27 were executed.

The second highest number of errors was made during the 1970s, she added.

"People are sent to death row who are innocent, and those people die," she said. "The death penalty is not the way to justice, and killing will not provide the public

"Today, more than ever, God's people decry the destruction of uman life, by any means, at any time," said Bob Runnels, representing the Kansas Catholic Con-

Hetlinger has declined to discuss the situation publicly because it is a personnel matter, said Peg Schultz, whose daughter participated in the "Most parents feel the school board is getting only one viewpoint," Linda Schultz said. "We are concerned and upset, because the community backs Mr. Bryson 100

"We would like to see democracy

Parents were not able to speak at march.

percent.

work," she said.

Namibians fight oppression Military's brutality forces life in exile

By The Collegian Staff

Namibia's struggle may not be known by many Americans, but to one K-State student, the situation is all too real.

Angula Lyno Martin, graduate in agricultural education, is from Namibia. In the 1970s, he was among the hundreds of Namibian men and women forced into exile in Angola, Zambia and other neighboring states because of increased South African military brutality against those opposed to the South African government.

"What Namibians are involved in is a long struggle against apartheid," Martin said. "We didn't just jump into it.

"We have experienced the situation now of dialogue with South Africa. We have experienced the days when people were talking about detente and also trying to seek a peaceful solution.

"But all those efforts, now they bear no fruits. They just bear the fruits of evil, more oppression, more deaths, more killings - not only against the Namibian people, but also against the entire region in southern Africa.'

Sponsored by the African American Institute in New York, Martin came to the United States in the early 1980s to get an education.

"Lyno is highly committed to return to his people and his country," said the Rev. Don Fallon, Lutheran campus minister.

Now, as a graduate student, Martin has lost funding from his original sponsor because the institute supports only undergraduate studies.

The Lutheran Campus Ministry and the K-State graduate school are helping Martin financially while he is applying to the United Nations for educational funding.

Martin is receiving about $2,000 from the Lutheran Campus Ministry for living expenses and a small grant from the graduate school to pay for

"Martin could not have been able to stay at K-State without this help," said Leniel Harbers, assistant dean of the graduate school.

Ten years ago, South Africa signed the United Nations Security Council Resolution 435, promising to end South Africa's violent and illegal occupation of Namibia.

That promise was not kept.

"Namibians have suffered a long time under racism and oppression," Fallon said. "They are subject to several things, including not being able to vote, not being allowed to own land, inferior education, no access to the courts, imprisonment, torture, people disappearing, soldiers in the public school system, and churches being bombed."

In May, representatives from South Africa, Angola and Cuba met in Geneva to discuss independence for Namibia in exchange for the withdrawal of Cuban soldiers defending Angola from South African attacks.

On Nov. 22, South Africa announced it had accepted the Geneva plan for the withdrawal of Cuban troops from Angola and intended to finally implement Security Council Resolution 435.

But Martin said because the promises were not kept the last time, Namibians are not excited about the agreement.

Many people doubt South Africa will keep its agreements, Fallon said.

"We'll just have to wait and see if there is a fair and just election in November," Martin said. "But I doubt that will happen. I think the situation is likely to be deteriorating."

Martin said he was disappointed

the American media has been downplaying the situation.

"You can rarely find something to read about the situation," Martin said. "Americans just don't seem to be interested as to what South Africa is doing in Namibia. That's why a lot of people don't even know where Namibia is located."

Martin said America probably does not support sanctions against South Africa because 75 American companies operate in Namibia.

"Sanctions become important, so South Africa is faced with economic difficulties," Fallon said.

Zambia, Zimbabwe, Botswana, Angola and other African countries have already started imposing sanctions on South Africa.

"What we need is international support," Martin said. "Even if we impose sanctions, we don't produce arms. South Africans get their arms supplies from Western countries.

'The only way to help is when we talk to students, teachers and other members of the intellectual community ... where apartheid and racism are concerned."

Fallon said he believes K-State has made an important step in supporting Namibia's fight for freedom by supporting Martin in graduate school.

"The Lutheran Campus Ministry has been concerned about the Namibian situation and has tried to help by bringing awareness into the community and churches," Fallon said.

In addition to Martin speaking to church congregations and community groups, the Lutheran Campus Ministry and Manhattan Mennonite Fellowship sponsored a clothing drive for refugees in the camp where Martin lived in Angola.

"We haven't got feedback yet as to whether or not the refugees received the supplies," Fallon said.

Students support principal

By Mindy Robert

Collegian Reporter

ALMA - The school board of Wabaunsee High School has called a special meeting for tonight, following two days of protest by students in support of principal Arlon Bryson, whose contract may not be renewed.

About 150 of the 170 students marched Tuesday and then met with Superintendent John Hetlinger at his office across the street from the high school. Most students went to class when Bryson asked them to after the second bell, said Dustin Gasperich, a senior at Wabaunsee High School.

Gasperich said the students are concerned Bryson's contract will not really set off a project.

Ben Franklin

If you are taking a course in any of these fields of study ... remember us? We have all the basics, of course, but we also carry those unique items that can

SCULPEY -CRAFT STICKS -And much more

WESTLOOP SHOPPING CENTER

Manhattan

Mon.-Fri. 9-9; Sat. 9-7; Sun. 1-6; 776-4910

AWARENESS WEEK

JANUARY 23-27 1989

Wellness is taking responsibility for our own lives. For optimal wellness, we strive to find a balance in all the dimensions of our life. There are six areas of wellness; physical, social, emotional, vocational, intellectual and spiritual,

SOCIAL WELLNESS stems from feeling a part of your community and being willing to actively participate in activities that contribute to the

ART • ENGINEER • ARCHITECTURE

Better Quality for Less

BALSA WOOD -STYROFOAM -WIRE

PRE-CUT MATS -BEADS -YARN

be renewed. He said students are not answer any questions at this point. getting answers to the questions they have asked about the reasons for the superintendent's recommendation that Bryson's contract not be renewed.

"I think we should be involved," Gasperich said.

Gasperich said some students did not attend classes on Wednesday. Bryson said Hetlinger told him Jan. 19 he would recommend that the school board not renew his contract. The principal said he was also given a list of things Hetlinger said reflected poor job performance. Bryson was reached Wednesday, but said he had been advised not to tonight's meeting because two ■ See STUDENTS, Page 14 Free Delivery

Open 7 days a week A A A A A Restaurant HUNAM EXPRESS 11 a.m.-1 a.m. Call 539-8888 or 537-0886 of latest latest

New Spring Arrivals

Rafaella Group

suggested price our price Pale Blue Jacket $68 $32.90 $48 $23.90 Cotton Sweater $48 $25.90 Pants

331 Poyntz, Downtown 539-6224

EAT ARTOS TATER CHIPS AT

ROCK-A-BELLY BAR&DELI (Manhattan's Favorite)

OLIDAY

THE DIAMOND DIFFERENCE

Choosing where to buy your diamond is as important as choosing the actual stone. Familiarize yourself with the Holiday Jewelers' difference and you'll see why that is the only choice to make.

QUALITY Our diamonds are expertly graded. We will give you a complete analytical appraisal of your diamond and show you why your diamond is unique. FINANCING At Holiday Jewelers you receive interest free financing for six months with a 20% down payment. PRICE Our diamonds are competitively priced every day. We don't have to entice you with percentage-off sales. TRADE-IN POLICY We accept diamonds in trade and will allow the full retail price if you are trading for a diamond of greater value. CONFIDENCE Our Diamond Protection Plan protects you against loss or damage for one year. Our counting and clean your diamonds at no extra charge. If you buy your diamond here we will do everything necessary to maintain your diamond in its setting for five years at no charge. STORE HOURS 9:30-5:30 Monday-Saturday 9:30-8 Thursday

THURSDAY FRIDAY

SATURDAY SUNDAY

MEN'S

SHOES

common welfare. Our social wellness depends upon us living harmoniously with fellow human beings seeking positive interdependent relation-SHOP IN THE COMFORT OF THE MALL ships with others, and developing healthy sexual DRESS & CASUAL SHOES behaviors.

PAC-CAT OFFICE 532-6927 Lower Level Lafene

LAQ Assessments Fri., Jan. 27 11:30 a.m. & 1:30 p.m. Union Room 206 Stop by the PAC-CATS table TODAY! VISIT WITH A PAL (Peer Assistant Leader) TODAY!

Editorial

Kansas State Collegian Opinions ■ Thursday, January 26, 1989

Kansas should adopt recycling program

many states are looking for innovative ways to combat the growing dump.

tried. Some trash is buried, some is burned and some states have even trash in ocean barges. However, other states have embraced a diffecombat pollution.

law encourages recycling, the most improvement. profitable way to deal with pollution.

take its cue from those states with creating a solution.

As pollution continues to successful recycling programs. increase throughout the nation, Recycling offers the opportunity to preserve resources and provides an incentive against littering. With the problem of the great American increasing depletion of our resources and contamination of our envi-A variety of measures have been ronment, this sort of law makes

It would also save cents. For gone so far as to try to ship their example, on a more limited scale, a recent proposal for recycling on the K-State campus is projected to be rent, more practical policy to help able to pay for itself, as well as providing extra funds for travel allow-Nearly half of the states have ances and scholarships. Imagine a adopted a mandatory bottle deposit recycling effort that was statewide law which requires that all bever- or even nationwide. There are defiage containers have a deposit. This nitely possibilities for

It's time for Kansas, as well as K-State, to become responsible for The Kansas Legislature should its own pollution and work toward

New drunk driving law won't solve problem

Kansas, that former vanguard of er's time, and the number of potenthe prohibition movement, is now tial DUI offenders greatly taking steps to lead the nation in the increased, an officer may spend fight against drunk driving. A new more time at the police station with proposal in the state Legislature a driver whose blood alcohol level seeks to lower the legal blood alco- is .06, while the .1 percent drivers hol level for driving from .1 per- cruise the streets unchecked. cent to .05 percent.

its of .08 percent, are the only other and time to enforce the law, a .05 states with a limit below .1 percent. percent limit will, no doubt, neces-However, like prohibition, the new sitate a greater use of discretion by proposal has its heart in the right the police officer. Regardless of place, but would do little in the way their best intentions, more police of solving the problem of drunk discretion can only mean a lesser driving. The .1 percent limit is widely used for a good reason. Countless with a blood alcohol level of .05 start to occur above .1 percent. about two hours of a police offic- cornerstone.

With more potential offenders Oregon and Utah, with legal lim- and the same amount of officers degree of fair, consistent and equal enforcement.

The Rev. Richard Taylor of studies have shown that, while Kansans for Better Life, a major driving may be slightly impaired force behind the new proposal, believes that a .05 percent limit will percent, real, tangible difficulties encourage drivers to drink less. But, if drinking drivers don't think Lowering the legal limit to .05 they will get caught in the first percent causes several problems. It place, what difference will a .05 places the marginally impaired percent limit make? Enforcement driver on the same level with the is the cornerstone of any effective more dangerous drunk driver. With drunk driving policy. A .05 percent the average DUI arrest consuming limit only serves to erode that

Lessons learned from suicide

o one ever thinks it will happen in their family or to one of their friends. It is hard to understand and to accept, but there is little doubt that suicide can happen and that dealing with it is difficult.

After my brother's suicide, I remember feeling a combustion of emotions, including guilt. Was I a bad sister? Did I do something to hurt him, to cause his suicide? These are some of the reactions and questions with which a person must cope when a suicide Anger is another emotion that must be faced. Why did he or she commit suicide? Didn't he or she realize it would hurt me?

Of course there are always feelings of sadness, loneliness and depression with the death of anyone close to you. These emotions are more intense with a suicide because the person has died by his or her own hand and it's very hard to accept.

Individuals often will try to cope with a suicide by using alcohol or by overworking themselves in order to compensate for and alleviate the loneliness, loss and depression.

When my brother died, I remember using food as a scapegoat. I had little or no appetite. All I could feel was resentment for people who brought food to the house when they came to pay their respects. How could food heal my pain? Why couldn't they see that food wouldn't bring my brother back?

Fear is experienced. Usually, there is fear

INCREASE USE AND REVENUES

CUT AIR POLLUTION AND HELP

FOR AILING MASS TRANSIT,

Commentary

Barbara Baker Collegian

Columnist

because a sudden death puts one in touch with his or her own mortality. No one probably ever sees themselves as committing suicide until a suicide occurs. Suddenly, you realize the world is tough and who knows when suicide may become an attractive alternative. When suicide occurs in the family, there is sometimes the unjustified fear it can be inherited.

here is also a certain amount of shame, especially when a suicide occurs within a family. This shame is not usually geared toward the person who committed suicide, but toward the assumptions of suicide.

These assumptions include: the family must have caused his or her death, they didn't communicate, or they're from a line of nuts. People whispering, staring and spreading rumors. Needless to say, some people do not understand the complexities of suicide.

IT WOULD HELP THE

DEFICIT, ENCOURAGE

CONSERVATION AND

NERGY INDEPENDENCE ...

ne type of coping mechanism is open communication. Whether it be with a family member, a close friend, or a counselor, it is important to have someone you can feel comfortable with when you let down your guard. Keeping it inside will only aggravate the pain.

In addition, people coping with suicide need friends who won't pity them, but who will listen, understand and help them to redevelop strength and faith.

It should be remembered the suicide of a friend or family member was seen by that person as the only option. Indeed, suicide is a tragic option, and we should remember there are other choices for us. If those choices are hard for us to find, then we should seek help.

Suicide can also teach some valuable lessons which, unfortunately, are sometimes learned too late. These lessons include: it is important to be sensitive and accepting of others' well being. For example, my brother and I grew up in a very racist community, where racism was very derogatory and hurtful. My brother lost his self-esteem and his self-worth until life for him wasn't worth living anymore. Hopefully, this also shows how racism can destroy lives.

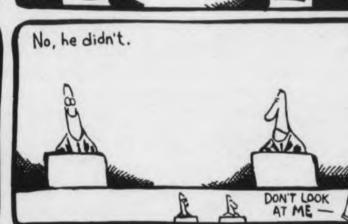

Suicide should also teach us not to take our family and friends for granted. There is nothing sentimental about saying, "I'm glad you're my friend," or "You're special to me." It is better to be sentimental than come to a day when you find yourself saying, "If only I would have said, 'I care."

THE GREENHOUSE EFFECT TO A HIGHER GAS TAX. HAVE YOU GOT AN ANSWER TO THAT ?

Collegian Editorial Policies

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR are always encouraged. Those which pertain to matters of campus and/or public interest are especially encouraged, and are given the highest priority.

Letters should be kept as brief as possible, preferably under 300 words. Those who cannot condense their opinions should consider submiting their letter in the form of a guest column. All letters are subject to editing for space, style and taste.

GUEST COLUMNS are also encouraged. The column should be no longer than two double-spaced, typed pages. If the submission is used as a column and not a letter to the editor, it will be accompanied by the author's photograph.

SEND SUBMISSIONS to the Collegian in Kedzie 116. UNSIGNED EDITORIALS represent the consensus opinion of the Collegian's editorial board. Opinion columns do not necessarily reflect the opinions of the Collegian management, Student Publications, Inc. or the newspaper staff in general.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

MANAGING EDITOR	Susan L'Eduye
HETTO EDITORIAME	Orthodox Ocu
ARTERIOR CO. C.	DITORCatherine Dou
	EDITOR
ADVERTISING MANA
LINE APPLATION AND INVESTIGATION	IGER Barbara Baker, Kale Baldock, Nancy Chartrand, Catherine Doud, Susan L'Ecuye
EDITORIAL BORRO.	Brian Hurrertell, Dwayne Lively, Scott Miller, Michael Nichols, Karla Redelsheimer, Paula Selt Chad L. Sanborn, Mark Schrmeller, Erwin Seba, Robert R. Short, Brett Stranethan, Janel Swanson
	ollegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publici
Monday and Thursday	y during summer sessions. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. nd address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Man
Monday and Thursda POSTMASTER: Ser hattan, Kan. 66506-7 News contributions Inquiries concerning	nd address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Man
Monday and Thursda POSTMASTER: Ser hattan, Kan. 66506-7 News contributions Inquiries concerning	y during summer sessions. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. nd address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Mar. 167. will be accepted by telephone, (913) 632-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, Kedzie Hall. 116. local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word adve-
Monday and Thursda POSTMASTER: Ser hattan, Kan. 66506-7 News contributions Inquiries concerning	y during summer sessions. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. nd address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Ma 167. will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, Kedzie Hall 116. local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word adverd be directed to (913) 532-6556. Kansas State Collegian Subscription Rates
Monday and Thursda POSTMASTER: Ser hattan, Kan. 66506-7 News contributions Inquiries concerning	y during summer sessions. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. nd address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Ma 167. will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, Kedzie Hall 116. local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word adver- d be directed to (913) 532-6555.

Review goes too far

I am disturbed. I am disturbed by the fact that some Collegian reviewers are using their columns for other than a critical review.

Along with their review they interject their own social commentary, which I believe is not the function of a review, or a reviewer. There are other places in the paper designed for social commentary.

The article I am referrng to is the recent review by Nancy Chartrand in the Jan. 24 issue dealing with comedian Beth Donahue. She stated that Donahue's act, because it was sexual in nature, was a big hit with the crowd, "but that is to be expected of college I am glad that Chartrand can so easily generalize the entire student body. In fact, her whole review suggested that if you enjoyed Donahue you must be an indecent citizen. Many people read what a critic has to say. Please do them a service, whether you review positively or negatively; just critique the performance and leave the social commentary where it belongs, either in its own column or to those who study society Andy West Jr.

senior in psychology

Chicken abuse

Upon reading the Jan. 18 issue of the Collegian, I was disgusted to find out about many students' callousness and sheer disrespect for incident, but rather about those students who prioritized their fun to the lives of a few

Letters

Apparently, the possibility of getting a few laughs or attention by spray painting a chicken purple outweighed the horrible inhumane treatment of animals.

This was definitely an act of torture, akin to tarring and feathering, and violates bylaws set by People for Ethical Treatment of Anidestruction of the birds because of the possibility of lead poisoning.

This attempt at humor goes beyond call-ousness toward animal life. It is a definite declaration of apathy that students have toward humanity. One need not be a genius to know that local poverty and hunger exist. Nor does one need to be a food and nutrition major to deduce the role poultry plays in a

Animal abuse, whether coating a chicken NRA not responsible with paint or throwing one onto a basketball court, must discontinue, and violators must Editor, be held accountable for their actions.

It is time people realize that man's responsibility toward his fellow living creatures goes beyond gray whales trapped under ice. It needs to be applied locally, as well.

Kenny Kincaid senior in math

Shy press

With reference to your Jan. 20 editorial, this may be the only time and place in the his-

I'm not talking about the Doug Sander tory of the world where a government (in this case our student government) pleads for journalistic scrutiny of the way it operates. Most governments shy away from journalistic probes, but here at K-State our free press seems to be the shy one.

Perhaps Student Body President Laurian Cuffy should change tactics and present a resolution for the Student Senate to conduct its business only in secret.

Perhaps that would prod our reluctant Colmals. This cruelty resulted in the subsequent legian to be one of Democracy's leaders in the careful examination and criticism of our government.

Should the Collegian waste its time on an electorate that seems to be indifferent? At this point in time I would venture to say we can't afford not to.

> Phil Anderson instructor, department of speech

In response to R. Charles Pearce's opinion that the NRA is responsible for the murders of the Stockton, Calif., children, I have this to say: Yes, I am saddened; and no, I certainly did not tear up my NRA membership.

Why? Because the NRA is not responsible. The NRA does not support the use of weapons in crime. Furthermore, as the familiar saying goes, if you outlaw guns, only outlaws will have guns.

Jean M. Phelps senior in social science and three others

Aggieville merchants adjusting to changes

Renovation plan to complement | Taverns increasing food sales Manhattan Town Center mall

By Brad Camp Collegian Reporter

An Aggieville renovation proposal would work in conjunction with the Manhattan Town Center, not compete with it, said an official with the Aggieville Merchants Association.

Juli Salberg, executive director for the association, said she and the merchants are working on a proposed improvement district for the area.

Salberg said many people who shop in Aggieville are also patrons of the mall.

"People will come in and just want to go to the mall, and will stop in Aggieville to shop," she said. "People will come in to see Aggieville and then go on to the mall.'

Improvements would include new sidewalks, a changed lighting scheme and other general renovation work.

"The proposed plan would add to the uniqueness of Aggieville and help traffic flow," Salberg said.

Aggieville has its fair share of vac-tions instead of having each business ancies, she said, but inquiries about

"The proposed plan would add to the uniqueness of Aggieville and help traffic flow."

-Juli Salberg executive director Aggieville Merchants Association vacancies are high.

"In the next year we will be pretty much full," Salberg said. "I've had quite a few calls on people wanting to start new businesses here."

The association works to unite businesses for advertising promo-

> Collegian display ad deadline: 2 days prior at 4 p.m.

conducting its own campaign, she

Sheryl Ballard, co-owner of the Loft, said competition with the mall and a raised drinking age have caused a major change in Aggieville as far as traffic flow.

"Last year things were really shaky, but things have settled down," she said. "(Aggieville) has been here for 100 years. There are some strong retail stores in Aggieville and it will survive."

Salberg said, pending the input of all the businesses in Aggieville, the association will decide on a theme or plan for the sidewalks and lighting. The proposed improvements will be be presented to the City Commission in February for tentative approval.

Testing and treatment for

to women since 1974.

MasterCard accepted.

Insurance, VISA &

sexually transmitted diseases.

Providing quality health care

Collegian Reporter

Now that beer is gone for the 18- to 20-year-old students, serving food has become a much more important service for some Aggieville bar

"We're seeing buffets and those types of things," said Steve Kuhn, owner of Kite's Bar and Grille and The Station Restaurant & Bar. "The drink-and-drowns and the happy hours are all gone.'

Terry Ray, owner of Last Chance Restaurant & Saloon, said the number of remaining taverns is now at a point where they can all be financially stable, although it is still necessary to keep up with the changing trends.

"The business is much more foodoriented than a few years ago," Ray said. "Aggieville has gone through quite a shake-up with the age change."

omprehensive

4401 West 109th (I-435 & Roe)

Overland Park, Kansas

lealth for Women

closing of several long-established taverns in the two years since the liquor-by-the-drink legislation was passed in 1986 and the legal drinking age was set at 21. The bar to close most recently is Dark Horse Tavern, previously located in what is now the Varney's Book Store addition.

Other closings included Mr. K's. where Amigos is now located, and Rocky Mountain Bonkers, now Chameleons.

When I started in Aggieville in 1963, there were four or five places and a lot smaller student body," Ray said. "As the student body grew and the age was 18, the bars came in. Now the age has gone up and it reduced the number of legal drinkers, so the number of places has gone down." The patronage of Aggieville has also changed. Ward Morgan, owner

Manhattan

Bridal Show, Inc.

1989

Sunday, February 5

Houston Street Ballroom

5th & Houston

Doors Open At 1:00 P.M.

Fashion Show At 2:00 P.M

Register To Win

A Honeymoon Trip To The Bahamas!!

Sponsored By

That "shake-up" has included the of Brother's Tavern, said people now want more than to just get drunk; they are going out to meet friends or just dance.

> "It's a different crowd now that the drinking age is 21. You have to cater to them," he said. "If you can offer something unique to people, they will be attracted to that.'

> In an attempt to appeal to a changing clientele, Morgan has made several modifications to Brother's.

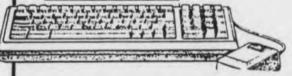

> "I try to make things a little more interesting than they were a few months before," he said. "I've always wanted something more kind of a 'tech' looking bar as opposed to an 'old' looking bar.

The bar or club business goes in cycles; one semester you may be hot and the next you may not. You really have to work at it. You can't assume that because you did well one semester, you will do well the next."

FREE TUNE UP

$50 Maintenance Check FREE on Mac Computers

K-State Union Thursday, January 26 9am-4pm Open to the General Public

Bring any Apple Macintosh computer with its printer and drives to the K-State Union. We'll test 'er out and clean 'er up - all for free!

Additional Offer: SAVE 33% on long-term maintenance. For every 2 months of Applecare you buy, get a third month free up to 3 years.

Uk-state union

Connecting Point. COMPUTER CENTER

1115 Westloop Shopping Center + 539-0801

30% OFF PARKAS, PANTS AND SWEATERS

For information and appointments (913) 345-1400

Toll Free (except KS) 1-800-227-1918

If you need abortion or birth control services, we can help.

Confidential pregnancy testing . Safe, affordable abortion services . Birth control . Tubal ligation . Gyn exams .

Gloves T-Necks Socks

Underwear Gaitors Goggles Ski Accessories

All LegGoons Sportswear

Mon. Thurs. 10.8 Fri. & Sat 10.6 Sunday 15

1212 Moro. Aggiaville

Aggie Ski & Sport

OPEN RUSH February 5-February 20 Must register by Feb. 2 at 5 p.m. in the Greek Affairs Office at the Union.

Vista's
NEW 49¢Han

Available for a limited time!

Manhattan • Lawrence • Topeka

Served with ketchup, mustard, pickle, and onion. Cheese and bacon extra.

1911 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

5-HR SALE Moving Sale

Arbuthnot's Hallmark Bocker's Two Catering

Campbell's Christine's — The Wedding Co. Danenberg's Holiday Jewelers

Dunkin Photo-graphics

Hair Experts Design Team Houston Street Ballroom

Kansas State Travel

Kitchens Plus

KQLA / Q-104 Radio

Mary Kay Cosmetics Patricia's Undercover

Steve's Floral Vern's Donnts & Cake Shop Woody's Ladies Shop

Starting at Noon Thursday 26th Rolling Thunder will liquidate ALL of its inventory including CAR STEREOS by Alpine, JVC, Clarion—CAR SPEAKERS

by Alpine, Infinity, Pyle

Driver, Clarion,

Car Amplifier

& Equalizers by Alpine, Clarion, Sherwood, Rockford, & Fosgate 'the ponch'.

There is a large selection of misc. items like Walkman headphones, speaker stands, adaptors, radar detectors & security systems.

This event is on a First Come Basis CASH—MASTERCARD—VISA & DISCOVER will be accepted.

Any questions can be handled at our new store in Junction City. 601 Grant Ave. 238-3033

Ski trip in limbo

responsible for problems

By The Collegian Staff

Union Program Council's travel committee is unsure if the ski trip to Snow Creek Ski Resort in Weston, Mo., will be made Sunday because of the warm weather conditions.

"We will call Snow Creek this Friday before we go to see what the conditions are for skiing," said Mike Penner, graduate student in student counseling and personal services and UPC program

Penner said Snow Creek is capable of producing man-made snow, but because of recent warm temperatures, snow conditions for skiing may be poor.

Twenty-four people have signed up for the trip. Penner said the "excitement" of skiing on man-made snow hasn't hit many people so far this year. More than about two weeks early this semes- p.m., he said.

Dry slopes ter. Early promotion of the trip may have caught people off guard, he said.

"People aren't thinking about skiing. They are thinking about swimming and wearing shorts," Penner said.

Kathi Robertson, fifth year senior in architectural engineering and travel committee chairperson, said if the trip is canceled, the money of those who have already registered will be returned and the trip will not be rescheduled. "We all hope the trip will continue as planned, because it will be a lot of fun," Robertson said. "We are hoping the weather remains cooler the rest of this week so the snow won't melt."

Chris Forrer, senior in finance and the trip's coordinator, said Snow Creek was already booked for large groups two weeks ago, and the first available day was this

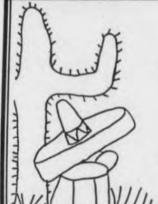

"It's a very popular place," For-

If the trip proceeds as planned, students will be leaving in Union 70 people signed up last year. vans at 6:45 a.m. Sunday and will UPC started its promotion return to Manhattan around 6:45

New Store Hours OPEN TO THE Tuesday-Friday 10-6:30 PUBLIC

811 Colorado

¡Vamos a Amigos!

THIS IS SPANISH FOR:

"Go To The BAPP CLUB Meeting At Amigos On January 26 At 5:30 p.m.!!

Freshmen And Sophomores In Business

5-HR SALE Moving Sale

Starting at Noon Thursday 26th Rolling Thunder will liquidate ALL of its inventory including CAR STEREOS by Alpine, JVC, Clarion—CAR SPEAKERS

by Alpine, Infinity, Pyle Driver, Clarion, Car Amplifier

& Equalizers by Alpine, Clarion, Sherwood, Rockford, & Fosgate 'the ponch'.

There is a large selection of misc. items like Walkman headphones, speaker stands, adaptors, radar detectors & security systems.

> This event is on a First Come Basis CASH—MASTERCARD—VISA & DISCOVER will be accepted.

Any questions can be handled at our new store in Junction City. 601 Grant Ave. 238-3033

KKK bases suit on first amendment

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - A 4-milelong ditch that a Justice Department official compared Wednesday to a "buried Berlin Wall" is planned for a stretch of the U.S.-Mexican border to stem drug smuggling into Southern

But the plan is being criticized as "too little too late" by a group that advocates building fences along the border and blasted as repressive by immigrant rights organizations.

Associate Attorney General Francis A. Keating II said he proposed the idea last fall as a way to discourage drug smugglers from driving loads of cocaine, marijuana and heroin across the border near San Diego.

The plan being undertaken by the Immigration and Naturalization Service was approved last month by Attorney General Dick Thornburgh, Keating said.

The ditch, which Keating likened to "our buried Berlin Wall" will be deep and wide enough to discourage smugglers from driving trucks and cars across the border along a fourmile stretch of flat desert east of San Ysidro, Calif.

The associate attorney general, who is leaving office with the start of the Bush administration, said the desert stretch in the Otay Mesa area east of San Ysidro is a major drug smuggling route.

"This is not intended in any way to interfere with legitimate traffic or trade, it is not intended to stop illegal entry," he said.

The Border Patrol has tried to stop vehicle traffic across the desert by digging shallow trenches, but smugglers have been able to fill in the ditches to drive through, said Keating, who oversaw law enforcement agencies in the Justice Department, including the Border Patrol.

But the plan has its critics. "The drainage ditch is too little too late if it is to be taken seriously as a method of deterring illegal entry," said Patrick Burns, assistant director of Federation for American Immigration Reform.

"There is a serious problem at San Diego of which a very, very small component is high-speed drivethroughs" by drug smugglers, said

Burns, whose organization is prepar ing to release a study proposing ways to "harden" the U.S.-Mexican

Burns said a barrier of earth reinforced with concrete would be a more effective means of preventing drug trafficking across the desert.

Eugene Hernandez, an official of the Mexican-American Political Association in Los Angeles, called it 'a very repressive and a very illfounded idea."

Keating confirmed a report in Wednesday editions of the Los Angeles Times, which said the 5-feet deep and 14-foot wide ditch was planned for completion by next fall.

could allow golf carts on streets

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA - Rep. R.D. Miller figures the golfers in his hometown and across the state face enough sand traps, creeks and high grass when they're on a course.

So Miller, R-Russell, introduced a bill Wednesday that will help them with a hazard that sometimes pops up before they get to the first tee: the Golfers in Russell were upset, Miller said, when they learned they could be ticketed if they drove their golf carts on city streets or highways, even if they were just crossing a road to get to the links.

"The legality of it is that the machine is not street-worthy under the law." Miller noted.

Miller's bill would allow golfers to drive their carts across highways and streets to get from their homes to a golf course or from one part of a course to another. It also would allow them to drive their carts on streets within a mile of a course, if they are traveling between their homes and a

Under the plan, cities and counties sports, such as bowling and fishing.

would have to designate a street or highway for golf cart use, and proper signs would have to be posted at golf cart crossings.

"It's patterned after a Florida law," Miller noted.

Miller himself started playing golf about 30 years ago, though he said he is more enthusiastic about other

Flowers For A Friend

- Purchase carnations in advance for your Valentine!
- •Bluemont Hall Foyer

January 25 & 26, 8 a.m.-3 p.m. January 27, 8 a.m.-Noon

> Sponsored by KAPPA DELTA PI Education Honor Society

Camp Ozark Counselor Positions

A Christian sports and adventure camp for boys and girls ages 8-16, located in the heart of the Ouachita Lake and Mountain Region in Arkansas, is now accepting applications for counselor positions.

SLIDE PRESENTATION:

For More Information Contact Camp Ozark SR2. Box 190. Mt. Ida. Ark. 71957

9 p.m. K-State Union Rm. 213

ANDERBILTS

Kids Hardwear Jeans

Don't let the name fool you! These jeans aren't rough and scratchy, they just wear longer under "kid" conditions. Ist Quality. Made in the USA. Put your hard livin youngsters in a pair of Hardwear jeans and see who lasts longer! Sizes 2-7 Compare to $14

Sizes 8-14. Reg. Slim.

Boot Cut

The genuine article for "In the Saddle Wear." Boot cuts for practical wear, 100% indigo cotton denim with extra stitching and rivets at stress points for extended wear. 1st Quality

Cowboy Cut

Roomier thighs without looking baggie. Pockets cut wider in front, higher in back. More belt loops. Boot cut for practi-cal wear, too. 100% cotton denim. 1st

Compare to $25.95

Compare to $27.95 38-40 Lengths. $19.99

Shrink-To-Fit

heavy-weight, 100% indigo cotton denim. Riveted stress points, authentic Levi's leather patch. First Quality, Made in Traditional Levi's straightleg styling in

A brand new number for Vanderbilt's as seen on National T.V. 100% Cotton pre-shrunk heavyweight denim. Zipper fly. 5-pockets. Regular Fit-Straight Leg.

Compare to $29.95

Get the perfect fit right from the time you try these prewashed jeans on, and the fit

100% cotton denim with heavy stitching and rivets at stress points. 1st Quality, Made in USA! Compare to $29.95 will only improve with more washings!

White-There's no need to wait for your jeans to fade, we can provide them in the exact faded condition you want. These whitewashed jeans are the latest treatment of Levi's 100% cotton denim to reach the street. 1st Quality, Made in USA! Full size range in stock at all times. Compare to $34.95

Warheads removed after silo accident

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The Air Force removed the warheads from five of its 50 MX nuclear missiles late last year after a summertime accident in which one missile came loose and fell to the bottom of its underground silo, according to a published report.

The five missiles were part of the same production lot and Air Force investigators discovered a common problem that forced the safety action, the Washington Post said.

The service is still trying to decide how to repair the five missiles, each of which is designed to carry 10 warheads, the paper added, quoting unidentified sources.

The Air Force refused to confirm the account on Wednesday, acknowledging only that a single MX missile had been taken off alert last June following an accident.

That accident previously had been reported by newspapers in Wyoming, where F.E. Warren Air Force Base is located. The nation's MX, or Peacekeeper, missiles are all deployed at F.E. Warren.

The Air Force also insisted Wednesday, without elaborating, that the nation's entire MX force of 50 missiles was on alert "at this time."

"We have 50 missiles that are deployed and operational at this time," said Lt. Col. Don Christianson, a spokesman at F.E. Warren.

Christianson refused to say whether any problem missiles had been replaced with new missiles in order to maintain the alert force.

The spokesman agreed, however, that one MX missile had been taken off alert, its warheads removed and its components broken down as part of a safety investigation after an incident last June.

"Last summer, we received indications of an electrical disconnection with a Peacekeeper (MX) missile inside its silo," Christianson said.

"An investigation was conducted, and a structural failure in a support skirt was found to be the cause. There was no safety threat. The reports of the investigation are classified, however, so I can't go further."

The Post said Wednesday the missile had fallen between six inches and a foot when it came "unglued" from its underground launch canister. The canister envelops the missile and is used to propel the four-stage MX from its silo before the main rocket motor is ignited.

The newspaper said the fall of the 195,000-pound missile was sufficient to cause "grave damage" and to require "extensive repairs." And when the Air Force further investigated the matter, it concluded the missile was one of a batch of five that had been subject to a particular production problem, the paper said.

Air Force officials responded by ordering removal of the 10-warhead packages atop each of the other four suspect missiles to relieve the weight and pressure on their canister bonds pending corrective action, the paper

The Air Force so far has been authorized to build 50 of the missiles and to deploy them at F.E. Warren.

Former President Ronald Reagan pushed Congress for permission to build 50 more MX missiles and to base them on mobile rail-car launchers. The administration of President Bush has yet to make a final decision on whether to push that same program or endorse another program to develop a truck-mounted, single-warhead Midgetman missile.

The race is on

Karen Schreiber, assistant teacher at the KSU Child Development assessment at the center. The assessment results will be given to Center, cheers on her preschool class during a developmental the children's parents at the completion of the tests.

When good isn't good enough anymore - read the Collegian.

PAC CATS CASH

WHAT IS PAC-CATS CASH? PAC-CATS Cash is an incentive program that gives you a chance to earn "dollars" for your participation in the PAC-CATS Program. Trade your " cash" in for incentives at the PAC-CATS Office, Lafene Lower Level-Suite 26.

EARNING CASH IS EASY You earn $1 of PAC-CATS Cash for

*Meeting with a Pal *Completing your PAC for 1 week A total of $2 per week is

possilble WHAT CASH BUYS

Level 1 Gifts *PAC-CATS baseball cap

*Medium Size I Can't Believe It's

Yogurt

*Voucher for 2 jumbo cookies from The Bakery

*A beverage from the Union's Juice Bar

$17 PC Cash

START YOUR PAC TODAY! Reach your goals and have some fun! PAC-CATS would like to thank Residence Hall Food Service and I Can't Believe It's Yogurt for their support.

This is all vou need to appl Purchase of Level 1 requires: $5 PC Cash Wellness *The Stretching Book *PAC-CATS shorts for the Card. Purchase of Level 2 requires: $9 PC Cash Level 3 Gifts *PAC-CATS "Celebrate Wellness" sweatshirt *1989 Diet and Health Calendar *Brown Bag Gourmet Lunch for 2 *1989 365 New Words a Year *PAC-CATS "Celebrate Wellness" beach towel Purchase of Level 3 requires:

With Automatic Approval, it's easier to qualify while you're still in school.

Now getting the Card is easier than ever. For the very first time, students can apply for the American Express* Card over the phone.

Simply call 1-800-942-AMEX. We'll take your application by phone and begin to process it right away.

AIRLINES

It couldn't be easier. NORTHWEST What's more, because you can also take this school full time, you can also take advantage of the Automatic Approval

Offer for students. With this offer, you can get the American Express Card right nowwithout a full-time job or a credit history. But if you have a credit history, it must be unblemished.

It's actually easier for you to qualify for the Card now, while you're still a student, than it ever will be again.

Become a Cardmember. Fly Northwest $99 roundtrip.

As a student Cardmember you will be able to enjoy an extraordinary travel privilege: fly twice for only $99 roundtrip to any of the more than 180 Northwest Airlines cities in the 48 contiguous United States (only one ticket may be used per six-month period).*

And, of course, you'll also enjoy all the other exceptional benefits and personal service you would expect from American Express. Apply now by calling 1-800-942-AMEX. And then you can really go places—for less

Apply Now: 1-800-942-AMEX

*Some restrictions may apply. For complete offer details, call 1-800-942-AMEX. Current student Cardmembers automatically receive two $99 travel vouchers in the mail. © 1989 American Express Travel Related Services Company, Inc.

Professors study drug

Researchers investigate its secrets

By Paul Branson Science Writer

Aside from AIDS, cancer is one of the most feared diseases in the United States.

K-State reseachers are studying chemicals which would kill cancer cells and are trying to find ways to detect potentially cancerous cells before the disease develops.

The major problem with anticancer drugs is the inability to differentiate between normal and cancerous cells, said Melvin Center, professor of biology.

The chemicals are toxic to the patient, and the toxicity leads to the extreme side effects - hair loss, nausea and ulcerations - which chemotherapy patients experience.

Center is researching the anticancer drug Adriamycin.

"The drug was isolated from a soil microorganism about 20 years ago," Center said.

Jean-Pierre Perchellet, associate professor of biology, said, "Adriamycin has been around for a long time, and we still-don't know very much about it."

Center said the drug has become the most widely used chemotherapeutic chemical.

"Originally, Adriamycin was found to be an antibiotic," he said. "Then, it was discovered to kill cells, which led to its anti-cancer uses. "If (researchers) learn how Adrimycin kills cancer cells, then maybe we can use this information to design a more effective agent." The research is difficult to conduct because it is performed with tissue culture cells in a laboratory setting, not in a living individual. "In a patient, it would be much different," Center said. "There are so many factors involved in a living patient."

He said the drug is absorbed into the cell and transported to the cell nucleus — which contains the cell's chromosome blueprint comprised of deoxyribonucleic acid.

The molecules of the drug bind to the DNA. Once the bond is formed, the structure of the DNA is disrupted. When a normal cell divides, the

"There are so many factors involved in a living patient."

-Melvin Center professor of biology

DNA structure is copied or replicated. As the molecule of Adriamycin disrupts the structure of the cell's DNA, it becomes impossible for the cell to divide, and the cell dies, he

"One of the problems (researchers) have is that some cancer cells become resistant to the drug," Center said. "When one cell becomes resistant, a whole population originating from that cell becomes resistant."

He said he believes a resistant cell pumps the drug out before it has a chance to bind to the cell's DNA. "A cancer cell proliferates at an incredible pace," Perchellet said.

He said the proliferation of cells causes a cancerous tumor to grow at an incredible pace, which draws vital nutrients and oxygen away from other organs.

Even though cancerous cells quickly proliferate, the original cancer cell can take a long time to become cancerous, Perchellet said.

"A cell becomes cancerous after its DNA is damaged - over a period of time - until it begins to propagate itself abnormally," Perchellet said.

He said the cell will first become mutated by a carcinogenic chemical, radiation or even stress. The mutated cell is further damaged by a promoting agent, and becomes tumorous. Another promoter then causes the cell to begin dividing abnormally becoming a cancerous tumor.

"By the time a normal cancer patient goes to the doctor with some type of pain or other evidence, it is often too late," Perchellet said.

More lives would be saved if damaged cells were detected before the potential of cancer developed, he said.

If a drug killed 99.9 percent of a small tumor containing one billion cells, there would still be one million resistent cells in the tumor, Perchellet said.

"If, on the other hand, (researchers) could find a way to detect the pre-cancerous cells before they start proliferating, we would have 20 or 30 years to stop (formation of cancer) from happening," he said.

Germany investigates firms' Libyan connections

By The Associated Press

BONN, West Germany -Authorities Wednesday raided the offices of three companies and the homes of 12 people in an investigation of allegations that West German firms helped Libya build a suspected chemical weapons plant.

Meanwhile, some politicians accused Chancellor Helmut Kohl's government of bungling West Germany's initial response to the allegations, and a magazine reported that companies had helped Iraq build a rocket factory.

Customs authorities searched the offices and homes "on suspicion that export laws had been violated" with deliveries to the Libyan plant, said Hubertus Voegele, spokesman for the prosecutor's office in Offenburg.

He declined to identify the businesses searched, but confirmed that the Imhausen-Chemie firm of Lahr was among them.

Imhausen-Chemie is suspected of playing a major role in building the factory in Rabta, about 60 miles south of the Libyan capital of Tripoli.

U.S. officials say Libya intends to produce poison gas at the plant. Libya says it is a pharmaceutical factory.

West German officials who conducted the searches in cities

Be Wise ...

Read the Collegian!

throughout the country seized a huge quantity of material, especially from Imhausen-Chemie, that will take time to examine, Voegele

Allegations of West German involvement in the Libyan plant came to light late last year.

Kohl's government at first denied any wrongdoing by West German firms, and exonerated Imhausen-Chemie after an investigation earlier this month.

But officials have acknowledged during the past two weeks that several companies appear to have provided materials or knowhow to the Libyans, including a company owned by the government, Salzgitter Industriebau AG. A day after U.S. senators accused Kohl's government of looking the other way during such operations, the Foreign Affairs Committee of the West German parliament met in special session Wednesday to discuss official handling of the affair.

Members of the opposition Social Democratic Party singled out Foreign Minister Hans-Dietrich Genscher and Finance Minister Gerhard Stoltenberg for criticism.

Lawmaker Norbert Gansel said Stoltenberg "did nothing" after learning from the U.S. embassy in Bonn last May that Washington suspected West German firms of involvement with the Libyan plant.

Another prominent Social Democrat, Karsten Voigt, said it was "unbelievable" Genscher could have been uninformed for months about intelligence reports that West German firms helped with the plant.

Voigt said the scandal had reduced West Germany's international prestige to "a low point."

Genscher met with World Jewish Congress leader Edgar Bronfman on Wednesday for talks that centered on the scandal.

Bronfman said Genscher assured him West Germany would do its best to see that the Libyan plant would not be used to produce chemical weapons.

"We want to make sure that the teeth of the tiger get pulled," Bronfman said.

Also Wednesday, the weekly magazine Stern said West German companies were "heavily involved" in an Iraqi rocket development project.

West German companies had shipped technology and equipment to Iraq for a "research and development center that by all indications is a rocket factory," the magazine

Looking to save some money?

Use a Collegian coupon.

Allseasons

1501 TUTTLE CREEK BLVD. MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66502 (913) 539-5391

Student Special

Peace and quiet to study or just get away $18 Double $13 Single

> Day Rate 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.-$10 On Availability basis only Student I.D. Required Call for reservations 539-5391

CONTROVER FILMOFTHE

"BEST PICTURE OF THE YEAR!"

"BEST MOVIE OF THE YEAR." Roger Ebert, SISKEL & EBERT

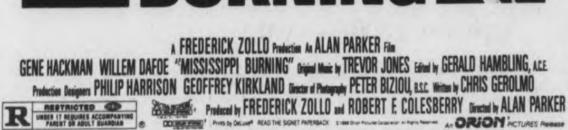

• Peter Travers - PEOPLE MAGAZINE • Mike Clark - USA TODAY •

 Joel Siegel—GOOD MORNING AMERICA • Jeff Lyons—WPIX-TV • · Pat Collins - WWOR-TV · Stewart Klein - WNYW-TV ·

· Susan Granger - WMCA-AM Radio · Gary Franklin - KABC-TV ·

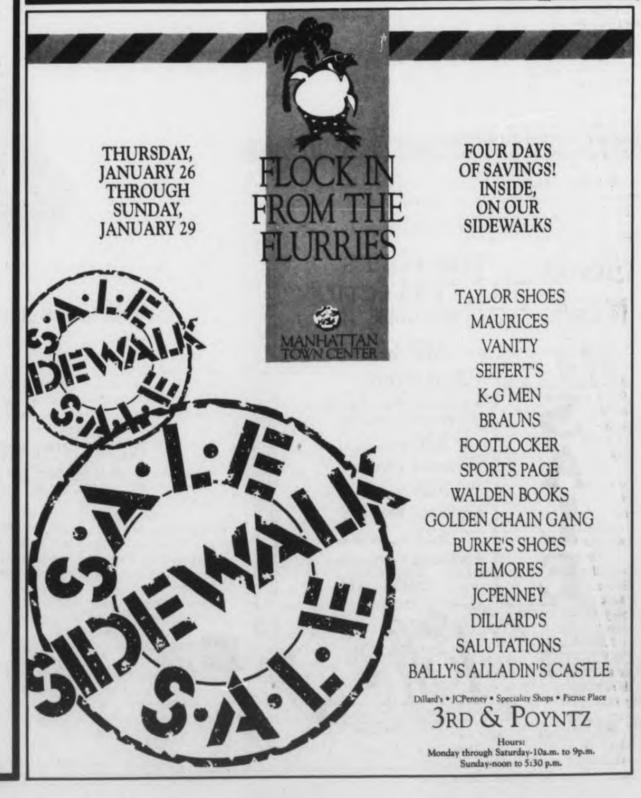

NOW PLAYING AT THEATRES EVERYWHERE.

Starting Date March 25 Sat. Scuba April 4 Windsurfing Appt. January 27 Tues. & Fri. Tai Kwon Do March 11 Horsemanship Tues. March 7 Tues. Trapshooting Jan. 31 Guitar Lessons Appt. Jan. 31 Applied Piano Appt. Jan. 31 Voice Lessons Appt.

532-5566 to register 532-5570 for more information Division of Continuing Education

Kansas State Collegian ■ Thursday, January 26, 1989 ■ Page 9

Lady Cats' spurt dooms Cyclones

By Mike Rouse Sports Writer

The K-State women's basketball team improved its record to 13-5 with an 87-76 victory over Iowa State Wednesday night in Bramlage Coliseum.

K-State went to the free-throw line 28 more times than Iowa State, but Mossman said. made only 64 percent of its free

"I felt free throws were the difference in the game," said K-State coach Matilda Mossman. "We missed 11 free throws in the first

A total of 31 fouls were called in the first half, which resulted in some big players being forced to the bench.

"I felt free throws were the difference."

-Matilda Mossman Lady Cats' coach

Kristie Bahner was whistled for her second foul 13 minutes before the intermission and was taken out for the rest of the half.

"It was terrible sitting on the bench in the first half, I just came out in the second half and everything felt good," Bahner said.

K-State led until the 2:15 mark of the first half, when ISU's Lisa Greiner made a layup to give the Lady Cyclones a 33-32 lead.

For most of the second half, neither team was able to gain a big advantage. ISU gained its biggest lead, 47-43, with 15:22 left. But the Lady Cats answered with a 7-0 run to take a 50-47 lead with 13 minutes left.

K-State shot 61 percent from the field in the second half and 70 percent from the line as the Lady Cats scored a season-high, 52-point second half and were able to pull away late in the game. "For about the first 32 minutes we played a second off," Mossman said. "Our timing was off offensively, and defensively we were about a step behind."

Bahner came back in the second half to score 18 of her career-high 19 points. She also pulled down seven rebounds in the 28 minutes she

"Bahner got open and we were able to get the ball in her hands," Mossman said.

Stacey Boyle came off the bench to replace Bahner for most of the game and scored eight points for the

"Stacey definitely helped us,"

Three other Lady Cats ended up in double figures. Rita Matteucci scored 16 points before fouling out with 3:03 left in the game. Matteucci was eight for 10 from the free-throw line. Nadira Hazim scored 14 points, and freshman Mary Jo Miller added

Iowa State was led by 6-foot-3 Carmen Jaspers, who scored 22 points and grabbed nine rebounds. ISU drops to 10-8 overall and 1-4 in the Big Eight.

K-State, 3-2 in conference play, will be in action again on Saturday as they travel to Lawrence to play the KU Jayhawks at noon.

LADY CATS (87) Matteucci 4-7 8-10 16, D. Miller 2-6 3-4 7, Bahner 7-11 5-8 19, M. J. Miller 4-9 5-6 13, Hazim 4-10 6-11 14, Davidson 0-1 2-2 2, Lane 0-0 0-0 0, Boyle 4-6 0-2 8, Cobb 2-2 1-3 5, Funk 1-1 1-2 3, Totals 28-53 31-48 87.

IOWA STATE (76) Coyle 2-2 2-2 6, Greiner 5-10 2-2 12, Jaspers 9-13 4-5 22, Horvath 4-12 0-1 10, Ward 1-1 1-2 3, Maple 1-2 2-2 4, Beach 3-9 3-4 9, Decker 0-3 0-0 0, Jenkins 0-0 0-0 0, Davis 3-3 0-1 6, Lorenzen 2-5 0-1 4, Totals 30-60 14-20 76.

Halftime - K-State 35, lowa State 35. Three-point goals - K-State 0-0, lowa State 2-4 (Horvath 2-4). Rebounds - K-State 31 (Bahner 7), Iowa State 39 (Jaspers 9). Assists - K-State 16 (M. J. Miller 7), Iowa State 15 (Horvath 4). Total fouls K-State 22, Iowa State 34. Fouled out Coyle, Beach and Matteucci. Techninone. A - 645.

Big Eight Conference Standings

			WOM	EN	101
			Big 8	Pct.	Total	Pct.
Color	ado		5-0	1.000	15-3	.833
K-Sta	te		3-2	.600	13-5	.722
Misso	uri		3-2	.600	12-6	.666
Oklah	oma	St.	2-2	.500	11-6	.667
Nebra	aska		2-3	.400	11-7	.611
Oklah	oma		2-3	.400	9-8	.529
Kansa	as		1-3	.250	9-7	.563
lowa	State	9	1-4	.200	10-8	555
		W	veheanha	Regult

K-State 87, lowa State 76 Colorado 75, Missouri 67 Oklahoma 68, Nebraska 65

Staff/Greg Vogel

Diving for a ball, Mary Jo Miller is grabbed by Iowa State's Sanguenetta Davis during Wednesday evening's game at Bramlage Coliseum. The Lady Cats defeated the Iowa State Cyclones, 87-76

Cowboys cruise by 'Cats

By The Associated Press

STILLWATER, Okla. - Byron Houston scored a career-high 29 points and led a late surge that helped give Oklahoma State an 89-71 victory over K-State in a Big Eight Conference game Wednesday night.

Corey Williams added 20 points and Richard Dumas had 14 for the Cowboys, 11-5 overall and 2-1 in the conference. K-State, 11-5 and 2-2, was led by Fred McCoy with 23

Oklahoma State led 37-28 at halftime and held a 61-52 lead at about the midway point of the second half. But Billy Ray Smith capped a 5-0 K-State run that brought the Wildcats within 61-57 with 7:21 remaining.

Houston, a freshman, then made four straight free throws to begin a 13-4 Cowboy spurt that made the score 74-61 with 3:24 remaining. Houston wound up with eight points in the run.

K-State never threatened after that and lost to the Cowboys for the first time in six meetings, while Wildcat coach Lon Kruger saw a 10-game winning streak against Oklahoma State snapped.

Houston and Dumas each grabbed nine rebounds, and Houston tied his career high with five blocks.

KANSAS ST. (71) Britt 2-6 1-2 5, Dobbins 1-4 0-0 2, McCoy 9-15 5-7 23, Humphrey 5-16 0-0 10, Henson 6-170-0 13, Massop 0-30-00, Smith 4-9 2-2 10, Simmons 3-4 0-0 6, Fritz 1-1 0-0 2, Diggins 0-0 0-0 0. Totals 31-75

OKLAHOMA ST.(89)

Dumas 5-12 4-9 14, Jeffries 4-8 1-1 9,

Houston 11-14 7-7 29, Gafney 1-6 4-4 7, Williams 5-9 8-10 20, Alexander 0-0 0-0 0, Pittman 1-1 1-23, Walsh 0-2 0-0 0, Jordan 3-6 1-2 7, McDade 0-0 0-0 0. Totals 30-58 26-35 89.

Halftime-Oklahoma St. 37, Kansas St. 28. 3-point goals-Kansas St. 1-11 (Dobbins 0-2, Humphrey 0-3, Henson 1-5, Smith 0-1), Oklahoma St. 3-11 (Gafney 1-5, Williams 2-4, Walsh 0-2). Fouled out-Massop. Rebounds-Kansas St. 39 (McCoy 12), Oklahoma St. 42 (Houston, Dumas 9). Assists-Kansas St. 11 (Henson 6), Oklahoma St. 19 (Gafney 7). Total fouls-Kansas St. 27, Oklahoma St. 11.

'Hawks trounce Shockers, 86-66

By The Associated Press

LAWRENCE - Only one thing bothered Kansas Coach Roy Williams about his 88-68 victory Wednesday night over Wichita State beating Eddie Fogler.

He and the Wichita State coach have been the best of friends since their days together on Dean Smith's staff at North Carolina. At the sound of the buzzer Wednesday night, Williams raced toward the Wichita bench and shook Fogler's hand.

"I told him I think that could have been our best performance of the year and I'm sorry it had to be against

By The Associated Press

dent and coach of the Seattle

SuperSonics say the team did nothing unethical when it orchestrated stuffing tens of thousands of NBA All-Star ballots in support of Sonics guard Dale Ellis.

every team in the league," President Bob Whitsitt said of the Sonics' practice of having people associated with the team submit something unique?" coach Bernie

Bickerstaff asked. "How do you think some of these guys got to play (in All-Star games) all these years? It happens all the time."

50,000 to 60,000 - helped Ellis take a 30,448-vote lead over Portland's Clyde Drexler for the No. 2 position among Western Confer-

Whoever wins the spot will

The extra ballots — as many as

"Why all the sudden is this multiple ballots.

ence guards.

"It is a procedure being done by

SEATTLE - Both the presihim," Williams said.

"I don't enjoy a game like this," he said later. "That guy on the other bench is one of my best friends. But it's my team against his team, not a one-on-one thing."

The 18th-ranked Jayhawks rose to a 16-3 record while Fogler's Shockers dropped to 12-5.

"We've been very good friends, but today he was the better coach and he had the better team," Fogler said.

Kevin Pritchard triggered a Kansas surge at the outset of the second half that broke open what had been a tight game.

ers in the Feb. 12 All-Star game.

ler for the entire season.

Previously, Ellis trailed Drex-

After the Sonics beat the Trail

"Last year, Denver did it to help

Blazers 103-100 Tuesday night,

Drexler denounced the balloting

Fat Lever. This year, Seattle is helping Dale. But each time, I'm the guy who gets kicked in the

to that. It's cheating the fans.

Dale's good enough and should be on the team, but it's not fair to the individual fans who vote."

han, a part-time member of the team's promotions crew, told The Seattle Times that he helped stuff ballots at five different times either at the Sonics offices or on

One contest among the team's

'giveaway crew" awarded a basketball, gym bag and $50 to the first two members of the crew who turned in 10,000 ballots.

Sonics employee James Mona-

"It's a shame they would resort rear," said Drexler.

his own.

Sonics orchestrate

NBA ballot stuffing

coached," Pritchard said. "It was really weird out there because they run the same offense and defense that we do."

Pritchard also had five steals and four assists.

"I played good defense," he said. "I've been working on it and trying not to think about offense because that will come when you work on your shot."

Pritchard, a 6-foot-3 junior, hit a 12-footer one minute into the second half for a 43-36 lead. Scooter Barry followed with a short jumper and

"They are a good team and well then Pritchard made a 3-point goal as the Jayhawks took command before a standing-room-only crowd of almost 16,000.

Lincoln Minor's bucket capped the run for a 54-37 lead and Wichita State, 12-5, never recovered.

Wichita State held 1- and 2-point leads several times during the seesaw first half, with John Cooper and Steve Grayer working inside the Kansas defense.

Cooper's two free throws and a 3-point goal by Paul Guffrovich brought Wichita State to within eight points at 66-58 with 5:09 left.

Manning, Gabriel among 11 college hall inductees

By The Associated Press

LARCHMONT, N.Y. - Quarterbacks Archie Manning of Mississippi and Roman Gabriel of North Carolina State and fullback Larry Csonka of Syracuse are among 11 players elected to the College Hall of Fame, the National Football Foundation announced Wednesday.

The others are Bob Schloredt, Washington quarterback, 1958-60; Donny Anderson, Texas Tech halfback, 1963-65; Paul Cleary, Southern California end, 1946-47; halfback Chalmers "Bump" Elliott, Purdue, 1944, Michigan, 1946-47; Bob Johnson, Tennessee center, 1965-67; Ted Kwalick, Penn State tight end, 1966-68; Edgar "Eggs" Manske, Northwestern end, 1931-33; and Aurelius Thomas, Ohio State guard, 1955-57.

"It's a pleasant surprise," said Manning, who was reached on a business trip in Jackson, Miss.

"I've been to the induction ceremonies in New York a couple of times, and one thing that always struck me was that most of the guys being inducted were 50-60 years old. I'm not quite 40, and it's quite an honor to be picked so young." Manning won MVP honors for Ole Miss in the Gator and Sugar

Bowls and was voted Quarterback of the Quarter Century in the Southeastern Conference for the 1950-75 period. He lettered from 1968-70, was a first-round draft choice of the New Orleans Saints and is currently in business in New Orleans.

Gabriel said his selection was beyond his expectations.

"My dream was to be a professional player, either as a football guy, or as a basketball or a baseball guy. Now, having an opportunity to be thought of as one of the good ones to be coming out of college, I never even perceived that," he said in Charlotte, N.C. where he oversees the Knights of the Class AA Southern League.

Gabriel ranks third at N.C. State in all-time passing accuracy at 56.32 percent. His 19 career touchdown passes, from 1959-61, rank third and he is rated eighth on the all-time list for passing efficiency.

Csonka broke all of Syracuse's rushing records during his career

Sports Briefly

Ex-'Cat Evans in sports hall

K-State officials were notifed that Mike Evans, the all-time leading basketball scorer in the school's history, is being inducted into the Goldsboro, N.C. Sports Hall of Fame.

The ceremony is scheduled for Saturday although Evans will not attend since he is playing professional basketball in Italy. The 6-foot-1 guard scored 2,115 points in his four-year stint as a Wildcat, and he's still the only player to surpass the 2,000-point mark at K-State. He is one of 18 All-Americans to have played for the 'Cats.

Steelers hire ex-Chiefs' aide

PITTSBURGH - Rod Rust, an NFL assistant coach for 13 years and the former defensive coordinator of the New England Patriots and Kansas City Chiefs, was hired Wednesday as the Pittsburgh Steelers' defensive coordinator.

Rust, 60, spent five seasons with the Patriots before rejoining the Chiefs' staff last season. He was given permission to talk to the Steelers when former Chiefs Coach Frank Gansz was fired and replaced by Marty Schottenheimer, who will bring in his own assistants.

Jordan scores 10,000th point

PHILADELPHIA — Chicago's Michael Jordan scored his 10,000th NBA point Wednesday night in the Bulls' game against the Philadelphia 76ers, reaching the career milestone in fewer games than all but one other player in NBA history. Jordan, who started the game despite a sore knee, hit an 8-foot bank shot with 5:39 to play in the fourth period to give him 33 points in the game and exactly 10,000 points in his NBA career.

When the feat was announced over the public address system, Jordan received a minute-long standing ovation.

The game was Jordan's 303rd. Wilt Chamberlain reached the milestone in 236 games.

3-point streak ends at 79

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. - One of the NBA's most incredible streaks ended before a half-empty arena and against a struggling team.

Michael Adams failed to connect on a 3-point shot for the first time in 80 games, and his string was broken at 79. For nearly one year, the 5-foot-10 Denver Nuggets guard had launched his unorthodox shots from afar with uncanny accuracy.

Just Saturday night, he hit a league-tying eight 3-pointers against Milwaukee. But that performance may have burned him out. On Tuesday night at the Brendan Byrne Arena, a streak begun last Jan. 28 ended, as six of Adams' shots banged far from the rim in a 117-115 loss to the New Jersey Nets.

share the backcourt with Magic Johnson of the Los Angeles Lak-

Topeka recovering from 1988 tornado

Collegian Reporter

Topeka has almost completed the reconstruction of businesses, schools and homes damaged by a tornado that struck the southwest portion of the city on Nov. 15. Damages have been estimated at about $4 million.

Most damages were handled by insurance companies during the week after the storm, said Gary Middleton, assistant director of emergency preparedness.

There are still some obvious signs of the tornado, but priority damages have been taken care of. Middleton said.

Some businesses and schools are investigating the upgrading of storm warning systems so if a power station is hit by lightning - as occurred in the November incident - the distress warning sirens will not fail.

"There is no fail-proof storm warning method, but there are a few battery operated systems that will work when power is out - unless they are struck directly by lightning," he said.

Robert McFrazier, principal of Topeka West High School, said that because Topeka West was not warned about the tornado when it hit, the school board was investigating alternative power sources for storm warnings.

He said the students and staff of the school were very lucky this time. "There were a few minor injuries caused by flying glass, but that is the extent of it," McFrazier said. "There was some mild emotional trauma. Some kids were uneasy about going into the same classroom (they were in when the tornado hit)."

He said about 90 percent of the damage to the school had been repaired.

"The roof is replaced and all of the internal cleanup is completed. There are still windows to be fixed, and the landscaping just needs time to grow back," he said.

Businesses have also recovered from the tornado's effects.

Arby's restaurant at 5330 S.W. 21st St. had a grand opening on Jan. 14 to celebrate the renovation of the store after it was struck.

"The front end was destroyed and we needed to completely redecorate the interior of the building," said Will McCoy, Arby's manager.

Lt. Bud Brooks, public information officer with the Topeka Police Department, said there are still some signs of the twister, but most of the damages have been repaired.

There are some dirt piles from replacing telephone poles that haven't yet been removed, and the treetops are twisted and chewed off," Brooks said.

Bill Severn, senior in park resources management, and others rummage through Severn's destroyed home after a tornado hit Topeka on Nov. 15. Damages have been estimated at $4 million and reconstruction throughout the city is almost complete.

Be Wise ... Read the Collegian!

Lafene Student Health Center will close at 4 p.m. on Thursday, January 26 & Friday, January 27. Emergency room services will be available.

You can FIND IT! If we HAVE IT!

Best Prices-Mon.-Wed. 99¢ Thurs.-Sun. $250 & $165

Best Service—No Membership Fee Best Location—Behind Alco Next to the new Valentino's

Open 7 Days A Week

Sun.-Thur. Noon-9 Fri. Noon-10 Sat. 10-10

Rental VCRs Available Nintendo Control Deck and Games

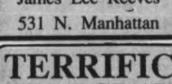

TONIGHT

Mixed Drinks $1.75

> Pitchers $2.75

Comedy Invasion next Mon., Tues. James Lee Reeves

99¢ well drinks

50¢ kamikaze shots

$1.50 BBAMB 5:00-11:00, burgers, burgers & more burgers!

PLUS " Backroom Dancing 18 to enter, 21 to drink 619 North 12th, Aggieville, 539-9794

McCain auditorium

Beausoleil La musique acadienne Friday, January 27, 8:00 p.m.

They've played Carnegie Hall, the Kennedy Center, Lincoln Center, the Lone Star Cafe. Garrison Keillor, host of A Prairie Home Companion, called them "the best Cajun band in the world." Why? Because their fusion of traditional styles with jazz, rock, and bluegrass has brought the rich legacy of Cajun music out of the bayous and into the here and now. Join Beausoleil for an evening of sheer, unstoppable fun and laissez les bons temps rouler!

"Michael Doucet is one of the most delightful fiddlers on the planet. When he and Beausoleil step out, they do so without seat belts." -- Record Roundup

> General Public: $12 Senior Citizen: $10 Student / Child: $8

Charge tickets to MasterCard or VISA at 532-6428, or come to the box office noon to 5:00 p.m. weekdays.

Transportation for seniors is available . through Kansas State Bank and the Manhattan Arts Council. For information, " call Marie Dellen at 537-4400.

Make your evening on the town complete with tickets to Beausoleil and a buffet featuring Cajun specialities at the . University Club. For information and reservations call (913) 539-7531

Drive To Mexico In 10 Minutes!

That's about how long it takes to get from the Kate campus to Raoul's Escondido on the west side of Manhattan. Once you're there, you'll see why we call it Mexico!

You'll be treated to an all-you-can-eat buffet filled with authentic mexican food made from family recipes. It's fast, it's convenient, and best of all, it's inexpensive; just $4.50 every day for lunch!

When you're ready for a taste of authentic Mexico, remember, you can drive a short 10 minutes to Raoul's Escondido, or you can drive 915 miles south!

COME SEE US TODAY!

Raoul's Escondido

215 Seth Childs Rd. - Manhattan 539 - 3410

KSU

EANBAS STATE

Tae Kwon Do Karate Demonstration

Master Chae Sun Vi; 7th Degree Black Belt

KSU Ahearn Field House

Friday, Jan. 27th, 7-8 p.m.

Benefits: Self defense, lose and control weight, self discipline, coordination, self-confidence, top physical condition, and agility.

Community Education offers Tae Kwon Do Karate Classes with Instructor Chae Sun Vi on Tuesdays and Fridays, 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Class fee: $47.

Optional one K-State Undergraduate credit.

Register NOW! Call 532-5566 Community Education Division of Continuing Education 317 Umberger Hall College Court Building

WANTED Radio Announcers

Applications are now being accepted for announcer/DJ positions for various on-air shifts, including weekends. Prior AM or FM broadcast experience is necessary. Apply at our All-New studios, 2414 Casement Road, Manhattan, Monday-Friday, 8 a.m.-5 p.m. KMKF.

WE WANT TO MAKE YOUR STUDENT LOAN!

Have the professionals at Kansas State Bank make your student loan. Simply contact us at:

537-4400 Lender code #821176

KANSAS STATE BANK Westloop • Aggieville • K-State Union, Manhattan, Kansas 66502

Brides to Be . . .

If you're hoping for Lenox, Don't forget to register!

The nicest way to let people know which Lenox China and Crystal patterns you've selected is to register with our Bridal Consultant. Your friends and family will be grateful for your thoughtfulness, because they'll know they're giving you something you really want. People like to give fine china and hand-blown crystal for wedding gifts, because of their lasting value and beauty. Come in today and register your Lenox China and Crystal patterns with our Bridal Consultant. You'll be glad that you did. And, of course, you won't be

DOWNTOWN Poyntz Avenue at Fifth 776-9067

obligated in any way

AGGIEVILLE 1227 Moro Street 539-1891

Open Thurs, till 8. See us at the Manhattan Bridal Show Houston Street Ballroom Sunday, Feb. 5 at 1 p.m.

Tax deadline nearing Ag alumna given award

Working students may get large refunds

By The Collegian Staff

Tax form phobia is sweeping the nation. But for some working students who file income tax returns, tax time can mean a healthy refund just in time for spring break.

provide a record of earnings and taxes to all 1988 employees by Jan. 31. The wage and tax statement, or W-2 form, is necessary in filing an income

How much students receive in tax refunds depends on their tax liability, said Keith Ratzloff, University controller.

"It is not whether they are a student or not," he said. "It depends on how much money they earned and, on their W-4, if they claimed exempt status,"

Employers require all their employees to fill out employee withholding allowance certificates, or W-4 forms. The number of withholding allowances on the W-4 is used to determine how much federal income tax the employer will withhold from pay. Students who are claimed on one of their parents' income tax returns generally cannot be exempt from income tax withholding.

Filing deadline is April 15, and

Remember

18 oz. Fishbowls

Enjoy smooth, creamy

Frozen Yogurt

that tastes like Ice Cream

but with 80% less fat!

-- FREE SAMPLES--

I Can't Believe It's

YOGURT!

GREAT TASTE-NATURALLY

OPEN: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Daily

Noon-11 p.m. Sundays

Nautilus Towers-Aggieville

776-9879

according to an IRS brochure on student tax information, filing early will not only "leave you more relaxed," but will also speed the refund process, Ratzloff said.

For those who do not have the time Federal law requires employers to or patience to complete their tax return, there is help, said Gil Gillis-pie, owner of the H&R Block office in Manhattan. Needing help filling out tax forms is not a new problem.

> "Government tax consultants said 90 percent of the public will not be able to do their own return and I think that's true," he said.

Gillispie said prices vary with the complexity of the return, but the minimum fee is about $15. An average return usually costs about $50. "Seventy-five percent of the people who come to us save enough on their first returns to pay our fees," Gillispie said. However, Gillispie said there are a few important tips for students to remember when filling out their On the W-2 form, it is important to make sure everthing is correct, he said. Specifically, check the Social each paycheck the individual received during the period worked. "These are both items which are

Security number and the amount of often overlooked. If it's wrong, it is the individual's fault and not the respective company's," Gillispie

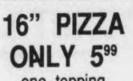

"Three keys to good tax returns keep good records, keep good records and keep good records," he said. "And these records should start from day one of the new year."

Another alternative is to see an accountant, who can also serve as a tax consultant. Unlike tax consultant firms such as H&R Block that deal strictly with taxes, accountants can deal with many different business transactions and problems.

Harley Pottroff, an accountant for Varney Mills Rogers Burnett & Associates, said people should at least attempt to fill out their tax forms themselves, and use an accountant or tax consultant only if they have problems or questions.

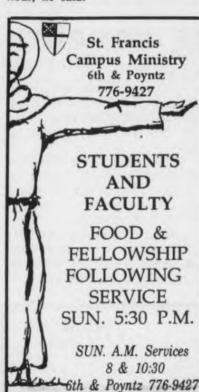

"We can help, but I feel doing it yourself you learn the 'how to' of the forms and when to file," Pottroff

The accountants' fees for compiling a return are usually higher, ranging from $45 to as much as $100 per hour, he said.

one topping dine-in or free delivery with coupon expires Jan. 31 "premium pizza at a cardboard pizza price" 523 South 17th

By Paige Gantz Collegian Reporter standards," said Miller, who first other countries, they must be disstudied leukemia when she was 22

K-State graduate Janice Miller was named by the Agricultural Research Service as the 1988 Distinguished Scientist of the Year for discovering the leukemia virus in cattle and developing a test diagnosing animals infected with the

The Agricultural Research Service is an agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Miller graduated in 1960 with a bachelor of science degree, and in 1962 received her doctorate in veterinary medicine. She received her masters in pathology in 1963.

"The award was created in 1983 to reward scientists for their exceptional research and to encourage other scientists to hold up to these and a vet-med student at K-State.

"I needed money, so I got a job working in the pathology department," she said.

Miller worked with leukemiainfected chickens, feeding and taking care of them, and was allowed to help with some experiments.

Miller discovered the bovine leukemia virus in 1969 at the University of Wisconsin in Madison where she received a doctorate in research for veterinary science.

"This test for detecting diseased cattle is now being commercialized all over the United States and abroad," Miller said. "Without this test, we couldn't export diseasefree animals and since a major portion of U.S. cattle are exported to ease free and this test ensures that they are."

In 1972 Miller and her family moved to Ames, Iowa, where she is employed with the National Animal Disease Center. The center's supervisors nominated Miller for the award. The scientist who has been Miller's "bench-side partner" throughout her research suggested she be nominated for the award, said Harley Moon, director of the National Administration of Disease Labs.

"We nominate a scientist whom we feel has made the greatest impact on science and has made benefits to our nation's agriculture," Moon said. "With Miller's accomplishments, I feel she has done just that."

- •99¢ WELLS
- •99¢ DRAWS
- .99¢
- GRILLE ITEMS
- •99° LONGNECKS

1115 Moro, Aggieville, 776-0030

academic credit toward your degree program at home. You are totally immersed in a new culture and language, not in an isolated study program for U.S. students and taught by U.S. professors. Join the more than 4,000 ISEP students who have made the world their university.

For more information, contact your ISEP coordinator: Prof. W.F. Kolonosky

Dept. of Modern Languages The International Student Exchange Program is a fully reciprocal exchange plan funded in part by the United States Information Agency under the Fulbright-Hays Act of

JEANNIE, top designer with 3 years experience. Specializes in long hair, and men's styling. For introduction JEANNIE is offering 50% off (reg. $18) a cut with style through Feb. 4th Call JEANNIE for your personal appointment. 776-8830

MANACEMENT DEVELOPMENT DDOCAM

•A LEADER IN ENERGY

- A STRONG INTERNATIONAL COMPANY WITH A PROMISING FUTURE
- •THE ENERGY SEGMENT OF DUPONT, THE WORLD'S LARGEST CHEMICAL COMPANY, A TOP TEN FORTUNE 500 COMPANY

As a leader in the energy industry and an integral part of DuPont, Conoco provides outstanding opportunities for graduates with demonstrated initiative and a commitment to excellence.

We have an outstanding Management Development Program and an aggressive team of employees which keeps us at the competitive edge. We are looking for exceptional ENGINEERING (Chemical, Civil, Industrial, Mechanical and Electrical) and MBA GRADUATES to enter one of the best Management Development Programs in the industry.

CONOCO INC.'S SUPPLY AND TRANSPORTATION DEPARTMENT WILL BE ON CAMPUS FEBRUARY 15th AND 16th TO INTERVIEW SPRING AND FALL '89 GRADUATES.

Please inquire at the KSU Placement Office for Details

CONOCO

Senate reapportionment discussed by committee

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA - A committee voted Wednesday to proceed with reapportionment of the state Senate, despite a warning from one lawmaker that such an exercise was unnecessary and could be unconstitutional.

The Senate Legislative, Judicial and Congressional Committee was told that failure to proceed with reapportionment also could present constitutional problems.

The committee on voice vote approved a motion by Sen. Dick Bond, R-Overland Park, that was seconded by Sen. Eric Yost, R-Wichita. Both Johnson County and Sedgwick County stand to gain at least one seat in the Senate because of increases in population since the last apportionment of the chamber.

Last November, voters approved a constitutional amendment that requires the state to reapportion the House using figures from a one-time state census conducted last year. Both the House and the Senate must be reapportioned in 1992, using 1990 federal census data. Senators were elected last year and won't stand for re-election until 1992.

Committee members questioned whether the Senate also needs to be reapportioned this year. But state County, represented by Sen. Nancy

Board of Education districts are Parrish, D-Topeka, has 44,752, 21 based on Senate districts, and five of the 10 board members are up for re-election in 1990. Arden Ensley, revisor of statutes, told the committee that the courts would take a "dim view" of only the House being reapportioned during this session, even if Senate reapportionment is not mandated by law.

"I would hesitate to advise you not to do it," he said. Under the 1964 "one-man, onevote" ruling by the U.S. Supreme Court, each House and Senate district must contain approximately the same number of people to ensure equal representation. That ruling is based on the assumption that people in a district with a larger population than other districts have less representation in the Legislature.

The ideal Senate district would have a population of 57,336 people, according to information distributed by committee Chairman Ben Vidricksen, R-Salina

The 9th Senate District in Johnson County, a seat held by Senate President Bud Burke, R-Leawood, has 114,221 people, or twice the ideal district, according to the state census.

The 19th District in Shawnee percent below the ideal.

Sen. Jack Steineger, D-Kansas City, warned the committee that a court could order a Senate election before 1992 if districts are reapportioned during this session.

"I'm not sure, if you change the districts, that you have a duly elected Legislature," he said.

But Bond said if the Senate does not reapportion this year, it "runs the risk of the courts doing the cartogra-

Steineger also said changing district boundaries might encourage some lawmakers to vote differently than they would otherwise.

For example, a senator who has more urban constituents after reapportionment might change his opinion on such issues as removing the sales tax from farm machinery, which the House approved Wednesday.

'The remedy only comes on swearing-in day of 1993," said Senate Minority Leader Michael Johnston, D-Parsons. Reapportioning now would accomplish nothing, he said, except resolve the problem created by the Board of Education's districts being based on Senate

Bundy linked to more killings

By The Associated Press

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. - The prosecutor who sent Ted Bundy to the electric chair said Wednesday that the serial sex killer may have slain as many 50 young women, a toll frustrated investigators have sought to prove for years.

State Attorney Jerry Blair said that just before Tuesday's execution at Florida State Prison near Starke, he and an FBI expert on serial killers informally discussed a weekend of Bundy confessions.

Blair said FBI agent Bill Hagmeier told him that Bundy's confessions closed the books on 13 killings in Washington, Utah and Colorado; provided information that may never be confirmed on 14 more cases in Washington, Utah, Idaho, California, Vermont and Pennsylvania, and touched on at least 20 more slayings in various states dating back to 1969. Three Florida killings charged to Bundy would be added to the 13 closed cases, pushing the total to at least

"I don't know that it's far off from the figures everybody has bandied about anyway," Blair said. "Those are the figures I've heard for many years. I don't think we'll ever know exactly how many." FBI spokeswoman Kathy Bradford said no formal statement would be made about Bundy's crimes until officials have been briefed at the FBI's Quantico, Va., center for the analysis of violent crime. Hagmeier checked out of his Starke motel Wednesday. Until last week Bundy had denied killing anyone. He was convicted in three slayings in Florida and charged in one death in Colorado; several bodies have never been found.

Bundy, a 42-year-old law school dropout and one-time Republican activist in Washington state, was executed shortly after 7 a.m. Tuesday for the 1978 kidnap, rape and murder of 12-year-old Kimberly Leach, whose body was found in an abandoned pigsty.

In an interview Monday with psyhologist James Dobson, Bundy refused to discuss details of the Leach murder. "I can't talk about that right now ... It's too painful.'

He was also sentenced to death for killing two Florida State students in their Chi Omega Sorority house on the university campus, just three weeks before Miss Leach was abducted in Lake City.

He died under his fourth death

"There is no way in the world that killing me is going to restore those beautiful children to their parents," said Bundy, who told Dobson he didn't want to die.

But Bundy said he deserved his punishment, and expressed remorse about his long, bloody trail of kidnappings, sadistic sexual mutilations and slayings. "I don't want to die, I'm not going to kid you. ... (but) I deserve, certainly, the most extreme punishment society has. I think society deserves to be protected from me and from others like me," he said. In the 29-minute interview, Bundy said his home life had been normal but early experiences with pornography had "crystallized" violent tendencies within him.

"I am essentially a normal person ... except for this destructive segment," he said, emphasizing that he didn't blame pornography for his actions and took full responsibility.

"People need to recognize ... those of us who are or who have been so much influenced by violence in the media, in particular pornographic violence, are not some kind of inherent monsters. We are your sons and we are your husbands and we grew up in regular families. And pornography can reach out and snatch a kid out of any house today.'

Smurthwaite program's role being sought

By Cindy Ellis

Collegian Reporter

In its first year, the Women's Leadership Program at Smurthwaite House is still trying to find its niche.

The 39 women who live in the house have experienced ups and downs throughout the year, as they attempt to define Smurthwaite's role within the University, said Rosanne Proite, assistant director of housing.

The administration decided not to have everything in place for the women, she said. They decided to let the women determine what would

"This is our year to flounder and experiment," Proite said.

When the women moved into the house in August, they had a list of guidelines and expectations, and the flexibility to develop the program their own way.

Cindy Shuman, Smurthwaite president and junior in bakery science and management, said nobody was really sure of what she was doing. They came in with a new director, a majority of new women, and the guidelines set by the Department of

'We are still trying to figure out the direction we want the program to take," Shuman said.

The guidelines for the Women's Leadership Program include involvement in house activities, community service programs, and non-social educational programs.

The women are required to maintain a 2.5 cumulative grade point average, attend a women's leadership retreat prior to the start of the fall semester and perform four hours of house community work in the

The kitchen work allows for a lower housing fee; therefore, Smurthwaite residents pay $600 less per year than those in other residence

Some aspects of the house have remained the same, despite the changes. Proite said residents still strive for the family atmosphere by having fewer residents.

Proite said the program is off to a good start, but a year is not an adequate amount of time to determine the program's success or failure.

Thanks for your response to the Collegian reader surveys. The input was appreciated!

DONUT LOVERS DOZEN

FirstBank Center Corner of Denison & Claffin We deliver on large orders

1 Dozen Donuts

Offer good thru 2/10/89 Offer good thru 2/10/89 (with coupon)

1/2 Dozen Donuts

(with coupon) not good on deliveries I not good on deliveries I not good on deliveries

1 Dozen Donuts

Offer good thru 2/10/89 (with coupon)

COMMUNITY INVOLVEMENT DAY - TODAY!

Local community and social service groups will be displaying promotional material and recruiting volunteers in the Union Courtyard Today from 10 a.m.-2 p.m. K-State faculty, staff, and students, especially those seeking course credit for community service, are encouraged to come. This provides an excellent opportunity to get involved in the Manhattan Community. "A little of your time would mean alot"

SNOW CREEK SKIING

Sunday, January 29, 1989 $41

Enjoy 12 glistening man-made tralls at Snow creek Ski Resort located in nearby Weston, Missouri. The trip includes roundtrip transportation plus boots, poles, skis and lift tickets. Experience Missouri skiing for only $41.

Only $31 with your own transportation. Sign-up through tomorrow in the K-State Union Activites Center, 8 a.m. - 4 p.m.

Only a few spaces left!

k-state union

Continue Your College Adventure
Applications and information for UPC Committee

chairperson positions were available beginning JANUARY 18 in the Activities Center, 3rd floor of the K-State Union. APPLICATIONS ARE DUE AT 4 p.m. ON FEBRUARY 3.

Successful candidates will be selected after interviewing on February 5. Previous UPC experience is helpful, but not required to hold a leadership position. Positions available are:

UPC President, UPC Feature Films Chairperson, UPC Arts Chairperson, UPC Travel Chairperson, UPC Eclectic Entertainment Chairperson, UPC Promotions Chairperson, UPC Special Events Chairperson, UPC Issues & Ideas Chairperson, UPC Outdoor Recreation Chairperson, UPC Kaleidoscope Films Chairperson Watch the Colegian in mid-February for information on UPC Membership application availability.
CALL 532-6571 FOR MORE INFORMATION, OR STOP BY THE UNION ACTIVITIES CENTER.

k-state union

Today, 3:30 p.m., Little Theatre and 7:30 p.m., Forum Hall. $1.75; KSU ID Required.

'Moonlighting's" Bruce Willis stars as a New York detective who becomes the only hope for a group of hostages (one of whom is his estranged wife) being held by 12 terrorists in a Los Angeles high rise office building on Christman Eve. Armed with only his service revolver, determination and a sense of humor, Willis wages a deadly cat and mouse game against the terrorists, who have enough weapons to level an entire city! Rafed R

Tomorrow, January 27 and Saturday, January 28, 7 & 9:30 p.m., Forum Hall and Sunday, January 29, 7 p.m., Forum Hall $1.75; KSU ID Required.

STEVEN SPIELBERG

An animated feature film produced by Steven Spielberg which relates a story of a mouse family that finds its way to a new world, striking the emotional chords of America's emigrant history. Washing up on American shores in a bottle, young Feivel the mouse is determined to find his relatives and be reunited in the New World. However, first Feivel must contend with the challenges and chances represented by New York City during the late 1800's. Rated G.

Saturday, January 28 and Sunday, January 29, 2 p.m., Forum Hall. $1.50; KSU ID Required.

New! Special children's prices: Children 3 and under are FREE! Children 4-10 are only $2.99!

Kedzie 103

CLASSIFIED RATES One day: 15 words or fewer, $2.50, 20 cents per word over 15; Two consecutive dates: 15 words or fewer, $3.50, 25 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.25, 30 cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 35 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $5.00, 40 cents per word over 15.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client an established account with Student Publications. Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon

FRIDAY for Monday's paper.

Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not alter the value of the ad.

Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

Display Classified Rates One day: $5.20 per inch; Three cons $5.00 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.80 per inch

 S5.00 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.60 per inch,
 Ten consecutive days: $4.60 per inch,
 (Deadline is 4:30 p.m. two days before publication.)
 Classified advertising is available only to those who do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, ational origin, sex or ancestry.

Announcements

PERMS-QUANTUM, $25 -Gel nails, $30 -Haircut, Third, 776-7421.

OPEN EVERY WEEKEND Sat. 8-4 Sun. 10-4

·Household Goods & Tools Collectables

·Crafts

 Furniture ·Gift Items

·Coins Ceramics

Jewelry ·Fuller Brush ·LOTS MORE

Ft. Riley Blvd. to Airport Rd. to Murray Rd., Right to Access Rd., Right to the Market. Watch for the signs. PRIDE CO. (913) 776-6906

532-6555 SOUTH PADRE/ Spring Break '89--- Nice rooms for a great pricel From $109 to $169 on the beach or minutes from it. Five or seven days. Don't spend all your money on a room, -you're never there anyway! (Limited space). Call 1-800-782-7653, ext

VIDEOTAPE YOUR wedding or other parties. $50 and up. Call now for quotation. Budget Video Memories.

up. Call now for quotation. Budget video Merriones. 537-3716. ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs -skincare -glamor -nails -gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor, 539-2070.

COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp 539-6193. COOKIE ORDERS, Did Girl Scouts miss you again this year? We'll take your order. Call 539-9508.

FEMALE COUNTRY band needs lead guitar player. Call 537-1292 or 776-3206 for more information. GUCCI WATCHES, Ladies replicas, great gift idea for Valentine's Day. $45. 532-3944.

JEWELRY LOVERS, Where are you???? 75% saving-$$$, Gold rings, $15,00III Silver pendants, $3,00III Manufacturer# 776-5545.

WANTED— 100 overweight people to try herbal weight control program. No drugs, no exercise. Doctor recommended. 100% guaranteed. 776-5114,

2 Apartments—Furnished

BEAUTIFUL THREE-BEDROOM furnished apartment. Large living room, dining room, kitchen on main floor at 1019 Bluemont, Fully carpeted with back porch. 537-0428 or 537-6841

ONE-REDROOM on Sunset, $260 plus gas and electric Laundry facilities, no pets, please. 539-5051 or 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT nice, spacious, furnished or unfurnished. Available immediately, Lease through May or longer. $300 per month. 537-4648 or 539-1577.

Apartments-Unfurnished

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM on 17th Street available now Two blocks to campus, Balcony, gas heat, laundry facilities, $310, 537-9020 or 776-3804.

Unfurnished 1 or 2 bedroom apartments. Sign up for Fall leases begins March 1.

1408 Cambridge Pl. (913) 539-2951

BY RICHARD

BROADFOOT

BOY BECOMES MAN-PART 6 UP UNTIL NOW ... JEFFREY HAS BEEN THE ONLY IMMATURE. "THE COMPETITION" NAIVE GOOF FEATURED IN THIS GOMIC STRIP ...

Bloom County

YOU'RE A

UKRL

HEAD.

HOWEVER ... NOW THAT TROY HAS BEEN HIRED AS "BAITWORLD'S" NEW STOCK BOY, JEFF IS FACED WITH THE VERY real possibility of HAVING SOMEONE WHO IS EVEN LESS MATURE... SOMEONE WHO IS MORE NAIVE ... SOMEONE WHO

IS EVEN MORE GOOFIER THAN HE IS ... INVADING HIS TURF! THIS IS A VERY SOBERING

IDEA FOR AN INDIVIDUAL WHO HAS ACTED LIKE A 12-YEAR-OLD FOR ALL OF HIS 25 YEARS. (WHICH, FOR THE FIRST 11 YEARS, MADE HIM SEEM LIKE QUITE THE LITTLE PRODIGY...)

THE NEW CODING SYSTEM HAS

THE FIRST AMENDMENT

FROM THE PRUDES

ROTECTION

1575!

OPENED UP NEW EXPRESSIVE HORIZONS! WE'VE LIBERATED

TOMORROW: THE FINAL CHAPTER OF THIS "BOY BECOMES MAN" SAGA... AS JEFF BECOMES A MAN!

I'VE ALWAYS

SAY THAT HERE

PUBLICLY.

WANTED TO

August, Furnished and unfurnished, Phone 537-9064 daily.

NICE ONE-BEDROOM in Lee/ Hunting area available now. Fireplace, dishwasher, laundry facilities, $340, 539-2103 or 776-3804.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM near City Park in 24-plex. All appliances, laundry facilities. $380, 537-8229 or 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT in City Park area, $235 plus gas and electric. No pets. 539-8229 or 776-3804. ONE-BEDROOM, two balconies, new carpet, across the street from campus. $250. Available now. 537-4924.

537-4924.

STUDIO APARTMENT adjacent to campus, close to Aggieville. College Court Apartments. $220 monthly. Private parking, air conditioning, washer/dryer and storage lockers. Call 532-7159. TWO-BEDROOM, MOST utilities paid. 539-6058 or

TWO-BEDROOM AT 608 Yurna. Appliances furnished, $225. Off-street parking, pets allowed. 537-1450. TWO TWO-BEDROOM apartments, one block from campus, $300. Stove and refrigerator furnished. 776-7371 or 1-468-3364.

4 Automobiles for Sale

1955 CHEVY low rider pickup, wide window, 350cu., power steering, power brakes, tilt, Cragar SS, subframed, $4,250, 537-1539, ask for "Rat."

1973 DODGE Coronet, five new tires, good school car, $700. Call 537-8950 after 5p.m. 1974 MAVERICK, only $300, good interiors, engine, great for moving around. After 5:30p.m., 776-6277, Rick.

1975 FORD- LTD, V-8, two-door, automatic, air condi-tioning, new battery, timechain, breaker, water-pump, distributor. $750. 537-1012.

1977 T-BIRD, new tires, new paint, good engine. 532-3801.

1978 CHRYSLER Cordoba V-8, air conditioning, AM/ FM cassette. Very good condition, 160K miles, must sell, $750. 776-3226. 1980 MAZDA GLC-good condition, $1,100. 539-0136

1980 MERCURY Bobcat. 98Km, four-speed, power brakes, new brakes, very dependable. $750. 776-8881. Keep calling.

1981 ESCORT, cracked head, 76,000 miles, $500. 532-6750. Ask for Mary Black.

CAN YOU buy jeeps, cars, 4x4s seized in drug raids for under $100? Call for facts today. (602)837-3401 ext 744.

7 Child Care

ACTIVE BALANCED creative day environment. Full day care, preschool. 537-1202.

WANTED: BABYSITTER Thursdays in my home 8a.m.-4:30p.m., nine-month-old child. 539-5911.

8 Computers

A GREAT buyl Epson LX-800 printer, Brand new, never even been plugged in, $200 cheap. Call Paul 537-1705 after 5p.m.

HEWLETT-PACKARD with MSDOS, Lotus 1,2,3 word processing internal modern, full documentation plus HP printer, $800, 532-2026.

LAPTOP DATA General IBM Compatible, 512K, modern, co-processor, Thinkjet Printer. $4,500 new, will sacrifice. 1-238-4998.

LINE PRINTER ribbons for sale- Black multistrike no. QM MS (4½ dozen), $1.25 each. Black nylon no. QM NY (15), $2.25 each. Call 532-6556 or come by Kedzie 103 to see.

9 Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of vertisements in the Employment classification. aders are advised to approach any such "employment opportunity" with reasonable caution. $350 A Dayl At Homel Process phone orders for our company, People call you. Nationwide. For details call (refundable) 1-518-459-8697 ext K925A.

ASSISTANT TRACK coach. Position begins Feb. 27, 1989 through May 27, 1989. Salary $1,476. Send letter or resume with qualifications by Jan. 27, 1989 to: USD 383, 2031 Poyntz, Manhattan, KS 66502. 537-2400, EOE.

EARN UP to $10/ hour. Work own hours. Car and phone

GRADUATE ASSISTANT needed to work with non-traditional students in the FENIX office. Excellent career opportunity. Contact Suzanne Knorr, director. Leasure 3 or 532-6434 mornings. IFWELRY MANUFACTURER wants dealers, Salespeople. Successful moneymaking business, Investment? Commission? Guaranteed profits or money backll 776-5545. LUNCHROOM PLAYGROUND supervisor. One and one-half to two hours per day, $4 per hour, 7:30-9a.m. and/ or 11a.m.- 1p.m. Apply USD 383, 2031 Poyntz, Manhattan, KS 66502, 537-2400, EOE. NANNIES NEEDED. Families in New England area looking for responsible individuals to watch children. Good pay and benefits. For spring placement, call now. 537-0947.

NATIONAL MARKETING firm seeks ambitious, mature student to manage on-campus promotions for top national companies this school year. Flexible hours with earnings potential to $2,500. Call Lisanne or Rebecca P. at 1-800-592-2121.

> WHICH DOESN'T CHANGE THE FACT

UKRL HEAD.

AH YES, THE OL' SECONDS AWAY FROM BLISSFUL SLUMBER" BODY SPASM

By Berke Breathed

PART-TIME SALES help— Retail shoes. Experience preferred. Send schedule, resume to: Box 2, c/o The Collegian, Kedzie 103, KSU, Manhattan, KS

RADIOLOGIC TECHNOLOGIST (A.R.R.T.) on-call position for weekends and occasional relief for nights. Our radiology department features diagnos-tic equipment for procedures including nuclear medicine, ultrasound, mammography, diagnostic radiology. The St. Mary Hospital. 776-1981. EOE

RESORT HOTELS, Cruiselines, airlines and amuse ment parks now accepting applications for spring and summer jobs, internships and career positions. remem pains pains and career positions, and summer jobs, internships and career positions. For more information and an application, write: National Collegiate Recreation Service, P.O. Box 8074, Hilton Head, SC 29938.

SALES: MAJOR league baseball fan needed, Part-time. Big bucks Call Homerun Services at

SCHOOL SOCIAL Worker paraprofessional, part-time Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday evening 7- 9p.m. at Ogden Elementary School. BS degree in social work required. Applications must be received by Jan. 27, 1989 to be considered. Apply to USD 383, 2031 Poyntz, Manhattan, KS 66502, 537-2400.

STUDENT COMPUTER Operator, 30 hours/ wee Student must have been enrolled in at least six resident semester hours during the spring semester and remain in the status of a full-time student or be rolled in four summer school resident hours Must be willing to work evenings, weekends, during school recesses and summer months. Undergraduates with an employment potential of at least two years will be given preference. Previous computer experience and grade point average will be used in the selection criteria. Computer Science major not necessary. Qualified persons in all disciplines are encouraged to apply. EOE. Applications will be accepted until 5p.m., Jan. 27, room 2, Farrell

SUB-N-STUFF SANDWICH Shop is accepting applica tions for delivery drivers, late night and lunch help. Apply in person, 1200 Moro, no phone calls please. SUMMER JOBS outdoors. Over 5,000 openings! National parks, forests, fire crews. Send stamp for free details. 113 E. Wyoming, Kalispell, MT 59901.

SUMMER JOBSII Two of Minnesota's finest summer youth camps seek college students to work as counselors. Employment June- August. For an application and interview, call Jeff at 1-800-451-5270 ext 310.

TUTOR NEEDED for "watfor77" IE 372 computer and data processing class. Phone 776-3517 after 6p.m. WORK-STUDY STUDENT to work with non-traditional students in the FENIX office. Contact Suzanne Knorr, director. Leasure 3 or 532-6434 mornings

12 Houses/Mobile Homes for Rent

FREE GROCERIESI Rent two-bedroom mobile home. receive $50 groceries at Dillons Stores. Rent three-bedroomtrailer, get $75 groceries. 776-8552. Valid only until 2/10/89.

14 Lost and Found

FOUND: MALE dachshund puppy, black and brown in the Shop Quik parking lot across from Goodnow Hall. Call 537-1096.

FOUND: PAIR of black leather gloves found in Denison Hall room 113-A. Claim at Union Lost and Found. LOST 1/19: Silver foil brooch, square knot shape. Reward, Call Susan, 539-3668 before 10p.m.

LOST MY guitar at a car wash. Significant reward to you for it's return. 776-0765. LOST: ONE pair of navy blue Isotoner gloves. Please call Debbie at 776-5819.

15 Miscellaneous Merchandise

PERSONAL COMPUTERS Authorized Warranty Service also servicing

· PC compatibles & printers Televisions & VCRs MIDWEST

SERVICES 624 Tuttle Creek Blvd. Manhattan 913-776-6650

Don't Forget . . . 99¢ Pitchers

0 -0-

-5213

,...$118

5136

Brother's Tonight

SPRING BREAK 89

5 OR 7 NIGHTS

DAYTONA BEACH

MUSTANG ISLAND

....$107 DON'T WAIT 'TIL IT'S TOO LATE! CALL TOLL FREE TODAY 1-800-321-5911

BALLROOM Wedding Receptions Dances, Parties For direct bookings call 539-1234

776-5994 after 5p.m

JUST ARRIVED, more "KU Sucks" T-shirts, limited supply. Call Stephen after 3p.m., 537-4140.

NIKON FE2 black body, good condition, $375. Nikon Nikkor 28mm 1/2.8, good condition $200. Chris

HOUSTON STREET

SPRING BREAK '89

Bahamas..... $259 availability going fast

Daytona $139 info and sign-up meeting 8:30 tonight at Kites

Classio 1

104 S. 4th 539-7546

SUN CONNECTION

776-2426

sessions coupon expires 1/29/89 sessions expire 6/31/89

SKI COLORADO SPRING BREAK '89

March 11-16, 1989 Winter Park$266 Keystone$252

Steamboat.....$280 March 13-17, 1989 Winter Park$206

Keystone$197 Steamboat.....$221 Tour includes round trip sleeper bus, lodging and lift ticket for each ski day

Marine S (drive yourself Classio and save $80) Travel & Tours 537-7546 13

Delivery drivers and inside personnel needed. Contact Kathy after 4 p.m. Falsetto's

539-3830 ADVENTURE QUEST

PIZZA

SPRING BREAK WILDERNESS ADVENTURE

Rock Climbing/Rappelling, Canoeing & Caving (basic instruction provided)

March 11-14 $120 Darin Hoover 776-9261 Staffed for both males & females

16 Motorcycles/Bicycles for Sale

1982, 550 Yamaha Maxim. Good condition. New tires.

1984 HONDA Aspencade 1200, 19,000 miles, looks and runs like new, extra chrome. Super buy at $4,950. Price a new onel 537-1539.

17 Musical Instruments

GIBSON LES Paul studio electric guitar, Martin Sigma 12 string acoustic, Rockman soloist amp. 539-6794.

Hayes House of Music

Guitar Strings & Drum Sticks Buy one set, get second set for half price 327 Poyntz 776-79

SEVERAL OLD and new violins, violas and cellos with excellent tone, 539-8844.

18 Personals

BRET K. Here's your Personall Thanks for five great semesters as roommates and everything Smooth. KSU PRIDE-Party Friday on Bluemont. Bring someone we don't know. Thumper, Questions, Bondage Contact Solitaire. MARSHMELLOWS. THANKS for listening to and helping your friend with a problem. Love ya, Pickle PATI- TODAY you're 22 and yet to make me blue Thank for being -You. Have a groovy day. Love,

RACHELLE - CINDY and Brent R getting married. C U

RANDLES AND Richwine: Where is the party?! We are suppose to meet Bond... James Bond. Love, Pussy

THETA NEOPHYTES- Kite's and Pansies, Black and Gold, Theta love will never grow oid. For you this week will unfold. Theta wonders will be told. Love, Actives.

TO MR. P and Meg— What about us? Sigma Chi and Phi Delti

20 Professional Services

DISSERTATIONS, THESES, term papers, mail merg-ing, labels, text scanning. Laser printing. Call 537-4146.

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 South Fourth St., Suite 25.

PROMPT ABORTION and contraceptive services in Lawrence, (913)841-5716.

21 Rentals

SINGLE GARAGES near Aggieville. $25 per month

SUBLEASE AVAILABLE. January- May. Two-bedroom furnished apartment, second floor near Aggleville. $300 plus electricity, about $10 monthly. 539-8881.

22 Resume/Typing Services

Always hire a professional! We design resumes for your profession. Typeset & laserprinted. Graphics Plus corner of Bluemont & Manhattan Aggieville 539-6027

TERM PAPERS, cover letters, resumes, theses and dissertations entered, stored and completed to your specifications. Come see us. Ross Secretarial Services, 614 N. 12th (across from Kite's) 539-5147.

23 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE, OWN room, two blocks from campus $106.25/ month plus utilities. Call 1-762-4242. FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted— own room— two blocks from campus. Will come down on pricel Call

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to share three-b apartment. Own room, close to campus. February rent free. No deposit required. Call 539-1203. FEMALE TO share house close to campus, furnished $162.50/ month plus deposit. Share utilities. Call Renee at 539-8695.

FEMALE -- UPSTAIRS three-bedroom house! Right off Vattier (close to campus). For more infor 537-7645.

MALE OR female to share apartment till May. One and one-half blocks west. $135 plus utilities. Call for information. 776-7980. ROOMMATE WANTED for two-story hor wood floors and bannister. Beautiful. 776-0553/ 1-492-3166.

WANTED: FEMALE roommate, $130. 539-1132.

WANTED: ONE or two roommates to share large house.
Own room. Central heat and air. Fireplace, color TV, VCR, microwave, furnished except for bedroom. Deck with large backyard. Driveway parking, two blocks from campus. Low rent, one-sixth utilities. Call anytime 539-1308.

24 Situation Wanted

FIST HOLE Repair Co. We fix party damaged walls. For a free estimate, call after 6p.m. ask for Chris. 539-8036.

GYMNASTICS, SPECIAL preschooler classes now available. Call 776-0765.

28 Martial Arts

MARTIAL ARTS— Learn to gracefully defend yourself and ward off brutal, hostile attackers in our vibrant Tae Kwon Do Martial Arts Class, Class starts Friday, Jan. 27. Only $47. Call 532-5566 to register, or stop by College Court Building. Any questions? Call 532-5570 for information. Act now.

29 Wanted

CAN'T GO to the NU vs. KSU BB game? Sell me your tickets. Call Audra 532-6556— day or 539-7571 after 10p.m.

By Eugene Sheffer

Crossword

ACROSS

Throne user 5 Track trip 8 Spoken

12 Vesuvian flow 13 Frost 14 Cleo's material? 6 Wager 17 Some linemen 18 Sawbuck

22 Give the

15 Curtain

pink slip " — Get By" (old 24 Hodge podge 27 Feeling excited 32 Yale player 33 Boot part 34 Newcomer 35 Social-

Solution time: 27 mins.

a party 38 Like some cheeses

2 Tortoise's 21 Sty resident 24 Skirt 3 British edge 25 Actress MacGraw Farrow hits, of gown 30 Born

38 Major world

river

books sorts 28 Ending 6 Top flyer 7 Kittens for progress 29 Frilly and collies 8 "Anna dressing

river

4 Mia

role

5 Opera

Christie

writer

that

19 Former

spouse

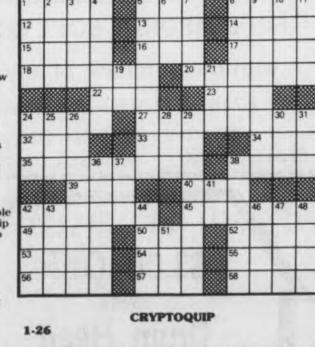

9 Circus 31 George Burns role name 36 Slave ship 10 Actor 37 Old soap Ray 11 For fear ingredient

> 41 Morning: abbr. 42 Give in over 46 - With

BEBYSGU AWKKPH PKHAUYXAEU

TGKIWI XEVBSPVWKAH Yesterday's Cryptoquip: THE BUSY MAN DOING HIS OWN LAUNDRY WAS HAMPERED BY MISSING

Today's Cryptoquip clue: K equals N

Peanuts REMEMBER WHEN WE WERE PUPPIES AT THE DAISY HILL PUPPY FARM? I

JAM DAVES

Garfield

CAN'T BELIEVE I'VE GROWN UP TO WIN AN "UGLY DOG" CONTEST ...

I THINK

By Jim Davis

42 Square dance VIP 1 Peacock 45 Visions 49 Diabolical 50 Custard ingred-down 54 Spotted cube Lonely.. 56 Irritable 57 Countdown

word

52 Writer

53 "Chow

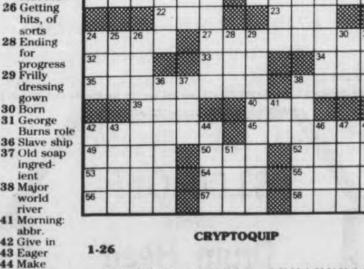

Emile

58 Famed loch DOWN 1 Thin cut

izing at

39 Метту 40 Flee Yesterday's answer

Wind" 47 Building wings 48 Utters 51 Rummy playing cry

QGH JKEQK NEU TPH RGXJ.

RECEPTACLE.

Ditch to detain smugglers along U.S.-Mexican border

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - A 4-milelong ditch that a Justice Department official compared Wednesday to a "buried Berlin Wall" is planned for a stretch of the U.S.-Mexican border to stem drug smuggling into Southern California.

But the plan is being criticized as "too little too late" by a group that advocates building fences along the border and blasted as repressive by immigrant rights organizations.

Associate Attorney General Francis A. Keating II said he proposed the Parents will be on the agenda for a

Feb. 13 meeting, at which time the sion about the renewal of the intend to send representatives to the Gasperich said students also contract.

Feb. 13 meeting.

idea last fall as a way to discourage drug smugglers from driving loads of cocaine, marijuana and heroin across the border near San Diego.

The plan being undertaken by the Immigration and Naturalization Service was approved last month by Attorney General Dick Thornburgh, Keating said.

The ditch, which Keating likened to "our buried Berlin Wall" will be deep and wide enough to discourage smugglers from driving trucks and cars across the border along a fourmile stretch of flat desert east of San Ysidro, Calif.

The associate attorney general, who is leaving office with the start of the Bush administration, said the desert stretch in the Otay Mesa area east of San Ysidro is a major drug smuggling route.

The Border Patrol has tried to stop vehicle traffic across the desert by digging shallow trenches, but smugglers have been able to fill in the ditches to drive through, said Keating, who oversaw law enforcement agencies in the Justice Department, including the Border Patrol.

Wabaunsee High School, said the faculty is in complete support of Students ■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3 Bryson. "The faculty drafted a memoranweeks' written notice is required to be allowed on the agenda, she said. dum (to the superintendent) stating support of Bryson and it was signed unanimously by the faculty and staff school board plans to make a deciof the high school," he said. Murray said Bryson has been good to the educational process at the high "He's done a good job and we support him," he said.

The faculty definitely supports Steve Murray, athletic director at Bryson, said Larry Hoobler, vocational agriculture teacher at Wabaunsee High School.

"It is hard to get involved because we are hired by the same people," Hoobler said.

Hoobler said the conflict is between the superintendent and Bryson, involving expectations that were not carried out. Hoobler said he does not know what those expectations

The Associated Press contributed to this

Dole proposes legislation to curtail campaign costs

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - Senate Minority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., proposed legislation Wednesday to revamp the way congressional campaigns are financed and boost Medicare payments to small rural hospitals.

A dozen GOP senators joined Dole in offering the campaign finance proposal, which is to address complaints about the spiraling costs of campaigns and the growing influence of special interest money in congressional elections.

Among the supporters were Sens. Nancy Kassebaum, R-Kan., and John Danforth, R-Mo.

A key feature of the proposal would limit the contributions from political action committees, or PACs, to $2,000 for primary and general elections instead of the current $10,000. Individuals would be allowed to give more, up to $4,000 instead of the current $2,000 limit.

PACs are operated by businesses, labor unions, trade associations and other groups to provide campaign contributions.

In the past, campaign finance legislation has met with partisan deadlock in the Senate. Democrats have supported proposals to cap overall spending on campaigns and to link those curbs to partial taxpayer financing for candidates who abide by the limits.

Republicans have opposed those provisions and the legislation offered by Dole does not include

Senate Democratic leaders introduced their own campaign finance bill on Wednesday similar to their past proposals, leaving the issues of spending limits and public financing as potential obstacles to a compromise.

The hospital bill, which was offered by Dole and Kassebaum, is similar to a proposal the senators advanced last year along with Rep. Pat Roberts, R-Kan., to address problems with the Medicare reimbursement system that rural hospitals contend is costing them money and forcing some institutions out of business.

"Nothing is more basic than health care, yet rural America is lagging behind the rest of the country when it comes to access to quality medical services," Dole said in a statement. "Since 1983, 188 rural hospitals have closed and more will be on the way out unless the federal government provides additional funding above current Medicare support levels."

At issue is the so-called prospective payment system implemented in 1983 as a way of reducing medical costs. It pays hospitals fixed fees for treatments provided elderly patients.

Rural hospitals contend the reimbursement program discriminates against them, on average providing them smaller payments than those to urban institutions for the same treatment. Industry officals contend that the disparity is too great even though rates are designed to account for varying labor and operating expenses.

Instructor

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 said. "Some people say he should stop appearing on stage, but when I see him walk on that stage I see his spirit dancing and it transcends his Quoting art historian Curt Sachs, Pacquette explained what dance means to him.

"Sachs said that when you immerse yourself in dance you're not just getting immersed in steps, it's a higher form of life," he said.

Pacquette and his wife, Janice, met at State University of New York at Purchase while both were taking dance classes.

"She'd had dance classes for several years before and I was an awkward beginner," he said. "She humbled me, but it made my drive stronger to work as hard as possible.' Both continued their graduate work at Smith College in Massachusetts. His wife is still there but she will be finished at the end of this semester. They have both applied for positions as dance artists in residence at schools throughout the country.

"We'd like to become 'DINKs'," Pacquette said. "That stands for 'double income, no kids,' which is the new term up north. First everyone wanted to be Yuppies; now they want to be DINKs.

But income is not Pacquette's main motivation as a dancer.

"Having danced professionally, I know you don't make much money." he said. "I would like to be compensated in my work in the same way professionals like doctors or lawyers are compensated for their work, but that's not the ultimate goal. If it means being poor to be an artist, I'll just continue being poor."

Taxes

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

support for the plan," Vancrum said. "There may be enough support to amend the bill in committee. At least, there will be an attempt."

Hayden has said his proposal to cut taxes will return the remainder of a $135 million "windfall" the state has received for two years. The windfall is an increase in state tax revenues generated because of changes in the federal tax code in

The 1988 Legislature passed a sweeping set of changes in the state's individual income tax code. Among those changes were the repeal of the law allowing a deduction for federal income taxes paid.

Secretary of Revenue Ed Rolfs told the committee the change was made in part to keep the state from being at the mercy of the federal government. He said that if federal taxes increase, the state receives less revenue if it allows federal deductibility.

"What we were trying to do is insulate the state somewhat," Rolfs

The state Department of Revenue came up with its own "Oklahoma option," under which cuts would equal the amount allowed by Hayden's current plans. In such a case, if a person chooses federal deductibility, he would face rates of up to 10 percent - higher than they were before the state started collecting the Vancrum acknowleged that if the Legislature wants to give taxpayers the choice of federal deductibility, it must accept cuts larger than what Hayden has proposed.

Collegian Coupon Page

Money-Saving Specials

40% Discount

with your student I.D.

Receive a 40% discount on your developing of 110, 126, and 35mm color film with this coupon. (c-41)

Mon.-Sat. 9 a.m.-7 p.m. Sun. 12-5 p.m.

2700 Anderson Manhattan, KS 66502 539-2519

717 N. 11th

539-8920

512 Poyntz Ave. Manhattan, Kansas

This coupon good for

Sweet and Sour Chicken over rice $1.99 not good with any other special or promo. expires 1/31/89

Free Delivery with min. $7 order 11 a.m.-1 a.m.

Receive five color reprints for

with this coupon.

Good for 31/2 x 5 and 4 x 6 reprints of 110, 126 and 35mm color film. Next day service. (c-41)

Mon.-Sat. 9 a.m.-7 p.m. Sun. 12-5 p.m.

2700 Anderson Manhattan, KS 66502 539-2519

with the purchase of any sub 12th & Moro-Aggieville

WITH THIS COUPON ONLY

Void with others offers Expires 2/8/89

Beef Kabobs

Reg. $7.95

$6.95 with coupon

Chicken Fried Steak

Reg. $5.95

$4.95 with coupon

Friend Maker Steak (For Two)

Onion rings, Salad, Bread, Coffee and your choice baked Potato, Hash Browns, or Spaghetti & Meat Sauce. Reg. 14.95

Two dollars off with coupon.

Coupon good until February 15.

Offer good Sunday only.

$3.00 OFF every Drum Head (Good through February) Hayes House of Music 776-7983 327 Poyntz Manhattan

0/0/0 **

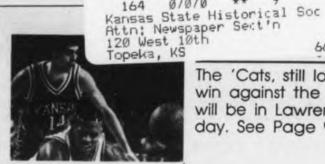

Paraguayan Visit

Twelve professors from Paraguay are visiting K-State as part of an exchange program to learn about education techniques. See Page 5.

Weather

Sunny this morning, becoming partly cloudy this afternoon. Unseasonably mild with high in the mid-50s. Southwest winds 10 to 15 mph.

66612 The 'Cats, still looking for a win against the Jayhawks, will be in Lawrence Saturday. See Page 9.

Friday

January 27, 1989

Kansas State University Manhattan, Kansas 66506 Volume 95, Number 87

Kansas State Collegian

Director of Lafene to retire March 17

Staft/Christopher T. Assal

Dr. Robert Tout, director of Lafene Student Health Center, is retiring center for the past eight years. A new director of Lafene and a chief-of-March 17 after 26 years in student health. He has been director of the staff will be hired to replace Tout.

Chief-of-staff, director to replace position

By Lance E. Schwulst Collegian Reporter

After having worked for 26 years in Lafene Student Health Center the past eight as its director — Dr. Robert Tout will retire March 17.

A new director of Lafene will be hired and a newly created chief-ofstaff position will be filled to replace chief-of-staff. Tout. The screening process for the already underway.

"We would like to finalize the chief-of-staff selection by the end of for the actual quality of the health next week and the selection for director by the end of the first week in said. February," said Mike Lynch, director of the Office of Academic Assistance.

Lynch is overseeing the appointment of the chief-of-staff and the selection committee for the director.

About 60 applications for the director's position have been received and are being reviewed by the selection committee, which is comprised of faculty, students, and Dr. Thomas Ryan, a Lafene physician, Lynch said.

recommendations to Lynch, who will make the final decision.

"Historically, the director has been an M.D.," Tout said. "Today, more and more activities of the director are in the realm of finance.

"After some discussion, a non-M.D. director was a viable choice."

Lynch said the new director will be in charge of budget, long-range planning and policy-making.

The search for the new director is being conducted on a national basis, but does not exclude applicants who are current employees at Lafene. An internal search is being conducted for

The interviews of Lafene physidirector's position will begin next cians and input from Lafene staff week. Screening for chief-of-staff is members will be used by Lynch to make the final decision.

"The chief-of-staff is responsible care being provided at Lafene," Tout

Although two positions are being created to replace Tout, Lafene will not incur any additional costs, Lynch "Having a director and chief-ofnificant savings in the next fiscal year," he said. Tout said the director will be hired at a salary less than his salary was as staff will (allow us to) realize a sig-director, and the physician chosen to be chief-of-staff will receive a raise. He said the biggest challenge for

The committee will narrow the the new director and chief-of-staff field to five candidates and make will be to keep up with a rapidly changing profession.

"We've had to make a lot of changes in the last few years, and there will be many more to meet in the years to come," Tout said. "Our students deserve to be treated with the best and newest methods."

■ See TOUT, Page 12

Gunman wounds 4 at school

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - A gunman opened fire on a crowd of students outside a District of Columbia high school Thursday, wounding four, police said. The incident apparently erupted because of a dispute earlier in the day.

One witness said the man "knew where he wanted to shoot, and then he just started shooting at random." Police said the assailant seemed to have targeted the students involved.

There were no immediate arrests, but authorities were said to be searching for three men.

The shooting "seemed to be the result of an altercation that had taken place earlier in the day," said Capt. Robert L. Gales of the District of Columbia police.

School system spokesman Charles Seigel said two "outsiders" entered the school about noon and were involved in a "verbal altercation" with students.

The students agreed to a fight after school, Seigel said, and were on their way to the site when the shootings

"Students here are obviously very upset," he said. "Obviously, we're shocked."

When asked if any of the victims knew the assailants, Gales said, "I think some of the victims know who was involved."

The shootings at Wilson High School in affluent northwest Washington occurred about 2:30 p.m., moments after the students were dismissed for the day. None of the injuries was thought to be lifethreatening.

Bush's nominees examined

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - Senate committees, working Thursday to fill vacancies at President Bush's Cabinet table, examined one nominee's relationships to defense contractors, heard another defend Bush's "flexible freeze" budget plan and got suggestions from a third on how he will manage America's open spaces.

As the process unfolded, former Republican Sen. John Tower of Texas told the Senate Armed Services Committee that the $763,777 he made as a defense consultant during the past three years will not influence his actions if he is confirmed as Bush's secretary of defense.

At other hearings:

Michael Boskin, selected to be Bush's chief economic adviser, told the Senate Banking Committee he believes spending cuts can be made in defense and health care spending and that Bush will be ready with specific "flexible freeze" proposals when he addresses a joint meeting of Congress on Feb 9.

Former Republican Rep. Manuel Lujan Jr. told the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee that he views the job of secretary of the interior as one of "stewardship" and will, if confirmed, try to enlist thousands of volunteers as helpers in the national park and fish and wildlife systems.

The energy panel voted to endorse the Lujan nomination and sent it to the full Senate where a vote is expected next Wednesday.

Tower, a former Armed Services Committee chairman, told that panel Congress should slow down the "revolving door" through which some top defense officials pass on the way to high-paying civilian jobs in the defense industry.

Pentagon officials should be barred, Tower said, "from profiting unfairly, unethically, or illegally or inordinately" if they move between Pentagon and industry

Tower had little to offer on how, in a period of increasingly tight budgets, he would act to shape such major procurement programs as those for the Strategic Defense Initiative, the MX and Midgetman missiles, special operation forces or the goal of building a 600-ship

"Nothing is sacred," Tower said, adding that specific decisions must await the conclusion of a review ordered by Bush.

Senators opened the session with a detailed review of Tower's relations with defense contractors since 1985, when he ended a 24-year Senate career that included a 1981-84 stint as Armed Services chairman.

He said he cut all financial ties to the defense industry on Dec. 1, one day after learning he was under serious consideration for the defense post. He said he did not "stand to gain from the prosperity of any former associate."

Committee hears testimony

Third city may contest census figures By The Associated Press matically, while state census figures tion again until 1992.

TOPEKA - Officials from Kansas City, Kan., said Thursday they likely will join in lawsuits to contest state census figures that show the city's population has decreased by more than 16,000 in the last eight David Isabell, city administrator, told the House Legislative, Judicial and Congressional Apportionment Committee the city council was voting Thursday night on what legal action to take.

"We feel there has been a gross error," Isabell said.

Isabell's comment about legal action came on a day of testimony when officials from Lawrence and Manhattan, two other cities that have filed suit against the state over the special census count taken last year, took turns criticizing the figures.

The population figures compiled by the secretary of state's office will be used in redrawing House districts this session. All three cities claim their economy and housing have grown draindicate that people have moved

There must be alternatives available to the Legislature of Kansas other than using seriously flawed and fundamentally unfair information as the basis of an action which will affect the representation and lives of every area of the state," said Chris McKenzie, Douglas County Administrator, who spoke on behalf of the county and the city of Lawrence.

Meanwhile, the head of the Senate reapportionment committee said he would ask the attorney general to issue an opinion whether the Senate is required under a constitutional amendment adopted last fall by voters to redistrict its seats this session. Under the amendment, the House is under federal court instructions to reapportion during the 1989 regular session to provide new districts for the 1990 elections. There has been debate whether the same rule applies to the Senate or whether it can put off redistricting until 1990 or 1991 because senators are not up for elec-

Sen. Ben Vidricksen, R-Salina, said he would not schedule any more reapportionment meetings until the attorney general issues his opinion, even though the Senate apportionment committee voted Wednesday to proceed with the drafting of a redistricting plan.

"I think it is very important that we proceed on firm constitutional ground," he said.

Although lawmakers have not gotten to specific redistricting plans, the House committee has spent the week hearing public testimony on the

Lawrence and Manhattan officials were particularly harsh in their criticism of how the secretary of state's office counted students that attend the University of Kansas and Kansas

"To say that someone who resides in our community for a four- or fiveyear period, either with the military or while attending K-State, is not a member of our community is ludicr-

■ See CENSUS, Page 12

By Brian Hummell Campus Editor

K-State's Telefund volunteers will begin efforts Sunday to raise more than $500,000 for the second consecutive year.

"We went just over $500,000 last year, which was a record," said Rusty Andrews, director of Telefund. "Our goal is to increase over last year's

The Telefund has been operating for about 10 years, he said. Students and faculty from each of the University's eight colleges will call more than 50,000 alumni from across the nation to raise money for scholarships, said Beth Mennelle, assistant director of the Telefund.

Fundraising efforts to begin

The Telefund will run from 6 to 10 p.m. Sundays through Thursdays until Feb. 22, Menelle said. Volunteers from two colleges will work each night, with the colleges equally splitting the 60 available phones.

"Each college receives an equal number of nights in proportion to the size of the college," Mennelle said. The College of Arts and Sciences, the largest college, will work nine nights at the Telefund, Mennelle said. Last year, arts and sciences received the most donations.

Volunteers are eligible for the more than $2,500 in prizes donated by 39 participating merchants, she said. Prizes are given to the callers with the highest amount of pledges. Each volunteer will also receive a beverage squeeze bottle.

Among the prizes this year are $250 in AT&T gift certificates and a $200 shopping spree at Manhattan

Town Center.

... Around the nation

U.S. destroyer runs aground aground during training operations near Andros Island in the

MAYPORT, Fla. - The Navy destroyer USS Spruance ran

No one was injured in the Wednesday night incident, but the ship had minor damage, said Lt. Cmdr. John Lloyd, a spokes-

Lloyd said the ship, based in Mayport, is in no danger of sinking. The guided missile frigate USS Boone and Navy tugs

The Navy was investigating the cause of the mishap. Lloyd

The island is about 180 miles east of Key West, Fla. The

INDIANAPOLIS - William R. Roberts, a retired Indianapolis firefigher who during World War II rescued Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., and nine other wounded American soldiers, has

Roberts, a firefighter for 22 years until he retired in 1968,

During an American attack on German soldiers near Tolle,

The fragment smashed two vertebrae, temporarily paralyzed his arms and legs, caused severe lung damage and destroyed one kidney. Dole, who lay near death for close to 24 hours,

10 stretchers, carried the wounded Americans on an all-night trip from the battlefield to an ambulance 10 miles behind the Gang attacks wrong house

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. — A minister's first-floor apartment

An unidentified caller told the family later that morning that the bullets were meant for a neighbor the gang thought lived in

"It was bad when the gangs were shooting each other, but to do something," said DeLen McRae, 44, an associate minister

when they start attacking innocent people, it's time for people

The McRaes and their 17-year-old son were in back bedrooms of the apartment, and no injuries were reported. But bullets pierced windows, walls, furniture and even McRae's clergy

BROTHERS

In Aggleville

Tonight: Free Sandwich Bar 4-7

Live Band "The Heat"

No cover for the Ladies $2 Daiquiris, Pina Coladas,

Ice Cream Drinks

Guys: Next Tues., Female Dancers

"Obsession"

was sprayed with bullets by gunmen who later called to apologize and explain they had the wrong house, the minister said. As many as six people armed with a shotgun, automatic rifle and several handguns opened fire on the house for about a was left with a crippled right arm and an atrophied right hand.

Roberts, assisted by German prisoners of war who rigged up

Roberts was a private and Dole was a lieutenant in the Army's elite 10th Mountain Infantry Division in April 1945.

Italy, Dole was struck by a German shell fragment.

lines. They were shelled along the way.

minute early Wednesday, residents said.

at St. James' Baptist Church in Norwalk.

robe, which was hanging in a doorway.

The incident remained under investigation.

Sat.: Ladies Night

the house because his car was parked out front.

grounding occurred three miles east of a Navy pier on the island, which is home to the Navy's Atlantic Undersea Test

Dole's war rescuer dead said winds were blowing about 25 knots when the ship ran aground and continued strong with gusts up to 30 knots were working to refloat the Spruance, he said.

man at Atlantic Fleet surface force headquarters in Norfolk, Va.

Bahamas, the Navy said Thursday.

Thursday.

and Evaluation Center.

died at the age of 69.

died Wednesday.

sold home movies of the singer.

movies on the open market.

be the motive in the attacks.

police said.

the shooting.

and abdomen.

Elvis aide settles lawsuit

MEMPHIS, Tenn. - Managers of Elvis Presley's estate say

Lawyers for the estate and former Presley aide Joe Esposito declined to discuss details of the settlement, but the agreement movies, said Rogers & Cowan Inc., the estate's public relations

Esposito has said he earned about $23,000 from sales of a

43-minute videotape of home movies of Presley, his family and

Elvis Presley Enterprises Inc., the company that handles the Presley died of heart disease in 1977 at his Memphis resi-shopping center draw more than a half-million tourists a year.

... Around the region

Motorist hits car, kills driver shot and killed the driver who got out to look at the damage,

Police were investigating a similar shooting in which the about 11:20 p.m. Wednesday when he was shot twice, police Razizadeh and his mother, Asfahan Razizadeh, are Iranian.

give police a description of the assailant, who sped away after

Police said Razizadeh got out of his car and the assailant got out of his car and fired shots that struck Razizadeh in the neck

The second shooting happened about an hour later across the state line in Kansas City. Police said the victim was driving on a city street when another car came out of a parking lot and hit his car. The robber pulled a gun and demanding money,

Moose moving across Kansas

SUBLETTE - A large moose apparently grazing its way

"He was pretty easy to see," said Haskell County Sheriff

The moose moved into Haskell County after spending about

Several people photographed the moose as it grazed in the field. The moose, which one onlooker estimated weighed 1,800

Moose generally inhabit parts of Alaska, Canada and the

COMING TO LAWRENCE FOR

The party is at the Bottleneck!

GREAT DRINK SPECIALS

*Friday night featuring the Neptunes

*Saturday night featuring restless recording artists, the Tailgators.

from Austin, Texas, with special guest

THE WEEKEND?

wheat and milo stubble in the southwest part of the state.

three weeks around Ulysses in neighboring Grant County.

"He just acts like he's moved in here," Steckel said.

across Kansas drew an admiring crowd as it meandered through shooting his victim twice when he protested.

Jack Steckel said. "He stood above the cattle."

pounds, generally ignored the crowd.

northwest United States.

Ricky Dean Sinatra.

The woman does not speak English and has been unable to driver of a rammed car was wounded. Robbery was believed to

Police said Saed Razizadeh, 32, of Overland Park was killed to help her son. Two other passengers were not hurt.

said. His wallet was missing when police arrived.

FAIRWAY - A motorist struck a car from behind and then

The driver's mother was shot in both arms when she got out estate's multimillion-dollar marketing business, filed a lawsuit against Esposito in 1987 to block sales of his videotape.

dence called Graceland. The house and its nearby souvenir friends filmed between 1962 and 1968. Esposito later sold the reached Wednesday gives the estate clear ownership of the

they have settled a lawsuit against a former Presley aide who candidates are urged to register and apply.

TODAY

INTER-VARSITY CHRISTIAN FEL-

GAMMA THETA UPSILON will meet at

OWLS will meet at 5 p.m. at Bobby T's.

PAC-CATS will meet at 11:30 a.m. in

1:30 p.m. in Dickens 206.

LOWSHIP will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Union in Natatorium 4.

Campus Bulletin

THETA XI LITTLE SISTERS will meet at 9 p.m. at the Theta Xi house.

ARTS AND SCIENCES AMBASSA-DORS will meet at 9 p.m. in Union 206.

STUDENTS FOR EDUCATIONAL AWARENESS will meet at 8 p.m. in Union

K-LAIRES SQUARE DANCE CLUB will meet at 7 p.m. in the K, S and U Ballrooms

GYMNASTICS CLUB will meet at 8 p.m.

Wednesday

- A two-vehicle, non-injury accident occured in lot A-29. Damage was less than $500.
- tag was stolen from a car in lot A-30. A wallet and its contents was
- A student parking permit was
- A student parking permit was reported stolen from a vehicle in lot
- less than $500.
- Kedzie Hall was reported to the Manhattan Fire Department. Kedzie the visitor's section of lot A-30.

employees extinguished the fire before the fire department arrived. A theft report was filed by a Haymaker Hall resident. Loss was

Thursday

- A blue Oldsmobile was disabled in the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex parking lot. The car was later moved.
- A wheel lock was placed on a tan Buick in lot A-25.
- A wheel lock was placed on a silver Nissan in lot A-4. The lock was
- A female resident of Putnam Hall fainted and injured her head.
- She declined ambulance treatment. ■ Ten stalls were barricaded in

K-State Police

$130.

- A temporary vehicle license
- reported lost. Loss was $29. ■ A faculty/staff parking permit was reported lost off campus.
- reported lost in an unknown location.
- A non-injury hit and run accident report was filed. Damage was
- A fire in a trash can west of

Campus Briefly

Athletic fee to be discussed

Athletic Director Steve Miller will speak about the proposed athletic fee at 6:30 p.m. Sunday in the Union Big Eight room. The meeting, which will be open to the public, will allow the athletic department to present its student fee proposal, explain why it is needed and what programs it supports, said Chris Peterson, assistant athletic director and director of marketing and sales.

This is one of many meetings to educate our student body on what our needs are," Peterson said. "In the past we felt that

There seemed to have been some trouble in communication in the past," he said. "This presentation should educate our coaches and answer questions from athletes or anyone else that proposal.

We Care Enough

FONE VOLUNTEER TRAINING

Jan. 28, 9 a.m.-5 p.m. UFM house 1221 Thurston people didn't know or understand.

FONE CRISIS CENTER

"The student body is a crucial part of our operation. We need their input," Peterson said. Miller was unavailable for comment on the specifics of the to Listen . . . Do You?

For further info call 537-0999 after 5 p.m.

1120 MORO • 18 to Enter-21 to Drink • 537-9511

KSU's Department of Music, in cooperation with Community Education, offers guitar lessons for one hour undergraduate credit. Classes begin Tuesday, January 31 and continue every Tuesday until April 25.

Beginning Guitar Lessons 6:00-7:30 p.m. $60 Intermediate Guitar Lessons 6:00-7:30 p.m. $60 Private Guitar Lessons By Appt. $132

Students need their own guitars.

Register NOW! Call 532-5566 For information call 532-5740.

Community Education Division of Continuing Education College Court Building

郊 Restauran 539-8888

1304 Westloop & Lounge

Sunday Buffet 11 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Egg Rolls Crab Ragoon Crisp Wonton Fried Rice Imperial Soup Sweet & Sour Chicken

Pork Lo Mein

Beef with Snow Peas Moo Goo Gai Pan Shrimp Chow Mein Chung King Pork Hot Braised Chicken Banana Pastry

11 a.m.-1 a.m.

Free Delivery $7 minimum

Clipping this ad could introduce you to that person you've wanted to meet all semester.

If you've spent the semester watching one particular person, it's time for you to write a Collegian Personal ad. A Personal will intrigue your mystery person and give you the opportunity to introduce yourself. Just bring this ad to Kedzie 103 to start your winter romance.

By Nancy Chartrand Collegian Reviewer

James Reynolds, known to most people as Capt. Abe Carver on the popular daytime drama "Days of Our Lives," will be presenting a one-man show, "I Too Am America," on the black American experience. It is scheduled for 7 p.m. Saturday in the Union Little Theatre.

Reynolds, who was born in Kansas City, Mo., spent most of his youth in the small northeast Kansas town of Oskaloosa.

"(I remember Kansas) as being cold," he said. "But it was good. Oskaloosa is a small town, but it had its advantages. You have a lot of freedom because everyone knows you. There are few limits.'

Although Reynolds and his wife now live in Los Angeles, he said he is glad to be from the Midwest.

"I am proud of that fact. You go through a period where you don't really reject it, but you want to get away. Then, all of the sudden, it is kind of nice," Reynolds said.

"I believe there is a tremendous advantage from being from here there is a certain openess and willingness of the people from the Midwest to work hard and try new things. They are not held back by failure," he said.

In "I Too Am America," Reynolds performs dramatic readings of poems, speeches and commentaries on the black American experience. He has been perforing the show for the past five years, mostly on college campuses.

"I like college audiences. Students seem to be interested and I usually come out afterwards to talk with them," Reynolds said. "There is an air of professionalism."

Reynolds said he has two goals for his performance as well as for his audience.

TGIF TERRIFIC BUFFET

JOIN MANHATTAN'S

No membership needed

For restaurant & bar!

Open To Public!

1115 Moro, Aggieville 776-0030

IGIF TRADITION!

"First of all, I want people to leave the show feeling that they have seen a good show," he said. "Second, I would hope that they will have more of an interest in history and (be) more curious about things around them."

"The show is in conjunction with Black History Month (in February)," said Crescentia Brown, fifth-year senior in landscape architecture and president of the Black Student

"I think the turnout from the students will be good because people will recognize his face from television," she said.

Reynolds attended Washburn University, where he majored in pre-law and journalism. While he was there, he developed an interest in theater. He performed in campus musicals and plays.

"There is a lot of correlation between writing and theater," Reynolds said. "With both you start from scratch. A writer starts with a blank page and an actor starts with an outline. But the actor has more help with directors and writers."

In 1972, Reynolds joined the cast of "Days of Our Lives" as the dedicated police captain, Abe Carver.

So for "Days" fans, what is to become of Abe and his latest love interest and co-worker Lexie? 'Well, I am not sure," he said with a laugh. "(The writers) tell me something big is coming soon, but I am not sure what it will be exactly - but it won't be a wedding.'

Reynolds said he doesn't mind being constantly associated with the daytime drama.

"I would be foolish to be frustrated," he said. "(The show) is an interest that people have."

"I Too Am America" is open to the public and admission is free.

SHOE &

Leather

REPAIR

You're not dressed up if

Your Shoes are run down.

MANHATTAN

SHOE REPAIR

401 Humboldt

Drive-up convenience Try our drop station at Wash Palace in Candlewood Shopping Center Open Tuesday-Saturday

776-1193

Grand jury indicts 4 for fraud

From Staff and Wire Reports

TOPEKA — Four Manhattan residents were charged with filing false corporate tax returns in federal grand jury indictments announced Thursday by the U.S. attorney's office.

Named in the indictment were Donald L. Finney, 50; Edith J. Finney, 47; Gilbert J. Wenger, 53, and Marlyn C. Wenger, no age available.

All four were charged in a ninecount indictment with conspiring to defraud the U.S. government by obstructing the Internal Revenue Service in its assessment of revenue for Superior Auto Salvage Inc. of Manhattan during tax years 1983 through 1985.

Kurt Shernuk, assistant U.S. attorney, said the investigation involved the Internal Revenue Service, the FBI, the Kansas Bureau or alleges contained false required prevailing wage to his Investigation and the Riley County Police Department.

"We started working on the investigation at least by early 1984," said David Johnson, KBI director. "We then pretty well turned it over to the FBI."

Gilbert Wenger also was charged by the grand jury, which sat in Topeka, with signing a false 1983 corporate tax return which the government alleges understated the total income for the company.

When asked about his indictment, Wenger said he had no

"I don't know anything about it," Wenger said.

Marlyn Wenger also was accused of assisting in the preparation of the 1983 and 1984 corporate returns, which the government information.

Besides the conspiracy charge, Donald Finney was accused of signing the 1983 and 1984 corporate tax returns, which the government said understated the total income of the corporation. He also was charged with receiving stolen property, a tractor and automobile

Edith Finney also was charged with assisting in the preparation of the 1983, 1984 and 1985 corporate tax returns.

The various charges carry maximum penalities of five or 10 years in prison and $250,000 fines. Among others indicted by the grand jury were: D'Estel Nesbitt, 55, Salina, who was accused in a three-count indictment of failing to pay the employees when his company, Dee's Insulation, did asbestos removal work in 1984 at the U.S. Post Office building in Topeka. Maximum penalty on each count is five years in prison and a $5,000

Joseph Dale Hamblin, 25, Olathe, and Gary Eis, 23, Wichita, who were accused in a two-count indictment of conspiring to steal equipment from Southwestern Bell Telecom in Overland Park and of shipping stolen property valued at more than $5,000 to Texas in June

Steven K. Obert, 37, Lebanon, Kan., who was accused of selling livestock pledged as collateral to the Farmers Home Administration. Maximum penalty is five years and a $250,000 fine.

Senate extends investment study

By Nancy Prosser Staff Writer

Thursday night, Student Senate approved an eight-week deadline extension for the Investment Ad Hoc Committee to give its report on ethical investment of student funds.

The committee is studying the possible investment of student monies in companies doing business in South Africa. Last semester,

Senate granted the committee an extension to Feb 6. The additional extension allows the committee to work until March 28 to finish its

"We want this committee to do a good job so an informed decision on the investment can be made," said Greg Weisenborn, engineering senator. "They need more time."

Scott Kelly, Senate representative to the Investment Ad Hoc Committee, said progress is being made.

"Things are moving forward, but it will take time to review findings and present a good bill," said Kelly, graduate school senator.

"The (KSU) Foundation has failed to present information that should be available to the public," Kelly said. "We are trying to do the best job we can to present a bill, but we can't before we have all the facts." Chris Kern, architecture senator, was opposed to the allowing the extension. He said he would like to see Senate put some pressure on the committee to get the report done because divestment is such an important issue.

Due to resignations, three vacancies on the ad hoc committee have to ■ See SENATE, Page 12

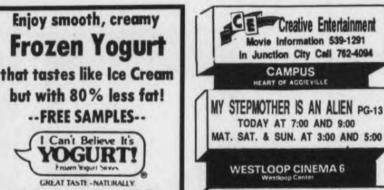

Become a student of the world

Spend a year or a semester abroad for about the same cost as staying at home. Over 100 sites in Africa, Asia, Canada, Latin America, Europe and Australia offer undergraduate and graduate programs in fields such as international business, law, engineering, architecture, the humanities, natural and social sciences, communications, fine arts and languages.

Through the International Student Exchange Program, you are directly enrolled in a foreign institution and receive academic credit toward your degree program at home. You are totally immersed in a new culture and language, not in an isolated study program for U.S. students and taught by U.S. professors.

Join the more than 4,000 ISEP students who have made the world their university. For more information, contact your ISEP coordinator:

Prof. W.F. Kolonosky Dept. of Modern Languages The International Student Exchange Program is a fully reciprocal exchange plan funded in part by the United States Information Agency under the Fulbright-Hays Act of

Nautilus Towers-Aggieville UNITED ARTISTS

$3.00 PER PERSON SHOWS BEFORE 6:00 p.m.

SETH CHILDS 6

ETH CHILDS AT FARM BUREAU RD 776-9011 Deep Star Six (R)

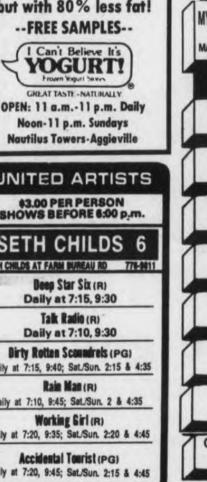

Daily at 7:15, 9:30 Talk Radio (R)

Birty Rotten Scoundrels (PG)

Daily at 7:15, 9:40; Sat/Sun. 2:15 & 4:35 Rain Man (R)

Daily at 7:10, 9:45; Sat./Sun. 2 & 4:35 Working Girl (R) Daily at 7:20, 9:35; Sat/Sun. 2:20 & 4:45

Accidental Tourist (PG) Daily at 7:20, 9:45; Sat/Sun. 2:15 & 4:45

THE NAKED GUN PG-13
TODAY AT 4:26 AND 7:06 ONLY MATINEE SAT. & SUN. AT 2:08 THE JANUARY MANR TODAY AT 9:30 ONLY PHYSICAL EVIDENCER TODAY AT 4:35-7:05-9:30 MATINEE SAT. & SUN. AT 2:00 BEACHESPG-13 TODAY AT 4:30-7:00-9:35 MATINEE SAT. & SUN. AT 2:00 MISSISSIPPI BURNINGR TODAY AT 4:30-7:00-9:35 MATINEE SAT. & SUN. AT 2:00 THREE FUGITIVESPG-13 TODAY AT 4:40-7:15-9:40 TWINSPG TODAY AT 7:10 AND 9:40 ONLY OLIVER AND COMPANYG TODAY AT 4:30 ONLY MATINEE SAT. & SUN. AT 2:00

about Godfather's Pizza?™

The taste, the toppings...and these terrific moneysaving coupons!

539-5303

1118 Laramie Aggieville

Two Large Pepperoni Pizzas only $10.99

Present this coupon and receive TWO large pepproni pizzas for only $10.99. WE DELIVER drinks or any other discount ofter Limited delivery area. Add $1 for delivery.

Lunch Buffet only $3.75

Present this coupon and receive ONE all you care to eat lunch buffet and a free refill soft drink for only $3.75.

Monday-Friday, lunch time only.

$7.99 Large $5.99 Medium

Present this coupon and receive a large single topping Original pizza for only $7.99 or a medium for only $5.99.

Editorial

Kansas State Collegian Opinions ■ Friday, January 27, 1989

Metallica boycotters overstep bounds

sn't it great to live in a country where individuals are free to express their opinions without fear of repression? Heck, I could roll down my car window and holler that I think George Bush is a weenie and I won't catch any flack at all. I mean, I have a right to my opinion, don't I? That is one of the fundamental rights guaranteed us by our Constitution, isn't it? Well, isn't it?

Apparently not. At least not in the minds of a select few who recently campaigned to have the Metallica concert, scheduled for Jan. 29 at Bramlage Coliseum, cancelled. The concert has been cancelled due to low interest -1,073 tickets were sold as of Jan. 18 - but some misguided individuals felt it should have been cancelled for other reasons.

The campaign appears to have originated from the Central Kansas Youth for Christ organization, which distributed a letter urging churches and other groups and individuals to try to prevent the concert from taking place at K-State.

The organization's reasoning, based on Geraldo Rivera's television special on satanism, was that Metallica "propagates murder and every other sort of perverted atrocity, including Satan worship.'

Now don't get me wrong. It's not that I don't think Geraldo exemplifies the type of responsible, well-balanced journalism every professional strives to achieve.

I'm sure the boy who appeared on Geraldo's special claiming he "listened to the group's music as a primer before committing satanically inspired murder," is indicative of most young lads in the United States. You know, just an average teen from a typical, traditional American family.

But the correlation between heavy metal and satanic worship is pretty weak - and based mostly on ignorance.

he following are lyrics from a song titled "Last Caress" from the Metallica album "Garage Days Re-Revisited," quoted by the organization in its letter as proof of Metallica's "blatantly destructive behavior." We are told "it is by no means the most violent that they sing."

I've got something to say; I'll kill your baby today. Doesn't matter much to me As long as it's dead.

I've got something to say; I'll rape your mother today. Doesn't matter much to me

Commentary

Doug Folk Collegian Columnist

As long as she's free.

No love today Just waiting for your prayer; Come sweet death; One last caress.

Hmmm. Sounds like an anti-abortion statement to me. But I suppose I have a right to interpret it any way I like. Or do I? Personally, I'd like to congratulate the CKYFC for being able to translate the lyrics into intelligible English. In most of the songs I listened to, the words were buried beneath echo and screeching. Backward masking, I suppose.

But hey, it's okay if these people think Metallica is offensive and would rather not listen to it. In fact, they have every right to boycott the concert and to explain to others why they feel the group, and/or its music, is undesirable

But by attempting to stop the concert, the group is overstepping its bounds. In their letter, CKYFC urges individuals to pressure K-State authorities into cancelling the concert, particularly "if you financially support K-State."

People should always be allowed to express their opinions, particularly at a university, where the free exchange of ideas and opinions is essential to a healthy educational environment.

However, to those of you who feel the University is promoting the ideas of a group or individual who speaks on campus, you are missing the point.

y allowing individuals free speech, the University is merely providing the opportunity for you to hear what these people have to say. Just as they are being given their right to speak, you have the right to disagree or not to listen. It's not as though these ideas are being put forth in a setting where one is forced to listen or participate (as is the case in, oh, for instance, when the Pledge of Allegiance is recited in a classroom).

K-State administrators are not making any moral or political judgments for us when they allow speakers or performers on campus. Nor should they.

If the K-State administration were in the business of screening campus speakers, one of the first groups to be blacklisted would probably be those holier-than-thou traveling evangelists. No doubt several of these Biblewarpers have offended the women on campus, calling them "temptresses" who corrupt us poor, unsuspecting, good-hearted men.

I'd like to make it clear that I'm not a Satan worshiper and I don't really like Metallica, or most other metal groups for that matter. And, I consider myself a Christian, although I'm sure there are those who, using different standards, would dispute that. But God didn't create a bunch of robots to blindly follow some set path or lifestyle.

Instead, God gave us the ability to choose for ourselves the proper course in life. And I will thank you kindly to butt out of my moral decisions. Don't try to protect me or force your ideals upon me.

Oh, by the way, as part of my research, I listened to a Metallica tape the entire time I was writing this column, so it's probably laced with satanic messages.

Regent's decisions damaging for K-State

What a difference a few years can make.

Not three years ago the Kansas Board of Regents eliminated a number of degree programs from K-State's curriculum, including the Ph.D. in English. The reasoning at the time, according to Stanley Koplik, the board's executive director, was that there was no need to have a duplication of programs among the regents schools.

Suddenly, a week ago, the regents in general, and Koplik in particular, had a change of heart and turned down a proposal that would have designated the College of Engineering here at K-State as the state's comprehensive engineering school. Koplik said he didn't want to damage any of the other three programs in the state by giving a title to just one of them.

Evidently Koplik didn't consider the elimination of entire degree programs as very damaging to K-State.

The regents also rejected the recommendation of three nationally known engineering consultants to combine architectural engineering programs at the University of Kansas and K-State into one single program based at K-State.

Koplik said he felt the consultants were looking to benefit the residents of Kansas, while he himself is looking at a more regional situation. After noting that only 13 highest priority.

One Semester (Fall or Spring) Two Semesters (Fall and Spring).

One Year (Fall, Spring and Summer).

schools in the nation had architectural engineering programs, Koplik said, "If you look at serving students in all states and the region, then you can justify two programs."

That's funny. Koplik is supposed to be the head of the Kansas Board of Regents, not of a group of regional regents, and is supposed to do what's best for Kansas, no matter how much it hurts the other schools in the regents system. Evidently the citizens and students of Kansas have been misinformed.

Evidently Koplik, who once dubbed KU the flagship university of Kansas, only takes regional considerations into account when it is one of KU's degree programs on the chopping block. Evidently Koplik has a bit of a bias toward

This would explain why Koplik would be against any effort to have one of K-State's programs declared as the most comprehensive in the state. After all, the flagship university is supposed to have the best programs. If it doesn't, maybe it isn't really the flagship university and Koplik would look kind of

It's time for Koplik and his Board of Regents to make up their minds and decide if they are working for the benefit of the state of Kansas or the University of Kansas.

more gun control not solution

he shocking attack on school children which occurred recently in Stockton, Calif., is already bringing about a new round of clamoring for increased restrictions on gun ownership.

In looking at this issue, however, let's look at this incident and how it relates to the broader problem of gun control.

In the aftermath of this incident, the first impulse is to ask, "How could this man do such a thing?' Next, the question arises, "Why was he not stopped?" In today's society, the natural thought progression is then to ask, "Why didn't 'they' do something about him?" Who is the "they" in this question? Is it the police? What could the police have done? They had already done what they could in identifying Patrick E. Purdy, arresting him and binding him over for trial on previous offenses.

It could be said that the courts failed in not ensuring that he was, after being identified as a habitual offender, either permanently incarcerated or given over for long term psychiatric treatment.

Is the only failure here on the part of the legal system? It is a popular cliche to say "society failed." This time, however, it is

Individuals in the society doubtlessly failed to take the initiative somewhere along the line to ensure that this man was caught and restrained from perpetrating more crimes.

His whole life, as we have seen it displayed in the press, was a succession of acts in a patCommentary

Dennis D. Chappell

> Guest Columnist

Editor's note: Dennis D. Chappell is a graduate student in business administration.

tem of increasing violence. This pattern could have been broken at any point had someone - some individuals within the society in general or, more narrowly, within the legal system - identified the problem and taken decisive steps to interrupt the pattern.

his brings us to questions about gun control and society. Many will ask, "Why should people be able to purchase guns if people like Purdy can do things like that?"

The system failed in his case. Since the system failed, however, does that relieve the individual of responsibility to the society?

What I mean is this: the Constitution states that the right of the people, the individuals in the society, to bear arms shall not be infringed. This is based on the principle that each member of society has the ultimate responsibility to ensure his personal safety and, in doing so, a responsibility to the society as a whole. Many people today would like to free themselves of the responsibility and put it in the hands of the government alone.

They are the ones who cry out for gun control. They would disarm all law-abiding citizens and then expect the police and courts to protect us from those criminals who would arm themselves illegally.

This is an amazing attitude in the face of failure such as occurred in the instance of Patrick E. Purdy. The worst part is this incident was only one glaring example of a regular occurrence.

he harsh reality is the governmental legal system cannot and will not ever adequately ensure the safety of the individual. All of us must face that fact and realize we all must accept personal responsibility for our defense and for ensuring that criminals such as Purdy are prevented from hurting others.

We cannot wait for the government to search out people like him before they strike, and we cannot expect a policeman to arrive to save the day when we are attacked. Guns are merely inanimate objects tools. Those with evil intentions will find and apply those tools despite any legal restraints. If the tool is taken from the law-abiding citizen, then he is the one who no longer has the means to defend himself and then he becomes Was the tragedy in Stockton preventable?

Certainly, but it wasn't prevented. Individual institutions and laws all failed to prevent it. Can it happen again? Yes, if the people in our society continue to avoid their responsibilities to themselves and the society as a whole. If, in doing so, we pass more gun control legislation, we are virtually guaranteeing it will happen again.

Collegian Editorial Policies matters of campus and/or public interest are especially encouraged, and are given the Letters should be kept as brief as possible, preferably under 300 words. Those who

GUEST COLUMNS are also encouraged. The column should be no longer than two cannot condense their opinions should consider submitting their letter in the form of a double-spaced, typed pages. If the submission is used as a column and not a letter to the guest column. All letters are subject to editing for space, style and taste.

editor, it will be accompanied by the author's photograph.

SEND SUBMISSIONS to the Collegian in Kedzie 116.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR are always encouraged. Those which pertain to

				Janet Swanson
MANAGING EDITOR				Susan L'Ecuyer

EDITORIAL PAGE EDIT	OR			Catherine Doud
PHOTO/GRAPHICS EDI	roa			Greg Vogel
ADVERTISING MANAGE	R			Todd Schultz
EDITORIAL BOARD	Barbara Bake	r, Kale Baldock, Nancy	Chartrand, Catherine D	oud, Susan L'Ecuyer
	Brian Hummell, Dwayne Li
	had L. Sanborn, Mark Schme	eller, Erwin Seba, Rober	t R. Short, Brett Strange	than, Janet Swanson
tions Inc., Kedzie Hall 103 Monday and Thursday di	gian (USPS 291 020), a student , Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The C uring summer sessions. Secon ddress changes to Kansas State	collegian is published Mo ad class postage paid a	nday through Friday during at Manhattan, Kan. 6650	ng the school year and inquiries concerning loca	be accepted by telephone, (I si, national and classified display e directed to (913) 532-6555.
	Kansas State C	ollegian Subscription	Rates

To charge by VISA or MasterCard, cell (913) 532-6555

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Outlaws with guns

Just a quick response to Jean M. Phelps and the old bromide, "If you outlaw guns, only outlaws will have guns."

It would be interesting to see who kills whom with guns. While I have nothing more than a general impression from radio, television, newspapers and magazines ... it would seem law-abiding citizens are the ones doing all the killing.

Suicides, husbunds, wives, lovers, old girlfriends, old boyfriends, sons, daughters, on and on and on. I freely admit outlaws certainly do get a few, but it sure does seem us law lovers have Letters the lead. So maybe it might not be such a bad idea if only outlaws had guns.

Richard Baker News Director, KKSU radio

Financial aid fee

Editor, This fall the financial aid office plans to start charging a $15 fee for guaranteed student loan applications. This seems odd to charge students a fee when they are obviously short on cash.

Also, this fee violates at least the spirit, if not the letter, of the Federal Reauthorization Act of 1986 and is an open invitation to lawsuits.

In the real world, the press plays an important role in forcing the discussion of decisions that affect people. When the decision maker is forced to justify the decision in public, the ill-advised ones usually fall by the way side.

Unfortunately, your publication appears to be apathetic about the cost and quality of our education. For example, not one of your reporters were present for the first meeting with the Dean of Engineering concerning the fee increase. Just once I'd like to see this newspaper step forward and take the lead in having the University administration justify some of their decisions.

John Bish

senior in computer engineering

Professors visit campus as part of exchange

By Kevin Kramer

Twelve professors from the National University of Asuncion, Paraguay, are visiting K-State as part of an educational exchange program.

'We are teachers who have come here to learn how to teach," said Enrique Gonzalez Erico, professor of soil science at the National University. "The emphasis is on education in the sciences and updating our knowledge in our fields of study."

The professors arrived Jan. 4 and are visiting the United States for one month, said Barbara Stowe, dean of the College of Human Ecology.

Their visit is part of a special cooperative project between K-State's College of Human Ecology and the College of Agronomy at the National University, with funding provided by the W.K. Kellogg Foundation.

"The W.K. Kellogg Foundation, with a grant of $987,000 is funding a three-year project to develop academic and training programs for Paraguayan rural development professionals," Stowe said.

"The project will provide shortterm training for science and agriculture professors from the College of Agronomy at National University and establish human ecology as a major area of study," she said.

The W.K. Kellogg Foundation was established in 1930 to help people help themselves. The Foundation is among the largest private philanthropic organizations in the world. It supports programs in the United States, Latin America, the Caribbean, and southern Africa by distributing more than $1 billion in support of programs in agriculture, education and health.

"The Kellogg Foundation was interested because the proposal outlined a new approach to some old problems," Stowe said.

"Instead of transplanting an American system to Paraguay, the

Staff/Steve Wolgast

Professors from the National University of Asuncion in Paraguay study a computer that uses a videodisc for physics instruction in Cardwell structure of the project is to assess the needs of the rural population and then design programs to meet those needs that also complement Paraguayan culture and existing social structures," she said.

While the Kellogg Foundation believed K-State could best assist in the training of Paraguayan professionals, the grant was to Paraguay, not to K-State or the College of Human Ecology, Stowe said.

Several K-State faculty have visited Paraguay as part of the project,

Owen Koeppe, professor of biochemistry, went to Asuncion to assess the needs of the science professors. The short courses the National University professors are attending here were designed after that visit.

Brice Hobrock, dean of Farrell Library, also visited Asuncion to study possible improvements in the National University's library resources, Stowe said. Hobrock's experiHall Thursday afternoon. Other professors, left rear, view a computer that uses videotape for physics analysis.

America and fluency in Spanish helped provide the necessary resources to support the human ecology

"A seed has been planted to help the National University teach more effectively," said Miguel Gonzalez, director of registration in Asuncion.

"This is the first time a group of this size has come to the United States to study and learn, and take the information back to the National ences in library development in Latin University," Gonzalez said.

"Before, we have gone alone to different countries to get degrees and supportive teaching information," he said. "This trip is a good way to do it. These 12 professors, and another 10 to 12 coming to K-State in May, will affect a large number of individuals."

National University is the best institution in Paraguay, Gonzalez said. Its purpose is similar to K-State's in agricultural research and training. Ninety-five percent of Paraguay's industry consists of agriculture.

"Paraguay can't justify production industries because its consumption is minimal," he said. "The country imports everything from Argentina and Brazil, where it can be made

"We - at the National University - are making professionals who can help the country produce, by trying to get a large number of agricultural engineers to the people in the farming communities.

The Paraguayan professors have visited the departments in the colleges of human ecology and agriculture, the Division of Biology, the Fort Hays Branch Agricultural Experiment Station, the Konza Prairie, and K-State's agricultural farms to learn more about agricultural practices in Kansas.

"The professors are here to see how land grant universities function and review possible courses that could be implemented into their curriculum," said Meredith Smith, project director and associate professor of foods and nutrition.

Romualdo Rios, instructor in agricultural engineering at the National University, said he was impressed with the high degree of technology, teaching and research that takes place at K-State.

"The methods of teaching are the things I wish to take back to Paraguay," he said. "It is too bad that we can't take more time to do research and study in our fields of study. I hope to be able to return again, to work more on research and study methods.

During the last two weeks of their stay, the professors will be given the opportunity to work one-on-one with K-State professors in their area of interest, Smith said.

By working with other professors in their specialty fields, they will be able to improve their technical know-■ See PROFESSORS, Page 12

1015 N. 3rd, Manhattan brazier. Drazier. 776-4117

Flowers For A Friend

- Purchase carnations in advance for your Valentine!
- · Bluemont Hall Foyer

January 25 & 26, 8 a.m.-3 p.m. January 27, 8 a.m.-Noon

Sponsored by KAPPA DELTA PI Education Honor Society

Pizzas 3 Pizzas

2-10" Pizzas

(2) Toppings

$7.95

DAILY SPECIAL DINNER SPECIAL 3-10" Pizzas

(1) Topping

$9.95 2 Free Cokes-16 oz. | 4 Free Cokes-16 oz.

Lafene Student Health Center will close at 4 p.m. on Thursday, January 26 & Friday, January 27. Emergency services will be available.

Valentino's The Pizza Restaurant That Didn't Stop With Pizza THE TRADITION HAS TRANSFERRED

Same Great Food . . . Award-winning Pizza
 Fabulous Salad Bar Homemade Italian Specialties • Fantastic Luncheon & Evening Buffets

Same Great Service . . . For Take-Out or Delivery call: 537-4350

Great New Location

3003 ANDERSON SUITE 941 East of Alco in Village Plaza Shopping Center

Open Daily

at 11 a.m.

ALCO X

WHAT IS PAC-CATS CASH? PAC-CATS Cash is an incentive program that gives you a chance to earn "dollars" for your participation in the PAC-CATS Wellness Program. Trade your " cash" in for incentives at the PAC-CATS Office, Lafene Lower Level-Suite 26. EARNING CASH IS EASY You earn $1 of PAC-CATS Cash for:

*Meeting with a Pal *Completing your PAC for I week A total of $2 per week is possilble

WHAT CASH BUYS Level 1 Gifts *PAC-CATS baseball cap *Medium Size I Can't Believe It's

Yogurt *Voucher for 2 jumbo cookies from The Bakery *A beverage from the Union's Juice Bar

Purchase of Level 1 requires: $5 PC Cash Level 2 Gifts

*PAC-CATS "Celebrate Wellness" t-*The Stretching Book *Gourmet Brown Bag Lunch

*Ticket to an event at Nichols

*PAC-CATS shorts Purchase of Level 2 requires: $9 PC Cash Level 3 Gifts

*PAC-CATS "Celebrate Wellness" *1989 Diet and Health Calendar *Brown Bag Gourmet Lunch for 2

*1989 365 New Words a Year Calenda *PAC-CATS "Celebrate Wellness"

Purchase of Level 3 requires: $17 PC Cash

START YOUR PAC TODAY! Reach your goals and have some fun! PAC-CATS would like to thank Residence Hall Food Service and I Can't Believe It's Yogurt for their support.

WANTED Radio Announcers

~~~~~~

Applications are now being accepted for announcer/DJ positions for various on-air shifts, including weekends. Prior AM or FM broadcast experience is necessary. Apply at our All-New studios, 2414 Casement Road, Manhattan, Monday-Friday, 8 a.m.-5 p.m. KMKF.

> EOE All New All Hot

The Mutual of Omaha Companies have a future for you . . . in Computer Data Services

We have:

Degrees:

· The competitive market-based salaries you expect

· A selection of exceptional benefits

· A personal career path

· The job you want · Respect for you

· The computer technology that puts us on the leading edge in our industry

If YOU have what it takes for a challenging career in data processing, talk with the Companies that have a real future for you

Contact your Career

Placement Office to

schedule an interview

Bachelors/Masters Computer Science Mutual A Bachelors Information

February 6

On-campus

Equal Opportunity Companies M/F

Teachers tested

'Knowledge' required

By Mindy Robert Collegian Reporter

Students majoring in education must do more than graduate to be eligible to teach in Kansas.

The Kansas State Department of Education requires students to pass the professional knowledge test of the National Teachers Exam to receive initial certification to teach in Kansas, said Bert Jackson, testing specialist for the state Education Department.

"The purpose of the test is to ensure those entering the teaching profession have the minimum knowledge necessary, in those areas that are tested, to teach," Jackson said.

Mike Perl, director of K-State's center for student and professional services, said the professional knowledge exam tests the knowledge of teaching, not general knowledge. The test verifies whether a student knows about how to teach.

Perl said most states do require some kind of test for certification. The requirement for Kansas went into effect May 1, 1986,

Jackson said.

The National Teachers Exam is made up of specialty area tests and three core battery tests: communication skills, general knowledge and professional knowledge. Kansas only requires students to take the professional knowledge exam.

The state does not require the specialty area tests due to the cost of validation studies on each test,

Jackson said. Tests were also not available for all endorsement areas and would need to be developed.

developed.

Although a version of the test is released to help students prepare, Perl said he is not sure students do prepare for the exam.

"(Students) hear stories from al average is 657.

condition, and agility.

KSU

STATE

others that it is not particularly difficult," he said.

Half of the questions are educational psychology questions, such as how students learn and develop, as well as the best methods to teach students, Perl said. Other areas on the test include the foundations of education and special education, multicultural issues and interpersonal communications in education.

He said most education courses are taken during the last two years of college so the material is fresh in students' minds.

Cynthia Taylor, senior in elementary education, said she didn't prepare for the exam.

"I didn't know what to prepare for," she said.

Taylor said because she was taking the test early, before completing her student teaching, she could retake the test if she didn't do well.

Ninety-eight percent of the students taking the exam at K-State pass the first time, Perl said. He estimated that 95 percent of those taking the test at the University were K-State students.

"Often times the people who don't pass it the first time are non-native speakers.

"I do not know of any (K-State) students who have not passed the second time around," he said. Students may take the test until they receive a passing score.

The Department of Education conducted a validation study of the professional knowledge test and determined the score required to pass the exam to be 642, Perl said.

Possible scores range from 600 to 695, Jackson said.

In 1987, 96 percent of those who took the test in Kansas testing centers scored 642 or higher, she said. Nationally, between 1983 and 1986, 88 percent scored 642 or higher.

Jackson said the average score in Kansas is 663 while the national average is 657.

for spring break information.

Tae Kwon Do Karate

Demonstration

Master Chae Sun Vi; 7th Degree Black Belt

KSU

Ahearn Field House

Watch the Collegian

Nuclear plant makes changes

By The Associated Press

DELTA, Pa. — The troubled Peach Bottom nuclear plant will use everything from less comfortable chairs to a new shift rotation to prevent a recurrence of control room operators sleeping on duty, officials said Thursday.

About 60 reporters were handed hardhats, goggles and tiny radiation monitors as Philadelphia Electric Co., operator of the dormant plant on the Susquehanna River, conducted its first media tour of the facility.

The utility is trying to convince the Nuclear Regulatory Commission that things have changed since the NRC ordered the two Peach Bottom reactors shut down in March 1987 because of widespread sleeping and horseplay on the job by control room workers.

The problems resulted in a $1.25 million fine, largest in NRC history.

Operator negligence was so pervasive that the commission also levied fines ranging from $500 to $1,000 against 33 current and former workers for "sleeping and-or inattention to data."

To combat the catnaps, plant officials said they have replaced comfortable, high-backed chairs with low-backed models.

Shift rotations have been changed so that operators work a week of days, followed by a week of an afternoon-evening shift, and then work the overnight. The rotation, which includes days off, used to go in the reverse order.

The moves are part of a plant shakeup that also includes new top managers and revamped training courses for control room personnel.

Peach Bottom officials said they hope to get NRC permission to restart the plant in late March or April.

Dave Woodrow, a control room shift supervisor, said the shutdown has been "a burden on myself and my family," and that operators were eager to start again. "We would like to prove to the public that we are good operators," he said.

Woodrow said sloppiness in the control room may have arisen partly because Philadelphia Electric was devoting so much attention to construction of the Limerick II nuclear plant in suburban Philadelphia.

"It was a feeling we were being forgotten," he said.

Efforts to improve worker morale were reflected in improvements in plant equipment, and even in the distribution of gold-lettered pens that proclaimed, "I work at Peach Bottom Atomic Power Station and I'm proud of it."

On-the-job napping was not the only problem at the plant. Since the shutdown, the NRC also cited deficiencies in Peach Bottom's security force — which has recently been replaced — and said the plant needed to do a better job cleaning up surface contamination.

Philadelphia Electric has had to pay about $150 million for replacement power because of the outage, and Chairman Joseph Paquette said Thursday, "Our credibility certainly has been damaged."

Continuing education moves to new office

By Linda Kleiner Collegian Reporter

Continuing Education at K-State is literally on the move, from their location in Umberger Hall to the College Court Building at 1615 Anderson Ave.

Douglas King, director of adminstrative systems, said the staff was overcrowded in Umberger Hall and more space was needed for additional staff.

"In June 1988, continuing education began thinking about moving to another location as expansion in Umberger Hall was impossible," King said.

About 55 percent of continuing education's staff now work in a brighter, quieter and less disruptive atmosphere since their move from Umberger Hall to the renovated apartment building, College Court.

"This (new office) is much said Jacqueline Spears, associate specialist of special projects. "We're at least not on top of each other." "In Umberger Hall there were improved over what we had before," three to five people sharing an office," she said.

King said the staff unpacked boxes in their new offices during the weekin their new offices during the weeklong vacation in December. Some of the staff are still unpacking a boxes. "A color coded tag system was

"A color coded tag system was used to facilitate the move by University facilities," he said. "The continuing education employees were responsible for packing and tagging their own areas."

The only problem that occurred during the move was finding enough student employees from University facilities to help, King said. This delayed the move by two days.

"Phase II of the College Court Building renovation is scheduled to start the end of May, when the remaining apartment tenants move out," he said.

The other 40 percent of the staff, located in the Wareham Building at 1623 Anderson Ave., plan to move to the College Court Building by Aug. 1, King said.

"It has been difficult communicating with the staff in two locations," King said.

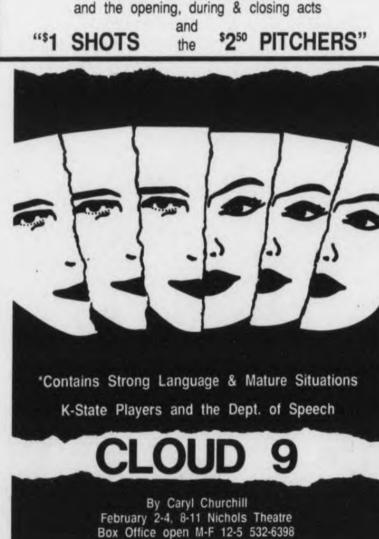

With 20 parking stalls available to continuing education, parking is the biggest problem for the staff, he said.

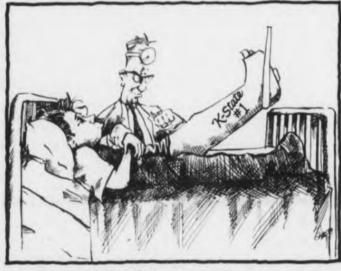

Only 13 parking stalls are for staff parking, with the others designated for handicapped individuals, visitors and state vehicles.

"Parking will improve some after phase II of the continuing education's move," King said.

Two areas of continuing education, telenet and the educational communications center, are still housed on the third floor of Umberger Hall, he said. They will move into a new building to be constructed behind Umberger Hall.

It's Like A $1,000-A-Day Dorm Room.

ONLY the food's not as good.

And, unless you have adequate health care coverage, you'll have to pay the bills.

That's why you need Shared Pay Comprehensive from Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kansas. It's affordable protection, covering:

- 100% of your health care services at Lafene Student Health Center.
- Health Center.
 50% of the cost of health services at all other approved facilities, until $500 is paid on a single contract.*
- 100% of covered services after your shared-pay maximum

Hurry, Enrollment Ends February 1, 1989.

Shared Pay Comprehensive health care protection starts first day of classes (January 11, 1989), but only if you enroll by February 1st. Get details at Lafene Student Health Center, the Student Government Office, or call the local Blue Cross and Blue Shield office, 539-4861.

*($1,000 on a family contract.)

Blue Cross and Blue Shield

It's A Sidewalk Sale at SPORTS PAGE *

Friday, Jan. 27th, 7-8 p.m.

Benefits: Self defense, lose and control weight, self discipline, coordination, self-confidence, top physical

Community Education offers Tae Kwon Do Karate Classes with Instructor Chae Sun Vi on Tuesdays and

Register NOW! Call 532-5566

Division of Continuing Education

Fridays, 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Class fee: $47.

Optional one K-State Undergraduate credit.

Community Education

College Court Building

317 Umberger Hall

Thursday, Jan. 26-Sunday, Jan. 29
Selected tennis rackets 25% OFF
Nike warm-ups 25% OFF
Adidas clothing 30% OFF
Selected NCAA, NBA, NFL and MLB clothing up to 50% OFF
$4.99 clothing rack

Sugg. Sale
Nike Sky Force 54.99 32.99
Avia 860 69.99 41.99
Air Trainer TW 74.99 59.99
Nike Air Play 69.99 48.99
Avia 470 Aerobic 20% OFF
Over 50 styles on SALE

Manhattan Town Center

GUARANTEED IN-STOCK OR RENT FOR FREE

BULL DURHAM

THAT'S OUR IN-STOCK RENTAL" GUARANTEE.

If this movie isn't in when you want it, you can rent any other movie of your choice Free!

In-Stock RentalSM Guarantee.

1123 Westloop Place, Manhattan 537-0089 1009 W. 6th, Junction City 762-4270

ter applies only to movie featured and at participating stores. Free movie rental must be used immediately and is limited to stock on hand. Must follow movie return time regulations by assuing store. Free movie rental connot be combined with any other after. V.I.P. MovieCard or valid (D required. © 1988 National Video, Inc.

Entertainment Friday

Kansas State Collegian ■ Friday, January 27, 1989 ■ Page 7

David Bucholtz is one of six actors who performed in "Loves and Laughs," a Broadway music review.

Wareham Opera House Opens as dinner theater

With renovations completed in December, the interior of the Wareham Opera House seats about 120 for dinner. Built in 1882, the theater is now being used primarily for receptions and company business parties.

Night life revitalized in downtown Manhattan life to downtown Manhattan.

The Wareham is being man through a joint effort between the architectural firm of Brent Bowman and Associates, which supervised the Wareham's renovation, and The Cot-

Larry Limbocker, owner and manager of The Cotton Club, said that in addition to shows, the Wareham is available for private wedding receptions and company business parties. For these events the Wareham appears perfectly suited. There is wide open space for many guests and a wooden dance floor on the stage for those who care to take a

Review

However, if dinner theaters are to succeed there needs to much more planning on the management's part.

On Saturday, the Manhattanbased musical company Opening Night performed a Broadway musical review in a dinner theater setting at the Wareham. The sold-out crowd of approximately 120 people, most of whom were more than 60 years old, chatted over cocktails until the buffet line was open.

Generally, the evening was enjoy-

Opera House is bringing new night some of the finer things that make for dinner theater.

an elegant evening. This is not to say the actual building isn't attractive in appearance. The renovations and decorating done to restore the opera house are pleasing to the eye and drastically differ from the Wareham's original color scheme of orange and green.

The interior has been decorated in shades of mauve and blue. The colors give a clean, crisp look but lack the warmth and atmosphere of a theater.

When it was built in 1882, the theater was designed as an opera house, so the ceiling is quite high. This gives the Wareham an open and airy feeling. But for a dinner theater this is a drawback.

Dinner theaters conjure images of patrons being ushered in by a welldressed maitre d' for an intimate evening in a cozy, dimly lit room.

However, the smallest table in the Wareham Saturday night seated six people. Those in search of a romantic evening were out of luck.

Catering for the dinner theater was provided by The Cotton Club. Events booked at the Wareham can be catered by any restaurant, not exclusively The Cotton Club.

Waitresses raced back and forth to make sure patrons were being served. While this is usually a plus in a restaurant, it became a disruption in

The recently renovated Wareham able, but as a dinner theater, it lacked the more relaxed atmosphere of a

The buffet dinner itself, however, was pleasing. While some dishes were lukewarm, there was a tasty variety of salads and vegetables, twice-baked potatoes, beef and mandarin chicken.

But once again, there seemed to be a lack of preparedness and professionalism on the part of the management.

Patrons had to stand in the buffet line for 10 to 15 minutes. The crowd could have been served better if two buffet lines had been set up.

Tables were set with wrinkled white tablecloths and the place settings were missing a salad fork. While this was obviously an oversight, it was quite a faux pas for a formal dining atmosphere, especially one with the price of $17 a person.

Programs for the performance were handed out by a gentleman in blue jeans after most of the patrons had arrived. Although there are many places in which jeans are appropriate, a dinner theater isn't one of them.

Once the lights were dimmed and the performers took the stage, the Wareham started to feel more like a

Opening Night is a musical theater company which performs throughout Kansas and the Midwest.

The Broadway musical review,

"Laughs and Loves - Broadways Best Songs," featured numbers from "Guys and Dolls," "Babes in Arms," "Sweet Charity," and "Hello Dolly, as well as many others. Frank Schmeidler, liturgist at Seven Dolors Catholic Church, and Stephanie Sikes, graduate student in speech, used their very clear and strong voices in "Tonight" from the 1962 musical "West Side Story."

Linda Haynes Uthoff, K-State graduate, who along with husband John Uthoff, associate professor of speech, co-founded the company, was spellbinding in her performance of "I Dreamed A Dream" from the 1987 musical "Les Miserables."

Marcia McFarland, assistant professor in Extension programs; Paul Brown, Manhattan resident; and David Bucholtz, Junction City resident, rounded out the company along with accompanyist Cherie Geiser, assistant library professor.

Although some of the performers were lacking in volume at times, the company members' voices blended beautifully.

The choreography was a little boring, but generally the performers gave a crowd-pleasing perfomance.

Although there are some areas that need working on for future dinner theaters, the Wareham should be commended for bringing live entertainment to downtown Manhattan.

An Art Deco design is still visible in the lobby. After sitting dark for nearly two years, the theater is open again.

by Nancy Chartrand photos by Steve Wolgast

Coming Attractions

Forum Hall Die Hard 7 and 9:30 Friday and Saturday,

7 Sunday An American Tail

Saturday and Sunday, 2:00

Campus Theater My Stepmother is an Alien Today 7 and 9:30. Saturday and Sunday, 3 and 5

Westloop Cinema 6 The Naked Gun Today 4:35, 7:05 only Matinee 2:05,

Saturday and Sunday

Physical Evidence Daily 4:35, 7:05 and 9:30. Matinee 2, Saturday and Sunday > Beaches Daily 4:30, 7, 9:35. Matinee 2, Saturday and Sunday

Oliver and Company Today 4:30 only Matinee 2, Saturday and Sunday

Mississippi Burning Daily 4:30, 7, 9:35 Matinee 2

Saturday and Sunday

Three Fugitives Daily 4:40, 7:15, 9:40.

Twins Today 7:10 and 9:40 only

Seth Childs Cinema Deep Star Six Daily 7:15 and 9:50.

Talk Radio Daily 7:10 and 9:30

Dirty Rotten Scoundrals Daily 7:15 and 9:40.

Rain Man

Daily 7:10 and 9:45.

Accidental Tourist Daily 7:20 and 9:45

Working Girl Daily 7:20 and 9:45.

Theater McCain Auditorium Beausoleil Cajun Band 8 Tonight General Public $12

Senior Citizen $10

Student/Child $8

Little Theater James Reynolds I Too Am America Saturday 7:30 No charge

The following are the most popular videocassettes as they appear in next week's issue of Billboard magazine.

VIDEOCASSETTE SALES 1."E.T. The Extra-Terrestrial"

(MCA) 2."Cinderella" (Disney)

3."Dirty Dancing" (Vestron) 4."Moonwalker" (CBS)

5."Callanetics" (MCA) 6."Start Up With Jane Fonda"

7."Jane Fonda's Low Impact Aerobic Workout" (Warner) 8."Doctor Zhivago" (MGM-

9."Lady and the Tramp" (Disney)

10."The Sound of Music" (CBS-Fox)

VIDEOCASSETTE RENTALS

1."Three Men and a Baby" (Touchstone)

2."Red Heat" (IVE) 3."Young Guns" (Vestron)

4."Willow" (RCA-Columbia) 5."Beetlejuice" (Warner)

6."Short Circuit 2" (RCA-Columbia) 7."Colors" (Orion)

8."A Nightmare on Elm Street: The Dream Master" (Media) 9."Above the Law" (Warner)

10."License to Drive" (CBS-Fox)

Task force studies on-line system

By Deborah Dinges Collegian Reporter

A System Development Task Force that will attempt to develop an on-line financial aid management computer system met for the first time Thursday.

The task force, which directly involves the University's administrative departments, will review the present computer system's needs, the perceived importance of the system, the action which led to its funding and the advisory role of the task force.

"We are dealing with a system that has done a lot of good things for us, but is outdated," said Larry Viterna, director of student financial assistance. He directed the task force meeting, which is composed of representatives of various campus administrative offices.

One of the first tasks for the committee is to review the available software packages and decide which one to purchase, Viterna said. The final decision will be made by the Office of Student Financial Assistance and Services with additional recommendations from the controller's office.

Don Tarrant, director of administration and finance, said four systems are available to K-State in financial aid management. Information Associates in New York and the American College Testing Service in Iowa offer systems exclusively to higher education institutions. American Management Systems in Virginia and Sigma Inc. in California offer comparable systems.

The committee will be observing demonstrations from the four companies and making recommendations based on the needs of the departments. Committee members also hope to visit nearby institutions that have similar systems, including Wichita State University, the University of Nebraska, the University of Colorado, the University of Oklahoma, Oklahoma State University and the University of Colorado.

The committee has not entirely ruled out the possibility of the University developing its own system. Viterna said he has heard requests for the Office of Administrative User this type of system since his arrival at K-State in 1986.

In determining the criteria desired in the new system, Viterna told the department representatives, "We want to know what you need as well, what will help you do your job."

Keith Ratzlaff, controller, said the new system must be compatible with both the financial records management system made by Information Associates and the student information system already developed at K-

Viterna said it will be a minimum of two years before a system is functioning fully.

Bert Pulaski, chairman of the administrative computing advisory committee, said Viterna's office received support when a report to University administrators recommended a human resources package and financial aid system be purchased and implemented simultaneously.

Wefald said that if funds or availability are limited and the programs cannot be implemented simultaneously, financial aid will take preference.

"The president is well aware that Larry's shop is overburdened," Pulaski said.

The present system may take two days for changes to appear on financial assistance's computers, Viterna said. The lag time creates problems with duplicating efforts and sometimes destroys the previous work of financial aid officers.

With a new on-line system, "Everyone can see the action that has been taken," he said.

Another advantage of a new online system would be the office's increased ability to make adjustments in the case of special circumstances, such as the 900 professional judgements that have been made this year by the staff in financial assistance.

"Last semester the University issued over $1 million in emergency student loans," Vitema said.

The on-line system will decrease According to Pulaski, President the number of emergency student loans issued by crediting the student's account if the student's regular loan check does not arrive before registration.

Research links AIDS. multiple sclerosis

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - A genetic test of cells in the blood of patients with multiple sclerosis suggests that the crippling disease is closely associated with a virus that is similar to the AIDS virus, researchers report.

E. Prem Kumar Reddy, a researcher at Wistar Institute in Philadelphia, said the genetic study of blood samples from six multiple sclerosis patients provides "direct proof" that the human T-lymphotropic virus, or HTLV-I, is involved in the MS disease process.

"This test for the first time shows that if you do sensitive enough assays you can find HTLV in MS patients," Reddy said in an interview. The same tests on 20 healthy people, he said, detected the virus in only

A report on the study will be published Friday in the journal Science.

Both HTLV-I and the human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) that causes AIDS, or acquired immune deficiency syndrome, are retroviruses, he said.

Reddy said that both of the viruses also appear to infect immune cells in the blood.

332 Poyntz

"Even though these two viruses are not causing the same disease, their basic mechanisms of infection are very, very similar," he said. "Something that works for HIV should also work for HTLV-

Multiple sclerosis is a disease that attacks the brain and other parts of the central nervous system. It causes damage by destroying a tissue called myelin that covers the nerves. There are about 250,000 MS patients in the United

The disease strikes most frequently between the ages of 20 and 40. In about a third of the patients, the disease is very mild, but for others, MS can cause great disability and crippling. Currently, there is no cure, though the disease frequently goes into remission.

Reddy and his associates at Wistar proved that there is HTLV-I in the blood cells of multiple sclerosis patients by performing extremely precise assays for the genetic pattern of the virus. As a control, similar assays were performed on blood samples from 20 healthy persons, 10 from Sweden and 10 in Philadelphia.

techline.

Karate demonstration planned for tonight

By The Collegian Staff

will be given at 7 p.m. tonight in Aheam Field House by Master Chae Sun Yi, who holds a seventh-degree black belt. The presentation will also showcase Yi's Tae Kwon Do stuacross the state.

The presentation is being given to Yi's reputation for excellence in let people in the area know about A Tae Kwon Do demonstration karate, said Bill Butler, director of community education. A question/ answer segment will follow the demonstration for any interested individuals.

Yi started studying Tae Kwon Do dents, as well as black belts from at age 14 and earned his seventhdegree black belt in 1980. Butler said karate is nationwide.

539-4811

Yi teaches Tae Kwon Do classes in K-State's Community Education Program each semester.

The classes, which are open to anyone older than the age of 10, incorporate basic movement of hands, feet and physical fitness patterns of self-defense techniques through class demonstration and State, Yi teaches in Salina.

practice. The class also offers students the opportunity to advance in their Tae Kwon Do degree ranking.

Butler encourages interested K-State students to attend the demonstration. Yi teaches a Tae Kwon Do class which is offered as an optional one-hour undergraduate credit. In addition to teaching classes at K-

New Store Hours OPEN TO THE Tuesday-Friday 10-6:30 PUBLIC

Saturday 9-5 People's Grocery Co-op

> COME TO THE MOVIES TONIGHT

811 Colorado

Free Admission Now on our big screen "Yentl"

Starring Barbara Streisand UCM Student Center 1021 Denison United Campus Ministry

That's about how long it takes to get from the K State campus to Raoul's Escondido on the west side of Manhattan. Once you're there, you'll see why we call

You'll be treated to an all-you-can-eat buffet filled with authentic mexican food made from family recipes. It's fast, it's convenient, and best of all, it's inexpensive;

When you're ready for a taste of authentic Mexico, remember, you can drive a short 10 minutes to Raoul's

COME SEE US TODAY!

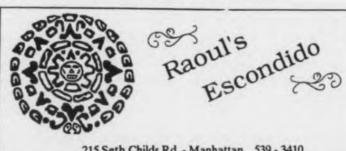

215 Seth Childs Rd. - Manhattan 539 - 3410

Drive To Mexico In 10 Minutes!

it Mexico!

just $4.50 every day for lunch!

Escondido, or you can drive 915 miles south!

Give your favorite K-Staters a gift they'll love long past Valentine's Day

A Week At Kansas State

Valentine's Special Save $10 now through Feb. 14, 1989

If you love K-State or someone who attends K-State, you will enjoy recalling the classes you took, the friends you made, the sporting events and other activities that make Kansas State University unique.

Share some of those fond memories in the form of a beautiful coffee-table book created by K-State alumni and student photographers - A Week At Kansas State. Those who have seen it, love the stunning color photographs and stories of campus life.

Student Publications Inc. is now offering the book at a special graduation rate. For a limited time, A Week At Kansas State, regularly $29.95, is now $19.95 plus tax with the coupon. Buy one now for yourself or a friend. Proceeds go toward photojournalism scholarships.

Bring this coupon to the Student Publications office, Kedzie Hall 103, and save $10 on A Week at Cansas State.

> limit 2 with coupon xpires 2/14/89

For more information, call (913) 532-6555.

VISA and MasterCard accepted.

Clipping this ad could introduce you to that person you've wanted to meet all semester.

Functional, Flexible and Affordable

in stock, ready to assemble

CONTEMPORARY INTERIORS

Tues.-Sat. 10-5

If you've spent the semester watching one particular person, it's time for you to write a Collegian Personal ad. A Personal will intrigue your mystery person and give you the opportunity to introduce yourself. Just bring this ad to Kedzie 103 to start your winter romance.

YOUR NAME
ADDRESS
I.D. NUMBER
DAY TO RUN
MESSAGE
	,

Collegian Pusonals

Kansas State Collegian ■ Friday, January 27, 1989 ■ Page 9

'Cats look to bounce back at Kansas

File/Christopher T. Assat

K-State forward Billy Ray Smith falls to the floor in front of Kansas guard Kevin Pritchard while chasing a loose ball during the game at Bramlage Coliseum Jan. 14. The 'Cats play the Jayhawks again Saturday.

K-State begins 3-game stretch against Top 20 competition

By Mike Goens Sports Writer

K-State returns to Allen Fieldhouse Saturday for the first time since snapping the Kansas Jayhawks' 55-game home winning streak last year. The question is, which K-State road team will show

Will it be the team that beat Nebraska 80-68 Saturday in Lincoln in their first Big Eight road game? Or will it be the team that lost 89-71 to Oklahoma State Wednesday in Stillwater, in a nationally televised contest?

"We have a lot of concerns, especially going into Allen Fieldhouse," Coach Lon Kruger said. "They're coming off an important game and we're coming off a disappointing game."

Kansas posted an impressive 86-66 win over Wichita State Wednesday in Lawrence. Just two weeks ago, KU defeated K-State in overtime 75-74 in Bramlage Coliseum.

K-State played well in the road win against Nebraska but followed it up with the loss Wednesday.

"Everytime you lose a ballgame you can't look at it as a step back," Kruger said. "We have to continue to make strides; we obviously didn't do that (Wednesday). We got whipped in every sense of the word.

"It was a four-point game with seven (minutes) to go. We didn't handle the pressure real well. We were playing from behind all night," he said. "We opened the ballgame waiting to see what they were going to do. You hate to get off to a start down double-digits.'

Fred McCoy led the 'Cats with 23 points and 12 rebounds against OSU. It was the third straight game McCoy has had double figures in points and

"Fred battled them well. He took the ball to the basket well," Kruger said. "I especially like the way he Byron Houston led the Cowboys will do generally the same things. We Oklahoma at Nevada-Las Vegas, 3:00 p.m.

with a career-high 31 points.

"Byron Houston is one of the better freshmen in the country," he said. "He is a big, physical player.

"Oklahoma State without question has improved from last year. They are an awfully good, young club. They're pretty physical. They have quick, strong jumpers, and that bothered us," Kruger added. "They were very athletic last year and they have improved on that this year. They quickly should be recognized as a ballclub that's a contender."

K-State point guard Steve Henson was bothered by the flu and scored just 13 points - four below his season average.

"Steve battled hard, which is a credit to his toughness," Kruger said. "That's a part of what goes on during the course of the season."

"I felt OK, I just got thirsty," Henson said. "I didn't feel sick in any way. They did a good job of keeping me from getting easy shots. Their defense turned it up a notch."

K-State enters a critical stretch of games in the next week, which includes: at 18th-ranked Kansas, at home next week against fourthranked Oklahoma and at fifth-ranked Missouri a week from Saturday.

"It's obviously a tough stretch, but you're going to get that," Kruger said. "It's a critical stretch. We hope we have the chance to survive it."

KU used a balanced attack and a strong second half to beat Wichita State. The Jayhawks had five players in double figures, led by Kevin Pritchard with 19 points and Milt Newton with 18.

"They have got such good balance with eight or nine guys scoring,' Kruger said. "They have the luxury of other guys to step forward and pick up the slack. They have five people on the floor who can score. x-Ineligible for post season play We have to play honest, straight up, and defense everybody equally.

"They're not going to change," uger said of the rematch. "Th know how tough it's going to be. "We have to try to limit easy baskets and do better in all areas. We've got to rebound and handle the ball well, he said. "KU's defense has been outstanding all year. Their guard play has been excellent. We have to make good decisions, relax a little bit and take advantage right "It's only been a couple of weeks," said Henson, who scored 23 points in the first meeting between the two teams. "We've played a number of games since then. We've got to look forward to it. It should be an exciting

"We are at a time now (when) we need to win some ballgames. There is a definite sense of urgency."

Henson said the thing he remembers most of last year's game was 'we won."

"We just went in and played hard and had fun with it," Henson said of K-State's 72-61 victory at Lawrence a year ago. "You didn't see that (Wednesday)."

Probable Starters

K-State (11-4)	Pos.	Kansas (10-5)
Dobbins(6-5, Sr.)	F	Newton(6-4, Sr.)
Britt(6-6, Jr.)	F	Randall(6-9, So.)
McCoy(6-7, Sr.)	C	Alvar.(6-10, Sr.)
Henson(6-1, Jr.)	G	Barry(6-4, Sr.)
Humph.(6-1, Jr.)	G	Pritchard(6-3, Jr.)

Big Eight Conference Standings

	Big 8	Pct.	Total	Pct.
Oklahoma	4-0	1.000	16-2	.888
Missouri	3-0	1.000	17-3	.850
x-Kansas	3-1	.750	16-3	.842
Oklahoma St.	2-1	.666	11-5	.687
K-State	2-2	.500	11-5	.687
Iowa State	1-3	.250	10-6	.625
Nebraska	0-3	.000	12-7	.632
Colorado	0-5	.000	5-13	.277
. Instable to.

K-State at Kansas, 3:10 p.m.

MU investigating Stewart comments

By The Associated Press

ST. LOUIS — University of Missouri officials are not commenting on their investigation into an allegation that basketball Coach Norm Stewart made a threating comment to a St. Louis Post-Dispatch sports reporter.

"It's a personnel matter and will not be discussed now or in the future," said Mary Still, spokeswoman for the university. Sports Information Director Bob Brendel also said that nobody from the school, including Stewart or Missouri Athletic Director Dick Tamburo, would be commenting.

Stewart was in his office Thursday but did not return a call from The Associated Press.

A story last week in the Columbia Missourian said that Stewart, in a private conversation Jan. 4 with Post-Dispatch reporter Jim Thomas, had become upset about stories the St. Louis newspaper had run about the recruiting methods of Missouri assistant coach Rich Daly.

Thomas told the Missourian that during the conversation, Stewart became highly agitated and made a threatening remark.

Thomas told the newspaper that Stewart said: "I know some people who can take care of your 1-year-old son."

Lady Cats hoping to end 9-game Big 8 road skid at KU Saturday

By Mike Rouse Collegian Reporter

Call it the "Battle of Youth" when the K-State women's basketball team continues its rivalry with the Kansas Lady Jayhawks with a noon tipoff Saturday in the Allen Fieldhouse in Lawrence.

That slogan is what K-State head coach Matilda Mossman refers to when talking about the young squads both teams have.

"We are in our second year with our young people while they are in their first year with their youth," she

The Lady Jayhawks won both matchups last year, including a 74-58 win in Ahearn Field House. At Allen Fieldhouse, KU scored on an inbounds pass as time ran out for a 52-50 win. The Lady Cats will be looking to snap a nine-game Big Eight on-the-road losing streak Saturday.

K-State is coming off an 87-76 win over Iowa State Wednesday night in Bramlage Coliseum. The Lady Cats are 13-5 overall and 3-2 in the Big Eight.

K-State forward Kristie Bahner said the intensity of the women's rivalry isn't as big as the men's to some people, but for her it means a

"I was never recruited much by KU," she said. "It means a lot to me to win against KU, and I want to show them I can play." K-State coach Matilda Mossman said she knows this game isn't like any other game on the schedule and knows it will be intense.

"It isn't just another game. We are playing at their place and the crowd will be coming in for the men's game (at 3:10 p.m.)," she said. "KU-K-State has always been hotly contested."

Mossman said both teams will have a different edge when the two meet Saturday afternoon.

"They have an edge because they are playing on their home court, and we have an edge because we get an extra day off, " Mossman said.

Going into the KU game, K-State has four of its five starters averaging in double figures. Nadira Hazim is averaging 14.0 points a game; Diana Miller, 11.8; Bahner, 10.7 and Mary Jo Miller, 10.1. The Lady Cats' other starter, center Rita Matteucci, is averaging 8.6.

Mossman said the K-State team is being forced to do things it probably wouldn't be asked to if the Lady Cats had more upperclassmen.

"We are asking sophomores to do things that juniors and seniors are doing on other teams," Mossman

One of the key matchups in Satur-■ See WOMEN, Page 12

Probable Starters

Lady Cats (13-5)	Pos.	Kansas (9-7
Bahner(5-11, So.)	F	Shareef(5-9 Fr.
D.Miller(5-10, So.)	F	McCld.(5-10, Fr.
Matteucci(5-11, Jr.)	C	Page(6-4, Jr.
Hazim(5-7, So.)	G	Hart(5-6, Fr.
M.Miller(5-5, Fr.)	G	Braddy(5-8, Jr.

49ers' Walsh steps down; Seifert to be replacement

By The Associated Press

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif - Bill Walsh, who turned the San Francisco 49ers from an NFL patsy to a Super Bowl powerhouse, will give up his head coaching job for the front office and be replaced by defensive coordinator George Seifert, it was reported on Thursday.

Walsh and team owner Eddie DeBartolo Jr. were scheduled to hold a late afternoon news conference at Pebble Beach, where DeBartolo is playing in the Pebble Beach Pro-Am golf tournament.

But at least four newspapers, including the San Francisco Chronicle, San Francisco Examiner, San Jose Mercury News and New York Daily News, reported Walsh would move into the front office after a decade. The California newspapers said Walsh would be succeeded Seifert, who turned 49 on Sunday as San Francisco beat Cincinnati 20-16 for the team's third Super Bowl title of the decade.

The Daily News said Miami coach Jimmy Johnson was the prime candidate, but Johnson said that was news to him.

Relations between Walsh and DeBartolo have frequently been frosty. Last season, the 49ers lost to Minnesota in the first round of the playoffs after compiling the league's best regular-season record. That cost Walsh his title as team president.

But DeBartolo denied that there was a serious rift between the two. Earlier this month, he told reporters, "That's the furthest thing from the truth that I could imagine. Bill and I are friends, good friends."

Walsh has an overall record of 102-63-1 including playoff games. He joined the 49ers in 1979 after two years as head coach at Stanford, where he compiled a 17-7 record and won bowls at the end of both seasons.

Walsh coached the 49ers to their third Super Bowl championship of the 1980s last Sunday, beating the Cincinnati Bengals 20-16.

Sports Briefly

Tipoff for Nebraska changed

The Big Eight Conference has notified K-State that it will be necessary to change the starting time of the Wildcats' home basketball game with Nebraska on Feb. 11.

The game was originally scheduled for 1:10 p.m., but will be moved up one hour to begin at 12:10 p.m.

The change was made to accomodate television scheduling.

Minnesota beats No. 1 Illini

MINNEAPOLIS - Minnesota upset top-ranked Illinois 69-62 Thursday night as Willie Burton had 20 points and 13 rebounds and sparked a first-half burst that sent the Illini to their first loss of the season.

Illinois, 17-1 overall and 4-1 in the Big Ten, had been the only underbated NCAA Division I team. The Illini, playing without standout point guard Kendall Gill.

Graf advances to open finals

MELBOURNE, Australia — Gabriela Sabatini couldn't stop Steffi Graf at the Australian Open, and she doesn't think Helena Sukova can either.

"I don't think Helena has many chances," Sabatini said after Graf trounced her 6-3, 6-0 Thursday and moved within one victory of a fifth straight Grand Slam title.

"Steffi is playing very well and Helena had to struggle today. I don't think it will be a problem."

Tracksters play host to 2nd indoor meet

From Staff and Wire Reports K-State will have its second indoor track meet of the season Saturday with the KSU All-Comers Meet at Ahearn Field House.

The field will include Tabor College, Southwestern College, Johnson County Community College, Haskell Indian Junior College, Hutchinson Community College, as well as 200 high school participants.

The high school competition will kick off each division and will be followed by the open division. Field events are scheduled to begin at 9 a.m., and running events start at 11 a.m.

K-State coach John Capriotti said the Wildcats will primarily enter runners in the shorter races this week.

"Basically, we're training through this meet," he said. "We had a hard week of training. We've been putting in our time."

Capriotti said it has been good to have the first two meets at home. "Not having to travel allows for a lot of extra training days," he said. Last week at the KSU Coors Invitational, three K-State athletes surpassed national qualifying standards. Kim Kilpatrick won the 55-meter hurdles in 7.88. Ray Hill, a transfer from Central Arizona Community College, began his career at K-State by setting Ahearn Field House and K-State records with a national qualifying time of 6.22 in the 55-meter dash. Shot Putter Dan O'Mara also had a national qualifying mark with third-place throw of

The K-State track squad will next be in action Feb. 4, at Lincoln, in a triangular meet with Nebraska and Arkansas. Nebraska will also play host to the Husker Invitational Feb. 10-11 and then the Wildcat tracksters will be back in Ahearn Field House for the KSU Open Feb. 18.

The Big Eight Indoor Championships are Feb. 24-25 and will also be

Hayden appoints resident to council

From Staff and Wire Reports

Gov. Mike Hayden today appointed Manhattan resident Lewis Hearne to the Kansas Planning Council on Developmental Disabilities.

"This is my first term on the council, which serves to look after the interests of disabled persons, and to explore the possibilities of care and treatment for handicapped individuals," Hearne said.

The council is made up of a mixture of folks from across the state," he said. "There are persons who are disabled on the council, persons with special interests in the needs of disabled people and people who have jobs that come in contact with disabled persons."

Hearne is a recruiter for Kansas Advocacy and Protection Services in Manhattan. Hearne said he believes he is qualified for the job because his job involves the advocacy for the rights of the disabled.

"I am the guardian of two persons disabled and have a special interest in the needs of disabled persons because of my job," Hearne said.

Collegian Sports

Hearne's employer, the Kansas Advocacy and Protection Service, is a private non-profit agency advocating the rights of the disabled.

"I work on the Kansas guardianship program," Hearne said. "We recruit persons to volunteer to be legal guardians (caretakers) and conservators (financial caretakers) for handicapped individuals."

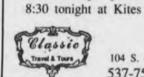

Hearne said the Advocacy and Protection Service has three main goals. The service works as an advocate for the mentally ill in the state's mental hospitals, protects the rights of disabled persons and attempts to recruit new members to the guardianship program.

He will replace Rep. Gary Blumenthal, D-Merriam, who resigned from the council. Hearne will serve the remainder of the term, which expires in July.

SPRING BREAK '89

Bahamas..... $259 availability going fast Daytona $139

info and sign-up meeting

104 S 4th 537-7546

February 10, 1989 K-State Union

"Choosing To Help Shape The Future"

For All Education Majors

Registration Deadline: January 27 in Bluemont Hall 006

ClassAds Kedzie 103

CLASSIFIED RATES One day: 15 words or fewer, $2.50, 20 cents per word over 15; Two consecutive dates: 15 words or fewer, $3.50, 25 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.25, 30 cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 35 cents per word over 15; Five consec tive days: 15 words or fewer, $5.00, 40

cents per word over 15.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publications. Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon FRIDAY for Monday's paper.

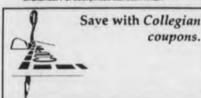

Student Publications will not be responsible to more than one wrong classified insertion, it is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not alter the value of the ad. Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

Display Classified Rates
One day: $5.20 per inch; Three consecutive days: $5.00 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.80 per inch; Ten consecutive days: $4.80 per inch; (Deadline is 4.30 p.m. two days before publication.)
Classified advertising is available only to those who do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex or ancestry.

Announcements

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs -skincare -glamor -na -gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor, 539-2070. COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp 539-8193

COOKIE ORDERS. Did Giri Scouts miss you again this year? We'll take your order. Call 539-9508.

FEMALE COUNTRY band needs lead guitar player. Call 537-1292 or 776-3206 for more information. GUCCI WATCHES, Ladies replicas, great gift idea for Valentine's Day. $45, 532-3944.

JEWELRY LOVERS, Where are you???? 75% saving-$$$. Gold rings. $15.00III Silver pendants. $3.00III Manufacturer# 776-5545.

PERMS— QUANTUM, $25—Gel nails, $30—Haircut, shampoo and blow-dry, $9. Hair Shack, 415 N. Third. 776-7421.

SOUTH PADRE/ Spring Break '89— Nice rooms for a great pricel From $109 to $169 on the beach or minutes from it. Five or seven days. Don't spend all your money on a room, —you're never there anyway! (Limited space). Call 1-800-782-7853, ext 186.

VIDEOTAPE YOUR wedding or other parties. $50 and up. Call now for quotation. Budget Video Memories. 537-3716.

VYANT— GUITAR: Jeff Kerby, Vocals: Donny McEl-hiny. Songs by Poison, VH, Ozzy, Rush... three originals. Douglass Community Bldg. Douglass, KS. Jan. 28 at 7p.m.

WANTED— 100 overweight people to try herbal weight control program. No drugs, no exercise, Doctor recommended, 100% guaranteed, 776-5114,

Don't Forget Live Band Tonight Brother's

DOG DAYS AT THE

THE LOFT'S FALL COLLECTION Reduced

> 50% And More

★Selected Fall Fashions Ruff Hewn-Cambridge-Fortune Cookie $20 (Values up to $69)

*Selected Sweaters $25 (Values up to $84)

*Selected Denium

$25 (Values up to $74) *Selected Accesories 50% off

then Women's Casualwear

1207 Moro in Aggieville Mon.-Sat. 9:30 AM to 5:30 PM Thur. evening 'til 8:00 PM Sunday 1-5 PM

Falsettos PIZZA 539-3830

FREE SLICE not good with any other offer

We Honor Local Competitors' Coupons

> Falsetto's Doubles Pizzas for 1 pizza price not good with any other offer

FREE DELIVERY

Join the tradition call 537-3830 or stop by for a slice

AWARENESS WEEK JANUARY 23-27 1989

Wellness is taking responsibility for our own balance in all the dimensions of our life. There are six areas of wellness; physical, social, emotional, vocational, intellectual and spiritual.

SPIRITUAL WELLNESS is developed when we our human existence. We experience spiritual LAQ Assessments TODAY!

Stop by the PAC-CATS table TODAY!

PAC-CAT OFFICE

Lower Level Lafence 532-6927

2 Apartments—Furnished

BEAUTIFUL THREE-BEDROOM furnished apartment Large living room, dining room, kitchen on main floor at 1019 Bluemont. Fully carpeted with back porch. 537-0428 or 537-6841.

ONE-BEDROOM on Sunset. $260 plus gas and electric. Laundry facilities, no pets, please. 539-5051 or 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT nice, spacious, furnished or unturnished. Available immediately, Lease through May or longer. $300 per month. 537-4648 or 539-1577.

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM on 17th Street available now Two blocks to campus. Balcony, gas heat, laundry facilities. $310. 537-9020 or 776-3804.

LARGE TWO bedrooms, leases available now and next August. Furnished and unfurnished. Phone 537-9064 daily.

NICE ONE-BEDROOM in Lee/ Hunting area available now. Fineplace, dishwasher, laundry facilities, $340, 539-2103 or 776-3804.

NICE THREE-BEDROOM, all appliances, fireplace, two-car garage, fenced backyard central air, $525. Available Feb. 1. Call 776-1945 or 776-6575. NICE TWO-BEDROOM near City Park in 24-plex. All appliances, laundry facilities. $380, 537-8229 or 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT in City Park area, $235

the street from campus. $250. Available now. 537-4924. ONE-BEDROOM, two balconies

STUDIO APARTMENT adjacent to campus, close to Aggleville. College Court Apartments. $220 monthly. Private parking, air conditioning, washer/ dryer and storage lockers, Call 532-7159. TWO-BEDROOM AT 608 Yuma. Appliances furnished, $225. Off-street parking, pets allowed. 537-1450.

TWO TWO-BEDROOM spartments, one block from campus, $300. Stove and refrigerator furnished. 776-7371 or 1-468-3364. UNFURNISHED APARTMENT to rent on west edge of campus. One-bedroom, plenty of storage space. $200 month plus utilities. Call Jim Roper at 539-1814

JOIN THE 34 YEAK

5:00pm-7:00pm

619 North 12th, Aggieville

Unfurnished 1 or 2 bedroom apartments. Sign up for Fall leases begins March 1.

1408 Cambridge Pl. (913) 539-2951

A Automobiles for Sale

1955 CHEVY low rider pickup, wide window, 350cu., power steering, power brakes, tilt, Cragar SS, subframed, $4,250, 537-1539, ask for "Rat."

1973 DODGE Coronet, five new tires, good school car, $700. Call 537-8950 after 5p.m.

1974 MAVERICK, only $300, good interiors, engine, great for moving around. After 5:30p.m., 776-6277, Rick.

1977 T-BIRD, new tires, new paint, good engine 532-3801.

1978 CHRYSLER Cordoba V-8, air conditioning, AM/ FM cassette. Very good condition, 160K miles, must sell, $750, 776-3226.

1980 MAZDA GLC— good condition, $1,100. 539-0136 or 1-585-1094.

1981 ESCORT, cracked head, 76,000 miles, $500. 532-6750. Ask for Mary Black. (Continued on page 11)

16" PIZZA ONLY 599

one topping dine-in or free delivery with coupon expires Jan. 31 "premium pizza at a cardboard pizza price"

523 South 17th 537-1484

St. Francis Campus Ministry 6th & Poyntz 776-9427 STUDENTS AND FACULTY FOOD & FELLOWSHIP

FOLLOWING SERVICE SUN. 5:30 P.M.

SUN. A.M. Services 8 & 10:30 6th & Poyntz 776-9427

PYRAMID PIZZA WEEKEND WONDER

a second of equal value for get a second of equal value for 12

a second of equal value for

Fast, Friendly & Free!

539-4888 12th & Moro

Delivery

Aggieville, USA

We Pile It Onl

HEWLETT-PACKARD with MSDOS, Lotus 1,2,3 word processing internal modern, full plus HP printer. $800. 532-2026.

LAPTOP DATA General IBM Compatible, 512K, modern, co-processor, Thinkjet Printer. $4,500 modern, co-processor, Thinkjet new, will sacrifice. 1-238-4998.

LINE PRINTER ribbons for sale- Black multistrike no. OM MS (41/4 dozen), $1.25 each, Black nylon no. QM NY (15), $2.25 each. Call 532-6555 or come by

PERSONAL COMPUTERS Authorized Warranty Service

also servicing · PC compatibles & printers · Televisions & VCRs

MIDWEST

Manhattan 913-776-6650

9 Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to approach any such "employment opportunity" with reasonable caution. $350 A Dayl At Hornel Process phone orders for our company. People call you. Nationwide. For details call (refundable) 1-518-459-8697 ext K925A. ASSISTANT SOFTBALL coach. Position begins Feb. 27, 1989 through May 27, 1989. Salary $1,292. Send letter or resume with qualifications by Jan. 27, 1989 to: USD 383, 2031 Poyntz, Manhattan, KS

ASSISTANT TRACK coach. Position begins Feb. 27, 1989 through May 27, 1989. Salary $1,476. Send letter or resume with qualifications by Jan. 27, 1989 letter or resume with qualifications by Jan. 27, 1989 to: USD 383, 2031 Poyntz, Manhattan, KS 66502. 537-2400 FOE

EARN UP to $10/ hour. Work own hours. Car and phone ded. Call (913)288-0514.

GRADUATE ASSISTANT needed to work with nontraditional students in the FENIX office. Excellent career opportunity. Contact Suzanne Knorr, director. Leasure 3 or 532-6434 mornings.

HERTZ CAR rental agency counter representative. For more information call 539-0261.

JEWELRY MANUFACTURER wants dealers, Salespeople. Successful moneymaking business. Investment? Commission? Guaranteed profits or

LUNCHROOM PLAYGROUND supervisor. One and one-half to two hours per day. $4 per hour, 7:30-9a.m. and/ or 11a.m.- 1p.m. Apply USD 383, 2031 Poyntz, Manhattan, KS 66502, 537-2400. EOE.

NANNIES NEEDED, Families in New England area looking for responsible individuals to watch child-ren. Good pay and benefits. For spring placement, call now. 537-0947.

For local and national news. Read the Collegian

RICHARD

BROADFOOT

BOY BECOMES MAN-PART? "THE CONCLUSION"

A RECAP. (1) JEFF'S BOSS GAVE HIM MORE RESPONSIBILITY...

2 JEFF NOW HAS SOMEONE TO BOSS AROUND ... JEFFS NEW BOSSEE CALLED HIM "SIR" JEFF IS, INCREDIBLY, LESS IMMATURE THAN

HIS SUBORDINATE ...

AND NOW. (5) THE FINAL STEP IN JEFF'S CLIMB TOWARD MANHOOD ...

THIS MORNING ... ASTER DOWNING A DOUGHRUT, TWO HO-HOS, A GLASS OF CHOCOLATE MILK AND AN OAT-BRAN BISCUIT. (TO KEEP HIM REGULAR) JEFF UTTERED A SENTENCE THAT HAS FOREVER SEVERED HIS TIES WITH THE INNOCENT REALM OF CHILDHOOD. A SENTENCE THAT SUDDENLY, IRREVERSIBLY TURNED HIM INTO A

PART-TIME SALES help- Retail shoes. Experience preferred. Send schedule, resume to: Box 2, c/o The Collegian, Kedzie 103, KSU, Manhattan, KS

POSITION ANNOUNCEMENT: Successful undergraduates are now being recruited by the Academic Assistance Center to serve as Learning Skills Seminar Leaders during Fall Semester 1989. Specific duties include: leading a section of the Learning Skills Seminar which introduces freshmen to the academic skills and techniques necessary to achieve academic success, leading a study session in a social science or mathematics class, attending the class which corresponds to the study session and attending and participating in weekly staff meetings. We are looking for applicants who feel confident in their ability to be a "student role-model," are committed to the concept of academic success for all students, desire to teach others how to learn, are able to relate to many types of people, and hav a solid grade point average (especially in the social sciences or mathematics). Students who are selected for the position must successfully complete a training class, EDAF-311 Guidance for the Paraprofessional (three hours of academic credit). A time commitment of 10-12 hours per week will be required during Fall 1989 at a salary of $800 for the semester. For additional information, please consemester. For additional information, please contact the Academic Assistance Center, K-State Union, room 108, or call 532-6492, prior to Feb. 8th.

RADIOLOGIC TECHNOLOGIST (A.R.R.T.) on-call position for weekends and occasional relief for nights. Our radiology department features diagnos-tic equipment for procedures including nuclear medicine, ultrasound, mammography, diagnostic radiology. The St. Mary Hospital. 776-1981. EOE.

RESEARCH ASSISTANT: Assist in design and lead in construction of instrument to measure movement of water and chemicals in soil. BS in engineering, with training in structural analysis preferred. Capability to install, calibrate, and operate instrumentation is desirable but not required. Temporary, full-time. $21,000 per year. Submit resume and transcript by Feb. 6 to: Agricultural Engineering Department Kansas State University, 147 Seaton Hall, Manhat-

RESORT HOTELS, Cruiselines, airlines and amuse ment parks now accepting applications for spring and summer jobs, internships and career positio For more information and an application, write: National Collegiate Recreation Service, P.O. Box 8074, Hilton Head, SC 29938.

SALES: MAJOR league baseball fan needed. Part-time. Big bucksi Call Homerun Services at

SCHOOL SOCIAL Worker paraprofessional, part-time Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday evening 7- 9p.m. at Ogden Elementary School, BS degree in social work required. Applications must be received by Jan. 27, 1989 to be considered. Apply to USD 383, 2031 Poyntz, Manhattan, KS 66502, 537-2400.

STUDENT COMPUTER Operator, 30 hours/ w Student must have been enrolled in at least six resident semester hours during the spring semester and remain in the status of a full-time student or be enrolled in four summer school resident hours. Must be willing to work evenings, weekends, during school recesses and surmmer months. Undergraduates with an employment potential of at least two years will be given preference. Previous computer experience and grade point average will be used in the selection criteria. Computer Science major not necessary. Qualified persons in all disciplines are encouraged to apply. EOE. Applications will be accepted until 5p.m., Jan. 27, room 2, Farrell

SUMMER JOBS outdoors. Over 5,000 openings! tional parks, forests, fire crews. Send stamp for free details. 113 E. Wyoming, Kalispell, MT 59901.

SUMMER JOBSII Two of Minnesota's finest summer youth camps seek college students to work as counselors. Employment June- August. For an application and interview, call Jeff at 1-800-451-5270 ext 310.

TUTOR NEEDED for "watfor77" IE 372 computer and data processing class. Phone 776-3517 after 6p.m. WORK-STUDY STUDENT to work with non-traditional students in the FENIX office. Contact Suzanne Knorr, director. Leasure 3 or 532-6434 mornings

Delivery drivers and inside personnel needed. Contact Falsetto's PIZZA 539-3830

Making the Grade

RALPH I HEAR YOU

MAN ...

CTITTEN

WHEN I WAS SEVEN MY PARENTS BOUGHT ME A HAMSTER WAS AMAZED ATTHE LITTLE GUY. I'D WATCH HIM BAT, SLEEP, PLAY... AND THEN A FUNNY THOUGHT ENTERED MY HEAD.

Bloom County

POP!

POP.

JPM DAVES

1-27

POP!

POP

POP!

Peanuts

Garfield

POP!

By Charles Schulz

12 Houses/Mobile Homes for Ren

FREE GROCERIESI Rent two-bedroom mobile home, receive $50 groceries at Dillons Stores. Rent three-bedroomtrailer, get $75 groceries. 776-8552. Valid only until 2/10/89.

14 Lost and Found

Reward. Call Susan, 539-3668 before 10p.m. LOST MY guitar at a car wash. Significant reward to you for it's return. 776-0765.

LOST: ONE woman's silver Seiko watch. Found the band, need the face. Lost 1/24 in front of Justin Hall.

JUST ARRIVED, more "KU Sucks" T-shirts, supply. Call Stephen after 3p.m., 537-4140. NIKON FE2 black body, good condition, $375. Nikon Nikkor 28mm f/2.8, good condition $200. Chris

ADVENTURE

Canoeing & Caving (basic instruction provided)

March 11-14 $120 Darin Hoover 776-9261

Staffed for both males & females

776-2426

sessions

Hayes House of Music

Buy one set, get second set for half price 7 Poyntz 776-7983 327 Poyntz

Buffet, Salad Bar and Dessert Bar

Hours: 11 a.m.-9 p.m.

Hwy. 24 East 21/2 miles east of mall

SPRING BREAK 89 SOUTH PADRE ISLAND 15 149 ···$213

STEAMBOAT SHADOW RUN/OVERLOOK 5 OR 7 NIGHTS DAYTONA BEACH 7 NIGHTS MUSTANG ISLAND PORT ROYAL CONDOS 5 OR 7 NIGHTS

res 107 DON'T WAIT 'TIL IT'S TOO LATE! CALL TOLL FREE TODA

1-800-321-5911 SPREE Depending on break dates and length of stay

16 Motorcycles/Bicycles for Sale

1982, 550 Yamaha Maxim. Good condition. New tires. $700. 539-8218. 1984 HONDA Aspencade 1200, 19,000 miles, looks and runs like new, extra chrome. Super buy at $4,950. Price a new onel 537-1539.

BSON LES Paul studio electric guitar, Martin Sigma

SEVERAL OLD and new violins, violas and cellos with excellent tone, 539-8844

18 Personals

ADPI AMY E .- You did it! I'm so proud! Tonight starts a ADPI ANGIE: Guitars, blindfolds, Delts, Sig Eps, singing! You survived them all. Congrats!! Mom Amber.

ADPI ANNE: Congratulationsi You made iti Tonight is the night. You've done a great job! Pl Love, Sandra.

ADPI ANNETTE— Tonight you will become a new initiate and I couldn't be prouder! You are an awesome dot, but an even better friend! Congratu-

ADPI CAYLEE— Tonight is the night for the blue and white. You've done wonderful and I'm so proud of you! Congratulations! Love, Alisa.

ADPIERIN— Congrats, I am proud of youl Your smiles brighten my day! Love, Morn.

ADPI KAREN— Don't be blue, you've made it through. No more neophyte come Friday night. Congrats,

ADPI KELLY K., An active you soon will bei Congratula-

ADPI LAURA: I hope you know how proud I am of you.

ADPI LISA— So proud of your accomplishments and everything you stand for. You're the best. Love, Morn Heldi.

ADPI LISA (#4)- Congratulations, dot! You are the ADPI MELISSA H .- You made it! No more pearl points,

ADPI MINDLES (#6) - Congratulations I Your special

ADPI PAULA- Your initiation into ADPI is a key to ADPI ROXIE: You are the world's best Doti Congratula-tions! I Love You. Melissa.

ADPI SHELLY- Diamonds and violets, blue and white

ALPHA GAM Pledges- The day has come, the time day is finally here! You are the best dot ever, and I am very proud of you! Mom Lisa.

wonderful friendships. I'm so proud of you! Love, your Morn Tanya.

Hey, little baby, tonight is the night! I'm so proud of you!! Love, Morn Sheila.

near, for us to reveal what we hold so dear. Welcome to our special circle of friendship! Love— the almighty fratemity educator!

M&Ms, to tripping on the stairs, I'm so happy you're my daughter and I'll be the proudest morn there soon will be. It's time to spread your wings and fly;

Into your new home at ADPI. Love, Morn

CHI-O AMY, I'm proud of my girl for finishing 14 pearls, initiation's almost here— Get ready for a cup of

CHI-O KAREN- I'm so proud of my little dot. A better

CHI-O NEOPHYTES, All your life, all your life Chi-O can one I couldn't have got. Saturday night will soon be here and together we'll celebrate with a cup of be all that you want it to be. Just put in your time and yeah, good times you'll surely see. You will learn our secrets come this weekend. You see girls, they're what we're about, we don't want them to get out. Occoo, she's a little necephyte waiting for the Big I, Oh so full of fright. Love, Chi-O Actives.

cheer. Congratsi We're really happy to have you.

—Tasha.

JEANETTE- THE time is finally here, so let's make a

AXO CHRISTINE- From teddy bear, red and green

AXO DARLA S.— The big night is finally here! All your hard work in H.B. paid off. Congrats! Love ya tons, just plain ole fun! Love- G-ma.

best, and your smile keeps me smiling! I am proud of you! Morn Cyndy.

Congratulations on being initiated. Love, Shannon.

special bond and a lifetime of friends! I'm so glad you're my daughter, but mostly my friend! Love, Jill.

LOST 1/19: Silver foil brooch, square knot shape.

LOST: ONE pair of navy blue Isotoner gloves. Please call Debble at 776-5819.

15 Miscellaneous Merchandise

776-5994 after 5p.m

ADVENTURE QUEST SPRING BREAK WILDERNESS

Rock Climbing/Rappelling,

SUN W CONNECTION

coupon expires 1/29/89 sessions expire 6/31/89

Guitar Strings & Drum Sticks

KIM N .- Drink ... 21 ... drunk ... Happy Birthday ... Apt. 1 7:30... party... hangover... memory loss. KSU PRIDE-Party Friday on Bluemont. Bring some one we don't know. Thumper, Questions, Bondage Contact Solitaire. SIGMA CHI Steve- Watching football was fun and sharing pizza was great. How about an ADPi party date? Respond in Personals.

10m $118

.....§136

SUMO (A.K.A. Puff, Grapefruit, Cornholer)— So ya think ya want to ture 21? Are ya gonna get a little... (sleep, drunk, studying done)? Well, party up at Joe's Pool and Pizza Parlour tonight cuz ul never be a minor again! P.S. Beware the Botany—

THETA BECKY: You've been the best pledge and a great daughter! I know you'll be a great active. Theta love, Martha. THETA CINDY- The twin stars, pansies, and the kite, will all gain new meaning for you tonight. Tonight for you will unfold, Theta wonders will be told. Love. THETA DEANNA-It's almost here, you made it. You're

THETA GWEN: As pansies open toward the sky, and kites soar way up high, the mysteries of colors black and gold will be told. Theta love, Heather. THETA HEATHER S .- Time is drawing near when you'll initiate. Congratulations, little dot. I really think you're great! Love, Tami S, THETA INGRID- Tonight's the night you will see just how special Theta can bell Don't worry— have fun!

THETA JENNIFER B., At last the time has come, tonight will be full of special moments. Congratulations Love, Raelyn.

THETA JENNIE- Your mom's proud! Congrats on THETA JULIE K.— Your pledgeship's over, now start anew. Theta love will guide you through. Initiation is here at last, so sit back and have a blast! Love-THETA KENYA- Pansy, Kite and Twin Stars bright.

Theta will bring you joy tonight. Anne. THETA LORI: After tonight you'll be an active member of our family. Love Morn & Grandma.

THETA MICHELLE B .- The time has come to find the key and unlock the trunk of Theta's secrecies. What you find, hold close to your heart. Your sisters will be there and shall never part!

THETA NEOPHYTES- Hold on to your Kites with all your might, 'cause we're so excited for tonight. Of all of you we are so fond, for tonight you will become a part of our Theta bond. Love, Actives. THETA PLEDGES- Our semester with you is almost through, but the fun and memories will always linger. We love you and are proud of you. Congratu ations! Kathy and Cindy. THETA SANDRA: The time's right, initiation's in sight, so get psyched! Love, Morn & Grandma.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, Friday, January 27, 1989

THETA- SARA S. I'm so proud of your You survived pledgeship. What a trooper. You're the best dot! Love. Sheri.

THETAS— JUDY, Kerry, Monica, Shannon V. and Shawn: Tonight's the night you've long awated, finally you'll be initiated. The night might seem a little mysterious, but don't let yourself get too dellrious. Prepare for the adventurel Love, you

THETA STEPHANIE: The time is near, but do not fear! on you will understand everything! Get excited! Soon you will under Theta love, Joan.

THETA TERESA, Tonight you will learn the secrets of

TO MY III ADPI Dot Kristi: I am so proud of you! You're going to be an awesome active. "I" want what? Love ya tons— your Morn Lori.

TO THE gorgeous redhead guy in financial aid: Who are you? I'd like to find out. Your secret admirer.

TO THE two guys who found my keys and license in the street last Friday night. I need to talk to you immediately. Please call me and leave a message and your names. Thanks Again! 930 Susan.

TRACY- AN ADPI active you're soon to be, you have shown great courage and loyaltyl Congratulationsl Love, Jodi.

WENDY R.— Congratulations to you on your way to being initiated to KKG. I Love You, always. —your Dal.

KKG Michelle-Texas is an answered prayer. but you are too. Your loving smile and giving heart always send encouragement my way. No one could ask for a better dot! Have a wonderful weekend! John 14:27

I Love You' Sandy

20 Professional Services

DISSERTATIONS, THESES, term papers, mail merg. ing, labels, text scanning. Laser printing. Call 537-4146. PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 South Fourth

St., Suite 25. PROMPT ABORTION and contraceptive services in Lawrence. (913)841-5716.

21 Rentals

SINGLE GARAGES near Aggieville. $25 per mor

22 Resume/Typing Services

TERM PAPERS, cover letters, resumes, theses and dissertations entered, stored and completed to your specifications. Come see us. Ross Secretarial Services, 614 N. 12th (across from Kite's)

23 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE NEEDED to share spacious basement apartment until end of semester, own room, two blocks from campus, $106.25/ month plus utilities. Call

-762-4242 anytime. FEMALE TO share house close to campus, furnished. $162.50/ month plus deposit. Share utilities. Call Renee at 539-8695.

FEMALE- UPSTAIRS three-bedroom house! Right off Vattier (close to campus). For more information call 537-7645.

MALE OR female to share anartment till May. One and one-half blocks west. $135 plus utilities. Call for information. 776-7980. MALE ROOMMATE, own room, one block from carry pus, washer/ dryer, no deposit or lease, $125 plus one-third utilities, 537-1825 ROOMMATE WANTED for two-story house with hard wood floors and bannister. Beautiful. 776-0553 1-492-3166

24 Situation Wanted

FIST HOLE Repair Co. We fix party damaged walls. For a free estimate, call after 6p.m. ask for Chris.

539-8036. GYMNASTICS, SPECIAL preschooler classes now available. Call 776-0765.

25 Sporting/Recreation Equipment

GOLF CLUBS— Ping Eye its 1 iron— sandwedger Powerbit woods 1-3-5. Excellent condition. Call 532-3483

28 Martial Arts

MARTIAL ARTS- Learn to gracefully defend yours and ward off brutal, hostile attackers in our vibrarii Tae Kwon Do Martial Arts Class Class starts Friday, Jan. 27. Only $47. Call 532-5566 to register. or stop by College Court Building. Any questing Sale 532-5570 for information. Act now.

29 Wanted

CAN'T GO to the NU vs. KSU BB game? Sec ma your tickets. Call Audra 532-6556— day or 539-7571

after 10p.m. 30 Jewelry for Sale

LOVE JEWELRY? Discount$? Gold pendants, earrings $5.00III Rings, chains $11.00III Gold electrop your lewelry. 776-5545.

By Eugene Sheffer

Crossword

ACROSS 6 Modern music

1 Hex

unit

plant

shade

type Depot: abbr. 12 Sprite 13 Heady ment drink > flower 49 Hit aide 20 Distantly 21 Take to the slopes 23 Mayday call 24 "— in the song) 25 Queue - of Two Cities" 29 "Eugene (Pushkin

Dark" (old work) 31 Lithe 35 Bit of 37 Writer Gardner 38 Slugger

Roger

10 Salad fishes 11 Mimics match' 19

> warning 22 Related 24 "The Greatest' 26 Conceit

32 Liquid element 33 Right 34 Blushing

39 Iowa village 40 Up contests

48 Pique 50 Great

53 CRYPTOQUIP

RTGRQ TGFRCMG UG'M ZM

GIGQGXN Yesterday's Cryptoquip: POPULAR TENNIS INSTRUCTOR WAS KNOWN FOR HIS BACK-HANDED COMPLIMENTS.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: Q equals M plume 43 Archaic 44 Writer Kingsley 45 Pants measure-

> 47 Fragrant white Broadway musical 52 "Just -

Those 7 Actor Things" 8 Apiece 53 Caviar 9 Space 54 Pavarotti, e.g.

Solution time: 23 mins.

Yesterday's answer 1-27

paigned 56 Finale 57 Perfume DOWN 1 Health behold!" resort 21 School 2 Porky. zone e.g. 3 Scrutinize

55 Cam-

4 Not

5 Evil

looks sorts

Young

stories

6 Bigot, recorded

28 Choir members 30 Officeholders

36 "A friend 38 Area of study

42 Track 45 Privy to 46 Opposite of "sans"

amount

1-27

51 Museum contents

R YCIG, NUG FUGQZMN

House Republicans hurry tax proposal

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA - House Republican leaders want to move quickly on Gov. Mike Hayden's proposal to cut individual income taxes $78.9 million, hoping opposition to the plan is not yet strong enough to prevent it from passing next week.

The House Taxation Committee is scheduled to discuss and possibly take final action Friday on whether to endorse a bill containing Hayden's plan. The committee held a brief hearing on the bill Thursday, just two days after the Senate passed it, 29-11.

House Speaker Jim Braden, R-Clay Center, said that if the committee endorses the bill Friday, he probably will schedule House debate for Tuesday. That means the bill could be sent to Hayden on Wednesday the day on which the governor has said he wants it on his desk.

However, a significant number of House members may want to amend the measure to restore in the state income tax code a deduction for federal taxes paid. House Democrats are hoping to slow the bill down as well, so that other tax relief alternatives can be studied and Hayden is denied a symbolic political victory.

"I think there will be the votes to get the bill out of committee," said

Rep. Keith Roe, R-Mankato, tax designed to stop the collection of a committee chairman. "I don't know in what form.'

Rep. Joan Wagnon, D-Topeka, the committee's ranking minority member, added: "My guess is that it's going to be a battle. It's hard to tell. People are being very discreet."

Under Hayden's plan, married taxpayers filing joint returns and earning more than $35,000 would see their income tax rates reduced from 5.3 percent to 4.9 percent. Married people earning less than $35,000 a year would see their rates reduced from 4.05 percent to 3.6 percent.

Single taxpayers earning more than $27,500 would see their rates reduced from 6.1 percent to 5.85 percent. Those earning less than $27,500 would have their rates cut from 4.8 percent to 4.45 percent.

Hayden has said the plan is

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

Senate voted to postpone the approval of replacement members since the

'Given the controversy that surrounds this issue (divestment), I would like to be able to ask specific

Senate

$135 million "windfall" the state has received for about two years. The windfall is the result of changes in the federal tax code in 1986. The 1988 Legislature passed a set of sweeping changes in the state's tax code that cut income tax rates $37.3

"While the governor is open to other changes in the tax code, he believes the most important issue at this time is to make the policy decision to return the windfall," Revenue Secretary Ed Rolfs told the tax committee.

Rep. Robert Vancrum, R-Overland Park, told the committee again today that he plans to offer an amendment to restore a deduction for federal taxes paid, which the 1988 Legislature eliminated. Vancrum also said he plans to introduce a separate bill that would do the same, and he has said he could have as many as 50 co-sponsors.

Vancrum is pushing the "Oklahoma Option" - a plan that would cost $16.5 million more than Hayden's plan. It would allow taxpayers to choose between taking lower rates or using the deduction for federal taxes

Under Vancrum's plan, a taxpayer could forgo federal deductibility and face tax rates that are the same as those in Hayden's plans. If taxpayers chose federal deductability, they would pay one of four rates ranging from 4.2 percent to 7.95 percent.

This is as much a philosophical position as anything else," Vancrum said. "We should not be putting a tax on tax dollars."

Vancrum acknowleged that he's still "a couple" of votes short of winning approval of his amendment in committee, primarily because lawmakers are concerned about its cost.

Roe said, "My preference is for the governor's proposal, clean." The Senate passed Hayden's plan Tuesday, after Democrats complained the Legislature should consider other forms of tax relief instead of just passing the bill quickly. House

Democrats echo those sentiments.

"I would rather get a good tax bill out, regardless of the date," Wagnon said. "Why should we do something foolish, just to be fast?"

Hayden has received much criticism for not proposing greater tax cuts last year, especially from residents of the relatively wealthy and largely Republican Kansas City suburbs of Johnson County. Hayden is expected to run for re-election in 1990.

Tout

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

One of the biggest changes Tout has seen over the course of his 26 years in student health was the shift in emphasis from curative to preventive medicine.

"When I started, the students I saw were coming in for illnesses or injuries," Tout said. "Today's students place more emphasis on wellness and preventive practices.

"It's nice to know not everyone you see is going to be sick."

Census

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

ous," said Nancy Denning, a Manhattan city commissioner.

At the instruction of the Legislature, the secretary of state's office counted students in their hometowns, unless they declared specifically that they considered themselves residents of a university city.

That, McKenzie charged, violated the student's constitutional rights. He said the U.S. Supreme Court had made clear the right to vote has two elements - the right to register and cast a vote and the right to be counted in reapportionment of legislative districts.

"Many of the same individuals who were not counted by the secretary of state voted in the state legislative race in the November election," McKenzie said. "Surely those same people deserve to be counted for reapportionment purposes."

Officials from the secretary of state's office contend they followed the Legislature's instructions to the letter in counting people last year and that the census figures accurately reflect city and county populations in Kansas using those guidelines. They are scheduled to answer questions about their methods of collecting data and their figures early next week.

"The classes we are attending are very beneficial," said Felix Acosta, zoology professor at the National University. "They have helped us arrive at another focus in teaching that we didn't have before."

The exchange of information is very inefficient in Paraguay compared with the United States, Acosta tees)," said Craig Uhrich, engineering senator.

"I would not vote in favor of this bill without talking to these people," be refilled and approved. However, said Kirk Schuler, education senator. The motion was delayed until the two proposed at-large members were next week so the appointees can be present for questions. In other business:

John McIntrye, campus director of Associated Students of Kansas, said senators need to write letters to questions of these people (appoinlegislators for Lobby Day, Feb. 6, in Topeka.

Todd Johnson, Senate chairman, announced the resignation of Senate vice-chairman Weisenborn, effective Feb. 9.

During open period, Ira Bolden, chief of staff, introduced members of the student body president's cabinet to Senate.

"I am excited about the enthusiasm that I get from my cabinet, and feel that they will represent and express the student body tremendously," said Laurian Cuffy, student body presient.

 In other business, Weisenborn, senior in electrical engineering, announced the senator's liaison appointments. Each of the senators are appointed to be liaisons to campus student groups so they can bring the groups' concerns to Senate.

day's game will come at the point

Braddy is leading the Lady Jayhawks in scoring with an average 14.6 points a game, and leading the Big Eight with an average 6.1 assists. Braddy was also one of the final cuts on the U.S. Olympic team this past

"Braddy is a great all-around player. We just have to contain her and can't let her penetrate into the lane because she is so effective there," Mossman said.

Professors not present at the meeting.

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 5 ledge and learn about the newest research and methods," she said.

said. The facilities, faculty, students, teaching and research methods at K-State are very good and of high quality, he said.

"The K-State staff is doing an excellent job," Gonzalez said. "Everything has a specific starting point and conclusion, and is very well organized and developed."

The only part of the program that should be changed, Gonzalez said, is the insistence that those in the program who come to the United States learn English.

"So much more could be gained from the program if there wasn't such a problem with the language barrier," he said.

Silvio Vega, agricultural engineer from the National University, said the opportunity to come to the United States to study is very fortunate because the competition among faculty in Paraguay for advanced knowledge and information is great.

"It is a dream for a lot of people at our university to come to the United States," Vega said. "It is a marvelous

Church School-9:45 a.m.

Worship-8:30 a.m. and 11 a.m.

Disciples of Christ

115 Courthouse Plaza 776-8790

FIRST LUTHERAN CHURCH

Worship at 8:30 and 11 a.m.

Sunday School—9:40 a.m.

(Collegiate Class)

Grace Baptist

Collegiate Class 9:15 a.m.

Morning Worship 10:30 a.m.

Manhattan Mennonite Fellowship

Sunday School 9:30 a.m.

Worship 10:45 a.m.

KSU Student Group 7 p.m.

Dorothy Nickel Friesen, Pastor

St. Isidore's

Masses: Sat. 5 p.m.

Sun. 9:30, 11 a.m. & 5 p.m. Confessions: Sat. 3:30 p.m.

537-8532

539-4079

country to visit. It is a valuable experience for me, especially since I'm so

"In some way, we plan to maximize what we have learned, and take it back to benefit the people of Paraguay."

Paraguay is a landlocked South American country with an area about the size of Kansas and Nebraska combined. It is bordered by Bolivia, Brazil and Argentina, and has a population of about 4.3 million - 57 percent of which live in rural areas.

Church School 9:30 a.m.

Worship 10:45 a.m.

UNITARIAN-UNIVERSALIST

FELLOWSHIP of MANHATTAN

10:45 a.m. Service & Sunday School

Nursery provided, everyone welcome

On K-18, 1/2 mile east of K-177

For info: call 537-2349

Unity Church

of Manhattan

Sunday Service 11 a.m.

Study group 6:30 p.m. Sun. 1221 Thurston, UFM House 539-8416

University Christian

8:30-11 a.m. Worship

9:45 a.m. Sunday School

6:30 p.m. Eve. Service

Valleyview Community Church

539-3921

776-5440

Students Welco

Nursery Provided

*Handicap Accessible Rides Available 1110 College Ave. 5

Women

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 9

guard position, where K-State's Mary Jo Miller will be matched up against KU's Lisa Braddy.

"You can't look at her (Miller) and tell she is a freshmen; her matchup will be the most intense on the floor,' Mossman said.

776-5577

776-5577

Pizza Shuttle

"NO COUPON SPECIALS"

Prime Time Special 3-10 in. Pizzas 1—Topping 4—Cokes

10.00

Everyday Two-Fers 2-10 in. pizzas 2—Toppings 2-Cokes s8.00

FAST N FREE DELIVERY

STUDENT LOANS

WE WANT TO MAKE YOUR STUDENT LOAN!

Have the professionals at Kansas State Bank make your student loan. Simply contact us at:

537-4400 Lender code #821176

CANSAS STATE BANK

Westloop • Aggieville • K-State Union, Manhattan, Kansas 66502

Religious Directory

10th & Poyntz

2901 Dickens

1021 Denison

Blue Valley Memorial United Methodist Worship 10:30 a.m. Sunday School 9:15 a.m Nursery provided

835 Church Ave. 539-8790

Christian Campus Ministry Worship 10:30 a.m. & 6 p.m. Bible Classes 9:30 a.m. & Wed. 7:30 p.m. Andy Miller-Campus Minister

2510 Dickens Ave. COLLEGE AVENUE UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

Sunday School - 9:30 a.m. Worship Service - 10:45 a.m.

1609 College Ave.

Crestview Christian Church Worship 10:30 a.m. & 6:30 p.m. Collegiate Sunday School 9:30 Home Bible Study Groups 4301 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

Evangelicai Free Church of Manhattan S.W. comer 14th & Anderso Steve Ratliff, Pastor Worship 9 a.m. Sunday School 10:15 a.m. 776-2086 Nursery Provided 776-0259

STUDENTS WELCOME! COLLEGE HEIGHTS BAPTIST CHURCH 9:15 a.m. Sunday School

10:30 a.m. Worship Service 6 p.m. Training Hour 7 p.m. Worship Service 2221 College Heights Rd. 537-7744

First

Morning Worship-10:50

Evening Praise-6:00 Sunday School-9:45

College Class-9:30

1000 Fremont

801 Leavenworth

College Outreach

(Tuesday, K-State Union)

Pastor K. Ray McDowell 539-6376 (home)

"Nursery Available

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN

CHURCH

Worship 8°30 & 11 am.

Church School 9:30 am.

-Weekday Programs for Youth •Nursery available

Senior Minister

Rev. Dr. Phillip S. Gittings III

539-2851 (church)

537-0518

711 Denison
Chaplain: Father Norbert F. Diabai First Bap list Church

Sunday Worship 11 a.m. Church School 9:45 a.m. 2121 Blue Hills Rd. 539-8691 WESTVIEW COMMUNITY

WORSHIP 8 & 10:30 a.m. Randy Sly, Pastor For Information on College Clase call church office For information on College Clause call church office SUN, EVE. WORSHIP 6 p.m. 1st, 3rd and 5th Sundays CARE CELLS (Small Groups) 6 p.M. 2rd and 4th Sundays 3001 Ft. Riley Blvd. 537-7173

Catholic Student Center Now meeting at University Inn Lower level 17th & Anderson 10:30 a.m. Sunday Dan Walter, Campus Pastor 776-0112

Accessible To Handicapped

St. Francis Episcopal Campus Ministry Corner of 6th & Poyntz Church times:

Sunday 8 & 10:30 a.m. Very Rev. Rob Sanders 776-9427

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH Church of the Nazarene 8:45 a.m. Communion ping out in laith . . . Reaching out in love."

(first Sunday of the month) 9:45 a.m. Church School 8:45 & 11 a.m. Worship Nursery provided for all services John D. Stoneking, Pastor

612 Poyntz 776-8821

Manhattan Jewish Congregation 1509 Wreath Ave. 539-8462

Religious School 9:30 Sun. Rides available sponsor B'nai B'rith Hille! at K-State Campus Adviser.

Shabbat Services 8 p.m. Fri.

David Margolies, 532-6154

Worship Saturday 6 p.m. Sunday 8 and 10:45 a.m. -Bible Class-

St. Luke's Lutheran Church

Sunday 9:30 a.m.

330 N. Sunset 539-2604

LUTHERAN CAMPUS MINISTRY

invites you ... WORSHIP, SUNDAY 11 a.m. Danforth Chapel (campus) Lutheran Student Movement 5 p.m. Sunday - Lutheran Student Center Don Fallon, Pastor

1021 Denison (ome share the Sound

K-State avenged a onepoint loss to Kansas in Bramlage Coliseum by defeating the Jayhawks, 71-70, Saturday in awrence. See Page 6.

*5-DIGIT 66612

Monday

January 30, 1989

Kansas State University Manhattan, Kansas 66506 Volume 95, Number 88

Kansas State Collegian

Last Soviet troops leave Afghanistan

By The Associated Press

ALONG THE SALANG HIGH-WAY, Afghanistan - Afghan troops and Moslem guerrillas fought for control of this highway Sunday as the Soviet army moved out what may have been the last convoy to leave Afghanistan by truck.

A convoy of Soviet soldiers driving armored personnel carriers and trucks loaded with missile launchers and other equipment cruised through a Soviet bunker checkpoint as helicopter gunships hovered nearby, offering cover.

Two ground-attack jets streaked overhead and then disappeared behind the snow-covered mountains just beyond the hills surrounding the capital of Kabul.

"This could be the last convoy," said a Soviet diplomat, who spoke on condition of anonymity. He refused to elaborate.

In Pakistan, Western diplomats speaking on condition of anonymity said that in the past week an average of 18 Soviet transport planes a day had landed and taken off from Kabul - more than twice the number reported the previous week.

The aircraft deliver arms and food to the beleaguered city, then depart with hundreds of Soviet soldiers, the diplomats said. The Soviets sent about 115,000 troops into Afghanistan in December 1979 to prop up a Marxist government that seized power in a coup the

Crisis Center

helps victims

escape abuse

By Mindy Robert

Collegian Reporter

ter is dealing with an increasing number of victims, Executive Director

Kim Blubaugh said it is not because of more violence, but because people als," she said. "But we know we are not reaching near the number of people who need our services."

happen."

baugh said.

on Band-Aids," Blubaugh said.

"We've helped a lot of individu-

The Crisis Center is just "putting "Spouse abuse is an extension of violence in our society," Blubaugh said. "As long as it's okay for people to hit each other, spouse abuse will

The Crisis Center, a program for victims of spousal abuse and sexual assault, provides services for Clay,

Geary, Marshall, Pottawatomie and

Riley counties and Fort Riley, Blu-

The Crisis Center receives about

Contact by a volunteer or Crisis

Center staff member will be made

70 crisis calls each month.

are more aware of the services.

Although Manhattan's Crisis Cen-

Awareness improves previous year.

The Red Army began pulling out eight months ago under an agreement sponsored by the United Nations to end the nine-year intervention.

Soviet diplomats in Kabul say the remaining 15,000 to 20,000 troops could be gone by the end of the week, about 10 days before the U.N. deadline. The remaining soldiers apparently were to leave on transport

The guerrillas, known as Mujahedeen, are not a party to the U.N. agreement and have vowed to overthrow the Soviet-backed government of President Najib once the Soviets

On Sunday, rebels based in Pakistan reported Soviet bombing and missile attacks along the Salang Highway. They claimed 600 civilians had been killed and more than 1,200 injured.

Official Radio Kabul, monitored in Islamabad, Pakistan, said Sunday night that Afghan troops had carried out "successful military operations" with civilians who want to keep the 260-mile Salang Highway open.

The highway, the only road to the Soviet border, winds through mountains where the rebels are waiting for the Red Army to complete its withdrawal.

The Soviet Defense Minister, Dmitri Yasov, ended two days of talks with Najib and other Afghan with 20 to 30 of the callers each month, said Sandy Barnett, volunteer coordinator. The majority of the call-

About 200 women and 267 child-

Volunteers staff the Crisis Center

15 hours each weekday night and 24 hours-a-day on weekends, Barnett said. Volunteers also work with children in the shelter and do clerical would function without volunteers,"

11,000 hours in 1988, Barnett said.

line for people to call, Blubaugh said.

A shelter is also available for victims

The location is confidential so the

"The purpose is to serve victims

The hotline and shelter house are

Barnett said about one-half of the

■ See CRISIS, Page 10

volunteers are K-State students or operated by five full-time and two part-time staff and 30 to 50 volun-

and to advocate for them, to refer them and to support them in whatever way we can," Blubaugh said.

who have no other place to go.

victims are safe, she said.

teers, Blubaugh said.

she said. "We couldn't do it."

"I would hate to think how we

Volunteers worked more than

The center provides a 24-hour hotren were housed in the Crisis Center's shelter in 1988.

ers are victims of spouse abuse.

■ See SOVIET, Page 10

Athletic Director Steve Miller presents an athletic fee proposal to K- $15 fee would fully fund K-State's 10 non-revenue sports. The State students and faculty in the Union Big Eight Room Sunday. The remainder would go to football and basketball programs.

Athletic fee to be proposed to students

By Nancy Prosser Staff Writer

K-State Athletic Director Steve Miller spoke Sunday night to a group of athletes, students and faculty about a student athletic fee proposal which would raise about $420,000 per year for the athletic department.

The proposal will be brought to referendum March 28 if legislation to send the issue to a student vote is approved by Student Senate.

"The key issue is the future of sports at K-State," Miller said. 'The fee is not a simple issue, and we want the students to understand all the ramifications and why we set the fee up how we did." The proposed fee, which would be $15 per semester for full-time students, would go into effect in fall

If the fee passes, Miller said the athletic department will guarantee three student benefits.

Students would be given free admission to all non-revenue sport home games.

Student season ticket prices to football and men's basketball games would be capped at the current level for a three-year period. Football and basketball season tickets would not be combined for at least three years. Miller said the first goal of the fee is to fully fund K-State's existing 12 non-revenue sports, none of which is fully funded. The athletic department projects this cost to be about $170,000.

'We have a women's basketball

he said. "We want to have an impact on and be a factor in the Big Eight, and the student athletic fee is one of the ways that we can do that." The remainder of the money would go to the men's basketball and football programs, Miller said. The head coaches along with Miller would decide how the money is Current athletic department revenue comes from five areas: gate receipts, fundraising, the Big Eight conference, Big Eight splits and television guarantees and state appropriations.

In 1988-89, we had a projected budget of 6.5 million," Miller said. "We exceeded that budget by $680,000 - $500,000 of which was a one time expense. A student athletic fee would help pay some of that debt by fiscal 1992, and create reserves to bring the athletic program where it needs to be.'

The student athletic fee is not the only way the athletic department plans to increase funding, he said. Other parts of the plan include increases in fundraising and corpo-

KSU Non-Revenue Sports

Source: KSU Athletic Department rate sponsorship.

Miller said. The budget is almost $2 million behind seventh-ranked

Oklahoma State University, and $8 million behind first-ranked University of Oklahoma.

Staff/Gary Lytle K-State also ranks last in the con-K-State ranks last in the Big ference in number of intercollegiate sports programs offered. Eight in athletic department budget,

"We will not increase the number of sports that we have at K-State, until we fully fund the existing sports," Miller said.

■ See FEE, Page 10

Police killings of blacks spark 3 riots in 10 years

By The Associated Press

MIAMI - Three times this decade, police killings of unarmed blacks have triggered riots here, but no officer has been convicted in those deaths and many blacks lack faith in law enforcement's ability to police itself.

"People are willing to endure unemployment and poor housing, but they cannot endure being brutalized and shot for no reason," said Aleem Fakir, an organizer for People United to Lead the Struggle for

In the latest disturbance, three nights of violence followed the Jan. 16 shooting of black motorcyclist Clement Lloyd by Miami police Officer William Lozano. Lloyd's passenger, Allan Blanchard, died of injuries from the ensuing crash.

In the riots that followed, one man was killed, 13 buildings were burned and many businesses were looted.

A week after the shooting, the Colombian-born Lozano was arrested and charged with two counts

The speed with which he was charged was astonishing compared with previous cases — so much so that Lozano's attorney, along with a Colombian business group and the local police union president, accused prosecutors of acting with unseemly haste to quiet the black community.

"We did not look at any kind of pacification, satisfaction," said Miami Police Chief Perry Anderson, who is black. "We looked at what we had to do as professional law enforcement investigators."

To many blacks, however, the relatively mild charges and the low $10,000 bail for Lozano seem like the familiar beginning of a recurring

Metro-Dade officers were acquitted in May 1980 of the beating death the previous December of black insurance agent Arthur McDuffie, sparking an uprising in which 18 people died. In March 1984, a Hispanic Miami policeman was acquitted of killing Nevell Johnson in a video arcade in December 1982. His death also caused disturbances, although police moved quickly to stem protests after the verdict.

"I just want to know why policemen have so many protection shields around them," said the Rev. Richard Barry, who heads a special review board empaneled by the city to investigate the latest case. "They have the Fraternal Order of Police, the policeman's bill of rights - and if they have that much protection, how do you get to them?"

Barry's committee, set up with much fanfare just as the riots subsided, discovered at its first meeting that although the City Commission gave it subpoena power, state law and competing criminal investigations prevented key witnesses from testifying.

While the police internal security division handles routine complaints, State Attorney Janet Reno's office has responsibility for cases that may involve criminal charges.

Iraq, Iran agree to proposal

BAGHDAD, Iraq - President Saddam Hussein agreed Sunday to a U.N. proposal to set up a joint military committee with Persian Gulf rival Iran, a U.N. envoy said.

After a four-hour meeting with Saddam, U.N. envoy Jan Eliasson said the Iraqi president also agreed to lift a ban barring Iranian-bound civilian flights from flying over Iraq.

Diplomats said the development, also reported by official Baghdad Radio, is a significant breakthrough in U.N. efforts to revive stalled peace talks to end the eight-year gulf war.

Eliasson told The Associated Press after his negotiations in Tehran and Baghdad that the agreements were "the two most concrete measures that could improve the atmosphere" but added: "I don't want to speak about breakthroughs."

Still, he said he was hopeful of new high-level talks. Diplomats in the Iraqi capital, who requested anonymity, said a joint military group signaled hopes of a troop withdrawal by both sides. The group could work with U.N. military observers monitoring the Aug. 20 cease-fire, they said.

Iraq's and Iran's failure to agree on a withdrawal, called for under a July 1987 Security Council resolution, has been a major sticking point in talks that have dragged on inconclusively for five months.

Soviet probe to orbit Mars

MOSCOW - An unmanned Soviet research probe went into orbit around Mars on Sunday after a six-month, 111-millionmile voyage from Earth, Tass reported.

On a mission that has so far been plagued by problems, Phobos II arrived with instruments and experiments prepared by 12 countries and the European Space Agency.

Soviet officials say the mission will help them get ready to send a manned craft to Mars in the early 21st century. The breaking rockets of Phobos II fired at 3:55 p.m. Moscow time, the official news agency Tass said. Soviet ground controllers began analyzing data from the craft to ensure a proper Phobos II was launched July 12 in an ambitious program to unlock mysteries of the Red Planet and its largest moon, Phobos.

Bus wreck kills 48 children

ABIDJAN, Ivory Coast - A bus packed with schoolchildren toppled into a culvert during a thunderstorm, and news reports said Sunday that 48 passengers were killed and 75 seriously injured.

The storm had filled the culvert with water and many victims drowned before rescuers could reach them, national television

Reporters for the official daily Fraternite Matin said they had been unable to find the driver among the dead or among those

The newspaper quoted survivors as saying the bus driver was traveling too fast for the conditions. One survivor said the bus conducter had twice ordered the driver to slow down.

The bus was carrying passengers from the central Plateau district to the industrial Yopougon area, according to news reports. The accident occurred Saturday, and was the fourth transport accident in the Abidjan area since October. The accidents have claimed 82 lives.

Patient starts hospital fire

ST-JEROME, Quebec - A psychiatric patient playing with matches started a hospital fire Sunday that killed five people and forced hundreds to flee the building, authorities said.

The fire broke out in the pre-dawn hours in a small room in the emergency ward on the first floor of the Hotel-Dieu Hospital in St-Jerome, 25 miles northwest of Montreal, authorities

Hospital director Andre St-Denis said about 350 patients and 80 staff members were inside the seven-story hospital at the time. He said the evacuation went quickly and without panic.

The dead were not immediately identified, but two bodies were found in the emergency ward, authorities said.

Provincial police said the fire was started by a patient from the psychiatric ward playing with matches. It was not known if that patient was among the dead.

St-Jerome fire director Jacques Charbonneau said a firewarning system was working in that part of the hospital at the time. Firefighters contained the blaze on the ground floor, where the emergency ward was completely destroyed.

... Around the nation

Toxic waste cleanup slows

WASHINGTON - The lagging "Superfund" program for the cleanup of toxic wastes is too reliant upon outside contractors, many of whom are making hefty profits, while government supervisors remain underpaid, understaffed and underqualified, according to a congressional study.

Since the program started eight years ago, contractors have received $4 billion, or 80 to 90 percent of the Superfund money each year, said the report by the Office of Technology Assessment.

The congressional agency noted that funds for the staff of the Environmental Protection Agency, which oversees the program, remained virtually flat while the outside spending escalated.

The report was released Sunday by Rep. John D. Dingell, chairman of the House Energy and Commerce Committee and a persistent critic of the EPA. "It's clear," he said, "that the Superfund program is still falling far short of its promise."

Close forced to change looks

NASHVILLE, Tenn. - "Fatal Attraction" star Glenn Close says she had to change her appearance because of the recognition she received after her performance in the film as Alex, the enraged jilted lover.

"I was surprised the picture became the phenomenon it did," Close said of the film in a recent interview in the Sunday Tennessean. "It was amazing.

"I even cut my hair because people were jumping out of my way. My hair stylist says people come in wanting their hair 'done like Glenn Close's." Her blond hair was in a distinctive curly style for the film.

"I am kind of an average-looking woman and, until recently, I've been able to travel around pretty much without hindrance. Alex has changed all that, too.

"I don't think any of us realized how emotional people would be about 'Fatal Attraction' and how much they'd hate my guts and want to see me blown away."

Campus Bulletin

TODAY

ECONOMICS CLUB will meet at 7 p.m. in Waters 315.

BUSINESS COUNCIL will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Union 209.

FARMHOUSE LITTLE SISTERS will meet at 9:30 p.m. at FarmHouse.

PHI SIGMA EPSILON will meet at 6:30 p.m. in Union 209. Pledges should assemble at MARKETING CLUB will meet at 7 p.m. in the Union Big 8 room.

IEEE EXECUTIVE BOARD will meet at 3:30 p.m. in the electrical engineering conference room in Durland Hall.

CHIMES will meet at 9:30 p.m. at

K-State Police

Thursday

A traffic misdemeanor ticket was issued to a subject driving without a driver's license.

was issued for a vehicle obstructing

Six pairs of jeans were stolen from the Goodnow Hall laundry room. Loss was $150.

■ Two faculty/staff and Jardine Terrace parking permits were reported lost in an unknown vicinity.

A window was broken in a vehicle parked on Archery Road north of the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex. A purse was stolen from the vehicle.

A vehicle in the gravel lot west of lot C-1 was damaged and burglarized. Loss was $40 and damage was an estimated $50 to $100.

A window was broken in a red Grand Am in lot B-2.

Friday

A student parking permit was lost in an unknown vicinity.

A wallet and contents were ■ A traffic misdemeanor ticket reported lost on campus.

Saturday

A vehicle in lot B-3 was burglarized.

A purse was found in the southeast corner of the KSU Football Stadium parking lot.

A subject was arrested for a DUI.

The receiver of the emergency telephone in front of Justin Hall was reported stolen.

A disturbance on the fifth floor of Moore Hall was reported.

Sunday

A two-vehicle, non-injury accident occurred in lot B-2. Loss was more than $500.

Campus Briefly

Journalist to discuss Palestine

British journalist and filmmaker Beata Lipman will speak about Israeli-occupied Palestine following the showing of her film "Stateless in Gaza" at 7:30 p.m. today at St. Isidore's Stu-

Lipman produced the half-hour documentary film for the British Broadcasting Corporation. It is the first in a trilogy on Palestinian women.

The program is sponsored by the Manhattan Alliance on Central America, a local organization that opposes U.S. military intervention in Central America.

Lipman has also made two films in South Africa, where she lived until she emigrated with her husband and children to Britain in 1963. Lipman is the author of "We Make Freedom, Women in South Africa," which was published in 1984 and "Israel: The Embattled Land - Jewish and Palestinian Women Talk about Their Lives," published in 1988. In Britain, she worked as a journalist for the BBC and a drama critic for the Guardian, the Sunday Times, and The Observer.

Ladies . . . let us repair those worn and broken heel caps-while you wait!

OLSON'S

1214-C Moro Aggieville on Cobbler's Lane Spenco Comfort Orthotic Arches, Neoprene wrist, knee and ankle supports. 539-8571

Steak & Shrimp will leave you rolling in the aisles.

Before 3 p.m. 539-4321

$3.95

531 N. Manhattan

After 3 p.m. 539-9727

COMEDY INVASION Mon., Tues. - 9 p.m. James Lee Reeves along with Mike Casper ·James is a Bushwacker's favorite and

Reg. Salon Price

Haircuts Men Women Perms from $7.50 $8.50 Exclusively with Joanna 1140 Westloop

> *Location on the water *Luxury Ocean Cruise *Cocktail parties every day

SPRING BREAK '89

Sign-up and informational meeting at Aggie Station

Thursday, Feb. 2 at 9 p.m. Keg compliments of Classic Travel • Free Give-aways • 9 Driving Package \Rightarrow $259

Full Package ⇒ $349

776-5577

537-7546

776-5577

Pizza Shuttle

"NO COUPON SPECIALS"

Everyday Two-Fers 2-10 in. pizzas 2—Toppings 2-Cokes $8.00 FAST N FREE DELIVERY

Come Fly With Us! If you're a pilot, or want to be, the K-State Flying Club is for you. We have five well-equipped planes with your name on the log sheet.

Call Sam Knipp, 539-6193

LATE NIGHT WITH CAMPUS CRUSADE

Alpha Tau Omega fraternity Tuesday, Jan. 31, 10 p.m.

Official says troops readied during crisis

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW - A Cuban official has disclosed that 270,000 Soviet and Cuban troops were ready to go to war with the United States during the 1962 Cuban missile crisis and that 100,000 casualties were expected, former U.S. Defense Secretary Robert McNamara said Sunday.

A Soviet general confirmed for the first time that one-third of his country's nuclear warheads designed to strike the United States were on Cuba at the time. However, he and another Soviet official said the warheads had not been mounted on missile launchers and were not ready for

Also, Cuban leader Fidel Castro urged Moscow to launch a nuclear attack on the United States, ABC News reported.

The revelations came during a review of the Cuban missile crisis at a conference during the weekend at a trade union center in southwest to invade Cuba.

Pierre Salinger, Kennedy's former press secretary, a conference participant and now an ABC correspondent, on Sunday quoted a top Soviet source as saying in a private conversation that on Oct. 27, 1962, Castro urged Khrushchev to immediately fire the missiles at the United States to head off an invasion.

Cuban participants in the conference refused to confirm or deny the report, Salinger said.

Soviets and Americans have met before to discuss the Soviet deployment of nuclear missiles in Cuba and the U.S. response: a blockade of the island and a demand for the rockets' removal.

But this was the first joint meeting with Cuban officials who guided their country through the crisis. Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev eventually withdrew the missiles in exchange for President Kennedy's pledge not

Prisoner escapes court

By Chris Koger Staff Writer

A prisoner being arraigned on charges of aggravated battery Friday escaped law enforcement officials before his hearing at the Riley County District Court, but was recaptured early Saturday morning.

His girlfriend was arrested and charged with aiding an escape.

Gregory Alec Cooper, 21, escaped about 1:30 p.m. Friday when he requested to use the restroom at the courthouse. Although he was accompanied by a corrections officer, Cooper fled the restroom before he could be handcuffed and taken to the

Sgt. Larry Freeby of the Riley County Police Department said it is common procedure for a prisoner's handcuffs to be removed while in a courtroom, at the request of the judge. Handcuffs are used when transporting prisoners from the jail to the courthouse, Freeby said.

Cooper's girlfriend, Jennifer Crowder, was arrested for aiding an escape at 6 p.m. Friday, according to police reports. Freeby declined to say how she had been implicated in the escape, other than information obtained from questioning linked her to the incident. Crowder is being held

Remember

18 oz. Fishbowls

Enjoy smooth, creamy

Frozen Yogurt

that tastes like Ice Cream

but with 80% less fat!

-- FREE SAMPLES--

1 Can't Believe It's
YOGURT!

GREAT TASTE-NATURALLY

OPEN: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Daily

Noon-11 p.m. Sundays

Nautilus Towers-Aggieville

Only

Only

776-9879

on $5,000 bond, set by Capt. Wayne Anderson.

Cooper was recaptured at 3:30 a.m. Saturday morning at 1010 Bluemont. He is being charged with escape from custody, and is being held on $10,000 bond.

Freeby declined to say what information led police to Cooper, adding the case is under investigation.

Col. Les Bieler said Cooper has a history of criminal offenses and had committed a "series of misdemeanors" prior to his escape.

"These offenses will just keep adding up for him," Bieler said. Freeby said a prisoner escape 'happens occasionally" under similar circumstances.

"Usually, it's a spur-of-themoment escape, and we catch them sooner," he said. "But he did have help, so it took a little longer."

Bieler said that Cooper wasn't considered dangerous.

"To my knowledge, he hasn't ever been charged with a weapons offense or anything like that," Bieler said. County Attorney Bill Kennedy said that prison escapes are not a problem in Riley County. "Our jail has recently received high marks for security, but every so often we have a mishap," Kennedy said.

sponsored by Alpha Zeta

$4 in advance,

BARN DANCE

featuring

$5 at the door

Free Soft Drinks Everyone Welcome

Come relax with the friendly people at $2.50

Pitchers

Open 2-2

Teas

776-4111

Begin Graduate School Psychology In September '89

Master of Arts

· Doctor of Psychology

- Clinical Small Classes Innovative Applied North Central Accredited Hospital Affiliations
 - Clinical Training Facilities On Premises Afternoon & Evening Classes
- Full & Parttime Programs
 Handicapped Accessibility
 - Equal Opportunity Educational Facility Minority Scholarships Available

Forest Institute of Professional Psychology 1322 South Campbell . Springfield, Mo 65807 1445 417/831-7902

Table tennis champion

ABOVE: Vance Voth, sophomore in environmental design, returns a volley on his way to becoming the champion of the first KSU Table Tennis Club/Unions International Tournament in the Union Saturday. After making his way through double-elimination competition to win first place, Voth advances to the regional tournament in Lincoln, Neb., on Feb. 18-19. LEFT: Contestants compete in the tournament. In past years, the winner of the intramural tournament advanced to the regionals tournament.

Committee sets AIDS guidelines

By Paul Branson Science Writer

The Communicable Disease Committee is moving toward its goal of educating the K-State community about acquired immune deficiency syndrome and how to prevent contracting the disease.

The main purpose of the committee is to educate students and faculty about AIDS and establish University guidelines to help people make rational decisions about the disease, said Don Seedle, assistant professor of laboratory medicine and chairman of the committee.

'More than 92 percent of the faculty has attended one or more of our presentations," Seedle said. "When you consider the independent thinkers at a university like this, that's a really fabulous number."

He said the question-and-answer fliers distributed at spring registration appeared to have reached a large number of students.

"We passed out about 11,000 of the pamphlets at registration, and I only found around 400 in the trash labor. outside. That's an encouraging sign," he said.

UNAM EXPRESS 11 a.m.-1 a.m.

Robert Tout, director of Lafene Student Health Center, said he was encouraged by the number of pamphlets he saw in students' hands.

"Something I noticed was that of the students coming into the clinic (on the day of registration), most of them had them rolled up in their hands," Tout said.

Seedle said the pamphlets cost about $2,000, including printing and

Restaurant

The committee is developing a comprehensive set of guidelines for dealing with AIDS on campus. The guidelines include areas of Lafene services, counseling, participation in campus activities and University employment.

The first draft of the guidelines has been given to the administration for

■ See AIDS, Page 10

Recordings Available Parlez Nous a Boire Allons a Lafayette Bayou Boogie Belizaire the Cajun ST Cajun Brew Dit Beausoleil Hot Chili Mama

712 N. Manhattan 776-9911 Open 11-8:30 M-F, 11-6 Sat., 1-6 Sun.

one topping

Open 7 days a week

Free Delivery

Call 539-8888 or 537-0886

ATTENTION STUDENTS

> Semester Memberships

Tan Cards Available

776-1750 3236 Kimball Candlewood

If you need abortion or birth control services, we can help. Confidential pregnancy testing . Safe, affordable abortion services . Birth control . Tubal ligation . Gyn exams . Testing and treatment for omprehensive sexually transmitted diseases. Providing quality health care Lealth for Women to women since 1974. Insurance, VISA & 4401 West 109th (I-435 & Roe) Overland Park, Kansas MasterCard accepted. For information and appointments (913) 345-1400 Toll Free (except KS) 1-800-227-1918.

The KSU Marketing Club Presents

TONIGHT 7 p.m. Union Big 8 Room All Majors Welcome Refreshments Served dine-in or free delivery with coupon expires Jan. 31 "premium pizza at a cardboard pizza price" 523 South 17th 537-1484

ONLY 599

New Order . The Cure Echo and the Bunnymen Depeche Mode • Cummunards Erasure . Caberet Voltaire

$1.50 WELLS All night long

1120 Moro 537-9511

PERSONAL TOUCH SALON

Military Haircut-$3.00 Perms-$25 Relaxer-$25 Haircut-$7.00 Scalp Treatment-$5.00

Specializing in Ebony Services

411 Oak, Ogden

539-0344

WANTED Radio Announcers

Applications are now being accepted for announcer/DJ positions for various on-air shifts, including weekends. Prior AM or FM broadcast experience is necessary. Apply at our All-New studios, 2414 Casement Road, Manhattan, Monday-Friday, 8 a.m.-5 p.m. KMKF.

EOE All New All Hot

Editorial

Kansas State Collegian Opinions ■ Monday, January 30, 1989

Letter from future looks back at K-State ear 1989 K-Staters, I've just finished the semester's first research paper — "The Last Presidency: The Joe Knopp Years" and Faxed it to my professor. Since I have a few spare moments now, I thought I would write you all a time letter, just to see how you are doing.

Although we have the user friendly technology - most of which I don't understand and wouldn't even try to explain - in 2089 to write letters to past and future generations, we aren't supposed to because we might interfere with the way things are meant to be. But who cares? I'll just plead, "college prank."

Things have changed since 1989. What you call K-State is now Mitsubishi's Kansas College of Biomechanics and Liposuction. University President Dr. Benji Ozakamoto seems like a nice enough guy, even though he requires all the students to shave their heads and work in the potato fields two days a week.

I actually saw "Ozak" once. He was walking in the Presidential Tropical Garden — he almost never ventures out - picking up cigarette butts and empty cans.

Being in 2089 is nice because, thanks to the depletion of the ozone layer, everyone is very tan. As I sit here in the still grossly underfunded Wefald Library, though, I have to admit my heart yearns to be back in the simpler times of 1989.

Those were the good old days - the 48 years of fine Republican leadership, beginning with the man Mt. Rushmore forgot, Ronald Reagan, and ending with the onceand-future president, Manhattan's own Joseph Knopp.

These are the brave leaders who led America through the dust bowl of '92; the attack on the status quo by the Rev. Jesse Jackson and his pint-sized running mate Gary "Whatchou talkin' 'bout, Willis" Coleman; and, of course, the assault on the Earth by the

Obviously, we kicked their butts. I was just there last summer working as an intern in a mining colony and I really got to know the Martians. Not too bright, but real hard any of the liberals - commonly referred to now as "goofballs" here on earth keep whining about Commentary

Chad L. Sanborn Collegian Columnist

genocide and "The Shuttle of Tears," while piping about how we are exploiting the scaly little geeks.

Now, I think that to divest from Mars at this point wouldn't do anyone any good. They can't survive without us. Besides, they don't start to show any signs of what we would call brain disfunction until about the seventh time you kick them in the side of their pointy little heads.

But I'm getting off the subject here. K-State, as the school was called before President Quayle salvaged U.S. education by letting conglomerates take over higher educadoing as well as Coca-Cola or Beatrice.

Enrollment is still a joke. When I went back last fall, my student ID number - you know, the one tattooed on my lower lip to get my lip revalidated.

Some good news, though. After two decades behind locked iron gates, Aggieville may reopen, thanks to the new vaccine for the super-AIDS virus number 4. It will be nice to get a little scotch and too much water for too much money in a public place again.

he other day a funny thing happened to me on my way over to Lubbers Hall to sign up for job interviews. One of those squirrels cloned by the biogenetic grad students ate one too many nuts and went after the back of my bald head.

In self-defense, I bit off the little fake treerat's head, and now I'm having these really odd dreams about winning the lottery. I don't know, maybe I'm going crazy or I have extrasensory perception. I'm one of the few people sans-ESP, which makes life, at the tion funding, is still well below the funding of very least, interesting. I decided to see if the its peers. However, Mitsubishi stock isn't dream actually had anything to do with my

So I went down to the Bill Snyder Mall, named after the coach who lead the then K-State Wildcats to five, count 'em, five nationhad faded due to the moisture of Mars' sub- al football championships, and bought terrain. I had to stand in line for two hours just myself a gaggle of lottery chips. I won 5,000

> The money will make a nice strong foundation upon which to build my spring break fund. I haven't decided whether I'm going to the moon or Padre Island, but one thing is for sure: I'm gonna party.

Take it easy, all you folks back there in 1989. It is the best of times and the worst of times. Remember that I miss you, and even though I won't really see you soon, see ya!

Columnist's note: In the interests of copyright and plagiarism laws, I stole this idea from Interview magazine, which stole it from Spy magazine, which probably stole it from someone else. However, originality is the art of hiding your source. (I stole that quote,

Drug smuggling ditch ineffective deterrent

In medieval times, the good king's castle was protected from evil interlopers by a wide and dangerous moat.

Some things never change.

The state of the s

Bridge Bridge Contract of 福野野学

源

は渡

機門

P

OFFICE/CLASSIFIED AD ASSISTANTS.

The Justice Department is now planning to dig a 4-mile long, 5-foot deep ditch across a major drug smuggling route on the Southern California border. Intended to stop the flow of drugs from Mexico, this "buried Berlin Wall" (in the words of one Justice Department official) will supposedly put an end to the "high-speed, drivethrough" method of smuggling.

promise to restore a drug-ridden a 20th century approach.

country to the mythical purity and safety of the medieval fortress.

The drug ditch is medieval not only in its promise, but in its outlook as well. It represents the belief that the source of our drug problem lies outside our country; that once we close our borders to the callous, ethnic poison-peddlers who corrupt our kinder, gentler nation, our drug problem will be solved.

As long as people in this country demand drugs, smugglers will find some way to supply them. Our borders are simply too big and our transportation routes are too Never mind the fact that only a numerous. It is idle, dark-ages folly small percentage of the drugs in to think ditches and a drug czar will Southern California are smuggled stop the supply. The humane and in this way. Never mind that intelligent way to manage the drug planes, boats and suitcases are the problem is to deal with the demand major importers of drugs. The side of the drug economy. It will important thing about the drug take more than the mystical incanditch is its symbolic effect, its tations of "just say no." It will take

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR pertaining to matters of public interest are encouraged. Those which pertain to matters of campus/public interest are especially encouraged and are given the highest priority.

SEND SUBMISSIONS to the Collegian in Kedzie 116.

Letters should be kept as brief as possible. All letters are subject to editing on the basis of space, style and taste.

The Supreme Court doing the difficult legal research on the abortion case. GUSTY

Letters

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

News Staff EDITOR. Janet Swarson Susan L'Ecuyer Erwir seba Catherine Doud Greg Vogel Chris Hays Brian Hummell, Michael Nichols MANAGING EDITOR. PHOTO/GRAPHICS EDITOR CAMPUS EDITORS CITY EDITOR Lisa Planner ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR .. GOVERNMENT EDITOR COPY EDITORS STAFF WRITERS... SCIENCE WRITER Karen Allen, Audra Dietz, Chris Koger, Kevin Kramer, Nancy Prosser, Randy Short Mike Goens, Chris Wilhelm Barbara Baker, Kale Baldock, Doug Folk Dwayne Lively, Scott Miller, Chad Sarborn, Mark Schmeller lancy Chartrand, Douglas Fall, Tom McLaughlin Jr., Mark Schreiner, Stacy Sweazy Bob Berry, Richard Broadfoot SPORTS WRITERS REVIEWERS GRAPHIC ARTIST. Carpenne Doud Christopher T. Assaf, Brad Carry, Joe Freeman Brett Hacker, Gary Lytle, Steve Wolgast Kale Baldook, Barbara Baker, Catherine Doud, Susan L'Euyer, Doug Folk Gensemer, Brian Hummell, Dwayne Lively, Scott Miller, Michael Nichols, Karla Redelsheimer Chad L. Sanborn, Paula Selby, Mark Schmeller, Erwin Seba, Robert R. Short, Janet Swanson EDITORIAL BOARD Advertising Staff Jeff Schrag, Brian H. Smith, Sherri Sorenson, Karen D. Termpler, Brent Windson Kim Beyer, Shelly Potter, Tomari Quinn, Christa South DISPLAY SALES REPRESENTATIVES ...

ADVERTISING PRODUCTION ASSISTANTS GRAPHIC ARTISTS PHOTOGRAPHER Student Publications Staff ACTING DIRECTOR/ADVERTISING DIRECTOR ... Gloria Freeland Charlie Fair Ann Foster OFFICE MANAGER ... ADVERTISING PRODUCTION COORDINATOR

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publica-tions Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66508. The Collegian is published Monday through Friday during the school year and Monday and Thursday during summer sessions. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Man-

POSTMASTER: Sent accrees changes to raines class changes at raines attan, Kan. 66506-7167.

News contributions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, Kedzie Hall 116.

Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word adversing questions should be directed to (913) 532-6555.

Kansas State Collegian Subscription Rates One Semester (Fall or Spring) Two Semesters (Fall and Spring) $10 One Year (Fall, Spring and Summer) To charge by VISA or MasterCard, call (913) 532-6555

Proposition 42

Editor,

In 1983, the NCAA adopted Proposition 48, a set of academic requirements for high school athletes who receive athletic scholarships from colleges and universities. Many students, teachers and administrators lauded the NCAA's effort to reassert the importance of education in an athlete's career.

This year the NCAA appears to have gone even further in stressing the academic side of college sports with the adoption of Proposition 42, a new set of rules superseding Prop-

But do these new rules deserve our praise? The old rules under Proposition 48 said a high school athlete would not be eligible for a scholarship unless he or she had maintained a "C" average in certain classes including math, English and a foreign language. It also said the student athlete would have to score at least 15 on the ACT or have a combined score of at least 700 on the SAT.

If the athlete met one of these criteria but not the other, he or she would still be eligible for a scholarship under the "partial qualifier" provision. This rule said the student athlete could receive the scholarship but could not compete in intercollegiate sports for one year while proving himself or herself in the college classroom.

The "partial qualifier" provision is particularly praiseworthy. It recognized that neither grades nor standardized test scores by themselves are reliable predictors of how well a student will perform once in college. This is especially true of standardized tests whose questions are often culturally biased. They can be answered more easily if the student comes from a white, middle-class home.

Unfortunately, the new rules eliminate the "partial qualifier" provision. If a student athlete fails to score well on the ACT or SAT, he or she will not have the chance to prove himself or herself in the classroom. The student athlete will simply not be eligible for a scholarship.

One of the most strongly argued justifications for athletic scholarships has been that they often provide opportunities for a college education to those who otherwise would be denied one. Often these persons include students from minority and economically disadvantaged backgrounds. Yet the new emphasis given to standardized tests by Proposition 42 means that minorities will be discriminated against. Harry Edwards, a distinguished sociologist at the University of California at Berkeley and a strong supporter of the old rules, is quick to point out that had there been a Proposition 42 when he received his athletic scholarship, he never would have been able to attend college.

The new rules come at a time when K-State is trying to encourage minorities to join its ranks. Sadly, some will note that K-State voted for the new rules while the University of Kansas voted against them. Just as some will also observe that the athletic conference that was the last to admit black athletes into their programs, the Southeastern Conference, unanimously supported the adoption of the Proposition 42.

I strongly urge K-State to reconsider its vote and say no to Proposition 42.

> Roger Friedmann instructor of English

Death statistics

The Jan. 24 Collegian editorial page was loaded with death penalty and gun control

According to the "1988 World Almanac" (1986 — the latest year quoted) there were: 1,800 accidental firearm deaths, 47,900 accidental motor vehicle deaths, 58,021 total U.S. Vietnam War deaths, 1,500,000-plus deliberate U.S. abortionist tool deaths, and less than 100 estimated legal executions of duly convicted murderers.

May I suggest that those concerned about preserving lives, especially those of the innocent, devote their time and other resources to the areas above which give promise of producing the greatest good and saving lives.

> L.W. Guest K-State alumnus

NRA not to blame

After reading the gun control letter to the editor in Tuesday's edition, I felt it needed a rebuttal. First, I would like to know who gave Mr.

Pearce the right to put as much blame on the National Rifle Association as the criminal To me, putting the blame on the NRA for allowing the sale of the firearm is analogous to putting the blame on a major automobile manufacturer for the death of children due to a hit- and-run accident.

I don't think Mr. Pearce realizes the good the NRA accomplishes through it's involvement in hunting and general firearm safety programs. I am also sorry, as is Pearce, that five children had to pay for one man's insanity. If Patrick West, a.k.a. Patrick Purdy, wanted the assault weapon bad enough to do the horrendous injustice he did, he would have obtained the weapon by any means possible. I'm surprised that an Associate Professor from such a fine school like K-State would be so lacking in accurate information about the NRA, I hope the next time Mr. Pearce expresses his views he will show some consideration to both sides of the issue at hand.

> Kevin Wright junior in marketing

Beausoleil entertains crowd

Cajun style well-received

By Doug Fall Collegian Reviewer

Beausoleil has been described as one of the finest practitioners of Cajun music, yet the name probably does not register with the average person.

Friday night, the group was greeted by a slightly apprehensive crowd which, throughout the performance, warmed up to the new style and finally give the band a thunderous ovation.

After a delay of about 10 minutes,

Review

Beausoleil walked on stage and started with "Acadian Two-Step," a song that brought a very immediate crowd response beginning with the first fiddle solo.

Any uncertainty that people had brought with them was unquestionably dispelled. After the song had run its course, Beausoleil launched into about an hour's worth of traditional Cajun songs. When translated into English from the Cajun dialect of French, these songs had names such as "If You Can't Be With the One You Love, Try Two Others" and "Midland Two Step."

Those who had come to the concert unaware of what exactly Cajun music was or meant, left very appreciative of a new style of music. Those who knew what to expect received a stunning show. Beausoleil not only demonstrated what Cajun music is, it took it a step further and certainly gave the audience its money's worth.

The lower balcony, which originally had been closed, was nearly full due to the enormous ticket sales.

Between each song, the fiddle player and band leader, Michael Doucet, bantered with the audience, informing them about Cajun history and culture. More than once, he jokingly asked questions about Kansas as a way to introduce another story about Louisiana. He used charming anecdotes to tell the audience about the band's experiences regarding Cajun food and Mardi Gras, as well as its experiences in Europe.

During the break between the two sets, the members of Beausoleil sold tapes, records and CD's, of which they have released nine in the past thirteen years. In only 10 minutes, they were sold out of tapes and CD's and almost all of their albums. It was an overwhelming response for which the group didn't seem quite prepared.

The second set opened with a rous-ing rendition of "Mama Roseanne" that set the crowd clapping and cheering. Overall, the second set was even more lively than the first, with the impressive fiddle of Michael Doucet taking the lead.

His playing was so fast and intense that while he played, he looked possessed by the music, with his white hair flying in all directions. It provided a sharp contrast to the other four band members, who calmly played along with him. The crowd, whom he ribbed as the most conservative he had ever seen, was so impressed that at the end they demanded an encore, which Beausoleil humbly granted.

Beausoleil, whose name translates to "beautiful sunshine," was actually named after an Acadian rebel leader and is based in Lafayette, La. It consists of Michael Doucet on fiddle, David Doucet on guitar, Errol Verret on accordian, Billy Ware with percussion, and Tommy Alesi on drums. All of the band members have a Cajun heritage that showed in their playing.

What separates Beausoleil from other Cajun bands is its high level of musicianship. Where other bands stop, Beausoleil starts. Michael Doucet has studied intensely with Cajun greats such as Dennis McGee, Hector Duhon and Canray Fontenot in order to perfect his style. His abilities allow him to explore the music's outer boundaries without destroying any of the music's structure.

Due to Doucet's enormous knowledge and collection of early Cajun recordings, Beausoleil has successfully fused the traditional with the new, in a way that exceeds mere revivalism. This commitment to authenticity has earned it renown in the Cajun circles.

It also has earned the band opportunities to perform in such places as Carnegie Hall, The New Orleans Jazz and Heritage Festival, the Smithsonian Institution's Folk Life Festival in Washington D.C., MTV's program "The Cutting Edge," and The Lone Star Cafe. In addition, Beausoleil has toured extensively in both North America and Europe.

With all of that background, Beausoleil was certainly prepared to give a sensational show and, if the crowd's response was any indica-

Wefald addresses volunteers' efforts

By Joe Kennedy Collegian Reporter

Sharing the American dream was the focus of a speech given Friday by President Jon Wefald to members and guests of the Flint Hills Bread Basket Community Food Network.

Wefald was referring to the volunteer effort given by the Manhattan and Riley communities to help support the Bread Basket's efforts to provide food for the area's poor.

"People came up with over 66,000 pounds of food, from which 1,152 families benefitted," he said.

Wefald emphasized the hunger issue not only on the local level, but on the national and global levels as well. He said volunteers in this country are what makes America special.

"There is no other country that has generated as many volunteer groups," Wefald said. "It is a great thing when people get together freely to solve their problems."

Wefald quoted President Bush's theme of "a thousand points of light," in comparing it to volunteerism.

"There are many points of light here in Manhattan," he said. "The light is seen for miles and miles and it's because of people like you."

Wefald said although America's agricultural system is unrivaled and unprecedented in the world in terms of production, many farm workers are also needing assistance from programs like the Bread Basket.

"The ironies of the efficiency and productivity is that most of them are hungry," he said. "Policy makers will realize how important farmers are when they are gone." Atina Hanna, executive director of the Bread Basket, said Wefald's speech correctly conveyed the reality that poverty is not just a local issue, but a global Hanna said she agreed with Wefald in that volunteerism was important to the success of any social program.

"For the next five years, poverty should be on the agenda of every group in the area," Hanna said. "We plan to cooperate with all efforts of churches and services to provide the opportunity for families to end their own hunger in Manhattan and the Riley community.

"The people of Manhattan would rather work to provide for themselves," she said. "We need a collective push from the community to provide the opportunity. Ten thousand pounds of food will not stop the problem. We must get at the root of it. We need to get jobs."

One of the Bread Basket's short-term goals is to provide a weekend pantry which has emergency food to serve families who have problems during the weekend, Hanna said.

The pantries are owned by five churches in Manhattan and serve families who arrive at their doors after being referred there by the Social and Rehabilitation Service, the health department or the social services at the two Manhattan hospitals, she said.

The mission of the Bread Basket is to minimize hunger and poverty at the local level and to salvage surplus food and essential household goods that would otherwise be wasted, Hanna said.

evaluates lifestyle habits Program

By Lance E. Schwulst Collegian Reporter

Losing weight, performing better in school or dealing with emotional slumps may be easier with the help of the PAC-CAT program and a PAC-CAT Peer Assistant Leader.

The PAC-CAT program is designed to raise student awareness of lifestyle habits and help redirect them toward a healthier and more fulfilling life, said Lara Dillinger, senior in mathematics education.

Dillinger is a PAC-CAT PAL who helps the participants make the changes and achieve the goals based upon questionnaire results.

"We look at basically six areas of habits and opinions; physical, emotional, intellectual, occupational, spiritual, and social," Dillinger said.

Participants in the PAC-CAT program fill out a questionnaire which evaluates lifestyle habits. The results indicate areas in which the students may wish to change or redirect their lifestyle habits.

The questionnaires are computer tabulated and then evaluated by the achievement.

"We evaluate the questionnaire and then sit down with the students and explain the results," Dillinger said. "If the student determines they have a goal they want to achieve, we break it down into realistic and achievable amounts."

After the student and PAL determine the changes they want to make, a Personal Achievement Contract is written. The contract outlines goals and sets a time frame for goal CATS are free.

"Our goal is to positively affect the overall wellness of the students," said Bill Arck, director of the K-State Alcohol and Other Drug Education

Arck said the program is funded by a $65,000, two-year grant from the Fund for the Improvment of Post-Secondary Education. The grant covers all salaries, advertising and other operating costs of the program.

All services offered by PAC-

3 states seek census change

By The Associated Press

RALEIGH, N.C. - North Carolina has joined Pennsylvania and Kansas in a federal lawsuit seeking to bar illegal immigrants from the census count that will be used to determine how the U.S. House of Representatives' 435 seats are reapportioned.

If the suit fails, North Carolina could lose a 12th congressional seat that it might otherwise gain from the

Neither side is arguing that illegal aliens should be excluded from census counts that help determine government grants, welfare needs and other matters.

The three states want the Census Bureau to exclude illegal aliens from the head count because they have relatively few illegal aliens, and California, New York and Texas have many.

A state's population determines how many House seats it gets. Each congressman represents a district of roughly an equal number of people.

"Apportionment has nothing to do with political theory," David W. DeBruin, a lawyer for three dozen lawmakers from California, New York and Texas said in an interview published Sunday. "It's political

A U.S. District judge in Pittsburgh heard preliminary arguments in the lawsuit Thursday. He is expected to rule in March on a motion by DeBruin's fellow defense lawyers to dismiss the suit on the grounds that North Carolina, Pennsylvania and Kansas can't prove they would suffer if the Census Bureau counts illegal aliens for purposes of House apportionment. That argument led to the dismissal of a similar suit in 1980.

Regardless of how the judge rules, lawyers may pursue the case to the Supreme Court. Barring an early court injunction, the 1990 census will not be affected and will include the nation's 3 million to 5 million illegal aliens in its apportionment count. That's one reason California is expected to gain four House seats and Texas is expected to gain three.

The Constitution's first article says House seats shall be apportioned according to the "whole number of free persons" in the states and slaves would be counted as threefifths of a person.

Congress drafted the 14th Amendment in 1866 to make all persons born or naturalized in the United States citizens.

Become a student of the world

Spend a year or a semester abroad for about the same cost as staving at home. Over 100 sites in Africa, Asia, Canada, Latin America, Europe and Australia offer undergraduate and graduate programs in fields such as international business, law, engineering, architecture; the humanities, natural and social sciences, communications, fine arts and languages.

Through the International Student Exchange Program, you are directly enrolled in a foreign institution and receive academic credit toward your degree program at home. TOO are locally immersed in a new culture and language, not in an isolated study program for U.S. students and taught by U.S. professors.

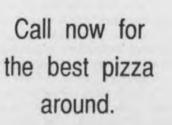

Join the more than 4,000 ISEP students who have made the world their university.

For more information, contact your ISEP coordinator.

Prof. W.F. Kolonosky, Dept. of Modern Languages The International Student Exchange Program is a fully reciprocal exchange plan funded in part by the United States Information Agency under the Fulbright-Hays Act of 1961.

The best pizza just got better! Falsetto's Pizza is now honoring all local competitor's coupons. Call now for open till 2 a.m. nightly 1127 Moro in Aggieville

OPEN RUSH

February 5-February 20

Must register by Feb. 2 at 5 p.m. in the Greek Affairs Office at the Union.

rista's NEW 49¢ Han

Served with ketchup, mustard, pickle, and onion. Cheese and bacon extra.

Available for a limited time!

Manhattan • Lawrence • Topeka

1911 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

SportsMonday

Kansas State Collegian ■ Monday, January 30, 1989 ■ Page 6

'Cats get revenge in 71-70 win at KU

Staff/Christopher T. Assa. K-State guard Steve Henson flips a pass between Kansas' players Kevin Pritchard and Lincoln Minor (11) during Saturday's game. Henson scored 18 points and had 10 rebounds in the Wildcats' 71-70 victory.

By David Svoboda Of the Collegian Staff

LAWRENCE - It was the kind of hush most normally reserved for a small room in a corridor in the southwest comer of Allen Field House.

But Saturday afternoon, for the second straight year, the haunting silence fell over the entire building except for that single room. Just under 15,800 partisan fans stood in stunned silence as the men who inhabited that room, the nasty visitors from the south, held their own private celebration.

For the second straight season, Kansas had thrown a party for its crimson and blue-clad fans with K-State in town, and for the second straight year the party resembled a memorial service at game's end.

The final: K-State 71, Kansas 70. The result: A very happy small room in a corridor in the southwest corner of Allen Field House, and payback, precious payback.

"Right now, it's a great feeling to get some revenge here," said K-State guard Steve Henson. "It would have been nice to have them both this season, but this one was tough, and that makes it special."

The win, to K-State's credit, came after the Wildcats had trailed for much of the contest.

"This one was a little more impressive to me, just because we got down so much the first half," said K-State Coach Lon Kruger, who is now 2-1 in games at Allen as a coach. "This time, we had to set our jaw a little harder. Anytime you win here, it's a big win, but this one strikes me as a little bigger than most others."

It was big, especially when one considers that K-State trailed by nine, 37-28, at the half. When faced with a similar situation last Wednesday at Oklahoma State, the 'Cats fought gamely back, but didn't have Saturday's desire.

Physical play, KU forward Milt Newton said, was the key to the K-State comeback.

"They've got some big, strong guys," Newton said. "I don't think our guys got into it. They are more physical than we are. Being around all the Kansas State games that I have, they are not a team to give up. They came in and took the lead and we never got it back." K-State, indeed, did just that, the top of the key to give K-State a 44-41 lead with 14:34 left.

KU was able to regain the lead one last time, 45-44, when Kevin Pritchard hit one of two free throws with 13:15 left. But K-State took it right back when LaKeith Humphrey, who had come into the game for Diggins, hit a 17-footer from the right wing with 12:21 left.

K-State upped the advantage to as many as 10, 65-55, with just 2:45 left before KU started throwing up desperation three-pointers and hitting them. Mike Maddox, who led the Jayhawks with 21 points, hit one, as did Milt Newton and Scooter Barry.

The brief KU rally cut the K-State lead to three, 71-68, with just seven seconds left.

It was then that Henson, who scored 18 points and tied with Lance Simmons by pulling down a teamhigh 10 rebounds, was trapped in the corner following an inbounds pass and threw the ball away.

Barry grabbed the errant pass and laid the ball in with four seconds still showing, but a two-point shot wasn't enough. It was 71-70, and all the Jayhawks could do was watch as the final seconds ticked off.

For Humphrey, who was the closest Wildcat to Barry as he made the final shot, it was almost laughable.

"I wasn't going to get anywhere near him if I could help it," Humphrey said. "I wasn't going to foul him at all. I laughed, really, when I realized he couldn't beat us with that

Most likely, it was laughter that came with relief. Relief that another nailbiter between the two rivals had ended. And, as had the earlier matchup between the two in Bramlage Coliseum, the visitors had taken a onepoint thriller.

K-State's win was due in large part to the play of the Wildcat big men, including Fred McCoy, who had a team-leading 22 points, and Simmons, who responded to his first start in over a year by scoring six points and tying Henson for the team lead in rebounding.

"It was unbelievable," said KU's Freeman West, who had the unenviable job of facing McCoy head-tohead several times. "They killed us overcoming the halftime deficit for on the boards. Every time a shot the first time when Carlos Diggins hit came off the boards, they had a hand a three-point, 22-foot jumper from on it or hand near it. I knew they were going to be banging.'

> The Wildcats did just that, outrebounding KU 41-28, including a commanding 21-14 edge on the offensive boards.

> "We knew from the last game we could probably do some damage inside," McCoy said. "We had to get on the boards. Basically, where our offense turned it on was when we got it inside. We had to get that part of the game going."

Simmons was a big reason K-State was able to do so.

"We needed better production, especially on the boards, and Lance provided that today," Kruger said.

For Simmons, who has overcome the hardship of two broken kneecaps, just starting again was a real treat.

"It feels great. It was good to just come out and start again," he said. "I expect to come out, hit the boards hard, and score when I have the ball inside. I did all those things pretty well today."

Another nod went to Mark Dobbins, who held Newton to just 10 points on a poor 3-of-10 shooting performance.

But it was the regrouping the Wildcats did at the half that made the major difference.

"KU pretty much kicked our tails all over in the first half," Kruger said. "We really didn't change that much at halftime. We just talked about taking care of responsibilities.

"And anytime you have a chance to win one you don't expect to have, ■ See REVENGE, Page 10 K-STATE (71)

Britt 1-5 0-0 2, Dobbins 1-2 2-3 4, McCoy 10-19 2-4 22, Humphrey 4-11 4-4 12, Henson 4-11 8-8 18, Massop 2-50-24, Smith 0-2 0-0 0, Fritz 0-0 0-0 0, Simmons 3-6 0-0 6, Diggins 1-2 0-0 3, Totals 26-63 16-21 71

Newton 3-10 3-3 10, Randall 2-8 5-9 9, Alvarado 0-1 0-0 0, Barry 3-3 0-2 7, Pritchard 5-11 1-2 14, Maddox 10-16 0-0 21, West 0-4 0-0 0, Minor 3-6 0-0 7, Gueldner 1-1 0-0 2. Totals 27-60 9-16 70.

Halftime - Kansas 37, K-State 28. Three-point goals-K-State 3-4 (Henson 2-3, Diggins 1-1). Kansas 7-13 (Newton 1-5 Barry 1-1 Pritchard 3-4 Maddox 1-1 Minor 1-2). Fouled out - None. Rebounds - K-State 46 (Henson and Simmons 10), Nebraska 33 (Randall 9). Assists - K-State 8 (Humphrey and Henson 3), Kansas 17 (Barry 5). Total fouls - K-State 17, Kansas 20. A-15,800.

K-State guard play overshadowed

By David Svoboda

Of the Collegian Staff LAWRENCE — Seemingly lost in all of the banging and flying bodies in the two K-State battles with Kansas the past two weeks has been the play of the starting K-State guards, who combined for 39 points in the first meeting and 30 points Saturday.

Steve Henson and LaKeith Humphrey both were major contributors in Saturday's 71-70 K-State win.

Henson, who scored 23 points in KU's 75-74 win over K-State Jan. 14 in Bramlage Coliseum, added 18 Saturday.

Henson was 4-of-11 from the field, including 2-of-3 from behind the three-point stripe.

But, possibly more importantly, Henson was 8-of-8 from the free throw line. Not that it's unexpected for Henson to hit free throws, but coming down the stretch, they're key. Humphrey went 4-of-4 from the game as well.

The "H and H" run started with 5:17 left and K-State up 55-51. Henson, after being fouled by KU's Mike Maddox, stepped to the line and calmly converted both free throws.

With 3:41 left, Humphrey got his first turn. After a foul on KU's Scooter Barry, Humphrey calmly canned both ends of a 1-and-1 opportunity to give K-State a 63-55 lead. After neither team scored for nearly the next minute, Humphrey's 17-footer stretched the K-State lead to 10, 65-55, with 2:45 left. It was the Wildcats' biggest lead of the day.

But back to the free throw competition. With 40 seconds left and K-State up now by only five, 67-62, Humphrey stepped to the line after being fouled by Jeff Gueldner and again hit both ends of the 1-and-1 to give K-State the 69-62 edge.

The points would be the final two of the day for Humphrey, who ended the game with 12 points, a bit off line, all of them coming late in the from the 16 he scored in the earlier meeting that went into overtime when Humphrey hit a three-point shot with two seconds left to tie the Henson was left to end the flurry, and he did with 18 seconds left and K-State up 69-65. Sean Alvarado committed the KU foul this time, but the results were the same as Henson scored K-State's final two points of the game by hitting both ends of the 1-and-1.

The duo had scored 10 of K-State's final 16 points and had effectively taken charge when the Wildcats needed them to do so. As exciting as the final five minutes may have been for the two guards, both credit K-State's play earlier in the half as being the biggest

"In the second half, we moved the ball well and made some adjustments that helped us get the ball up and down the floor a little better," Henson said.

Humphrey agreed.

"I credit this victory to the way all of us played - the whole team," he said. "We really put it together in the second half, both offensively and defensively."

The statistics back that claim when it comes to evaluating the overall efforts of Henson and Humphrey.

Both players had three assists and Henson had two steals and a teamleading 10 rebounds. And the duo held KU's starting guards, Kevin Pritchard and Barry, to 21 total points and forced them into eight turnovers.

K-State Coach Lon Kruger recognized the effort.

"Our guard play was consistent, and we shot free throws well," he said. "But we've come to expect it from those two."

On Saturday, it may have been expected but it may have also been Kansas forward Mike Maddox fights for a loose ball with K-State forward Lance Simmons. Maddox was called for a foul on the play.

Wildcats' hopes for NCAA tourney bid look brighter

Svoboda on Sports

DAVID SVOBODA Sports Columnist

LAWRENCE - K-State's men's basketball team saw its postseason tournament hopes go from three letters back to four Saturday afternoon in Allen Field House, and it may have two men in particular to thank for that.

For those of you who might be a bit confused at this juncture, N-I-T is a group of three letters and N-C-A-A is a series of four. I like the latter choice much better, especially when it comes to tournament play.

When Oklahoma, which might just be ranked No. 1 in the nation when this week's Top 20 is released today, comes to Manhattan on Wednesday night, the Sooners are going to be facing a team that took a major monkey off its back Saturday, a team that put the skids on a downhill slide that lasted one game.

Time and again, it seems, Wildcat Coach Lon Kruger's teams snare victory from the jaws of defeat. Just when someone - and I'll have to admit I'm often one of those "someones" - is ready to throw dirt on the grave of K-State's NCAA tourney hopes, K-State simply emerges from the soil like a monster.

It may not be a big, scary monster, but it's a big enough monster to get noticed.

The monster was of the twoheaded variety Saturday afternoon. One head was very familiar, the other only slightly so.

Head No. 1 belonged to Fred McCoy. You remember Fred, don't you? He's the out-of-control son-ofa-gun that was deep in Kruger's dog house just more than a month ago. Fred got off the leash just prior to K-State's home loss to Kansas, however, and Saturday he took a major bite out of KU in Lawrence.

For McCoy, the starting lineup is his home. This is his backyard, and beware of this dog when he starts to bite. McCoy had 22 points and nine rebounds against KU, and sent more than one Kansas player crashing to the floor following a bruising brush with his 6-7 frame.

"He gets that body on you and extends those elbows and takes up so much space," KU forward Milt Newton said of McCoy, who knocked him to the floor with a shot to the solar plexus. "It's not that he's dirty, but he likes to intimidate you, if you let McCoy was very intimidating Saturday.

"He just killed us on the boards and with stick back baskets," said KU Coach Roy Williams. "He and Simmons dominated us, and that was pretty much it."

"Who's this Simmons guy?" some of you may be asking. Orlando Rico is his real name, but most of us know him simply as Lance.

You remember Lance Simmons, ster that was gone for a year only now to re-emerge. Kind of like chopped off by knee injuries, you know?

Simmons first broke his kneecap in November 1987, then again in March 1988. Rehabilitation was long and painful, but on Saturday he made his first start since K-State's 80-61 loss to Nevada-Las Vegas in the NCAA West Regional in Salt Lake City following the 1986-87 season.

Simmons, you might remember, was the guy who replaced Norris Coleman when Coleman was ruled ineligible by the NCAA prior to the start of that season, and was the guy who replaced Coleman in the lineup at the end of that year as well. Saturday, in his triumphant return to the starting lineup, Simmons had six points and pulled down a team-don't you? He's the head of the mon-high 10 rebounds - including seven offensive boards - in helping McCoy dominate the Jayhawks inside.

> "Lance has been making steady improvement, and we need that," Kruger said. "We needed better production, especially on the boards, and Lance provided that today."

Indeed he did. "I really can't remember the last time I played this much," Simmons said. "It seems like five or 10 years

Maybe, but Saturday the "Fred/ Lance" monster made KU's life a living hell for 40 minutes. In doing so they gave their team a life that appeared to be again slipping away.

And they gave K-State a shot at a four-letter tourney berth. Four letters with a pretty nice ring, I must say.

Lady Cats' second half too much for Jayhawks

By David Svoboda
Of the Collegian Staff

LAWRENCE — It was billed as a double feature Saturday afternoon in Allen Field House. The opening contest, pitting the women's teams from the University of Kansas and K-State, was to be a warm-up for the war between the two men's teams to follow later in the day.

Someone forgot to tell the women's teams, however, that they weren't supposed to put on an exciting clash of their own.

But after 40 minutes of what K-State Coach Matilda Mossman called "a very physical game - too physical for our liking," K-State had emerged with an exciting 74-68 win over the Lady Jayhawks, and the stage was set for a sweep which the men's team would later complete.

For Mossman's team, the win was a big one. K-State entered the game with a 3-2 conference mark and a 13-5 overall record, but the Lady Cats had dropped nine straight Big Eight Conference road games and had lost three straight games in Allen dating back to the 1984-85 season.

The win moved the Lady Cats into sole possession of second place in the conference, but more importantly, perhaps, was the fact that it removed a few skeletons from some Wildcat closets.

"It's a big rivalry," said forward Ameetrice Cobb, who came off the bench to score six points and grab four rebounds. "If there's one game you win all year, you want to beat KU on the road. To win a road game, especially here, is a big lift to us." Mossman agreed.

"It's a little bit more special, especially when you consider most of our kids hadn't beaten KU," said Mossman, who had seen her teams drop four straight games overall to the Jayhawks in the past two-plus seasons. "The fact that we came here and won in Lawrence makes it even a little more sweet.'

For Kansas, who like K-State last opportunity with 5:37 left. year, is struggling to find the right combinations, the win by the Lady Cats didn't negate a strong effort.

"I'm still very pleased with the way we played," said KU Coach Marian Washington, who saw her team fall to 1-5 in the conference and 9-9 overall. "We're starting to play a lot more aggressive basketball, and that showed in spurts today.

"The challenge we've got throughout the season is that we're still so new to each other."

Last season, that was the case for K-State. On Saturday, however, three sophomores who suffered through the misfortunes of 1987-88

"It's a little bit more special, especially when you consider most of our kids hadn't beaten KU. The fact that we came here and won in Lawrence makes it even a little more sweet."

> -Matilda Mossman Lady Cats coach

and a freshman who makes the team go made sure that KU wasn't about to grow up against them.

Kristie Bahner scored 17 points and had a team-high 10 rebounds to lead K-State to the win. She was joined in double figures by fellow sophomores Diana Miller, who had 14, and Nadira Hazim, who added 13. Freshman point guard Mary Jo Miller had 10 points and dished out

The Lady Cats were down 35-32 at the half but took command early in the second 20 minutes, taking a 40-39 lead when Diana Miller hit a four-footer with 16:35 left.

K-State never again trailed and was able to up its lead to as many as 11 points, 64-53, when Bahner hit both ends of a 1-and-1 free throw

KU, which has now dropped four in a row and six of its past seven, was able to trim the K-State advantage to two, 68-66, with 2:46 left, when Michelle Arnold hit two free throws.

But then Hazim took charge, scoring the next three points on a short jumper and a free throw. Bahner and Mary Jo Miller iced the victory with free throws in the final 1:30.

"I thought KU played a great game," Mossman said. "I thought we just stepped up and met the challenge.

The statistics might not support Mossman's view. KU shot just 34 percent from the field, as point guard Lisa Braddy struggled to a 2-of-14 shooting performance. Freshman Marthea McCloud led KU with 15 points and 16 rebounds.

K-State shot 45 percent from the floor and hit 24 free throws.

All-in-all, it was a pleasant way to start the day in Lawrence.

"We really wanted this one," Hazim said. "We got beat here last year on a late shot, and this one was a big one for us in the conference. It's very big.'

Big enough to merit equal billing at the Saturday afternoon double

LADY CATS (74)

Matteucci 2-5 4-5 8, D. Miller 4-6 6-6 14. Bahner 5-11 7-11 17, M. J. Miller 3-6 4-4 10, Hazim 5-123-513, Davidson 1-30-02, Lane 0-0 0-0 0, Boyle 2-7 0-0 4, Cobb 3-4 0-1 6. Totals 25-56 24-32 74. KANSAS (68)

Braddy 2-14 4-4 8, Shareef 2-8 2-4 6, Hart 2-7 0-0 4, McCloud 6-14 3-7 15, Arnold 3-10 8-10 14, Page 2-4 2-2 6, Moran 1-1 0-0 2, Bloxom 3-7 2-2 9, Nelson 2-2 0-0 4, Totals 23-67 21-29 68.

Halftime - Kansas 35, K-State 32. Three-point goals — K-State 0-1 (Matteucci 0-1) Kansas 1-9 (Braddy 0-2 Arnold 0-2 Bloxom 1-5). Rebounds — K-State 23 (Bahner 10), Kansas 25 (McCould 16). Assists — K-State 17 (M. J. Miller 11), Kansas 13 (Braddy 9). Total fouls - K State 23, Kansas 25. Fouled out - Page and Matteucci. Technicals - none. A -

Kansas forward Danielle Shareef snares a rebound from Lady Cats' guard Nadira Hazim Saturday at Allen Field House. K-State won the contest, 74-68, to snap its nine-game Big Eight road losing streak.

Clemson manager gets big chance

By The Associated Press

DURHAM, N.C. - With time waning and eighth-ranked Duke running up a big score on Clem-the water boy! No, the Tigers weren't looking for a last-minute sip. The Duke crowd wanted to see Clemson assistant trainer Dennis Hopf, who on Sunday became a Tiger reserve player following the suspension of six players because of violation of academic study hall

"Friday afternoon, I was getting dressed, getting ready to go to practice and coach (Don) Hogan called me up and asked me how would I like to play against Duke? I about passed out," Hopf told reporters in the Clemson lockerroom.

"I just said yeah. I was at the gym before he could hang up the phone," he said.

With two minutes left to play, son, the cry went out: "We want Hopf arose from the decimated Clemson bench, took off his warmup and went into the lineup, bringing a roar from what was left of the crowd at the 92-62 victory. Hopf had specific instructions to shoot because Coach Cliff Ellis had told the other four players to make sure Hopf got the ball. Reality raised its head,

With the Cameron Indoor Stadium crowd urging him to shoot, the 6-foot Hopf attempted to drive the left baseline, but he traveled before he got off his first shot. It was just as well, since 7-footer George Burgin and 6-9 Crawford Palmer were in his way.

Victories by middle division teams should make Big 8 officials happy

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - There's probably not a Big Eight official alive who would admit to how he really feels about K-State's beating Kansas on Saturday

It would be like the governor of Oklahoma taking sides in an Oklahoma-Oklahoma State football game - political suicide.

But secretly, they must all be delighted. They might also, if their innermost feelings were known, be pleased as punch that Oklahoma State beat Iowa State in such convincing fashion.

It's not that anybody's mad at Kansas or Iowa State. It's just that with all this NCAA money and prestige on the line, conference unity can be hanged.

The NCAA tournament selection

64-team bracket. And the Big Eight, which had five teams in last year's tourney, could be in dire peril of having its representation shrink to two.

be, if the Jayhawks weren't on probation for violation committed under former coach Larry Brown.

After that, who knows? The best chances would seem to be K-State, nationally respected under Coach Lon Kruger, and the young and talented Oklahoma State squad of Leonard Hamilton.

But with plenty of action still to come, every victory is vital for both teams. That's why it was important for the Big Eight to see K-State beat Kansas and Oklahoma State beat Byron Houston scored 21 points committee is getting ready to make and Richard Dumas had 19 as the its annual judgment and fill out its Cowboys treated its home crowd to a 102-74 conquest of Iowa State and went to 12-5.

Oklahoma and Missouri, in the meantime, continued to roll. The Nationally ranked Oklahoma and fourth-ranked Sooners hiked their "He's impossible to stop. We just Missouri are assured. Kansas would record to 17-2 with a nationally tele- couldn't guard King at all. He is by vised 90-88 victory at No. 13 Nevada-Las Vegas. Stacey King scored a career-high 48 points and Mookie Blaylock secured the victory with a last-second steal.

> No. 5 Missouri erupted in the secthe road, raising its overall mark to Oklahoma Coach Billy Tubbs, if he had a vote in the Associated Press Top Twenty, would not have to ponder over No. 1.

"I'd vote for us," he said after beating Vegas for the second time this season. "This is our first win in this building and I think you have to give our players credit."

by many.

King was getting plenty of credit from Las Vegas Coach Jerry Tarkanian. "He's awesome," Tarkanian said.

far the best offensive center in the country."

Byron Irvin scored 15 of his 22 points for Missouri in the second half as the Tigers outscored the Cornhuskers 33-11 in the decisive stretch ond half to beat Nebraska 89-72 on and raised their conference record to

"We held together well in adverse circumstances," Missouri Coach Norm Stewart said. "Once we got the opportunity we really put it to them."

Nebraska Coach Danny Nee was not satisfied with merely giving a stronger team a good test.

"To play them even for 'X' amount of minutes is no consolation," said Nee.

O'Mara highlights track meet for K-State

By Chris Hays Sports Editor

Shot putter Dan O'Mara highlighted several strong performances turned in by K-State track squad members Saturday at the KSU All-Comers Meet, as several K-State and Ahearn Field House records fell the second week in a row.

O'Mara's throw of 62-41/4 was the best throw turned in among Big Eight conference shot putters this season and it also placed him among the top three in the nation. Last week, at the K-State Coors Invitational, O'Mara had set a personal best of 59-51/4, which was good enough to qualify him for the NCAA Indoor Championships, to be held March 10-11 at Indianapolis.

"I think the highlight of the meet had to be the performance of Dan O'Mara," K-State coach John Capriotti said. "I have to admit, I was a little bit surprised that Dan threw 62 feet, but he had been throwing right around 60 consistently in practice and you know that there has to be a good throw in there somewhere."

Senior hurdler Kim Kilpatrick broke her own K-State and Ahearn 55-meter hurdles records with a hand-held time of 7.53 seconds, eclipsing her old mark of 8.22 which she set in 1986.

"Kim Kilpatrick ran very well," Capriotti said. "A hand-timed 7.53 is especially good for this time of the year since we have been practicing very hard."

Freshman Markeya Jones made a broke an Ahearn record with a 24.68 clocking in the 200 meters.

Also setting an Ahearn Field House record was Antonio Smith, who was running unnattached. Smith broke the 200-meter dash record with a time of 21.7 and he won the 55-meters in 6.33.

Charles Armstead finished first in the 55-meter hurdles for the second straight meet with a time of 7.56

K-State's distance runners also put on a strong showing. In both divisions of the mile run, K-State swept the first two spots. In the men's race Matt Vavala and David Warders finished first and second respectively, while Marge Eddy and Janet Haskin repeated the finish on the women's

The Wildcats' dominance in the distance events continued in the 1,000 meters. Becky Ives, Tammy VanLaeys and Laurie Davidson claimed the top three sides in the women's division and Pat Hessini, Todd Eggers and Scott Goertzen followed suit for the men.

"Overall the day went pretty well for us considering how early in the season it is and how hard we have been training," Capriotti said. "I'm very excited about where we are but we are going to have to keep getting better. We have a ways to go yet.'

K-State Mens Results: 55-Meter Hurdles -Charles Armstead, 7.56, 1st. Long Jump -Mark Johnson, 21-10 1/4, 5th; Brian Sawyer, 21-7, 6th. Mile Run - Matthew Vavala, big splash in her second meet, as she 4:11.86, 1st; David Warders, 4:12.07, 2nd;

Ray Hill competes in the 55-meter dash preliminaries at Saturday's track meet in Ahearn Field House. Hill finished third in the finals.

Jason Goertzen, 4:22.74, 3rd; Kevin Lashley, 4:25.99, 5th. Shot Put - Dan O'Mara, 62-5, 1st; Chris Carter, 51-2 1/2, 2nd. 55-Meter - Ray Hill, 6.36, 3rd. 600-Meter -Corey King, 1:12.42, 2nd. Brian Wickstrom, 1:16.50, 3rd. 1,000-Meter Run - Pat Hessini, 2:28.2, 1st; Todd Eggers, 2:34.2, 2nd; Scott Goertzen, 2:34.7, 3rd. 200-Meter Dash -Tyrone Watkins, 22.63, 4th. 3,000-Meter Run Robbie Hays, 8.50.02, 2nd. 1600-Meter Relay — K-State A, 3.16.66, 1st; K-State B,

3.34.39, 4th. High Jump - Chris Samuelson, 6-11, 3rd; RD Cogswell, 6-11, 4th. K-State Women's Results. Shot Put - Angie Miller, 43-9 1/4, 1st. Long Jump - Kim Richeson, 17-7 1/2, 2nd. Mile Run - Marge

Eddy, 5.03.17, 1st; Janet Haskin, 5.04.50, 2nd. 55-Meter Hurdles - Kim Kilpatrick, 7.53, 1st; Kim Richeson, 9.02, 4th; Karen McGaughey, 9.04, 5th. 55-Meter Dash - Latricia Joyner, 7.09, 1st; Aretha Frazier, 7.37, 3rd. 1,000-Meter Run - Becky Ives, 3.01.4, 1st; Tammy VanLaeys, 3.06.2, 2nd; Laurie Davidson, 3.11.85, 3rd. 200-Meter Dash -Markeya Jones, 24.68, 1st; Kim Kilpatrick and Latricia Joyner, 25.07, Tied for third; Aretha Frazier, 26.24, 5th. 3,000-Meter Run - Leslie Meidenger, 11.01.74, 3rd. Triple Jump Carla Shannon, 39-1 3/4, 1st. 1600-Meter Relay - K-State, 4.08.79, 1st. 600-Yard -Ellarie Pesmark, 1.27.2, 1st; Rhonda Jackson,

Sports Briefly

Stewart: Nee 'bush-league' coach OMAHA, Neb. - Missouri Coach Norm Stewart told

Nebraska fans during Saturday's Big Eight Conference game they have a "bush-league" coach in Danny Nee, according to a column in the Omaha World-Herald.

Stewart criticized Nee in statements he made to the crowd behind the bench at the Bob Devaney Sports Center, according to a column written by World-Herald sports editor Michael

The comment was made after Stewart drew boos when he called a timeout with a 17-point lead and 23 seconds remaining in the game, Kelly said.

When the booing subsided, Stewart turned to Husker fans behind the bench and said:

"When your bush-league coach gets his (expletive) act together, then we'll stop pounding you."

Kelly said Stewart's comment was heard by Marlon "Buster" Griffing of Lincoln, who often serves as a correspondent for the newspaper and was assisting off-air with the Raycom Sports telecast of the game. Griffing said the taunting was witnessed

NFC stomps AFC in Pro Bowl

HONOLULU - Herschel Walker ran for a pair of touchdowns and Randall Cunningham directed three scoring drives Sunday, leading the NFC to a 34-3 victory over the AFC in the Pro Bowl.

Walker, the Dallas Cowboys' running back, scored on runs of 4 yards and 7 yards as the NFC beat the AFC All-Stars for the first time in three years.

Cunningham, the Philadelphia Eagles quarterback making his first Pro Bowl appearance, completed 10 of 14 passes for 63 yards and rushed twice for 49 yards while playing about half the game. He was voted the game's most valuable player.

New Orleans kicker Morten Andersen added a pair of field goals for the winners, including a Pro Bowl record 51-yarder. The NFC led 14-3 at halftime, then took complete command with 10 points each in the third and fourth quarters.

House debate tax plan

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA - Gov. Mike Hayden's income tax reduction plan flew through the House Taxation Committee unscathed Friday and went to the full House for debate this week.

If the House passes it as easily as the Senate did, it will be on the governor's desk by Wednesday, the date by which he had asked that it be passed.

Two attempts to amend the proposal failed in the House committee before it won endorsement on unrecorded voice vote.

The proposal, which would return $78.9 million of the income tax windfall to taxpayers, has been put on a fast track by legislative leaders. The Senate passed it, 29-11, on Tuesday.

"The plan does what people have asked us to do," said Rep. Jayne Aylward, R-Salina. "It returns the windfall."

The windfall is additional income tax revenue the state receives as a result of 1986 changes in the federal income tax code. Some lawmakers have called the windfall an unlegislated tax increase.

Supporters of Hayden's income tax reduction plan say the bill would stop the collection of the additional revenue stemming from the federal changes. However, others claim it is not enough - that the windfall actually is larger.

Rep. Robert Vancrum, R-Overland Park, attempted to amend the bill Friday to include giving taxpayers the option of deducting the federal taxes they pay on their state returns or figuring their taxes using a lower tax rate. His amendment would have increased the tax relief by $16.5 million.

Although the measure failed on a vote of 14-6, Vancrum said he would try again to amend the bill during Tuesday's floor debate. On Thursday, he introduced a bill that would allow federal deductibility as an alternative to paying lower tax rates.

During the 1988 session, the Legislature repealed the deduction for federal taxes when it revised and simplified the state's income tax code. Repeal of that deduction was opposed by some Republican legislators, including Vancrum.

There are a number of us in the last three years concerned about keeping federal deductibility," said Rep. Vincent Snowbarger, R-Olathe.

Vancrum said the additional tax relief such an option would provide would be spread across all income brackets, emphasizing that it does not change the distribution of the relief among taxpayers.

"There are people in every bracket who would benefit from an optional federal deduction," he said.

Rep. Joan Wagnon, D-Topeka, the committee's ranking minority member, questioned that assumption, saying it appeared that most of the additional tax relief stemming from federal deductibility would be for the top income brackets.

Rep. Ken Grotewiel, D-Wichita, said reinstating federal deductibility would place Kansas income tax revenue at the mercy of the federal government.

If federal taxes go up, he said, then state income taxes would decrease if Vancrum's amendment passes. The windfall was created when federal taxes were decreased, he added, and the state collected more money.

"I'd like to get off this roller coaster," Grotewiel said. "Federal deductibility keeps us on the roller coaster."

Wagnon offered an amendment that would bring the state income tax code into "prospective conformity" with federal standard deductions and personal exemption amounts.

She said the impact of her proposal would be to increase the amount of tax relief to $86 million and distribute that relief more to middle income taxpayers.

She also said her proposal would be more fair to single taxpayers, who are taxed at a higher rate than married

"I've had more complaints from single taxpayers who said, 'Hey, why are you treating us so badly," Wag-

Her amendment failed on an 11-11

The Collegian and a cup of coffee make your day go better.

Watch the Collegian for spring break information.

Enroll Now

Community Education

One hour undergraduate credit courses Offered in conjunction with the Physical Education and Leisure Department and Music Department

Class	Date	Starting Dat
Scuba	Sat.	March 25
Windsurfing	Appt.	April 4
Tai Kwon Do	Tues. & Fri.	January 27
Horsemanship	Tues.	March 11
Trapshooting	Tues.	March 7
Guitar Lessons	Appt.	Jan. 31
Applied Piano	Appt.	Jan. 31
Voice Lessons	Appt.	Jan. 31

Call 532-5566 to register 532-5570 for more information Division of Continuing Education

about Godfather's Pizza?™

The taste, the toppings...and these terrific moneysaving coupons!

539-5303

1118 Laramie Aggieville

$7.99 Large

$5.99 Medium

Present this coupon and receive a large single topping Original pizza for only $7.99

or a medium for only $5.99.

Two Large Pepperoni Pizzas only $10.99

Present this coupon and receive TWO large pepproni pizzas for only $10.99. WE DELIVER

Lunch Buffet only $3.75

Present this coupon and receive ONE all you care to eat lunch buffet and a free refill soft drink for only $3.75.

Monday-Friday, lunch time only.

Interview seminar offers tips

By Scott Paske Collegian Reporter

Students had the chance to go head-to-head with interviewers from regional companies in a mock session Friday in the Placement Center in Holtz Hall.

The daylong seminar was the brainwork of Marketing Club President Joe Kennedy, senior in marketing. He said the idea originated from the first interview he experienced.

'My first interview was with Marion Laboratories (of Kansas City, Mo.) and it was pretty intense," Kennedy said. "I was thinking if we could provide students the chance to interview with an actual representative, it would give them a good background getting started.'

Fifty-two students were interviewed by representatives from the people were well groomed and Kansas Farm Bureau of Manhattan, Koch Industries of Manhattan and Hallmark Cards of Kansas City, Mo.

Each session consisted of a 15-minute interview followed by a short critique by the company representative. Prospects were graded in areas such as personal grooming, resume preparation and general knowledge of the company.

Bob Copher, sales representative for Koch Industries and a K-State graduate, said the seminar was a great tool for showing students certain aspects of an interview that are both favorable and unfavorable.

"The most common failure is not studying up on the potential firm or industry they're involved in," Copher said. "However, most of well polished with their presentations."

Copher said the last 10 minutes of an interview are the most important to him because they give prospects an opportunity to show how interested they are in a particular company or firm.

Steve Rodvelt, senior in marketing, said his mock interview with Kansas Farm Bureau's representative would make future interviews much easier.

"This is the first one I've done and I thought it was very helpful," Rodvelt said. "I got the chance to ask some general questions about the interview process that will help on down the road. It was a very formal type situation."

To Kennedy's knowledge, the seminar was a first for K-State.

February 10 at 7:30 p.m. in the Union Catskeller. Cost is just $2!!

Don't miss this hilarious comedian who combines his prize-winning talent as a classical violinist along with a barely sane sense of humor. Recent television credits include The CBS Morning Program and The Dating Game on which he got big laughs and won the date!! His comedy will be music to your ears!

(() k-state union

Marble Collection by Gary Woodward

this extensive collection. Now through February 10 located on the second floor of the Union.

k-state union

In this magnificent sequel to "Jean de Florette," evil is punished and good rewarded when the breathtakingly beautiful daughter of Jean de Florette wreaks havoc upon the cruel peasants responsible for her father's death. (In French with English subtitles.) Showing WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY 7:30 p.m., Forum Hall; and Thursday 3:30 p.m., Little Theatre, $1.75, Rated PG.

k-state union

CHICAGO FUN! February 17-19

Come join us as we travel to the fabulous "Windy City"-CHICAGO! From soaring skyscrapers lakefront parks, luxurious restaurants to ti experience RU 's finest htclubs are e low trip price of $95 dtrip airline and two nights stay at xford House, located near Jush Street. Sign-up NOW in the K-State Union Activities Center, 8 a.m.-4 p.m.

BEACH BOUND! March 10-18

Spend Spring Break at the NEW college hotspot-Panama City Beach, Florida. The package includes 7 nights premier beachfront condominium accommodations, 8 beach parties at the world famous Spinnaker Beach Club, 8 poolside parties at the fabulous Miracle Mile Resort, team and 2-person beach volleyball tournaments with prizes, trip staff advisors and 2 evening poolside barbecues at the Miracle Mile Resort, all for only $255! Drive yourself for only $178. Sign-up

NOW in the K-State Union Activities Center. 8 a.m.-4 p.m.

k-state union

k-state union

An evening of fun activities! Melbourne Market-Caricatures, Games &

K-State Union Courtyard 7-11 p.m.

FRIDAY, FEB. 10, 1989

"Punchline" K-State Union Forum Hall 7 & 9:30 p.m.

Hugh Fink-Comedian K-State Union Catskeller 7:30 p.m.

Cookin' Down Under-A Taste of Australia K-State Union Courtyard 8-10 p.m.

"That Statue Moved"-Rock & Roll Band K-State Union Catskeller 10 p.m.-1 a.m. "Risky Business"-Movie

K-State Union Forum Hall Midnight Don't miss out on all the fun!! Sponsored by UPC Special Events

Kedzie 103 CIGSSAGS 532-6555 STUDIO APARTMENT adjacent to carrpus, close to Aggieville. College Court Apartments. $220 monthly. Private parking, air conditioning, washer/dryer and storage lockers. Call 532-7159.

One day: 15 words or fewer, $2.50, 20 cents per word over 15; Two conse tive dates: 15 words or fewer, $3.50, 25 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.25, 30 cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 35 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $5.00, 40 cents per word over 15. Classifleds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publications.

Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon FRIDAY for Monday's paper.
Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion, it is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not alter the value of the and alter the value of the ad.

ms found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

Display Classified Rates
One day: $5.20 per inch; Three consecutive days: $6.00 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.80 per inch;
Ten consecutive days: $4.80 per inch, (Deadline is 4:30 p.m. two days before publication.)
Classified advertising is available only to those who do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, pational origin, say cancestry.

national origin, sex or ancestry.

Announcements

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs -skincare -glamor -nails -gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor, 539-2070. COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp 539-6193.

FEMALE COUNTRY band needs lead guitar player. Call 537-1292 or 776-3206 for more infor GUCCI WATCHES, Ladies replicas, great gift idea for Valentine's Day. $45. 532-3944.

JEWELRY LOVERS, Where are you???? 75% saving-$$$. Gold rings. $15.00III Silver pendants. $3.00III Manufacturer# 778-5545.

PERMS—QUANTUM, $25—Gel nails, $30—Haircut, shampoo and blow-dry, $9. Hair Shack, 415 N. Third. 776-7421.

SOUTH PADRE/ Spring Break '89— Nice rooms for a great price! From $109 to $169 on the beach or minutes from it. Five or seven days. Don't spend all your money on a room, —you're never there anyway! (Limited space). Call 1-800-782-7653, ext

VIDEOTAPE YOUR wedding or other parties, $50 and up. Call now for quotation. Budget Video Mernories.

WANTED— 100 overweight people to try herbal weight control program. No drugs, no exercise. Doctor recommended. 100% guaranteed. 778-5114.

Let your opinions be known with a letter to the editor

Collegian Coupons add up!

BALLROOM Wedding Receptions Dances, Parties For direct bookings call 539-1234

Guys Don't Forget

to get your tickets early for female strippers

Brother's

Success = Satisfaction? Tues., Jan. 31, 10 p.m.

ATO Fraternity 1632 McCain Ln.

Sponsored by Campus Crusade for Christ

2 Apartments—Furnished

FREE COUNTRY living in exchange for minimal assis-ONE-BEDROOM on Sunset. $260 plus gas and electric. Laundry facilities, no pets, please, 539-5051 or 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT nice, spacious, furnished or unfurnished. Available immediately. Lease through May or longer. $300 per month. 537-4648

WORTH CHECKING into these very nice one-, twothree- and four-bedroom apartment complexes and houses, for now, summer and fall. Close to campus with great prices. 537-2919, 537-1666.

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM on 17th Street available now Two blocks to campus. Balcony, gas heat, laundry facilities. $310. 537-9020 or 776-3804.

LARGE TWO bedrooms, leases available now and next August. Furnished and unfurnished. Phone 537-9064 daily.

NICE ONE-BEDROOM in Lee/ Hunting area available now. Fireplace, dishwasher, laundry facilities, $340, 539-2103 or 776-3804.

NICE THREE-BEDROOM, all appliances, fireplace two-car garage, fenced backyard central air, $525 Available Feb. 1. Call 776-1945 or 776-6575. NICE TWO-BEDROOM near City Park in 24-plex. All appliances, laundry facilities, $380, 537-8229 or 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM AT 608 Yurna. Appliances furnished, $225. Off-street parking, pets allowed. 537-1450. TWO TWO-BEDROOM apartments, one block from campus, $300. Stove and refrigerator furnished. 776-7371 or 1-468-3364.

UNFURNISHED APARTMENT to rent on west edge of campus. One-bedroom, plenty of storage space. $200 month plus utilities. Call Jim Roper at

WORTH CHECKING into these very nice one-, two-, three- and four-bedroom apartment complexes and houses, for now, summer and fall. Close to campus with great prices. 537-2919, 537-1666.

Unfurnished 1 or 2 bedroom apartments. Sign up for Fall leases begins March 1. apartments

> 1408 Cambridge Pl. (913) 539-2951

Automobiles for Sale

1955 CHEVY low rider pickup, wide window, 350cu power steering, power brakes, tilt, Cragar SS subframed. $4,250. 537-1539, ask for "Rat."

1973 DODGE Coronet, five new tires, good school car, $700. Call 537-8950 after 5p.m. 1974 MAVERICK, only $300, good interiors, engine, great for moving around. After 5:30p.m., 776-6277, Rick.

1977 VW Rabbit for sale. Dependable transportation. New paint. Call 776-5027. 1980 MAZDA GLC-good condition, $1,100. 539-0136

ATTENTION- GOVERNMENT seized vehicles from $100. Fords, Mercedes, Corvettes, Chevys. Surplus Buyers Guide. 1-602-838-8885 ext. A1797.

Child Care

ACTIVE BALANCED creative day environment. Full day

WANTED: BABYSITTER Thursdays in my home 8a.m. 4:30p.m., nine-month-old child. 539-5911.

8 Computers

A GREAT buyl Epson LX-800 printer. Brand new, never even been plugged in, $200 cheap. Call Paul 537-1705 after 5p.m.

LAPTOP DATA General IBM Compatible, 512K, modern, co-processor, Thinkjet Printer. $4,500 new, will sacrifice. 1-238-4998.

PERSONAL COMPUTERS Authorized Warranty Service

also servicing

· PC compatibles & printers · Televisions & VCRs

Making the Grade

MY NAME'S MATTHEW AND I'LL BE YOUR ABOUT NEW LAB PARTNER. MY OLD PARTNER?

JIM? HITHERE.

YEAH AND DON'T WORRY

THE EDITORS WOULD LIKE TO APOLOGIZE FOR THIS SHAMELESS, SEXIST CARTOON GAG, THOSE RESPONSIBLE ARE BEWG FORCED TO READ THE FEMININE MYSTICLE" AND MUST WATCH THIRTY EPISONES OF "CAGNEY+LIKEY". THANK YOU

By Berke Breathed

By Bob Berry

BERRY

Bloom County

JAM DAVAS

Peanuts

Garfield

0

WHAT A BORING

ACROSS 1 Reporter's question 4 Like this typeface:

abbr. Mend Word before glider

13 Swiss canton 4 Flair 15 Choir section 16 - Friday 17 Creeper

18 Blows one horn 20 Fragrant store 22 Hardwood tree 24 Take out

28 Praise insincerely 32 Nebraska 33 "For fools - in... 34 Pinch 36 Hebrew instrument Satellite

Uranus 39 Reverent petitions shepherd bad

socialist? McCarey

Solution time: 28 mins.

opposite

12 Fall into habits

21 Director

Yesterday's answer 1-28

FOUND: MACROECONOMICS book in Throckmorton 132, Found afternoon of 1/26/89, Call 532-7357, ask for Mohammed.

LINE PRINTER ribbons for sale- Black multistrike no. QM MS (4½ dozen), $1.25 each. Black nylon no. QM NY (15), $2.25 each. Call 532-6555 or come by

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to approach any such "employ-ment opportunity" with reasonable caution.

ATTENTION— HIRINGI Government jobs— your area $17,840-$69,485. Call 1-602-838-8885 ext R1797

CAMP DAISY Hindman Resident Camp, summer, 1989.

Positions available: business manager, aquatics, horse staff, unit staff, program staff. Contact: Career Planning and Placement Center by Feb. 24.

EARN UP to $10/ hour. Work own hours. Car and phone

GRADUATE ASSISTANT needed to work with non-

NANNIES NEEDED. Families in New England area looking for responsible individuals to watch child-

PART-TIME SALES help— Retail shoes. Experience preferred. Send schedule, resume to: Box 2, c/o The Collegian, Kedzie 103, KSU, Manhattan, KS

POSITION ANNOUNCEMENT: Successful undergraduates are now being recruited by the Academic Assistance Center to serve as Learning Skills Serninar Leaders during Fall Semester 1989. Specific duries include: leading a section of the Learning Skills Seminar which introduces freshmer to the academic skills and techniques necessary to achieve academic success, leading a study session in a social science or mathematics class, attending the class which corresponds to the study session, and attending and participating in weekly staff meetings. We are looking for applicants who feel confident in their ability to be a "student role-model," are committed to the concept of academic success for all students, desire to teach others how to learn, are able to relate to many types of people, and have a solid grade point average (especially in the social sciences or mathematics). Students who are selected for the position must successfully com plete a training class, EDAF-311 Guidance for the Paraprofessional (three hours of academic credit)

A time commitment of 10-12 hours per week will be required during Fall 1989 at a salary of $800 for the semester. For additional information, please contact the Academic Assistance Center, K-State construction of instrument to measure movement of water and chemicals in soil. BS in engineering, with training in structural analysis preferred. Capability training in structural analysis preserved. Capability to install, calibrate, and operate instrumentation is desirable but not required. Temporary, full-time, $21,000 per year. Submit resume and transcript by Feb. 6 to: Agricultural Engineering Department, Kansas State University, 147 Seaton Hall, Manhat-ment parks now accepting applications for spring and summer jobs, internships and career positions.

For more information and an application, write: National Collegiate Recreation Service, P.O. Box 8074, Hilton Head, SC 29938.

Big bucksi Call Homerun Services at Association. Executive Director advises 40 college men in seven program areas. Other responsibilities include arranging alumni association meetings, publishing periodic newsletters, and recruiting new Smith Scholars. Excellent opportunity for students pursuing graduate study in a related field at KSU. Requirements: Bachelor's degree, maturity, management skills, shillfut to relate to college students.

agement skills, ability to relate to college students. Compensations: $800 salary per month, room, board, and health insurance. For more information contact KelLee Parr, 331 N. 17th, Manhattan, KS

Lake Hubert— Minnesota resident summer camps A strong commitment to working with children required, along with activity skills and teaching experience. Specific job information and applications are available at the Career Placement Office— Holtz Hall. Sign up, in advance, for personal interviews to be held on campus on Tuesday, Feb. 7th.

SUMMER JOBS outdoors. Over 5,000 openings! Na-tional parks, forests, fire crews. Send stamp for free details. 113 E. Wyoming, Kallspell, MT 59901.

TUTOR NEEDED for "watfor77" IE 372 computer and data processing class. Phone 776-3517 after 6p.m.

WORK-STUDY STUDENT to work with non-traditional

Delivery drivers and inside

personnel needed. Contact

Kathy after 4 p.m.

Falsettos

PIZZA

539-3830

12 Houses/Mobile Homes for Ren

FREE GROCERIESI Rent two-bedroom mobile home

MOBILE HOME pads for lease, $75 month with water

VERY CLEAN furnished and unfurnished mobile homes

FOUND: DECORATIVE pillow. Identify, 530-2016.

Valid only until 2/10/89.

14 Lost and Found

receive $50 groceries at Dillons Stores. Rent three-bedroomtrailer, get $75 groceries. 776-8552.

sewer and trash removal turnished. 10-wide and smaller homes acceptable. Laundromat and beauty shop on premises. Ogden. 776-9007.

for rent. $175 to $250 monthly. One month lease.
Small pets acceptable. Laundromat and beauty shop on premises, Located in Ogden. Other KSU students live in our park. 776-9007.

41 Experi-

саг

58 Level

59 First

61 Tiny

60 Supplement

enced

students in the FENIX office. Contact Suzanne Knorr, director. Leasure 3 or 532-6434 mornings.

SUMMER EMPLOYMENT at Camp Lincoln/ Camp

66502, 539-4690, before Feb. 20th.

RESORT HOTELS, Cruiselines, airlines and amuse

SALES: MAJOR league baseball fan needed. Part-time

SMITH SCHOLARS program, executive director, we are seeking a person to oversee the operation of Smith Scholarship House and the Smith Alumni (213)473-0700.

RESEARCH ASSISTANT: Assist in design and lead in room 108, or call 532-6492, prior to Feb. 8th traditional students in the FENIX office. Excellent career opportunity. Contact Suzanne Knorr, director. Leasure 3 or 532-6434 mornings.

ren. Good pay and benefits. For spring placement needed. Call (913)288-0514.

9 Employment

LOST MY guitar at a car wash. Significant reward to you for it's return. 778-0765.

LOST: ONE pair of navy blue isotoner gloves. Please call Debble at 776-5819.

LOST: ONE woman's silver Selko watch. Found the band, need the face. Lost 1/24 in front of Justin Hall. Reward 537-2186.

15 Miscellaneous Merchandise

GREAT VALENTINE'S Gift—Land of Oz Beef presents a Ribeye from Kansas-grown Land of Oz beef is wholesome and unpretentious. Roasted in the oven or grilled at the backyard barbecue, this beef is easy, impressive and the ultimate in succuler Enjoy the best of the market from the Land of Oz. Buffalo cuts also available. Call weekdays 2:30-8p.m. Call 776-3679.

NIKON FE2 black body, good condition, $375. Nikon Nikkor 28mm 1/2.8, good condition $200. Chris 776-5994 after 5p.m

QUEEN FLOATATION mattress with heater. 539-2025. TYPEWRITER— RENTALS— Sales— Repairs. Good selection of used IBMs and Smith Coronas. Advanced Business Systems, 713 N. 12th (Agglelle). 539-7931.

Custom Made Bean Bag Sale! 2 person Bean Bags 6ft in diameter $80 and 4ft $55 SALE PRICE Check them out in Haymaker B18 or call Paul at 532-3371

2 FER MONDAYS 2 meals for price of 1 when purchasing 2 beverages at regular price

Mondays only 5:00 to 9 with this coupon

Hayes House of Music

DOD Guitar Effects 30% OFF 776-7983

CHICKEN AND SPAGHETTI The Tonight $3.95 Chef All you can eat! 111 S. 4th

16 Motorcycles/Bicycles for Sale

1982, 550 Yamaha Maxim. Good condition. New tires $700. 539-8218.

984 HONDA Aspencade 1200, 19,000 miles, looks and runs like new, extra chrome. Super buy at $4,950 Price a new onel 537-1539.

17 Musical Instruments

GIBSON LES Paul studio electric guitar, Martin Sigma 12 string acoustic, Rockman soloist amp. 539-6794.

18 Personals

LAMBDA CHI Kurt and Brian, We two frozen Kappas want to say Thanks Again for the ride from Wednesday night. You truly are gentlemen. Great fully, KKG Rhonda and Heidl.

LAWRENCE AND David: Our neighbors, the games are fun, but we're not yet done. When is the next prank due? Watch out for the terrible two Charlene.

NEW G-PHI initiates, Congrats on initiation. We love you. G-Phi Actives.

THETA KIM D.— Congratulations! We are so proud and happy you're finally an active. Love— Tish, Carol, Debble, Elyse.

20 Professional Services

DISSERTATIONS, THESES, term papers, mail merg ing, labels, text scanning, Laser printing, Call 537-4146.

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 South Fourth St., Suite 25.

PROMPT ABORTION and contraceptive services in Lawrence. (913)841-5716.

21 Rentals

SINGLE GARAGES near Aggleville. $25 per month

22 Resume/Typing Services

TERM PAPERS, cover letters, resumes, theses and dissertations entered, stored and completed to your specifications. Come see us. Ross Secretarial Services, 614 N. 12th (across from Kite's)

RESUMES-LETTERS-PAPERS

Professionally typeset; letter quality printer

CLAFLIN BOOKS & COPIES Comer Denison & Claflin 776-3771

Résume Service

Don't trust your future with anyone else

9 years of Quality, Personalized, Professional Service in all stages of Resume and Cover Letter Development

Call about our new raised printing service 343 Colorado St. 537-7294

Always hire a professional! We design resumes for your profession. Typeset & laserprinted. Graphics Plus corner of Bluemont & Manhattan Aggieville 539-6027

23 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE NEEDED to share spacious basement apart ment until end of semester, own room, two blocks from campus, $106.25/ month plus utilities. Call 1-762-4242 anytime

FEMALE TO share house close to campus, furnished $162.50/ month plus deposit. Share utilities. Call Renee at 539-8695.

FEMALE - UPSTAIRS three-bedroom housel Right off Vattler (close to campus). For more information 537-7645. MALE ROOMMATE, own room, one block from campus, washer/dryer, no deposit or lease, $125 plus one-third utilities. 537-1825.

24 Situation Wanted

FIST HOLE Repair Co. We fix party damaged walls. For a free estimate, call after 6p.m. ask for Chris. 539-8036. GYMNASTICS, SPECIAL preschooler classes now available. Call 776-0765.

25 Sporting/Recreation Equipment

GOLF CLUBS— Ping Eye IIs 1 iron— sandwedge Powerbilt woods 1-3-5. Excellent condition. Call 532-3483.

28 Spring Break

ADVENTURE QUEST

SPRING BREAK WILDERNESS ADVENTURE

> Rock Climbing/Rappelling, Canoeing & Caving (basic instruction provided)

March 11-14 $120 Darin Hoover 776-9261

Staffed for both males & females SPRING BREAK 89 SOUTH PADRE ISLAND

STEAMBOAT SHADOW RUNOVERLOOK 5 OR 7 HIGHTS 10m 213

trom $118 DAYTONA BEACH 7 NIGHTS MUSTANG ISLAND 10m 136

HILTON HEAD ISLAND HILTON HEAD BEACH RESORT 107 trans 107 7 NIGHTS DON'T WAIT 'TIL IT'S TOO LATE!

CALL TOLL FREE TODAY 1-800-321-5911 STATE OF ding on break dates and length of stay

30 Jewelry for Sale

LOVE JEWELRY? Discount$? Gold pendants, earrings $5.00III Rings, chains $11.00III Gold electroplate your jewelry. 776-5545.

By Eugene Sheffer

Crossword 23 Barbie's DOWN 1 Reporter's beau

25 Alleviate question sailor 2 Nimbus 26 Norse god 43 Killer 3 Aware of 27 Antony's whale 44 Pitcher 4 Pirate's loan 46 Captain's potion boss 5 Toward request? 28 Monks 29 Entice 50 Croat or the mouth 30 Map 6 Dug for Serb maker's 53 Old gold U.S.S.R. 7 Happy-gobig job? 31 It's belucky policy 55 Hindu 8 Once fore tide called hero 35 Golf in-56 Pueblo 9 Fled structor Indian 10 It's 57 Vintage

> 40 Shirt 42 Kind or 19 Made a lap? type 45 Exude

47 Coffee: collog 48 Portent 49 Carry on 50 TV's Na Na"

51 Tennis stroke 52 "Tarzan" extra? 54 "The Gold Bug" author

38 - -down (whole truth) CRYPTOQUIP 1-30 HFZBXIPSSZO

BZXINPBNDI TRI

BZFRZJZB AHPKO AMZJ. MZ Saturday's Cryptoquip: WHEN FRUIT STAND OWNER'S BEAUTIFUL WIFE LEFT HIM LAST

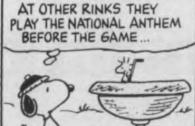

Today's Cryptoquip clue: B equals R

QHBZ HSS

MONTH, HE WENT BANANAS.

HOW COULD ANYONE THIS IS IT,

HAVE A MORE BORING LIFE?

By Charles Schulz

Revenge

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6 it's nice to get it."

By getting it, the Wildcats moved to 3-2 in the Big Eight and 12-5 overall. KU fell to 3-2 and 16-4, and likely out of the Associated Press Top 20, where they had been ranked 18th.

The win may have also helped the Wildcats' postseason tourney hopes, which had taken a real beating at Oklahoma State.

"It's awfully early," Kruger said. "But when the committee is tallying it up, anytime you can beat a ranked team on the road, it helps."

And it quiets 15,000-plus quicker than almost anything. The hush was almost eerie. But when the "Phog" had lifted at Allen Saturday afternoon, it was in that room in a corridor of the southwest corner of the fieldhouse where the only party in the building was taking place.

"How's everything going?" one Soviet Afghan officer was asked. 'Very bad," he said. ■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Earlier Sunday, Afghan soldiers said, rebels fired on a convoy of officials on Saturday, and completed plans for the pullout, said the Soviet about 350 trucks carrying flour, eggs, diplomat who refused to be diesel fuel, gasoline and other supplies down the highway to Kabul. At a Soviet checkpoint about 12. One driver, an Afghan, was slightly miles north of Kabul on Sunday, injured by a bullet that grazed his leg, Afghan soldiers paced nervously they said.

When asked what would happen when the Soviets are gone, an officer said: "The Mujahedeen."

along the highway.

indentified.

The Collegian and a cup of coffee make your day go better.

Entertainment Section - every Friday.

Attention all interested business majors

Soviet soldiers in the convoy

ALPHA KAPPA PSI

Business Fraternity Pledge Meeting

Tonight at 6 p.m. at Godfather's Pizza

Questions? Call Cheri Hamon 539-2334

UNITED ARTISTS $3.00 PER PERSON SHOWS BEFORE 6:00 p.m.

SETH CHILDS 6 ETH CHILDS AT FARM BUREAU RD 776-9811

Deep Star Six (R) Daily at 7:15, 9:30

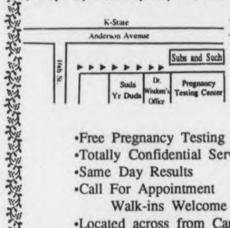

Talk Radio (R) Daily at 7:10, 9:30

Dirty Rotten Scoundrels (PG) Daily at 7:15, 9:40; Sat./Sun. 2:15 & 4:35

Rain Man (R) Daily at 7:10, 9:45; Sat/Sun. 2 & 4:35

Working Girl (R) Daily at 7:20, 9:35; Sat./Sun. 2:20 & 4:45

Accidental Tourist (PG) Daily at 7:20, 9:45; Sat./Sun. 2:15 & 4:45

PREGNANCY TESTING CENTER

539-3338

•Free Pregnancy Testing

 Totally Confidential Services ·Same Day Results

•Call For Appointment

Walk-ins Welcome

·Located across from Campus in Anderson Village

はないないないないないないないないないないないないないないない

The Mystery of Edwin Drood Saturday, February 4 8:00 p.m.

Join in the fun as this Tony Award-winning "Best Musical" -- mystery lets you pick the villains and choose the lovers while each actor vies for your support and the chance to sing again.

"The old-time English music hall setting is right. The idea brilliant. The score is tuneful, the lyrics well-turned, the choreography witty. Go--you'll have a good time."

Clive Barnes, New York Post

General Public: $18, 16, 14 Senior Citizen: $16, 14, 12 ... Student / Child: $14, 12, 10

Charge tickets to MasterCard or VISA at . (913) 532-6428, or come to the box office noon to 5:00 p.m. weekdays.

Transportation for seniors is available: through Kansas State Bank and the ... Manhattan Arts Council. For information, call Marie Dellen at 537-4400.

Give a Special Treat Valentine's Day Ice Cream Cake Your favorite flavor of REAL ice cream on top of a REAL heart-shaped cake (white or chocolate) FREE local delivery

THE ICECREAM SOCIAL

537-7079

1439 Anderson

Tues., Thurs., Sat.

JEANNIE, top designer with 3 years experience. Specializes in long hair, and men's styling. For introduction JEANNIE is offering 50% off (reg. $18) a cut with style through Feb. 4th Call JEANNIE for your personal appointment. 776-8830

Candlewood Shopping Cente

Fee

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

"The fact that (K-State) is competitive where the current finances are is a miracle," he said. "All future budgets are based on the assumption that the new funding programs will

"If these programs don't happen, future competitiveness will be based on walk-ons and existing scholarships. We won't be dealing with the same length stick the others have."

Miller said it is possible the fee will rise at the same percentage rate as tuition each year.

This will be decided, with student input, before the fee goes to the students," he said.

"Athletics is one of the most visible windows a university has," Miller said. "Many students don't come to K-State for athletics, but a university is damaged when they produce a product that alumni and supporters can not be proud of."

Miller will present the proposal to Student Senate's Student Affairs and Social Services committee tonight.

Crisis

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Pauline Woodfield, Crisis Center volunteer and junior in social work, said she gets "a lot of personal satisfaction being a volunteer."

But with satisfaction also comes frustration.

Woodfield said the most difficult thing about being a volunteer is getting a phone call from a woman who is in definite danger, but does not want police involvement and is too scared to come to the Crisis Center.

"You try to explain to her she will be safe and that she needs to get out if her life is in danger," she said.

"Eventually she hangs up, and you never hear from her again," Woodfield said. "It's hard to go to sleep, and you start searching the newspaper in the morning."

When a crisis call is received by a volunteer, it is first determined if the victim is safe, Barnett said.

"If she isn't, we have to take immediate action and get the police involved," she said.

Blubaugh said the Crisis Center

EAT ABTOS TATER CHIPS AT

ROCK-A-BELLY BAR&DELI (Manhattan's Favorite)

relies heavily on local police at any time," Barnett said. departments.

'We do not go into a situation (without police escort) where there is any chance that the batterer will be there," Blubaugh said.

"Volunteers are not in any danger

Blubaugh said the Crisis Center has a broad funding base. Funding comes from the City of Manhattan, United Way, the military, churches, civic groups and individuals. The center also receives federal and state

AIDS

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3 review, Seedle said.

"The administration is going over it and Provost (James) Coffman and (Vice President for Institutional Advancement) Bob Krause have given me some suggestions," he said.

Seedle said the cases of faculty members on campus who had contracted AIDS had not affected the development of the guidelines, which would determine future action should an employee, faculty member or student at K-State contract AIDS.

"We're treating AIDS like any other communicable disease," Seedle said. "But I think there will always be unforeseen circumstances."

Richard Baker, a representative from the Gay/Lesbian Resource Center, said he was satisfied with the progress of the committee.

"I think it has been handled very well and progress on the guidelines has been very smooth," Baker said.

Tout said it would be difficult to get people to act rationally about a disease which is so devastating.

"When it gets down to something that affects you personally, there's still going to be irrational responses," Tout said.

Cheap, but effective Collegian Classifieds

STUDENT LOANS

WE WANT TO MAKE YOUR STUDENT LOAN!

Have the professionals at Kansas State Bank make your student loan. Simply contact us at:

537-4400 Lender code #821176

KANSAS STATE BANK Westloop • Aggieville • K-State Union, Manhattan, Kansas 66502

FINAL

1208 MORO IN AGGIEVILLE *WOOL SWEATERS_ ½ PRICE OUR ENTIRE STOCK *FLANNEL SHIRTS_____ 1/2 PRICE OUR ENTIRE STOCK *WINTER COATS 1/2 PRICE OUR ENTIRE STOCK *SPORT COATS 1/2 PRICE WOOL STYLES *DRESS SLACKS to ½ OFF to ½ OFF *SPORT SHIRTS *DRESS SHIRTS 1/3 to 1/2 OFF PLUS •501's WHITE WASH $10[∞] OFF ·LEVI'S DOCKERS $5°° Off •501 BLUES $1995 OPEN 10 til 6 MON.-SAT. 10 til 8:30 THURSDAY

Spring Out S. Roberts Knit Dress

Manufacturer's Suggested Retail

F A S 331 Poyntz, Downtown

Price $24.90

Stateless in Gaza

British journalist and filmmaker Beata Lipman's film "Stateless in Gaza" was shown Monday night. See Page 3.

Weather

Unseasonably warm and sunny today. Record or near-record high in the upper 60s to lower 70s. Southwest winds of 10 to 20 mph. Mostly clear tonight. Low 35 to 40.

Tuesday

January 31, 1989

Kansas State University Manhattan, Kansas 66506 Volume 95, Number 89

Kansas State Collegian

Hazing prompts sanctions against Alpha Delta Pi

By Erwin Seba News Editor

Late Monday night, the Panhellenic Council placed the Alpha Delta Pi sorority on intramural and social suspension, effective immediately, for violating the Greek Affairs Hazing

The suspension will last through the Fall 1989 semester, said Barb Robel, Greek Affairs adviser.

Robel refused to release information about the incident or incidents which led to the council's decision.

Two people who answered telephone calls to the ADPi house refused to comment on the council's decision and referred all calls to

"I'm not going to confirm or deny any of the particulars," Robel said.

The Interfraternity Council is expected to have a hearing this evening on alleged hazing policy violations by Beta Theta Pi fraternity, Robel said.

She and three men answering the Betas' telephone refused comment on the particulars of the hearing.

By The Associated Press

North's Iran-Contra trial will begin today with President Bush free of a

WASHINGTON - Oliver

Nine women who were ADPi pledges this year refused to comment on the council's action when contacted by phone.

In addition to the suspension, ADPi members must conduct a comprehensive educational program, the details of which will be approved by the Panhellenic Council at a later

Also, the sorority must gain approval from the council for a written pledge educational program which must be submitted to the council no later than April 3.

The Greek Affairs office will notify the ADPi national sorority headquarters for internal follow-up of the suspensions, Robel said.

Robel said to her knowledge this is the first hazing incident at K-State in Under social suspension, ADPi may not have any social events with any greek organization recognized by either the Panhellenic Council or the Interfraternity Council. Also, ADPi may not sponsor or participate ■ See HAZING, Page 8

TOPEKA - Kansas Board of Regents representatives presented an overview of their budget requests for the second year of the Margin of Excellence plan to the Senate Ways and Means Committee on Monday and appealed to the committee to continue funding of executive director, said the first year of MOE was successful and the plan should be continued in can point to a number of accomplishments. A three-year effort will enable our institutions to get in with the mainstream of the country's increases, but only the leading states can show back-to-back or three-year increases," Koplik said.

If approved, phase two of MOE would make Kansas one of those

He said one of the main goals of

MOE is to recruit and retain quality faculty at regents schools. In fiscal year 1989, faculty salaries at K-

"Any state can show one-year universities," he said.

"After the first year of MOE, we order to maintain that success.

Stanley Z. Koplik, regents

the plan.

Staft/Christopher T. Assaf

By Ginger Miller Collegian Reporter

subpoena seeking his testimony but with former President Reagan still his appearance.' "subject to call," the judge in the case said Monday. Portions of Reagan's diary also might be required as evidence, U.S.

North's trial begins page order. District Judge Gerhard Gesell ruled. However, he rejected North's subpoena seeking Bush's testimony in the trial in which North faces 12 criminal charges.

When North, who was indicted last March, walks into the U.S. courthouse near the foot of Capitol Hill, he will become the first figure in the Iran-Contra affair to stand trial.

Many of the same witnesses who testified in the nationally-televised congressional hearings two years ago are expected to be called by the prosecutors, including former Attorney General Edwin Meese III and North's secretary, Fawn Hall.

At North's side will be Brendan Sullivan, an aggressive Washington lawyer who also represented North before the congressional panels investigating the Iran-Contra affair.

At a hearing Friday, the government had sought to quash North's subpoenas seeking testimony from both Reagan and Bush as well as records from Reagan. Gesell said North's lawyers have "made no showing that President Bush has any specific information relevant and material to the charges of the indictment which makes it necessary or appropriate to require

But "President Reagan shall remain subject to call on the ... subpoena" served on him by North in December, Gesell said in a three-

The judge said Reagan wouldn't be called as a witness "unless and until" the court issues another order after giving the Justice Department and Reagan's lawyers an opportunity to list their objections at a hearing.

Gesell quashed North's subpoena for Reagan's diary, except for what he described as a "narrow exception.'

The judge said the diary subpoena would be "subject to renewal" if North's lawyers support a claim that "President Reagan ordered, directed, requested or, with advance knowledge, condoned any of North's alleged false statements, document removal or destruction" or other alleged crimes in the affair.

In congressional testimony in 1987, North said he had authorization from higher-ups in the administration for all of his actions.

Gesell said Reagan has cooperated with independent counsel Lawrence Walsh and "been responsive to

■ See NORTH, Page 8

State increased by 7.4 percent. Peer institutions had an average increase

Even with this increase, K-State of 6.5 percent.

salaries are projected to fall short of peer averages by approximately 15 percent, according to the results of a K-State Faculty Senate salary Koplik said MOE has renewed a sense of hope and optimism throughout faculty at regents schools. He cited an example of its helping to retain top-level faculty.

He said Carl Hoseney, K-State professor of grain science and industry, was offered a 50 percent salary increase by a Big Ten university to occupy a new chair of cereal science. Koplik said Hoseney decided to remain at K-State in part because MOE has given him hope for the future.

Koplik pointed out that Hoseney has brought in more than $200,000 in industry grants to the University.

"If you would poll students today, I think you would come away with the feeling that Kansas youth feel the opportunity for quality education is better today than it ever has been," Koplik said.

"Students have agreed to help

Source: Faculty Senate salary study

Graph/ C. Doud

fund the MOE plan. Across the regents system student fees rose an average of 28 percent," he said.

In fiscal year 1989 the tuition fee increases for resident students were 6 percent. Non-resident student fees increased 12 percent. Koplik said "this is the direction we're moving," in regard to resident/nonresident fees.

In the past three years, the trend has been for non-resident fees to increase more than twice as much as resident fees. In fiscal year 1987 non-resident fees increased 10 percent while resident fees increased 3 percent. In fiscal year 1988 nonresident fees increased 9 percent, and resident fees increased 3 percent.

Sen. Richard Rock, D-Arkansas City, asked Koplik how the board would feel about the possibility of ■ See MOE, Page 8

U.S. diplomats, Soviet soldiers leaving Afghanistan

Troops pull out under U.N. agreement

By The Associated Press

KABUL, Afghanistan - Marine guards lowered the flag for the last time Monday and the U.S. Embassy staff prepared to depart before the Red Army leaves Kabul's fate to Afghan soldiers and Moslem guerrillas who wait in the hills.

"As we say goodbye, we say, 'God bless the United States,'" said Charge d'Affaires John D. Glassman, the ranking American diplomat still in Kabul, at the solemn

"Today we leave at a moment that is both happy and sad, pleased that the people of Afghanistan are going to be relieved of their suffering, but we know their struggle is not over.

"The people of the United States are with them," Glassman said, raising the folded flag above his head in a salute. "We will be back when the conflict is over.'

Marine guards brought down the flag, gently folded and then handed it to Glassman, who walked to a small slab of marble on the other side of the compound that honors Adolph Dubs, the former U.S. ambassador.

Dubs was kidnapped, then killed along with his abductors when soldiers tried to rescue him Feb. 14, 1979. U.S. officials still do not know

Soviet soldiers entered Afghanistan's civil war nine years ago and are to be gone by Feb. 15 under a U.N.-mediated agreement. Moslem insurgents, who get most of their support from the United States and Pakistan, were not parties to the agreement and predict victory soon after the Red Army is gone.

Yuri Maslyukov, Soviet deputy premier, arrived to meet with Najib just after Soviet Defense Minister Dmitri Yazov ended a three-day visit to Kabul. A Western diplomat in Islamabad, Pakistan, said the visits were meant to "boost the sagging morale of the communist government." Embassy officials would not say when the American staff of two diplomats, four Marine guards and five others would leave on a chartered flight to New Delhi, India. The Kabul airport was closed Monday by a three-inch snowfall. The State Department said last week the embassy would be closed because of fears that Afghanistan's conscript army could not protect

The departure of the embassy staff will leave 10 Americans in Afghanistan, all missionaries. West Germany was the first country to withdraw its diplomats. After the U.S. closure was announced, Britain, France, Japan and Austria followed suit.

The Soviet Embassy has said it will continue operating after the military withdrawal, but with a greatly reduced staff. Some of the Kremlin's East European allies have indicated they may leave.

Najib's government accused the United States of closing the embassy foreign diplomats after the Soviets as a means of inciting the guerrillas to more intense warfare after the Red Army departs.

> Moslem guerrillas began fighting after a communist coup in April 1978. Soviet soldiers arrived in December 1979 and totaled an estimated 115,000 when the withdrawal began May 15. Half were gone by

> Although the rest have until Feb. 15 to leave, the final Soviet convoy is expected to head north later this week on the Salang Highway, the 250-mile route through the rugged Hindu Kush mountain range to the Soviet border.

Briefly...

Associated Press

... Around the nation

Man dies of rattlesnake bite

HARLAN, Ky. - A man who did not seek medical treatment for a rattlesnake bite received during a church service has died, authorities said.

Ernest W. Short, 41, of Teetersville died at his father's home Sunday, Harlan County Coroner William Venable said.

A 21/2 - to 3-foot snake bit Short during a service Saturday at Ages Pentecostal Church, Venable said. Members of some strict fundamentalist Protestant churches believe the Bible directs them to handle poisonous snakes as evidence of their faith in Christ.

Under Kentucky law, handling snakes during religious services is a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of $50 to $100, but charges are rare, and snake handling is a regular practice in some churches throughout the mountains of eastern Kentucky and Appalachia.

Jackson hat sells for $1,400

LOS ANGELES - A black fedora worn by the "Bad" boy of pop, Michael Jackson, sold for $1,400 at an auction held by a former sister-in-law.

"This was my birthday present, my Christmas present and my anniversary present," said Donna Frieden, a voice-over artist who snapped up the hat at Sunday's auction. "I'm not going to buy any clothes for a long time."

The fedora was among "warehouses and warehouses" of Jack-son clan memorabilia that Enid Jackson said she was awarded in her recent divorce from Michael Jackson's older brother Jackie. She said she planned to sell off the items because she didn't want to pay for their storage and maintenance.

Blind fan retains prized ticket

DENVER - A price hike was a blessing in disguise for a 68-year-old blind man who had been prepared to sell a prized possession — a season ticket on the 45-yard line to Denver Broncos games.

After 22 years as a season ticket holder, Bobbie Shepard figured the football club's $40 boost in saeason ticket prices was too much for his meager income. He placed a classified ad in The Denver Post on Sunday, offering to sell his $300 season pass.

But after a story in Sunday's Post detailed his problem, Shepard's phone began ringing.

"The first one came at 6:30 in the morning," Shepard said. "I tried to eat my breakfast, but I couldn't get it eaten. Every time I took a bite the phone would ring again."

By the time it stopped, Shepard had 15 offers to pay for his $300 ticket.

By 10 a.m., Boulder lawyer Dan Caplis had arrived at Shepard's home and handed him a check for the $300, and offered to pay for the ticket every season Shepard wants it.

"I'm happy to do it," Caplis said. "I think the Broncos need more fans like Bobbie. It just seemed to me that he was a gutsy, courageous guy, and he should be there.

Airline maintenance a concern

NEW YORK - Americans favor stringent new anti-terrorist measures to bolster international airline security, but by a wide margin they say poor airplane maintenance is a greater threat than terrorism, a poll has found.

A majority in the Media General-Associated Press survey said current airline security is inadequate. Nearly three-quarters favored mandatory hand searches of all checked bags, and half backed a ban on carry-on bags.

Still, terrorism was not seen as the chief danger to air travelers. Nearly two-thirds of the respondents said inadequate airplane maintenance was a greater threat than terrorism, while just 24 percent saw terrorism as the greater hazard. Twelve percent

The national survey of 1,162 adults found majority backing for U.S. military strikes against countries that support terrorists, but only if the support were proved and innocent civilians were not killed.

Opinion was sharply divided on whether military retaliation would deter terrorists. But majorities said the United States can take steps to reduce terrorism.

... Around the region

Kansas unemployment up

TOPEKA - Kansas' unemployment rate inched upward to 4.8 percent in December, but the number of people with jobs remained above that of a year ago, the state Department of Human Resources reported Monday.

The December jobless rate was 0.2 percent higher than the 4.6 percent unemployment rate in November, and compared with a 5.0 percent rate in December 1987, the report said.

"Nearly 50,000 more workers were on the job in December 1988 than in December 1987," said Ray Siehndel, acting secretary of human resources.

Regent Slawson settles debt

WICHITA - Oilman Donald Slawson settled a debt for $6 million Monday with the Mellon Bank of Pittsburgh in a deal that divided ownership of the Tallgrass golf course and residential development among four parties.

Slawson's sale of the golf course, The Inn at Tallgrass and four Tallgrass residential areas let him redeem about $12 million in notes that were secured by 23 of his undeveloped

Last November, Mellon Bank withdrew a foreclosure action on the properties, which had been filed in federal court. The bank gave Slawson until Monday to settle or it would have taken further action.

Under the terms of the debt settlement, Slawson's investment company kept six Tallgrass areas with about 139 undeveloped home sites and the Tallgrass Executive Office Park.

Campus Bulletin

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Campus organizations are encouraged to use Campus Bulletin. All announcements must be submitted by 11 a.m. one day prior to publication. Announcements for Monday's bulletin must be in by 11 a.m. Friday. However, publication is determined by the amount of space available on a first-come, first-serve basis and is not ensured. Information forms are available on the shelf outside Kedzie 118. Forms should be left in the box on the shelf after being filled out. All submissions must be signed and are subject to verification. Questions should be directed to the Collegian's campus editors in Kedzie 116.

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Michael D. Roberts at 1:30 p.m. today in Bluemont 368. The dissertation topic is "The Use of Maintenance Service Contracts in Kansas School Districts."

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Christopher C. Lovett at 10 a.m. Wednesday in Eisenhower 201. The dissertation topic is "Red Wings Over the Sea: The History of Soviet Naval Aviation."

CAREER PLANNING AND PLACE-MENT is posting sign-up schedules for oncampus employment interviews by Kansas, regional and national employers. All eligible candidates are urged to register and apply.

UNIVERSITY FOR MAN classes will start Wednesday. Call 539-8763 for more information.

K-STATE PLAYERS will present "Cloud 9" by Caryl Churchill at 8 p.m. Thursday through Saturday and Feb. 8-11.

ARTS AND SCIENCES CLUBS budget request forms are available in Eisenhower 113 and should be returned by Friday.

TODAY

PRE-LAW CLUB will meet at 7 p.m. in

BAKERY SCIENCE CLUB meets at 3 p.m. in Shellenberger 110.

SPURS will meet at 9 p.m. in Union 209. p.m. in Shellenberger 105.

MORTAR BOARD will meet at 9 p.m. in Union Stateroom 3 EDUCATION COUNCIL meets at 4:30 p.m. in Bluemont 106

OWLS will meet at 11:30 a.m. in Union

PHI KAPPA THETA ALUMNI will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Union 205.

DAIRY SCIENCE CLUB meets at 7 p.m. ALPHA CHI SIGMA will meet at 7 p.m.

PRSSA will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Union in Willard 218.

AFRICAN STUDENT UNION will meet at 6:30 p.m. in the International Student

STUDENTS AGAINST DRUNK DRIV-

ING will meet at 7 p.m. in the Union. WOMEN OVER 50: SUPPORT GROUP will meet at noon in Union 202. ALPHA PHI OMEGA meets at 7 p.m. in

McCAIN STUDENT DEVELOPMENT BOARD will meet at noon in the Union

WATER SKI TEAM will meet at 7 p.m. in GERMAN TABLE meets at 11:30 a.m. in Union Stateroom 2.

WEDNESDAY

GYMNASTICS CLUB will meet at 9 p.m.

OWLS will meet at 11:30 in Union Stater-

FRENCH TABLE meets at 11:45 a.m. in Union Stateroom 1.

BAKERY SCIENCE CLUB will meet at 3

K-State Police

Sunday

One parking stall east of Anderson Hall was barricaded as requested.

Monday

■ A white Mercury in lot A-14 was towed to Mike's Wrecker. A non-injury, two-vehicle Wrecker.

accident occurred in lot A-28. Damage was less than $500.

A white Honda in lot D-1W was damaged in a non-injury, hitand-run accident.

■ A windbreaker was reported stolen from a locker in Aheam Field House. Loss was $30.

A white and green Ford truck in lot A-26 was towed to Manhattan

Open 7 days a week Free Delivery Restaurant HUNAM EXPRESS 11 a.m.-1 a.m. 1304 Westloop 539-8888 Call 539-8888 or 537-0886 THE PERSON NAMED IN NEIGHBORHOOD BAR

§1 Bottles—§1 Tonics 1800 Claflin

776-4111

COMEDY INVASION Mon., Tues. - 9 p.m.

James Lee Reeves along with Mike Casper

Feb. 13, 14

Steak & Shrimp $3.95 and 10 p.m. Mon. & Tues.

Before 3 p.m. 539-4321

Michael Winslow Tickets go on sale tomorrow at 4 p.m. All seats General Admission. Show times at 8

531 N. Manhattan

After 3 p.m. 539-9727

Ben Franklin Better Quality for Less

ART · ENGINEER · ARCHITECTURE

If you are taking a course in any of these fields of study ... remember us. We have all the basics, of course, but we also carry those unique items that can really set off a project.

·BALSA WOOD ·STYROFOAM ·WIRE ·PRE-CUT MATS ·BEADS ·YARN SCULPEY CRAFT STICKS And much more

WESTLOOP SHOPPING CENTER Manhattan

Mon.-Fri. 9-9; Sat. 9-7; Sun. 1-6; 776-4910

Reg. Salon Price

Haircuts Men Women $7.50 $8.50

Exclusively with Joanna

537-9825

$25 1140 Westloop

Perms from

TUMBLING RIVER RANCH A Colorado Guest Ranch high in the Rockies

Hiring Now for Summer Help Cooks, Cabin girls, Waitresses, Kids Counselors, Maintanence, and Wranglers

All encouraged to apply. Call: 494-8228 or 303/838-5981

Falsettos

PIZZA 539-3830

not good with any other offer limit 1 per customer per visit

We Honor Local Competitors' Coupons

Falsetto's Doubles 2 Pizzas for 1 pizza price not good with any other offer

FREE DELIVERY

Join the tradition call 537-3830 or stop by for a slice

SPEND TONIGHT IN MEXICO

When you visit Raoul's Escendido on Tuesday nights, you get a whole lot of Mexico for a very little price.

Take your pick from one of our specials below. Or cut out both coupons and bring a friend. (After all, you shouldn't spend an evening in Mexico all alone) Then make your meal complete with an order from our bar, like a cold Margarita.

Remember, when you're ready for a taste of authentic Mexico prepared from family recipes, visit Raoul's Escondido on the west side of Manhattan. Or, drive 915 miles south!

COME SEE US TONIGHT!

Raoul's Escondido

215 Seth Childs Rd. - Manhattan 539 - 3410

All-you-can-eat taco and tostada buffet with chips & Chili Con Queso.

Only $3.99

normally $4.95 Valid Tuesday night only. Coupon expires:3/28/89 Raoul's Escondido 215 Seth Childs Rd.

c-1

Raoul's Tuesday Special Raoul's Tuesday Special

Our Plato Especial (the #2 dinner) Includes: 2 ground beef tacos, 2 ground beef or cheese enchiladas, homemade rice & beans, chips & hot sauce.

Only $3.99

normally $5.25 Valid Tuesday night only. Coupon expires:3/28/89 Raoul's Escondido 215 Seth Childs Rd.

Jury convicts lawyer Palestinians focus of film

Beating death focus of national attention

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK - A state jury Monday convicted Joel Steinberg of manslaughter in the beating death of his illegally adopted 6-year-old daughter Lisa, a death that refocused national attention on domestic violence.

Steinberg showed no emotion as each of the 12 jurors was questioned about the verdict, which came in about 6:38 p.m. The jury also found him innocent of the more serious charge of second-degree murder.

The verdict culminated a case that touched the nation's conscience, with witnesses providing wrenching details of the physical and emotional havoc wrought by spousal and child abuse — and the failure of others to intercede.

Lisa's biological mother, Michele Launders, 27, seemed to exhale a sigh of relief when the verdict was announced.

She was sitting next to Graceann

Smigiel, the grandmother of a young boy who was found in Steinberg's apartment when police and Emergency Medical Service paramedics removed Lisa's comatose body the morning of Nov. 2, 1987.

The boy, who also was illegally adopted by Steinberg, has since been returned to his natural mother.

The conviction on the charge of first-degree manslaughter carries a maximum sentence of 81/3 to 15 years. It was a charge that prosecutors at one time had considered dropping from the case.

Public attention was riveted on the trial during the seven days of testimony last month by Hedda Nussbaum, Steinberg's battered live-in companion of 12 years. Her story of abuse and psychological manipulation was broadcast live on New York's three television network affiliates and in part nationally on the Cable News Network.

Nussbaum, testifying under immunity from prosecution, said she was so dominated by Steinberg that she was unable to defend herself from virtually systematic beatings, or to protect the child.

She also said she was unable to bring herself to summon medics promptly on Nov. 1, 1987, after Steinberg told her Lisa was unconscious on the bathroom floor. The girl lay there nearly 12 hours by the time Nussbaum called an ambulance.

The jury was in its eighth day of deliberations after a trial that lasted three months. Sentencing was set for March 8.

Defense lawyers claimed it was Nussbaum who fatally beat Lisa out of jealousy over the attention Steinberg paid the child. Prosecutors pointing to Nussbaum's own severe injuries and deteriorated mental state - said she was incapable of such an

By Karen Allen Staff Writer

It's economic help to the extent of $3.5 billion a year from the United States that is keeping Israel afloat in its continued oppression of the Palestinians, said British journalist and filmmaker Beata Lipman.

Her film, "Stateless in Gaza," was shown Monday at St. Isidore's Student Center.

Lipman said the U.S. "has turned a blind eye" to where the money is being spent and although the government knows most of what is going on in Israel, there are "things it pretends not to know."

"We must ask ourselves, 'Why has the U.S. never attached strings to the money (given to Israel)?" she said.

An audience of about 75 turned out to watch Lipman's film, which she produced for the British Broadcasting Corporation. The film is the first in a trilogy on Palestinian women. Although the film documented the daily lives of the Palestinians who live in refugee camps on the Gaza Strip, it focused on a Palestinian Christian woman named Mary who travels daily to the camps to teach kindergarten classes.

Mary questioned what kind of impact the Palestinian-Israeli conflict is having on the Israelis, which Lipman said was an important

"Those who live by the gun ... what sort of brutalization is that doing (to their lives)?" Lipman

The solution to the conflict will have to involve the negotiation of land or peace, she said. Israel is against incorporating the Palestinian state because then they would have to grant the Palestinians the right to vote, Lipman said.

Her book, "Israel: The Embattled Land - Jewish and Palestinian Women Talk about Their Lives," was published in 1988. Lipman said she chose to document the lives of women in Israel because she believes "women especially suffer from what has been a war situation for

The program was sponsored by the Manhattan Alliance on Central America, a local organization that opposes military intervention in Central America. John Exdell, associate professor of philospohy, said the alliance is interested in presenting an "educational forum for issues outside Central America when there is a common thread."

"There are certain resemblances between the Third World population victimized by U.S. power in Central America and in the Middle East through Israel," Exdell said.

Travel, tourism increasing in Kansas

By Chris Koger

Kansas tourism is on the rise, according to officials in the state Department of Commerce.

"People like to come here because it's more laid back and quiet," said John Pence, chairman of the state Commission on Travel and Tourism. "We have a good, clean environment, and the people are friendly and Recently appointed as chairman of the state Commission on Travel and Tourism, Pence also serves as associate director of housing and head of the residence hall food service.

"Kansas is a 'pass-through' state because few of our visitors have an in-state destination in mind. They're basically on their way to Colorado, Texas, Missouri or other states in the region," he said.

Pence has been a member of the state Commission on Travel and Tourism since its inception in September 1987 and was recently appointed as chairman of the commission by Gov. Mike Hayden.

Pence said he was chosen because K-State is the only Kansas regents school offering a four-year program for hotel and restaurant management.

The commission was set up by Hayden to investigate marketing techniques to promote the state and to work for increases in state tourism allocations, Pence said.

Kansas' tourism budget is the lowest in the nation, said Mary Lou McPhil, assistant director of travel and tourism.

"It's discouraging to have the lowest budget, but I think we've been doing well with what we have," McPhil said.

Pence said Kansas' tourism budget is $1.5 million. Arkansas has a $2.8 million budget, and Missouri's is more than $5 million, he said.

'We're looking to the legislature for more funding so we can increase advertising in other states," he said. "We need to do a better job of selling our 'western heritage,' which certainly attracts some visitors each Pence said Kansas residents and their attitudes toward the state affect tourism.

"Some of our worst enemies are Kansans, because no matter what state you're talking about, some people are going to say there is nothing to do," Pence said.

"When our tourists get this attitude from Kansans, it only hurts. Every time we have out-of-state visitors, they are going to spend money, and this generates revenue for the state," he said.

McPhil said more than $2.5 million in revenue was raised last year from the Department of Commerce's "Linger Longer" program. This program was designed to give visitors incentives to stay in Kansas longer and spend more money. Visitors who participate in the program receive free Coleman coolers if they lodge, eat and shop at participating businesses.

According to the Department of Commerce, 250,000 people visited Kansas two years ago. That number rose to 400,000 last year.

SHUTTLE SERVICE

for temporarily or permanently physically limited students on campus, building to building. Inquire by calling 532-6436

GUITAR LESSONS

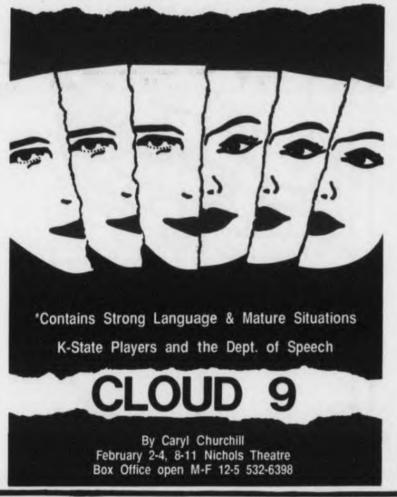

KSU's Department of Music, in cooperation with Community Education. offers guitar lessons for one hour undergraduate credit. Classes begin Tuesday, January 31 and continue every Tuesday until April 25.

Beginning Guitar Lessons 6:00-7:30 p.m. $60 Intermediate Guitar Lessons 6:00-7:30 p.m. $60 Private Guitar Lessons By Appt. $132

Students need their own guitars.

Register NOW! Call 532-5566 For information call 532-5740.

Community Education Division of Continuing Education College Court Building

February 5-February 20

Must register by Feb. 2 at 5 p.m. in the Greek Affairs Office at the Union.

Allseasons

1501 TUTTLE CREEK BLVD. MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66502 (913) 539-5391

Student Special Peace and quiet to study or just get away

$13 Single $18 Double Day Rate 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.—$10

On Availability basis only

Student I.D. Required Call for reservations 539-5391

776-5577

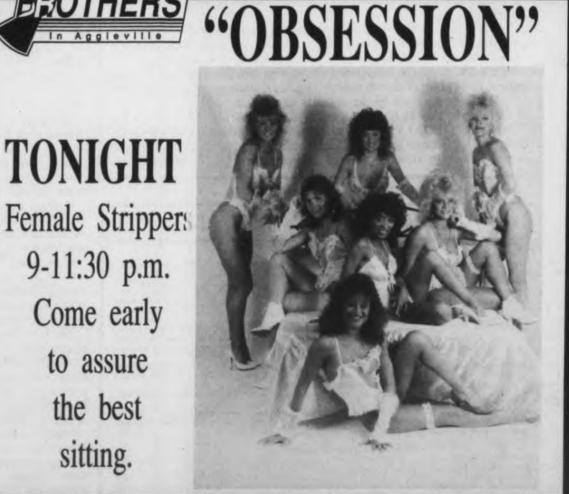

Pizza Shuttle "NO COUPON SPECIALS"

776-5577

rime Time Special 3-10 in. Pizzas 1—Topping 4-Cokes 10.00

Everyday Two-Fers 2-10 in. pizzas 2—Toppings 2-Cokes s8.00 FAST N FREE DELIVERY

Female Strippers 9-11:30 p.m. Come early to assure the best sitting.

1120 Moro • 18 to enter, 21 to drink • 537-9511

Editorial

Kansas State Collegian Opinions ■ Tuesday, January 31, 1989

Frivolity surrounding death degrading for all

Death is never an occasion for prison.

joy.

plant, a pet or a tree, always brings a degree of sadness.

The loss of a human life is more living. tragic, although at times it may be for the best.

relief to terminally ill patients and occasion for frivolity. their families who have been dealing with the illness a long time. That sadness should stem from the Even in these instances, though, flipped, about 100 death penalty more to hurt the pro-death penalty proponents began to celebrate movement than Ted Bundy ever across the road from the state did to help it.

One week ago today, serial murderer Theodore Bundy was put to death in the Florida state electric chair ever needed to be invented. chair.

Firecrackers were set off and The loss of life, whether it be a chants of "Burn, Bundy, burn!" were shouted loudly.

What a sad statement on the

Although there is no doubt Ted Bundy brutally killed at least 20 For example, death can bring women, his death should not be an

As a nation, we should be sad. fact that there are citizens who there is a deep feeling of sadness. commit such heinous crimes which seem to require the death penalty.

We should be sad the electric

For those people who felt the At the moment the switch was need to throw a party, they did

Golf cart legislation deserves another look

Last week, State Rep. R.D. Miller, R-Russell, introduced a bill that incur great gains in road and highwould allow golfers to drive their way safety. Golf carts are much carts on public streets and slower, and their light construction highways.

sure as worthless legislation, a event of a crash. waste of valuable congressional time and money, and another way tional golf cart attire of checkered for elected officials and their cro- pink stretch polyester Sansabelt nies to further their own narrow golf-playing interests.

applaud this visionary measure. It other at night, at dusk, at dawn and is an idea whose time has come. during periods of heavy We only wish that Miller would go precipitation. further in his advocacy of golf Moreover, golf carts are much carts. Mixing automobiles and golf cheaper and easier to drive. They carts on our roadways would be too are smaller and would thus relieve dangerous. It should be all one way parking and overcrowding probor the other.

fullest extent right now.

The advantages would be numerous. Golf carts run on electr- will be as beautiful, serene and icity, and would hence be far more peaceful as a golf course. Putting environmentally sound than the golf carts on our roads and highnoisy, polluting gas-guzzlers Kansans drive nowadays.

An all-golf cart law would also makes it less likely that motorists Some might criticize this mea- will be trapped or crushed in the

Once motorists adopt the traditrousers and canary yellow J.C. Penney Fox shirts, it will be easier However, we at the Collegian for them to see and avoid each lems. Sure, they can't travel as far Because we all hope for a kinder, or as fast as cars, but this would gentler Kansas in which only quiet, surely discourage families and safe golf carts will be driven on the friends from straying far apart and streets, we think it best that Miller losing touch, thus reinforcing tradiand company take their ideas to the tional family and community

> Maybe someday all of Kansas ways seems a logical step in that direction.

New movie remolds history

o here I am, watching this new, ultra-serious movie about civil rights violence in the 1960s, "Mississippi Burning." And you know what? I start laughing.

It wasn't just me and my sick sense of humor. Almost everyone else in the theater found the film's depiction of southern fried bigotry downright funny.

When the Jessup County sheriff tells reporters what he thinks "NAACP" stands for (I won't spoil it for you) and when Mississippi hicks espouse their racist beliefs for television cameras, one can't help but laugh.

Never mind that two scenes prior the same bunch of rubes blew the brains out of some civil rights workers. This is madcap, zany stuff.

And why is it so funny? In my case, I guess I can look at the civil rights movement with a healthy degree of detachment. I was born toward the end of the 60s and grew up in a 99.9 percent white, western Kansas town. Unless you're willing to count disco, I've never witnessed any times of marked social, cultural or political upheaval.

And what about the older members of the audience? I can't really speak for them. But, if the message of "Mississippi Burning" is any indication, they must be feeling a certain nostalgic twinge about the whole thing.

With a good 20 to 25 years gone by, I'm sure the memory gets soft, and a warm feeling of nostalgia, even toward the most revolting and ghoulish things, sets in. I feel the same way now about the Reagan years, and that was only two weeks ago.

In all fairness, "Mississippi Burning" is a pretty good movie. Throughout most of the movie, the subject of racism in the South is treated with understanding, offering a good deal of insight into the conditions that allow for its survival. It's a movie that everyone should see.

The only problem is, you may have already seen this movie - or something like it.

Betcha heard this one before: A young, idealistic, pencil-necked geek with a college degree and a badge, this time played by Willem Dafoe, tries to use his strict, by-the-book approach to catch the bad guy. Dafoe's partner, Gene Hackman, an old hand at the game,

Mark Schmeller Collegian Columnist

teaches the kid, after some fights and vigorous male bonding, the way things are really ou've seen it in "Dirty Harry" movies, in "Beverly Hills Cop," and in every TV cop show. Now you can see it in "Mississippi Burning" one of the year's 10 best, and recipient of four Golden Globe nominations.

On top of all that, the movie strikes a blow to Martin Luther King Jr.'s idea of nonviolent social change that works within the spirit and letter of the law - the idea responsible for the success of the civil rights movement.

Throughout most of the movie, Dafoe's character tries to track down the murderers of three civil rights workers via legal means and comes up empty. Only when Gene Hackman begins to employ his methods - like threatening one suspect with castration, probably a civil rights violation - do things work

Because the murderers are so vile, we are made to accept the things that Hackman does. In doing so, "Mississippi Burning" argues that King's ideology and methods are somehow inferior to fascism with an FBI badge that the ends justify the means.

It's sad that the first big movie about one of the most important periods in recent American history has to be saddled with the most tired of buddy movie cliches. Maybe the producers of "Mississippi Burning" thought the real story didn't have enough box office potential.

Or maybe, just maybe, the real story would have been too unsettling to get white Americans into the movie theaters and would have liberal movie critics wetting their pants.

After all, the heroes of "Mississippi Burning" are two white FBI agents, or "Hoover boys" as the local yokels call them. There's a problem with that.

J. Edgar Hoover's FBI dragged its feet when it came to enforcing civil rights in the South. This is the same organization, after all, that spied on Martin Luther King Jr. initially because he was suspected of being a communist, then later because Hoover and President Johnson got a voyeuristic kick from listening to wiretaps of King's amorous

"He who accepts evil without protesting against it," King once said, "is really cooperating with it." In the early and mid 60s, millions of blacks and whites joined King in nonviolent protest.

In acts of bravery and altruism rarely paralleled, protesters remained passive as bigots and policemen beat them over the head with clubs and kicked them in the face.

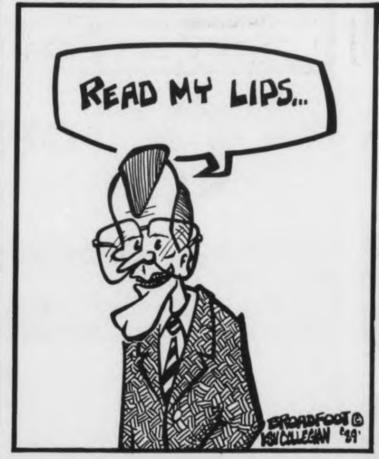

In "Mississippi Burning," history is turned on its head. Here it is the FBI that stands tall to defend rights and dignity of blacks. Meanwhile, blacks are pushed to the background, mostly portrayed as a bunch of groveling Stepin Fetchits who won't do or say anything lest some bubba bust them one on the chops.

If one didn't know anything about the struggle for civil rights, "Mississippi Burning" would leave the impression that J. Edgar Hoover was its champion, and that Martin Luther King Jr. was too busy whoring and carousing somewhere.

few years back, many argued the "Rambo" movies were an attempt to make Americans believe that our country won the Vietnam war. We didn't, by the way. "Mississippi Burning" is an unconscious attempt to mold another soothing lie from a nostalgic past: Our government has always been the primary advocate of civil

It's a lie because in the 60s, our government and many of our citizens weren't too anxious to help blacks in the South. Even that champion of freedom President George Herbert Walker Bush opposed the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

See "Mississippi Burning," but don't believe the lies.

Collegian Editorial Policies

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR are always encouraged. Those which pertain to matters of campus and/or public interest are especially encouraged, and are given the highest priority.

cannot condense their opinions should consider submiting their letter in the form of a guest column. All letters are subject to editing for space, style and taste.

double-spaced, typed pages. If the submission is used as a column and not a letter to the editor, it will be accompanied by the author's photograph.

SEND SUBMISSIONS to the Collegian in Kedzie 116. UNSIGNED EDITORIALS represent the consensus opinion of the Collegian's edi-

Letters should be kept as brief as possible, preferably under 300 words. Those who

GUEST COLUMNS are also encouraged. The column should be no longer than two torial board. Opinion columns do not necessarily reflect the opinions of the Collegian management, Student Publications, Inc. or the newspaper staff in general.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

FDITOR	AND THE PROPERTY OF THE PROPER	Janet Swanson
MANAGING EDITOR		Susan L'Ecuyer
NEWS EDITOR		Erwin Seba
COTTODIAL DACE E	OITOR ROTIO	Catherine Doud
EDITORIAL PAGE E	COLTON	Greg Vocel
PHOTO/GRAPHICS I	EDITOR	Chris Have
SPORTS EDITOR		Todd Sahara
ADVERTISING MAN	AGER	1000 Schulz
EDITORIAL BOARD.	Brian Hummell, Dwayne Lively, Scott Miller, Michael Nichols, Karla Rede Chad L. Sanborn, Mark Schmeller, Erwin Seba, Robert R. Short, Brett Stran-	Isheimer, Paula Selby
tions Inc., Kedzie Hall Monday and Thursda	Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is publish 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published Monday through Friday durity during summer sessions. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 665 nd address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Kansas 167.	ing the school year and 02.
News contributions Inquiries concerning	will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, plocal, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Id be directed to (913) 532-6555.	Kedzie Hall 116. Classified word adver-
	Kanaas State Collegian Subscription Rates	- 224
One Semester (Fall o	or Spring)	$25
Two Sarrasters (Fall	and Spring)	$45
	no and formation	$50

Fiscal discipline

I read with interest Steve Miller's proposal for a $15 per semester fee increase to help support the KSU Athletic Department.

If the fee were to be used toward compliance with Title XIX, it would have my support. If it were to be used to reinstate some minor sports such as wrestling that would give the average student greater access to intercollegiate sports, I'd be all for it.

Instead, the fee will be used to defray losses due to the football program and to pay for the middle management infrastructure Miller has installed. It's difficult for me to work up much sympathy for the athletic department when it pays its new football coach an estimated $150,000 annually in salary in fringe (more than twice what any academic department head makes).

The University should be represented by players who are students first and athletes second. The athletic department's practice of using hired ringers to appease win-hungry alumni, and thereby make its high-paying jobs more secure, is not what college athletics should be all about.

I don't feel that the students of the University should subsidize such behavior.

Each time student fees are increased, a few more Kansans are financially unable to receive the college education that would improve their lives and better the economic standing of the state.

We are already looking at a substantial fee increase for engineering students. If we are going to raise fees further and exclude a few more people, then at least it should be for the sake of bettering our education and not for the personal enrichment of the athletic deparment coaches and administrators.

Letters

John Bish senior in computer engineering

Boycott acceptable

Re: Doug Folk's editorial on Jan. 27. Folk, between your lyric interpretation and sarcasm, I gathered what toasted your cookies was Central Kansas Youth for Christ's hinting that K-State patrons should discontinue financial support to K-State if the patrons didn't agree with bringing Metallica to Bramlage Coliseum.

I see nothing wrong with urging people to stop financially supporting an institution if they disagree with what an institution is Several K-State groups are asking K-State to discontinue financial support to businesses in South Africa because the groups do not support the South African government's views. Are these groups "overstepping their bounds" also?

Jocelin Corpstein senior in electrical engineering

NRA should yield

In response to Jean M. Phelps' rather glib reply to R. Charles Pearce's article on gun control, I must say I am disturbed.

What is an AK-47 used for anyway? Target practice? I doubt it. Unfortunately, we were shown its intended use this past week. As for the NRA in general, it needs to stop using the "it's not the guns that kill - it's the people that use them" excuse. I could almost sympathize with that rationalization if automatic weapons were hard to obtain. But as it stands, it is easier for a criminal to purchase a weapon than to cash a check. And to whom do we owe that courtesy? The NRA, of course. More times than I care to enumerate, the NRA has influenced politicians to balk in even discussing measures which would have made the acquisition of such dangerous weapons more difficult. The NRA needs to review its standpoint on this issue with the hopes of preventing a tragedy, like the one in California, from ever happening again. I would hate to think that, with the NRA unwilling to yield, we may someday have to provide schoolteachers with arms to protect themselves and their students from psychotics like Patrick Purdy

David S. Howard freshman in journalism

Debate continues on state census

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA - Democrats continued Monday to question the accuracy of last year's special state census, as the House reapportionment committee prepared to use those numbers to develop a House redistricting plan.

Several minority party members of the Legislative, Judicial and Congressional Apportionment Committee barraged census officials with questions about the procedures used to complete the 1988 count. They expressed concerns about possible undercounting, especially of blacks and Hispanics.

Census Director Brad Bryant and Committee Chairman Vince Snowbarger, R-Olathe, defended the census. Snowbarger repeated his assertion that the census debate is best argued in court and not in committee.

"Frankly, it's not relevant," Snowbarger said of the Democrats' questions. "I think it's time to put the numbers to the maps. My theme is 'Let's get on with it."

The Democrats, especially Reps. Joan Adam of Atchison, Anthony Hensley of Topeka, Norman Justice of Kansas City and Donna Whiteman of Hutchinson, made it clear they're not entirely comfortable with the way the census was conducted. Each of their districts is said to have at least 2,500 fewer people than the ideal for a House district.

"I'm not satisfied in terms of what special kinds of efforts were made in hard-to-count areas," Hensley said after the committee's meeting.

In November, voters approved an amendment to the Kansas Constitution that requires reapportionment of at least the House this year and both the House and Senate in 1992. The state Supreme Court automatically will review any redistricting plan.

For this year's reapportionment, the Legislature must use the data collected in the state census, conducted by the secretary of state's office. In 1992, the state will use federal census

Officials and residents in Douglas, Leavenworth, Riley and Wyandotte counties have joined in lawsuits challenging the census in Shawnee County District Court and U.S. District Court in Topeka. In addition, legislators whose districts are said to be underpopulated have questioned the census' accuracy.

During Monday's meeting, Hensley compared the state census numbers for parts of Topeka with large minority populations to federal census data and 1987 county estimates. He noted that in 10 areas, or federal census "tracts," the discrepancy between the state numbers and the 1987 estimates is 4,874.

Merchants debate changes

By Craig Hamrick Collegian Reporter

Aggieville merchants and others concerned with the future of the Aggieville shopping district met Monday night to discuss the planned renovation of the area.

About 35 people met to listen to Ken Ebert of the Ken Ebert Design Group, a local architectural consulting firm, explain the proposed improvements to paved areas in Aggieville.

Juli Salberg, executive director of the Aggieville Merchants Association, said the public meeting was to give the merchants a voice in the plans.

A portion of the funding for the renovation would come from the merchants and other funding would be provided by the City of Manhattan, pending approval from the City Commission.

A version of the plan was presented to the commission Nov. 18, 1988, and rejected. The commission asked that the $2.3 million plan be reworked to omit residential areas and that the cost be brought down before the plan was returned for commission approval. Salberg said if a petition signed by at least 51 percent of the business owners in Aggieville can be obtained in time, the revised plan will be taken before the commission on Feb. 21.

Ebert used sketches and maps to outline two plans which he said are designed to unify the area from Bluemont Avenue south to Laramie Street and from 11th Street west to 14th Street. The proposed improvements would include new sidewalks, lampposts, benches and pedestrian gates.

One plan includes a new parking lot where Chameleons is located. The other plan includes on-steet parking instead, which costs less, but would involve the widening of some streets.

During discussions following Ebert's presentation, Gene Klingler, Manhattan city commissioner, suggested that individuals be allowed to pay to have their names engraved in pavement running alongside the sidewalks.

"If this is possible, I think we could sell these inlays to (K-State) students," Klingler said. "I think it is something they would do - put their name on the sidewalk outside their favorite watering hole and bring their sons and daughters back 20 years from now and show

Fall, spring grade point averages parallel

By Todd Jenkins

Collegian Reporter With the mild winter conditions mimicking the beginning of the spring season, some students may feel spring fever lingering in the air. With it may come the desire to spend more time outdoors and less time with homework. Despite the temptations of the spring weather, students' grades parallel the fall semester averages.

The statistics show that grade averages remain constant, said University Registrar Donald Foster.

For the fall semester, the freshman grade point average was 2.48; during the spring, it was 2.49. The averages

Remember

18 oz. Fishbowls

-Olio_

Enjoy smooth, creamy

Frozen Yogurt

that tastes like Ice Cream

but with 80% less fat!

-- FREE SAMPLES--

I Can't Believe It's YOGURT!

GREAT TASTE - NATURALLY

OPEN: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Daily

Noon-11 p.m. Sundays

remained the same for fall and spring semesters for the remainder of the undergraduate classes. The sophomore class averaged 2.65; the junior class, 2.74; and the senior class, 2.91.

"Most students probably do the same amount of work in the spring as in the fall," said Cliff Phillips, senior in history. "(Grades) just depend on the individual's study habits."

Mike Romme, junior in industrial engineering, had a different opinion about the consistent grade averages.

"The same number of A, B, C, D and F's are given each semester even if the work level doesn't stay constant," he said. "I feel it averages out in the long run."

Stephen Kiefer, associate professor of psychology, said, "In the fall semester, a lot of the freshmen are just starting to adjust, and the grades reflect (the adjustment)."

In the spring, freshmen have made some of the adjustments to college, but the nice weather may prevent them from attending class so the grades tend to equal the fall semester averages, Kiefer said.

One difference the statistics illustrate is that as the student gets older, the overall class grade point averages

"There were two reasons for (the trend in grade increases)," Foster said. "As a student gets into their junior and senior year, they start the classes for their major, and they gain interest."

Weekly specials:

Monday - Bottles for $1

Tuesday - 60¢ Draws

Wednesday - $1 Cans

Thursday - $2 Pitchers

10 a.m. to midnight

Monday through Saturday

601 N. 3rd

537-1030

■ See GRADES, Page 8

ClassAds Kedzie 103

CLASSIFIED RATES One day: 15 words or fewer, $2.50, 20 cents per word over 15; Two consecutive dates: 15 words or fewer, $3.50, 25 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.25, 30 cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 35 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $5.00, 40 cents per word over 15.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publications. Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon FRIDAY for Monday's paper.

more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the adver-tiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not alter the value of the ad.

Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

Display Classified Rates
One day: $5.20 per inch; Three consecutive days: $5.00 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.80 per inch; Ten consecutive days: $4.80 per inch. (Deadline is 4:30 p.m. two days before publication.) Classified advertising is available only to those who do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex or ancestry.

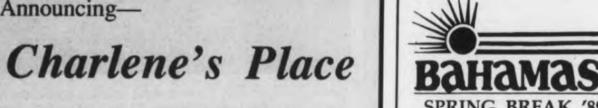

(Continued on page 7)

*Location on the water

*Luxury Ocean Cruise

*Legal age 18

★Cocktail parties every day

SPRING BREAK '89 $259

Sign-up and informational meeting at The Station

Thursday, Feb. 2 at 9 p.m.

Free keg compliments of Classic Travel

Free give-aways - T-shirts - Gift certificates toward trip

- Hats - And more

539-4400 1217 Moro in Aggieville Call and ask for our

BRAND NEW MENU pizza by the slice-luncheon pizza

dine in or free delivery

WANTED

Radio Announcers

Applications are now being accepted for announcer/DJ positions for various on-air shifts, including weekends. Prior AM or FM broadcast experience is necessary. Apply at our All-New studios, 2414 Casement Road, Manhattan, Monday-Friday, 8 a.m.-5 p.m. KMKF.

All New All Hat

Become a student of the world

Spend a year or a semester abroad for about the same cost as staying at home. Over 100 sites in Africa, Asia, Canada, Latin America, Europe and Australia offer undergraduate and graduate programs in fields such as international business, law, engineering, architecture, the humanities, natural and social sciences, communications, fine arts and languages.

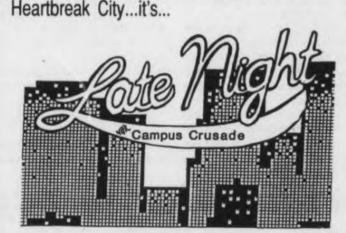

Through the International Student Exchange Program, you are directly enrolled in a foreign institution and receive academic credit toward your degree program at home. You are totally immersed in a new culture and language, not in an isolated study program for U.S. students and taught by U.S. professors.

Join the more than 4,000 ISEP students who have made the world their university.

For more information, contact your ISEP coordinator:

Prof. W.F. Kolonosky, Dept. of Modern Languages The International Student Exchange Program is a fully reciprocal exchange plan funded in part by the United States Information Agency under the Fulbright-Hays Act of 1961.

Nautilus Towers-Aggieville Live from Manhattan, Collegetown, U.S.A.,

featuring:

Steve Douglass SUCCESS=SATISFACTION?

Tuesday, Jan. 31, 10 p.m.

ATΩ Fraternity 1632 McCain Ln.

Sponsored by: Campus Crusade for Christ

The Pizza Restaurant That Didn't Stop With Pizza

THE TRADITION HAS TRANSFERRED

Same Great Food . . .

 Award-winning Pizza
 Fabulous Salad Bar Homemade Italian Specialties • Fantastic Luncheon & Evening Buffets

Same Great Service . . . For Take-Out or Delivery call: 537-4350

Great New Location

3003 ANDERSON SUITE 941

East of Alco in Village Plaza Shopping Center

Open Daily at 11 a.m.

ALCO X

Kansas State Collegian ■ Tuesday, January 31, 1989 ■ Page 6

K-State's Bahner player of week

By Chris Hays Sports Editor

After two of her best outings in her short collegiate basketball career last week, K-State sophomore Kristie Bahner was named Big Eight Player of the Week Monday.

"I was surprised," Bahner said. "I walked into the locker room (Monday) and there was this sign that said, 'Congratulations for Big Eight Player of the Week,' and I thought it was a joke. So I was quite a bit surprised.

"I guess I had a pretty good week, but I didn't think it was anything that would be materially recognized as player of the week. Especially comparing it to the performances of some of my other teammates, and they didn't get named player of the week."

Bahner, a 5-foot-11 forward from Topeka, scored a career-high 19 points and grabbed seven rebounds in the Lady Cats' 87-76 victory over Iowa State Wednesday. Bahner then turned around Saturday and tallied a team-high 17 points and had 10 rebounds and six assists to lead K-State to a 74-68 win at Kansas, snapping the Lady Cats' nine-game Big Eight road losing streak.

"I can't think of another player who is more deserving than Kristie," Lady Cats Coach Matilda Mossman said. "She averaged double figures and, I think, nine rebounds in the two games last week."

Even more impressive in Bahner's performance against Iowa State was

By The Associated Press

coach Billy Tubbs, an admirer of the great explorers such as Christopher

Columbus and Magellan, has reached uncharted territory with his

They're ranked No. 1 in The Associated Press college basketball poll for the first time in the school's wanted to do," Tubbs said Monday.

"I guess you could say it's a dream

"You always want to coach the

No. 1 team in the nation, even if it's just for a day. You'd like to coach it forever, of course. I think it's something you work for, and it came true.

The Sooners, 17-2, were ranked fourth a week ago but jumped to No.

1 after victories over Colorado and

Nevada-Las Vegas, and losses by the season to hold the No. 1 spot, the Sooners received 32 of the 66 first-place votes cast by the nationwide panel of sportswriters and broadcasters and finished with 1,273 points to the first time in 37 years, held the top spot for just one week as the Fighting

Illini lost to Minnesota 69-62 before rebounding for a victory over it appeared Georgetown would move up one place to the top spot, but the

Hoyas were upset by Louisiana State

Louisville was next in line for a chance at No. 1, but the Cardinals lost at home to Ohio State 85-79

When Illinois lost Thursday night,

Illinois, which became No. 1 for edge Illinois in the balloting.

In becoming the third team this

I'm happy about that."

top three teams.

Indiana.

come true.

"It's something I've always

NORMAN, Okla. - Oklahoma

Changes highlight week's Top 20 poll

the fact that she sat out most of the first half due to foul trouble and only had one point and one rebound at the intermission.

But Bahner came out on fire in the second half, scoring 19 points and hauling in six rebounds as K-State finally pulled away from the Lady Cyclones late in the game. In her two games last week, Bahner hit 54.5 percent (12-22) of her field goals and 64 percent (12-19) of her free throws.

Prior to her 19 points against Iowa State, Bahner's career high had been 18 points which she tallied against Missouri-Kansas City earlier this season. On the season, Bahner is averaging 10.8 points a game and 6.7 rebounds and she has scored in double figures in five of the Lady Cats' last six games.

Bahner began the season as a reserve forward for starter Janet Madsen. But Madsen went down with a season-ending knee injury after the Lady Cats' second game. Bahner got the starting nod and has been there since game three.

"Yeah, I'm happy about it," Bahner said of the award. "But I'm more happy that our team is playing really well right now and that we are playing together. I'm just happy that we're winning."

"Kristie has also played great defense, which doesn't show up on the stat sheet," Mossman said. "She's just had some really complete games

To show the wide range of opinion

North Carolina, 18-3, jumped from seventh to third with four first-place votes and 1,074 points, 19

more than Arizona, 15-2, which improved two places and was named

Missouri, 18-3, stayed fifth. The Georgetown, which fell to 15-2 with the loss to Louisiana State, dropped from second to sixth with

1,019 points and the final first-place points after having its 14-game winning streak snapped and falling to

Oklahoma (32)

N. Carolina (4)

Georgetown (1) Louisville

Illinois (25)

Arizona (1)

Florida St.

Seton Hall

N. Carolina St.

Michigan

Syracuse

Ohio State

West Virginia

State 1; and UCLA 1.

Duke

UNLV

LSU

20. Stanford

Indiana

Missouri (3)

Louisville was seventh with 1,011

17-2 1,273 4

18-1 1,226 1

18-3 1,074 7

15-2 1,055 6

18-3 1,048 5

15-2 1,019 2

16-1 797 11 15-3 651 12

16-4 618 10

14-3 602 8

17-4 515 14

582 15

505 17

347 16

1,011 3

14-3

14-2

15-4

Others receiving votes: Kansas 70;

Providence 60; Georgia Tech 28; St.

Mary's (Calif.) 19; Oregon State 10; Cal-

Santa Barbara 9; New Mexico 9; Notre Dame 8; Pittsburgh 8; Tennessee 6;

Alabama 5; Connecticut 5; K-State 4;

Villanova 2; Wichita State 2; Arkansas

1; Arkansas-Little Rock 1; Ball State 1;

La Salle 1; Minnesota 1; Oklahoma

15-2 107

14-5 73

15-5 72 19

Tigers had three first-place votes and

No. 1 on one ballot.

1,048 points.

on who deserved the top ranking, six teams received first-place votes.

ranking in the Top Twenty this week for the first time in the school's ago because the top three teams in last week's poll lost, but . . .

Oklahoma coach Billy Tubbs and his Sooners gained the No. 1 history. Oklahoma moved up from its No. 4 ranking from a week

OU No. 1, but where's Missouri?

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - Oklahoma's being No. 1 in this week's Top Twenty is great, say Big Eight basketball coaches, but how come Missouri is still No. 5?

Norm Stewart's Tigers were ranked fifth when the weekend action began. They and then-No. 4 Oklahoma were the only teams in the top five who managed not to

But Oklahoma zoomed to the top while the Tigers, with an 18-3 record to show against Oklahoma's 17-2, stayed put.

"Where is Missouri?" Oklahoma Coach Billy Tubbs asked Monday during the Big Eight coaches briefing. "No. 5? Really? I thought Missouri should be No. 2.

So did Danny Nee, whose Nebraska team was clobbered at home Saturday by Missouri 89-72. "I think we should have the 1-2 teams in the country," Nee said. "Norm can put many different type teams on the floor. They can go to a small, quick team when they bring File/John La Barge .. Norm Stewart and Missouri stayed No. 5.

Anthony Peeler and Nathan Buntin off the bench, or they can put a big, strong team on the floor. They're very versatile in how they can "Missouri is also having an outstanding year. They seem to be able to turn it on whenever they need to," said K-State Coach Lon Kruger. "They've done that in every conference game. Very physical, very athletic and very talented. People around here appreciate that."

Missouri certainly has nothing to be ashamed of when nationally ranked teams compare schedules. Non-conference foes have included Illinois, Arkansas, and Memphis State. Kansas Wednesday night will be the Tigers' third straight road game, then they're back home Saturday to face K-State before going back on the road to duel Oklahoma. Missouri Coach Norm Stewart said he didn't even know he had stayed at No. 5, and was only happy for his buddy Billy.

"I hear Oklahoma is No. 1 and I'm really pleased about that. They're very deserving. I think Billy's done a great job again. It's nice to see the Big Eight up on top."

What does he think that does for the Big Eight?

"I don't think we need anything done for the Big Eight," Stewart said. "We're all drawing really well. There's a lot of interest. We've got good players. Everything seems to be going great so I don't know if we need to do anything for the Big Eight."

Nevertheless, many experts predicted a fall from grace after the Big Eight reached the pinnacle of 1987, when five teams went to the NCAA Tournament and Oklahoma and Kansas met in the title game.

"It means the Big Eight is still rubbs said of t week's poll. "Everybody talked about the Big Eight dropping off because we lost some great people last year, but you never heard the Big Eight coaches say it would drop off. We're the only conference in the country with two teams in the top five. I think that speaks well for our conference. I think it's another great happening for our league."

Asked why he thinks Missouri should be No. 2, Tubbs said, "Cause I said so."

DUI gets Olympic diver 17-year sentence after killing 2 in accident last summer

By The Associated Press

TAMPA, Fla. - Olympic diver Bruce Kimball on Monday was sentenced to 17 years in prison for a high-speed drunken driving accident last summer in which he plowed into a group of teen-agers, killing two and injuring four.

"You must suffer the consequences of drunken driving. We must dangers of alcohol. stop it. We can't seem to get a hammer on it," Hillsborough Circuit Judge Harry Lee Coe III told the 1984 Olympic silver medalist.

Calling the Aug. 1 accident a "terrible, terrible tragedy," the judge said he hoped the sentence would "scream out to young people" about the dangers of drunken driving.

Coe revoked Kimball's driver's license and said his prison term would be followed by 15 years' probation to include community work aimed at teaching young people the

A model prisoner could expect parole in five or six years, according to defense attorney Fran Quesada.

Kimball was legally drunk the night his speeding sports car slammed into a crowd of some 30 teen-agers on a dark dead-end street at a site known was "the spot," a popular hangout for teen-agers in suburban Brandon, Fla.

Prosecutors said he roared down the narrow road at about 75 mph and skidded 397 feet from the point of impact, hurling victims 30-60 feet, sideswiping several cars and leaving a trail of blood.

Kimball, dressed in a blue jail uniform, stood impassively before the judge. He said nothing and did not visibly react when the sentence was Kimball's attorneys threw him on the mercy of the court after the 25-year-old athlete interrupted the start of his trial Jan. 11 and in a surprise move switched his plea to guilty on two counts of driving under the influence and manslaughter and three counts of causing great bodily injury while driving under the influence.

He has been in jail since.

On Monday, Kimball changed his plea again, this time to no contest.

Just ask li'l sis, $15 student athletic fee small price to pay

Commentary

82-80 on Saturday.

BRIAN HUMMELL Sports Columnist

The KSU Athletic Department will be asking you, the student, for an extra $15 per semester in the form of an athletic fee. Chances are you should want to be almost ecstatic to pay such a minimal, nearly infinitesimal amount in relation to the greater scheme of things.

Just because someone asks you to give them money doesn't mean you have to give them money. So besides being polite, the athletic department gives three very enticing guarantees to you, the student, in return for the mere pittance of $15 per semester.

All non-revenue sporting events would be free to you, the student. "Who cares?" you say. You should.

You will next year when the Lady Cats are challenging for the conference championship, and K-State's baseball team is doing the same.

After 23 home baseball games and 11 or so women's basketball games at $1 a shot and then doing some simple addition and subtraction which even your little sister could do. you'll probably conclude that this is a bargain! Not to mention the track, volleyball, tennis and golf events which are also included for the low, low price of free if the athletic fee passes.

But wait! There's more. How does a cap on the price of student season tickets for football (so what) and basketball (cool) sound?

Sounds fair to me. Say, for example, you just happen to own a season ticket to those athletic spectacles periodicallly staged in Bramlage Coliseum. Or you want to, or know somebody who wants to. It behooves you and them to vote for the proposed fee.

Well, get your sister, the human calculator. It's time for fractions and multiplication.

K-State could double the student season ticket price and still only rank in about the middle of other NCAA programs in ticket prices. Football tickets cost students $30, basketball $38.50. So say the price were raised even 50 percent, and sis will tell you once again, what a bargain!

Right, right, right, the athletic department guaranteed prices won't go up, but that is only if the fee passes. They didn't guarantee a price increase if the fee fails, but money is money and it's got to come from Ticket prices for athletic events at K-State are already dirt cheap; might as well keep 'em as is.

The third guarantee from the athletic department is that football and basketball season tickets will not be packaged. So, if you doubt the ability of the football team and still want to see the basketball team, everything is peachy. If you vote for the fee.

If the fee fails and you still want to see a basketball game you might have to rough it through the football season, too. But maybe that wouldn't be so bad. With fate, hope and several miracles, you might witness K-State shaking the label of "worst football program in the country."

What it all amounts to is the athletic department could ram price increases and ticket packages and serrated steak knives not sold in stores down our throats. It's not. Or, seemingly, does not want to.

It's up to you, the student. So, now that the truth is out, how do we get this thing passed?

Well, this might be a little impractical, but if Steve Miller, K-State's athletic director, would make a 15-minute tape explaining the need for the fee and send it to the students, it would convince a lot of them.

After hearing him speak three times, I'm convinced the guy is for real. I'm also convinced he could sell about anything to anybody.

If you figure he's starting with a constituency of about 6,000 student season basketball ticket holders, the thing ought to pass with flying colors. But these students are also eligible to vote in the general student elections, which annually draw about 2,000 students.

The student fee can work, and it will if a little inspiration and student commitment come together.

Announcements

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs -skincare -glamor -nails -gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor, 539-2070. COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp 539-6193.

FEMALE COUNTRY band needs lead guitar player. Call 537-1292 or 776-3206 for more information. GUCCI WATCHES, Ladies replicas, great gift idea for Valentine's Day. $45. 532-3944.

Success = Satisfaction? Tues., Jan. 31, 10 p.m.

$AT\Omega$ Fraternity 1632 McCain Ln.

Sponsored by

Campus Crusade for Christ

PARTY DAYTONA for Spring Break sign up party at Brother's Wednesday after the game. Beer, free pizza. Woody.

PERMS— QUANTUM, $25—Gel nails, $30—Haircut, shampoo and blow-dry, $9. Hair Shack, 415 N. Third. 776-7421. SOUTH PADRE/ Spring Break '89-Nice rooms for a great pricel From $109 to $169 on the beach or minutes from it. Five or seven days. Don't spend all your money on a room, —you're never there anyway! (Limited space). Call 1-800-782-7653, ext TALL, BLONDE watching Zig Zigler tape in the Edge Center, I would like to meet you. Please reply in Personals. —short, cute man checking out tape on relationships. VIDEOTAPE YOUR wedding or other parties. $50 and up. Call now for quotation. Budget Video Memories.

WANTED— 100 overweight people to try herbal weight control program. No drugs, no exercise. Doctor recommended. 100% guaranteed. 776-5114,

CLOSE TO campus, negotiable rent, off-street parking, nice one-bedroom, not a complex, no pets. 539-4641.

FREE COUNTRY living in exchange for minimal assistance to wheelchair-bound landlady. 1-494-8201. ONE-BEDROOM on Sunset. $260 plus gas and electric

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT nice, spacious, furnished or unfurnished. Available immediately. Lease through May or longer, $300 per month. 537-4648

WORTH CHECKING into these very nice one-, twothree- and four-bedroom apartment complexes and houses, for now, summer and fall. Close to campus with great prices. 537-2919, 537-1686.

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM on 17th Street available now.

LARGE TWO bedrooms, leases available now and next August. Furnished and unfurnished. Phone 537-9064 daily.

NICE ONE-BEDROOM in Lee/ Hunting area available

UNFURNISHED APARTMENT to rent on west edge of

WORTH CHECKING into these very nice one-, twothree- and four-bedroom apartment complexes and houses, for now, summer and fall. Close to campus with great prices. 537-2919, 537-1666.

Collegian They

SALGO PRESENTS:

THERE HAS BEEN A RECENT TREND TOWARD SELF-IMPROVEMENT AMONG THE AMERICAN PUBLIC... AND, WHILE IT IS IMPORTANT TO THERE HAS BEEN ONE UNFORTUNATE SIDE-EFFECT TO THIS

AMERICANS, SUDDENLY FREE FROM SUCH ANNOYING VICES ARE BECOMING BORING!

IN FACT ... IF WE CONTINUE SELF-IMPROVING AT OUR

WILL LOOK LIKE

BUT IT DOESN'T HAVE TO BE THAT WAY ...

BECAUSE NOW, THROUGH OUR FIVE "HOW TO MAKE MYSELF

SACK IN THE BIG BEAN FIELD NORTH OF BLAINE, KANSAS...

REMEMBER ... TO MAKE YOURSELF MORE INTERESTING, PICK A VICE, ANY VICE,

AVAILABLE NOW. Quiet, well-maintained two-bedroom turnished apartment. Paid heat, laundry, patio, carport. $340. No smoking, pets, waterbeds, 537-9686.

Laundry facilities, no pets, please. 539-5051 or 776-3804.

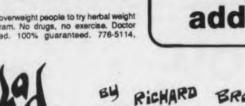

Unfurnished 1 or 2 bedroom apartments. Sign up for Fall leases begins March 1.

Two blocks to campus. Balcony, gas heat, laundry facilities. $310. 537-9020 or 776-3804.

now. Fireplace, dishwasher, laundry facilities, $340, 539-2103 or 776-3804.

campus. One-bedroom, plenty of storage space, $200 month plus utilities. Call Jim Roper at Couponsadd up!

BROADFOOT

YOURSELF MORE INTERESTING"

RECOGNIZE AN INDIVIDUAL'S RIGHT TO BETTER HIM HERSELF ... PHENOMENON ..

AS SMOKING, FINGER-NAIL CHEWING AND LOW SELF-ESTEEM ..

CURRENT PACE, BY THE YEAR 2019, EVERY MAN, WOMAN AND CHILD IN AMERICAS

INTERESTING" INSTRUCTIONAL VIDEOS, WE WILL TEACH YOU TO BECOME THE KIND OF ANNOYINGLY LOUD, UGLY AMERICAN THAT YOU PROBABLY THOUGHT HAD VANISHED WITH DISCO ... LEAVE $ 1935 ALONG WITH THREE CLIPPED OUT "SALAD" COMICS AND YOUR NAME AND ADDRESS IN A PAPER TO ORDER:

NOSE PICKIN!

ORDER NOW, AND WE'LL SEND ALONG A FREE BURPING TO THE CLASSICS TAPE AT ABSOLUTELY NO RODITIONAL CHARGE!!!

AND MAKE IT YOURS!!!

QM NY (15), $2.25 each. Call 532-6555 or come by Kedzie 103 to see. 9 Employment The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to approach any such "employ-

NICE THREE-BEDROOM, all appliances, fireplace, two-car garage, fenced backyard central air, $525. Available Feb. 1. Call 776-1945 or 776-6575.

ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT in City Park area, $235 plus gas and electric. No pets. 539-8229 or 776-3804.

STUDIO APARTMENT adjacent to campus, close to Aggleville. College Court Apartments. $220 monthly. Private parking, air conditioning, washer/ dryer and storage lockers. Call 532-7159.

TWO-BEDROOM AT 608 Yuma. Appliances furnished, $225. Off-street parking, pets allowed. 537-1450.

TWO TWO-BEDROOM apartments, one block from campus, $300. Stove and refrigerator furnished. 776-7371 or 1-468-3364.

Park Place

1408 Cambridge Pl.

(913) 539-2951

1955 CHEVY low rider pickup, wide window, 350cu.

1974 MAVERICK, only $300, good interiors, engine, great for moving around. After 5:30p.m., 776-6277, Rick.

1977 VW Rabbit for sale. Dependable transportation. New paint. Call 776-5027.

1978 AMC Pacer, excellent condition AM/FM cassette. Need to sell. Call 539-5044 after 6p.m.

1980 MAZDA GLC-good condition, $975, 539-0136 or

ATTENTION- GOVERNMENT seized vehicles from

ACTIVE BALANCED creative day environment. Full day care, preschool. 537-1202.

COMPUTER AND typewriter ribbons— discount prices. Hull Business Supplies, Aggleville, 715 N. 12th. 539-1413.

LAPTOP DATA General IBM Compatible, 512K, modern, co-processor, Thinkjet Printer. $4,500 modern, co-processor, Thinkjet new, will sacrifice. 1-238-4998.

LINE PRINTER ribbons for sale- Black multistrike no.

QM MS (41/4 dozen), $1.25 each. Black nylon no.

7 Child Care

8 Computers

$100. Fords, Mercedes, Corvettes, Chevys. Sur lus Buyers Guide. 1-602-838-8885 ext. A1797.

power steering, power brakes, tilt, Cragar SS, subframed, $4,250, 537-1539, ask for "Rat."

4 Automobiles for Sale

apartments

nt opportunity" with ressonable caution. ATTENTION- HIRINGI Government jobs- your area $17,840-$69,485. Call 1-602-838-8885 ext R1797. CAMP DAISY Hindman Resident Camp, summer, 1989 Postions available: business manager, aquatics, horse staff, unit staff, program staff. Contact: Career Planning and Placement Center by Feb. 24.

EARN UP to $10/ hour. Work own hours. Car and phone needed. Call (913)288-0514. GRADUATE ASSISTANT needed to work with non-traditional students in the FENIX office. Excellent career opportunity. Contact Suzanne Knorr, director. Leasure 3 or 532-6434 mornings NANNIES NEEDED. Families in New England area looking for responsible individuals to watch child-ren. Good pay and benefits. For spring placement, call now. 537-0947.

PART-TIME BOOKKEEPER with knowledge of double entry bookkeeping. Four hours per week. Send resume to: The Collegian, Box 5, Kedzie Hall, KSU, Manhattan, Kansas 66506.

RESEARCH ASSISTANT: Assist in design and lead in construction of instrument to measure movement of water and chemicals in soil. BS in engineering, with training in structural analysis preferred. Capability to install, calibrate, and operate instrumentation is desirable but not required. Temporary, full-time. $21,000 per year. Submit resume and transcript by Feb. 6 to: Agricultural Engineering Department, Kansas State University, 147 Seaton Hall, Manhattan. EOE.

RESORT HOTELS, Cruiselines, airlines and amusement parks now accepting applications for spring and summer jobs, internships and career positions. For more information and an application, write: National Collegiate Recreation Service, P.O. Box 8074, Hilton Head, SC 29938.

SALES: MAJOR league baseball fan needed. Part-time. Big buckst Call Homerun Services at

NICE TWO-BEDROOM near City Park in 24-plex. All appliances, laundry facilities. $380. 537-8229 or 776-3804.

Falsetto's 539-3830

SMITH SCHOLARS program, executive director, we are seeking a person to oversee the operation of are seeking a person to oversee the operation of Smith Scholarship House and the Smith Alumni Association. Executive Director advises 40 college men in seven program areas. Other responsibilities include arranging alumni association meetings publishing periodic newsletters, and recruiting new Smith Scholars. Excellent opportunity for students Smith Scholars, Excellent opportunity for students pursuing graduate study in a related field at KSU. Requirements: Bachelor's degree, maturity, man-agement skills, ability to relate to college students. Compensations: $800 salary per month, room, board, and health insurance. For more information contact Kell.ee Parr, 331 N. 17th, Manhattan, KS 66502, 539-4690, before Feb. 20th.

STUDENT RECEPTIONIST, Administrative User Se vices, is seeking a friendly energetic student for a variety of duties including receiving visitors, answering telephone, copying, filling, typing and word processing. Up to 30 hours per week possible. Hours available, communication skills, will be used to evaluate applicants. Contact John Streeter, Associate Director, Anderson 21, 532-5281 by Feb. Associate Director, Anderson 21, 532-6281 by Feb.

SUMMER EMPLOYMENT at Camp Lincoln/ Camp MMER EMPLOYMENT at Carrp Uncoln/ Carrp Lake Hubert—Minnesota resident summer carrps. A strong commitment to working with children required, along with activity skills and teaching experience. Specific job information and applica-tions are available at the Career Placement Office—Holtz Hall. Sign up, in advance, for personal interviews to be held on carripus on Tuesday, Feb. 7th.

SUMMER JOBS outdoors. Over 5,000 openings! National parks, forests, fire crews. Send stamp for free details. 113 E. Wyoming, Kalispell, MT 59901.

Amigos

If you are a customer oriented person and like to work at a fast, intense pace, apply NOW at Amigos for outstanding job opportunities. Excellent pay program. Tuition reimbursed. Scholarship plan. Flexible schedule. Apply at Amigos in Aggieville or at Manhattan Town Center Mall. S438 OUR PRICE $2.80 WORK-STUDY STUDENT to work with non-traditional students in the FENIX office. Contact Suzanne Knorr, director. Leasure 3 or 532-6434 mornings.

12 Houses/Mobile Homes for Ren

FREE GROCERIES/ Rent two-bedroom mobile home, receive $50 groceries at Dillons Stores. Rent three-bedroom trailer, get $75 groceries. 776-8552. Valid only until 2/10/89.

MOBILE HOME pads for lease. $75 month with water sewer and trash removal furnished. 10-wide and smaller homes acceptable. Laundromat and beauty shop on premises. Ogden. 776-9007. VERY CLEAN furnished and unfurnished mobile homed for rent. $175 to $250 monthly. One month lease Small pets acceptable. Laundromat and beauty shop on premises. Located in Ogden. Other KSU students live in our park. 776-9007.

13 Houses/Mobile Homes for Sale

12x56 TWO-BEDROOM located in Manhattan city limits. Quiet shady neighborhood. Low price makes it cheaper than rent. Available now $3,850. Call 776-1723, leave message.

GOVERNMENT HOMES from $1. "You repair." Also, tax delinquent property. Call (805)644-9533 ext 263 for information.

14 Lost and Found

FOUND: A business book(?) in Nichols Hall. Call 532-3710 to leave a phone number I can call you back at. Leave the message for Dave in room #809. FOUND: DECORATIVE pillow. Identify. 539-2016. FOUND: MACROECONOMICS book in Throckmorton 132. Found afternoon of 1/26/89. Call 532-7357, ask for Mohammed. LOST: GOLD wedding band. Around Weber Hall. Reward offered. Call 537-8586.

LOST: KSU Marching Band jacket with "Clint" mono-grammed on left breast. Please call 532-5204 if found.

LOST: LADIES' gold Pulsar watch at Union or Aggle ville. Reward. Call 539-3122.

LOST: ONE pair of navy blue Isotoner gloves. Please call Debbie at 776-5819. LOST: ONE woman's silver Selko watch. Found th band, need the face. Lost 1/24 in front of Justin Hall. Reward 537-2186.

15 Miscellaneous Merchandise

GREAT VALENTINE'S Gift-Land of Oz Beef presents a Ribeye from Kansas-grown Land of Oz beef is wholesome and unpretentious. Roasted in the oven or grilled at the backyard barbecue, this beef is easy, impressive and the ultimate in succulence. Enjoy the best of the market from the Land of Oz. Buffalo cuts also available. Call weekdays 2:30-8p.m. Call 776-3679.

MAGNAVOX WORD processor, 50,000 word diction ary. Perfect condition! A must for typing papers! Call Terri: 532-3240.

RIB NIGHT Tonight The All you can eat! $3.95 Chet 111 S. 4th includes salad bar

Guys Don't Forget Female Strippers Tonight at

4-7 p.m. 99° TACO BAR COTTON CLUB 418 Poyntz

PERSONAL COMPUTERS Authorized Warranty Service

also servicing · PC compatibles & printers

· Televisions & VCRs MIDWEST SERVICES 624 Tuttle Creek Blvd. Manhattan 913-776-6650

ADVENTURE QUEST

SPRING BREAK WILDERNESS ADVENTURE

Rock Climbing/Rappelling. Canoeing & Caving (basic instruction provided) March 11-14

Darin Hoover 776-9261 Staffed for both males & females

$120

SPRING BREAK 89 LAST CHANCE!

ending on break dates and length of stay NIKON FE2 black body, good condition, $375. Nikon Nikkor 28mm 1/2.8, good condition $200. Chris .776-5994 after 5p.m. TYPEWRITER- RENTALS- Sales- Repairs. Good selection of used IBMs and Smith Coronas. Advanced Business Systems, 713 N. 12th (Aggle-ville), 539-7931. 16 Motorcycles/Bicycles for Sale

1982, 550 Yamaha Maxim. Good condition. New tires. $700, 539-8218. 984 HONDA Aspencade 1200, 19,000 miles, looks and runs like new, extra chrome. Super buy at $4,950. Price a new onel 537-1539.

17 Musical Instruments

GIBSON LES Paul studio electric guitar, Martin Sigma 12 string acoustic. 539-6794.

Hayes House of Music

DOD Guitar Effects 30% OFF 776-7983

18 Personals

ATO BRENT (a.k.a. Elvis) from Thanks for the sociology notes!! See you in class

DREW. A year today. Our travel left the mountains behind, my heart was encouraged when your hand took mine, our memories were molded as our uncertainty past, next I knew a year had gone, may we last, thanks for your love. Only yours, Trinket.

GOUGHIE— THANK you for everything last week. Inhilation was really special for me. You are the best morn! Your Lovin' Dot.

LOOK OUT Aggieville, IG-NOR-ANT is 211 REFEREE, INTERESTED?!? Rose.

THETAS EVE and Anne, The week was great and now we're done, now it's our turn to show you some fun. We thank you lots, we love being your "dots," so have a good week and remember, Don't Peekl Love, Em and Goob.

20 Professional Services

DISSERTATIONS, THESES, term papers, mail merg-ing, labels, text scanning. Laser printing. Call

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 South Fourth St., Suite 25. PROMPT ABORTION and contraceptive services in Lawrence. (913)841-5716.

21 Rentals

SINGLE GARAGES near Aggleville. $25 per month 776-3804.

22 Resume/Typing Services

Resume Service

Don't trust your future with anyone else 9 years of Quality

Personalized, Professional Service in all stages of Resume and Cover Letter Development Call about our new raised printing service

343 Colorado St. 537-7294 Always hire a professional! We design resumes for your profession. Typeset & laserprinted. Graphics Plus corner of Bluemont & Manhattan

TERM PAPERS, cover letters, resumes, theses and dissertations entered, stored and completed to your specifications. Come see us. Ross Secretarial Services, 614 N. 12th (across from Kite's) 539-5147.

23 Roommate Wanted

Aggieville 539-6027

FEMALE NEEDED to share spacious basement apartment until end of semester, own room, two blocks from campus, $106.25/ month plus utilities. Call 1-762-4242 anytime.

FEMALE TO share house close to campus, furnished $162.50/ month plus deposit. Share utilities. Call nee at 539-8695. FEMALE - UPSTAIRS three-bedroom housel Right off ttler (close to campus). For more information call MALE NEEDED. Share three-bedroom house until end of semester or summer. Close to campus, $175. 539-5370, 539-3563.

24 Situation Wanted

FIST HOLE Repair Co. We fix party damaged walls. For a free estimate, call after 6p.m. ask

25 Sporting/Recreation Equipment

GOLF CLUBS— Ping Eye IIs 1 iron— sandwedge Powerbilt woods 1-3-5. Excellent condition. Call 532-3483.

28 Basketball Tickets

FOR SALE: KSU-OU basketball tickets. Call after 9a.m.,

$5.00III Rings, chains $11.00III Gold electroplate your jewelry. 776-5545.

By Eugene Sheffer

30 Jewelry for Sale LOVE JEWELRY? Discount$? Gold pendants, earrings

Crossword

35 Sordid 36 Large DOWN ACROSS 1 Society parrot

short

2 Unusual

3 Belgian

river

4 Red or

6 Not mixed against

DDE

8 Neither win not animals

10 Lily

11 Strong

urges

7 He ran

37 Weight

unit

38 Plowed

land

41 Make a

42 Ninny

45 French

engag

ment?

again 49 Turkish 9 Lab officer journey

48 Over

blunder

composer 46 Cancels

tionists: collog 5 Well for the well-

12 Affluence

sound 15 Foaming shore waves 17 James Bond's

22 Talkative beast? 23 TV's

21 Motorist's problem 23 Cul-de-24 Russian

25 Lemon follower 26 Angler's need 27 Education

28 Tiny 29 Cunning 31 Actress 34 Drink

org.

38 Woe is me! 39 Talk wildly 40 Away

41 Therefore 42 Pet of Nick and Nora 43 Plaintiff type of graph Hubbard

39 49

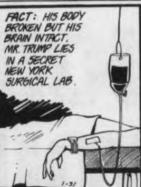

NBDR QDERG XQWZCZDMN LMC BRI

VDIKXIE. Yesterday's Cryptoquip: OVERSTUFFED RESTAURANT REVIEWER BIT OFF MORE THAN HE COULD CHEW.

Bloom County

Garfield

1 Prohibito-do? 8 Donkey's 13 Cry's partner 14 Chest

alma 50 Roman mater 18 Sun. talk 19 Society 51 British page word 20 Parts of gun 52 Bosh! By Charles Schulz 53 Not any 20 Valise a diamond? 21 Bridle Solution time: 24 mins.

> 26 College bigwigs 30 Assistant 31 Near the horizon 32 Conceal 33 "...all men are - equal"

MHO ROM DI HANG URU E AUTO MAN VI TOOTS DEUI OAK DEUI

Yesterday's answer 1-31

22 Evergreen newcomers space station 5 Bed cover

> Thompson "for two" 35 Rail bird 37 Actor Williams from the storm

44 Nimble 46 One

47 Humorous

CRYPTOQUIP 1-31

XGKXHN

Today's Cryptoquip clue: R equals E

Grades

MOE

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 5 Students also become more mature and are able to schedule their time better, he said.

Several factors contribute to the statistical differences between classes, Foster said.

"Many freshmen do poorly and drop out and never come back but are included in the statistics," he said.

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

reducing MOE to a two-year plan, or allocating half the budget for 1990

Koplik's silence indicated a three-

Last year, the Legislature approved 83 percent of the regents'

MOE budget request, Koplik said.

year plan is the goal and anything short of that would be unacceptable.

and the other half for 1991.

"While the senior class includes everyone with 90 hours or more even 5th year students - (the grade average is) higher, and these people tend to do better."

stant for nearly 20 years, Foster said. The only fluctuation was in 1968 when the senior class grade point average was 2.6.

"The unrest in the late '60s, I feel, had a lot to do with it," he said.

In addition, K-State changed the class retake policy in the 1970s.

Before the 1970s, a poor grade was recorded on the transcript whether or not the class was retaken, and the poor scores were averaged into the statistics, Foster said.

age on the transcript.

Hazing

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

in any greek events. The social suspension does not include rush activities and, Robel said, ADPi will be allowed to conduct a pledge season during the fall

"The purpose of any sanctions is to change behavior - not to jeopardize the survival of a chapter," Robel said.

to attract new members."

Be Wise ...

The grades have remained con-

Today, a student can retake a class as many as five times and the most recent grade replaces the prior score, which usually helps the grade aver-semester.

"If (ADPi) is going to be a viable part of the greek system, it has to be able

The Greek Affairs Hazing Policy states that under intramural suspension, the chapter may not participate under its name in individual or team sports. The chapter may not participate in the greek intramural leagues, earn intramural points or receive any championship titles.

Read the Collegian!

The Collegian Auto Directory

- *Auto Tune-ups
- *Electrical Repairs *Diesel Engine Service
- *Computer Engine Analysis *Automatic Transmission Service Heater & Air Conditioner Service

539-1040 214 Colorado

Details Unlimited

Interior and Exterior Cleaning and Refurbishing Steam Cleaning Wash•Wax•Vac•Buff

776-2111

GREAT JOB LESS MESS LESS TIME NO HASSLE CAR BATHED & TOWEL DRIED

$300 (w/this coupon) VP Auto Wash in the Village Plaza across from ALCO

AUTO PARTS INC.

Locator Service To 100 Salvage Yards-8 States

8 a.m.-5:30 p.m. M-F 8 a.m.-Noon Sat. 161 McDowell Creek Rd. Manhattan......776-4895

Western Auto

Your Total Automotive Headquarters!!

> *Complete line of Automotive Accessories and High Performance *Discount Auto Parts *Professional Installation Available

*Self-Service Gasoline *Convenient Store Hours *Fast Friendly Service

Western Auto

Low Discount Prices Everyday of the week

Western Auto

The Auto Supply Company

539-0535

Tuttle Creek Blvd. & Kimball Ave. Next to Dutch Maid

Quality Parts Reasonable Prices Lots of Free Advice

539-0577 AT THE VIADUCT

SERVICE Expert Auto & Truck Repairs

★ Tune-ups

- * Shocks
- ★ Brake Service
- Transmissions
- Alternators/Starter Service

776-8560 301 Colorado

MUFFLERS . TAILPIPES . DUAL SYSTEMS . AUTOS (AMERICAN & FOREIGN) • RY'S • LIGHT & HEAVY DUTY TRUCKS • CUSTOM PIPE BENDING Mon-Fri 7:30-5:30 . SAT. TILL NOON

FREE ESTIMATES

Call 776-8955

MIKE'S WRECKER -KCC PERMIT SERVICE

Allstate Motor Club

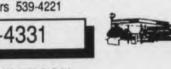

EMERGENCY

WESTSIDE AMOCO "FULL & SELF SERVICE"

FOOD SHOP ·AUTO REPAIR

After Hours 539-4221 539-4331

24 HOUR WRECKER SERVICE

DON'T WORRY, BE HAPPY

Take your car to Wayne's Quik Lube for quick, quality service.

- ★We use Quaker State's top quality grease and Quaker State filters.
- ★Our customers choose the weight and brand of oil from our inventory Quaker State, Pennzoil, Trop Arctic, Mobil, Havoline, Motorcraft, Castrol.
- ★We are a family owned and operated business and we care about your car.
- ★No appointment necessary at

Wayne's Quik Lube

2304 Sky-Vue Lane

539-5431

Minor mechanical repairs done, too!

North

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 requests for documents. He remains willing to assist."

Lawyers from Walsh's office were permitted to review typewritten excerpts from Reagan's diary a year ago, it was disclosed at a hearing Friday.

North is accused of concealing from Congress in 1985 and 1986 his efforts on behalf of the Nicaraguan Contras and of falsely telling then-Attorney General Meese that the National Security Council had no role in diverting money from the Iran arms sales to the Contras.

The former Marine and White House aide also is accused of illegally accepting a $13,800 security system at his home from co-defendant Richard Secord, converting to his own use at least $4,300 in traveler's checks from Contra leader Adolfo Calero and conspiring to defraud the Treasury of tax revenue in connection with charitable contributions supporting the Contras.

Gesell on Jan. 13 dismissed the two central charges against North, conspiracy and theft counts accusing him of illegally diverting more than $14 million in U.S. Iran arms sale proceeds to the Nicaraguan rebels.

Those charges were dismissed after a panel of intelligence experts in the Reagan administration, citing national security concerns, refused to declassify many portions of classified documents that were deemed necessary for the prosecution or defense.

North was indicted last March along with former National Security Adviser John Poindexter and arms suppliers Secord and Albert Hakim. In June, Gesell ordered separate trials for them.

The Language of the Heart . . . Music

Music Music

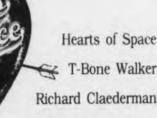

Your Valentine will • a gift of recorded music

A few suggestions

Enya

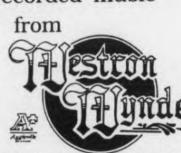

Miriam Makeba

Mystery of the Bulgarian Voice (vol. 2)

Hearts of Space T-Bone Walker

Bob James Scarlatti

712 N. Manhattan 776-9911 Open 11-8:30 M-F, 11-6 Sat, 1-6 Sun.

PAYLESS OPTICAL OUTLET

IF YOU ARE PAYING MORE THAN BIFOCAL FOR YOUR EYEGLASSES, INCLUDING FRAME -- OR -AT PAYLESS OPTICAL OUTLET YOU GET UNLIMITED SELECTION - YOUR CHOICE OF OVER 1,000 NO CHARGE FOR SUN OR FASHION TINTED LENSES! NO CHANGE FOR SUN ON FASHION TINTED LENSES!
 NO EXTRA CHARGE FOR OVERSIZED OR PLASTIC LENSES! HIGHEST QUALITY FRAMES AND LENSES! HIGHEST PROFESSIONAL STANDARDS! * All normal prescriptions - distance, reading, or flat to 25 and 28mm, round or executive bifocals, in Rx's no higher than (+) or (-) 8.00 diopter sphere, with up to -2.00 cylinder. Adds no higher than (+)3.00.

Photogray Extra. Scratch and I litra Violet Cost - each $10 additional photogray Extra. Photogrey Extra, Scratch and Ultra-Violet Coat - each $10 additional. MANHATTAN, KANSAS 537-1574

NEVER A SALE, ALWAYS THE LOWEST PRICE!

WE'VE GOT THE JOB FOR YOU.

The Peace Corps is an exhilarating two year experience that will last a lifetime.

Working at a professional level that ordinarily might take years of apprenticeship back home, volunteers find the career growth they're looking for and enjoy a unique experience in the developing International firms and government agencies value the skills and knowledge mastered during Peace Corps service.

Peace Corps Rep on Campus Feb 1st & 2nd Info Table - Student Union 9 AM-3 PM, Feb 1st & 2nd Peace Corps Film Seminar: 3:30 PM & 6:30 PM Student Union

Room.#207

(913) 532-7274

Peace Corps

The Toughest Job You'll Ever Love

PC3

Crisis Center

Individuals calling The FONE Crisis Center do not always have crisis-related problems. See Page 7.

Weather

Cloudy and turning colder today. Temperatures falling from the lower 40s during the morning to the mid-30s by evening. Cloudy and colder tonight. A chance for flurries. Low in the teens.

Tonight the top ranked team in the nation will visit Bramlage Coliseum to take on the 'Cats. See Page 9.

Wednesday

February 1, 1989

Kansas State University Manhattan, Kansas 66506 Volume 95, Number 90

Kansas State Collegian

Alumnus awarded national endowment for teaching skills

By Chris Koger Staff Writer

K-State graduate and current Manhattan elementary school teacher Rodger Gibson was named one of 53 teacher-scholars for 1989 by the National Endowment for the Humanities Tuesday.

Gibson, who teaches fifth-grade at Roosevelt Elementary School, said teaching is a way to combine classroom work and what is learned outside of the school into a total learning experience.

As an NEH teacher, Gibson will receive a $27,500 stipend to spend the next academic year in independent study of the literature, poetry and music of black American writers and musicians in the 1920s.

"Perhaps the most important things aren't what happen in school," Gibson said. "The best kind of learning is what you initiate yourself, and then using this to get a deeper understanding of something.

"A student who wants to learn outside of the classroom will also learn more in the classroom.'

Gibson's project, titled "The Harlem Renaissance," will include a study of the writings of Langston Hughes, Claude McKay and Countee Cullen and an examination of the development of the jazz age in different, they should be respected,"

Gibson said he first became interested in the history of black American literature when he began reading some of Hughes' work a few years ago. Hughes, a noted writer and poet of the 1920s, sparked Gibson's curiosity.

"I stumbled onto his poetry a few years ago when I was looking for ways to celebrate black history month in the classroom," he said. "I began to learn more about him and other authors from the '20s, and was fascinated with the subject."

Gibson then began teaching his students the poetry for a program to be presented along with music for the students' parents.

"Something special happened. Instead of just learning a few pieces of poetry, the kids wanted to learn all of the poetry," Gibson said. "They took the words and internalized them - made them real.

"It was a memorable and powerful experience, the best one I've had in my seven years of teaching," he said.

When Gibson returns to teaching after his year of study, he plans to implement the new knowledge into his class curriculum.

"I'm interested in the kids being aware of other cultures, and understanding that even though they are

Staff/Steve Wolgast

Roger Gibson helps one of his fifth-grade students, Jake Mendenhall, ■ See TEACHER, Page 10 with his reading Tuesday. The National Endowment for the Humanities Elementary School, as one of 53 teacher-scholars for 1989.

selected Gibson, a tifth-grade teacher at Manhattan's Hoosevell

Proposals still considered for University art museum

By Carrie Law Collegian Reporter

The latest feasibility study has presented the possibility of raising funds for an art museum at K-State as part of a much larger project to raise money for the University. "It appears that the major fund raising drive for K-State is going to be a feasible way for us to raise the money that would be needed for an art museum," said Ruth Ann Wefald, chairperson of the art museum steering committee. "It's our hope that soon we will be able to embark on a major fund-raising drive for Kansas State and along with that effort raise the $5 million that we will need to build an art museum."

Location of the museum has been given careful consideration by the committee. The criteria established for the building site included a site adjacent to the other fine arts buildings on campus, as well as being accessible to the community. The site also needed adequate parking.

The option appearing most viable to the committee would be to consider taking down part of Memorial Stadium.

"We thought we could phase it in ... the football stadium is eventually going to have to come down," Wefald said. "It would cost millions to bring (the stadium) up to the standard where it should be."

She said she would eventually like to see K-State access the space at the Memorial Stadium site and make new uses for it in the future.

"One of the things that came out in our discussion is that there really is no formal entrance to the campus right now," Wefald said. "We would have the potential to create a whole new entrance to K-State. With that in mind, that space seemed to meet the criteria of the committee. Obviously it is all contingent on whether we can raise the money.' K-State is the only school in the Big Eight that does not have an art

"Every university in the state of Kansas has a museum of some kind except Pittsburg State and Kansas State, and we believe we can do better than that," Wefald said. "Our goal is to have an art museum for Kansas State which would serve several purposes."

The art museum would be a place to provide art instruction for students, while also providing a permanent facility where the University's art collection could be properly cared for and preserved, she said. The museum would also promote other arts-related activities, such as lectures, receptions and seminars, Wefald said.

"Often (an art museum) represents a quiet place where you can just get away and think and view the beautiful art," she said. "Often I think it is a calming kind of thing to do. It sort of replenishes the soul.

K-State has a diverse collection of about 1,000 items, most of which are pieces of graphic art and paintings. The collection also includes photography, sculpture and ceramic artwork.

The work is housed in various locations across campus, which costs ■ See MUSEUM, Page 10

Military jet crashes

All 19 people aboard die

By The Associated Press

ABILENE, Texas - A military refueling jet bound for Hawaii crashed in a ball of flames on takeoff Tuesday at Dyess Air Force Base, killing all 19 people aboard, the Air Force said.

Officials at K.I. Sawyer Air Force Base near Marquette, Michigan, where the flight originated, said the plane's passengers included spouses of military members or retired military members.

The plane's crew "never got it off the ground," said witness Vernon Wright, 19. "The first thing I saw was just the mushroom of the smoke."

"I heard the plane as it was coming down," said Skeet Jackson of Abilene, "Engines were backfiring and missing. It curved off to the left and crashed. And then I saw the ball of smoke and fire go up." Initial reports fowarded to Air Force commanders at the Pentagon suggested the pilot of the plane experienced some kind of problem during his take-off roll, according to officials who spoke on condition they not be identified.

"It was toward the end of the roll and he apparently had no choice but to press on," said one source. "But he didn't have the power to get up for some reason," added

The wreckage burned for more than an hour after the crash. The plane came to rest tilted at about a 45 degree angle, a charred wing tipped toward the sky. Military search and rescue teams set up floodlights and searched into the night before the last two bodies were found, a base spokesman said.

The flight manifest showed that 17 of those on board were from Sawyer Air Force Base and the other two boarded at Dyess, Master Sgt. Al Dostal at Dyess said.

"Any aircraft accident is bad, but the fact that there are as many fatalities makes it (the crash) a particularly terrible one," said Maj. Dennis Pierson at Strategic Air Command headquarters in Omaha,

The plane, based at K.I. Sawyer Air Force Base near Marquette, Mich., was en route from Dyess to Hickam Air Force Base in Hawaii on a training mission with 19 people on board, said Dyess Airman 1st Class Beverly Foster.

Some of those aboard were from Sawyer, said base spokeswoman Sgt. Anita Bailey. "We're trying to get in touch with the families now but it's hard."

decision reveal hazing

By Erwin Seba News Editor

Results of a Tuesday night Interfraternity Council board of directors hearing on an alleged hazing violation will be made public this afternoon, said Tom Hemmer, IFC president.

Barb Robel, Greek Affairs adviser, said Monday that the fraternity scheduled to appear at the meeting was Beta Theta Pi. She also said Monday that the hearing would be to consider an alleged violation of the Greek Affairs Hazing Policy.

The details of IFC's decision will not be released publicly until the fraternity has been notified of the decision in writing, said Hemmer, senior in economics.

"We had a hearing. A decision was reached," he said.

On Monday, the Panhellenic Council placed the Alpha Delta Pi sorority on intramural and social suspension for violating the same hazing policy. The details of the Panhellenic Council decision were released by Robel shortly after the hearing ended. Pat Bosco, associate vice president for institutional advancement and dean of student life, said he had no comment on the decisions made by the Panhellenic Council or that of Hemmer said the delay in releasing the results of the hearing was due to the decisions being made by different boards.

"It's two different situations and two different boards," he said. "I believe (the Panhellenic Council) reached its decision that night and notified ADPi right after (the decision was reached).

Hemmer also would not name the fratemity appearing before IFC. Robel said Tuesday that no other hearings on alleged violations of the policy had been scheduled.

"We can't consider violations until we're made aware of violations," she said.

The ADPis' violation of the hazing policy was the first sorority violation reported in four years, Robel said Monday.

Weather relieves snow budgets

By Deborah Dinges Collegian Reporter

Students aren't the only ones enjoying the recent warm weather -K-State administrators and Manhattan city officials have been enjoying the relief it has provided for their

'We've undoubtedly saved some money," said Bruce McCallum, director of public works. The City of Manhattan has saved $10,000 to $15,000 because of the lack of potholes and road deterioration normally caused by inclement weather.

K-State has spent only $4,000 of the $60,000 budgeted for snow removal, said Lt. Robert Mellgren of the KSU Police Department. The $4,000 was spent on ice-melting material such as salt, most of which is still in storage.

"We haven't used much of that," said Mellgren.

To date, K-State has had little to no actual expenses, he said. Steve Kisner, meteorologist intern graduate with the National Weather Service in Topeka, said the warm weather has been caused by the high "High temperatures in the Rocky Mountains have brought warm weather to this area," Kisner said. The warm weather extended throughout western Texas and to the southeast of that state.

pressure systems in the West.

"Kansas is not alone in the situation," he said of the above normal temperatures that have been reported in the southeastern United States this winter. "Today is the warmest Jan. 31 we've ever had," said Dean Bark, climatologist at K-State. A record-breaking high of 71 degrees Monday raised the previous record of 67 degrees by four. Kisner said an average temperature for the end of January is 28 degrees. "But all that is going to change tomorrow," he said.

According to the National Weather Service, cold temperatures, cloudy skies and snow flurries can be expected in the Topeka area by Sunday.

Today's temperatures are expected to climb slightly in the morning, but fall to the low to mid-30s by afternoon. The National Weather Service is expecting increased cloudiness to accompany the cold weather.

Temperatures for Thursday are predicted to be in the mid-20s. Saturday, the highs are expected to be only in the teens.

"I think we'll probably stay in normal conditions for the next couple of weeks, from the lower to middle 40s with lows of 20 to 25," Kisner said.

Hijacker threatens passenger

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica - A Nicaraguan Indian exiled in Colombia hijacked a domestic airliner with 122 aboard to Costa Rica on Tuesday by threatening to set a passenger afire with gasoline, officials said.

The hijacker during the flight told the pilot, Jaime Perez, he would burn a passenger alive if he did not divert the flight to Costa Rica," said Costa Rican air traffic controller Carlos

A passenger said the copilot overpowered the hijacker, who was carrying two orange juice cartons of gasoline with wicks, just before the plane landed.

An anti-terrorist squad arrested the hijacker, and three other people were detained after the Ace airline Boeing 727 touched down at an airport near the capital, said Interior Minister Carlos Disanti, who declined further comment.

The Red Cross treated some passengers for shock, officials said, but no other injuries were reported.

Soviets reteaching history

MOSCOW - History exams for Soviet students, canceled last year because textbooks have been outpaced by media exposures about the country's past, will be given again this year, but with a new twist, a newspaper said Tuesday.

Under the new system, teachers will be able to devise their own exams, and students will be permitted to disagree with their teachers and textbooks without receiving lower grades, according to Uchitelskaya Gazeta, the national teacher's

Last year's final exams in history were called off because the textbooks on which they were based were at odds with accounts of Soviet history being printed by the more-open Soviet media, including the exposure of some of the terrors under dictator Josef V. Stalin.

Soviet students finishing the 10th and final grade of Soviet middle school last year had oral discussions with their teachers rather than exams.

The chairman of the State Education Committee, Gennady A. Yagodin, decided that history tests would resume during the current school year, but that students will be given more freedom to interpret history, Uchitelskaya Gazeta said.

Sino-Soviet meeting set

BEIJING - Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze arrives Wednesday to put the final touches on preparations for the first Sino-Soviet summit since the two communist giants split in bitter rivalry 30 years ago.

Shevardnadze's visit comes after a year of rapid progress in bilateral relations expected to culminate this spring when Mikhail S. Gorbachev becomes the first Soviet leader to travel to China since 1959.

During his three-day stay, Shevardnadze is to hold two rounds of talks with his Chinese counterpart, Qian Qichen, and will meet with Premier Li Peng. He is also to travel to Shanghai for a meeting Saturday with China's top leader, Deng Xiaoping.

Shevardnadze is not scheduled to meet Communist Party head Zhao Ziyang, Eastern European sources said. China apparently wants to wait for Gorbachev before officially recognizing a restoration of relations between the two parties.

Jews exempted from military

HAMBURG, West Germany - The military service exemption for sons of Jewish victims of the Holocaust has been extended to the grandsons of those persecuted, the defense minister said Tuesday.

The issue of military service "is still very sensitive" for the children of Holocaust survivors, Defense Minister Rupert Scholz said in an interview with the Hamburg-based Panorama television program.

"The decision to extend the exemption is in keeping with a long-standing desire for reconciliation," Scholz said.

Until recently, only the sons of Holocaust victims were exempted from West Germany's compulsory military service. Scholz said the decision was made at the request of the West German Jewish Council. The Jewish Council made its request after a Frankfurt court ruled against a Jewish man who asked that he be exempted because his grandfather had been a victim of Nazi persecution.

... Around the nation

Partial jury chosen for trial

WASHINGTON - The judge in Oliver North's Iran-Contra trial chose seven people for possible jury duty during Tuesday's long opening day but said there could be problems with the "triability of the case" because so many potential jurors had seen or read of North's testimony in congressional hearings.

U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell said only 16 of the first 54 prospective jurors indicated on questionnaires that they weren't exposed to North's congressional appearances in which he supplied details about misleading Congress and shredding documents. The former White House aide testified to House and Senate investigating committees in 1987 under a grant of limited immunity from prosecution.

North's lawyers, who contend an impartial jury cannot be empaneled, objected as Gesell's picked the first seven people for a pool from which the jury might eventually be chosen. The selection process will continue Wednesday.

Defense lawyers also filed a motion asking that "in the event a jury can be empaneled, it should be sequestered immediately to minimize the potential for exposure to immunized testimony and to protect Lt. Col. North's constitutional rights."

... Around the region

Topeka man sentenced

WESTMORELAND - A Topeka man who pleaded guilty in December to aiding and abetting second-degree murder in the 1986 slaying of a St. George farmer has been sentenced to 15 years to life in prison.

Pottawatomie County District Judge Tracy Klinginsmith passed sentence Monday on Ramon A. Garcia, 44. He also gave him 3 to 10 years for aiding and abetting a burglary.

The case involved the death of Cecil Bammes, 79, who was shot and killed during a robbery at his rural home on May 16, 1988.

Ed Van Petten, an assistant attorney general who was assigned to prosecute the case, said that Garcia's conviction at a trial was later reversed by the Kansas Supreme Court, and sent back.

Campus Bulletin

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Campus organizations are encouraged to use Campus Bulletin. All announcements must be submitted by 11 a.m. one day prior to publication. Announcements for Monday's bulletin must be in by 11 a.m. Friday. However, publication is determined by the amount of space available on a first-come, first-serve basis and is not ensured. Information forms are available on the shelf outside Kedzie 118. Forms should be left in the box on the shelf after being filled out. All submissions must be signed and are subject to verification. Questions should be directed to the Collegian's campus editors in Kedzie 116.

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Christopher C. Lovett at 10 a.m. today in Eisenhower 201. Dissertation topic: "Red Wings over the Sea: The History of Soviet Naval Aviation.

CAREER PLANNING AND PLACE-MENT is now posting sign-up schedules for on-campus employment interviews by Kansas, regional and national employers. All eligible candidates are urged to register and apply.

UNIVERSITY FOR MAN classes start today. Call 539-8763 for more information. K-STATE PLAYERS will present "Cloud 9" by Caryl Churchill at 8 p.m. Thursday through Saturday and Feb. 8-11. ARTS AND SCIENCES CLUBS Budget request forms are available in Eisenhower 113 and should be returned by Friday.

TODAY

NATIONAL SOCIETY OF BLACK ENGINEERS will meet at 6 p.m. in Durland

SOCIETY OF HISPANIC PROFES. SIONAL ENGINEERS will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Durland 152.

INDIA STUDENTS' ASSOCIATION will meet at 7 p.m. at the International Student

GYMNASTICS CLUB will meet at 9 p.m. in Natatorium 4.

OWLS will meet at 11:30 a.m. in Union

FRENCH TABLE will meet at 11:45 a.m. in Union Stateroom 1.

BAKERY SCIENCE CLUB will meet at 3 p.m. in Shellenberger 105.

THURSDAY

CAMPUS CRUSADE FOR CHRIST will meet at 7 p.m. in Throckmorton 131.

PARACHUTE CLUB will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 206.

SAILING CLUB will meet at 7 p.m. in

PEACE CORPS will meet at 3:30 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. in Union 207.

INDIA STUDENTS' ASSOCIATION will meet at 7 p.m. at University Inn.

ICTHUS will meet at 8 p.m. in the Union Little Theater.

EATING DISORDER SUPPORT GROUP will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 205.

ARABIC TABLE will meet at 11:45 a.m.

COLLEGIATE 4-H will meet at 7:30 p.m.

in Union 213. PRE-VET CLUB will meet at 7 p.m. in in Union Stateroom 1.

Trotter 201.

WOMEN IN COMMUNICATIONS, INC. will meet at 6 p.m. in Kedzie 107.

FRIDAY

MARKETING CLUB will meet at 5 p.m. at Mike Aheam's house. Maps available in Calvin 108.

DELT DARLINGS will meet at 8 p.m. at the Delta Tau Delta house.

GYMNASTICS CLUB will meet at 8 p.m. in Natatorium 4.

AFRICAN STUDENTS' UNION will meet at 8 p.m. at the International Student

K-State Police

Monday

A wall clock was stolen from reported lost off campus. Ahearn Field House. Loss was $30.

A textbook was reported stolen from the ninth floor of Moore Hall. Loss was $17.

■ A faculty/staff parking permit was reported stolen in an unknown vicinity.

A student parking permit was reported stolen off campus.

A resident of Jardine Terrace Apartments reported receiving a terroristic threat.

Here!

A student parking permit was

Tuesday

Two tires of a vehicle parked in lot E at the Jardine Terrace Apartments were vandalized.

A wheel lock was placed on a red Nissan parked in lot A-2.

A student parking permit was reported lost in an unknown vicinity.

TONIGHT $1.50 Wells $2.50 Pitchers

Michael Winslow (Police Academy)

Feb. 13 & 14

Tickets Now On Sale! All seats general admission Showtimes 8 p.m. & 10 p.m. Monday & Tuesday

Before 3 p.m. After 3 p.m.

539-9727

Daily Specials

Wednesday - $1 Cans Thursday - $2 Pitchers

10 a.m. to midnight Monday through Saturday

> 601 N. 3rd 537-1030

Vista's
NEW 49¢ Hambu

Served with ketchup, mustard, pickle, and onion. Cheese and bacon extra.

Available for a limited time!

Manhattan • Lawrence • Topeka

1911 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

539-4321

Allseasons

MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66502 (913) 539-5391

Student Special

Peace and quiet to study or just get away $18 Double $13 Single

Day Rate 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.—$10 On Availability basis only Student I.D. Required Call for reservations 539-5391

776-5577

Pizza Shuttle "NO COUPON SPECIALS"

Prime Time Special 3-10 in. Pizzas 1—Topping 4—Cokes 10.00

Everyday Two-Fers 2-10 in. pizzas 2—Toppings 2-Cokes $8.00 FAST N FREE DELIVERY

776-5577

1120 Moro · Aggieville 18 TO ENTER · 21 TO DRINK 537-95f1

TONIGHT $2 Vulcan Mind Probes

> Thurs. 99¢ Pitchers, Wells and Kami Shots

Fri. Ladies night, no cover for the ladies

> •$2 Daiquiris, Pina Coladas, and Ice Cream Drinks

Program presented on black history

By Carol Knorr Collegian Reporter

An interactive satellite transmission entitled, "Beyond the Dream, A Celebration of Black History," kicks off Black History Month at K-State today.

The two-hour program, sponsored at K-State by the Black Student Union, will be broadcast nationally via satellite on a closed-circuit frequency, said Diana Caldwell, minority student development coordinator.

The telenet, which airs from Washington, D.C., begins at noon and can be viewed in Frick Auditorium in the Veterinary Clinical Sciences Building at the Veterinary Medical Complex. "It's the first time something like this has been done," said Crescentia Brown, senior in landscape architecture and BSU president. "There are a lot of prestigious people participating in the broadcast.

Caldwell said people such as Ernest L. Boyer, president of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, Mae Jemison, America's first black female astronaut and Gen. Bernard Randolph, America's only black active duty four-star general, will be appearing on the broadcast.

"It's a way to educate people, and that puts (minorities at K-State) in the mainstream of innovative education," Caldwell said.

"With this telenet, we have the benefit of bringing big resources to our campus at a limited cost for the first time ever," said Veryl Switzer, assistant vice president of minority affairs.

Caldwell said the BSU is expecting between 100-150 faculty members, students and community members from Manhattan to attend the event.

During the month of February, other programs will be presented and sponsored by various minority groups on campus.

BSU's kick-off will be followed with a Greek Stepshow Exhibition Feb. 3 and a semiformal dance Feb. 4, both in the Union Catskellar from 10 p.m. to 1 a.m., Brown said.

Juanita McGowan, of the academic assistance office, will be presenting a leadership workshop at 7 p.m. Feb. 7 in Union

"The workshop is aimed at the students who are going to the Big Eight Conference at the University of Colorado Feb. 16-19," McGowan said. "It is to get them psychologically ready for the experience and to help them understand the importance of black history."

The conference was held at K-State last year, with approximately 700 students from the Big Eight schools attending.

Final action in House

Hayden's tax cut rejected, different plan approved

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA — The House rejected Gov. Mike Hayden's proposal to cut state income taxes Tuesday, choosing instead to put to a final vote a radically different plan that includes both income and property tax relief.

The House is scheduled to take final action today on a bill that would cut individual income taxes by $58.3 million and create a $50 million fund for property tax relief. The measure also would restore a popular income tax deduction for federal taxes paid.

The House tentatively approved the plan Tuesday on a routine voice

Hayden's proposal would have reduced individual income tax rates by $78.9 million to halt the collection of an income tax windfall the state has been receiving.

The House action means the Legislature will not put a tax bill on Hayden's desk by the end of today the day on which Hayden had said he wanted lawmakers to approve his

"You expect me to explain what happened?" House Speaker Jim Braden, R-Clay Center, jokingly asked reporters after the debate.

The bulk of the changes in the bill were made in an amendment proposed by Rep. Rex Crowell, R-Longton, and adopted 64-56. Crowell said lawmakers had to deal with the impact of the state's first statewide property reappraisal in more than 20 years.

The amendment came after an extensive one by Rep. Robert Vancrum, R-Overland Park, had been accepted. Vancrum's amendment the first offered in the debate restored federal deductibility. It was adopted, 71-53.

dual income ta and gives taxpa ing lower rates of eral taxes paid an deduction was 1988 Legislature

ent

to

"I think there's a that far exceeds the p of the windfall, and going to happen wit Crowell said.

In addition, the bill the state's personal and deductions the same as federal tax code, which each year to account fo

Students to plan alcohol-free graduation

By Joe Kennedy Collegian Reporter

Today and Thursday 225 high school student representatives from throughout Kansas will gather on campus to receive information that will help them plan a Project Graduation program for their communities. The primary focus of Project Graduation is to provide an alternative type of celebration for high school graduations which would be drugand alcohol-free, said Susan Scott, associate dean of student life.

Project Graduation originated in Maine in 1980, in response to the deaths of seven youths in alcohol-related accidents in 1979 during the two weeks prior to their high school graduation ceremonies, Scott said. Now 40 states participate in Project Graduation.

Reg. Salon Price

This is the fourth statewide conference to teach students how to have substance-free celebrations, and the first time K-State has participated, Scott said.

"Since K-State is a land grant institution, its mission is to serve the citizens of Kansas, and this convention is a positive example to participate in," Scott said.

Project Graduation is sponsored by the Kansas Department of Transportation, Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Kansas and K-State, at the request of the department of transportation, she

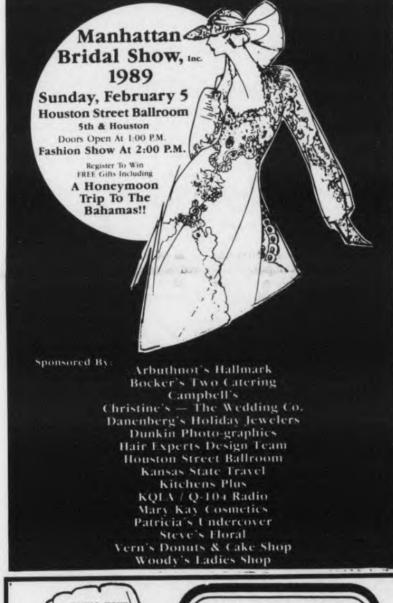

The conference will consist of five different workshops which will help the students plan their celebrations. There will be three workshops Wednesday afternoon and two workshops Thursday moming, she said.

Tonight there will be a banquet with Student Body President Laurian Cuffy and Todd Johnson, Student Senate chairman, speaking on leadership.

"Project Graduation is an excellent program for students to hear about alcohol-free entertain Johnson said. "Laurian and I only (K-State) students this will hear from so we will try them a representative idea of the versity. We're going to try to them some goals to help them de mine what type of leaders they v to be."

After the banquet, the spons will perform a mock celebration give the students an idea of how Pro ject Graduation works. The celebra tion will consist of a dance and the showing of the K-State vs. Oklahoma game on a big screen television in the Union Ballroom, Scott said.

VALUE

The items listed below will be auctioned to the highest bidder this Saturday from 8:05 a.m. to noon. Visit the sponsors . . . inspect the merchandise . . . determine your bid. Keep your radio on KMAN 1350 and your hand near the phone. Just call in and bid on the KMAN auction line: 776-1333.

AUCTION DATE: FEBRUARY 4, 1989 RETAIL MINIUM

	ANTOL	DID
Three-foot submarine sandwich: LITTLE KINGS SANDWICHES	19.95	11.00
$50 merchandise certificate: CAMPBELL'S GIFT SHOP	50.00	26.00
$50 certificate for services: LORDS 'N LADIES SALON	50.00	26.00
A 6% gallon canister of gourmet popcom: POPCORN PALACE	20.95	12.00
Mini-blind or micro mini-blind: WILDCAT EXTERIORS	154.00	80.00
Prime rib dinner for two: THE COTTON CLUB	25.00	13.00
Permanent: PAZAZZ HAIR SALON	51.00	26.00
An 8-session pass: SLENDER YOU	24.00	12.00
Resistol or Stetson beaver hat: S BAR J	105.00	55.00
An Ansel Adams print, matted and framed: BEN FRANKLIN CRAFTS	86.11	44.00
A pizza of your choice: PIZZA HUT	12.70	7.00
$20 certificate: CINDERELLA DRY CLEANERS	20.00	12.00
$20 service certificate: B & B RADIATOR AND AUTO AIR SHOP	20.00	12.00
A Pawleys Island rope hammock: ARBUTHNOT'S HALLMARK	99.99	50.00
$25 merchandise certificate: JUDI'S CHILDREN'S WEAR	25.00	13.00
$50 certificate: DRAPERY WORLD	50.00	26.00
A professionally designed silk floral arrangement: WEST ACRES FLORAL-
JUNCTION CITY	40.00	22.00
$20 certificate: PIZZA SHUTTLE	20.00	12.00
Video Graphics System: CRIMPER'S OF AGGIEVILLE	12.99	7.00
$20 certificate: VERN'S DONUTS AND CAKES	20.00	12.00
$20 certificate: MRS. POWELL'S CINNAMON ROLLS-MTC	20.00	12.00
Closet-maid shell system: KITCHENS PLUS	50.00	26.00
$25 certificate: AGGIE SKI & SPORT	25.00	13.00
Sizzlin' sirlons for four: SIRLOIN STOCKADE	30.16	16.00
$40 certificate toward the purchase of a handbag: BROWN'S SHOE FIT	40.00	22.00
Case of Pepsi or Diet Pepsi: PEPSI-COLA OF MANHATTAN	9.50	5.00	2
"The Victorian" wedding portrait package: HEIRLOOM PORTRAITS	505.00	260.00
$25 certificate for any Laurel Burch earnings: KITCHENS PLUS	25.00	13.00
$25 certificate for potted perennials: EASTSIDE AND WESTSIDE MARKETS	25.00	13.00
Magic Chef compact freezer: ADYS APPLIANCE	329.00	170.00
14K gold ring: DIAMOND CONNECTION	60.00	32.00
Cordovan car battery: THIRD STREET BATTERY	54.88	33.00
Pulsar lady's watch: DUERFELDT'S JEWELRY	150.00	78.00
$25 certificate: WESTPORT DRY CLEANERS	25.00	13.00
$50 certificate: TAYLOR'S SHOES	50.00	26.00
VISA AND MASTERCARD ACCEPTED!!! PLUS	MANY MOR	E ITEMS!	11

 16 oz. sirloin $4.99 •8 oz. sirloin $2.69 includes steak fries & texas toast

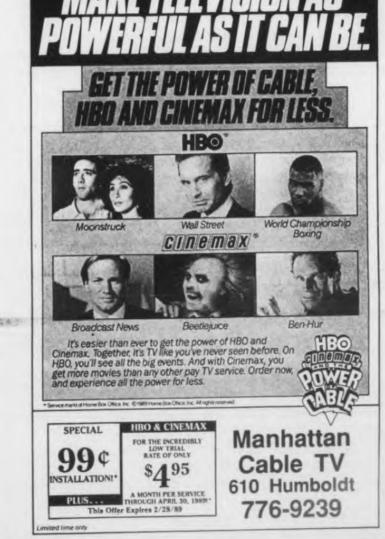

KSU VS. #1 OKLAHOMA

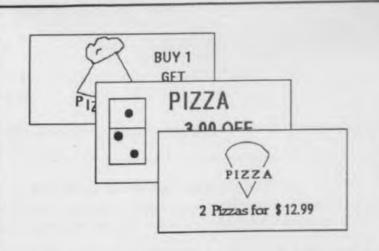

WATCH ON OUR 7 FT. TV

- 25¢ Hamburgers
- •25¢ Hot Dogs
- •$2.25 Pitchers
- •99¢ Sooner Boomers

TIP-OFF AT 8:00 p.m.

1115 Moro Street, Aggieville telephone: 776-0030

The current currency now redeemable

at Falsetto's Pizza

Falsetto's Pizza now honors all competitiors coupons no matter what they say or who they're from. Have more of the best for less. Why go anywhere else?

In case you can't find a good one, let us help.

Falsetto's Pizza

2 Pizzas for the Price of 1

Falsetto's Pizza

FREE SLICE

OF ANY PIZZA limit one Not good with any other offer. Not good with any other offer.

> fast and free delivery 537-3830 1127 Moro in Aggieville Open til 2am nightly

Editorial

Kansas State Collegian Opinions ■ Wednesday, February 1, 1989

Windfall tax returns fail passage in House

The hot air blowing in the $135 million Topeka wind may be the fall of Gov. Hayden.

Starting with his campaign promise three years ago to return the windfall tax surplus, Hayden has blown a lot of that hot air in every direction except toward the wealthy, constituent-filled Johnson County.

Hayden conceded to the popular vote of dismayed Johnson Countians who demanded return of the money, and "blew off" the needs for services.

Perhaps the current warm political climate in previous weeks has been because of the hot air Hayden further expended in his State of the State Address when, in order to appease Johnson County constituants, Hayden further urged the Legislature to return $79 million of the windfall in the form of tax reductions. However, in the same speech, he spoke of increasing funding for highways, prison reform, education and health care.

The rhetoric of Hayden's proposal makes it sound as though we are all going to be getting a check in the mail come tax return time.

The reality is that there is no return and there is no check. Taxpayers may pay less, but the cost in terms of services provided by the state may prove to be much more expensive.

Someone, somewhere will be paying for these new projects. To propose these expensive programs without increased funding may look good to the tax payers, but seems unfeasible in the long run.

However, Hayden appeased Johnson Countians and maybe saved some votes for the next election while also appearing to represent the rest of the state's interests. However, while the Republicandominated Senate already approved his recommendations, the House of Representatives made extensive changes to the plan yesterday, thus insuring that the bill would not reach Hayden's desk today, as he had hoped.

Although Hayden has referred to this measure as being good for the state of Kansas, (not just Johnson County) this defeat as well as the compromises soon to come will do far more to benefit the entire state.

While Hayden claims that this defeat in the House is not a political defeat, House Minoriy Leader Marvin Barkis put it best when he said, "The Governor loses; Jim Braden loses, and the people of Kansas win."

Book reveals media flaws came across a book the other day I was surprised to find in our very own K-State Union Bookstore. It was the latest book by Edward S. Herman and Noam Chomsky, "Manufacturing Consent: the Political Economy of the Mass Media."

For years I've gotten used to wandering through the bookstore and casting a casual eye at the various sections of books: the ghostwritten kiss-and-tell epics of those fallen from grace in Washington, the science fiction section with all the covers of scantily metal-clad dragon riders, and the art books containing beautiful pictures that cost only $50. The run-of-the-mill selection like in any ordinary bookstore.

Now, maybe I've just overlooked it all these years, but I've never come across the section labeled "Political Dissent." That's why finding "Manufacturing Consent" was such an oddity.

I had first seen it in a radical bookstore in Washington, D.C., and eventually had a friend send me a copy from New York. Yes, I realize I could have ordered it, but my friend in New York offered to give it to me as a gift, which I thought was rather swell.

So? What's the big deal about the book? OK. It's simply not every day you encounter a book which tells you that a huge amount of the news you're getting about the world is heavily tampered with so that the final product is riddled with inconsistencies, half truths, and outright lies - and proves it.

Granted, we constantly hear talk concerning media bias. But far from mere casual concern and griping, Herman and Chomsky take a deep, well researched look into the forces that produce and shape the news.

As for who is perhaps ultimately in control of what we read and hear newswise, the authors describe the vast network of economically powerful and politically influencial persons and groups which serve as a gauntlet the news must pass through before appearing

Commentary

Baldock Contributing Columnist

in our papers or on TV and radio in its final

Kale

Of the more than 25,000 "media entities" in the country, a mere 29 of the nation's largest media systems account for the ownership and production of more than half of them.

The authors make the case that the owners of the media are logically not going to allow much of what they do not consider to be in their economic and political self-interests, which are often one and the same, to pass into the consumer market.

owerful political interest groups, such as Accuracy In Media and Freedom House, put pressure on the media to cater to their own perceptions of newsworthy events. It is such groups, claim Herman and Chomsky, which had enormous influence in manufacturing right-wing perceptions of the Vietnam War, often at the expense of considerable truth.

One of the major incongruities the authors point out concerning news coverage on Cambodia during the 1970s is the vast amount of media attention given to the genocide perpetrated by Pol Pot's forces against the Cambodian people. This is compared with the media's virtual silence on the genocide perpetrated by the U.S. Air Force against the Cambodians prior to Pol Pot's rule.

Media coverage of elections in the Central American countries of El Salvador, Guatemala and Nicaragua is another main focus of the book. Herman and Chomsky effectively demonstrate that calculated bias came into play in the way these elections were portrayed.

For instance, in the cases of the elections in El Salvador and Guatemala, where government troops have systematically killed tens of thousands of innocent civilians with U.S. supplied weapons, the media noted how the military presence at the polls was "protecting" the voters.

In the Nicaraguan elections, the Sandinista soldiers were of course "intimidating" the voters. In El Salvador and Guatemala, "rebel disruption" of the elections was a recurrent theme, and is once again with the upcoming elections in El Salvador. However, in Nicaragua, disruption by the Contra rebels was not considered an issue.

Perhaps the most hard-hitting and currently relevant section of the book concerns what Herman and Chomsky refer to as "worthy" and "unworthy" victims.

"Worthy" victims are those our government chooses to acknowledge. These are victims of governments we are politically at odds with, our enemies, and often "communists."

"Unworthy" victims are those our government and, hence, the media conveniently ignore. They are often victims of client states, "friendly" governments, those whose actions we support and, to a great degree, for which we are responsible. very day we hear of repressed Soviet dissidents, or of a repressed Polish labor union. But where are the stories of the hundreds of union leaders and religious figures tortured and murdered in Latin America under U.S. sponsored

As you can see, "Manufacturing Consent" is not something you can expect to see every day in your typical local bookstore. Before consulting another newspaper or TV news program to find out the "facts," I recommend that you take a look at this book first.

Other Perspectives

Thursday, the Board of Regents rejected a recommendation by hired consultants to discontinue KU's architectural engineering program. In doing so, it allowed reason to prevail

The consultants, who reviewed the engineering programs at the University of Kansas, Wichita State University and Kansas State University, claimed that KU's program was a mere duplication of K-State's program. ...

duplication in programming is not an issue. By having both schools offer the program, the state is better able to serve

By rejecting the recommendation, the Regents acted forcefully and intelligently. In the future let's hope they show the same willingness to be flexible and open to other voices.

The University Daily Kansan

over shoddy research and illogical arguments.

Because KU and K-State's missions differ so greatly, the students.

Jan. 23, 1989

Collegian Editorial Policies

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR are always encouraged. Those which pertain to matters of campus and/or public interest are especially encouraged, and are given the

Letters should be kept as brief as possible, preferably under 300 words. Those who cannot condense their opinions should consider submiting their letter in the form of a guest column. All letters are subject to editing for space, style and taste.

GUEST COLUMNS are also encouraged. The column should be no longer than two double-spaced, typed pages. If the submission is used as a column and not a letter to the editor, it will be accompanied by the author's photograph.

SEND SUBMISSIONS to the Collegian in Kedzie 116.

UNSIGNED EDITORIALS represent the consensus opinion of the Collegian's editorial board. Opinion columns do not necessarily reflect the opinions of the Collegian management, Student Publications, Inc. or the newspaper staff in general.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

-0.700	Janet Swanson
EDITOH	Susan L'Ecuye
MANAGING EDITOH	Erwin Sebr
NEWS EDITOR	Catherine Douc
EDITORIAL PAGE EDI	OR
PHOTO/GRAPHICS ED	TORGreg Yoge
SPORTS EDITOR	The state of the s
ADVERTISING MANAG	R
EDITORIAL BOARD	Barbara Baker, Kale Baklook, Nancy Chartrand, Catherine Doud, Susan L'Ecuye Brian Hummell, Dwayne Lively, Scott Miller, Michael Nichols, Karla Redelsheimer, Paula Seby Chad L. Sanborn, Mark Schmeller, Erwin Seba, Robert R. Short, Brett Stranathan, Janet Swansor
tions Inc., Kedzie Hall 10 Monday and Thursday POSTMASTER: Send hattan, Kan. 66506-716 News contributions v Inquiries concerning is	Il be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, Reozie Hair 116. cal, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word adver- be directed to (913) 532-6555.
	Kansas State Collegian Subscription Rates
One Semester (Fall or	Spring)
Tour Committee / Call of	d Carina)
Commer Cossion	The second secon
One Vene (Call Coring	and Summer)
	To observe by VICA or MastarCard Call (913) 532-6555
	s changes to Student Publications, Kedzie Hall 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506
Send orders and address	CUNTAINS IN CLOUDIN L. ORIGINATION LANGUAGE LANGUAGE LANGUAGE

West Contraction

IT'S A DEER I GOT IT WITH MY AK-47, SEMI-AUTOMATIC, TO ROUND, GAS OPERATED, MILITARY ASSAULT RIFLE...

Bundy's legacy affects public

ed Bundy, despite having been one of the most notorious serial killers in the history of the United States, also had a talent for speaking.

One of the police officers involved in the investigation of Ted Bundy believed that talking was a therapy of sorts to Bundy. The more he talked, the more relaxed he was and the more persuasive he became.

Bundy used this ability, and the knowledge he gained while he was still in law school, to keep himself alive for more than 11 years after he was sentenced to die in Florida's electric chair. He earned stays of execution by bringing up technicality after technicality.

But before he was executed, Bundy set in motion a wave that has some people already treating him as a hero of sorts.

The night before his execution, Bundy gave a half-hour, videotaped interview with James C. Dobson, a longtime right-wing opponent of pornography.

In the interview, Bundy named pornography as the cause behind his series of murders. Bundy said he was first exposed to soft-core pornography when he was 12 years old and that soon he was attracted to "harder" forms of pornography.

Eventually, Bundy said, "You reach a point where the pornography only goes so far You begin to wonder if maybe actually doing it would give you that which is beyond just reading it or looking at it."

Dobson is making copies of the interview's transcript available to more than 1,300 religious radio stations and copies of the videotape will be available to the public in a few weeks, for a recommended donation. All of this is billed as first person testimony to the corrupting power of pomography.

Ted Bundy, mass murderer, is about to

Commentary

Dwayne Lively Collegian Columnist

become Ted Bundy, victim of pornography and champion of the anti-pomography crusade. He will be these things to right-wing organizations which more than likely favored his execution as a serial murderer.

If Bundy was a victim, did he deserve to die? Or was he not guilty by reason of insanity? And, if they didn't believe him 11 years ago when he said he was innocent, why does everyone believe everything he said right before his execution when he was fighting to save his life?

id Bundy suddenly "see the light" or did he just tell everyone what they wanted to hear? One of his biographers has described him as a "chameleon" who "gave back what the listener wanted." In other words, he sold them a bill of goods.

A bill of goods is most likely what James Dobson was sold. Bundy could easily have known about Dobson's anti-porn stance and told him exactly what he wanted to hear. Because Bundy said what Dobson already believed to be true. Dobson would take it as the truth, no matter who or what the source was, and would use it in his own crusade. In that one quick manipulation, Bundy made himself a hero, or at the very least a sympathetic figure, to one small group of Bundy's confessions to more than 20 murders must also be taken with a degree of skepticism. Once again, he may have been trying to save his life by telling the law what they wanted to hear. Time will tell if he actually committed all those murders, or if we all just want to believe he did to justify his execution.

Bundy, whether consciously or not, has also seemed to have manipulated the state of Florida and the rest of the United States as well. By manipulating the law to keep himself alive for 11 years, Bundy frustrated the citizens of Florida to the point that when he was finally executed they held celebrations and sang songs.

When the rest of us in the country saw this we all went, "God, what a bunch of sickos." Suddenly Florida looks as twisted as Bundy has been accused of being. And Bundy comes off looking a touch more sympathetic than he was before.

undy's ability as a manipulator and a speaker even impressed the Florida judge who sentenced him to die 11 years ago. He told Bundy that he was very good and that if he had stayed on the other side of the law he would have been an outstanding lawyer. The judge seemed almost sorry to have to hand down a death sentence to Bundy.

That is the ultimate power Bundy had over people. He had the ability to confuse them and make them doubt their actions. Then he told them what they wanted to hear and thereby gained a degree of control over them.

This manipulative talent kept Bundy alive for 11 years longer than he should have been and the same talent looks like it is destined to " keep him alive even after his death.

Resolution on fires

Film similar to David, Goliath

By Mark Schreiner Collegian Reviewer

"Manon of the Spring," the sequel to "Jean de Florette," one of two bestattended Kaleidoscope films last year, is a modern David and Goliath story, except that a girl named Manon is David, and relating to Goliath is

"Manon" is inextricably linked with "Jean" and can't be understood without it. In the prequel, Manon's dad, Jean de Florette and mom inherit a carnation farm in perfumeproducing Southern France. Two greedy peasants, Papet and Galinette, covet the farm.

When Jean, a hunchback, won't sell, the peasants secretly block the farm's only spring and the local villakeep mum about it. Without the spring, Jean overworks himself trying to provide for the thirsty flowers. The family goes bankrupt, Jean dies, the widow sells the farm and everyone leaves the theater in tears.

Review

This is where "Manon" begins, Manon, played by Emmanuelle Beart, is an 18-year-old, welleducated shepherdess. "She's the Holy Virgin of the hills," Galinette

WOMEN'S & JUNIORS' CLOTHING FASHION, QUALITY, VALUE

323 Poyntz Sapar Middle of Downtown Manhattan 15

Enjoy smooth, creamy Frozen Yogurt that tastes like Ice Cream

but with 80% less fat! -- FREE SAMPLES--1 Can't Believe It's YOGURT!

OPEN: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Daily Noon-11 p.m. Sundays Nautilus Towers-Aggieville auditorium The Mystery of Edwin Drood Saturday, February 4

8:00 p.m.

K-State student tickets now 1/2 price

Join in the fun as this Tony Award-winning "Best Musical" -- mystery lets you pick the · villains and choose the lovers while each actor vies for your support and the chance to sing again.

"The old-time English music hall setting is right. The idea brilliant. The score is tuneful, the lyrics well-turned, the choreography witty. Go--you'll have a good time."

- Clive Barnes, New York Post
- General Public: $18, 16, 14 . Senior Citizen: $16, 14, 12 ... Student / Child: $14, 12, 10
- · Charge tickets to MasterCard or VISA at . (913) 532-6428, or come to the box office noon to 5:00 p.m. weekdays.
- Transportation for seniors is available .* through Kansas State Bank and the Manhattan Arts Council. For information, call Marie Dellen at 537-4400.

Papet, played by Yves Montand, a star of French romances 20 years ago, is pressuring Galinette to get married and carry on the family

It's no surprise when Galinette, the goof that he is, falls in love when he spies Manon playing the Pipes of Pan and frolicking naked with the Galinette and Papet go through a grade-schoolish "Who do you like," "I'm not telling," "Tell me her initials," sequence before Galinette leaves to hunt Manon, who is keeping watch over her flock by night.

Galinette and Manon embark on a madcap chase across the hills as he begs her to marry him and she begs him to leave her. He tells her, "Your love is choking me, making me ill," which, oddly enough, also is what his love for her is doing to the audience.

Later, Manon overhears some villagers talking about the hidden spring on her dad's land. Furious, she can do nothing but hug a tree and cry.

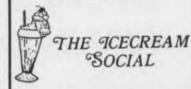

When she enters a cave in search of a lost lamb, however, she finds the spring that is the source of the town's

Give a Special Treat

Valentine's Day

Ice Cream Cake Your favorite flavor of REAL

ice cream on top of a REAL heart-shaped cake (white or chocolate) FREE local delivery

537-7079 1439 Anderson

> SHOE & Leather REPAIR

You're not dressed up if Your Shoes are run down.

MANHATTAN SHOE REPAIR

401 Humboldt Drive-up convenience Try our drop station at Wash Palace in Candlewood Shopping Center Open Tuesday-Saturday 776-1193 water, and she dams it.

The town needs water. The town can't get water. All the crops are dying. Galinette now tastes his own poison as he carries water for the

Like the story of David and Goliath but unlike "Jean," "Manon" ends happily. The shepherdess beats the oppressor and lives happily ever

But Papet is no typical Goliath. Papet is the film's main character. Manon, for all of her innocence and justice and beauty, doesn't even speak until the movie is 30 minutes old. Also, she isn't involved in the last 20 minutes of the film. Papet is always central and active. He gets the audience's sympathy

In a killer ending, Papet gets the shaft that he originally thrust into Manon's dad, but the audience feels that Papet isn't so bad. Rather, he has been tricked by fate into some

The film, full of fairy-tale charac-

From here

ever, is relatively uninteresting.

his is the tragedy. The crooks are more goofy and pitiful than evil, while Manon is exacting cruel revenge. This reversal of roles lifts the realm of art - art that isn't only true; it's fun to watch.

"Manon" will be shown in Forum subtitles.

Ladies . . . let us repair those worn and broken heel caps-while you wait!

> 1214-C Moro Aggieville on Cobbler's Lane Spenco Comfort Orthotic Arches, Neoprene wrist, knee and ankle supports. 539-8571

ters and chance plot twists, is corny but enjoyable. Manon would be the perfect princess, innocent and ridiculously beautiful, if only the other characters weren't always talking about her innocence and beauty.

Manon's angelic character, how-

Papet is the person of the film and "Manon" above fairy tales and into

In the end, good and evil, fate and will, and the story of David and Goliath are as inextricably linked as "Manon of the Spring" and "Jean de Hall tonight at 7:30 and tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. The 1987 film is rated PG, and is 113 minutes long with English approved by County not prepared to cancel the resolu-By The Collegian Staff tion until the weather returns to The Riley County Commission normal conditions. The recent approved a resolution asking resirain was a "temporary damper" to dents to be careful when lighting the hazard, he said. "We're not about to lift the resolution at the present time,"

Del Petty, rural fire chief, said the objective of the resolution is not to fine residents or cause hardships, but rather to educate them on the problems of careless burning.

"If people are careless and we have a continuing problem, there is another step we can take, which we hope will not be necessary," Thomas said.

'(The commission could) invoke the statute that makes people subject to criminal prosecution for careless burning," he said.

to Infinity.

Resort Wear & Travel Show Seiferts Plus, 401 Poyntz

International Tours of Manhattan fires outdoors due to the dry

the Riley County Commission, said the burning resolution is in response to the extremely dry the dry time to light any fire," he

"It is extremely hazardous in

By statute, residents are

"However, mid-April is usually

Thomas said the commission is when pastures are burned in this required to contact the local rural fire department prior to any pasture burning, Thomas said.

part of the state," he said.

conditions in Riley County.

Wilton Thomas, chairman of weather conditions.

Associated Students of Kansas

LOBBY DAY

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 6

Join us at the information session

MAINSTREET

the party band

·Six piece professional hom band

MAINSTREET is the party band and would like to party with you.

Spring dates still available

Contact: Richard "Felix" Smalley (913) 776-6529 Richard Philbrook (913) 776-8146

Feb. 2, 1989 at 7 p.m.

Join us for a fun-filled evening of resort wear fashions, wardrobe planning, and "How to Pack a Suitcase." Information on TWA Getaway Trips and discounted cruises will be presented by International Tours. Giveaways & Balloons & Refreshments

Thursday at 7 in the Union Big 8 Room

High Energy•Excitement•Showmanship

·Best party and dance music

Common Common DISPOSALENS SYSTEM Now available at:
___ DR. PAUL E. BULLOCK. Doctor of Oplometry *See year Eyeare Professional Annua 404 Humboldt Prof. Bidg. Manhettan, Ks. (1 block west of Dillards, Down

ATTENTION K-STATE BASKETBALL FANS!

YOGURT!

"Win" when the WILDCATS "WIN"!

When the Men's Kansas State Basketball team is victorious, we'll help with the treats!

Here's How It Works;

You'll receive the percent off your total purchase that matches the point spread. For instance, if the Wildcats win by 15 points, you'll receive a 15 percent discount. If they win by 30, it'll be 30 percent, etc.

Cheer the Wildcats on to victory against

Oklahoma

and then come in to celebrate with us after the game.

Discount good until closing time on game day.

705 N. 11th Nautilus Towers Open: 11 a.m.-11 p.m. Dally Noon-11 p.m. Sunday

DANCERS SINGERS Worlds of Fun is conducting an audition tour in search of the best in Midwestern talent to appear in our 1989 show program. If you sing (pop, rock, show tunes), or dance (jazz only), you can earn over $5,500 performing six days per week during the summer, and weekends in the spring and fall.

THE CLOSEST AUDITIONS:

Wednesday, Feb. 8 at Kansas State

The"K" and "S" Rooms in the K-State Union

3:00 P.M. (Registration begins at 2:30 P.M.)

Thursday, Feb. 9 at the University of Kansas

(level 6)

Kansas Union—Kansas Room

3:00 P.M. (Registration begins at 2:30 P.M.)

· MANHATTAN, KANSAS

• LAWRENCE, KANSAS

University

"All The World's A Stage" at Worlds of Fun, from our lively 50's-60's rock revue, STAX OF WAX, to the all-new musical spectacular at the Tivoli Music Hall to the hand-clappin', foot-stompin' goodtime country and bluegrass at the Country Junction Amphitheater.

Performing at Worlds of Fun can be a great part time job, or that important First Step. It's fun, professional experience and terrific exposure. More than 1,300,000 Worlds of Fun visitors are waiting to discover you!

For more information and a complete audition schedule, contact the Show Productions Department, Worlds of Fun, 4545 Worlds of Fun Avenue, Kansas City, Missouri, 64161

(816) 459-9276

The Best Stage ADVENTURE Experience in the Midwest!

No jobs are available for dramatic actors, or instrumentalist

K-State to gain communications center

Education center to benefit campus

By Carol Knorr Collegian Reporter

Come March, the grass north of Umberger Hall will be replaced with concrete and steel.

The federal government has authorized $6 million for the construction of the Kansas Regents Educational Communications Center to be located on the K-State campus, said Donald Hogg, chief engineer of the ECC.

The building itself is estimated to cost from $4 million to $4.4 million, and the remainder of the funds will go toward equipment for the building and programs that will be active there, Hogg said.

"It's going to be a very attractive facility, and I think it will be an asset to the campus aesthetically," said Jerry Horn, coordinator of academic programming and distance education

"At the same time, I think it will be a valuable resource to the entire University in terms of its ability to communicate with the various constituencies that choose to use it," he said.

The ECC will provide video productions and transmissions and serve the state and surrounding regions,

Horn said. Educational and instructional programs created there will include presentations that are live via satellite and will address the selected needs for students in kindergarten through 12th grade, college students, the general public, and various professional groups.

"There will be four main tenants in the building," Hogg said. "The ECC itself will house the main studio area."

The rest of the center will be composed of a Telenet operation, the audio-visual part of the Extension service currently housed in McCain Auditorium, and the radio-TV portion of the A.Q. Miller School of Journalism and Mass Communications, Horn said.

"The idea of a telecommunications center and the need to be able to reach further around the state was kicked around for a long time," he

A search committee for a facility such as the ECC was created under former University President Duane Acker's administration more than three years ago, said Robert Lowman, associate dean of the graduate

■ See CENTER, Page 10

Star School Project begins in April By Carol Knorr Star School Project Collegian Reporter In conjunction with the Kansas

Regents Educational Communications Center, K-State will be host to the Star School Project for high schools throughout Kansas. The program will begin operation by

The Star School Project is the brainchild of Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., and was named in direct contrast to former President Reagan's Strategic Defense Intiative, commonly called Star Wars, said Robert Lowman, associate dean of the graduate school.

Through the Star School Project, $90,000 will be made available to more than 50 local schools in Kansas by the end of the 1988-89 academic year to purchase and install satellite receive-site equipment, said Jerry Horn, coordinator of academic programming and distance education research.

"Not too long after (the decision to build the ECC), the announcement of a potential project was made available to K-State," Lowman said. "We joined with representatives from Oklahoma, Missouri and Alabama to form the Midland Consortium."

The Midland Consortium was one of about 70 groups to submit proposals for the $20 million of federal Programming

1. Spanish 1 for H.S. Students (KSU)

2. Advanced/College Level Spanish for H.S. Students (KSU)

3. French 1 for H.S. Students (KU)

4. Advanced/College Level French for H.S. Students (KU) 5. Integrated Inservice Program

a. Reading and Writing across the curriculum (K-12) (KSU)

b. Mathematics (K-6) (KU) c. Science- Elementary (K-6) (KU)

Secondary (7-12) (KSU) d. Special Education/Students at Risk (KU)

Laboratory Science Enrichment Programs

a. Biology (KSU)

b. Chemistry (KSU)

c. Physics/Physical Science (KSU) d. Earth/Space Science (KSU)

7. Career Education/Information

a. Career Development Programs (7,9,11) (KSU)

b. Science, Lang. & Math Motivational Workshops (KSU)

c. Career Videotape for Elementary Children (KSU) d. National Career Dev. Guidelines Workshop (KSU)

e. Labor Market Information Workshop (KSU)

Source: Kansas Regents Educational Communications Center

funding available for the Star School said that in October 1988, the U.S.

Project, he said.

PREGNANCY

TESTING

CENTER

539-3338

Department of Education notified the Hom, who is also the state director Midland Consortium that it was one for the Kansas Star School Project, of four programs that would be

WITH A DAIRY

QUEEN FROZEN

brazier.

ICE CREAM CAKE

Third

Manhattan

receiving funding for a Star School Project, Horn said.

☐ In Development

1990-91

Spring

Fall

Ready For Use

1990-91

Fall Spring

He said a grant was then

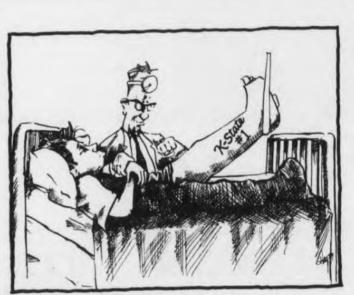

Staff/Gary Lytle

■ See STAR, Page 10

New Store Hours OPEN TO THE Tues. thru Fri. 10-6:30 PUBLIC Saturday 539-4811 People's Grocery Co-op 811 Colorado

Come watch the KSU vs OU game with the friendly people at

It's Like A

ONLY the food's not as good.

And, unless you have adequate health care coverage, you'll have to pay the bills.

That's why you need Shared Pay Comprehensive from Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kansas. It's affordable protection,

■ 100% of your health care services at Lafene Student Health Center.

■ 50% of the cost of health services at all other approved facilities, until $500 is paid on a single contract.*

■ 100% of covered services after your shared-pay maximum

Hurry. Enrollment Ends February 1, 1989.

Shared Pay Comprehensive health care protection starts first day of classes (January 11, 1989), but only if you enroll by February 1st. Get details at Lafene Student Health Center, the Student Government Office, or call the local Blue Cross and Blue Shield office, 539-4861.

•Free Pregnancy Testing

·Same Day Results Call For Appointment

Totally Confidential Services

Walk-ins Welcome

·Located across from Campus in Anderson Village

はないないないないないないないないないないないないないないないかべい

Dear Student,

here's something you can do for a short time each day that will improve every aspect of your life-your grades, your future career, your relationships, everything-all at the same time. What's more, it's easy to do. Over 1.000,000 students have experienced the benefits. And you can too.

You'll learn about it soon at a special free lecture on the Transcendental Meditation technique, and regardless of what you've already heard about TM, this entertaining talk will surprise and enlighten you. More than that, it may well change your life.

My name is Hugh Brennan. I'm president of the student government at Maharishi International University, where students, faculty, and staff all practice the TM technique. want to tell you three things about the upcoming lecture:

At the lecture, you'll learn how the simple, natural TM technique, which is practiced for 15-20 minutes twice a day, brings profound benefits to mind and body, and how these benefits automatically improve one's social behavior, school and job performance, and much more.

E speriencing the unified through the TM changue really gives me more rt of nature. As soon as I on TM, everything bec-ier, and my grade-poin

Scientific Research You'll also learn about the vast amount of scientific research that's been done on TM (more than 350 studies worldwide over the past 15 years).

you really want to know how to improve your grades, your career, and your life, there's an upcoming lecture you shouldn't miss.

And you'll learn that a lot of the research findings are directly relevant to your personal and academic development as a student. Here, for example, is a partial list of the research results in the field of education: increased intelligence ■ improved comprehension, concentration, and memory ■ increased learning ability increased speed in solving problems increased creativity broader comprehension and ability to focus attention improved academic performance reduced stress and anxiety decreased use of drugs, alcohol, and cigarettes increased happiness

■ improved relationships between students and teachers improved mind-body coordination improved athletic performance Now, I'm sure you'd like to have some of those qualities growing in your life. Well you can. And the beautiful thing is that these qualities grow naturally, simply as a result of practicing the TM technique. World Peace Finally, if you are concerned not just with your own future, but also the future of our nation and the world, there's even more reason to attend the lecture. This is because the TM technique doesn't just help the individual. The coherence generated when people practice TM extends to society as a whole. Research has shown that when as little as the square root of one percent of a population practices the TM program and its advanced aspects, the entire population becomes more orderly, peaceful, and progressive.

TM is the best antidote to stress I know of. When individuals are free of stress, they behave more hariously. I'm convinced that if people practiced TM, world peace would be a reality." -Kurleigh D. King Director, Institute for World

Leadership Former Director-General, Caribbean Community and Common Market

This "Super Radiance Effect" has been demonstrated in commun ities, cities-even entire nations. This brings great hope for the future, because it means that the age-old problems of world peace may at last have a solution.

It Works! f you're wondering how one simple technique can bring so many benefits to mind, body, behavior, and even the world as a whole, I urge you to attend the free lecture. The explanation you'll hear is at once simple, scientific, and profound.

"TM is the single most important part of being a peak performer. It gives you the ability to excel in an environment of stress, to make rapid decisions based on old changes, and to do so tioning very well."
ristopher Hegarty, Preside Hegarty and Associat San Francisco, CA

You'll hear, for example, about the unified field of all the laws of nature as described by modern physics and by ancient Vedic science. And about how the TM technique lets you experience the unified field within your own consciousness. And about how that experience, gained regularly, brings you the support of all the

> When you practice TM, you can experience the full range of education-not ning classroom knowknower, and that's yourself! Ph.D. candidate

Maharishi Intern University

The main thing, however, is that TM works. I know from my own experience. I've been practicing the technique for 6 years, and its made me more relaxed, yet more dynamic and productive. As a result, I'm enjoying greater success-both in and out of the classroom!

Of course, whether you start the TM technique or not is up to you. But doesn't it make sense to at least attend the lecture? If even ten percent of what I've said about TM proves to be true, think what it could mean for your achievement and happiness for the rest of your life.

Free Lecture

he date and time of the lecture is given below. I hope you'll be there, and don't hesitate to bring your friends; you'll be doing a great thing for them as well!

Wishing you success in all that you do,

S. Hugh Breman

Hugh Brennan President, Student Government Maharishi International University

anscendental Meditation

Free

Tonight 7 p.m. International Student Center

Transcendental Meditation is a service mark of the World Plan Executive Council—United States, a non-profit educational organization.

Lecture

Tomorrow 7 p.m. University Inn

An aqual opportunity amplityee

8 Registered Marks Stue Cross and Stue Street Associate

*($1,000 on a family contract.)

nFocus

Kansas State Collegian ■ Wednesday, February 1, 1989 ■ Page 7

Crisis Center

The FONE Crisis Center is a volunteer service offered to individuals who want to discuss personal problems or talk to an unidentified listener. Often callers are just seeking information or advice.

Two volunteers wait for calls in the FONE Crisis Center, located at University for Man. Volunteers may wait hours for a call, which often is not of a crisis nature.

Non-crisis calls dominate phone

Editor's note: The volunteers' names have been withheld to protect their anonymity.

Whether the crisis is as small as not finding a certain word in the dictionary or as large as a possible suicide, a volunteer at the FONE Crisis Center is ready to listen.

Calls to the center are not always of a crisis

"We have had some fun things happen to us on the crisisline," said Mary Kipp, coordinator of the FONE Crisis Center.

Kristine Hull, assistant coordinator for the crisisline, said, "My first caller was a flasher who was disappointed in a response he got from someone he

A high percentage of the calls are requests for information, Kipp said.

Kipp said, "A man called and asked about interest rates on certificates of deposit. We told him he needed to call banks in town, and we gave him a few phone numbers."

She said the experience she remembered the most was a call from a man who wanted to know which Manhattan restaurant the crisis workers thought was the most romantic.

"We started our own poll at the center between volunteers to try to come up with an answer for the young man," Kipp said.

Hull, a junior in psychology, said, "When volunteers receive a child abuse call, we must tell the caller right up front that they will be reported to (the Kansas Department of Social and Rehabilitation Services) because (child abuse) is against the law." Many callers still talk after the volunteer explains the SRS department's involvement, she said. "As a volunteer I have learned a lot about the world. Before I started I was very naive," Hull said. Last year the crisisline handled 3,500 calls, Kipp said.

Anthony Jurich, adviser to the center, said less than 10 percent of the calls are suicide-related.

Since August, Jurich, professor of human development and family studies, said he has been needed for 62 suicide calls.

In September and October, many of the suicide calls were caused from problems resulting from the loss of a summer relationship, he said. During the spring many of the callers were unhappy because of the warm weather.

"(Callers) see everyone else having fun except for themselves," Jurich said.

During semester exam periods and holiday seasons - including spring break, Christmas, Thanksgiving and Independence Day - suicide calls are common, he said. Whether the center receives just a few calls or many calls, volunteers are needed to cover the shifts seven days a week, 365 days a year, Kipp said.

Two volunteers are needed for each of three shifts. The first shift is from 5 to 8 p.m., the second shift is 8 p.m. to midnight, and the "graveyard" shift is from midnight to 8 a.m.

"During the day the center uses an answering machine for the callers to leave a message so volunteers on the first shift can return their calls," Kipp

The students are required to work one shift a week for a semester but are allowed to trade shifts

"(We) never tell (the callers) we understand — because we don't. It's the last thing they want to hear." -Ann volunteer with other volunteers, she said.

"The volunteers only use first names on the crisisline to keep their anonymity," Kipp said. "There is always someone to take a shift," she

A volunteer is absent only about once a month. When this happens, Kipp said she works the shift

The students volunteering are not in any particular field of study. The volunteers' majors range from engineering to business programs, she said.

Of the 35 volunteers, 70 percent are students and 30 percent are community volunteers, Kipp said. "Some students become volunteers because it helps them in their courses. Other volunteers just want to help people," she said. In addition to crisis calls, the volunteers are involved with the Ring-A-Day program.

Each volunteer calls two elderly persons a day to discuss the person's needs and ensure their physical and emotional stability, Kipp said. The volunteers talk to the individuals 10 to 15 minutes. Requests for the calls are made by relatives and other concerned individuals.

Ann, a volunteer, said the most difficult call is the suicide call.

Ann has been a volunteer for five months at the

During a possible suicide call, the volunteer tries to determine the seriousness of the caller's situation, "We try to talk to them about their reasons (for considering suicide)," Ann said. From the volunteer's perspective, the conversation focuses on prevention, she said. "We use reflective listening, and try to work on the positive things in their lives," Ann said.

"(We) never tell (the callers) we understand because we don't. It's the last thing they want to hear," she said.

Volunteers always have an On Call Person available when they are working, Kipp said. The OCP's are volunteers that have been with the crisisline one semster and have had experience with at least one suicide call. The seven OCP's were selected by the director and assistant director.

The OCP's must be within 10 minutes of a phone, she said. The crisisline must know where they are at Ann said the OPC's are present for the volunteers if they get uncomfortable during a conversation. The volunteers and the OPC can communicate by notes to guide the volunteer through the phone situation, she said. If, at that point, the volunteer still needs help, the volunteer can call Jurich, and he will come to the crisis center to offer additional guidance. If needed, Jurich will visit callers in their home, she said.

"No two calls are ever alike," Kipp said. "All volunteers must be trained to deal with different types of situations, and all volunteers must be nonjudgmental. It is a must."

Students interested in volunteering for the center must complete a one-day training session, she said.

Not all of the volunteers at the center are students. Of the 35 volunteers, 30 percent are from the community.

Story by Mary Ubel Photos By Christopher T. Assaf

February's Special at the K-State Union

The K-State Union invites you to enjoy the specials in February!

BLACK HISTORY MONTH

The K-State Union Bookstore takes this opportunity to honor and acknowledge the achievements of Black people world-wide. In the words of artists, musicians, writers and leaders, the trials and triumphs of a people and their heritage are told. The range of Black experience is represented in the biographies, histories, political writings, fiction and poetry of both famous and unknown people. Join us in celebrating the Black Heritage in print, during the month of February.

RESERVE-A-COPY

If you are still waiting for your textbook to arrive, please fill out a "Reserve-A-Copy" form available on the upper level. You will be called as soon as your book ar-

The K-State Union Bookstore is open seven days a week to serve the campus community. We offer computers, trade books, soft goods, gift items, art and engineering supplies, and much more.

And don't forget New York Times best sellers are always discounted 25 percent.

14% VALENTINE'S SALE

Stop by and get your Valentine's Day cards and gifts now through Feb. 14th in the K-State Union Bookstore. A 14 percent discount will be offered on all clothing items, clearance items, and special Valentine gift selections. Why not let a "Master" say it for you? Special selection of love poetry books are marked 14 per-

7:00 p.m., Forum Hall,

$1.75 with KSU ID.

FAX

If you need to get a copy somewhere fast, why not use the FAX machine? The Xerox FAX machine can run off a copy of your document and send it almost anywhere in the United States in a fraction of the time it takes to mail it. The copying process takes about 5 minutes and costs $5 for the first page and $2 for each additional page. The FAX machine is located on the third floor in the K-State Union Copy Center and is available from 8:00 a.m. until 4:45 p.m. Call 532-6596 for more information.

FILM SPECIAL

The K-State Union Information Counter will feature a film special Feb. 18-25 on reprints from color negatives for only 16 cents each. The Information Counter also offers a large selection of bulk candy and candy bars, fresh popped popcorn, post cards and more! Stop by the Information Counter today!

ENGRAVING

The K-State Union Recreation Area has a full line of engraving service available to meet your needs. Anything from plaques and name tags to signs of all kinds. Be sure to check out our Metalphoto Service, too.

SCONES

What's a scone? A scone is a rich, buttery bread, cut into triangular shapes. And a delicious alternative to sweet rolls and donuts! Scones are available Monday thru Friday from 7 to 10 a.m. for just 50 cents in the Stateroom. On Monday, try a Whole Wheat Scones (with or without raisins), Tuesday, we have Apple Oatmeal Scones, Wednesday is Traditional Raisin Scones, Thursday, don't miss Cheese Scones and Friday, we have Banana Chocolate Chip or Blueberry Scones. Or why not tempt your taste buds with a scone and 8 oz. gourmet coffee? Your choice of Bavarian Chocolate, Irish Mist, Kona Blend or French Roast Decaf Coffee and a scone

SWEET EXPRESSIONS

Get your sweetheart a 6 inch decorated sugar cookie at the Ice Cream Cone-diment Counter. You supply three words and we will customize your "sweet expression" while you wait. The cookies come in an attractive gift box for only $3.50. Tea size heart-shaped sugar cookies, large chocolate chip or peanut butter pan cookies, decorated heart shaped cakes and other Valentine's specials are available for this special occasion. Ask for details at the K-State Union Food Service Office, or call 532-6580.

MARDI GRAS FOOD

Celebrate Mardi Gras! Feast on fabulous cajun style food in the Stateroom, now thru Feb. 7. The menu includes beignets & Cafe au Lait, red beans & rice, file gumbo, po' boy sandwiches, jambalaya, dirty rice and sweet potato pecan pie. Fried Cajun meat pies and Cajun hamburaers will be served at the grill. Special runs now thru Mardi Gras Tuesday, Feb. 7, or call 532-6580.

FOOD 'N FLICKS

Start your weekend off right with Friday Food 'n Flicks. You get a dinner salad, all-you-can-eat pasta, garlic bread, dessert and a movie pass for just $4.99. Children's prices are $2.99 for ages 4 to 10 years, 3 and under are free. The buffet is located in the Bluemont Room, on the second floor of the K-State Union from 5:30 to 7:00 p.m. The movies coming up are: "Coming to America" on Feb. 3, "Punchline" on Feb. 10, "Married to the Mob" on Feb. 17 and "Imagine" on Feb.

CONCESSIONS

We offer fresh hot popped com, ice cold drinks and a large selection of candy at very low prices at Forum Theatre. So enjoy yourself at the movies, and save money, too.

LATE NIGHT

The K-State Union celebrates Late Night Australian style throughout the week of Feb. 6. There will be entertainment and activities in the Union Courtyard, and specials in almost every department. Finish the week off on Friday, Feb. 10, with Hugh Fink's comedy performance in the Catskeller at 7:30 p.m. Why not take a stroll down Melbourne Market and engage in face painting, have your portrait drawn, America's Cup Yacht Races, Win-Lose or Draw and other fun activities? "Punchline," will be showing in Forum Theatre at 7:00 and 9:30 p.m., Cookin' Down Under - A taste of Australia in the Union Courtyard from 8 p.m. until 10 p.m., "That Statue Moved," playing rock 'n roll in the Catskeller from 10 p.m. until 1 a.m. and "Risky Business' showing at midnight in Forum Hall. So, Say G'Day, Mate!

RECORD SALE

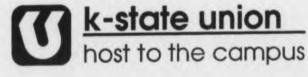

Get a good deal on records and tapes at the Annual Record Sale in the K-State Union Bookstore. Large selections and many featured artists at reasonable prices. The sale begins February will speak about his experiences with alcoholism.

WILLIE MUGS

Get your "Willies" at the K-State Union! 12 oz. Wee Willie insulated mugs for $1.50, 24 oz. Wild Willie insulated mugs for $2.50, and Squeeze Bottle Willies for $1.50 are available at the Bookstore. Recreation Area, and in the State room. Bring 'em back and get refills for a fraction of the price of English Subtitles)

Thursday)

TONIGHT and Thursday, 7:30 p.m., Forum

Hall,$1.75 with KSU ID. (No 3:30 p.m. show on

Sports

Kansas State Collegian ■ Wednesday, February 1, 1989 ■ Page 9

travel to Oklahoma

By Mike Rouse Collegian Reporter

After winning their first road game in Big Eight play in almost two years Saturday, the K-State women's basketball team will hit the road again as it travels to Norman, Okla., for a 7 p.m. matchup with the Lady Sooners at Lloyd Noble

The Lady Cats are coming off a 74-68 win over the Kansas Lady Jayhawks in Lawrence. The win was their first Big Eight road victory since the Lady Cats beat Iowa State 72-66, Feb. 7, 1987.

"I think the win (against KU), more than anything, kept us from getting in a hole because we go right back on the road," K-State coach Matilda Mossman said.

Oklahoma won both meetings between the two teams last year including a 96-65 win in Aheam Field House and a 79-61 win at Norman.

Mossman believes that her team is playing well right now, especially after beating KU in what she called one of the Lady Jayhawks' best games of the season.

"Kansas played as well as they have all year and we were able to meet the challange and win," she said.

K-State, 14-5 overall and 4-2 in the Big Eight, has been outrebounded by almost two rebounds a game since conference play started. Rebounding has been a big concern of Mossman's even though her team has still been able to win.

"It is a big concern," Mossman said. "In spite of the fact that we have been able to force teams into bad shots and have forced turnovers, (rebounding) still concerns me.

"We don't have a rebounding attitude. Sometimes it looks like we are just standing around instead of going to the boards."

Oklahoma, 9-9 overall and 2-4 in the Big Eight, is coming off Saturday's 73-70 loss to Big Eight leader Colorado in Norman. The Lady Sooners are in the midst of a five-game homestand in which the Lady Cats will be the fourth in line.

"They are a much better team than their record indicates, Mossman said. "They have as much talent as anyone."

Oklahoma is led by Jo Mosley, who is averaging 16.6 points and 9.4 rebounds a game. 6-foot-3 Erika Notzke is averaging 15.4 points and 9.5 rebounds.

The Lady Cats have four starters averaging in double figures. Nadira Hazim leads the charge at 14.1 points a game while Diana Miller is averaging 11.8, Kristie Bahner 10.8 and Mary Jo Miller 10.1.

Probable Starters

Lady Cats (14-5) Pos. Oklahoma (9-9) Bahner(5-11, So.) D.Miller(5-10, So.) Alexdr.(5-11 Fr.) Mosley(6-0, Sr.) Notzke(6-3, Sr.) Matteucci(5-11, Jr.) Hazim(5-7, So.) M.Miller(5-5, Fr.) Epps(5-9, So.)

Lady Cats K-State to battle No. 1 Sooners

Oklahoma's Stacey King shoots over Fred McCoy (44) and Mitch Richmond in K-State's 69-62 win over the Sooners in January 1988. King and No. 1 OU will visit K-State at 8:05 tonight in Bramlage Coliseum.

Game day preparations far cry from simple task

By Carolyn Holcroft Contributing Writer

Probably not many people have ever stopped to think about all of the preparation necessary to pull off a two-hour basketball game at Bramlage Coliseum.

'The game doesn't just tip off at 7:35 by coincidence," Sports Infomation Director Kenny Mossman explained. "It's a very involved process that seems to come off really smoothly, and I think that's because we have a lot of good people."

According to Mossman, preparation starts early on game days, and much of it centers around making arrangements for the media. Because much more media coverage usually occurs during the men's games than the women's, it takes much more

For example, more than 250 members of the media were at the men's game against Kansas on Jan. 14, including 94 who sat courtside, while there are usually no more than 15 media members on hand for the Lady Cats' games, Mossman said.

Programs providing complete statistical information about both teams are ordered in advance and must be sorted, counted and delivered to various areas in Bramlage before the media members arrive.

"At around 5 o'clock or so, we start to arrive at Bramlage to get ready for our work for the game," he said. "The way we start the actual preparation for the game is to take all of the necessary equipment that time to get ready for the men's we're going to need downstairs to the media room."

According to Mossman, this equipment includes everything from paper and pencils to typewriters and telephones, and even the new message board system. The sports information crew is also responsible for producing an entire statistical report at halftime and at the conclusion of

In addition to the statistical and equipment preparations that occur through the Sports Information office, much time is spent on the message board and programming the illustrations and advertisements displayed on the center scoreboard dur-

"At the beginning of the season we ■ See BRAMLAGE, Page 10

'Cats look to knock OU out of top spot in poll

By Chris Wilhelm Sports Writer

The K-State men's basketball team will play its toughest opponent to date as the No. 1 ranked Oklahoma Sooners come to town for an 8:05 tipoff tonight at Bramlage Coliseum.

The contest will mark the first time since 1982 that a No. 1 team has come to K-State. Missouri was the last top-ranked team to play in Manhattan, beating the 'Cats 59-58 in Ahearn Field House.

Oklahoma, 17-2 overall and 4-0 in the Big Eight Conference, occupies the No. 1 spot in The Associated Press college basketball poll for the first time in the school's history. The Sooners, ranked No. 4 last week, took over the top position after defeating Colorado and Nevada-Las Vegas in their past two games, while the top three teams in the nation lost.

That proves the No. 1 team in the nation is definitely not guaranteed an easy victory every time out. Just ask Duke or Illinois, which were both knocked out of the top spot earlier this season.

"I want to make that not happen," Oklahoma coach Billy Tubbs said of the curse of being the No. 1 team in

The Wildcats, 12-5 overall and 3-2 in the conference, are coming off one of their gutsiest performances of the season, a 71-70 victory over Kansas on Saturday in Allen Field House.

"The preparation for Oklahoma has gone a little easier having won the KU game," Wildcat coach Lon Kruger said. "The key for our ball club is for our players to realize what they can best contribute to the club and work on trying to do what they do well.

"(Oklahoma's No. 1 ranking) might be a little added incentive, but it won't be the key incentive. Oklahoma has a very good, very talented basketball team. This is a very important home game and a very important conference game for us.'

Oklahoma brings some very mpressive statistics into its contest with the 'Cats. As a team, the Sooners are shooting 51 percent from the field and 68 percent from the freethrow line. They average 109.5 points per contest, while only allowing their opponents 89.9.

Stacey King, this week's Big Eight player of the week, leads the Sooners and the conference in the scoring department, averaging 26.4 points a game, while point guard Mookie Blaylock is second at 24 points a game.

The 'Cats have posted some decent numbers of their own, hitting 49 percent from the field and 70 from the charity stripe. K-State has outscored its opponents 74.8 to 68.3, but in conference games that margin has dropped — 78.8 to 77.2.

Steve Henson leads the 'Cats in both scoring and assists, averaging 17.4 points and 5.1 assists per game. Fred McCoy is second in scoring and first in rebounds, averaging 16.3 and 7.6 respectively.

"I don't know if anyone in the country can run with Oklahoma," Kruger said. "If we can handle their full court pressure and not allow their defense to set up scoring for their offense, we will have a better chance of being successful.

"We have to concentrate on the things that we do well and try to get them accomplished. (The Sooners) are so talented that sometimes you can't do, against them, what you have planned."

Besides Henson and McCoy, the 'Cats will need some scoring help from their other starters, as well as from their bench. Mark Dobbins, who scored 10 points against Colorado and 14 against Nebraska, has been virtually silent the past two games, scoring 2 points in the loss to Colorado and 4 points in the KU game. Billy Ray Smith, who was averaging almost 10 points a game in the four games prior to the KU victory, was held scoreless against the Jayhawks.

LaKeith Humphrey has been helping the K-State cause, reaching double figures in eight of the past nine games. Lance Simmons has also been impressive in the rebound department, pulling down 4 boards against Oklahoma State and 10 in the victory over the Jayhawks, which was his first start in more than a year.

Probable Starters

K-State (12-5) Pos. Oklahoma (17-2) Martin(6-7, Jr. Henry(6-7, Jr. Simmons(6-5, Jr.) McCoy(6-7, Sr.) Humph.(6-1, Jr.)

King(6-11, Sr.) Mullins(6-3, So.) Blaylock(6-1, Sr.)

Williams gets wish as KU faces Mizzou

By The Associated Press

LAWRENCE - When Kansas beat Wichita State last month, Coach Roy Williams, an old buddy of Wichita coach Eddie Fogler, said he would prefer that his team play well against somebody else. "Somebody like Norm Stewart," Williams said. Wednesday night, Williams gets his wish. Stewart, Missouri's controversial coach, will bring his high-scoring Tigers into Allen

Fieldhouse for a 9:05 p.m. tipoff. Williams may take pleasure in needling Stewart, but he's all business when discussing an 18-3 Missouri team that's ranked fifth in the nation and showings signs championship contender. "I was surprised they stayed fifth this week. I thought they'd move up, I really think they should," said Williams, whose Jayhawks are 16-4 overall and 3-2 in the Big Eight in his first year. "They're a very solid basketball team. They can hurt you from the outside and inside, rebounding, defense and offense.

"In Lee Cowrad and Byron Irvin they have two very experienced guards who can shoot the 3-point shot and also put the ball on the floor and score. And they have to be about as deep as any basketball team in the country.'

Depth has been the Tigers' long of blossoming into a national suit.

Conference probations make athletic fee good alternative

From the penthouse to the outhouse.

That's the best way to describe what has happened to the image of the once-mighty Big Eight Conference.

And it's the best reason why we should vote in favor of the proposed $15 student athletic fee.

Let's reminisce.

Less than a year ago, Kansas defeated league-counterpart Oklahoma in the NCAA postseason basketball tournament final, topping off a season in which five conference schools took part in the tournament.

Four months earlier, Oklahoma played for the national title against Miami in the Orange Bowl. At the end of this past football season, Oklahoma State's Barry Sanders was awarded the Heisman Trophy and four Big Eight schools received postseason bowl bids. The Big Eight Conference was living its own version of Camelot. Then Modred entered the picture.

In the span of three months, Kansas, Oklahoma and Oklahoma State have been placed on NCAA probation. Forget the tarnished image problem for a second. Consider the financial repercussions it could have on the conference's member schools.

OU was on national TV six times last season and OSU twice. Now deduct the approximately $3.6 million those two schools could have earned for the Big Eight next season.

The conference is also facing a worst-case scenario of not having a representative in the Orange Bowl if the Sooners or the Cowboys were to walk away with the league title.

Mid-Week Commentary

MOT MORRIS Sports Columnist

The bowl's payout next year will increase from $2.75 million to possibly $3.75 million, second only to the Rose Bowl, and the Orange Bowl has a clause allowing it to bypass the league champion should it be on probation.

The clause was installed for just this reason in 1975, the last year a conference school didn't make the trip to Miami. OU was on probation in 1974 and couldn't play in the bowl game that year.

So much for the estimated net average of $1.125 million each Big Eight school received upon completion of this past football season.

In basketball, Oklahoma and Missouri are virtual guarantees for the NCAA tournament. Now remember Kansas. The Jayhawks, unable to defend their NCAA title because of NCAA penalties, are a good enough team to add losses to at least two other tournament hopefuls within the Big Eight. If Kansas wins the postseason tournament, the automatic bid Forget the net average of $417,500 each school received last year after the Final Four.

Though it's still too early to deter-there's no doubt the outcome will be nothing but harmful. School officials estimate the red ink could run as deep as $1 million at Nebraska to $250,000 at K-State.

Increased revenues could come in other areas, such as increased ticket sales, delayed telecasts for those schools on probation and reduced travel costs.

It could also come in the form of slicing the budgets of non-revenue sports, a prospect that has K-State track and cross country coach John Capriotti a little concerned.

'It's kind of a helpless feeling," Capriotti told the Kansas City Times. "I can do all the worrying I can, and it won't change things.

"We were second in the Big Eight in both men and women. To keep us mine the losses to each school, at that level we've got to have that funding. I'm thinking about everything: travel, scholarships and equipment. It doesn't make much sense to have the great athletes here if you can't take them to the meets you want

K-State's proposed athletic fee would generate up to $400,000 into the athletic budget. It's also a visible way for K-State to stand on its own two feet during these troubled times, if you'll pardon the cliche.

It is a crime the students at K-State should have to pay for the mistakes of other schools. But leaving the Big Eight isn't the answer.

Passing the athletic fee wouldn't exactly be returning the favor. But a little individual initiative during a crisis situation never hurt either.

Center

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6

In June 1985, the Kansas Board of Regents accepted a formal proposal for the project, Lowman said.

He said he was asked by President Jon Wefald to chair the committee to seek funding for the project.

"The committee met for about a year and a half," he said. "Finally, with the help of Sen. Bob Dole, funding for the building was secured." Lowman said there was also an extensive search for a site on which to build the center.

'We must have checked more than 30 different places, and there was always something wrong with the sites," he said. "It's hard to find a suitable location."

Lowman said he feels the final decision to place the building north of Umberger Hall is a good one.

The blueprints for the facility underwent their 100 percent review by Cooper, Carlson, Duy and Ritchie Inc. of Overland Park, the architectural firm preparing the plans. This review is the last step before the blueprints are submitted for approval.

Plans are to have a single level building of 32,000 square feet and several unique features such as a viewing gallery, several studios, a garage and a fixed Ku-band satellite uplink disk, Hogg said. The uplink broadcasts and receives messages on a specific radio band designated by the letters K and u.

"Because it is an educational facility, we have decided to create a viewing gallery," he said. "It will be located above the audio studio. Viewers will be able to observe what's going on in the studio without interrupting operations."

The fixed satellite uplink disk should be installed within 90 days on the northwest side of the building, Hogg said.

This is the only fixed satellite uplink disk of its kind in the state," he

Several mobile units also should be purchased within 90 to 120 days for the center, Horn said.

"In the period of time that we (the ECC) are waiting for the building to be constructed, we need to be fully operational to meet the guidelines of the grant," Hogg said. "So we are purchasing a mobile uplink truck and a mobile TV production truck."

Plans are also being made to set up temporary studios on the third floor of Umberger during the waiting period, Hogg said.

Several committees are being created to serve and guide the ECC through both development and operation of the center, Horn said.

A technical advisory committee is being formed, and plans are being made for an academic advisory committee, he said.

"All the committees will be very broad-based," Horn said. "They will include people from public schools, universities and the private sector who are interested in education."

Horn said the regents approved the name of the building, and those in charge of the project consider this an endorsement.

"It may mean that it will be the educational communication system center of the regents network," he said. "It's not unlikely that other institutions will develop some sort of facilities, but we hope that we will have some coordinating responsibilities for the regents system.'

Lowman said: "I think it's one of the most important things the University has done in recent years. It affects all of Kansas and the region around Kansas - wherever the signals can be received.'

Star

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6

'We asked for $9.5 million, but settled for $5.5 million," Horn said. 'More than $1 million of that will be coming to Kansas."

He said this amount is for first year operations, and the Midland Consortium is optimistic about receiving second-year funding.

The primary purpose of the Midland Consortium's Star School Project is to demonstrate the effectiveness of live, interactive, satellitebased instructional programs in the areas of science, mathematics and foreign languages, Hom said.

"Particular emphasis was to be paid to those groups of students who have been somehow out of the mainstream of education and careers that would be supported by these subjects," he said.

"We received applications from 80 schools in Kansas," he said. "We have selected 52 for consideration. The districts we chose to receive the system were the ones who were best able to demonstrate the need for distance education opportunities such as

Bramlage
CONTINUED FROM PAGE 9

had to get all of our messages programmed back in, and we wanted to add some new ones. With these new computers you can do a lot more on them," said Leah Buckert, assistant sports information director. "Now it's pretty routine. We just get it out and get things set up to make sure

Gary Haffener, who operates the

"It's kind of fun," he said. "It's all everything's going right."

displays during games, agrees.

these."

Donald Hogg, chief engineer of the ECC, said the schools interested are scattered across the state.

"All four corners of Kansas are represented," Hogg said.

A few of the schools already have receiving capabilities, but those that do not will be given a full receiving system with the funding provided, Hogg said.

The first high school course to be offered by the Star School Project from Kansas will be an introductory course in Spanish, Hom said.

'That serves an immediate need in Kansas schools for offering a foreign language," he said.

"About 60 schools do not offer any foreign language at all now, and by 1990, each school must offer two years of foreign languages to meet state requirements," Horn said.

Other programs in the areas of mathematics and science are being developed and are planned to begin in the 1989-90 school year, Horn

Horn said the purpose of the Star School Project is not to replace teachers, but rather provide supporting instructional services where there is a need.

up to me. We get to make up anything games are radio advertisements, newspaper ads and arrangements for public address announcements and halftime entertainment such as the

Bud Light Daredevils. These jobs go to Assistant Athletic Director Chris

Peterson, who explained that entertainment is arranged mainly by announcer for the Lady Cats' games, also arrives early to prepare on game nights. In addition to familiarizing

Bruce Steinbrock, public address request and recommendation.

Also completed far in advance of Teacher

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

he said. "I want them to take this knowledge and apply it to their everyday life."

Although Gibson will remain in Kansas to read and study the authors, he said he plans to make a trip to

'Some people feel there is a new 'Harlem Renaissance,' and I'd like to investigate this first-hand," he said. "There is a lot of heritage in Harlem, and I'm excited to be able to find out about it."

James Singer, Roosevelt principal, said he is impressed with Gibson's desire to learn.

"He is very strong at integrating different aspects of the curriculum so it applies to students - they can leave the classroom and be able to apply the knowledge," Singer said.

"He has a strong work ethic and always uses his free time preparing for class," he said.

Gibson has been teaching at Roosevelt for more than three years. He earned a bachelor's degree in elementary education from K-State.

himself with the public address announcements he will read during the game, Steinbrock also contacts each team's sports information representative to learn how to pronounce each player's name.

"The biggest thing that I have to do is memorize pronunciation," Steinbrock said. "The most important thing is the starting lineup. You don't want to mess up someone's name."

Even with all of the preparations, Mossman said the most important factor was taking precautions against anything that might go wrong.

Museum

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

the University nothing. Some of it is located in Wefald's home and the Union, while much of it is scattered throughout campus offices. Ten percent of the work is in storage because no room is available to show it.

K-State's permanent art collection was established in 1928 by John Helm, professor of architecture, and Birger Sandzen, a Lindsborg artist.

Recently, priority has been given to obtaining contemporary regional

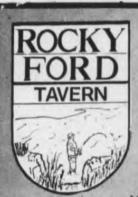

TUMBLING RIVER RANCH

A Colorado Guest Ranch high in the Rockies

Hiring Now for Summer Help

Cooks, Cabin girls, Waitresses, Kids Counselors, Maintanence, and Wranglers

All encouraged to apply. Call: 494-8228 or 303/838-5981

ON TAP COORS LT, BUD, OLD MILW.

 NO COVER CHARGE THE FINEST LITTLE TAVERN BY A DAM SITE Rt. 5 537-3133

Call and ask for our BRAND NEW MENU pizza by the slice-luncheon pizza dine in or free delivery

PERSONAL TOUCH SALON

Military Haircut-$3.00 Perms-$25 Relaxer-$25 Haircut-$7.00 Scalp Treatment-$5.00

Specializing in Ebony Services

411 Oak, Ogden

539-0344

WE WANT TO MAKE YOUR STUDENT LOAN!

Have the professionals at Kansas State Bank make your student loan. Simply contact us at:

537-4400 Lender code #821176

KANSAS STATE BANK Westloop • Aggieville • K-State Union, Manhattan, Kansas 66502

DOUBLE DISCOUNTED DOGS

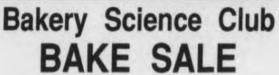

50% PLUS 50% SAVINGS

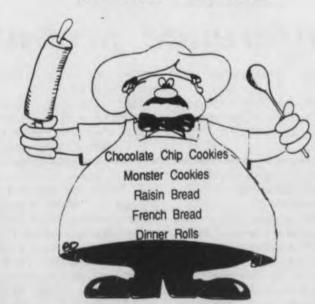

on Fall and Winter

Clothing and Accessories

3230 Kimball, Candlewood Center 539-7657 Monday-Saturday: 10:00-5:00

TODAY 3-5 p.m. Shellenberger 105

Kedzie 103

ClassAds 532-6555 Dieplay Classified Rates
One day: $5.20 per inch; Three consecutive days: $5.00 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.80 per inch; Ten consecutive days: $4.80 per inch. (Deadline is 4.30 per inch.)

p.m. two days before publication.)

Announcements

COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp 539-6193. GUCCI WATCHES, Ladies replicas, great gift idea for Valentine's Day. $45, 532-3944.

PARTY DAYTONA for Spring Break sign up party at Brother's Wednesday after the game. Beer, free pizza. Woody.

PERMS— QUANTUM, $25—Gel nails, $30—Haircut, shampoo and blow-dry, $9. Hair Shack, 415 N. Third. 776-7421.

SOUTH PADRE/ Spring Break '89—Nice rooms for a great pricel From $109 to $169 on the beach or minutes from it. Five or seven days. Don't spend all your money on a room, —you're never there anyway! (Limited space). Call 1-800-782-7653, ext

TALL, BLONDE watching Zig Zigler tape in the Edge Center, I would like to meet you. Please reply in Personals.—short, cute man checking out tape on

VIDEOTAPE YOUR wedding or other parties. $50 and up. Call now for quotation. Budget Video Memories. $37-3716.
WANTED— 100 overweight people to try herbal weight control program. No drugs, no exercise. Doctor recommended. 100% guaranteed. 776-5114, $39-333.

Hayes House of Music

DOD Guitar Effects 30% OFF

FREE COUNTRY living in exchange for minimal assistance to wheelchair-bound landlady. 1-494-8201. ONE-BEDROOM on Sunset. $260 plus gas and electric. Laundry facilities, no pets, please. 539-5051 or 776-3804.

national origin, sex or ancestry.

HOUSTON STREET

BALLROOM

Wedding Receptions

Dances, Parties

For direct bookings call

539-1234

Don't Forget

$2 Vulcans

only at

Brothers

AUGUST AND June, two-bedroom apartments not renting. Nice, close to campus, 537-4648.

AVAILABLE NOW. Quiet, well-maintained two-bedroom furnished apartment. Paid heat, laundry,

CLOSE TO campus, negotiable rent, off-street parking, nice one-bedroom, not a complex, no pets.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT nice, spacious, furnished or unfurnished. Available immediately. Lease through May or longer. $300 per month. 537-4848 or 539-1577.

SO EVERY WEEK OR SO.

he and his buddles

OFF TO DO SOME

THIS IS HIS STORY...

"SIGH"

OPRAH.

MEA

MAN!

ONCE A

MAW!

YOU WERE HIT BY

AN ANCHOR. WE PUT YOUR BRAIN

IN A CAT.

HOW CAN

THEY EXPECT

US TO BELIEVE

THESE OUTRAGEOUS

LIES?!

A CAT ?

CRIMPE

YES, SIR.

KNOWS:

BAITWORLD

ANGLING ...

BY RICHARD BROADFOOT

tio, carport. $340. No smoking, pets, waterbeds.

2 Apartments—Furnished

776-7983

A MODERN DAY FABLE ...

THERE ONCE WAS A

MAN NAMED

LIKED TO FISH ...

ONE OF HIS BUDDIES.

FISHING WITH GEORGE

HI... I'M

I'S RATHE

JUST

UNBELIEVABLE!

Bloom

Garfield

MR. TRUMP!

CAN YOU

HEAR ME ?

DAN ...

HOWEVER, HATED

GEORGE WHO REALLY !!

BECAUSE GEORGE

WOULD NEVER

EQUAL ...

TREAT HIM AS AN

NEY DAN!?

GO BUY SHOR

PRONTO!

ELVIS

County

AM I?

SPERM BANK!

JIM ANDTANMY REALLY ALIENS

FROM SPIKE!

BAIT! LIKE

Making the Grade

SAID IT

three- and four-bedroom apartment complexes and houses, for now, summer and fall. Close to campus Classified advertising is available only to those who do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion,

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

WORTH CHECKING into these very nice one-, t

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM on 17th Street available now Two blocks to campu. Balcony, gas heat, laundry facilities. $310. 537-9020 or 776-3804.

LARGE TWO bedrooms, leases available now and next August. Furnished and unfurnished. Phone

NICE ONE-BEDROOM in Lee/ Hunting area available now. Fireplace, dishwasher, laundry facilities, $340, 539-2103 or 776-3804.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM near City Park in 24-plex. All appliances, laundry facilities. $380. 539-8229 or

ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT in City Park area, $235 plus gas and electric. No pets. 539-8229 or 776-3804.

UNFURNISHED APARTMENT to rent on west edge of campus. One-bedroom, plenty of storage space. $200 month plus utilities. Call Jim Roper at 539-1814.

WORTH CHECKING into these very nice one-, two three- and four-bedroom apartment complexes and houses, for now, summer and fall. Close to campus with great prices. 537-2919, 537-1666.

Unfurnished 1 or 2 bedroom apartments. Sign up for Fall leases begins March 1.

1408 Cambridge Pl. (913) 539-2951

4 Automobiles for Sale

1977 VW Rabbit for sale. Dependable transportation

1978 AMC Pacer, excellent condition AM/FM cass

Need to sell. Call 539-5044 after 6p.m. 1979 DATSUN 8210, good engine, body needs work

1980 MAZDA GLC-good condition, $975, 539-0136 or 1982 BUICK Skylark, runs well, loaded, automatic

ATTENTION- GOVERNMENT seized vehicles from $100. Fords, Mercedes, Corvettes, Chevys. Surplus Buyers Guide. 1-602-838-8885 ext. A1797.

8 Computers

COMPUTER AND typewriter ribbons— discount prices
Hull Business Supplies, Aggleville, 715 N. 12th 539-1413.

IBM, DESKTOP, 8MH3, 640K, 30MB hard disk, 2-360K floppies, color monitor, serial/ parallel/ clock. $1,200, 776-3406 evening.

LINE PRINTER ribbons for sale- Black mutistrike no. QM MS (4½ dozen), $1.25 each. Black nylon no. QM NY (15), $2.25 each. Call 532-6555 or come by ZENITH XT 640K, EGA monitor, two floppy drives with 32 megabytes hard disk, asking $1,600 or best offer. Call 532-5623 after 6p.m.

9 Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to approach any such "employment opportunity" with reasonable caution.

ATTENTION— HIRINGI Government jobs— your area. $17,840-$69,485. Call 1-602-838-8885 ext R1797. CAMP DAISY Hindman Resident Camp, summer, 1989. Positions available: business manager, aquatics, horse staff, unit staff, program staff. Contact: Career Planning and Placement Center by Feb. 24.

THEN AGAIN

HOW ELSE CAN

ONE KEEP UP

WITH THE

TYSON.

FMAILY?

THE CATSKILLS

CAT STEVENS ?

By Bob Berry

TRUE.

BEAR!

By Berke Breathed

NO.

By Jim Davis

OH

12 Houses/Mobile Homes for Rent

receive $50 groceries at Dillons Stores. Rent three-bedroom trailer, get $75 groceries. 776-8552. Valid only until 2/10/89. FREE GROCERIES! Rent two-MOBILE HOME pads for lease, $75 month with wa sewer and trash removal furnished, 10-wide and smaller homes acceptable. Laundromat and beauty shop on premises. Ogden. 776-9007 VERY CLEAN furnished and unfurnished mobile homes for rent. $175 to $250 monthly. One month lease Small pets acceptable. Laundromat and beauty shop on premises. Located in Ogden. Other KSU students live in our park. 776-9007.

13 Houses/Mobile Homes for Sale

12x56 TWO-BEDROOM located in Manhattan city limits. Quiet shady neighborhood. Low price makes it cheaper than rent. Available now $3,850. Call 776-1723, leave message.

4 Lost and Found

FOUND: A business book(?) in Nichols Hall. Call 532-3710 to leave a phone number I can call you back at. Leave the message for Dave in room #809

FOUND: DECORATIVE pillow. Identify. 539-2016. FOUND: MACROECONOMICS book in Throckmorton 132. Found afternoon of 1/26/89. Call 532-7357, ask for Mohammed.

LOST: GOLD wedding band. Around Weber Hall. Reward offered, Call 537-8586. LOST: KSU Marching Band Jacket with "Clint" mono grammed on left breast. Please call 532-5204 found.

LOST: LADIES' gold Pulsar watch at Union or Aggie-ville. Reward, Call 539-3122. EARN UP to $10/ hour. Work own hours. Car and phone needed. Call (913)288-0514.

LOST: ONE pair of navy blue Isotoner gloves. Please call Debbie at 776-5819.

PURSE LEFT in Bluemont 101 on Monday, Black with brown handles. Please return. No questions asked. Call 532-3763.

HIGH SCHOOL English teacher needs help grading papers. Pays 5s per page. 1-456-9906 after 5p.m

NANNIES NEEDED. Families in New England area looking for responsible individuals to watch child-ren. Good pay and benefits. For spring placement, call now. 537-0947.

PART-TIME BOOKKEEPER with knowledge of double-entry bookkeeping. Four hours per week. Send resume to:The Collegian, Box 5, Kedzie Hall, KSU, Manhattan, Kansas 66506.

RESEARCH ASSISTANT: Assist in design and lead in SEARCH ASSISTANT: Assist in design and lead in construction of instrument to measure movement of water and chemicals in soil. BS in engineering, with training in structural analysis preferred. Capability to install, calibrate, and operate instrumentation is desirable but not required. Temporary, full-time. $21,000 per year. Submit resume and transcript by Feb. 6 to: Agricultural Engineering Department, Kansas State University, 147 Seaton Hall, Manhat-tan. FOE:

RESORT HOTELS, Cruiselines, airlines and arruse-ment parks now accepting applications for spring-and summer jobs, internships and career positions. For more information and an application, write: National Collegiate Recreation Service, P.O. Box 8074, Hilton Head, SC 29938.

SMITH SCHOLARS program, executive director, we are seeking a person to oversee the operation of Smith Scholarship House and the Smith Alumni Association, Executive Director advises 40 college men in seven program areas. Other responsibilities include arranging atumni association meetings, publishing periodic newsletters, and recruiting new Smith Scholars. Excellent opportunity for students pursuing graduate study in a related field at KSU.

porsuing graduate study in a feature was a feature and a f

STUDENT RECEPTIONIST, Administrative User Services, is seeking a friendly energetic student for a variety of duties including receiving visitors, answering telephone, copying, filing, typing and word processing. Up to 30 hours per week possible. Hours available, communication skills, will be used to evaluate applicants. Contact John Streeter, Associate Director, Anderson 21, 532-6281 by Feb. 3, 5 m.

SUMMER EMPLOYMENT at Camp Lincoln/ Camp Lake Hubert—Minnesota resident summer carros. A strong commitment to working with children required, along with activity skills and teaching experience. Specific job information and applications are available at the Career Placement Office— Holtz Hall. Sign up, in advance, for personal interviews to be held on campus on Tuesday, Feb. 7th.

SUMMER JOBS outdoors. Over 5,000 openings! National parks, forests, fire crews. Send stamp for free details. 113 E. Wyoming, Kalispell, MT 59901.

Amigos

If you are a customer

like to work at a fast, oriented person and intense pace, apply

outstanding job

NOW at Amigos for opportunities. Excellent reimbursed. Scholarship plan. Flexible schedule.

Manhattan Town Center

Apply at Amigos in Aggieville or at

Mall.

pay program. Tuition

tan. EOE.

15 Miscellaneous Merchandise

AKAI— CD Player. Model CD-A7, remote control, programable, good condition. 537-8891.

GREAT VALENTINE'S Gift-Land of Oz Beef presents a Ribeye from Kansas-grown Land of Oz beef is wholesome and unpretentious. Roasted in the oven or grilled at the backyard barbecue, this beef is easy, impressive and the ultimate in succulence. Enjoy the best of the market from the Land of Oz. Buffalo cuts also available. Call weekdays 2:30-8p.m. Call 776-3679.

LIKE NEW Smith-Corona typewriter. Correction tape. $100 or best offer. Call 532-3834 after 7p.m. MAGNAVOX WORD processor, 50,000 word diction-ary. Perfect condition! A must for typing papers! Call Terri: 532-3240.

TYPEWRITER— RENTALS— Sales— Repairs, Good selection of used IBMs and Smith Coronas, Advanced Business Systems, 713 N. 12th (Aggle-

Custom Made Bean Bag Sale! 2 person Bean Bags oft in diameter $ 80 and 4ft $55 SALE PRICE Check them out in Haymaker B18 or call Paul at 532-3371

99¢ BURGER BAR

COLLONS prime til & steak house

4-7 p.m.

4,35 OUR PRICE $2.80.

ADVENTURE QUEST

SPRING BREAK WILDERNESS ADVENTURE

Rock Climbing/Rappelling, Canoeing & Caving (basic instruction provided)

March 11-14 $120 Darin Hoover 776-9261 Staffed for both males & females

776-2426 New Bulb Special!

$2 sessions

coupon expires 2/5/89 sessions expire 6/31/89

SPRING BREAK 89 LAST CHANCE!

TO BE STUCK IN from $149 SOUTH PADRE ISLAND STEAMBOAT from $213

DAYTONA BEACH trom $118

MUSTANG ISLAND trom $ 136 HILTON HEAD ISLAND trom $107 DON'T WAIT 'TIL IT'S TOO LATE! CALL TOLL FREE TODA 1-800-321-5911

State of the state SUMME ting on break dates and length of stay

17 Musical Instruments

GIBSON LES Paul studio electric guitar, Martin Sigma

12 string acoustic. 539-6794

18 Personals

CHRIS-178, Sorry, so late, but you'll be a Pl Kapp for the rest of your life. Congrats, Big Bro 148. ANGIE, EVERYONE makes mistakes and yours is ott, but have a Happy 19th, in spite of it. Guess CLOVIA L.R.: Who is C.O.E. aFEB.S.O.M.? Congrats!

LAMBDA CHI— David B.— Since you know I'm a big Lush and the Tri-Delt party is "Cupid's Crush," if it's not too late, will you still be my date? Love, the crazy Tri Delt who's sorryl WE'RE OFF to see EVis, etc at night. ASU is the place for you, me, and B, tool With the Jetta packed and Tuskers on chill, it's sure to be a kill.

Colorado Road Trippers-NB, JK, and EW: We were just "driving along in our automobile," when Joel said "its neeww!" Eb told us about " when I was ." and James wanted a freeze out! McDonald's. Flagler brought unique presents of "evening magic. Thanks to Gill's driving, (he's a CRAZY person!), we made it to a ski slope.

Really Joel, its a green. Lodge break! Beer and Eskimo Pies for everyone! Smoke em if you've got em! Out on the road again. A jet ski, I want one! Not McDonald's again! Will the real Debbie Gibson please stand up?! Watch out cause we're coming back Colorado so "lock it in and rip the knob off!"

20 Professional Services

DISSERTATIONS, THESES, term papers, mail merg-ing, labels, text scanning. Laser printing. Call 537-4146.

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential, Call 537-9180. 103 South Fourth St., Suite 25.

PROMPT ABORTION and contraceptive services in Lawrence. (913)841-5716.

Résume Service Don't trust your future with anyone else 9 years of Quality, Personalized, Professional Service in all stages of Resume and Cover Letter Development Call about our new raised printing service 343 Colorado St.

Are you ready for your job interview? Let Graphics Plus prepare your resume. Typeset and laserprinted for a clean, professional look. Graphics Plus, corner of N. Manhattan and Bluemont, Aggieville, 539-6027

21 Rentals

SINGLE GARAGES near Aggieville. $25 per month.

23 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE NEEDED to share spacious basement apart ment until end of semester, own room, two blocks from campus, $106.25/ month plus utilities. Call

1-762-4242 anytime. FEMALE TO share house close to campus, furnished $162.50/ month plus deposit. Share utilities. Call Renee at 539-8695.

FEMALE -- UPSTAIRS three-bedroom housel Right off Vattier (close to campus). For more information call 537-7645.

MALE NEEDED. Share three-bedroom house until en of semester or summer. Close to campus, $175. 539-5370, 539-3563. ROOMMATE NEEDED to share three-bedroom apartment with two guys. Washer/ dryer. $128/ mor plus one-third utilities. 776-5650.

ROOMMATE WANTED: Non-smoking straight male Washer/dryer, turnished. $150/ month plus utilities Call Terry 539-4773.

WANTED- ROOMMATE to share three-be

Pets okay. Non-smoker. $160/ month. 537-8500.

24 Situation Wanted

FIST HOLE Repair Co. We fix party darnaged walls. For a free estimate, call after 6p.m. ask for Chris.

WANTED: FOUR-BEDROOM house/ apartment for fall semester. 532-3453 or 532-3454.

25 Sporting/Recreation Equipment

GOLF CLUBS— Ping Eye IIs 1 iron— sandwedge Powerbilt woods 1-3-5. Excellent condition. Call

30 Jewelry for Sale

LOVE JEWELRY? Discount$? Gold pendants, earrings $5,00III Rings, chains $11,00III Gold electropl your jewelry. 776-5545.

By Eugene Sheffer

Crossword

40 D.C. VIP ACROSS

47 Marine

51 Island

52 Destroys

54 Jog 55 TV actor

Robert

of loser

56 One type

57 Detest

58 Lawn

41 Arthurian "...no -43 Totem 5 London's pole 45 Shipworm trade mark 8 Suppli-12 Melville promise 14 Long periods 15 Soft drink novel

13 Altar

troops 21 Plump or sister 35 Son of

ascetic

4 Theme 5 Juan's mammals holidays 6 Pindar's forte completely 7 Singer

DOWN

wind

need

8 Moodily reflective 9 Without stability 34 Border 10 Queen of patch England secret Solution time: 26 mins

Yesterday's answer

11 Belgian 1 Adriatic river 16 Ray 2 Love god 20 Grape

3 Weaver's 23 KO caller 24 Turkish officer 25 Become estab-

> 30 Wine cask 32 Alcove for eating shrub 37 Free 39 Siamese

42 Novelist Lessing epic poet letter wildcat 48 Downtown

Chicago 49 River in France Anna

HC

LQVQGTPB RQCG: "HG VKBC CP

GTD

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: AMBITIOUS SHOE MODEL ALWAYS PUT HER BEST FOOT FORWARD.

eanuts

WHAT IS WRONG WITH THE

FAMOUS WORLD WAR I FLYING

OUR FRENCH LANGUAGE? IS HE HAVING DIFFICULTY WITH THE IMPERFECT SUBJUNCTIVE?

IS HE HAVING TROUBLE WITH

By Charles Schulz 22 Corrupt

17 Not any 18 Defense groups 19 Assemble

> 23 Lab 26 Welcome 28 Turn away 31 Old oath 33 Brother

36 Hindu 38 Corn follower

SIGNAME ENDINGER NEE EASES
SOUT MAK
SMART REGENTE
ANDE LOW MENT
CRIENTED SEAM
MENTON

44 Italian 45 Hebrew 46 S. Amer

50 Actress 2-1 53 Indian

lished 27 Twitch 29 "Norma CRYPTOQUIP VKBBDV

Today's Cryptoquip clue: B equals N

RQLHIW

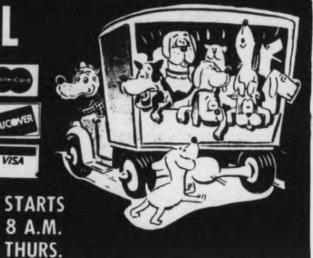

WOW! IT'S WOLFE'S FABULOUS 31ST ANNUAL

Our doors open at 8 a.m. February 2 with huge savings on new and used cameras and video, accessories, demonstrators, trade-ins and discontinued items. Bring cash, MasterCard, Visa or Discover, but hurry to Wolfe's Camera & Video for the most dynamic sale ever. Sale starts Thursday. Open 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Thursday, 8:30-5:30 Friday and Saturday. Financing available.

STARTS 8 A.M.

35MM	SLR	CAMERAS
------	-----	---------

	IF NEW RETAIL	SALE
Canon AE-1 fl 8 (used)	400.00	159.99
Canon AE-1 Prog. fl 8 (used)	480.00	199.99
Canon F-1N-motor-fl.8 (used)	1650 00	1088.00
Canon FX body (used)	239 50	49.99
Chinon CS w/50mm (used)	199.50	59.99
Contaflex IV (used)	298 00	59.99
Fuji AZ-1 fl 8-winder (used)	380 00	109.99
Fuji AZ-1 zoom-winder (used)	495.00	139.99
Konica FS-1 fl 8 (used)	350.00	119.99
Mamiya MSX 1000 w/50mm (used)	359.00	89.99
Mamiya MSX 500 w/50mm (used)	298.00
Minalto SR-7 fl 4 (used)	298.00	39.99
Minolto SRT-101 body (used)	269.00	99.99
Minolto XG-1 body (used)	249 00	89.99
Minolta XG-7 BL body (used)	289 00	109.99
Nikomat EL Body (used)	575.00	159.99
Nikon EM fl 8E (used)	298 00	89.99
Nikon F2 body (used)	650 00	249.99
Nikon FG fl 8E (used)	380 00	179.99
Nikon FM body (used)	470.00	159.99
Olympus OM-10 fl 8 (used)	298.00	79.99
Olympus OM-25 Prog body (used)	450.00	249.99
Olympus OM-G body (used)	260.00	109.99
Olympus OM-PC body (used)	350.00	159.99
Pentax H-1A w/50mm (used)	198.00	49.99
Pentox ME-F w/AF zoom (used)	695.00	169.99
Pentax Prog. Plus body (used)	360.00	199.99

Canon FX body (used)	239.50	49.99
Chinon CS w/50mm (used)	199.50	59.99
Contaflex IV (used)	298.00	59.99
Fuji AZ-1 fl 8-winder (used)	380 00	109.99
Fuji AZ-1 zoom-winder (used)	495.00	139.99
Konica FS-1 fl 8 (used)	350.00	119.99
Mamiya MSX 1000 w/50mm (used)	359.00	89.99
Mamiya MSX 500 w/50mm (used)	298.00	79.99
Minolto SR-7 fl 4 (used)	298 00	39.99
Minolto SRT-101 body (used)	269.00	39.99 99.99
Minolta XG-1 body (used)	249.00	89.99
Minolto XG-7 BL body (used)	289 00	109.99
Nikomat EL Body (used)	575 00	159.99
Nikon EM fl 8E (used)
Nikon F2 body (used)		249.99
Nikon FG fl 8E (used)
	470 00
minori Fin Douy (used)	470.00	137.74
Olympus OM-10 fl 8 (used)	298 00	79.99
Olympus OM-25 Prog body (used)	450.00	249.99
Olympus OM-G body (used)	260.00	109.99
Others OH of help (mad)	350.00	159.99
Pentax H-1A w/50mm (used)	198.00	49.99
Pentax ME-F w/AF zoom (used)	695.00	169.99
Pentax Prog. Plus body (used)	360.00	199.99
Pentax Spotmatic w/50mm (used)	298.00
Ricoh KR-10SE w/50mm (used)	249.50	109.99
Ricah Singlex TLS w/50mm (used) Yashica FX-D ff (used)	189.50	109.99
Canon EOS 620 w/35-135mm	1245.00
Canon New F-1 AE body
Canon T-90 body	920.00
Chinon CM-5 w/28-70-mm Pro
Contax 167 Medical Outfit		1199.99
		539.99
Contax RTS II fl 7	950.00	339.99
Konica FT-1 w/35-70mm
		1099.99
Maxxum 5000 date back body	547 00	319.99
Maxxum 7000 data back body		399.99
Maxxum 9000 body	863.00	399.99
Minolto X-570 body	369 95	189.99
Minolta X-7A w/35-200mm Pro		299.99
Nikon 2020 demo w/50 fl 8	702.50	339.99
Nikon 4004 refurb w/50 fl 8	577.50	269.99
Nikon 4004 demo w/28-70mm Pro	477 50	399.99
Nikon 8008 w/50 fl 8 demo	958.00	659.99
Nikon N2000 w/50mm fl 8E demo	540.00	359.99
Olympus OM88 w/50 II.8AF	440.00	229.99
Olympus OM-3 w/fi 8	920.00	489.99
Olympus OM-4T w/fl.8	1130.00	599.99
Olympus OM-77AF w/fi 8	565.00	269.99
Pentax Prog. Plus w/35-70mm Sigma.		359.99
Pentax SF-1 w/35-70mm AF	957.00	499.99
Vivitor V335 w/35-70mm	337.95	199.99
Yashica 107 w/35-70mm Sigma	490.00	299.99
	500.00	469.99
Yashica 200 AF w/35-70mm Yashica FX-3 w/50mm (I 9	265.00	169.99
Toshka FA-3 W/30mm II.9	203.00	107.77

THAT "TALKS YOU INTO GREAT PICTURES."

New Retail $ 1 1999 5339.99

Minolta Talker with Telephoto and Wide Angle Lens Set Voice feature with photo helps, built-in flash auto load/advance auto

MEDIUM/LARGE FORMATS

		IF NEW
		RETAIL	SALE
	Momiya 645-10005, 80mm
	12 8, W/L finder	1968 00
	Mamiyo 645 Super Body	1580 00	759.99
	Morniyo (-330, 80mm 12 8	1210.00	749.99
	180mm 14 5 Mamiya for R8	1600 00
	Pentax 645 w/75mm 12 8	1889.00	999.00
	45mm 12.8 Pentax for 645	653.00	349.99
	4X5 film holders (used)	17.50	5.99
	Hosselblad SOOCM w/80mm	2450 00	1900.00
	Toyo D view w/210mm Symmar	1898 00	869.99
	165mm 14 5 Tessar/Compur lused	395.00	149.99
i	127mm 14 5 Ekter (used)	199.50	79.99
ı	150mm f6 3 Geronar/Copal used	465.00	169.99
i	210mm 14 5 Zeiss Tessar (used)	298.00	199.99
i	4X5 Busch Pressman w/127mm lused	390 00	99.99
1	4x5 Pocemaker Speed 135mm lused	390 00	179.99
1	4x5 Pocemoker Speed used	495 00
١	4X5 Super Graphic, 135mm (used)	380 00	109.99
1	8X10 Korona View (used)	695 00
	Columet 120/220 roll back used	169.50	59.99
1	150mm f3 5 Marriya for 645 used	449 00	179.99
ı	180mm 14 5 for Rapid Omega lused	395 00	169.99
١	SOmm Nikkor for Bronica 5-2 (used)	495.00	199.99
١	75mm Nikkor for Bronco 5-2 (used)	250 00	29.99
١	150mm 14 Sonnar/Hoss (used)	1,600.00	749.99
ı	Hasselblad 2000FC body (used)	2400.00	1059.00

i	Hasselblad 2000FC body (used)	2400.00	1059.00
ı
Ì	150mm 14 C Sonnor/Hass. used	1500.00	799.99
1	250mm 15 6 Achro /Hoss (used)	3400 00	1699.00
3	Hasselblad 2000F(M (used)	2400.00	1099.00
	Hasselblad 500ELX Black (used)	2650 00	1099.00
	Mamiya 645 motor (used)	295 00	99.99
١	Mamiya (-220 body (used)	300 00	109.99
1	65mm 13 5 Marriya for TER (used)	350 00	119.99

ashica 24 TLR (used)

amiya 645 body used

59.99

Yashica FX-3 w/50mm	fl.9	265.00	169.99	Y
BAG	0F	FILTER	25	ľ
Orig. Retail To $150		$1	0

Get 5 to 10 filters (all the same mm size in see through grab bag You pay about the price of one filter but get several for great photo fun

POINT & SHOOT 35MM

	IF NEW
Aug and a	RETAIL	SALE
Agfa Compact (used)	198.00
Argus C-3 (used)	89.95	19.99
Bell & Howell 35LS (used)		9.99
Canadate E (used)	141.34	39.99
Conon Demi EE28 lused	149.50	39.99
Canonet 1.9 (used)	129 50	19.99
Canonet G-III (used)	249.00	69.99
GAF Memo 35EE (used)	109.95	19.99
Konica C-35EF (used)	139.95	39.99
Konica C35-AF2 (used)	239.50	122
Minolta AF-2 (used)	169.50
Minolta AF-C (used)	269 50
Minolta AF-2M (used)	249 50
Minox 35GL (used)	350 00
Olympus 35 EC-2 (used)	169 50
Petri Color 35-E (used)	89.50
Ricah 500 G (used)	139 50
Ricoh AF-40/AF-5 (used)	189 50	79.99
Vivitar PS-130 (used)	69 50	34.99
Vivitar PS-135AF (used)	129 50
Yashica AF-T used	290.00	99.99
Yashica Auto 5 (used)	169 50	39.99
3M Flesh 35	49 95	29.99
Conon Multishot Tele	399 00	199.99
Conon Sureshot Ace	265 00	169.99
Hanimex 35HS	24.95	9.99
Keystone AF-1	79.95	39.99
Kodak K-10 Autofotus	199 95	89.99
Kodad 5300	89 95	49.99
Konico EFP-3 (red)	69.95	39.99
Minolto AF-Tele	329 95	199.99
Minolta AF-E date (demo)	249 95	69.99
Minolto Freedom III	282 00	149.99
Minolto Tolker W/tele lens	250 00	119.99
Nikon Action Touch	322.00	229.99
Nikon Fun Touch (Refurb.)	199.95	99.99
Nikon L135AF (demo)	219 95	79.99
Nikon One Touch	275 00	149.99
Nikon One Touch (orig) (demo)	249 95	119.99
Nikon Tele Touch Deluxe (refurb)	372.00	199.99
Olympus Infinity	265 00	149.99
Olympus Pro Quickshooter Zooia		299.99
Olympus Superzoom 300		359.99
Olympus XA-2 (demo)		119.99
Promoster AF-T Tele		149.99
Fromaster AF-1	139.95	89.99
Promoster Motor 40	109.95	69.99
Ricoh AF-45	190.00	139.99
Ricoh FF-7A	250.00	169.99
Vivitar EF-35	59.95	24.99
		_

5x7 thru 16x20 Assorted Styles of Wood and Glass Frames.

Values to $40.00

AUTOFOCUS SLR New Retail $26999

Nikon 4004 with 50mm fl.8AF 90 Day Warranty Used Camera

Autofocus, built-in flash, auto loading and advance program exposure with full manual override

Same body with New 28-80mm AF Pro Zoom in place of 50mm fi 8\ $39999

LEICA

35mm fl 4 Summilux M (used)

IF NEW

50mm fl 4 Summilux R (used)	1200.00	299.99
75mm fl 4 Summilux M (used)	1900.00	869.99
180mm 13 4 Apo-Telyt R	3240 00	1699.00
135mm 12 8 Elmont R	1470 00	399.00
28mm 12 8 Elmgrit R	1935.00	1099.00
35mm 12 8 Elmgrit R	825 00	399.00
Leico Extender 2X	1314.00	599.00
60mm f2 8 Mocra Elmarit R	2025.00	1299.00
90mm 12 8 Tele-Elmanit M	1095.00	699.00
Focomat IC, 50mm 14.5 (used)	1400 000	599.99
Motor M4-2 Winder (used)	398 00	199.99
Leica Motor Winder R-4 (used)	298.00	99.99
Pradovit V Projector (used)	450.00	99.99
100mm [4 Bellows Lens # (used)	1250 00	499.99
28mm 12 8 Ellmarit R (used)	1400 00	499.99
35mm 12 8 Elmorit R (used)	950 00	249.99
80-200mm 14 5 Elmarit # (used)	2600.00	579.99
Right Angle Finder R (used)	250 00	99.99
Leica Tube 16464 OTZFO (used)	200 00	39.99
Visoflex 3 (used)	575.00	199.99

U FIX IT As usual we have a collection of 35mm SLR cameras, instamotics, lenses, projectors and such at crazy prices. Find out what makes a camera tick or not) Buy an SLR $999

NEGATIVE FILES

for only

Retail $24.00

35MM & 120 Your choice of 35mm & 120 negative file pages 3 ring punched, 100 per package, 120 strips of 3, 35mm strips of 6, archival quality, made in USA by Rembrandt.

ELECTRONIC FLASH

1.	IF NEW RETAIL	SALE
Alfon 166 Rico (used)	59.95	14.99
Conon 177A (used)	139.95	39.99
Dejur M-260 (used)	49.95	14.99
Focol 700 (used)	39.95	9.99
Fujica 300X (used)	169.50	24.99
Hitocon Auto 300A (used)	129 50	19.99
Honeywell 52 (used)	69.50	4.99
Maxxum 1800AF (used)	139.50	29.99
Vivitor 202 (used)	39.95	9.99
Canon 300TL (T-90)	270.00	149.99
Conon EOS 300EZ	205 00	129.99
Canon Macrolite ML-1	627 70	299.99
Centex TLA-30	179 00	99.99
Maxxum 1800AF	115 00	49.99
Nikon 58-168	335 00	189.99
Nikon S8E	69.95	29.99
Olympus F280 Synchrs	270 00	149.99
Olympus T-20	110.00	59.99
Olympus T-32	264.00	149.99
Pentax AF-160	58 00	19.99
Ricoh SL 300P	259.00	99.99
Achiever 150 for Canon	69.95	39.99
Achiever 270/requires module	89.95	39.99
Ambico 200A Auto	39.95	24.99
Starblitz 3600 AF for Nikon 2020	169.95	99.99
Pre FTD3500 TTL for AF	159.95	99.99
Pro FTD4500 for AF	219.95	139.99
Pro FTD-3700 For Canon EOS	149 95	59.99
Pro 2000 for Nikon TTL	79.95	29.99
Pro 2000 for Olympus TTL	79.95	39.99
Promotic FTD 2500	99.99	59.99
Promotic FTD4000	166 00	99.99
GAI Circle Flash	199.95	99.99
Starblitz 200TOS Slave	49.95	24.99
Sunpak 2210 for Konico	99.95	59.99
Sunpak 300X (4220)	189.95	129.99
Sunpak 3440 for Milelta	149.95	69.99
Vivitor 1800	29 95	14.99
Vivitor 285HV	159.95	99.99
Vivitor 3700	111 95	59.99
Vivitar 5600	197.95	99.99

CAMCORDERS $39999

REFLECTASOL 1/2 to 3/4

OFF NEW RETAIL Save on entire stock of Reflectasol studio lighting accessories.

Including Jane Fonda Exercise videos Pink Panther series Clint Eastwood Rocky series

STUDIO LIGHTING

	IF NEW
	RETAIL	SALE
Bogen Monolite 4000	460 00	349.99
Bogen Manalite 9000	675.00	519.99
Bogen Monolite 15000	775 00	549.99
Bogen Monolite 24000	945.00	649.99
Merz 45CT-4	426 00	299.99
Morris/Popular AC Bare Bulb	59.95	29.99
Morris/Popular Deluxe Kit	799.99	399.99
Novetron 240 Kit	449.95	399.99
Novetron 500 Kit	980.00	829.99
Novatron 52 Silver Umbrello	59.99	19.99
Novatron 52" White Umbrella	59.99	19.99
Novatron 50" White Umbrello	79.99	19.99
PAK AC Borebulb slave	54.99	29.99
Fotolite +C-6	79 95	29.99
Fotolite ONF-5	89.95	49.99
18 x18 Mounted Polarizer	59.95	39.99
Testrite 10 Reflector w/cord	19.95	6.99
Smith Victor 5-3 Stand	34.99	19.99
Smith Victor S84 Stand	39.99	24.99
Acme Heaviweight Stand	114.95	79.99
Marris 4 section stand	44.00	29.99
Morris 5 section stand	66.00	49.99
Star-D light stand adapter #359	3.99	1.99
Tundra 38 Light Bag	149.95	59.99
Tundra 45 Light Bag	149.95	69.99
Coast 34 Umbrella	24 95	9.99

RCA Camcorder uses full size VHS tape 6X zoom, high speed shutter, solid state, electronic viewfinder.

LENSES FOR 35MM

LENSES FOR C	LYMPUS	5	LENSES
	IF NEW RETAIL	SALE	135mm f2 8 Minolto (use 28mm f3.5 Celtic (used)
135mm f3.5 Zuiko (used) 135mm f4.5 Zuiko Mocro (used)	169.50 469.00	29.99 179.99	28.80mm f3.5 Penney (u 28-85mm f2.8 Vivitar (us 28mm f2.8 Soligor (used)
200mm 15 Zuiko (used) 21mm 13 4 Zuiko (used)	300.00 595.00	59.99 149.99	35-135mm f3 5 Siamo (u
24-45mm (3.5 Soligor (used)	295.00	59.99	Minolto 2X MA Converter 70-210mm (4 Minolto
28-70mm 2.8 Pro (used) 28-80mm 3.5 Pro (used) 28-80mm 3.5 Zykor (used) 28-90mm 2.8 Series (used) 75-300mm 2.6 Accest (used)	349 00 298 00 219 50 429 50 329 00	99.99 89.99 49.99 129.99	28mm 12.8 (esine 35-200mm 14-5.4 (esine 75-300mm 14-5 (esine Di 135mm 12.8 focal 28mm 12.8 focal 28-85mm 13.5 Motrix 80-200mm 13.9 Metrix
8mm 12 8 Zuiko (used) 35-70mm 13 7 Olympus AF (used) 135mm 12 8 Olympus 18mm 13 5 Olympus 24mm 12 8 Olympus	1,550 00 269 50 320 00 1,060 00 380 00	89.99 169.99 399.99 219.99	100-200mm 14 5 Osawa 28-210mm 13 8 Promoster 28-80mm 13 5 Promoster 80-200mm 14 5 Promoster
28mm f2 Olympus 28mm f2 8 Olympus 500mm f8 Olympus	690 00 230 00 704 00	389.99 149.99 399.99 339.99	35-70mm f2 8 Sigma 80-200mm f4 5 Starblitz
50mm †2 Olympus Mocro 65-200mm †4 Olympus 85mm †2 Olympus 8mm †2 8 Olympus	520 00 420 00 420 00 1,900 00	229.99 219.99 699.99	LENSES
24mm 12 8 Olympus AF 28-85mm 13 5 Olympus AF 28mm 12 8 Olympus AF 35-105mm 13 5 Olympus AF	375 00 375 00 185 00 470 00	169.99 199.99 99.99 249.99	100-300mm f5.6 Canon 100mm f2 8 Canon 135mm f2 Canon
35-70mm f4 Olympus AF 50mm f2 8 Olympus Macro AF 70-210mm f3 5 Olympus AF	220 00 450 00 360 00	149.99 249.99 199.99	28-85mm f4 (anon 28mm f2 (anon 35-70mm f3 5 (anon 100-300mm f5 6 (anon Ef
70-210mm 13 8 Sigma AF 28-70mm 13 5 CPC 28-80mm 13 5 CPC	350 00 289 95 299 95	149.99 89.99 99.99	28mm 12 8 Canon EF 35-105mm 13 5 Canon EF

28-80mm (3.5 CPC	299.95	99.99
80-200mm f4 5 CPC	249.50	69.99
24mm 12 8 Makinon	229.99	79.99
80-200mm f3 9 Matrix	299.50	99.99
50-200mm 14 5 Metrix	249.50	59.99
24mm 12 8 Pro	199.95	99.99
28-70mm 12 8 Pro	399.50	149.99
35-70mm 12 8 Sigma	299.50	119.99
28-200mm 13.5 Vivitor	319.95	169.99
28mm (2 8 Vivitor	169.50	59.99
75-200mm H4 5 Vivitor AF	399,00	199.99
LENSES FOR	NIKON
	IF NEW	2012
	RETAIL	SALE
28-80mm 13.5 Pro (used)	29.00	89.99
85-210mm (4.5 Quantoray (used)	199.50	59.99
28-70mm f3 5 Pro AF	349.50	159.99
80-200mm 13.8 Pro AF	30995	159.99
28mm f2 8 (osino	129.50	59.99
75-300mm f4 5 Cosino	409.90	149.99
80-200mm 14 5 Cosino	254.90	79.99
80-200mm 14 5 Matrix	199.95	69.99
100-200mm 14 5 Osowo	249.50	59.99
28-210mm (3.8 Premaster	359.00	189.99
28-70mm f2 8 Promoster	399.50	149.99
35-200mm (3.5 Promoster	499.50	169.99
80-200mm 14.5 Promoster	29995	99.99
35-200mm 14 Sigma	449.50	139.99
105mm 11 8 Nikkor	797.50	539.99
105mm 12.5 Nikker	410.00	299.99
24mm IZ Nikkor	797.50	499.99
24mm 12 8 Nikkor	442.50	329.99
28mm 12 Nikkpr	697 50	429.99
28mm 13 5 PC Nikkor	1245.00	799.99
35mm f1 4 Nikkor	877.50	519.99
180mm f2 8 EDIF Nikon AF	845 00	579.99
28-85mm (3 5 Nikon AF	500.00	369.99
35-135mm (3.5 Nikon AF	542.50	399.99
55mm 1 28 Nikon AF Micro	447.50	329.99
70-210mm 14 Nikon AF	335.00	239.99
85mm fl 8 Niken AF	475.00	299.99

85mm FL 8 Nikon AF	473.00	244.44
LENSES FOR H	MOUN
1	IF NEW	****
	219.00	SALE 44.99
135mm f2 5 Takumar (used)	219.00	44.77
85-205mm (3.8 Soliger (used)	299.80	69.99
83-214mm (4.5 Quanturay (used)	249.50	49.99
75-200mm f4.5 Corton	299.50	99.99
28-85mm f3 5 Metria		139.99
80-200mm (4.5 Promoster		89.99
35-135mm (3.5 Sigma		219.99
35-70mm 12.8 Sigma		119.99
75-200mm f4.5 Vivitor AF		199.99
100-200mm f4.5 Osawo		69.99
24mm 12.8 promoster		79.99
28-80mm 13.5 Promoster		99.99
35-135mm (3.5 Fentax AF
35-70mm 13.5 Pentex AF		179.99
50mm 12.8 Pentox AF Macro		219.99
70-210mm /4 Pentox AF	383.00	412.23

15 IOK	03
LENSES FOR	MINOLTA
	IF NEW
	RETAIL	SALE
135mm f2.8 Minolto (used)	139.50	19.99
28mm f3.5 Celtic (used)	149.50	39.99
28 80mm f3.5 Penney (used)	200.00	69.99
28-85mm f2 8 Vivitar (used)	249 50	79.99
28mm (2.8 Soligor (used)	169 50	49.99
35-135mm (3.5 Siamo /used)	349 50	119.99
Minolto 21 MA Converter	239 00	119.99
70-210mm (4 Minolto	350 00	199.99
28mm 12.8 Cosing	129 90	59.99
35-200mm (4-5.4 Cosino	499 90	119.99
75-300mm f4 5 (osino Demo	409.90	199.99
135mm 12 8 Focal	89.95	29.99
28mm 12 8 Focal	99 95	39.99
28-85mm 13.5 Matrix	369 50	119.99
80-200mm /3 9 Matrix	299 50	69.99
100-200mm f4.5 Osawa	249 50	59.99
78.210mm /7 8 Promoster	359 00	189.99

199 50 39.99

	IF NEW
	RETAIL	SALE
100-300mm 15.6 Canon	404 00	199.99
100mm 12 8 Canon	347 00	199.99
135mm 12 Canon	677.00
28-85mm 14 Canon	619 00	359.99
28mm f2 Canon	632 00	369.99
35-70mm 13 5 Canon	226 00	169.99
100-300mm 15.6 Canon EF	477 00
28mm 12.8 Conon EF	224 00	159.99
35-105mm +3 5 Canon EF	420 00	279.99
35-70mm 13.5 Cenon EF	268 00	179.99
50-200mm 13 5 Canon EF	664 00	469.99
50mm 12.5 Canon EF Macro	425 00	299.99
35-135mm 13 5 Sigma/EOS	419 00	239.99
55-200mm (4 Sigma/EOS	398 00	239.99
500mm f8 Sigmo/E0S	517 00	349.99
75-300mm (4.5 Sigma/EOS	498 00	319.99
8mm t2 8 Focal	99.95	39.99
135mm 12 8 Kolimar	129 95	39.99
80-200mm f3.9 Matrix	299.59	79.99
28-70mm f2 8 Pro	399.50	149.99
28-80mm f3 5 Pro	349 95	109.99
35-200mm (3.5 Pro	499 95	169.99
75-300mm 14.5 Pro	399.50
30-200mm f4 5 Pro	299 50	99.99
28-80mm f3 5 Sigma	242.00
15-70mm 12.8 Sigma	299.50	119.99
5-200mm 14 5 Vivitor AF	399.00	199.99

75-200mm 14 5 Five Star used	249.50	59.99
85-210mm f3 8 Quantaray (used)	299.50	89.99
80-200mm f4.5 Sigma (used)	229 50	49.99
LENSES FOR U	NIV. SCR
	IF NEW
Lance of Control	RETAIL	SALE
28-85mm f3 5 Motrix	365.50	139.99
28mm f2 8 Promoster	169.50	69.99
135mm f2 8 Vivitor	129.95	29.99
135mm f2 8 Combron (used)	89.95	9.99
200mm (3.5 Accura (used)	129.50	19.99
200mm (3.5 Sears (used)	109 50	19.99
28mm 12.8 Focal (used)	69.95	29.99
28mm f2 8 Sears (used)	69 50	9.99
28mm 12.8 Sigma (used0	169 50	49.99
28mm 12.8 Words (used)	79 50	14.99
70-150mm f3.8 Vivtor (used)	199 50	49.99
70-210mm 14 Promoster	299.95	119.95

75-150mm 13 8 Pro (used)

	IF NEW RETAIL	SAL
80-200mm f3 9 Matrix	299 50	99.9
100-200mm f4 5 Osawa	249 50	59.9
28-80mm f3.5 Pro	399.50	119.9
28mm 12 8 Pro	169 50	69.9
35-200mm (3 5 Pre	399 50	139.9
35-70mm (2.8 Sigma	299.50	119.9
55mm 12.8 Vivitar Macro	279.95	189.9
100mm f2 Zeiss	1220.00	499.9
28mm f2 Zeiss	930.00	399.9
35-70mm (3 4 Zeiss	840.00	499.9
35mm fl 4 Zeiss	1155.00	499.9
(Once 12 8 Paint Marin	1240.00	A99.9

LENSES FOR YASHICA

SLR's
LENSES FOR MAXXUM
	IF NEW RETAIL	SALE
00mm f2 Minolto AF	607.00	349.99
00mm 12 8 Minolto AF mocro	829 00	459.99
35mm 12 8 Minoho AF	209 00	129.99
6mm 12 8 Minolto AF	1017 00	599.99
4mm 12 8 Minolto AF	436.00	299.99
8-135mm 14 Minelto AF	769.00	449.99
8mm 12 Minghg AF	658.00	389.99
0-210mm 14 Minolto AF	376.00	199.99
0-200mm f4 5 Minglto AF	282.00	199.99
8-200mm (3.5 Promoster AF	499.50	299.99
8-80mm (3.5 Promoster AF	359.95	169.99
5-200mm 14 5 Promoster AF	329.95	159.99
8-200mm 14 5 Sigma AF	471.00	249.99
8-70mm f3 5 Sigma AF	274.00	169.99
5-135mm 13.5 Sigme AF	399 50	199.99
00mm 15 6 Sigma	439.00	249.99
0-200mm f4 Sigma AF	329 50	159.99
5-200mm 12 8 Sigma AF	369.50	199.99
5-300mm (4 Sigma AF	435.00	329.99
5-135mm (3.5 Tamron AF	402.00	229.99
	202.20	100 00

75-200mm 12 8 Sigma AF

75-300mm (4 Sigma AF 35-135mm (3.5 Tamron AF

359 00 399 50	189.99	35-135mm 13 5 Tomron AF 70-210mm 13 5 Tomron AF	402.00 382.00	199.99
799 50 799 50	99.99	LENSES FOR	KONICA
299 50	79.99		IF NEW
			RETAIL	SALE
		100mm 12 8 Vivitor (used)	129 50	29.99
		135mm (2 8 Bushnell (used)	119 50	14.99
ANON		135mm (2.8 Konica (used)	189 50	29.99
F NEW		135mm f2 8 Osawa (used)	149 50	9.99
RETAIL	SALE	135mm f2 8 Pro (used)	169.50	24.99
404 00	199.99	135mm 12 8 Tomron (used)	169 50	9.99
347.00	199.99	135mm f2 8 Vivitor (used)	129.50	9.99
677 00	399.99	28-80mm f3 5 Pro used	298.00	59.99
619.00	359.99	28-80mm f3 5 Sigma (used)	359.00	69.99
632 00	369.99	28-80mm f3 5 Sun (used)	249 00	49.99
226 00	169.99	28mm f2 8 (PC (used)	119.99	29.99
477 00	339.99	28mm f2 8 Soligor (used)	169 50	49.99
224 00	159.99	35mm †2 8 Upsilan (used)	89.95	9.99
420 00	279.99	70-150mm f4 Hexanon (used)	259 00	49.99
268 00	179.99	80-200mm f3 5 Hexanon (used)	350.00	69.99
664 00	469.99	135mm f2 8 Pro	149.50	19.99
425 00	299.99	35-70mm 14 Konica	200.00	119.99
419 00	239.99	80-200mm 14 Konico	352.95	169.99
398 00	239.99	Konico 2X converter	165.00	69.99
517 00	349.99	24mm 12 8 Pro	199 50	79.99
498 00	319.99	28-105mm f3 5 Pro	399 50	149.99
99 95	39.99	28mm f2 8 Pro	169 95	69.99
129 95	39.99	35-200mm f3 9 Pro	499.50	139.99
299 59	79.99	70-210mm f3 8 Pro	399.50	119.99
399 50	149.99	75-300mm 14 5 Pro	349.50	199.99
349 95	109.99	80-200mm 14 5 Pro	299.50	99.99
499 95	169.99	35-70mm 12 8 Sigma	259 98	119.99
399 50	199.99	135mm 12 8 Vivitor	149.50	19.99
277.20	00.00

135mm f2 8 Vivitor	149.50	19.99
LENSES FOR	FUJI-X
	IF NEW RETAIL	SALE
8-60mm f3 5 Pro	329 50	129.99
0-200mm f4 5 Pro	299.95	99.99
8-80mm f3 5 Vivitor	259.95	99.99
00mm f2 8 Fuji	220.00	69.99
35mm f2 8 Fuji-X (used)	249.50	25.99
8mm 12 8 Pro used0	199 50	29.99
35mm f2 8 Kominor (used)	149 50	19.99

AUTOFOCUS ZOOMS FOR ALL SLR'S WORLD FAMOUS

TAMRON 70-210mm f4 Brand New-Special purchase $19999

SALE Retail $525.00 Autofocus built into the lens quality Tamron Optics Requires $25 mount to fit your camera.

> ALL ITEMS SUBJECT TO PRIOR SALE

AMERA &

Topeka, Kansas 66601-1437

VHS Home VCR

With On-Screen Display VHS-HQ cable compatible 19 function wireless remote 14

VIDEO

1	400 00	219.99
Aventura 2 VCR/on-screen prog	500.00	299.99
Aventuro 3 VCR	925 00	649.00
Canon 730 HiFi	600 00	359.00
GE 7720 4 head VCR		599.00
Minolta 770 Portable	1250.00
Panasanic 2800B Remote	350 00	249.00
Panasonic AG-1950 Pro		1099.00
Quasar 5677 Super VHS-HiFi	1595 00	899.00
Quasar 5480 compact dema	600.00	349.00
Quasar 5485 Compact	800 00	499.00
Quasar 5975 HiFi VCR	1300 00	799.00
Canon E-70 Dema comcorder		1099.00
Canon E-77 Dema Camcorder		1199.00
Kodak 3440 Comcarder	1000 00	599.00
Kodok 3460 AF Camcorder	1400.00	799.00
Kyocera 1700 Comcarder	1800.00	999.00
Pentax PV-(850A Camcarder	1849 00
Ricoh R-600 Camcorder	1750.00	999.00
Quasar VM-50 VHS	1650 00	599.00
Chinan CV-T80 Dema	2500.00	1599.00
GE 9-9808 CCD Comsorder	1600 00	999.00
GE 9-9606 Tube Camcorder	1695.00	799.00
GE (G9808 Comcorder	1450 00	1099.00
Hitochi 3000 with case 300	1500 00	999.00
Magnavax (VI-310 Camcorder	1500 00	899.00
Panasonic 400 Comcorder	1900.00	999.00
Quasar VM-24 Dema	1650.00	1199.00
RCA CC275 VHS Camcorder	1700.00	999.00
Sharp VCC-20 VHS used	1600.00	499.00
ARC 150 video light	120.00	69.99
Kenco light bracket CPIL		1.99
Sima 150W video light		49.99
Stitz 250W video light	119 95	59.99
Vertex light w/side batt	199.95	129.99
Kenco 250W Video Light	99.95	49.99

DURST DICHRO ENLARGER $24999

Retail $498.00 Color head is perfect for black and white variable contrast papers and for color printing Rugged European design

DARKROOM

New & Used Enlargers accessories chemicals and more -

SAVE 20% to 90% Off Orig. Retail

ENLARGERS & LENSES

	IF NEW
Control of the contro	RETAIL	SALE
Durst 370 Enlarger	395 00	249.99
Durst C35 Enlarger	295 00	199.99
Testrite Enlarger	139 95	59.99
135mm 15 6 VHE enigr lens (used)	350 00	169.99
35mm 14 (amponon (used)	295 00	79.99
4x5 Beseler 45MCR (used)	1195 00	439.99
50mm f3.5 Componer (used)	79 95	49.99
50mm 14.5 Componer (used)	59 95	29.99
50mm 14.5 Focotor (used)	450.00	159.99
75mm 14.5 Fuji (used)	129 95	29.99
105mm (4.5 Lenter (used)	89.95	29.99
Lucky 60m enigr w/lens (used)	199.95	89.99
4X5 Omega D-2 enlgr (used)	895 00	299.99
35mm f3.5 Prinz (used)	59 95	19.9
105mm f4 5 Schneider (used)	229.95	59.99
38mm (3 5 Voss (used)	69.95	14.99
76mm 14.5 Wollensak (used)	129.99	24.99

JUNK AND STUFF

Come browse, rummage and dig through all kinds of photographic gems. Camera supplies, cases, accessory darkroom items. Cheap.

and UP

TRAYS FOR CAROUSEL $699 1:0 Slide

$399 80 Slide Made In U.S.a. By Yankee

CAMERA AND VIDEO BAGS SAVE 50% 10 90%

BIG SELECTION COLOR PRINT FILM

S 1 59

Your Choice 100.200 or 400 ASA col-Reg. to $4.49

